QUEER COGNOMENS.

Georgia can think up some of the darndest names. Poke Jarrel is county school superintendent, and Folks Huxford is editor of the Clinch County News of the same place.

GREAT SCOTT!

Ain't this a heck of a world! Down at LaGrange, the valedictorian of the class is working around a popcorn vending machine owned by a fellow who dropped out in the 8th grade. Anyhow, he's workin'.

MONKEY BUSINESS.

A civilized nation is the one that has to hem itself in with barbed wire entanglements to keep another civilized nation from invading it. I still think that if we really did come from the monkey tribe, we ought to go back to them if they will stand for it. Monkeys don't have wars and a lot of other dirty tricks of the so-called civilized animals.

EARN BY SWEAT.

There may be other ways for training young people for success in life, and some of them may work at times, but none of them are as good as the time-honored custom and simple formula of work and plenty of it, and ability to make decisions. No plan devised by any school will ever equal such a course when it comes to turning out solid, self-reliant, dependable men and women. "In the sweat of thy brow shalt thou eat bread," remains an axiom through all the ages. It was put in the Good Book for our special benefit.

HIS PEDIGREE.

Hastoon Yazzie used to tell people his ancestors came over in the Mayflower. It gave him a better social standing down at Hogjaw, but it seemed to him that all other folks who claimed their ancestors came over in the Mayflower wore fine clothes, loud jewelry and got the best political appointments. After the panic of 1930-40 had hit the old man a hard jolt, Yazzie changed his story. He told the folks that his ancestors were smugglers who rushed over here to escape hanging.

THE OLD-TIMER.

Living a long time in the same place makes an old-timer of the fives, all of which makes news. Sort of an endurance contest—as it were.

EXTREME CAUTION.

The principal reason we do not say a lot of good things about a man while he is alive, we are afraid he might yet spoil it all.

IGNORANCE.

As a boy, I never learned to properly place a silk hat, I simply never learned to distinguish between the great professional man, and the big shot at a medicine show. They each wore a silk hat. Now they have gone in for slacks and that makes it worse than ever. I can't tell whether it is a "she, he or it!"

VETERINARIAN.

A wire took Dock Brinkley home in a hurry. The goats had gotten out of the corral and left. Before he got the goats corraled again, the campaign desire had left him. Does that make him a political bankrupt?

OUR WEEKLY POME.

Spring has come,
Winter has went,
With a sudden thud.
The wind blew
And sand flew
Till rain gave us mud.

GETTING ALONG.

Some of the news gals DO get along. One just back from Europe, claims she had an affair with Hitler.

US OLD CODGERS.

Through all this talk of age and man's aptitude in advanced life, we should remember that Noah handled the most devastating flood of all time when he was more than 400 years old. (P. S. And the old man didn't know a vitamin from a June bug either.)

NATIONAL RELIEF.

Uncle Sam is calling in the aluminum sales tax tokens and will use them in making airplanes to pester the foreigners, all of which will be a relief to the neighbors of nearby states.

Carbolic acid! That's goodbye in any language.

RADIOCLAST EXAMINATIONS

The animated human body is such a multiplicity of complicated structures with so many physical, chemical, mental and spiritual expressions and rules of procedure that a working knowledge of the body in health is a broad education and disease heaps up the problem. Knowing every possible angle is essential to greatest understanding and most successful treatment of disease. To leave out even one angle is like failing to remove one pebble in the shoe.

To make education in the Healing Arts Complete and properly rounded out, we feel that Vibronic is essential, and that is the principle upon which a Radioclast Examination is given. Without vibronics diagnosis and the treatment pictures are incomplete and understanding is just that much lacking, which will reflect in results obtained in practice.

If the principles of vibration were removed from the human body, there would be no life. Such an important factor warrants our earnest consideration and thoughtful study.

Mrs. Howard Visits Kin In Arkansaw

Visiting relatives in Arkansaw and seeing a lot of sights going and coming was a delight to Mrs. M. T. Howard of the Howard ranch the past week. She was accompanied by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Alvin Long, and G. A. Anderson of Clarendon was shoer and looked after the fishing while the women folks visited.

They first went to the home of Floyd C. Howard and family, a son of Mrs. M. T. Howard, and who resides near Huntsville, Arkansas.

After a few days there, Floyd Howard piloted the visitors up into old Benton county to the home of his son, Clint Howard and wife. Seeing an old water mill four stories high and 107 years old was one of the unusual things seen in that section.

On the return home, the tourists spent some time at the Grand river dam which is 75 miles long and has a 1,300 mile shore line. A stop at the Will Rogers museum at Claremore was the highlight of the trip.

Besides all kinds of personal articles and effects once used by Will Rogers, the large bronze statue of the celebrated comedian is said to be most life-like. A sarcophagus in the building is prepared to receive the remains of Rogers that are to be brought from California within a short time.

The Tulsa airport enthralled the visitors. The magnitude of the grounds laid off, and more homes being moved to make more room.

STORM FREAKS

While the main portion of the tornado lasted less than a minute, it did a "world of damage," to quote several hundred who surveyed the damage.

Phone 35-J

At the Charley Ballew home, the house was twisted around and a portion of sheet iron was slammed into the room where he and Mrs. Ballew were sleeping.

The storm damage is estimated upwards to a half million dollars. The actual damage will not be known until expert estimates are made following an inspection of the homes and the College buildings.

The home of Mrs. Carrie Sorrelle escaped as by a miracle since trees had their bark removed, and some were uprooted near her west wall.

The C. C. Oakley home north of town suffered the loss of a windmill and outbuildings. No personal damage.

Dick Wily escaped with small damage but had plenty of excitement. His home was in the fringe of the tornado.

Bunk Ozier suffered a leg cut that required the services of a surgeon. The damage to the E. M. Ozier home was principally to the roof.

Mrs. A. C. Donnell had with her in her home Mrs. H. L. Riley, Mrs. J. N. Riley and Miss Ione Wall. "The house swayed and I ran to the stairway and called to come down before the roof caved in," Mrs. H. L. Riley said. "We just did not know what to do with the windows flying out and the house shaking like it did," she informed the Leader. No personal damage there, except shock to nerves, and what a shock that was!

Just west of that home the Cap Lane home had minor damage. Walker Lane had a scratch and felt mighty lucky about it all.

A sheetiron shingle of the dormitory cut through a four-inch shade tree east of the building, as if the tree had been cut off with a razor.

H. M. Breedlove, in making a survey, saw sheetiron flying in all directions with a flock of shingles and building timber mixed with it. His home had minor damage, and the county agent had the jitters, as the only casualty.

The Bennett family on the J. K. Morton farm near the Fairview school had a narrow escape when a portion of the roof was torn from the home. The windmill was blown down there. It happened early Monday during the storm.

Just back of the McMurtry home the servants quarters was wrecked with no injury to the occupants. Near that building was a water tank on a high concrete block foundation of some thirty or more feet. The wind did not disturb the tank, but drew a line diagonally across the south side by pushing plank through the cypress tank.

Mrs. Lolla Bagby got up to let a window down when the storm broke over her home. She found the window pane missing and started to return to bed when the foot of the bed was jerked off, the bed thrown across the room. Shingles were blown off and the front porch wrecked. This home is just east of the A. A. Mayes home.

At the C. C. Carter place east of Sunnyview, the poultry houses and a windmill were wrecked by the high wind during the storm in Clarendon.

The Stobbs home southwest of town was damaged, but at the Lee Landers home in the path of the storm before it hit the Roach home, wind lifted calves over a fence and damaged outbuildings.

The large east window upstairs was broken out at the Wiley Morris home just west of the Joe Holland home. The garage just north of the home was demolished while the home was left practically intact.

Mrs. J. B. McClelland returned from Oklahoma City Saturday. As the wind struck her home, her hand was gashed by a broken window pane as no lights were to be had since the wires went down first. Her home was damaged on the roof, and the walls pulled loose. Her son, Bruce McClelland came from Oklahoma City immediately after he heard the storm report.

Mrs. Welch left her car in her yard. It was a total wreck after the storm. Parts of three walls is all that remains of her home.

His wife and daughter being away from home, Bill Rhiney, highway foreman had little to worry about as the storm struck his home near the College. He almost wished he had put his car in the garage. After the storm, he found his home damaged, the garage wrecked, but the car was safe after being pushed some fifty feet from where he left it. Had his daughter been in her bed where she slept when at home, she would have been covered with broken windowpane glass, piled in her bed, and likely severely injured as the pillow was cut in two.

GARDEN GLANCES

"America beautiful lies in the hands of the gardeners."

If the garden glancer could indulge in wishful wishing she'd wish mighty hard for the spacious and well kept lawn of the Wesley Knorrp's; the magnificent blue spruce at the Gentry's; the bed of gorgeous regal lilies of the Brumley's; and the lovely wrought iron furniture on the Dyer's lawn.

Pink roses are blooming showily on Mrs. Benson's front porch and with Nathaniel Cox. A large cactus with myriads of rose pink flowers is noticeable on the Lands and Stockings lawn.

An oak leaf hyrangea is especially lovely at the Trent's front door, while golden elder with lacy blossoms can be seen at the Noblet's. The Prewitt's garden is a riot of color, as are so many other gardens.

A number of our loveliest yards were marred by the storm, and first aid is being given to broken and bruised limbs of trees and shrubbery.

Hit Songs, Grand Story In Film

Against a background of tuneful melodies, "The Great American Broadcast" unfolds the gay, fascinating story of the courageous, talented people who first filled the air waves with song and laughter.

From the same studio which produced "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Tin Pan Alley," and others, the film "The Great American Broadcast," starring Alice Faye, John Payne, Jack Oakie, and Cesar Romero, opens Wednesday at the Pastime Theatre.

Mindful of the fact that it is more difficult to reproduce the recent past on the screen to the satisfaction of all potential movie-goers, one year of research was spent before a single line of script was written. People familiar with the styles, customs and trends of 1919 and the years immediately following, will find "The Great American Broadcast," historically accurate, but in a most gay, entertaining way.

Those were the days of the crystal set, so every available crystal set west of the Rockies was purchased, and in addition, others were built to supplement these.

Celluloid collars, and high, wide and hard straw hats were other items necessary for the accurate reconstruction of the recent past. The collars were supplied by a midwestern dealer who thought he had been stuck with an over-supply—and stuck he was until 20th Century-Fox bought his entire stock at a fancy price. On the matter of the straw hats, the studio was more fortunate. Several years ago the purchasing department picked up 200 of these snappy head pieces at a bargain price, and now they are not only used in 20th Century-Fox films, but also rented to other studios often enough to have covered the original investment five-fold.

The songs sung by Alice Faye in "The Great American Broadcast" were written by those master tunesmiths Mack Gordon and Harry Warren. For "The Great American Broadcast," they prepared "Long Ago Last Night," "Run Little Raindrop, Run," "I Take To You," "I've Got A Bone To Pick With You," "The Great American Broadcast," "Where You Are," and "It's All In A Lifetime."

The featured cast includes Mary Beth Hughes and many other outstanding performers.

House On Fire!

Two Irishmen came to a railroad crossing. The gates were down.

They stopped their car, settled down until the train should pass, and both fell asleep.

With thundering wheels the express dashed past, causing them to open their eyes.

"I say," said one, "wasn't that a well-lighted village we passed through?"

"Yes," yawned the other. "An' did you notice that the first house was on fire?"

Miss Jessie Ingram visited her mother here the several days after the close of school in Amarillo. She is a student in University of California now.

But Reserve Forces Came to the Rescue

Your Electric Servant joins with all Clarendon citizens in extending sympathy to victims of last Monday's tragic storm. We pledge support in helping to re-build our city.

Electric lines in the storm's path were not spared. We regret the interruption. Every possible step was taken to restore service quickly and safely. Our local staff was on the job within 20 minutes; lights were back on in the business area and parts of the residential section by 7:47 A. M. Although poles were down and lines broken, twisted, and tangled over 15 blocks, all but a few homes had lights before nightfall.

Recognition is given the line crews, rushed to Clarendon from Childress and Quanah, as well as members of our organization here, for the fine spirit and the speed and skill employed in re-building and constructing the lines in the stricken area.

The company is proud of the men and women who comprise our organization, and of their loyalty in meeting every emergency.

The storm has proven that a modern city needs just such an organization, trained and experienced to meet extraordinary emergencies, and with reserve facilities of man-power and materials to rush repairs in event of disaster.

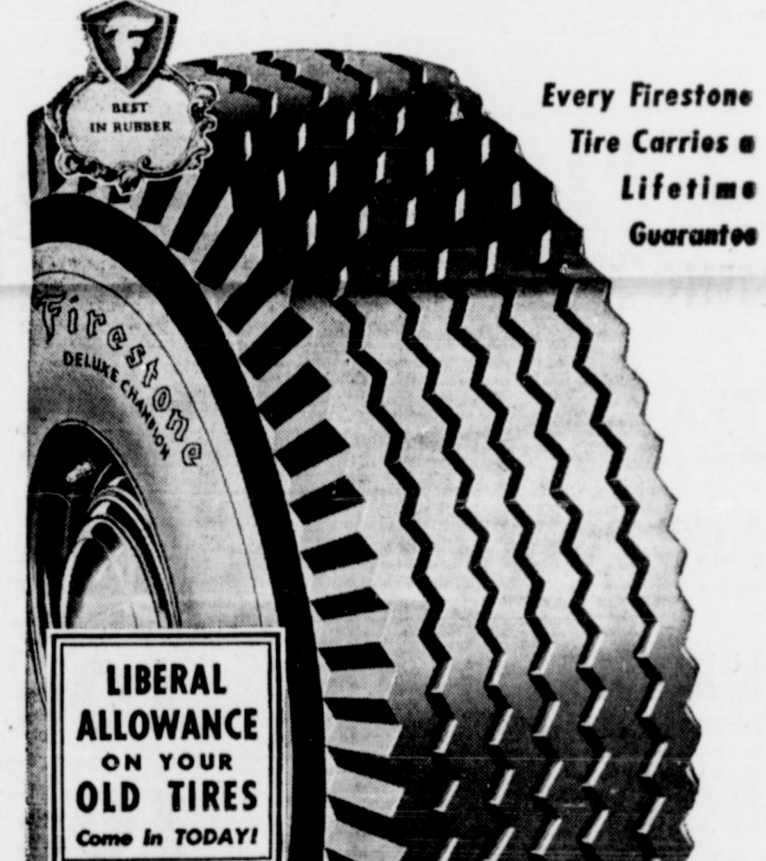

It is a type of service we pledge anew . . . maintaining reserves to meet any contingency, and neighborly cooperation among our workers to be of inestimable value to the community in time of need.

MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR CEMETERY

The Trustees of the Citizens Cemetery report that 92 people have up to this time answered the call for donations for maintenance of the property. Donations range from $1 to $10 and a total of $246.50 has been received.

On account of the heavy rains many of the graves were settled and a heavy expense was incurred in refilling them. All graves were promptly mounded up as soon as trucks could get to them. For the past month several men have been employed cutting and raking off grass and weeds. Much work is yet to be done and more money will be needed. The Trustees are requesting those that have not made a contribution to this cause to do so at the earliest time possible so the good work may continue.

Mrs. J. F. Newman of Oklahoma City returned home the first of the week. She was here on a matter of business, but visited friends over the week.

RAYBURN SMITH JR. TO WEST POINT

Having concluded the prescribed course of study in the local schools and Junior College, young Smith enlisted to begin training at Randolph Field in the air corps near San Antonio some weeks ago.

He will receive his discharge from the air corps June 20th that he may enter West Point July 1st. His appointment was secured through the influence of Judge Marvin Jones while he was yet congressman from this district. Smith is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Smith of Clarendon.

WALLACE ATTENDS FAMILY RALLY

L. L. Wallace attended the annual family reunion at Greenville Sunday where 125 relatives gathered to honor J. A. McKinney, aged 83. A barbecue and picnic was a feature this time as in former years.

Mr. Wallace continued on to Austin and over to Llano before returning here Tuesday.

UTILITIES COMPANY RESTORES SERVICE WITH TWO CREWS

Adding to the horrors of tornado conditions before daybreak Monday, was the lack of lighting service due to broken poles and tangled or broken wires carrying electric current.

The local force, composed of Chas. M. Lowry, V. L. Smith and Roy McCraw, were on the job within a few minutes after the storm had passed, and their first task was to make emergency repairs to the roof of the power plant. The wind had ripped off a part of the roof immediately over the switchboard, exposing all the automatic switches and instruments to the rain.

Their next thought was to call for expert help and a supply of materials for rebuilding the power lines. While this was being done, it was discovered that one of the large insulators on the 33,000 volt line in the substation had been destroyed by lightning, making it necessary to open the switch on the incoming high line until the insulator could be replaced.

Then came the big job of cutting loose all lines leading into the stricken section. This was done for two important reasons: First, that there would be no possibility of injuries or death to anyone through contact with live wires when the current was turned on. Second, that service could be restored as quickly as possible to the other parts of town.

As soon as the lines were "in the clear", V. L. Smith started the big diesel engine at the power plant and turned on the "juice" to all the business section and East side of town at 7:47. The plant was operated until repairs were made in the substation.

By this time the line crew from Childress had arrived, and immediately started work on repairing and rebuilding the broken and tangled lines. About two hours later the line crew from Quanah arrived and went to work throughout the rest of the day and on into part of the night, seventeen employees of the company were on the job, directed by J. A. Brewer, District Manager of Childress.

Local manager Chas. M. Lowry is most grateful for the patience and assistance rendered him and his company during the emergency. Everything possible was done to protect the public against danger, and to restore service as quickly as possible. The manner in which this service was restored has been highly commended by a large number of patrons.

"WILL HE QUALIFY AS A HUSBAND" 2ND IN SERIES

"Will he qualify as a husband" will be the subject of the sermon given this Sunday night at the First Christian Church. This message will set forth the qualities that are necessary for the bridegroom to have to be the kind of husband that will make for a permanent marriage.

Young people who are contemplating marriage are especially asked to hear this message, and husbands and wives are invited to attend this service together. In a frank, yet scriptural way, the things a husband should be will be told the audience at this second service in the "Happy Homes and Successful Marriages" campaign. The service starts at 8 p. m. and all are invited.

BACK HOME AGAIN

Mrs. Victor Smith, a patient of an Amarillo hospital for some three weeks following a major operation, was returned home Sunday. She is said to be improving nicely.

J. C. Drennan and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Estlack and son, Allen Homer, from KMA were here for the funeral service of Mrs. Drennan Tuesday.

Help Offered When Needed

Granville Routh, Veterans' State Service Officer of Texas, stationed at the Veterans' Hospital, at Amarillo Texas, reported to Clarendon, Texas, on June 9th, to be on hand to assist any world war veterans that might have been injured in the cyclone which struck Clarendon early in the morning of June 9th.

He came here to help and assist any injured buddies to go to the Veterans' Hospital, Amarillo, Tex. He also assisted Guy Wright, sheriff of Donley county in formulating a plan to organize a group of World War Veterans to do police duty in the stricken area, to keep down any looting that might be attempted at the College, or any private homes.

Dean Drennan Is Improved

Reports from Northwest Texas Hospital attendants in Amarillo today indicate that Dean R. E. Drennan is slightly improved. His condition since falling a victim of the tornado early Monday when his home was destroyed, and Mrs. Drennan was fatally injured, has been most critical.

Mr. Drennan received an eye injury when struck across the face by a timber. One lung is said to have been punctured by a broken rib. Internal injuries of a serious nature are believed to retard his improvement. A foot injury is painful but not serious.

A large number of relatives and friends are in constant attendance at the hospital. Supt. H. T. Burton and Principal H. M. Lane have been with Mr. Drennan constantly since the disaster.

Mr. Drennan has been connected with the local schools for some ten years. During all that time, he has been most popular with pupils of all grades and with the public at large. He has been frequently referred to as the most useful citizen Clarendon has ever had. If prayers and wishes could restore him to normal health, he would come home today.

FROM AMARILLO

Mrs. D. P. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Beville of Amarillo were here Tuesday afternoon attending to business matters and visiting among friends of former years when they made Clarendon their home.

PASTOR IS GRANDPA

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Quattlebaum Jr. announce the birth of a grandson in an Amarillo hospital the 9th. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nix are the parents. Mrs. Nix is the former Mary Alice Quattlebaum, well known here.
