The Texas Cotton Crop.

Special correspondence of the New York World.

Marshall, Texas, Sept. 15th.—In Tarrant, Parker, Kaufmann, Ellis, Johnson, Hood, Denton, Wise, Cook, Jack, Clay, Montague and other counties in this section of the State cotton picking has begun pretty generally, but the work is yet necessarily slow on account of recent rains which have retarded the maturing of the crop. There is some complaint of boll worm but it is confined to a few scattering localities. Two weeks of dry warm weather such as prevails at present will insure as heavy a yield throughout the State as has long been expected in the central and southern cotton districts. Planters are industriously at work picking, and complain of a scarcity of labor. In the eastern and northwestern counties, embracing in part Bowie, Red River, Franklin, Titus, Morris, Upsher, Marion, Wood, Rains, Hopkins, Delta, Harrison, Gregg, Smith, Rusk, Panola and southwest along the line of the International and Great Northern Railway the crop is safe and picking beginning, and marketing is active. The lowest estimate in the counties named in this portion of Texas places the yield twenty-five per cent over last year. The country west of Parker County on the line of the Texas and Pacific Railway is receiving a heavy immigration from all parts of the United States and from Europe. Sales of land are brisk, both to farmers and to stockmen. The first named are giving this section of the State considerable attention and farms are being opened up all along the line. This season's operations have fully demonstrated the adaptability of western and northwestern Texas to agricultural pursuits. Trains into Dallas, Fort Worth and other distributing points bring crowds of land seekers, who upon arrival, scatter in various directions to avail themselves of the present low price of land. Grass is abundant and stock of all kinds are in fine order. Shipments to Eastern markets are large and the several transportation companies are taxed to their full capacity in consequence.

"It's Mothers Turn Now"

"Its mother's turn to be taken care of now."

The speaker was a winsome young girl, whose bright eyes, fresh color and winsome looks told of light-hearted happiness. Just out of school, she had the air of culture, which is an added attraction to a blith young face. It was mother's turn now. Did she know how my heart went out to her for her unselfish words?

To many mothers in their love of their daughters entirely overlook the idea that they themselves need recreation. They do without all easy, pretty and charming things, and say nothing about it; and the daughters do not think there is any self-denial involved. Jenny gets the new dress, and mother wears the old one turned upside down and wrong side out. Lucy goes on the mountain trip and mother stays at home and keeps house. Emily is tired of study and must lie down in the afternoon; but mother, though her back aches, has no time for such indulgence.

Dear girls, take good care of your mothers. Coax them to let you relieve them of some of the harder duties, which for years they have patiently done.—Intelligencer.

The list of poison contained in tobacco smoke, as given by the Scientific American, is enough to appall the bravest. Kerr KISSLING of Bremen, who has made the matter a study specifies as strongly poisonous constituents carbonic oxide, sulphureted hydrogen, prussic acid, picoline bases and nicotine. The first three and picoline bases are present in small quantities, so the poisonous character of the smoke may be almost exclusively attributed to the large proportion of nicotine present. But little nicotine is destroyed by the process of smoking, a large proportion passing off in the smoke, the quantity depending on the kind of tobacco used. The shorter the cigar is smoked the greater accumulation of nicotine.

A Trick Of Obriehgt's.

Mrs. Sophia Bixel, a boarding house keeper at No. 153 east Ninety second street, said in the Harlem court yesterday that she had been swindled out of about $65 by Samuel Obriehgt. She said when Obriehgt was released from the asylum he and his wife went to live at her house, occupying for some time the best rooms. He failed to pay his board bill until she became impatient and managed to get $65 from him. Nothing more was paid and the bill amounted to $65, when another demand for money resulted in his surrendering his wife's trunks (three in number) to Mrs. Bixel as security. They were removed to her own apartments, where they remained until Saturday last, when two men came to the house and, on seeing Obriehgt, told him that he was a prisoner and demanded his trunks after one of them had displayed a badge and said he was a deputy sheriff. Then despite the remonstrances of Mrs. Bixel, the two alleged deputy sheriffs called a third man and ordered him to take the trunks down stairs, which he did. And gave them to a fourth man, who put them in a grocer's wagon and drove off. Obriehgt in the mean time explained that he was seized for the non-payment of a bill for some fans used to advertise the "Jumbo Palace." The supposed officers then took Obriehgt away with them. Since then Mrs. Bixel traced the trunks to a basement at No. 1, 258 Lexington avenue and from there to a boarding house at No. 172 East Eighty-fifth street where Obriehgt and his wife are now living. Mrs. Bixel concluded that she had been swindled. She then found the whereabouts of the grocer's clerk whose name is Herman Leissen, of No. 1, 666 third avenue, and also the man who had taken the trunks down stairs. He proved to be an ex-bartender for Obriehgt named Daniel McDonald, of 16 East Ninety second street. Both were summoned to appear at court, which they did. Leissen appeared to have acted innocently in the matter and was paroled to appear to-day. Justice Otterbourg committed McDonald for examination.

The North American Review for November presents an unusually diversified Table of Contents. "English views of Free Trade," by the Hon. John Welsh of Philadelphia is a clear and forcible exposition of the difference between the economic situation of England and that of the United States, and of the considerations which make Free Trade imperative for the former country, if she would retain her present position as the world's workshop. Joseph Neilson Chief Judge of the Brooklyn City Court, writes of "Disorder in Court-rooms," a subject of profound interest to good citizens at all times, and more especially now in view of certain recent occurrences. The obiter dicta of the learned author touching the Giteau trial and the Lawson-gray incident at Dublin, are characterized by the best judicial temper. Dr. Wm. A. Hammond, ex-Surgeon-General of the U. S. Army, offers "A problem for Sociologists," the problem being to determine the degree of responsibility before the criminal law, of persons affected by certain forms of insanity. "The Industrial value of Woman," by Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, is a very able reply to an article recently published on "Woman's Work and Woman's Wages" "Advantages of the jury System by Dwight Foster formerly a justice of the Massachusets Supreme Court will command the attention of every thoughtful citizen, being a grave and learned defense of an institution which it is becoming the fashion to belittle and decry. The remaining articles are, "Safety in Theatres," by Steele Mackaye the distinguished actor and theatrical manager; "The pretensions of journalism," by Rev. Geo. T. Rider and a symposium on "the Suppression of vice," by Anthony Comstock, O. B. Frothingham and Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley.

A Ride to Rowe's Ranch.

McKinney and Nail started a day in advance of me, with near a hundred head of cattle, about fifty of which were heaves to be thrown into the beef herd of A. & B. Rowe, and driven to market. They were to go to the Spade Ranch, a distance of nine miles, and do some branding, and then proceed, the day following, a distance of seventeen miles further, and I was to follow and overtake them. I had never been that way before, and was directed to proceed east from our camp by the traveled road to Barton Creek, and turning to the right, follow it for a mile and then turn to the left and proceed until I reached the Rath Trail, where I would be likely to overtake the herd.

I proceeded as directed and reached the Rath Trail and found indications that the herd had passed. I pressed forward along the trail, a distance of five or six miles until I lost all signs of a passing herd. Before me was a limitless range and seemingly endless trail. I was confident that I was wrong, my horses were jaded it was then fifteen minutes past eleven o'clock. I dismounted, dropped my bridlereins and lariat and laid down in the tall grass, under a warm sun and let my horses graze for half an hour.

Satisfied that I was wrong I resolved to retrace my steps down the trail. A ride of ten miles brought me to a herd of beeves of the Spade Ranch, and I learned of the men in charge that I ought to have turned off from the Rath Trail to the east about a mile after crossing White Fish Creek and about four miles before grazing my horse at noon.

It was now two o'clock in the afternoon. I changed horses and once more proceeded up the trail, to the point indicated as the place to turn off. I reached there at about 3:30 P. M. and finding a wagon track followed it for a little distance and lost it. I was now traveling to the south of East when I should have held to the North of East. I crossed Park's Creek, and then on for many miles over beautiful range, rolling prairie and through breaks and gulches until towards sundown, when I suddenly found myself at the head of one of the most beautiful valleys I ever saw. The slopes on either side were gentle, with here and there a graceful undulation, and an occasional clump of small trees. The bottom of the valley, was carpeted with the richest green and a few cattle were feeding in the distance where I could see the ledghened shadows lie. At the foot of the valley I could distinctly see, what I concluded must be White Fish Creek. I passed down across this valley and up on the opposite divide. I could see no Head-quarter Ranch and no trail, but the scenery was lovely enough for the residence of princes. The shadows were now very long as I rode my tired beast down into the next valley, where I came to a considerable stream, which I afterwards learned was Skillet Creek. I crossed this and struck a wagon trail which soon led into a well beaten road. I was now satisfied that I had again missed my course, having ridden far enough to have reached the ranch. The road evidently led to the ranch but in which direction I could only guess. I turned North and rode slowly along as my horses were about tired out, having traveled forty miles or more, with only thirty minutes in which to graze.

It was now sundown and beginning to be dark, and the prospect was good for me to sleep out of doors, without a covering, except my saddle blankets, and tolerably hungry, having eaten nothing since early morning.

The night was likely to be frosty and I did not much like the prospect. I resolved to push on as long as I could discern the road, if my horses held out, hoping to reach the Ranch.

It grew dark more rapidly than I anticipated, and it was apparent that it would soon be too dark to see to picket my horses and fix my bed. Accordingly coming to a little clump of bushes by the road side, I stopped, took a good look ahead to satisfy myself that there was no Ranch in sight, and listening attentively to hear, if possible, the lowing of cattle in corral or the barking of a dog. All was silent as death. I dismounted "necked" my horses together and lariatied them to a bush, placed my saddle for a pillow, spread one saddle blanket on the ground, wrapped my slicker about me and spreading my other saddle blanket over me laid me down to peaceful sleep. The dim new moon, now about disappearing behind the western hills, shone square in my face. I thought of the old whim that, it was likely to develop fever to sleep in the moonlight; and of the old notion that, the insane were moon-struck, and so were called Lunatics. Thus meditating the moon disappeared, and it occurred to me how my wife who was fifteen hundred miles away, would laugh if she knew that at that moment, on that night of the 16th of October, I was lying on the ground, by a clump of bushes, under the open sky, to spend a frosty night, having eaten nothing since early morning, and probably many miles from any human being, or habitation of man.

Just then I heard the bark of some animal and listened, it was the bark of a prairie wolf, perhaps supperless and as hungry as I was. It now occurred to me that I had no weapon about me, save a pocket knife, and that was very dull. For a moment I wished for my youngest born—little girl; but the saddle blanket was not wide enough for two, and then, the little thing might be afraid under such circumstances, in the wilds of North west Texas. I must have dozed a little, when my horses came close to me. Thinking them a little too near, as they might step on me and crush a limb, and being without surgical instruments, I concluded to move them a little further off. I got up and changed the lariat to another bush and turned to go back to bed when I saw a light seemingly but a short distance up the road. I looked again to satisfy myself that it was a light and not a star; and sure enough it was a light. I hastily saddled up, and my horses taking kindly to the road after their little rest, I rode on with pretty quick pace, satisfied that the light was too steady for a camp fire. I soon came to the corral, and then to the house, and found the younger of the Rowe brothers there, having just returned from the beef herd at Willis creek. He soon had a rousing fire in the fire place, a cup of coffee, canned beef, eggs and biscuit, and after a liberal repast, we retired to rest, thankful for a good hair mattress instead of the cold ground.

and matted, it was hardly possible to escape infection. Many persons find speedy relief for nervous headache by washing the pate thoroughly in weak soda water. I have known severe cases almost wholly cured by this simple remedy. A friend finds it the greatest relief in cases of cold, the cold symptoms entirely leaving the eyes and nose after one thorough washing of the hair. The head should be thoroughly dried afterwards, and not exposed to draughts of air for a little while.—Ex.

Candidate for Congress.

Our readers will notice the announcement of J. H. Davenport, of Eastland. He is a Democrat, but as there is no Republican candidate in the field in this District, we bespeak for Mr. Davenport the hearty support of every Republican in this District, for the good and sufficient reasons, among others that might be named first; he is more liberal and progressive than either of the other two candidates in the field; second; he is a frontier man and thoroughly identified with frontier interests and needs. Third; he is in favor of Prohibition. Fourth. He is a firm friend and advocate of Free Schools, and the education of the masses. Fifth. He was not afraid nor ashamed to vote with the Republican minority in the Texas Senate on questions affecting their interests when no direct party issue was involved. Sixth. He is an honest, capable, moral man.

We are confident that our Republican friends will find in him a good and honest representative, if elected as he is quite sure to be. Voters will see to it that the name of J. H. Davenport is on the ticket they deposit on election day.

The Buffalo.

This animal, must not be confounded with its shabby namesake of our Western plains (Bos Americanus), which has no valid right to the name, being in reality the bison. Of the true buffalo there are two species, the Bos Caffes of South Africa, and the Bos Bubalus of India, Busman, and the islands of the Malay Archipelago. The latter species are again subdivided into the tame and the wild varieties—the latter known by the name of Arna. The wild buffalo is found in great herds throughout India and the adjacent countries, frequenting the margins of primeval forests and delighting in swampy grounds, where it loves above all things to roll in the mire or plunge up to the ears in a stream or pool of water. This fondness for water is also characteristic of the buffalo, which often, when laden with goods, yields to its instinct and wallows in any stream that may cross its path. The wild buffalo is fully a third larger than the largest of the tame sort, measuring 10½ feet from snout to vent, and 6 to 6½ feet in height at the shoulder, and it is of such vigor that it will charge often over an Elephant, and the fiercest male tiger dare not attack it unless impelled by savage hunger. The Indian driver of even tame buffaloes does not shrink from entering a tiger-frequented jungle, his cattle with their massive horns making short work of any tiger that may come in their way.

From its original home in the East the domestic buffalo has spread over the greater part of Southern Asia and of North Africa, and was introduced towards the close of the sixth century into Greece and Italy, forming an invaluable beast of burden in marshy districts, where the great breadth of its feet, somewhat resembling those of the reindeer in this respect, give it a decided advantage over the horse or ox. In Italy we have seen it grazing in herds in the Pontine marshes where for hours it will lie submerged almost to the muzzle in the slimy water. The milk of the buffalo is plentiful and of an excellent quality. The Hindus make of it a kind of butter called ghee. The skin of the animal is highly prized but the flesh is inferior to that of a grass fed Texas steer.—Planters Journal.

From all reports that we can gather, it is now quite certain that Hon J. N. Browning, of Mobeetie, will be elected our representative in the next state Legislature. It is conceded, on all hands, that he is a competent, honest and honorable man for that position, and the voters of this District will please see that the ticket they vote has his name on it.

A Pool of Expenses.

The several principal parties owning and controlling cattle on the Carleton Stock Range, in this county, have entered into an arrangement for pooling expenses for the next four years. The management will be in the hands of one Foreman, subject to the wishes of the parties in interest. By this arrangement, any conflict of interest will be avoided, and the herds run on a much smaller ratio of expense. Several thousand head of cattle will be added to those now on the range, during the early part of next summer.

A Sociable will be given in the Public Hall of the News Building, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 1st 1882.

Come one and come all and let us have a good social time. Entertain and be entertained.—Our Society is few in numbers and this makes it the more necessary that each individual contributes his full share in some way to the festivities of the evening; if not in taking an active part, by being present, conversing good naturedly—avoiding unkind criticisms and by being kindly disposed towards all. Let us combine amusement with intellectual improvement as far as possible.

The following Programme will outline the entertainment of the evening:

- Music.
- Essay on W. C. Bryant.
- Reading—Thanatopsis.
- Music.
- History of Clarendon.
- Charade.
- A Dutch Story.
- Music.
- Old Folks Singing School.
- Reading.
- Tableau.
- Music—Goodnight.
- Hell Gate to be Lighted.

The New York World, of the 14th inst, informs us that Hell Gate is to be lighted by electricity. There is no doubt but it will be a success.

There are several other bad places about New York and elsewhere that ought to be so lighted. "Sit Lux et lux Fuit."

The Election results in Ohio are significant. The fountain of a new party with prohibition prominent is doubtless an event of the near future. The Republican party must face and treat this issue squarely or go under. So far the Democratic party cannot meet the issue and Republican party has not done so. What next.

Nervous debility, the curse of the American people, immediately yields to the action of Brown's Iron Bitters.

The Democrats have carried Ohio by 10,000 majority.

AN OLD AND GOOD MEDICINE.—But few persons outside of physicians and druggists know what suffering is endured from that troublesome and painful disease—the Piles—many of whom would give and do most anything to get relief. There are a great many remedies-called remedies—for curing this trouble, but only about one out of ten afford any relief we have personally known individuals who have tried almost everything they heard tell of, and their experience is that Swayne's Ointment, put up by Dr. Swayne & Son, of Philadelphia is the best medicine they ever used. From Chester County Village Record. December 19th, 1881. This paper is one of the most influential in country weeklies in the U. S., and was recently appraised at $100,000.

Car Lighted By Electricity

The Pennsylvania Rail road Company is running a car lighted by electricity. The attempt is the first ever made in the United States and is entirely successful. It will doubtless soon become a common thing to light cars by electricity.

The recent death of Rev. Thos. Guard, of Baltimore, is the occasion of more than ordinary feeling and regret by the Methodists of the City and country at large.

Wichita Falls, Oct. 15th 1882.
Friend Mac.

After seven days of travel—during which time there was rain nearly every night and high water to cross nearly every day—we arrived at the Big Wichita and found it higher than any stream we had yet crossed—night was coming on and a very threatening storm coming up, so that the ferryman did not feel safe in crossing us over. We stayed all night on the north side. By morning the river had fallen: some but the ferry boat had stuck fast on a sand bar and could render us no aid. We waited there until afternoon, got a light rig and moved ourselves over in sections in time to get Judge Brown and family aboard the 2:20 train and Miss Ridgeway home, the parents of the latter were just getting better of a severe spell of sickness and were glad indeed to see her. I met with Mr. H. H. Lewis well known to many of your readers when practicing law at Mobeetie, he is now editor of the Wichita Herald of which paper there have been issued three or four numbers. The town is looming up fast, buildings going up on every hand and tents coming down. The impression has been gaining ground lately that this will be the terminus for about a year, and if this should prove to be the case, quite a town will be built up here. Goods for Mr. White started for Clarendon the day before yesterday. My family will be here about the 20th and we will start from here so as to be at Clarendon about the 1st of November if nothing prevents.

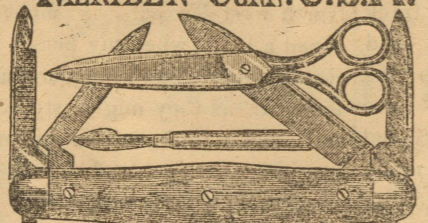

We "oodles" of lumber going to Goodnights and still more starting from here.

Hoping to be home again soon I remain

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Logansport, Ind. Dec. 3, 1880.
For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is immensely improved. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight.

HOME NEWS

Festival next week.

N. D. Freeman lost a horse last week—died.

The new store is nearly completed neat and tidy.

A Norther Wednesday night—but mild and pleasant after.

Charles Goodnight is not expected home under ten or twelve days yet.

F. Houston was in town last week. He is pretty lively for an old gentleman.

J. F. Evans Esq. one of the owners of the Spade Ranch is expected from below in a few days.

Several young men in town have "quit off" their tobacco, and several new hats are in order.

Frank Houston Esq whose ranch lies N. E. of us on McClelland Creek is looked for daily.

T. S. McClelland Ed. and Thompson "pulled their freight" on Thursday, for a surveying excursion.

These moonlight nights equal any thing we remember to have enjoyed in our most romantic days.

Prof. J. H. Combs is dispensing drugs and medicines for the present. Call and see him at the drug store.

J. H. Parks is making a protracted stay. We hear of him at Austin. He may be changing matters for the next Legislature.

Bill Ross—the powerful—came to town a few days ago, from Blanco Canon, his tent and supplies having burned up.

Mr. J. J. Stanton is employed as clerk in Van Hort's store. He swings into the work like a wheel horse in a six horse team.

The festival on next Wednesday Evening will be an occasion of more than ordinary interest Boys come in, one and all.

D. Forest and McClelland have the contract for 60 or 80 miles of wire fence construction on the Gunter & Munson Ranch.

The hands on the Carrolton Range are expected to make a clean round for branding calves, cutting out strays and soforth.

Dyer & Coleman are fencing on the South East of the Carrolton Range. We shall soon be enclosed with wire. Speed the day.

Sam Dyer came to town on Thursday and his horse ran away with him. He left G. M. Smith a mile or so in the rear, who came leisurely into town with Kowalskie following in the even tonor of his ways.

Frank Rigdon, connected with the engineer corps now locating the Fort Worth & Denver City Rail Road from Wichita Falls to Clarendon, was in town this week. He is as ruddy, fresh and genial as ever.

Capt. J. N. Browning, of Mobeetie, candidate for Representative, was in attendance at our court this week, and honored the Clipper office with a pleasant call.—Commercial Clipper.

"VOICES IN THE AIR" is the heading to a column in the New York World. It sounds some as though some of the thousands of our Texas cranes had gotten up there. A crane is nearly all voice. Like the Irishmans owl, "Hees a hape of nois."

Some farming tools and implements for sale Inquire at this office. The corn millet and sweet potatoes grown here this year will encourage many to farm on a more extended scale next year.

Remember the literary and social entertainment to be given in the NEWS BUILDING on Wednesday evening of next week. It will undoubtedly be the finest effort of the season. We bespeak a full house.

E. E. Carhart and wife accompanied by Dr. Carhart, leave for Mobeetie to-morrow morning with a four horse outfit. They intend to return on Tuesday of next week, with a load of supplies for the Carrolton Stock Ranch.

A. R. Carhart failed to find the boys at Worley Lake on Wednesday night whither he had gone to assist in bringing back a bunch of cattle. He says it became a little chilly towards morning, especially about the toes where there was a hole in the saddle blanket. He'll do for a cow man.

Geo. T. Osborn is the only candidate for Sheriff in this county, and consequently is sure of an election. Geo. is all courage and a dead shot, having practiced on the Indians when he was the only white man in all this country. He will do his duty faithfully as a public functionary. Geo will surely be elected.

The News Building is rapidly approaching completion. The front windows were glazed this week and the interior canvassed and papered. A few finishing touches remain to be given, when it will be an ornament to the town, presenting, as it does the approved lines of beauty, and our office will be as complete as can be desired. We invite our friends to call; and send in your Job work.

Our readers will notice, elsewhere in this paper, the advertisement of The Old Reliable Hannibal and St. Joe R. R. When you go to Chicago and points East, be sure and take this road. If you go via Dodge City, you will take the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe, thence over the Hannibal, thence over the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy to Chicago. Returning come over the same road and dont you forget it.

Election Tickets.

All who desire or expect their names to appear on the Election Tickets will please hand in their names at once, with the $2.00 charged for the same. Those whose names have been announce in the News will be placed on the ticket without further charge.

Nautical.

It's wonderful how example stimulates. W. D. Kimball Esq. is building a new rival clipper for the lake. Not so large and built more for speed. It will be launched soon. In the meantime Company first and clipper enlarges sail and proposes for a test of muscle, or rather a test of canvass. We notice a remarkable absence of oars and the expenditure of physical prowess sailing is in order and riding the rage of the hour.

Dr. Jaques' German Worm Cake stand unrivaled as a worm medicine Give them a trial. Sold by all Druggists.

An old nurse says: Dr. Acker's English Remedy is best for cough croup or diphtheria. At druggists.

D. W. Van Horn & Co. will close out all summer goods at cost from their stores at Fort Elliott, Mobeetie, and Clarendon—to make room for a large fall and winter stock.

Dyspepsia, the insidious foe to health, Disappears by using Dr. Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets. At Druggists.

We have received a copy of Edwin Alden & Bro.'s new "Catalogue of American Newspapers," and find it very complete and unusually accurate. It is one of those adjuncts which a news paper office cannot be without and be complete. It is invaluable.

Pure blood makes good health. Acker's Blood Elixir, endorsed by eminent physicians. At druggists.

BANKERS

TO THE PUBLIC

GAINESVILLE, TEXAS, SEPT. 25, 1882.

The responsibility of a large and growing business has induced us to recommend to our Stockholders an increase in our Capital, and a conversion of this institution into a NATIONAL BANK, in order that we might thereby extend its influence and usefulness, and, at the same time, have the counsel and advice of a careful and conservative directory. This having been acceded to by them, we announce that in November we shall open a National Bank with a paid up capital of about $250,000, into which this business, without interruption, will be at once merged, by transferring all accounts to the books of the new organization.

The same line of policy in the management will be pursued as that governing us now, our purpose being to establish a safe and profitable business on a basis that may be as liberal as is consistent with good banking.

The following persons will constitute the Officers and Directors of the Bank until the First Tuesday in January, 1883, at which time of each year the Stockholders will fill the places named by election of Directors:

President, : : : : J. M. LINDSAY.
Vice-President, : : : : J. R. STEVENS.
Cashier, : : : : C. C. HEMMING.

DIRECTORS.

J. M. LINDSAY. J. R. STEVENS. C. C. HEMMING.

J. R. STEVENS, FRANK MURRY, J. G. HALLSELL, E. T. MORRIS,
W. B. WORSHAM, D. WAGGONER, C. CHAMBERS.

We have every reason to thank the public for the rapid growth of this bank, and to report its present excellent condition—our deposit account now exceeding $500,000.

We trust with the exercise of proper care and caution to retain public confidence, add new accounts to our books and generally extend our business. Respectfully,

J. M. LINDSAY, President.

Cattle Chewing Bones.

National Live Stock Journal.
 A subscriber in Bandera, Texas, asks why it is that cattle chew bones. He states that nearly all cattle in his section, even when they have plenty of salt, chew bones; and loss is frequently incurred by their choking to death, or starving on account of a bone sticking between their teeth. He says that the country is of a limestone formation, and the water strongly impregnated with lime.
 Cattle often get a morbid appetite for chewing bones, eating earth, sand gravel, rotten wood, leather, etc. Chewing bones is often caused by a lack of phosphates in the soil. As the surface of Bandera County is hilly except the valley of the Medina river, it is not improbable that the cattle crave bones from the lack of phosphate in their food. This may be remedied by feeding a little finely ground bone flour with salt.
 This bone flour is now kept by many of the bone fertilizer companies, prepared especially for this purpose. But the bones may be prepared there by burning them in the open air until the combustible part is all dissipated. This burning will free the bone from all possible taint of disease, and render it so brittle that it can be ground in any mill after being broken by a hammer—a large coffee mill would reduce it fine. Then if this finely ground bone is boiled or steamed for an hour, it will be ready for use. We have known bone so ground and fed with salt, to relieve cattle of the desire to chew bones. The writer, for some years past, however, adopted the plan of feeding food very rich in phosphate of lime, such as linseed or cottonseed meal. These foods give the material of the bone in a more digestible condition. But this latter plan could not be adopted in a purely grazing country, like most of Texas. When its lands are divided into moderate sized farms and cattle are mostly fed upon cultivated crops, a small portion of cotton seed meal will supply all necessity for phosphate.

Danger of Removing Cattle to Hot Climates.

It is never safe to send an animal of the bovine species which is over one year old from a cold to a hot climate. It should always be in a thin condition, and shipped the latter part of Autumn, when the weather will be the coolest upon its arrival at the port of destination, and as the following Spring opens, it will get gradually accustomed to the heat.

An imported animal should be put immediately on arrival, into a roomy well ventilated stable, so dark as to be protected from annoying insects. It ought never to be exposed to a heat by day, or to dews at night, for the latter are often as injurious as the former. It should be watered from a pure source all it will drink five times a day, and be only moderately fed. It might be taken out for exercise for half an hour or more just before sundown, and again before sunrise.

Rock salt should be constantly kept in their feed box, for it to lick at pleasure, and a half to a full, heaped tablespoonful of sulphur, according to size and age, and twice as much pure wood ashes given it, once or twice a week. If these last two be mixed with a little bran or meal, the animal will take them readily.—National Live Stock Journal.
