Big Libel Suits.

The big corporations are wanting a little dough, or salve in the shape of money, to heal their cuticle peeled off by McClure's and Hearst. The S. S. McClure company, publisher of McClure's Magazine, was made the defendant in two libel suits for $100,000 each in the United States circuit court of New York.

The complainants are the Union Refrigerator Transit company, a Wisconsin corporation, and Emanuel L. Phillips, president of the company.

The alleged libel is contained in an article on rebating written by Ray Stannard Baker in the January issue of McClure's Magazine. The article says the private car company is owned mostly by a Milwaukee brewing firm. This the complainants deny. The article says that the company received rebates through the efforts of Mr. Phillips. This is also denied by the complainant.

Mr. Phillips in his complaint says that the defendant has held him up to "ridicule, scorn, contempt and obloquy."

August Belmont, the banker, has begun suit against William R. Hearst's Evening Journal of New York for the sum of $500,000 damages because of attacks upon him as a citizen, which he declares were published in the newspaper named.

A series of editorials commenting in very severe terms upon Mr. Belmont, because of the recent merger of the Belmont-Ryan local railroad systems, have appeared, and it is these which are made the basis for the charge of libel.

Panic Prophecy.

Asked about a probable financial panic, "Coin" Harvey, now of Arkansas, says:

"When a panic is over the slate is wiped off and loans and credit begins anew, and gradually the balloon is swelled up till it bursts. It takes usually from ten to fifteen years to do this. The last panic closed about 1896, and it has now been about ten years, but conditions are not so ripe for a panic as usual. It is true that the bankers of New York and London have it in their power more or less to precipitate a panic at almost any time, but a panic will not breed itself in the natural way at present, and probably not in the next ten years to come. I said it usually comes in ten to fifteen years; but an unusual condition is now on. The world's annual output of gold has been increasing since 1896, when it was about $95,000,000 only. The world-wide discussion of the question caused an extraordinary search for it. The effect of so much gold being produced is to create an unusual condition for prosperity, something remarkable. Columbus' discovery of America was followed by gold discoveries that put new life into the old world, and following the discovery of gold in California came an era of prosperity. And so it is now, with trusts and evil conditions pulling one way, the great phenomenal output of gold stands as an almost impassable barrier to a general panic for ten or more years to come."

C. L. Sullivan, a cattleman of Hereford, has made application for bankruptcy with liabilities $13,378.65. Assets $4,000, mostly exempt.

To Use Blank Tickets.

To a Grayson county inquiry, the attorney general has rendered an opinion to the effect that the names of no candidates shall be printed on the official ballot at the coming special election, Feb. 3, when a representative to the legislature will be elected.

The attorney general says that unless some method of nomination is employed, the ballots must be left blank and the voters must fill in the name.

Two candidates have announced for the office, W. J. Mathis of Denison and D. J. Bell of Bells.

"Fighting Joe" Wheeler Dead.

General Joseph Wheeler, died in New York Thursday of pneumonia and was buried in the national cemetery at Arlington, with the full military honors due a brigadier general of the United States army. The plot selected was on the slope to the right of the historic Arlington house.

Mrs. Tolla's Doom Sealed.

In response to a petition from Fort Worth in behalf of Mrs. Tolla, the governor of New Jersey writes: "So many misstatements have been circulated concerning the case of Antoinette Tolla, now under sentence of death for the murder of Joseph Sonta, that in justice to the state the following statement is made:

"Antoinette Tolla killed Joseph Sonta on the fourth day of March, 1905. At the time of the murder, Joseph Sonta was visiting Mrs. Tolla's husband, sitting in a chair by his side, smoking a pipe.

"Mrs. Tolla entered the room, approached Sonta from behind and shot him in the back of the head, killing him instantly, so that when found he was still sitting in the chair with his feet crossed and the pipe in his left hand. There is no evidence of any kind to show that Sonta ever attempted to assault the woman.

"The pardoning power in New Jersey is not vested in the governor, but in a court of pardons, consisting of eight. This court will sit to hear any appeal in the way of extension to be made in Mrs. Tolla's behalf. Very respectfully,

E. C. STOKES,
Governor."

Donley county has one ex-convict soldier drawing a pension, Wheeler county has two, Hall county has two widows drawing pensions and Collingsworth two old soldiers and two widows on the list.

Machinery For Hearst.

Three carloads of newspaper machinery billed to "William R. Hearst, Cincinnati Examiner," are standing on side tracks in the Big Four freight yards in Cincinnati, awaiting the pleasure of the consignee.

From this it is inferred by some that Hearst, after failing to buy any existing morning newspaper, plans to invade the Cincinnati field with a newspaper. It is said that options have been secured on forty feet of property in Government square.—American Press.

STATE NEWS.

Bitten By Tarantula.

While out grubbing Tuesday morning Will White was bitten by a tarantula. He had dug out around a stump and had caught hold of it below the surface of the ground to pull it out when the tarantula, disturbed in its winter quarters, seized his fore finger and clung to it so tenaciously that he could not get it loose until he killed it. He immediately wrapped the finger tightly with a cord and forced the blood out through the incisions made by the fangs of the tarantula, which no doubt saved him severe suffering. It pained him greatly however and he came to town and had Dr. Cowan treat him.—Crowell News.

CLARENDON, TEX., JAN. 31 1906.

Mr. Voter; if you have not paid your poll tax, your opportunity to exercise the rights of a sovereign for the next twelve months is gone.

THE Ohio senate has had its railroad passes cut off. It then voted to reduce the fare to two cents in that state. Wonder why it had never thought the public needed a reduction before?

ATTORNEY HADLEY'S Standard oil enquiry has been postponed to Feb. 12. It is said that John D. Rockefeller, whose testimony is wanted, is in hiding and papers cannot be served on him. One report is that he has gone to France, and his tool, Rogers, says he is in the south.

REPLYING to an inquiry as to the report that he would resign as arbitrator of rebates in the insurance companies, Grover Cleveland said "There is not a particle of truth in the report, nor any excuse for its circulation." It is hard to tell anything about what such fellows will or will not do by what they say or by newspaper reports.

The captain of the excursion steamer, General Slocum, which burned June 1904 at New York and over 1000 persons perished, has been sentenced to ten years imprisonment for his negligence.

Col. Fitzsimmons has recovered his wife, but not the money he lost on his last prize fight. And, according to his statement, "It was Julia and not O'Brien who whipped me." In other words he went into the ring with his heart out of shape on account of his domestic affairs. —Dallas News.

If this is true, turbulence in domestic affairs turned a good point for one time. But where this took place once, there are thousands of fellows who have lost out in a laudable effort to make his mark in life because his domestic affairs were badly out of joint. Our mental attitude has more to do with our success in life than physical ailments. If a man feels that he has something to live for, no obstacle will hardly down him. But with no approval of his efforts, no encouragement, and only fault-finding from a source that one would expect encouragement will break the will of a Sampson or a Hercules. On the other hand, persons who were not gifted, either mentally or physically, have risen to comfortable circumstances and lived long, useful lives because they were helped over the difficult places by encouragement and approval from those nearest to them.

Stock farming is doing wonders for West Texas, and its proper development will ultimately make it the most prosperous portion of Texas. Stock farming has proven a winner wherever it has been tried. —Ft. Worth Telegram

NEW SHORT STORIES

The Highest Flight.

"I once compiled and illustrated a book of hymns, and before the book was made the publishers had a list of the selections printed and sent to the best known clergymen, authors and poets, asking them to add to or subtract from the list as they might see fit," says Louis K. Harlow. "Most of them replied, but nothing was received from Thomas Bailey Aldrich. Meeting him one day, I suggested that he should if possible give us the benefit of his judgment. He said:

"That suggestion makes me think of the time I was a boy in Riverworth, for if you have read the 'Story of a Bad Boy' you will remember the crowd of boys that were always together, skating and coasting in winter, playing marbles in the spring, and so on through the entire sports of the season. Well, there was one boy who could always beat us in these sports. He could skate faster, his sled would pass our sleds in coasting, he would win all our marbles, and when it came time for flying kites of course his kite was way above ours.

"One day we decided to name our kites. So the next morning we appeared on the green with these names. One boy had selected Morning Star; another Daybreak. Mine, I think, was Excelsior, but this boy came out with this title covering the entire face of his kite, 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.' Have you that hymn in your collection?"—Boston Herald.

The Small Boy in Evidence.

Mr. John P. Newman, Bishop Newman's widow, who proposes to found a kindergarten in Jerusalem, has a great affection for children and a great store of children's anecdotes.

Anent an embarrassing situation she said one day:

"This reminds me of a dinner that a Denver woman gave during a Methodist convention in her city.

"The dinner was sumptuous. The leading lights of the church and of the

"The hostess began to assure the elder that the accident was of no consequence, but her well modulated voice was easily overpowered by the loud shout of her little son.

"Oh, mamma," he cried, "it's one of the borrowed ones, isn't it?"—Grand Rapids Herald.

A Japanese widow wishing to marry again signifies her desire by twisting her hair around a long shell hairpin placed across the back of the head. The woman who desires to remain faithful to the memory of her lost spouse cuts her hair short and combs it back quite plainly.

The French government some time ago expressed a wish that the bones of French soldiers who died while prisoners in the Franco-Prussian war should be returned to France. Emperor William has now ordered that this be done and that military honors shall be rendered in every instance.

The Great Divide.

Freddie—What's a pedestrian, dad?
Cobwigger—He's a man who can't afford an auto.—New York Times.

Once upon a time a man married a woman who had inherited $500 from a grand-father. This was all she ever received but the man never got credit for his efforts the rest of his life. He built a new store. "Did it with his wife's money" the neighbors said. The home was made over and enlarged. "His wife's money did it," was the only comment. The little measly $500 she inherited was given credit for everything he did during life, and when he died his widow put up a monument with his life insurance, "her money paid for that," was said again. But this is what her money really went for: During her engagement she bought herself a $350 piano, and a $150 diamond ring, and in a few weeks lost the ring and there was always some regret that she didn't also lose the piano.—Denison Gazetteer.

Railroad Fatalities.

The accident bulletin, just issued by the inter-state commerce commission, for July, August and September, 1905, shows that there were 1,053 killed and 16,386 injured among passengers and employees. The total number of employees reported killed in coupling and uncoupling cars is seventy-four, and the number of injured $19, being an increased of twenty-five in the number of killed and fifty-three in the number injured over those reported for the last preceding quarter.

The total number of collisions and derailments was 3,135 (1,605 collisions and 1,530 derailments), of which 240 collisions and 141 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage on cars, engines and roadbed by these accidents amounted to $2,540,908.

This will furnish homes for more than 2,000 families.

What Texas needs and needs badly at this time is the proper equalization of taxes. There are plenty of taxable values to justify a marked reduction from the existing tax rate if the burden could only be properly distributed.—Fort Worth Telegram.
