JP Holmes Files Final Report

Justice of the Peace Tana Holmes filed her last report with The Journal on Thursday, December 30, as her tenure in office will end on December 31. She will be taking a job as jailer at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center thereafter.

Cases filed for the period beginning on December 21 and ending on December 30 included 14 for speeding, three for operating a motor vehicle without a drivers license, three for non valid MVT's, and one each on the following violations: failure to have liability insurance, improper turn, being over allowed gross weight and displaying placards on a vehicle not transporting hazardous materials.

Disposals of cases for the same period of time included...

PROVIDING COMMUNITY ECONOMY BOOST--Tolk Station near Muleshoe has completed the first unit of a two unit plant planned for this area, and at the same time has added a number of families to the Muleshoe area providing a boost to local and area economy.

No Further Word Received On Payment In Kind Plan

Rusty Williamson, Bailey County ASCS Executive Director, told The Journal Thursday that no word had yet been received on the Payment In Kind (PIK) plan prepared in Congress. The plan has not been passed and no details are available; however, when it is put into effect, it will likely be done by Secretary of Agriculture John Block, rather than through Congress. He also stated that as soon as any word was sent, Bailey County farmers would be informed of the situation.

With the year just about at an end, Bailey County ASCS office is still making payments of all kinds to farmers. Many producers in the county have not yet received disaster payments and deficiency payments. However, according to Rusty Williamson, disaster payments are being mailed out regularly and soon the end will be in sight. Most of the producers who signed up to receive their deficiency payments prior to January have already received them, and those who did not sign up will be getting them in January.

A special practice ACP sign-up will be held in Bailey County between January 13 and 17 for those producers who are interested in Sodless Waterways. No pipe or any other type conservation measures will be eligible under this special program, and only those who are interested in this particular type of practice need apply. Both the Soil Conservation Service and the ASCS offices must be checked with on this special program, says Williamson. The Director stated that producers who have sold wool or who have had unshorn lambs need to turn in their receipts for this program by January 31, 1983.

A reminder is issued to all Bailey County producers who are buying, renting or selling farm land to get their proposed changes into the ASCS office as soon as possible. Williamson stated "If a producer is renting or buying a new piece of property, he will need to check out the bases on the land very carefully, since those bases are generally locked in and will be for the next couple of years or so." This could be of prime importance to the producer.

Cotton production cards, even if a producer harvested no cotton, need to be turned in to the ASCS office as soon as possible. These cards are used to establish records and figures for coming years, the director states. Williamson reminds all producers who have been holding their commodity loans for the end of the year for tax purposes to start getting them turned in to the ASCS office sometime around January 3 or 4, so that the loans can be processed. There will be no such thing as one day service, the director stated, but at least a producer will be in line and the girls in the office will have a chance to get everything lined up for that particular producer.

New County Officials Take Office January 1

On January 1, 1983 at 9 a.m., newly elected and re-elected county officials will be sworn into office in the District Courtroom of the Bailey County Courthouse. The ceremonies will continue until all officials are given their oath of office and duly sworn. Also the Commissioner's Court will meet in special session to approve the bonds for those incoming officials.

Those who will be taking office, either by election or re-election, include: District Judge, Jack D. Young; County Judge Gordon H. Green, County Clerk Carbara McCamish; District Clerk Nelda Merriott; County Treasurer Dorothy Turner; County Commissioner Precinct 2, Roy Whitt; Rudolph Moraw, County Commissioner Precinct 4;

Police, Sheriff, DPS Have Quiet Weekend

Local law enforcement officials had a relatively quiet week during the Christmas holidays, with the exception of several local wrecks. On December 24 a 1976 Ford driven by Audrey Ross collided with a '78 Chevrolet belonging to Joe Anguiano at West 8th and Avenue C. The Ross vehicle failed to yield right of way and struck the Anguiano vehicle forcing it into another vehicle owned by Edgar Miller at the intersection on the opposite side. Ross received a citation for failure to yield right of way and the Miller man was cited for no liability insurance.

On December 23, a 66 Ford driven by Herron Washington collided with a vehicle driven by Norma Bruce. The Washington vehicle was at a stop sign in the 100 block of East Ash and Second Street and began backing up and struck the Bruce vehicle. Washington was cited for unsafe backing.

On December 23, an auto belonging to Gene Paul Jarman was struck by a 'hit and run' vehicle on the parking lot of Thriftway grocery. No information was available on the hit and run party.

Lenau Lumber Company reported a burglary, with someone entering and committing theft without the owner's consent. The prowler apparently attempted to break in a safe in the building and a total estimate of damages was determined at $98.08.

On December 26, City Police arrested Rodolph M. Castillo on a charge of disorderly conduct on the Ailsur's parking lot. He was taken to the police station where he posted a $55 cash bond and was released.

Isril J. McBride was arrested by local police on December 24 on a charge of DWI. He refused to sign the citation and was cited for that also.

McBride was arrested after officers observed him traveling down American Boulevard at a high rate of speed. He also refused to take a breath test and was taken to the county jail to be booked pending bond.

On December 20, Ramiro Rodriguez was arrested at the local police department on charges of DWI and transporting alcoholic beverages. He was arrested on outstanding warrants. Rodriguez was taken before County Judge Glen Williams, where he entered a plea to guilty to the charges and was fined $530.

On the jail book in the Bailey County sheriff's office for the past week were listed only six arrests, which is light for a holiday week. On December 19, Guadalupe Gloria was arrested by the MPD on a charge of DWI and bad checks, on warrants from Lamb County. He was released on a $5,000 bond.

Cruz Orozco Tarango was arrested by the Department...

Construction Well Underway On Tolk Unit Number Two

With building structure standing over 200 feet into the clear plains air and the "stack" reaching upwards to 400 feet Southwestern Public Service, Roy Tolk Station, Unit 1, is now fully completed and running fifty to sixty percent power most of the time.

The second power plant at Muleshoe, designated as Tolk Unit # 2, is scheduled for completion by June, 1985. Unit # 1 is rumored to have cost SPS $228 million and both units projected total cost according to plant officials will surpass $500 million upon completion.

Plant Manager Ben Green stated that SPS was "appreciative and glad of the acceptance of the facility and employees by local residents. We believe in a good neighbor policy, and have been able to accomplish this here at Tolk."

Over fifty families have moved into the immediate Muleshoe area as a result of the work at Tolk Plant. Some forty families were moved here by SPS themselves. This is besides the employees of Wheelabrator-Frye, the coal-handling facility at the Tolk Station. As of December 29, employees at SPS in total 108; and approximately 33 full time employees are at the coal facility.

The number of people and families at this construction giant have been a boom to local economy in many ways. Demands for housing, for trailer space, added utilities, phones, and the other general necessities of living have greatly increased since the inception of building.

Roy S. Tolk Unit No. 1 was projected for completion in June, 1982; however, general delays in clearing lines and getting everything in good running order delayed start up of Unit 1 until July 26, 1982 when the first power was generated.

On August 3, 1982, Tolk Station burned its first coal for generation of electrical power and October 1, 1982 was the first time the plant pulled one hundred percent power on line.

Tolk is now regularly on line except for normal operating shutdowns. According to Ben Green, "the past week or so of cold weather has given a few computer-type problems. We were shut down for almost a day but we always keep a large enough supply of power that our customers are not affected in anyway."

As far as completion goes, actual construction of Unit # 1 is completed, although the final phases of clean-out and painting remain to be done. The plant's target dates were pretty much on schedule with actual construction beginning in October, 1978, with ground clearing and the building of the perimeter fence. Boiler construction began early in 1979 and with the end of construction of Unit #1 came the open house in November 19, 1982.

Unit Number two, now completed as far as the structural steel, has the turbine building structure underway and is beginning

Comptroller Warns Of Low Revenue

State Comptroller Bob Bullock, warning that state tax revenue is running below earlier projections, Wednesday cautioned other state officials and administrators against trying to play Santa Claus with the state budget.

"The final figures aren't in, but revenue is definitely down from what we previously anticipated," Bullock said. "This should be no surprise to anyone who lives in, works in or is unemployed in our economy."

Bullock said that the so-called cash surplus expected in the current budget "is still intact, but the projected growth of new revenue is not coming in."

He said it will be sometime in January "before we know the bottom line."

"In the meantime, all state officials should think twice before making any commitments, and should think real hard about ways to pay for the commitments they've already made, campaign or otherwise," Bullock said.

"In the past," Bullock said, "lawmakers and others have been quick and easy with promises, thinking that we in the Comptroller's office would find the money somewhere, somehow."

"T'aint so this session," Bullock said. Bullock said that state agency administrators also "should take a long hard look at their appropriations requests, remembering all the time that there isn't really a state Santa Claus."

Proposed Law Changes In DWI Laws Coming

The second in a series, the following article is a public service by the Journal through the cooperation of Linda Guelker, County Attorney and The Prosecutor Council. Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of Bailey County and how we can work together to alleviate some of society's problems.

SUMMARY OF SOME OF THE PROPOSED LAW CHANGES

Described below are some of the new DWI laws which will be considered by your legislature this January. Examine them and decide for your self which ones you feel adequately deal with the problem.

A 9-state survey of eastern states showed a 28% reduction in fatalities in the 18-20 year old age group when the drinking age was raised to 21. In Texas when we raised the drinking age last session from 18 to 19, during the first six months we saw a 16.7% decrease in night fatalities in the 18 year old age group a 36.8 year old age group, a 36.8% decrease in the 17 year old age group, and at the same time saw a 7.9% increase in the 19 year old age group.

This statute would prohibit open containers of an alcoholic beverage in motor vehicles upon public highways. It will prohibit citizens from drinking while driving.

This law would make prosecution of DWIs easier by establishing that a person would be considered legally intoxicated if his breath test showed an alcohol content of .10 or more.

Under present law when an individual refuses to submit to the alcohol test, that refusal cannot be admitted as evidence in court. The result can be misleading to juries. Jurors sometimes assume that the individual was not offered the chance to prove he was not intoxicated, or that the arresting officer though the

Industrial Development Depends On Local People

Premium Lists were mailed this week to over 6,000 potential exhibitors at the 1983 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Jan. 26 through Feb. 6, reported W. R. Watt, Jr., show president manager.

The book lists more than $400,000 in premiums for the livestock show and World's Original Indoor Rodeo, scheduled in conjunction with the Stock Show. Many schedules for showing and rules have changed from last year, and Watt urged all potential exhibitors to read the Premium List carefully before making entries.

Entry deadline for cattle, sheep, swine, dairy goats, horses, donkeys and mules is Dec. 10, while exhibitors of poultry, rabbits and pigeons have until Jan. 15 to enter.

Watt said Premiums in the Junior Show are up by $6,500 to $62,461, and Horse Show halter premiums and added performance purses also will be substantially higher. He said the Stock Show expects more than 16,000 livestock entries for 1983.

Junior exhibitors will notice that steer entries will be limited to one head per exhibitor and, as in the past, each placing steer will be eligible for the public auction at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 5. There will be a maximum of 140 steers through the ring at the public auction with the remaining prize-winning steers sold by sealed bid at the time of the sale with bonuses being paid to exhibitors.

Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek takes a side-long look at the nuclear situation this week.

Dear editor: According to the people who're in favor of a nuclear freeze, Russia and the United States each has enough nuclear missiles to destroy the other, therefore why build any more?

As I understand it, that's true on paper. Russia has its missiles in place and aimed at every major target in the United States, and the United States has its aimed at every Russian target. Both have reached the point in civilization where each can wipe the other out in a moment's notice.

But there's a slight flaw in this. How does anybody know a missile will hit where it's aimed when its target is half-way around the world?

You've seen TV shots of a new weapon being tried out. It's supposed to emerge from a submarine and hit a flying target. Sometimes it hits but sometimes it takes a nose-dive back into the ocean or goes over the horizon in the wrong direction. You don't get to see such Russian experiments because not even the Russian population gets to see such things. Only the Communist big-shots are let in on it.

How does the rest of the world know, if Russia and the U.S. started firing at each other, a missile aimed at Washington or Moscow make take off in the wrong direction and hit South Borneo or the North Pole or some un-bomb-worthy place around here? Be the worst mess you ever saw.

Therefore what the world needs is an International Marksmanship Try-Out. Let's find out how good everybody's aim is before we get serious about destroying civilization. Draw a big circle in some isolated spot in the United States and one in an isolated spot in Russia, remove the nuclear warheads in the missiles and substitute flour, and see just how close our marksmen can come to hitting their circle and their marksmen to hitting ours.

If the trial shooting results in people in South Borneo or bears at the North Pole getting covered with flour, obviously the world isn't ready for a nuclear war.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

In Junior Lamb and Barrow Divisions, Watt noted several new rules and asked that exhibitors check with their vocational agricultural teacher or county agent before making their entries. Premiums in these groups are higher.

The Stock Show will host the 15th national convention of the American Simmental Association. A National Simmental Cattle Show and Junior Heifer Show will be part of the National convention. Also, a special cattle sale is planned in Casa Manana Theatre-in-the-Round.

A Dairy Goat Division has been established for this year with classes scheduled to begin at 8 a.m., Friday, Jan. 28.

Scheduled to begin the series of auction sales during the Stock Show is the 8th annual Paint Horse Sale on Wednesday, Jan. 26. Donkeys and mules, Quarter Horses and eight various cattle breeds will have auctions. Watt invited visitors and buyers to attend any and all sales on the show grounds.

Daily team roping, including heading and heeling, has been added to the Quarter Horse Division.

Jerry Clower of the Grand Ole Opry, Country Music Association comedian of the year for the past nine years, has been signed as special entertainment for each of the 22 Stock Show Rodeo performances in Will Rogers Coliseum.

Watt said Clower "will offer a new brand of entertainment to the rodeo audience and, if his past successes are any indication, his appearance here will add greatly to making our 1983 rodeo the best ever held in Fort Worth."

Mail orders for Stock Show Rodeo tickets are being accepted now at the show office, 3400 Crestline Road, or at P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, TX 76101. Tickets for all night and weekend rodeos are $8 each, Monday through Friday 2 p.m. matinees are $6. Mail orders should include $1 extra per order for return postage and handling.

Nugent reported that crude oil and petroleum products imported into the U.S. averaged 5,212,000 barrels daily for the four weeks ending Dec. 3, a decrease of 698,000 barrels per day for the same period last year.

Oil Production Rate Set For January 1983

The Railroad Commission today set the Texas oil production rate for January 1983 at the market demand factor of 100 percent for the 71st month in a row and the 127th time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Chairman Jim Nugent and Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in January totaling 2,465,739 barrels per day, a decrease of 3,232 barrels daily when compared with December 1982 buyer requests, January 1982 nominations totaled 2,458,271 barrels daily.

Next month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 2,856,600 b/d with actual production estimated at 2,355 million b/d. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in January 1982 was 2,384,032 barrels daily.

Nugent reported that January 1983 nominations for the purchase of Texas gas totaled 21,847,710 Mcf/d (thousand cubic feet per day). Gas nominations for December amounted to 22,382,896 Mcf/d. January 1982 gas nominations totaled 24,895,281 Mcf/d.

The next statewide oil and gas hearing will be held Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 9 a.m. in Tyler at the Tyler Inn.

Major purchasers filed these floor nominations for Texas oil in January: Amoco Production Co., 180,000 barrels daily, down 2,000 from the previous month; Cities Service Co., 74,000, unchanged; Conoco 56,000, unchanged; Exxon, 276,300, down 1,900; Gulf, 103,000, unchanged; Marathon, 67,420, unchanged; Mobil, 187,600, down 100; Phillips, 70,000, unchanged; Shell, 169,800, up 2,500; Texaco, 93,000, down, 2,000; Union Oil, 26,000, up 1,000.

Significant changes in nominations were submitted in writing by these purchasers of Texas crude oil: Charter Crude Oil, 16,410, down 1,040; Clayco Inc., 23,058, down 2,057; Coastal Crude Trucking Inc., 2,582, up 1,317; JM Petroleum, 26,555, up

Multi-ethnic books improve reading skills

COLLEGE STATION — When it comes to teaching minority children to read, stories about Juan and Little Running Bear may be more effective than Dick, Jane and Spot.

Initial studies by Texas A&M University education professor Dr. Donna Norton have shown that a multi-ethnic reading curriculum improves children's reading skills and their attitudes about ethnic groups.

The total reading program is a combination of prepared teachers, good materials and follow-up activities that Norton has correlated with more than 300 books at various reading levels about the cultures and lives of American Indians, Hispanics and blacks.

"Basically the previous reading materials used in the schools said to minority children, 'You don't exist,'" said Norton. Consequently children may have low opinions of minority groups and of themselves if they happen to be a member of one of those groups.

During initial research Norton and an advisory group of teachers, parents and Texas A&M College of Education faculty defined three major areas of concern: lack of teacher preparation to teach minorities, a shortage of ethnic reading materials and the low reading progress of ethnic minorities. Norton said her program tackles each of these problems.

Mowing Bill Trimmed By $30 Million

Texas highway roadsides may not be trimmed as closely next year but a new system should trim a $30 million annual mowing bill.

The vegetation management system, being studied by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation (DHT), will still provide for motorists' safety, protect the road surface -- and save money.

"The department spent $30 million last year in mowing costs," DHT chief landscape architect Craig Steffens said, "but we still got some irate calls when we let our rights of way get a little shaggy."

He added that savings from that $30 million will go to safeguard the state's multibillion investment in its highways.

Steffens said the goal of the vegetation management system is to develop the most cost effective, practical methods and concepts for managing roadside vegetation. "The discontinuance of mowing isn't our objective" he said, "However, the idea that a properly maintained highway needs to be mowed from right-of-way line to right-of-way line isn't necessarily correct."

The new system, to be initially instituted in one maintenance section in each of DHT's districts, will be studied through 1983 for a comparison of costs and labor, Steffens said.

With over a million acres of right of way along the state's 72,000 miles of highways, DHT has a lot of them like to see the roadsides as well kept as their property.

Steffens said, "We do plan to continue mowing to the right-of-way line adjacent to cultivated, developed and urban areas. But along rangeland and untended property, we don't intend to mow except along the shoulder.

"We hope Texans will understand that we are trying to save their tax dollars by establishing less costly priorities in our mowing operations," Steffens said, "We simply can't continue mowing from right-of-way line to right-of-way line on every highway."

He said preliminary studies indicate the vegetation management system will show an excellent savings and yet benefit desirable native plant life such as wild flowers. But, Steffens cautioned, DHT is not making any great promises of savings until the results of next year's study are in.

Whatever your job, there's always someone who can do it better.

TIME...

As the old year passes and the new begins, we are more conscious of time itself than we are at any other time of the year.

These are days when most everything is geared to a higher speed. Automobiles are faster, aircraft set new records. Production is speeded up to make the best possible product in the shortest time... but this is a good time to slow down and review the past and to make plans for the future. Think of the past, but only of how you can improve on it. Plan now for the future. Make sure that you will have time for the Lord this New Year. Start now to attend church, make it a regular habit.

B-Average Students In Demand By Colleges

Too many high school students "de-select" themselves from the colleges or university they would like to attend. That is the opinion of Dr. Edward Boehm, dean of admissions at Texas Christian University.

"B students are in demand," he emphasized. "But, in their own aspirations, they've already reduced their expectations because they think there is nothing out there...when many of us would love to have them on our campuses."

Dr. Boehm, along with other admissions officers at area colleges and universities, agree that being accepted for admission in colleges and universities is not as difficult as many high school seniors think. And financial aid is more often available than they realize.

"Too many times, students eliminate schools where they would be accepted and could receive financial aid," according to the TCU dean. "Either fear or misinformation is the cause."

Across the nation last year an overwhelming majority of high school seniors who applied for admission were accepted, as reported in a survey of 2,500 institutions by the College Board. The national acceptance figure was 75 percent, with 60 percent accepted by four-year institutions and 95 percent by two-year schools.

"There's a college looking for those high school students with B averages," said Dean Boehm, who added that "there are more options open to students than they realize."

While admission requirements are similar at a majority of colleges and universities, each institution has its own specific standards.

For high school students with questions about college during the holiday season, TCU's admissions office will be open Dec. 28-30 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. "We will be happy to counsel with prospective students and parents during these times, either in person or by phone," added Boehm.

A DINNER WINNER

Ribbons of pork breakfast strips interlaced with cooked bright green broccoli flowerets and cubes of sunny carrots on skewers make a quick and easy dinner. For extra flavor, the meat and vegetables are brushed with French dressing before broiling.

Pork breakfast strips are easy to thread onto skewers or wrap around water chestnuts, olives or gherkins because they are so meaty. There is little shrinkage and they do not curl during cooking so are ideal for kebabs and appetizers.

Hashed brown potatoes, the frozen ones for convenience, avocado and grapefruit salad, muffins and dessert, if you wish, will complete your meal. It is colorful, nutritious and so easy to prepare.

Sizzlin' Vegetable Kebabs
For each kebab, panfry or broil 2 strips Sizzlean on one side 3 to 4 minutes. Drain on paper towels.
Broccoli flowerets
Carrots, cut into 3/4 inch pieces
French dressing
Cook broccoli and carrots in boiling, salted water until tender crisp. Drain. On skewers, thread Sizzlean alternating with broccoli and carrots. Place cooked side of Sizzlean against vegetables. Brush meat and vegetables with French dressing. Broil 3 to 4 minutes turning occasionally for even cooking.

Texas A&M doctors get top scores on licensing examination

COLLEGE STATION—Texas A&M University's second class of graduating physicians has continued the record of outstanding performance on licensing exams, scoring about the same as last year's charter class which turned in the top marks statewide.

Texas A&M was again the only Texas medical school to have every graduate pass all parts of the examinations including jurisprudence, said university officials.

Texas A&M, the state's newest college of medicine, graduated 29 new M.D.s this year; all took the FLEX (Federated Licensing Examination) tests last June.

No specific figures were released because individual scores and university averages are confidential.

Physicians Warn Of Urban Warfare

Three physicians who have analyzed admissions of gunshot and knifing victims at a Harris County hospital say Houston "has the setting for urban warfare."

Of 1,545 patients admitted with accidental or inflicted wounds to Ben Taub General Hospital in 1979, 81 percent had penetrating injuries caused primarily by firearms and knives.

The report by Drs. Adam Rapaport, David Feliciano and Kenneth Mattox appears in the December issue of Texas Medicine, journal of the Texas Medical Association.

"Houston is a large, rapidly expanding socioeconomically and racially diverse city," the doctors write. "Its citizens are endowed with a strong frontier heritage and tradition, and a passion for hunting which makes gun ownership commonplace. Combine this with current national economic difficulties, general levels of frustration and anxiety in life, and a disrespect for law enforcement agencies, and one has the setting for urban warfare."

"Over the past three years, deaths from accidental injuries have risen considerably, but generally in conjunction with the rapidly expanding Houston population," the story says. "Homicide deaths, the majority of which were caused by firearms, increased 60 percent during the same period, far exceeding population growth."

The doctors also noted a trend in the past decade toward injuries resulting from more destructive and larger caliber handguns such as the .357 magnum. On the optimistic side, the physicians cited Houston's "well-trained paramedical personnel, good communications, rapid emergency transportation systems, and well-equipped and staffed trauma centers."

"Our ambulance system, which is part of the Houston Fire Department, can respond to a call on a freeway, in a bar, or from a home, and frequently has the patient in the emergency room within 20 minutes."

The Texas Medicine article received the journal's Harriet Cunningham Citation for Meritorious Scientific Writing, a new award named in memory of a long-time managing editor of Texas Medicine.

Texas A&M Press publishes images of the Texas cowboy

COLLEGE STATION — For more than a century the imaginations of Americans have been captured by the mystique of the cowboy.

Now that mystique has been captured between the covers of a new book published by the Texas A&M University Press. Through the photographs of Ray Rector, who was himself a cowboy before he became a professional photographer, "Cowboy Life on the Texas Plains" candidly details the life of the men who rode the range and whose activities ranged from roping to square dancing.

Rector, who died in 1933, left a legacy of more than 1,000 photographic negatives of ranch life that are now held by the Humanities Research Center at the University of Texas. The stills appearing in the book were selected and identified by his daughter Margaret.

"Cowboy Life on the Texas Plains: The Photographs of Ray Rector" (hardback $19.95, 119 pages) includes an introductory text by noted Texas author John Graves. Graves' conclusion is that although we will never again see the likes of the old-time cowboys that Rector photographed, their descendants may still be found, more often riding tractors and pickups than half-wild ponies, but still working cattle on the West's farms and ranches.

College Financial Aid Still Feasible

With the turn of the new year, college-bound students should begin looking for financial assistance for next fall, said the financial aid director at Texas Christian University.

"As soon as the income tax is figured, get the financial aid application in to the school of your choice," said Logan Ware. "We find that most of our students who apply qualify, even though they have a good income, particularly where there are three children from the same family in college."

Ware said at least 90 percent of the students who have applied for financial aid at TCU have received it.

"We're lucky here in that we have the program we have and the community that make loans to these students. A lot of people who wouldn't be eligible for a loan at a state school are eligible for a loan here," he emphasized. "We seem to have adequate loans for the students even though we have more students than we had before. With the recession, more people are coming back to school to get better training, and they're willing to borrow to come back to school. Twenty years ago there was a reluctance to borrow that doesn't exist at this point," said Ware.

Students on loans have doubled over the last 10 years, Ware estimated. The future of the financial aid programs "depends on what Congress does, what the president does and whether they keep backing these loans," said the TCU director.

Texas A&M plans high-technology industrial complex

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents recently announced selection of a site for establishment of a high-technology industrial research park here similar to Silicon Valley in California and the Research Triangle in North Carolina.

The 318-acre site is on land presently owned by Texas A&M University and is west of and adjacent to the main campus.

Regents hope establishment of the park will attract various high technology industries that will complement the teaching and research programs of Texas A&M and various other parts of The Texas A&M University System, including the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Engineering Experiment Station.

DWI Changes

test was not necessary.

A person's drivers license would be taken away at the scene by the arresting officer for failure to submit to an alcohol test. The individual would have the right to appeal by requesting a hearing within 20 days.

Under present law, a DWI offense that results in bodily injury to another person is the same criminal charge as one that does not cause injury. This law would establish separate, more serious penalties for bodily injury to other persons.

Under present law, a probation is not considered as a final conviction. This means that when the individual is arrested again and possibly again, it is treated by the courts as another "first offense". Under this recommendation, the probation would be a final conviction.

Under Deferred Adjudication, the individual pleads guilty before a Judge; then the defendant completes this period (usually a year), then the offense is removed from his record.

"Hardship" licenses would only be granted if refusal to issue a license would create an unusual economic hardship on the person's family. License could be granted because of illness of a member of the family. The license would be restricted to a 25 mile radius of the person's address, valid only from 6:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and valid for a 6 month period.

Under this proposal the penalties for committing DWI or DUID offenses would be the same for juveniles, as adults.

Although no action will be taken until the Legislature convenes in January, DWI bills have already been filed by some legislators. Those bills already filed differ; some do not seek to raise the drinking age to 21 or ban open containers. Some seek stiffer penalties than others.

Citizens who want their opinions on proposed DWI legislation heard can write can legislators:

The Honorable Pete Laney, House of Representatives, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas, 78769.

On December 21, Ortenia Stovall was arrested by City Police on a charge of forgery and was later released on a $1500 appearance bond.

Leo Chavez was arrested by the MPD on December 23 on a charge of theft under five dollars.

On December 24, Barbara Roberts was arrested by Bailey County Sheriff's officers on a Farmer County warrant for assault. She was later released on a $200 cash bond. Jack McBride was arrested by the MPD on December 24 on a charge of DWI.

Bailey County Sheriff's Department currently have under investigation several rural thefts. One of these thefts occurred on December 28 and was reported by Gary Bailey who lives west of Muleshoe on FM1760. Bailey reported that four sprinkler (side-roll) motors were taken from his sprinkler which was sitting in the field. The motors were Briggs and Stratton brand and were valued at $200 each, making the total amount of the theft come to $800.

BOOK DISTRIBUTION--The Texas Migrant Council had their RIF (Reading Is Fundamental) distribution on December 23, along with a Christmas Party for the children enrolled in the school. Each child received a book, and parents helped with the distribution of the reading material.

Job Corps Major Factor In Blood Bank Establishment

At a time when most communities are experiencing severe blood shortages, the city of McKinney, a town of approximately 16,000 located near Dallas, Texas, has established a community blood bank. Blood banks are created when more blood is available to a community than is needed.

Local officials credit participation by the McKinney Job Corps Center as a major factor in the establishment of the blood bank, which is a first for the City of McKinney.

The McKinney Job Corps Center, a federally funded job training program, initiated its quarterly blood drive in September of 1981. Since that time, over 1070 pints of blood have been donated by students and staff.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced that Phillip Land from his Lubbock Field Office will be at the Bailey County Courthouse in the County Commissioner Courtroom on January 11, 1983 from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. A controller's representative is available to assist local residents at the courthouse the second Tuesday of each month.

Bullock urges anyone with problems or questions concerning state taxes to contact Mr. Land at the courthouse in person or call the Lubbock Field Office at (806) 795-0691. A toll-free number (1-800-252-5555) is also available to Texas taxpayers.

Participation in the blood drive is strictly voluntary with all blood collected donated to the community blood bank.

Describing student participation in the blood drive program as "better than even we had hoped for", John Crosby, Director of the McKinney Center, stated, "We feel this is one of the best ways we can show our appreciation for the support McKinney has given Job Corps is a program designed to train young men and women in skills which will enable them to obtain a job with a future. The McKinney Center has trained and placed over 14,000 students since its opening in March of 1967.

Young men and women, ages 16 through 21, from Bailey County who are interested in signing up for Job Corps may obtain more information by contacting their local Texas Employment Commission Office.

On January 1, Jack Bates was sworn in as the new Justice of the Peace for Precinct One and will assume the duties formerly performed by Tana Holmes.

Statewide employment made a moderate rebound from mid-September to mid-October as it rose by 0.6 percent. Translated into actual numbers, employment rose by 41,800 workers over the month. It was the largest over-the-month gain in seven months. Total employment for October, however, was still below the year-ago level by over 48,000 workers. The moderate upturn may be a sign that better times are near, but a cautious approach is warranted. Generally the beginning of the holiday season brings increases in employment levels and unemployment levels as seasonal jobseekers enter the job market. Some doubt exists this year as to the amount of increased employment that the Christmas shopping will bring. Historically, November unemployment rates are somewhat higher than October's rates because of the influx of seasonal job hunters that inflate both the employment and unemployment levels.

The unemployment level in Texas remained above half a million for the fifth consecutive month. The actual number of unemployed did decrease by 5.5 percent, however, which is a rather sizeable monthly decrease. The State's actual unemployment rate dropped from 8.0 percent in September to 7.6 percent at mid-October. The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for Texas was 8.3 percent for October, down slightly from last month's rate of 8.4 percent. The actual rate for the United States in October was 9.9 percent and the seasonally adjusted rate was 10.4 percent.

Fireworks List

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has a list he's checking twice to make sure every fireworks dealer in Texas is paying state sales tax.

"We have a list of all licensed fireworks stands from the State Fire Marshal and we will be visiting each and every one of them between now and New Year's Day," Bullock said of the Comptroller's second annual fireworks stand canvass.

Last year's survey revealed 13 percent of the stands didn't have the sales tax permits necessary to legally sell taxable merchandise in Texas.

"We don't expect as many duds this year," Bullock said.

The Comptroller explained the annual canvass serves a double purpose.

"First, we are making sure these stands are com-

Major Policy

Changes For

US Highways

A major policy change in the acquisition of right of way for US and State highways has been announced by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

Local levels of government now may request the department to accept initially an amount equal to 10 percent of the cost of needed right of way. The department will accept the voluntary contribution and take responsibility for the acquisition of the land.

Previously, local governments were required to purchase the right of way and were later reimbursed at least 90 percent by the department. Some counties and cities have had difficulty funding the purchase prior to reimbursement thus delaying needed projects.

Commissioners...

County Attorney Linda Guelker and County Tax Collector Kathleen Hayes have previously been sworn in due to the fact that they ran for unexpired terms and their appointments ended with the elections.

According to County Judge Gleg Williams, the public is invited to attend these ceremonies of county and local officials.

The Atlantic Celebrates 125th Birthday In 1857, six distinguished Boston writers founded a magazine as a forum for ideas and commentary on American politics, art and literature. Today, these writers are among the most prominent in our literary history - Emerson, Holmes, Longfellow, Lowell, Stowe, Whittier - and their magazine, The Atlantic Monthly, is celebrating its 125th birthday. The Atlantic, the oldest continuously published magazine in America, has considerably more to celebrate than its proud heritage. Since late 1981, the magazine has reemerged as a once-again keenly followed and respected voice in the world of public affairs and the arts.

The watershed for this "rebirth" was an article in The Atlantic's December 1981 issue on Reagan administration Budget Director David Stockman. This now-famous article, derived from an eighteen interviews, sent shock waves through the White House and nearly led to Stockman's resignation. This, along with subsequent articles on Henry Kissinger's involvement in wiretapping during the Nixon years, and a profile of Lyndon Johnson that included the startling revelation of a touching love affair, has captured the public's attention and sent The Atlantic's circulation soaring nearly 25% in the last year. De-icing Icy Walks

The seasonal practice of "salting" icy walks and steps may not be the most effective solution for eliminating winter slip-ups.

Comparative research in the fast acting characteristics and low temperature performance of chemical deicers has shown that rock salt (sodium chloride) is not as effective as calcium chloride pellets for melting ice.

"Most people probably do not look past the brand name on the label to note the chemical composition of the deicer product they buy," stated Henry Kirchner, Dow Chemical Company. "However, there is a significant difference between the inherent performance nature of sodium chloride and calcium chloride."

The differences between these two chemical deicers and their subsequent performance depends upon their reaction to moisture and the environment as they are transformed into a brine solution during the deicing process. Calcium chloride pellets take only eight minutes to work as opposed to an hour for rock salt.

At temperatures below 10°F, rock salt is virtually ineffective. Conversely, calcium chloride pellets will work at temperatures as low as minus 25°F.

Calcium chloride is a liquid in its natural state; therefore, it tends to remain in a brine solution and melt ice. Calcium chloride pellets also attract moisture from its environment to stay in solution, resulting in a residual deicing effect.

Rock salt tends to give up moisture freely because of an affinity to return to its naturally solid state. As a result, it is necessary to apply more rock salt, more often. Deicing does not frequently, to achieve the same deicing performance from a single and smaller continue only as long as it application of calcium chloride remains a solution.

In comparative tests at 20°F, calcium chloride ice melting pellets broke an ice bonded in approximately half the time it took comparable ards of ice. Choosing the big amounts of rock salt, right one will save time At 10°F, calcium chloride and money.

Chemical deicing agents provide the most sophisticated and effective solution to overcoming the hazardous conditions of ice. Choosing the right one will save time.

IT'S A FACT!

America's Social Security system is expected to run into large deficits soon.

Finally, many advocate gradually increasing the retirement age from 65 to 68, a recommendation which would help lessen the strain on the system that the baby-boom generation will have when it retires.

The American Academy of Actuaries, a non-profit professional association devoted to increasing public awareness of actuarial issues, has recommended a range of solutions to Congress. The Academy believes that the Congress must act soon if the system is to be put back on track and public confidence restored.

Second, requiring all currently uncovered government workers to participate in the Social Security system would go a long way toward improving the program's funding status.
