LaFollette Says 120 Million More for Clothing

Washington, July 8.—The men and boys of the United States will pay 120 million dollars more for their clothing in 1910 than they have paid this year as a result of the new tariff bill.

This is the statement of the National Association of Clothiers produced in the senate today by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin. The association includes 97 per cent of the leading clothing manufacturers of the United States, among them such firms as Stein-Block, Rogers, Peet & Co., and B. Kuppenheimer & Co. Their business is said to amount to 600 millions annually.

THE TARIFF RATES THE CAUSE.

The new tariff bill will merely re-enact the Dingley law so far as the woolen schedule is concerned, but it contains stringent provisions on valuation that are expected to boost rates and so are responsible for higher prices. The effect of the Dingley tariff on wool, the statement says, has been to reduce the qualities and diminish the weight of the goods used, thereby making clothing less durable.

This state of affairs has resulted from the cumbersome provisions of the Dingley bill by which different grades of wool receive the most unequal protection, and by which compensatory duties that are highly excessive are allowed on woolen clothes. A certain duty, for instance, is levied on a pound of raw wool. The manufacturer is allowed this duty plus an extra duty for his own protection. The compensatory duty is based on the assumption that it takes four pounds of raw wool to make a pound of cloth, while in fact not more than two pounds are needed in the finer grades of cloth. As a result of this system of compound rates the duties run all the way from 100 to 200 per cent. Moreover, wool has become so expensive that under the Dingley law, the manufacturers say, there has been a deterioration of fully 33 1/2 per cent in weight.

CHEAPER CLOTHES IN ENGLAND

It is pointed out further that combinations of manufacturers have been built up under the shelter of the tariff. That the advances in the United States are not due entirely to the increase in the price of the raw material is shown by the fact that in England the advance has been much less. The clothing men continue:

"These advanced prices on worsteds which have been announced, following the steady deterioration of fabrics in weight and quality, resulting from the operations of the Dingley bill, will add to the retail price approximately $2.50 on a $10 suit of clothes, $3 on a $15 suit and $5 on a $20 suit, or from 20 per cent to 25 per cent to the cost of the clothing to the wearer thereof. The aggregate burden of the increased cost of men's and boys' clothing to the American people under the present advance alone will be 120 million dollars for the year 1910, which is twice the value of the annual domestic wool clip."

The Amarillo Water, Light & Power company had an inning Thursday when the city council passed an ordinance unanimously granting an extension of the electric lighting franchise and a contract for double the present number of fire plugs, and other privileges. The American Water & Light company of Kansas City sought to come into Amarillo, having proposed to furnish a supply far in excess of that now furnished by the Amarillo Water, Light & Power company, and as one of the conditions of entry, sought to stop the passage of the ordinance indicated.

Waters-Pierce Oil Co. Talk

Houston, Tex., July 9.—Prominent oil men of the city, while denying the report from Austin that a $2,000,000 company is being formed here for the purchase of the property of the Waters Pierce Oil Co., state that when the sale is made a concern headed by Pat Calhoun and composed of practically the present body of stockholders of the Waters Pierce Co. will be the buyers, and will be prepared to reorganize the old company and continue its business in Texas.

The fact that the Lone Star Oil Co. has paid for and shipped from Pennsylvania a great quantity of pipe for a line from the Henrietta gas field to Fort Worth and Dallas, has aroused the Texas Company to action. The latter company announces it will rush the work of development of the wells and will construct lines to Fort Worth and Dallas, where special attention will be paid to furnishing cheap fuel for factories.

Hook Worm and Typhoid Fever

Austin, Tex., July 8.—The State Health Department continues to receive reports of new cases of hook worm and typhoid fever. The latter is more prevalent at this time of year than usual. Forty five deaths were reported for May. The June statistics are not ready. Usually toward the end of the summer and early fall typhoid fever materially increases, but the average for May is larger than usual. The state health officer prepared a map today, showing the location of typhoid in the state, and the situation as to each locality will be known, so that if the disease assumes epidemic form the department will be in a position to lend assistance.

Today's mail brought several phials containing small worms, and Dr. E. H. Lancaster, state bacteriologist, pronounced one bottle as containing the hook worm disease, scientifically called hook worms of the Ankylostomiasis. Dr. Lancaster is in doubt as to those in an other phial and will make a thorough examination. He thinks they are not the hook worms, but does not recognize the species. The hook worms are about a quarter of an inch in length, light in color and about as large as a needle in circumference. Dr. Lancaster states that the hook worm disease is easily spread.

Valuable Horses Scorched

Denison, Tex., July 10.—A lamp kicked over in a car containing a shipment of horses, set fire to the car at Hagerman, just south of Denison, this morning at 2 o'clock and the flames injured slightly J. W. Tuohy, the man in charge of the car, and badly scorched four horses. But six horses were in the car and two were gotten out without injury. All the animals were valuable.

The shipment was en route from Oklahoma City to Wills Point, where the owner, J. W. Fuller, lives. The car was burned up but the trainmen managed to cut the train and get the other cars out of danger before any further damage was done.

Death From Carelessness

Henry Van Zandt, aged 23 years, was instantly killed at Lone Oak Thursday when a shotgun was accidentally discharged, blowing the top of his head off. Van Zandt had just returned from a hunting expedition and rested the gun on the gate, which he jarred as he was opening it. The gun fell to the ground and was discharged, the load of shot tearing away the upper part of the head and face. Van Zandt had been married only four weeks.

Another Church Innovation

Washington, July 10.—President Taft will officiate tomorrow at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Ingram Memorial Congregational Church.

Unique in many respects, this church promises to be an attractive place for its members. It will be equipped with a swimming pool and shower baths. O. H. Ingram of Eau Claire, Wis., who is founding the church as a memorial to his son, Charles H. Ingram, wanted these unusual features installed, it is said, because of his belief in the declaration that "Cleanliness is next to Godliness." A gymnasium and bowling alley, clubrooms for boys and girls and a graded school from kindergarten to graduate department also will enter into the church's equipment.

Senator LaFollette and Representative Esch of Wisconsin will participate in the ceremonies.

Jericho, Tex., is justly entitled to be christened the buttermilk town of the Plains. An enterprising elderly hotel man there sells lunches at the train, while his noble wife runs a free buttermilk joint in connection.—Pampa News.

Amarillo Booze Dispensers

James Haynes, W. T. Matthews, Barney Plemons and James (Blacky) Mcquire were bound over by Justice K. K. Kerr in the sum of $500 each to await the action of the grand jury. These men are charged with having violated the recently enacted "felony" statute by conducting the business of selling liquors in a prohibition community.

The hearing consumed practically two days, and the court arrived at the amount of bail only after the proposition had been through a thorough course of argument at the hands of attorneys for the state and the defendants.

One witness testified that his life had been threatened if he testified in these cases, and also that he had been offered money to get out of town. This statement was placed in the record of the case and will be developed in court upon final trial.—Daily Panhandle.

The wealth production on farms, according to the estimate of the Department of Agriculture, was in 1867 $4,350,000,000, and in 1907 $7,412,000,000.

Good Time for Public Improvements

In order to get the best results for the least expenditure all communities needing improvements in the way of water works, sewerage systems or extension of existing plants, public buildings, street and road building, should get to work immediately. Fortunately, there is a widening demand for city, town and county securities, so that every honestly managed community with a good financial history has no difficulty in being able to sell its bonds to advantage. The financial situation at present makes it feasible to secure better prices for bonds than would be possible if the whole country was enjoying a great business boom as it did prior to the summer of 1907, because as business increases capital is in greater demand and higher prices must be paid for money. There is thus a double reason why municipal work should be taken up promptly. On the one hand, it can be done to much better advantage and at a lower cost than when business is rushing, and on the other hand, bonds can be sold at a higher price than they would probably bring if there was great business activity. There are thus two points of saving to be considered in favor of doing work now.

No growing community in the south need expect to get its full share of the progress and prosperity of the near future unless it does its full share of work in making every provision for the comfort of its inhabitants and the protection of their health. Good streets, good roads, complete and comprehensive water works and sewerage systems are all essential. They are investments that pay for themselves many times over. The south is already doing very considerable work in these lines, but it ought to double and quadruple what it is doing. It ought to enter upon a broad campaign of road building, of street and other improvements which would add to the comfort of living, to the attractiveness of every community, and largely to increase the prosperity of individual communities as well as of the south as a whole. The time for this work is now.—Manufacturers' Record.

Aldrich With the Tax Dodgers

Senator LaFollette in his weekly magazine continues his attack on Aldrich's tariff position. He says: "Aldrich is opposed to an income tax. So are Morgan, Rockefeller, and other amiable gentlemen who have acquired large incomes with absent-minded disregard of the balance of the human family." He criticizes Aldrich for offering a corporation tax amendment after he had said additional taxes were unnecessary.

The Absurdity of Modern Navies

The great work of making war absurd, especially naval war, goes on swimmingly. A London paragrapher in the Sun quotes Naval Expert Jane as rejecting the suggestion that to sink warships will be a chief use of air-ships in war time. Not so, Mr. Jane says. But he says that experiment has settled it that all ships are clearly visible at night from a balloon overhead. But the chief protection of a battleship fleet from night torpedo attack is invisibility. When the airships are able to direct torpedo boats by wireless where to find their quarry the security of battleships will be very much impaired. The only remedy, Mr. Jane says, will be in a better and more complete net defense than ships have now, and in plenty of destroyers to meet the torpedo boats.

No doubt Mr. Jane's opinion is wise, but it only emphasizes the fact that the whole navy business is growing ridiculous. It has been improved, extended and elaborated until everybody begins to see that it has lost its proper proportion. Instead of Nations maintaining navies to protect them, it is getting to be that navies are using Nations to maintain them. The lack of a proper sense of humor in the English and German naval boards promises to be the death of a fine old employment that has held its place among men for thousands of years. Tax-burdened peoples, groaning under the cost of naval programs, must cry out pretty soon in a unanimous howl, "Why do we maintain such a raft of these ridiculous machines, that cost posterously to make and keep, and eat their heads off without ever doing a stroke of productive work?" As soon as that voice is unanimous armament will subside, and we suppose navies may dwindle to what is necessary for international police work.—Harper's Weekly.

Don't Sit Around and Whine

It is a pitiable thing to see a young man whining over his lot in life, and excusing indifference and inaction because of hard luck, or some cruel fate which has put stumbling blocks in his way.

No matter what your environment, or what you may be called upon to go through, face life like a man, without whining. Turn your face to the sun, your back to the shadows, and look the world in the face without wincing. Make the most of your situation. See the beauties in it and not the ugly features. This is the way to improve an unfortunate environment.—Success Magazine.

Mrs. S. P. Donley Dead

Tyler, Tex., July 8.—At her home on South Broadway at 2 o'clock this morning occurred the death of Mrs. Stockton P. Donley, widow of the late Associate Justice of the Supreme Court and for whom Donley county in this state was named. Mrs. Donley had been in failing health for nearly a year, and while her death was not unexpected, it was received with sadness by the people of Tyler, among whom she had lived for nearly a half century. The funeral occurred this afternoon at 5 o'clock from her late residence, the interment being in Oakwood Cemetery.

The Childress Index says: "The annual celebration this year will be ahead of any in the past. But the one given in the year 1889 will be hard to go around, considering the difference in the country. That year the celebration was held where the court house now stands, and the steer roping, which was an event, took place on the flat north of the court house. Also that day was one of the hottest we have ever experienced, the thermometer standing at 110 degrees in the shade. Yet it was a day long to be remembered by all who were present."

The McKinzie Battle Ground

The Standard in telling of some of Swisher county's attractions, says of one historic point: "Just below the point where the Tule creeks converge is located the old 'McKinzie Battle Ground,' which has an historical reputation as one of the most interesting places known in Indian history. It is the place where fifteen hundred head of horses were taken from the Indians, and in order to keep the Indians from escaping it was found necessary to slaughter the horses. One of the most noted and hardest fought battles that the United States soldiers encountered occurred on this famous battle ground. It is a great resort for curiosity seekers, as many old and interesting Indian relics are still to be found around this place, so suggestive is its picturesque appearance, the stranger invariably finds himself looking behind every rock expecting to find an Indian."

District Judge Tom Simmons announced himself Saturday at Ft. Worth as a candidate on the democratic ticket to succeed Oscar Gillespie as a member of congress from that district. Simmons says he is confident he can be elected. He is a Bailey adherent. Gillespie is anti-Bailey.

Heat victims are numerous all over the country, except in the Panhandle. We have some pretty hot weather in the middle of the day, but not the kind that kills.

The senate could not begin to let an individual income tax bill pass. So when its members had up the makeshift corporate income tax bill, Bristow offered an amendment providing the election of United States senators by direct vote, but it was promptly voted down.

The knockers against Texas laws do not have much evidence to sustain them in their contention that capital is afraid of Texas. Within the past three months over $6,000,000 has been invested in Texas corporations. Several of them are insurance, guaranty loan and banking concerns of $1,000,000 capital.

Cone Johnson intimates in his speeches that if public men continue to ignore the wishes of those who elect them to office, and fail to champion the platform demands, there is little hope of holding the party together. Senator Thomas, too, thinks, some of those placed in office have plenty to answer for. He scores lobbying and lobbyists. He says their presence in Austin was for no other purpose than to thwart the will of the people. Both draw crowds to hear them speak, and there is much truth in their statements.

The utmost interest attaches to the course of the President with regard to the tariff pill. He has scrupulously kept his hands off until now but has intimated that once the bill went to conference he would exert all the influence he could command to secure the adoption of the lowest duties fixed by each house. Of course there is little ground for hoping that he can accomplish that end, but it is probable his efforts will have some effect in modifying the Senate duties. It is said the president is not a bit pleased with the corporation tax amendments in the Senate and will exert his influence to have it rewritten so as to eliminate the Clapp, LaFollette and other amendments.

The Wichita Falls and Northwestern Railroad Company has announced that it will, at once, construct a new two-story brick depot on the site of the present Wichita Falls Katy Depot. One of the most interesting transportation lines in Texas is the automobile line between San Angelo and Big Springs, a distance of 100 miles. In addition to the passengers each car carries, which often number six, the line is responsible for the transportation of United States mail between the two communities. The mail bag and hand baggage are carried on the hood of the machines.—Ex.

San Francisco, July 10.—Eliward Payson Weston, nearing the end of his transcontinental walk, sent the following dispatch to the Associated Press today:

Colma, Cal., July 10.—Leaving Cisco at 9:30 Friday morning, I started on a walk of fourteen tedious miles through the snowsheds, but only walked two miles when I took the old overland stage route and remained on this until I reached the canyon. After an hour's rest at Blue Canyon I continued on my walk to Colfax, where I rested, making a total of thirty-eight miles for Friday and a grand total of 3,751 miles. I will leave Colfax shortly after 9 o'clock this morning and will stop at some quiet place about ten miles this side of Sacramento over Sunday.

One thousand acres of Bee County land has been planted to oranges. Did you know that? One nurseryman has over 100,000 trees. You didn't know that? This is "Bee County, where the oranges grow." You knew that, but you didn't know the orange industry was such a big thing, did you?—Beeville Picayune.

Frankly, no; few of us had any idea that orange culture had taken such a hold in Bee County. But we are not surprised. Nothing astonishes us now. We have seen cabbages from Corpus Christi put into the New York dinner tables three weeks ahead of Florida products; we have observed Laredo onions driving the Bermuda brand out of the American market; we have noticed East Texas strawberries crowding their Carolina cousins out of the public's calculation, and East Texas peaches putting Delaware's into the pulp pile: we have joyed in watching South Texas rice usurp the South Carolina rice crop's place; we have chortled in the spectacle of Red River County long staple cotton outselling the erstwhile pride of the Mississippi delta; we have laughed outright at the anguish of Colorado canteloupes and Georgia watermelons as they felt the impact of Texas competition. And so we are not surprised that Bee County will humble the pride of the California orange growers.—Dallas News.

Presbyterian Church Defends the Gingles Girl

Chicago, July 11.—With the closing chapter in the Ella Gingles case at hand, the state will tomorrow place on the stand several of its strongest witnesses in an effort to impeach the "white slave" stories told by the young Irish lacemaker.

On the other hand, the attorneys for the defendant in a larceny charge preferred by Miss Agnes Barrette will make a determined effort to counteract the effect of this testimony by placing on the stand medical men who will present a diagnosis of the Gingles girl's injuries and mental condition contrary to that of the state's experts.

Just before closing his sermon in the Garfield Boulevard Presbyterian church, Rev. R. Keene Ryan called the girl, who was present at the service, to the pulpit and placing his hand upon her head said:

"They are trying to sell her into white slavery, but we won't let them. This girl is a Presbyterian from northern Ireland and she has friends here. She has told the truth. There is a heinous plot framed up against her and many are involved in it. The idea of it all is to prove that this girl stole the lace, so that once convicted, the valuable evidence she has against this great white slave traffic will not hold water."

A fund was raised for her defense.

She Was

She was one of June's sweet girl graduates, and from the heights of our worldly experience we were inclined to joke her a little.

"So the Alps lie between you and Italy," we remarked sarcastically.

"Perhaps, but there's nothing that stands between me and the making of light biscuits, or broiling of steak, or making a batch of bread, or a cherry pie, or a cake, or keeping a house in order—unless it is the absence of a young man who has got sense enough to hold a job that pays enough salary to warrant him in undertaking the responsibilities of a husband."

Ever since we have wondered how we mustered up mental activity enough to change the subject without loss of time.—Maupin.

Money in Gulling 'Em

Among the "antiquities" manufactured in Switzerland for American tourists is the Swiss flag of 100 years ago. A new one is made to resemble a centenarian by a process which includes fading the colors in the sun, bespattering it with tallow and laying it in the granery, where the mice soon give it the necessary tattered appearance. Finally it is subjected again to the rays of the sun, is mounted on a worm-eaten broken staff and is then ready for the tourist in search of centennial trophies.

Notice to Whom it May Concern

Several weeks ago I put a short notice in the papers of the town calling the attention of water consumers to sprinkling hours. Some have observed these rules while others have not.

To those that have not observed these rules I wish to say politely but plainly that you have no regard for the right. The usual Sunday services at the Baptist church Sunday, preaching at 11 and at night by the pastor, Dr. T. B. Pittman, to which every one is cordially invited.

G. T. Hamlin reports a hail storm near Groom Saturday that riddled the crops through a small section of country. The high wind Monday stopped the binders from running, as the light grain was easily scattered.

Lewis Molesworth & Pyle shipped in some 15 or 20 cars of New Mexico cattle yesterday. The range around River Side, N. M., where they were shipped from, is about played out for grass, hence they were brought here for pasture.

There is to be a meeting next Saturday at the courthouse to organize a local camp of the Sons and daughters of Confederates. Capt. A. J. Barnett makes a special request that all whose ancestors took part in the late unpleasantness between the states be present and join.

J. G. Dodson spent a couple of days at Goodnight this week. He says Goodnight is improving rapidly now, some seven residences having been built in the past six weeks and others being contracted for. M. P. Smith, formerly of Clarendon, is one of the latter. Mr. Dodson says the rains there have been spotted, some of the crops needing rain very badly.

For An Old Settlers' Organization

A movement was put on foot Saturday for an organization of Donley county old settlers. In response to a call by B. F. Naylor made in last week's Chronicle the following met at the court house Saturday afternoon:

T. N. Naylor, B. F. Naylor, Capt. E. E. McGee, A. V. Catlett, D. J. Murphy, G. W. Smith, W. A. Allen, A. J. Barnett, F. R. Steele, S. D. Davis, Tom Lattimer, A. M. Beville, R. C. Dial and W. P. Blake.

A. M. Beville was chosen as chairman and W. P. Blake secretary. The chairman stated that he favored a meeting of old-timers annually for a social good time and enjoy old acquaintances. Several others talked along similar lines.

B. F. Naylor made a motion that we now go into permanent organization and meet annually. Messrs Murphy, McGee, and others favored a reunion. Some present thought we should have a more representative meeting before organizing.

Capt. McGee, after Mr. Naylor withdrew his motion, moved that a committee of five old timers be appointed as an executive committee; carried. It was voted to have to have a reunion this year. The only place spoken of for it was the Latimer grove, but the time and place was left for the executive committee to name. The chairman then appointed on this committee, B. F. Naylor, D. J. Murphy, A. J. Barnett, J. H. Myers and W. P. Blake and next Saturday at 2 o'clock at A. M. Beville's office is the time and place for the committee to meet and set the time and place for the first reunion.

During the meeting Saturday Mr. Latimer said the use of the grove would be given free, but he would reserve the refreshment stand privilege.

What Is the Matter With Clarendon?

The town of Lubbock has voted $25,000 in bonds and will erect a splendid school building during the coming winter. Higgins is to erect a $25,000 building right away. Wellington is building a $10,000 building for the public school this winter. Our neighbor, Claude, only last year completed an elegant $20,000 school building. Memphis has voted $12,000 in bonds to build another building, as the town already has a good $10,000 building.

Clarendon has only one substantial school building, a brick that cost about $10,000. Why not vote bonds to the extent of $12,000 or $15,000 and put our school equipments in line with the best of them? A bond issue is recognized by every progressive town and city in Texas, and elsewhere as to that, as being the proper way to do such things. Our school interests must not suffer. There is not an intelligent, liberal minded patron of the public school, we think, in Clarendon that would oppose it. A step like this would speak in unmistakable terms as to the progress of our city. This solution of the matter seems inevitable at present, and to put the matter off will only damage our school interests.

Mrs. Lee Dyer, of Goodnight, is here visiting relatives this week. Mrs. M. E. Harrington and her granddaughter, Miss Lula Harrington, of Dalhart, are here this week visiting the family of F. E. Harrington.

In the cases at Hedley in justice court, Roy Darnell and Walter Wood were fined $5 each for peace disturbance and the case against Bill Jones (not Bob, as our compositor stated) was dismissed.

A man and woman were arrested here Monday of questionable actions. They registered at a boarding house as man and wife, but upon being sweated by Sheriff Patman, acknowledged that they were not. They were fined in court as vagrants. The woman paid her fine and skipped. The man is in jail.

Arthur Martin Tells of His Trip to West Virginia

In a letter from Arthur Martin, son of N. N. Martin, who with his sister, Miss Lucy, are visiting in the east, he says:

Arriving in Ft. Worth the morning of June 23, after getting our breakfast, Dr. Stocking, who was on his way to New York, saw that we took the right train to St. Louis, which was the Katy Flyer. It took only a day and night to get to St. Louis, as that train almost flew. We were there only thirty-five minutes before it was time for our train, the "Big Four," to leave that city and start for Cincinnati. The wind was blowing the dust in the train so that I could hardly see. This train pulled into Cincinnati at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, but it seemed like midnight as it was so dark under the union depot. It was lightning and thundering when we arrived, and before we left it was raining hard. I was glad when the three hours had passed and we were ready to take the C. & O. for Alleghany Friday after we had been in Alleghany an hour the mail truck carried us to Sweet Springs, which is ten miles from Alleghany. It took about four hours to get here, as the roads are so rough, but really they are better than I would expect in this mountainous region.

Lucy and I are staying up here with my uncle, mother's brother. His home is a large three story brick building near Sweet Springs Lawn. This lawn covers many acres. It has twelve two-story brick cottages on it and the largest hotel I ever remember seeing. The pillows to the big gallery are nearly four feet in diameter. It is said that about 800 people spend their summers in this place. The lawn is covered with green grass and walks lead to every building. The big bath house is very pretty and has two large bathing pools. The brick building that surrounds the mineral spring is partly covered with moss. I tasted the mineral water, but I don't know of anything that tastes like it. It is so dreadful that I didn't want anyone to speak of it that day, although several people are very fond of it and drink two and three glasses of it at a time. This is the oldest summer resort in West Virginia and it is said that George Washington and his wife used to spend part of the summer here.

The cool mountain air is very refreshing. When we first came up here the weather was very much like it is at home, but last Sunday, July 4, the thermometer fell to 44. I felt almost like I was going to freeze. If it is real warm here during the day, the nights are cool enough for me to sleep under a woolen blanket.

The other day I climbed a mountain which was a mile from foot to top. When I reached the top I could see nothing but the trees all around me, so I tried to find about the highest tree, and then climbed it. The trees are not very high on top of the mountain. I could surely see a long way off. On my way down the mountain I found many ripe raspberries and dewberries growing wild. The strawberries are all gone and the blackberries and whortleberries are just getting ripe. Many wild apples and nuts will ripen in the fall. The wild cherries will soon be ripe.

We will leave here the 16th for Richmond. After we stay there a week or ten days we will go to other points in Virginia. I will be glad when the time comes for me to go to Washington, D. C. We are going there on the steamer, and this will be my first ride on a steam boat.

The Danger in Ice Cream

With the advent of summer comes the increased consumption of ice cream, and, as a consequence, numerous cases of sickness and even death from this supposed harmless delicacy. Not a season passes without its tale of sickness and epidemics, the cause of which is directly traced to eating ice cream.

The principal ways by which ice cream is liable to cause sickness are: (1) metallic poisoning; (2) impure flavoring compounds; (3) impure milk or cream; (4) carelessness in allowing any of the ice, salt or water in the bucket to mix with the cream.

Metallic poisoning is caused by the use of two different metals in the structure of the freezer. Therefore, an ice cream freezer should be made of but one metal—glass or platinum would be ideal. At least, but one metal should be allowed to come in contact with the cream mixture. This objection, we believe, has been largely eliminated in the modern freezer.

It is criminal to put into ice cream impure or poisonous flavoring extracts; yet this very thing is sometimes done. To preserve the fruit flavors in the form of jelly or crushed fruit, both formaldehyde and arsenic are known to have been used.

In making ice cream too much caution can not be exercised in the selection of the cream and milk. To be pure and wholesome these products must be secured from sources where the following conditions exist: (1) The cow must be healthy, well fed, and kept clean. (2) The milk must be handled in a clean and careful manner. (3) The milk should be cooled as soon as drawn from the cows, and kept cool until used. Tyrotoxic and other forms of ptomain poisoning are the direct results of fermentation of unclean milk.

Cream is an excellent food, when taken in limited quantities with other articles of diet. Ice is good in refrigerators to maintain low temperatures, in preserving perishable foods. The stomach is no refrigerator; its contents are not to be preserved. Therefore, under normal conditions, ice and iced foods should not be eaten. However, to those who are still "living to eat," and who will persist in using this luxury, we would give the following suggestion: Ice cream mixtures (sugar, cream, and flavors) should be boiled before being frozen. The boiling sterilizes the mixture, and thus reduces the chances for fermentation, and consequent poisoning, to a minimum.—Michigan Health Bulletin.

Baptist Meeting Closed—37 Conversions

The revival meeting at the Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Dr. T. B. Pittman, closed Sunday night, lasting three weeks, one week longer than first advertised. There were 37 conversions, 30 of whom were baptized. There were seven additions by letter, making 37 additions during the meeting. Dr. Pittman did all the preaching himself with remarkable endurance and large congregations to the close. Something over 60 members have been received into the church during his pastorate of less than four months.

The Bible the Best Seller

William I. Haven, of Boston, secretary to the American Bible Society, says that the Bible is the "best seller" in the world. Figures compiled by the society show that the Book has been translated into over 500 languages and dialects, by far the greater part of these having been made in the last century. The Bible societies distribute over nine million copies each year, these being exclusive of those published by business firms for profit. There are a number of publishing houses who make a specialty of it and derive large profits from its sale. A conservative estimate of the output is about 3,000,000 annually, making the total over 12,000,000 copies circulated every year. The total number circulated in the United States is over 1,500,000 annually in sixty different languages.

Is Prohibition Hurting the Brewers?

You often hear it said that prohibition does not prohibit, and that there are larger quantities of intoxicants sold and used in dry territory than in wet districts. Of course, nobody believes such nonsense, but it is constantly repeated in every local option or state election on prohibition. The fact is, that the arguments of the ants have been so successfully assailed and put to flight that there are but few left, and these few are without virtue or solid truth. So the old chestnut, "prohibition does not prohibit," has been used so long until it has become mechanical in its repetition. But figures do not lie, and they show that the drink business is being fearfully hurt in dollars and cents by the prohibition wave. With several thousand saloons put out of business in Oklahoma, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and by local option in the great middle west states, the drink business has had its profits cut down at a wonderful rate. The brewers are feeling it keenly. They are whistling to keep up their courage, but the facts are against them. We here quote a recent dispatch sent out from Milwaukee under date of July 3, and the truth therein contained speaks for itself. It comes from a reliable source. All the daily papers had it last Sunday morning. It is as follows:

"The enormous loss of business to brewers and distillers through the dry wave is shown indirectly in the report of the local internal revenue office for the year ending June 3, this report showing a reduction of the internal revenue amounting to 322,000.92 for that period, practically the entire loss being due to the falling off in the output of beer. This year's receipts were $3,852,848 for beer alone, as against $4,174,103 for the preceding year."

Thus it will be seen that we are cutting down the ill-gotten gains of these old foreign brewers who have been despoiling the homes of our land and thereby piling up millions in their coffers. Many of them have grown into millionaires, and it is their wealth that is making it hard for us to take the clutches of greed and political influence off the throat of society. But we are loosening their grip by knocking out the business and by reducing their income, and even in Milwaukee there is a great falling off of the receipts of the internal revenue department because of the progress of this prohibition wave. Let the good work go on. Inch by inch we are encroaching upon their limited territory and digging under their millions. It is only a question of time when their financial nerve will be cut and their vitality reduced below a living point. On with the battle!—Home and State.

Diversity of Crops and Better Prices

New York, July 10.—A greater diversification of agriculture is given the credit for the prosperity which the South is enjoying by President W. W. Finley of the Southern Railway. After attending a directors' meeting here and before starting for Washington, Mr. Finley said that the higher prices of wheat had led the Southern farmer to grow crops other than that of cotton and that this had been such a great success that the continued prosperity of the Southern states was assured. This fact and the large increase in cotton manufactures had brought much money into that section. Cotton mills in the South had proved so successful, said Mr. Finley, that many others were now being built and that there was bound to be a decrease of raw cotton shipped to the New England mills and possibly to the Liverpool market.

Twenty per cent of the land in the United States is being cultivated. In fifty years 50 per cent will be in cultivation, if government estimates are reliable.

"If I ever marry," said the bachelor, "I'll rule the roost or know why."
"Oh," rejoined the married man, "you'll know why alright."

Income Tax Will Be a State Issue

Washington, July 9.—The income tax constitutional amendment is to become a political live issue in several states next fall. It will come before three-fourths of the states in the elections of the succeeding November. The issue will be presented to the voters in the nomination and election of candidates for the state legislatures, since the ratification or rejection of the proposed constitutional amendment as submitted by congress devolves upon the legislatures.

The legislatures of thirty-four states will not have an opportunity to vote on the amendment until early in 1911. In these thirty-four state legislatures will be chosen in November, 1910, as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

In Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, South Carolina and Mississippi legislatures already elected may vote on the amendment next spring. Georgia could act this summer. In Vermont a legislature will be elected in September of next year, and in October following will meet. Virginia will choose a legislature this fall, which will meet January 12, 1910. In New Jersey the legislature meets annually and the body chosen this fall probably will vote on the amendment next spring.

THIRTY-FOUR STATES NECESSARY TO RATIFY.

The amendment must be ratified by thirty-four states if it is to become a part of the constitution. It is a coincidence that just that number of states, will, if they vote on it at all, vote on it in the early months of 1911. Of the fourteen states that may vote in ratification next year, several are counted on to be against the amendment. So the probability is that the first expressions will be discouraging to the income taxers.

New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Massachusetts are likely to lead off with the voting and the general feeling here is that there will be hard fights by republicans in these states against the amendment. It is in these states hot democrats declare that the minority party may come to the front by championing the ratification of the amendment. It is well understood here that the opponents of the income tax will wage their chief fights in New England and in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois and a few other middle west states. If they can persuade twelve state legislatures to vote against the amendment, it will fail of ratification.

Cyclone Kills Three in Scurry County

W. B. Dowell, wife and ten-year old daughter were killed, and another daughter, 14 years old, fatally hurt in a cyclone which demolished their home southwest of Hermleigh Friday afternoon. The storm came as a bolt from the sky when two clouds came together and not a stick was left standing of the small frame house which was the home of the Dowell family. After the destruction of the Dowell home the cyclone dissipated and no other damage was done. Dowell's son was plowing in the field near the house and was uninjured.

The production of iron ore from the mines of the United States in the year 1907 was 52,000,000 tons, the largest total ever produced in a single year. That is pretty strong infant to be demanding so much protection at the hands of Uncle Sam, and at the cost of nearly all his subjects.

A pretty school teacher noticing one of her little charges idle, said sharply: "John, the devil always finds something for idle hands to do. Come up here and let me give you some work."—Judge's Library.

WOMAN AND FASHION

New Freak Mode.

It was just a year ago that Paris was startled and almost scandalized by the appearance of the first sheath gowns on the streets, and at Long-champs, where the Grand Prix was run, two women wearing the revived directoire were mobbed by a crowd, in which curiosity, admiration and disapproval were about equally represented. It was soon discovered that the wearers of the new gowns were dress-makers' models, and Paris assured itself and the rest of the world that they would never attain the vogue hoped for by their creators. In a few months, however, the sheath gown had become a familiar sight, not only in Paris, but in all the capitals of the world.

After this experience Paris is making no predictions as to the adoption or rejection of the latest departure from the prevailing modes. This is a bifurcated arrangement now being worn in the streets of Paris by Mlle. Suzanne Borgere of the Opera Comique. Some shrug their shoulders and say she is merely an actress seeking notoriety, but they are reminded that the original directoire women were models seeking to advertise their employers' wares.

"Of course," said one costumer of the Rue de la Paix, "the sheath gown was somewhat modified before it came into general use, and perhaps the nameless style affected by Mlle. Borgere may pass through a similar evolution. It certainly is not pretty now, but as the trousers could hardly be more baggy any modification would necessarily be in the opposite direction, which would make the mode more attractive, at any rate."

Evening Capes.

They will be worn everywhere this summer. Paris has set its seal of approval upon them. They are of the softest, finest broadcloth.

They are draped about the figure and fall in graceful folds. Their lines are borrowed from every source—Arab, Bedouin, Grecian, Roman and Spanish.

They have large circular or deeply pointed hoods lined with soft silk and satin.

Soutache braid and silken cords and tassels trim them.

Colors are exquisite—pale gray, old pink, old rose, apricot, heliotrope, garnet, many tones of blue and green.

They are quite indispensable for wear over charming summer frocks. Altogether they are most attractive, and the summer wardrobe will not be complete without one.

Summer Frock For a Girl.

An admirable frock for a young girl which was dainty enough to be worn at almost any informal warm weather affair was a pale lavender figured lawn trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion.

There was a round yoke of alternate bands of the lawn and insertion, and the neck was cut slightly round. The skirt and blouse were joined. With it was worn a girde of soft satin, with a Napoleon rosette and stiff ends at the back.

The Scarf Effect.

One of the latest Parisian touches is the scarf drapery about the skirt, beginning several inches below the waist line and swathing the hips and the figure for some distance below, the ends being caught together in the back and one end brought carelessly over the joining. Sometimes this end disappears at the top to reappear no more, and then again it reappears as an end falling from under the sash, but hanging only a few inches below it.

A New Motor Bonnet.

In motor bonnets a new model has just appeared of Dutch design with the back part plaited into a wide front piece, the whole being made of a curious straw that looks exactly like a fine edition of the bass matting used by gardeners. There is a little design on the front piece done in bass cord. The bonnet is lined with plaited chiffon in tan brown and ties under the chin with strings of tan brown satin ribbon.

Dogmatic Advice.

Her Only Worry.

"Yes, Mrs. Brown was delighted with her experience in that damage case suit."
"I thought she worried dreadfully about being a witness."
"She did. She was afraid they might ask her age."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In the Auto Office.

"What is that chute leading through the floor?" asks the caller of the beautician's stenographer in the office of the automobile company.

"That," she explains, with a rare smile, "is our crank shaft."—Chicago Post.

Interest Aroused.

"I think I shall retire from high finance," said Mr. Cumrox. "I want to take things easy."

"I didn't know," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "that there was any easier way of taking things."—Washington Star.

The Farmer's Wife

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will mail a postal card request to Dr. B. J. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

Rheumatism

Nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply rheumatism of the muscles, due to cold or damp or chronic rheumatism. In such cases no internal treatment is required. The free application of Chamberlain's Liniment is all that is needed and it is certain to give quick relief. Give it a trial and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain and soreness.

Lame Shoulder.

Lumbago.

When muscular rheumatism attacks the muscles in the small of the back it is called lumbago. It is usually quite severe and every movement adds to the pain, and especially when one attempts to straighten up. No internal treatment is required. Keep quiet, as every movement aggravates the disease, and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely, and you will soon be well again.

Sprains and Bruises are cured by the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment.
