Still Killing Time Junketing While Drawing Pay.

Austin, Tex., April 23.—The senate this morning accepted the invitation from the Pittsburg Commercial Club to attend the convention of commercial organizations to be held there Wednesday, April 28. Further, it is said that the majority of the members will attend in a body.

This is tantamount to an endorsement to the commercial secretaries, and defiance of the governor. Nothing was issued from the executive office in reply to the commercial secretaries' demand for proof or retraction, the governor apparently preferring to occupy the high plane occupied by Thomas when he assailed the senate.

Senator gave notice that tomorrow he will rise to a question of personal privilege and reply to the governor's stinging Easter message.

The house managed to consume an hour and a half in discussion of incidental questions this morning before finally reaching the pending question, the house bill providing for the extension and completion of the state railroad at the Rusk penitentiary, which has been before the house for two days on the second reading.

Brownlee, who advocated the measure, was asked by Kennedy if the state ownership of railroads was not a populist proposition. He declared that whether endorsed by the populists or not it was a measure demanded by the people. Kennedy wanted him to point out where the platform demanded the state ownership of railroads. Replying, Brownlee wanted to know what authority the legislature had from the people to appropriate $250,000 to build and equip the state water and light plant.

"We were directed to do that by the big stick," replied Kennedy.

Brownlee thought that the reason for much opposition to the bill, that it was believed it was desired by the governor. He declared that the governor had proved himself a capable railroad man as receiver of the International & Great Northern, and in his hands and in the hands of the board appointed by him, the road would prove a profitable proposition.

Bloody Turkish Battle.

Constantinople, April 24.—After a night of bloody fighting between 5,000 soldiers forming the Sultan's guard and the young Turkish forces under the command of Cheftek Pasha the garrison of Yildiz Kiosk surrendered this morning.

It is estimated that 2,000 soldiers were killed and thousands wounded.

The young Turks followed up the surrender by throwing heavy columns of their own soldiers around the palace, making the sultan a prisoner.

The young Turks' leaders are now in conference with them.

The foreign population is in no immediate danger, but two foreigners are reported killed and Frederick Moore, an American correspondent, was shot while trying to make a picture of the fighting. The soldiers thought the camera was a deadly machine.

The bodies of Jesse West and Joe Allen, two of the men lynched by a mob at Ada, Ok., were buried at Mobeetie at noon Saturday. Many friends and relatives gathered at the services. The Woodmen of the World lodge took possession of the bodies. Both were well known there.

Robbers entered the bank at Buffalo, Leon county, Saturday morning, dynamited the safe and escaped with $3,400. The safe was wrecked. A posse with bloodhounds pursued the cracksmen.

A. & M. College Summer Session.

College Station, Tex., April 25.—The prospects are that the first summer session of the A. & M. College of Texas will be largely attended. Col. Milner, the president, and Secretary S. E. Andrews have received inquiries from farmers and teachers from all over the state advising that they will attend and the delightful apartments that will be provided the ladies who attend the summer normal has proved a great attraction. Goodwin Hall, the new dormitory, is to be set apart for ladies and a matron will be put in charge.

College Station is a delightful place in the summer. The college buildings are located on the crest of a divide, and the south breeze has full sway. There are pretty walks, delightful parks, a wide lawn, many trees, tennis courts, a golf course, three baseball diamonds, and assembly hall for large gatherings and many section rooms for classes. There are laboratories in every department for demonstration work, and the faculty is representative of the best educators in the state. There is nothing to take attention from the school work, and being a community of itself those who attend the summer normal and the summer school can arrange their own hours for work and their hours for recreation. The teachers who attend the summer normal will find the best facilities for their studies, and the farmers who attend the summer school will have the opportunity to see the College dairy herd, the sheep, hogs and goats; the experimental plots, the machinery building where all classes of farm machinery are shown, the big milking barn, the creamery with its numerous modern machines, the growing plants in farm and orchard, and to talk with men who write about and who teach scientific agriculture.

The railroads have made a very reasonable rate for the round trip which will last during the entire six weeks of the school, and the College authorities have put the expense of living down to a minimum so that one can attend the entire six weeks and get board, room and laundry for the entire time for $40.50. Steward B. Sbisu who has been College steward for thirty years, will serve the meals in the big mess hall which seats six hundred.

The legislature has promised that a new dormitory, which will accommodate a couple of hundred additional students, is to be authorized for the A. & M. College of Texas. This will give many young men a chance to enter that school, who have heretofore been barred because of the lack of room. Names for the next session are now being enrolled by Secretary S. E. Andrews.

In the Sunday editions of the big dailies and in the semi-weekly editions of those same papers, there are a series of articles from the A. & M. College giving information as to agricultural matter that are answers to inquiries, the answers being by W. C. Welborn, vice director and agriculturist of the Texas Experiment Station.

It is believed now that the census of 1910 will place Texas in the lead of all other states in the Union in the way of agricultural products. The last census—that of 1900—placed it as fifth in value of agricultural products. This will be a gain, but Texas is a great state, and is growing greater by leaps and bounds. At the rate she is now growing, some of those now may live to see the day when Texas will have a greater population than any state in the Union. —Wichita Falls Times.

Turkish Atrocities.

Beirut, April 23.—The Armenian population of Antioch and vicinity practically has been wiped out in the massacres of the last few days by fanatical Moslems. There are thousands of destitute Armenian widows and orphans still in the district, unable to get away. There is no security anywhere in the vicinity of Antioch.

Fugitives relate that all Armenian villages and settlements in the Alexandretta district are being destroyed. Nearly every Armenian dwelling has been burned and the Armenians surviving are lying in the open.

MORE HORRIBLE REPORTS.

Beirut, April 24.—A conservative estimate now places the number killed in the Armenian massacres in Adana at from 20,000 to 30,000. At the town of Adana more than 100 girls are missing. It is known that 21 native pastors have been killed. Fears are entertained that other American missionaries than those whose deaths have been reported have been murdered.

There are 15,000 refugees in Adana and Tarsus and 5,000 at Mersina. Marash and Aintav are Earthquake Makes 200-foot Waterfall.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 24.—A special dispatch from Ventura says an earthquake, causing the slide of a great mountain of the Sierra range, has changed the entire surface of Santa Paula canyon, dammed Santa Paula creek and made a lake in the south fork canyon that in the wild beauty of its surroundings is said to rival Tahoe. The creek bed is said to have been raised 200 feet above its former level, and the waters pour out over the fall 200 feet high.

The new lake, it is estimated, is about 1,000 feet long and 50 feet wide. The water is about 50 feet deep. The earthquake that threw the mountain out of place took place April 10. The shock was local in character, it not being felt at any distance away.

A bill to amend Missouri's divorce law making adultery the only cause for divorce failed in the house.

Fred S. Jackson, attorney general for Kansas, says all state banks in Kansas may qualify under the state bank guaranty act by July 1.

Florida to Vote on State Prohibition.

The McMullen bill, providing for the submission of the question of state-wide prohibition, passed the Florida senate on final discussion Thursday amid scenes of the wildest confusion. This bill had the support of the Anti Saloon league and all elements of the prohibitionists to whom the overwhelming majority accord it.

The vote came after a day filled with exciting periods and when announced brought forth cheers and hand clapping from the hundreds of women in the galleries and lobbies, while the male spectators literally yelled and threw their hats high into the air. When quiet was restored there was a wild rush for the hall of the lower house where the opposing factions have taken up positions which they declare they will not vacate in the event the bill is recorded in that body. The McMullen bill is identical with the Hilburn bill in the house, and when it comes up in the lower house a motion will be made to substitute the senate bill for the house measure. The house bill provides for submission of the question of state-wide prohibition to the voters of the state in an election in November, 1911.

The Crime of Crimes.

Crime is always somewhat ahead of the law in point of cleverness. Criminals, in other words, are more expert than officers are in detecting them. But usually the law, in its sluggish way, catches up after a time. For example, it used to be easier than it is now to battle the anti-trust laws. We have developed some skill in enforcing them. So it is with most other laws, with the result that the violator has less advantage than he had, say a decade ago. With respect to one crime, however, scarcely any progress whatever has been made by the law. This is the crime of perjury. By the nature of it, it is in many respects the most difficult to prove, and, in consequence, it is one of the most prevalent. Few crimes are more common and none are more rarely punished. We ought therefore to strive earnestly for the development of a higher skill in the detection and punishment of perjury. It is a crime which makes other crimes easy. It is frequently the major premise in a syllogism of crimes, as, for example, perjury is often provided for before murder is attempted, the murderer being nerved in the degree that perjury is prearranged. There is no crime against which society ought to fight harder, and the District Attorney who covets a reputation worth while can get it by achieving something in behalf of the anti-perjury laws. Society will rejoice over every perjurer gone to the penitentiary and make a hero of the man who sends him there.—Dallas News.

Cabbage, tomatoes and other young plants are likely to suffer much at this season from cut worms. All crops are subject to attacks from grasshoppers. The remedies recommended for such insects consist of poisoned grass or clover leaves with arsenical poison, as Paris green or arsenate of lead; 1 pound to 20 to 40 gallons of water. Cut this and in a few hours, while fresh lay it in bunches over the ground, late in the afternoon. The prowling insects find the bait during the night, with fatal results.—Farm and Ranch.

The Western Christian Advocate says that the new hats are "outlandish, unseemly, obstructive, impudent, self-assertive, loud, dominant aiders and abettors of the devil." And the worst of it all is they're not pretty.—Ex.

Substitute Telephone for Telegraph.

Chicago, April 22.—After today 773 miles of the Illinois Central railroad, Chicago Carbonale and from Carbonale to East St. Louis will be operated by telephone instead of by telegraph.

Within a few weeks a system will be installed also on the Paducah, Mississippi & Louisiana divisions, a total of 627 miles.

Cotton, as usual about planting time, is quoted much higher than when the farmer had real cotton to sell. This fact will induce many to increase the acreage to cotton. It has ever been thus and when the bales begin to roll into the market a cry of over production will spread over the cotton growing section and prices will run down until the manipulator gets the real cotton, then up again as before.

When a state court can require the greatest corporation within its borders to pay a fine approximating two million dollars for daring to violate its laws there still remains much hope for the virtue and virgility of a representative government. Calamity howlers and anarchists were dealt a mortal blow when the court of last resort decided that the several lower court decisions were correct in assessing the fine and ouster judgment against the Waters Pierce Oil Company. The common people should take much hope when they see this kind of corporation completely whipped and driven from our fair land. If the Texas law and courts can punish the most powerful criminal, surely there is room to hope we may be able to take care of the lesser offenders.—Childress Post.

Incident to recent changes in the forces of the state rangers stationed in Amarillo, A. W. Brown of Vernon, W. F. Sallis of Ft. Worth and A. P. Roberts of Austin, have been added. This gives the company of Captain Ross one more man.

John Wylie, guard at the Stenir Valley convict farm in Hill county, was instantly killed Thursday night by the accidental discharge of his gun. He was attempting to locate an escaping convict named Soe Yates when he stumbled and fell, causing the discharge. The escaped convict has not been recaptured.

Burglars at Athens Friday night entered the pastor's study at the Tabernacle Baptist church and carried away a typewriter. St. Joseph's Catholic church was entered and a silver cup and other articles taken. The residence of J. M. Calhoun was also entered but the burglar stumbled on a trunk and the family was awakened. The burglar fled.

Sheriff Hughes of Amarillo has received a message from the Pinkerton detective agency of New York, and from O. B. Hill, cashier of the American National bank in Richmond, Va., telling of the arrest in the latter city of a man believed to be W. H. Fitzgerald, wanted in Amarillo for forgery. Fitzgerald was arrested in Salt Lake City several months ago, and Sheriff Hughes went for and received his man. At a point a few miles out of Pueblo, Colo., Fitzgerald made a sensational leap from a rapidly-moving train and has been at large until now.

A Chicago professor asserts that most children under 12 are liars. Well, how about the children over 12, Professor? Especially the ones from 16 to 25?

A "comely" Chicago widow has offered her pastor $200 to find her a suitable husband. The Springfield Republican says that for such a sum she ought to be able to get her pick of Chicago men. Then again the man who bites at the $200 bait may conclude that the $200 was dearly bought.

We favored the good roads proposition because we thought the country people and farmers especially needed them. If they think not, then we certainly have nothing to grieve over, as we are too busy to make trips over the roads anyway. There is probably no person in the county who travels them less than we do.

The Young Men's Democratic club of Kansas City had William Jennings Bryan as guest of honor for its first annual banquet. In referring to 1912, Mr. Bryan used these words: "While I hope that my party will not find it necessary to call for me as a presidential candidate in the next campaign, I make the emphatic statement that I have no intention of retiring from politics."

Boston has launched a project for a great world's fair in 1920, to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the leading of the Pilgrims and the founding of New England. The Herald, with great enthusiasm, takes up the movement and says: "In 1920 16 years will have passed since the preceding great exposition in this country, that of St. Louis, which commemorated the Louisiana Purchase; 20 years will have passed since the preceding great exposition of Europe, that of Paris in 1900. The interval is, therefore, not too short, nor is the announcement too far in advance."

In Turkey there are 132 American religious, educational and charitable institutions, and in all of these, to a greater or less extent, the English language is taught. Many of these schools have been in existence for years and a host of graduates are teaching in smaller schools in the villages. In most of them English is taught. Among the more important of these institutions with attendances ranging from 500 to 1,000 under the control of the American missions are those in Marsovan, Sivas, Talash-Cesaria, Erzroum, Harput, Marashwan, Bitlis, Mardin, Aintab and Ourfa.

What the majority of the people of Texas want in the way of a bank deposit guarantee law is one that will give assurance in case of a bank failure that they can go and get their money where they left it, not one that will give them a right to bring suit against somebody. Farm and Ranch.

Pope's View of Women's Sphere.

Rome, April 24.—The following is exactly what Pope Pius X said Wednesday, April 21, to a delegation of the Union of Italian Catholic women:

After creating man God created woman and determined her mission, namely, that of being man's companion, helpmeet and consolation.

It is a mistake, therefore, to maintain that woman's rights are the same as man's.

Women in war or parliament are outside their proper sphere and their position. There would be the desperation and ruin of society. Woman, created as man's companion, must so remain—under the power of love and affection, but always under his power.

How mistaken, therefore, is that misguided feminism which seeks to correct God's work. It is like a mechanic trying to correct the signs and movements of the universe. Scripture, and especially the three epistles of St. Paul, emphasize woman's dependence on man, her love and assistance, but not her slavery to him.

Woman's duties, however, are not confined within the household walls. She has a great social mission, a place in every charitable cause, work to perform on behalf of the sick, the suffering and the criminal, the protection of women and children. In this great and common action women should strive to secure the means necessary to exercise the apostolic injunction of social charity.

Cole Younger to Lecture.

Tulsa, Ok., April 24.—By special permission of the governor of Minnesota, Cole Younger, who arrived here today to make Tulsa his home for the remainder of his days, will take the lecture platform. His lecture is entitled, "What My Life Has Taught Me," and is intended as a moral lesson to young men.

Younger expects to tour Oklahoma first and later may fill some Chautauqua dates throughout the country. It is said he can appear in any state except Minnesota. Younger will make his home with his nephew, Scott Younger, who will act as his booking agent.

Commercial Secretaries Call a Meeting.

The Texas Commercial Secretaries Association has called a mass meeting in Dallas on Wednesday and Thursday May 19th and 20th of the agricultural, manufacturing, industrial and commercial interests of the state. The development and conservation of the resources of the state and co operation between all lines of industry will be the theme for discussion and able speakers will be secured to handle all subjects given a place on the program. A complete program will be announced later. Special rates will be secured on all railroads leading into Dallas.

Texas has lived sixty years as a State without any bank guaranty; the United States has endured considerably more than a century under the same conditions. The wonder is, therefore, why all this present-day haste for a bank guaranty law. Why couldn't the regular session take care of the matter without the present care of the matter without the present second and threatened third extra session of the Legislature?—Denton Record-Chronicle.

True, very true, that the United States has gone on and on; from the beginning until now, without a bank guaranty law. Also, the world waggled on for seven thousand years without a preventive for smallpox or a cure for diphtheria. There was no haste about discovering the circulation of the blood or that insanity was a mental disease rather than an incubation of devils; yet the human family has benefited vastly by these improvements in public knowledge. So also, possibly, with banking. Doubtless the next Legislature may be trusted to enact guaranty laws; also the succeeding one and its successors. But why not pass a law at once if a desirable law can be agreed upon?—Dallas News.

Pardon for Accused Slayers of Goebel.

Frankfort, Ky., April 26.—Gov. Wilson has cleared the Kentucky court record of all charges growing out of the murder in 1900 of Senator William Goebel, who was declared to have been elected governor, except those hanging over state's evidence witness, in the alleged conspiracy, by granting pardons before trial of former Gov. W. S. Taylor and former Secretary of State Charles Finley, who have been fugitives in the state of Indiana for nine years; John Powers, brother of Caleb Powers, who is believed to be in Honduras; to Holland Whittaker of Butler county, John Davis of Louisville and Chas. Steele of Bell county, under indictment, and who did not flee to the state.

Those over whom indictments are left hanging are Wharton Golden of Knox county now in Colorado; Frank Cecil of Bell, now a railroad detective in St. Louis, and William H. Cutton of Owsley county, said to have died in the west a few months ago. These cases, with the possible exception of Cecil, will be dismissed, leaving Henry Youtsey, now serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary, the only person to suffer for the taking off of Goebel.

Reiterating the belief he expressed some months ago when he granted pardon to Caleb Powers and James B. Howard, that no one but Youtsey had part in the murder, and that it was not a conspiracy as the commonwealth charged, Gov. Wilson says that he believes it a "sacred duty, which I must no longer delay to carry this belief into effect," and grant pardons to the men charged, who fled the state as they "had the greatest reasons to believe," that they could not "have a fair trial," and if they stayed here they would be forced to trial before a "partisan jury under conditions which would give them no chance at all for a just decision."

On hearing the news, Taylor stated that he would never return to Kentucky to make his home. He has established a law practice in Indianapolis and has made business connections that are permanent.

Finley will soon return to Kentucky to visit his aged parents at Williamsburg. He said he had now no fear of personal injury in returning to Kentucky, and felt that he would meet only friends there. Both Taylor and Finley have been conspicuous in Indianapolis for years.

Why the Rich Escape Punishment.

It has become a byword in the land that if a criminal is rich he cannot be punished. This is not wholly true. Yet there is a basis for the charge. It will be admitted by any observer that there is no marked partiality for the rich among the people. The mere fact that a man is rich does not make him so loved by the people that his chances of punishment for the commission of crime is lessened. It is lessened, however, by his ability to secure a lawyer to defend him who is better equipped in intellectuality and in learning than the people's representative, the prosecuting attorney, and the judge on the bench. If it were wholly true that a rich man cannot be punished the fault lies absolutely at the doors of the people, the complainants themselves, who have not yet reached the point where they can look only to the qualification of men as aspirants to office in the judicial system and refuse to consider the personal charms and the "brotherhood" standing of other aspirants. Crime, as Johnson grass, will grow in proportion to the failure to eradicate or suppress it. The greater the difficulty met in convicting criminals the greater number of criminals.—Wm. Sterrett in Dallas News.

Another Reported White Plague Cure.

Some of the most eminent physicians of England, including the doctors of the king, have agreed to make a very severe test of what the discoverer, William Doig, claims to be a cure for tuberculosis. For 10 years past, Mr. Doig has been treating free of charge persons suffering from tuberculosis of the joints, and according to the evidence of various hospital physicians, he has had considerable success. Last year he tried his treatment on a patient suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs under the supervision of a prominent London physician. This case has been certified as cured. It has been decided to take six cases of tuberculosis from the London hospital and allow Mr. Doig to treat them. The Doig treatment consists of drawing the disease from the lungs to the surface. A radius of these inflammations is set up from the surface of the skin to the lung by means of chemical heat. The pus travels to the surface through this ray, which is kept open, and all the pus is drawn out until the lung is clear.

Child Loses Foot Under Train.

A six year-old little girl of E. H. Winger's lost her foot Sunday morning under moving cars on a side track in the Denver yards here. She and her father had started to Sunday school, and coming to the tracks near the coal chute there was an opening between a string of cars through which they endeavored to pass, not knowing a switching engine was on that particular track. She was a few steps behind her father. He passed through and the little girl had gotten about over, when the cars were struck with force, knocking the child down and one wheel passed over her leg above the ankle. Her father turned and grabbed her from the track before the next wheel reached her. She was taken home, physicians sent for and the mangled foot was removed. She was said yesterday to be getting along very well.

The residence of Frank Whitlock burned Friday night about 10 o'clock. Mrs. Whitlock was at the Methodist meeting and Mr. Whitlock returned home late from work and laid down across the bed and dropped off to sleep. He was awakened by flames breaking through the walls next to the dining room and overhead. He barely had time to get out and raise the alarm. All household goods were lost. The losses were some $1,400 or $1,500. Insurance $600 on house and $300 on furniture. Mr. Land's house on next block had a close call, but by the aid of buckets and three strings of garden hose it was kept from igniting. It is not known how the fire started.

Otus Caraway moves into his new residence today.

Roy Sparks left Monday for Baltimore to again join the Atlantic fleet.

Amarillo Ex-Confeds Coming. W. B. Plemons camp, United Confederate Veterans, had a rousing meeting yesterday afternoon in the courthouse, at which all were given an opportunity to talk, and many availed themselves of the opportunity, making the session heartily enjoyable.

One of the most interesting features was the reading of an invitation from the camp at Clarendon, urging the local camp to be in Clarendon May 4. The invitation carried the statement that the affair is to be one of and for the ex-confederates. Old fiddlers who play the airs of the long ago are being procured and many features that appeal pleasingly to the men who made history in the United States a half century ago will be secured.

The invitation has been accepted and Clarendon notified. The day at Clarendon will be spent at a nearby lake.—Daily Panhandle.

There was a minister in a certain town in Kansas who was bubbling over with the spirit of reform, says the Fort Scott Tribune. He cackled prohibition in a mining country and was roughly handled by a gang of Austrians, who in various ways demonstrated that they were opposed to reform. Nothing daunted, the parson returned home and while awaiting the pleasure of Dame Nature in the repairing of his facial blemishes, proceeded to expound a few lectures to the youth of his home town. Among other things he laid down the rule that no young man should be seen visiting a place where he would not take his sister. "Is there anyone present who does not think this always a safe rule to follow?", asked the preacher. Immediately a shameless youth at the rear of the house arose and said that he did not agree with the divine. "And what kind of a place," said the minister, in an angry tone, "do you frequently go where you would not take your sister?" "The barber shop," responded the young fiend, without a ripple of a smile.

College of Industrial Arts Summer Session.

Beginning June 7 the College of Industrial Arts at Denton will open for a month's summer school, four weeks of practical instruction for women—housewives, teachers, students, wage earners, etc. Courses will be given in most of the lines of industrial work taught in the college during the regular school year sewing, dressmaking, millinery, cooking household chemistry, home equipment and decoration, photography, drawing, water color design, pottery making, manual training, basketry, cardboard construction, school and home gardening, laundering and floriculture. Teachers who wish to take the manual training work will receive supplementary instruction in the theory and method of public school manual training, and a class in agriculture for teachers will be organized if there is sufficient demand.

Tuition will be free, and instruction will be given by members of the regular faculty of the school.

The purpose of the summer school is to afford opportunity for industrial training to persons who are unable to attend the regular session, and of course to students who may desire to take additional work in the subjects offered in the summer school. As the time will be devoted entirely to these practical branches, those who attend may accomplish the equivalent of at least a regular term's work in any subject.

No admission examination required, and no costs save for materials used and entrance fee.

The Blue Monday.

"You read about that iron worker being killed by a fall from the Manhattan bridge last Monday, didn't you?" asked a contractor of a New York Tribune reporter. "Well, do you know, those 'cow-boys of the sky,' the structural iron workers, hate Monday. They do, surely. It's their hoodoo day, they say—a real 'blue' Monday. Why? Well, they will tell you that the greater part of the accidents in their trade happen on Monday, and they'll cite you figures to prove it. Yes, it may be due to unsteady nerves after a Sunday free to do as they like, but I don't know. I do know this, though—on a job of bridge work I had up the state every serious accident we had happened on Monday. Lay it to anything you want to, but the facts are the same. Friday ain't in it with Monday for bad luck in our kind of trapeze work."
