Encroaching Wealth A Message Theme.

It is given out from Washington that in his annual message to Congress President Roosevelt is going to startle the country anew on the subject of wealth and its incroachments.

He is going to ask for legislation that will still further curb corporate wealth and also compel individual wealth to recognize its obligation to the country.

Taxation of large wealth is to be one of the President's most strenuous demands upon Congress.

His speeches on the subject last spring fairly represents his present frame of mind, though he has not outlined his ideas very definitely.

The President is determined to insist more vigorously than ever on a further extension of the National Government's control over corporations.

He will have great difficulty in getting the senate to meet his views, but the experience of that body with him on the rate bill last winter is not likely to give senators much confidence in their ability to withstand the gatlin gun bombardment they will have from the White House.

Ordinarily the coming session would be a short one, ending on March 5, when the present House goes out of existence. But senators and congressmen alike realize now that there is no end for Roosevelt until all the work is done.

Enormous Railroad Profits.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has made its report of the earnings of American railroads for the year ending June 30, 1906, covering 220,026.44 miles of lines. These include the lines operated under trackage rights, or about 99 per cent of the mileage that will be covered by the final report on the statistics of railways for the year.

The total gross earnings of the roads as shown in the report under consideration were $2,319,760,030, being equivalent to $10,543 per mile; passenger earnings were $618,555,934, or $2,811 per mile, and freight earnings $1,640,942,862, or $7,458 per mile. Operating expenses were $1,532,163,163, or $6,963 per mile. The net earnings of the roads were $787,596,877, being $3,580 per mile, and nearly $97,000,000 more than the corresponding amount reported for the previous year.

The amount reported as income from sources other than operation was $132,624,982. This amount includes a few duplications due to the method of accounting followed by certain of the carriers. Adding this amount to net earnings from operation gives $920,221,859.

Against this amount were charged as interest, rents, betterments, taxes and miscellaneous items, the sum of $590,386,554, and as dividends the sum of $229,406,598, leaving a surplus for the year of $100,428,707. The taxes paid during the year were $68,903,288.

The final report for the year ended June 30, 1905, showed a surplus of $89,043,490. The amount of dividends declared in 1906 was $34,248,605 more than that shown for the dividends of practically the same roads in 1905. This preliminary report relates to operating roads only, and does not include the statement of any dividends paid by leased lines from the income they received as rent. The dividends declared by the subsidia- leased lines for the year 1905 are about $35,750,000.

Tillman Scored the Negro and Criticized Mayor Dunne.

Chicago Nov. 28.—Senator Tillman gave his address Monday night protected by forty detectives under command of Assistant Chief of Police Chuttler. In anticipation of trouble a number of policemen were kept in nearby stations in reserve, but they were not called for. Six negro policemen mingled with the crowd of white people and the negroes which blocked the street in front of the hall.

In the audience were many negroes, but they listened to Senator Tillman's remarks good-naturedly, and, although he was interrupted by those who wished to ask questions, the meeting passed off without any trouble developing.

In leading up to his address, "Shall the United States Annex Cuba?" Mr. Tillman criticized Mayor Dunne's action in refusing to preside at the meeting. "I have been told that I have been snubbed by the mayor of this city," said Mr. Tillman.

"I never saw Mayor Dunne in my life. I did not ask him to be here to introduce me to this audience nor did I ask anyone else to do so. If any one has snubbed me it is those gracious ladies who planned this meeting to secure money for the Chicago Union hospital who requested mayor Dunne, the creature of a political party, to come forward and add his mite."

"I have been advertised to discuss the 'Annexion of Cuba,'" announced Mr. Tillman, "but in view of the fact that I could not discuss that subject without discussing the race question, I am going to go at the matter hammer and tongs straight forward like a man. Therefore I shall discuss the race problem pure and simple from an American standpoint, and not from a Cuban standpoint. Owing to my experience with the question and the diligent study I have made of it, I believe I am better qualified than any other man in America to discuss this question. I am going to base my appeal on facts, not on theories."

While discussing the fifteenth amendment of the constitution, which he declared gave the negro every privilege which the white man had, he was interrupted several times by one of his listeners who kept asking, "How about Kentucky?"

Finally Mr. Tillman seemed to lose his temper and exclaimed, "Oh, shut your mouth; You don't know the A B C of this thing. I forgot forty years ago more than you ever knew."

"You make up your minds that equality beneath the law will furnish equal guarantees is right and should be enforced, not withstanding its result. If this law was enforced it would result in two states at least being dominated absolutely by negroes, while four other states would be so near being governed by the negro that there would be practically an equal division of officers.

A voice: "How about the law?" Senator Tillman continued: "The law? To hell with such law." After telling in detail how the negro is prevented from casting his ballot in the south, Senator Tillman said: "There is a great deal more to this question than the little racket here in Chicago."

Voice: "How about the negro judge? Senator Tillman."

"Well I will tell you about the negro judge and your political mayor in putting him on the ticket and bamboozling those poor ignorant baboons into electing him, and when, afterwards, you fellows who voted the ticket without knowing what was on it, find a way to cheat him out of it.

"No matter what the people in the north may do or say, the white race in the south will never be dominated by the negro, and I want to tell you now that if some state should ever make an attempt to 'save South Carolina' we will show them in their fanaticism that we will make it red before we make it black.

"God Almighty made the Caucasian of better clay than the Mongolian or the African or any other. The Ethiopian is a burden carrier. He has done absolutely nothing for himself nor has he ever achieved any thing of great importance. There are no great men among the race. Yet his people have been picked out by the fanatics of the north and kept up to the quality of citizens and the right of suffrage. No doubt that many of you have listened to the oratory of the greatest colored man of this country—Booker Washington. He had a white father, however, and his brain and his character he got from the father."

Senator Tillman then told his audience of the attacks on white women by negroes in the south, and declared that the people of the north were in a great measure responsible for this state of affairs.

In conclusion Senator Tillman said: "Now a general illustration of the injustice that is sometimes done: President Roosevelt discharged three companies of colored soldiers without a courtmartial, and in doing so he punished innocent men for the crime of a few. In doing this he transcended the authority of law, and he ought not to have done it."

During Mr. Tillman's speech a negro man and a Russian were arrested for creating a disturbance in the gallery.

Clarendon school children had the pleasure of two days holiday this week, besides their regular day off to day. Thursday was national holiday and yesterday was "school" day for the teachers alone. The bad weather, though, put a damper on the boy who had the day set for a big hunt for game he couldn't hit, then come home with a ravenous appetite on the hunt for something to devour.

Stabbed Judge in the Back.

Troublesome Negroes at San Antonio.

A special from San Antonio this week says that so many women have lately been attacked, and held up or insulted by the idle negroes now making winter headquarters in San Antonio that it is no longer considered safe for a women to be alone on the streets. The condition of affairs is growing rapidly worse and there is a talk of organizing a citizens' committee.

A number of offices in the city close earlier in order that the women may reach home before night. Few of the women clerks in the department stores go home alone. They either go three or four together or wait at the store for some male relative to escort them.

A few nights ago two negroes terrified an entire neighborhood, badly frightening three girls who were sleeping alone in a house, burglarized three houses, and committed other depredations.

The inflation of bank currency and the increased coinage at the mints has made a telling mark on bank deposits. The increase in the individual deposits in all the bank and saving trust companies in the country for the last decade has been 146.63 per cent. In the past year individual deposits exceeded twelve billion dollars.

The Santa Fe has commenced work on the Southern Kansas division for a bridge across the Canadian River at Canadian. The bridge will consist of four 260 foot spans resting on five pneumatic caissons sunk to a depth of ninety feet and will have treated pile trestle approaches. The work will require about eight months to complete.

It is estimated by officials at the United States land office at Lawton that 200,000 personal and letter applications for literature and bidding blanks concerning the sale of the Kiowa-Comanche Indian pasture lands near there will be filed before the closing of the bids Saturday, Dec. 8, by the land office and the substation at Anadarko, Hobart and Frederick. Over 35,000 inquiries have been answered by the land office alone.

The President of the Ward County Bank at Barstow presented each pupil in their public school with $1.00. It was a free gift, with no strings to it, except that the money should be left in the bank for at least 24 hours, and that each child, in drawing out their money, should write their own checks. This was a pretty good scheme. It will give the bank the good will of the children, teach them economy and business methods, besides it is a big advertisement for the bank and will bring in deposits in the future.

J. H. Gooch's case in which he is charged with being one of the lynchers of the three negroes at Springfield, Mo., last spring, has been continued to next March. The cases will be worn out and that will be the end of the governor's and attorney-general's dire threats to punish the lynchers.

Sacred Cattle For Texas.

The sacred cattle that A. P. Borden of Pierce, Tex., bought in India to use on his ranch arrived at the yards this morning, stopping over for feed and water. The consignment embraced thirty-four animals, all bulls with the exception of a cow and two heifer calves. The original purchase included about fifty animals. The government held this consignment in quarantine for six months, during which time eighteen died.

The cattle were in fine condition, showing good health and some were in very fat condition. Quite a crowd was attracted by the unusual sight of so many sacred animals.

The question was raised why Mr. Borden bought these cattle to cross with Texas, and C. H. Toops, brand inspector, threw some light on the subject by stating that they were immune from ticks, even to eighth blood; that they make better rustlers, and are stronger stock than the home animals, for they confine themselves close to the water, keeping the grass short in that locality, while the cross of the imported stock would stray fully ten miles away and would return to the same point.—St. Louis Stock Reporter.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

CHRONICLE CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17—

—There is in Washington every indication of the approaching session and season. Members of Congress and their wives are arranging for their winter homes here. The new Cabinet Minister, Mr. Straus, late Ambassador for Constantinople has leased one of the newest and most elegant residences in the city. The President is expected back early next week and very soon after Thanksgiving the last session of the Fifty Ninth Congress will begin. While it is expected that this short session will be active and even notable in a legislative way, it is doubtful if there will be as much gaiety and entertaining in the Congressional set as there was last winter. There will be fewer of the wives, daughters, cousins and mothers-in-law of members and senators in the city for the reason that under the new law these will not have free railroad passes. Every congressman and senator as it is well known has his mileage paid by the Government and this mileage is so generous that it enables him to ride first class with meals and Pullman car accommodations and yet have something to spare. Nevertheless he has been traveling on free passes and turning his mileage perquisites into cash. Now all of this has changed. He will have to ride on his mileage and pay for the tickets of his female entourage. But the absence of a hundred ladies more or less of the congressional class will not throw an impenetrable pall over Vanity Fair in Washington. Real estate agents report that never before has there been such a demand to lease large and well furnished houses by wealthy people from other cities who are coming here for the express purpose of mixing in the social gaieties of the greatest capital in the Western hemisphere.

TO URGE SHIP SUBSIDY.

Political prophets, who like most other prophets are most accurate in auguries after the fact, are now predicting that the President will strongly urge a Ship Subsidy Bill in his message to congress. This they have been enabled to infer from the addresses of Secretary Root of the State Department and Secretary Shaw of the Treasury. These gentlemen deplore the effacement of the American flag on the seas and claim that a subsidy alone will make it fly again.

Maid and the Dispensary.

It is commonly supposed that the persons who use the public dispensaries cannot afford to pay a doctor. If the dispensary statistics are large then (it is thought) the number out of work is very great. This is not a fair inference. A large number of the patrons of dispensaries are poor, but a large number are not. At Johns Hopkins hospital a story is told of a woman, who, after being treated, fingered in the dispensary. "Is there anything further, madam?" a young doctor asked. "Oh, no; I'm just waiting till they've treated my maid."—World's Work.

The Editor And The Preacher.

Several editors of secular papers in Texas have recently remarked that their work is very similar to that of the minister, and that each is giving the best service that is rendered civilization.

It is not to be doubted that the duties of both are closely allied and that they touch each others territory at many points. Both are educators, both should be champions of the right, enemies of evil, and both are advocates of progress and development. The work of the editor is not altogether on the material side of these undertakings, nor is that of the preacher altogether on the side of the spiritual. They complement each other.

Both are acquainted with humanity's want and its sin. The true type of editor seeks to uplift the soul and to relieve ignorance and squalor. The editor is concerned more with the temporal and the preacher with the eternal, but this does not mean that the editor must be short-sighted and atheistic nor that the preacher must be impractical. The preacher deals more with the individual, his motives, his habits, and his relationship; the editor appeals to the community life, its appearance, its attitude, its condition and its needs.

The preacher presents his facts with the emphasis of personality, the editor marshals his data in the most pleasing or forceful style. The editor reaches the larger crowd but the preacher touches not alone by his appeal and his manner but by his life. While the Divine blessing is upon the noble work of the editor the minister's preaching may be accompanied by the Divine power in a peculiar sense.

The editor and preacher ought to have many sympathies in common. They both cherish the highest ideals; they both are not working for money, but in service; they both are called upon to suffer; and seek similar rewards, the approval of the highest, that is, the approval of the conscience of God.

Each is honored in his sphere and each ought to magnify his calling and twice blessed is that man who has the privilege of working in both spheres.—The Western Evangel.

HISTORIC ROCK MUST GO.

An interesting historical monument near Ulm, on the Danube, is threatened with destruction—to wit, the rock on which Napoleon stood on October 20, 1805, and watched the capitulation of the Austrian Field Marshal Mack. The conqueror met Mack on the rock, and told him to remain his sovereign, that all empires must have an end. For a hundred years the historic rock has been decorated with a tablet in memory of the event. It is now to be blown up to make room for an extension of Ulm goods station.

Watson's New Magazine.

Thomas E. Watson has announced that he would establish a new magazine at Atlanta to be called the Monthly Jeffersonian. The first issue will appear shortly before Christmas and will be the January number. H. Clement, now with the Cotton Journal, has been engaged as circulation manager.

The Weekly Jeffersonian recently started at Augusta will continue publication just as at present, Mr Watson writing for both. The Monthly will not differ materially from what Watson's Magazine has been for the past year. Mr. Watson offers to transfer the Weekly or Monthly Jeffersonian without expense to any subscribers of Watson's that ask it. The new Monthly will sell for 15 cents a copy, or $1.50 a year.
