Clifford's Grocery Store changes hands

With the last details of the transaction complete, Datha and Charlie DeMoss are the new owners of Charlie's Market, formerly Clifford Grocery.

Customers in the store this week have met and been welcomed by Datha and Charlie, with Jack and Fred Clifford staying on for a few more days to help the transition of the new owners. So an era of grocery merchandising for the Clifford family ends and Clarendon's newest merchants, the DeMosses are beginning with Charlie's Market.

Although the business in Clarendon is new for Datha and Charlie, a place in public is not. Charlie has been working in a market since he was 14 years old and has 38 years of experience to his credit. During this time he worked at Ideal Food Stores in Pampa and Canyon, at Furr's and for independents. His experience covers all facets of the market.

Datha has been employed by Gibson's in Pampa most recently and while they lived in Canyon she was an employee of West Texas State University working in the purchasing and inventory department.

Charlie and Datha both grew up in Pampa. Datha was a pre-schooler when her family moved there and she went through school there.

Charlie moved with his family to Pampa in 1942 and with the exception of the time they were in Canyon have been Pampa residents.

Clarendon has another attraction for them with the easy accessibility of Greenbelt Lake, because they enjoy camping, boating, and water-skiing. They are outdoor persons who enjoy sports (particularly trout fishing).

The parents of three grown and married children, their eldest daughter, Anita Dunham, and her family have just moved to Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. They took three grandchildren ages 10, 7 and 3 months and not being able to see them very often takes some getting accustomed to. Rodney DeMoss, their son, is a pharmacist with Furr Food in Amarillo. He is the father of one son three and a half years old.

Another daughter, Charlotte Rogowski, of Amarillo and her husband are part of Amarillo Plastic Fabricators. She has a two year old daughter.

Of the store Charlie said, "We will continue to serve customers with quality meat and other market items. Also we will do custom processing, cut meat to your specifications for your frozen food lockers and add other services if there is a customer demand for it."

Although not prepared for the service just now DeMoss added, "We intend to offer cooked

$500,000 grant-loan recommended by PRPC

Application for a $500,000 water improvement project by the city of Clarendon was recommended by PRPC's review committee at an Amarillo meeting on Thursday, July 19, which was attended by Leonard Selvidge, Clarendon mayor, Bill Weatherly, city water superintendent and Lloyd McCord, city Alderman.

Working with and upon the advice of engineers for the city, Merriman and Barber, the City of Clarendon applied for funds to add the following improvements to the city water system:

- *Raise the water tank in the southeast part of town 26 ft. to the height of the tower in west Clarendon
- *Erect a 120 ft. standpipe near the existing water tower in the west part of town
- *Install a larger pump to pump from low pressure system to high pressure system for adequate water supply to fight a major fire
- *Put in a new 8 inch line from a 14 inch supply line to the elevated storage tank and another 8 inch line between the two storage tanks
- *Replace some very old 2 inch steel lines.

The total estimated cost of the project is $500,000. The money is to come from FHA, with $375,000 in the form of a grant and $125,000 in the form of a loan.

Ground work is proceeding with actual work on the project to start with the official notification of the loans approval.

The meeting in Amarillo was with PRPC which is the clearinghouse for distribution of federal funds. The project notification and review system committee studies staff reports and makes recommendations to the PRPC board of directors.

Comptroller of Public accounts

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said he has authorized a simple declaration form for certain beneficiaries to use in lieu of an inheritance tax return for estates less than $200,000.

Bullock said the declaration of no tax due from Class A beneficiaries will replace the additional step of filing a more complicated return and having the Comptroller's Office issue a no tax declaration.

A Class A beneficiary is defined as a person most closely related to the deceased person, including the surviving spouse, children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. Sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, parents and grandparents of deceased person are also included in the definition.

"The new form is an effort to cut down on the amount of paperwork for small estates on which no Texas inheritance taxes are due and make our inheritance tax division a little more efficient and responsive at the same time," Bullock said.

Estates which have a gross value of less than $200,000 are exempt by law from state inheritance taxes for Class A beneficiaries. Beginning, September 1, 1985.

Preliminary estimates show that nearly 80 percent of the more than 50,000 inheritance tax returns sent to the Comptroller's Office each year could be handled with the one-page declaration of no tax due.

The new form is being made available in all county courthouses and through Texas attorneys.

It is also available from the Comptroller's Inheritance Tax Division as well as the Comptroller's field offices located throughout the state.

Inheritance taxes paid to the Comptroller during the last fiscal year amounted to $77.9 billion.

A moment of meditation

by Inez G. Lawrence

"Kind words are like honey-healthful and enjoyable." Prov. 16:24 NLB

When I thought on our many friends in Clarendon, I sought for a clear definition in which to frame so priceless a possession.

So to the dictionary I went. "A friend is one who is attached to another by affection, regard or esteem," says Webster.

Certainly we feel attached to the people here by those ties, but there has been joy for us also in the welcome we have received since we came back.

Although we have been away much of the last six years we have never changed our permanent address nor our registrations. The old song writer put it aptly, "Wherever we may roam, there's no place like home." Naturally the kind words from so many people are most enjoyable to us and believe they are healthful also.

In fact all kind words are so healthy to ourselves and others, that when we stop and think, we are ashamed for any other ones ever to pass our lips. Thus words of welcome are not the only area this Proverb includes, but they are just as effective at home and at work. God's laws operate in every area of our lives, and personal relationships are a big part of every day life.

The most descriptive way to express this thought is from Proverbs also: A word fully spoken is like apples of gold in baskets of silver. "With gold prices what they are today, kind words are expensive gifts to offer with love and affection."

Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Naylor and friends visited with Miss Ava Naylor Sunday and visited their grandfather's T. L. Naylor & Mrs. Arnold's home in the afternoon.

Electric Camp at Cloudercroft, New Mexico this week according to County Extension Agent Ronald Gooch.

The camp provides leadership training for 4-H council members; training on conducting 4-H electrical projects, giving method demonstrations and compiling 4-H records. It also provides recreational and citizenship training.

The camp is sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company each year.

Weather & Crops fm PI

eastern counties had high winds, hail and heavy rain, most of Donley County got some wind and rain and a good look at the awesome clouds which promised almost anything, Monday night.

Representative of the cotton farmer is M.L. Mays who has about 100 acres of cotton with muddy rows where there is not water still standing. This is normally an irrigated field but with the abundant rainfall so far this year Mays has not irrigated it at all.

Although the moisture has been good enough to keep the well off Mays does not anticipate being fortunate enough to raise the cotton to maturity without watering. However every time watering is delayed the farmer makes that much profit. A few growers have turned to dry land farming as an alternate to fuel prices they cannot afford.

The difference between dry land and irrigation prices amounts to about $10 an acre an impressive savings in a years time.

Energy

The United States of America possesses 48 percent of the coal on this planet. The energy value of our recoverable coal deposits exceed that of the world's total proven petroleum reserves.

We also have two thirds of all the world's oil shale deposits. There is more oil trapped in the mountains of Colorado, Wyoming and Utah than under the sands of Saudi Arabia.

I have proposed in Congress a crash program to produce by 1985 a million barrels of synthetic oil and gas a day from our abundant coal and oil shale resources. I envision something similar to our successful World War II program to develop synthetic rubber.

Here's the rub. According to conservative estimates—there are estimates that assume a moderate rate of economic growth and effective steps to conserve energy, to eliminate waste—U. S. energy consumption will increase by almost half, to 115 quads, by the end of the coming decade.

Where in the world is the extra energy we'll need going to come from? What can we do to provide it?

Let's start this off with a couple of definitions.

A British Thermal Unit, or BTU, is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water by one degree Fahrenheit.

A quad is 1,000,000,000,000 (one quadrillion) BTU's.

A quad is an enormous amount of energy. One quad at present rates of consumption will take care of all the energy needs of almost 3 million Americans for a full year. This year the United States will consume some 78 quads of energy.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon at the Lions Hall with twentytwo members present. Following our regular opening

Sight restored to resident

After being unable to see five years a Clarendon resident of three months has had her sight restored after cornea transplant surgery in Amarillo.

Mrs. Artie Mae Rowland, the mother of Louise Lockey, of Clarendon underwent the cornea surgery on May 28, in Amarillo, as a patient of Dr. Hugh B. Currie.

Even before she left the hospital she could see and her sight continues to improve. After no sight for five years trees, flowers, cars and even a short times of reading are almost miraculous.

In another three weeks some of the stitches will be removed and some of them will remain for some time longer, but with a future to see Mrs. Rowland looks forward to getting acquainted here in Clarendon after her move here from Plainview.

ceremonies, Boss Lion Courtney introduced one of our members, Lion Jack Baldwin, who brought our program. After first scaring us by announcing that his program would be on the "care of baby teeth", Lion Baldwin made an interesting talk on methods being used by Jim Lovell for increasing the productivity of the land he owns Northwest of Brice. Mr. Lovell is having very good success with the "patch" method of raising cattle feed. He has also brought in some wells with good enough water for irrigating these patches and for watering cattle. Lion Baldwin also told us of a longhorn cow which he was selling shares in. No foolin, he was serious. You can see Lion Baldwin for the details. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Claude Couple to be honored

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reid, of Route 1, Claude, will be honored with a special dinner and presentation of jewelry by the Clarendon Dairy Queen. The ceremony is in honor of the Reids' 55th wedding anniversary, coming up on July 31. Of all the couples with wedding anniversaries in July who have registered for the free anniversary dinner program at the Clarendon Dairy Queen, the Reids have been married the longest.

Every couple registering at the Clarendon Dairy Queen receives a free wedding anniversary dinner at the restaurant as a gift of Dairy Queen, whether they are celebrating their first, 50th or even longer anniversary during the next 12 months.

Those married 50 or more years are presented with specially designed jewelry--gold-filled pins for the women and tie tacks for the men--in the most recent innovation of the DQ anniversary dinner program.

The wedding anniversary dinner program encompasses almost 50 DQs in Central and West Texas that are a part of the Chapman Fast Foods organization.

Miriam Sursa is manager of the Clarendon Dairy Queen.

Sales Tax

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday said gross sales in Texas for the first quarter of 1979 totaled $48.5 billion, a $6.1 billion increase over the same three-month period last year.

Bullock said a sales tax analysis for Texas during 1978 showed that gross sales in the state exceeded $186 billion.

Bullock also released a computer analysis showing reported sales for each of the state's 254 counties and a sales tax analysis broken down by the state's Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas.

In the first quarter of 1979, Harris County recorded sales totaling $12.4 billion through 41,727 reporting outlets.

Reported gross sales in all major urban areas were up over reported sales in the first quarter of 1978.

Weekend visitors in the James Tucker home were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zybach, of Slaton, parents of Mrs. Tucker. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Brian Tucker and son Carl, of Dallas and Leanne Tucker, of Amarillo. They all attended a First Christian Church picnic on Saturday, in the Tuckers yard. The family all helped Mr. Zybach celebrate his birthday with a dinner on Sunday.

NOTICE

IF YOU SMELL NATURAL GAS, FOLLOW THESE 3 STEPS TO SAFETY.

The natural gas industry has an excellent safety record.

The fact that you can smell natural gas is because we add a harmless chemical to it as an extra safety feature. Otherwise, it would be completely odorless. If you detect faint whiffs of what you think may be gas, investigate. It may be something that is as easily and safely corrected as a pilot light that has gone out, or a burner valve that's partially open.

If your equipment seems to be working properly and the odor intensifies and seems to be everywhere, please follow these precautions:

1. Do not switch anything electrical on or off. Do not use the telephone in your own home. Do not strike a match. Do not do anything that might cause a spark.
 2. Have everyone leave the house immediately, leaving doors open to help ventilate.
 3. Go to a nearby telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the source of the odor to determine whether it's safe for you to return to the house.
- You may never have a natural gas leak, but we want you to be informed in case one does occur. Please make sure your family is aware of these precautionary steps. And we suggest that you keep this message for future reference.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

Q. All right, what happens if I get sick and can't work. How can life insurance protect me and my family then?

A. One way would be to make sure the life insurance policy you buy has a "waiver of premium" provision. If it does, and you become permanently or totally disabled, the company would pay the premiums for as long as that condition exists.

You might also look into a special addition to your life insurance policy called a "disability income benefit" provision. It would pay a specified amount each month until you reach the age of 65, if you are totally disabled. Of course, the cash value of your permanent life insurance policy can also help out in an emergency.

How to save pecans

Homeowners and orchardists with pecan trees need to take action in the next few days to combat a problem which annually plagues them about this time of year, causing a loss of the pecans.

"Every year in late August, there are complaints that full size pecans are turning black and dropping off the trees," said Dr. Robert W. Berry, area plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The nut is filled with a dark liquid having a very bad odor."

The problem is stem end blight, sometimes called sticky shuck. And now—the end of July—is the time to combat it, Berry said.

It is caused by a disease that attacks the pecan when the nut is starting to form a shell and the internal part is just a bag of liquid, the extension plant pathologist explained. That should be about July 25 in the Rolling and High Plains, but because of recent cool temperatures will probably be four or five days later this year, Berry said.

The problem is treated by a fungicide program starting when the nut is reaching this susceptible "water embryo" stage, Berry said. The fungicide to use is benomyl, which is marketed under such trade names as "Benlate," "Greenlight Systematic Fungicide," and "Fertilome Systematic Fungicide," he said.

Three applications, one every seven days, is needed, the plant pathologist said. The first should be made about July 25-28, when the pecan is full of liquid; the second about August 1-3, and the final application should be made about August 8-10. Berry cautioned users carefully to follow the manufacturers directions on the label of the brand of fungicide being used.

Some used to consider it bad luck for women to look at trumps.

True - life story of Corrie ten Boom to be shown at First Baptist Church

The true-life story of Corrie ten Boom, a former Nazi prisoner, will be presented through the motion picture, 'The Hiding Place' on August 4 and 5 at 7:30 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

This remarkable story of tragedy and victory shares the experiences of a family who was willing to risk all for others. The ten Booms became involved in the Dutch Underground during the German occupation of World War II by hiding Jews in a secret room built in their house, thereby aiding them in their escape from the Nazis. As a result of a raid by soldiers, Corrie's family was taken prisoner and Corrie was sent to the dreaded concentration camp, "Ravensbruck."

'The Hiding Place' portrays the de-humanizing agonies of a concentration camp...the personal confusion and conflicts of both victors and vanquished...the confrontation of military might and gently ministry...and the costs of caring for others. Millions of readers have cried, suffered and triumphed with Corrie ten Boom and her family through the book 'The Hiding Place'. Now a motion picture captures all the power, excitement and sheer dramatic force that sets this story apart from all others. See 'The Hiding Place', a World Wide Pictures production, and share in a miracle of love.

Create A Multi-Purpose Space

We all need our "space", according to Warner Erhard, founder of the est philosophy. Young, growing families seem to need more than anyone else. In remodeling an old house, space considerations may dictate tearing down a few interior walls in order to open up several small rooms into one large family living area.

In today's servantless society, a mother likes to be able to keep an eye on her child while preparing meals or performing other household duties. With the open floor plan shown in this photograph, the kitchen is a part of the family room, and harmonious daily activities become easier.

Unifying the decorative theme of all areas is the tile-like patterned sheet vinyl floor with a high-gloss surface that needs no waxing. The pattern is "Carnegie", shown here in rich "Raisin", just one of five fashion-colors in a geometric design with simulated grout lines to look like hand-set tiles of kiln-baked terracotta. The other neutral-toned hues offered are Cream Beige, Crimson Gold, Moss Gold, and Spice Brown.

Official Memorandum
By WILLIAM P. CLEMENTS, JR.
Governor of Texas

GREETINGS:

AUSTIN, TEXAS

For the United States to maintain its leadership in the world economy during the 1980's, a strong agricultural base is essential. Texas is blessed with an efficient and productive agriculture to meet the challenge. Our abundance helps permit a strong flow of food exports, contributing millions of dollars to our trade balance and enabling us to help relieve hunger in many parts of the world.

One of the most persistent barriers to agricultural well-being has been farm and ranch accidents. Accidents not only cause human suffering but by causing equipment damage, time delays, and permanent disabling injuries, accidents rob the agricultural sector of valuable talent and productive capacity.

It has been proven that accidents on farms and ranches can be prevented by controlling equipment hazards, ending unsafe practices and by the use of protective equipment. Each year approximately 10,000 Texas farmers and ranchers suffer disabling injuries. This time and effort invested in safety education activities to prevent accidents can be considered an investment that will prevent the losses sustained every year through farm and ranch accidents.

To encourage renewed emphasis to make Texas farms and ranches a safer place to live and work, the State of Texas joins the entire Nation in the designation of a 1979 National Farm Safety Week.

A week-long, statewide campaign to inform Texas rural residents about farm and ranch accident prevention will be conducted by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, the Texas Farm Bureau, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers and the Young Farmers of Texas.

WHEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of July 25-31, 1979, as and urge all who live and work on Texas farms and ranches to make accident prevention a part of all activities. Further, I urge persons, organizations and suppliers who work with or serve agricultural producers to assist in this effort with every possible means to reduce the deaths and injuries resulting from farm and ranch accidents.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 11th day of July, 1979

W. P. Clements, Jr.
Governor of Texas

Two Clues For The Dessert Case

Suspense builds as dessert time approaches. Will the meal end with the obvious or take a new twist? Add an element of surprise with Caramel Nut Brownies and Graham Cracker Cake with Lemon Syrup. Making these treats is no mystery when you use Squeeze Parkay margarine. Because it's a liquid margarine, it eliminates melting and mixing problems. It solves measuring puzzles, too. No one will detect how simple these desserts are to make, but they'll all want to know "Whodunnit."

Caramel Nut Brownies

- 1-1/2 cups packed brown sugar
- 1-1/4 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup chopped peanuts or nuts
- 1/2 cup Squeeze Parkay margarine
- 2 eggs
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 2/3 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/3 cup Squeeze Parkay margarine
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1-3/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar and margarine; add egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add combined dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased and floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350°, 40 to 45 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Serve with:

Lemon Syrup

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup Squeeze Parkay margarine
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon lemon rind

Combine ingredients in saucepan. Stir over medium heat until mixture boils. Cool slightly.

PSALM 34: 14-15

Inflation has become a sad fact of our economic lives, both in a national and personal level. Each day we read in the newspapers that the price of basic necessities is rising. For example, this week we were told that the price of gasoline will go up yet another 14 cents a gallon.

Many of us can stretch our paychecks no further. As a result, Texans, in increasing numbers, are turning to part-time "business opportunities" to supplement their incomes.

Unfortunately, business opportunity frauds are a major problem in Texas. And, we are seeing more and more of our fellow citizens lose money instead of gain.

Business opportunities typically involve one of three types of activities: Investments, distributorships and services.

A common "service" business opportunity is represented by the rash of overseas and Alaskan employment companies that swept through Texas several years ago. Extensive prosecutions by the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division and other law enforcement agencies caused most of the fraudulent companies to go out of business or leave the State.

Investment and distributorship frauds, however, continue to flourish despite repeated prosecutions.

An investment distributorship means that you are asked to invest money into someone else's business. You contribute the money, the promoter and his employees do the work and the profits, if any, are shared.

A mother is bathing her playful infant son. Both mother and child are laughing and splashing, thoroughly enjoying themselves. Suddenly the telephone rings, and the young woman rushes to answer it. Unattended, the baby drowns within seconds. "This sad story is not as uncommon as many of us would like to believe," warns Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and former medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company.

According to Dr. Domm, a great number of infants are the victims of bathroom mishaps. Dr. Domm cautions parents to be ever-mindful that it takes only a few short seconds for a child's tiny lungs to fill up with water. "Never leave a child alone in the bathtub, even for an instant."

*Always investigate the company and people with whom you are asked to do business. Call the Chamber of Commerce, the Better Business Bureau and the Attorney General's Office as well as any other source that may have information.

*Try not to invest more than you can afford to lose. There is never any guarantee that a business opportunity will succeed, regardless of the honesty and skill of the promoter.

*If it sounds too good to be true, it is! If you can detect a flaw in the "opportunity" after careful thought and research, you can be sure it will not succeed. Business opportunities must make sense or they will never be successful.

If you think you have been victimized by a business opportunity fraud, contact the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division office nearest you and alert your local Better Business Bureau.

WINNERS & LOSERS

The longest winning streak in baseball history occurred between Sept. 7 and Sept. 30, 1916 when the New York National League team won 26 games in a row.

A long streak of losses has been experienced by union organizers. For instance, only about 22% of the U. S. work force are union members, it's only 10% in the textile industry, and after almost 15 years of all-out effort, union organizers have achieved the representation of less than seven percent of the workers at J. P. Stevens.

The longest winning streak in football is 47 straight by Oklahoma. The longest unbeaten streak is 63 games, 59 won and 4 tied, by Washington from 1907 to 1917.

Some people believe it to be bad luck to take a new job or get married on a Friday, or to cut one's nails or visit the sick.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White Attorney General

Inflation has become a sad fact of our economic lives, both on a national and personal level. Each day we read in the newspapers that the price of basic necessities is rising. For example, this week we were told that the price of gasoline will go up yet another 1 1/2 cents a gallon.

Many of us can stretch our paychecks no further. As a result, Texans, in increasing numbers, are turning to part-time "business opportunities" to supplement their incomes.

Unfortunately, business opportunity frauds are a major problem in Texas. And, we are seeing more and more of our fellow citizens lose money instead of gain.

Business opportunities typically involve one of three types of activities: Investments, distributorships and services.

A common "service" business opportunity is represented by the rash of overseas and Alaskan employment companies that swept through Texas several years ago. Extensive prosecutions by the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division and other law enforcement agencies caused most of the fraudulent companies to go out of business or leave the State.

Investment and distributorship frauds, however, continue to flourish despite repeated prosecutions.

The danger inherent in investment business opportunities is that you must rely entirely on the business skills and honesty of someone else. The less you know about that person, the greater the danger.

A "distributorship" business opportunity not only requires you to invest money but also to do the work. When you pay the promoter you are given the right to distribute the promoter's goods or services. In some programs you are given the right to manufacture or produce goods with a promise that the promoter will "buy back" all production. The inherent danger of a distributorship business opportunity is that the promoter must be relied on to be truthful in his representations about the marketability of the goods or services or his promise to buy back all production.

By observing a few, simple rules we can substantially reduce the chances of our being victimized by a business opportunity fraud:

*Any business opportunity requires a degree of risk, and generally, the greater the risk the greater the potential reward. But remember, the risks are great because so many people lose.

*Never rush to invest money in a business opportunity. If the opportunity is real, it will wait for a few days while you think and talk it over.

*Beware of business opportunities negotiated in motel rooms. The more transient the promoter is the more transient the "opportunity" will be.

Personal Protection

Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week

Personal Protection - A Defense Against Injury

College Station—Hard hats, protective eyewear, safety shoes—farmers and ranchers are not fully prepared for a day's work unless they're wearing them. Industry has found that safety apparel has paid off in fewer and less serious on-the-job injuries. Farm safety leaders believe that agriculture can also benefit from routine use of protective equipment.

According to Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Vice President for Farm and Ranch with the Texas Safety Association, an analysis of data derived from farm accident surveys suggests that nearly half of the work injuries might have been prevented or made less severe if the victim had been wearing appropriate personal protective equipment.

"Rising production costs are forcing farmers and ranchers to look for ways to improve productivity and efficiency," Nelson said. "Accidents add tremendous expense, time loss, and waste of skills. And insurance and compensation costs are soaring, due in part to needless accidents. Farmers and ranchers simply can't afford not to make safety a part of their working day."

"Of course, the best safety device is to work in a way that reduces the chance of accidents. But, for the best possible job of injury prevention, we must urge the use of personal protective equipment."

The cost of the equipment is reasonable and, said Hanford, "downright cheap when you consider the money and misery it could save."

The head is vulnerable to blows from falling objects or bumps from working in low or tight spaces. A hard hat can help the farm or ranch worker avoid head injuries or even a fatal fracture. The bump cap, its light-weight (but less sturdy) brother, is suitable for most everyday farm and ranch work.

Eyes are susceptible to dust, chaff, flying pieces, pesticides, ammonia fertilizer. Several kinds of safety glasses, goggles, and face-shields are available. Industrial-rated safety glasses can be ground to the wearer's prescription. All regular eyeglasses and sunglasses should have shatter-resistant lenses mounted in sturdy frames.

Farmers and ranchers suffer a high rate of noise-induced hearing loss, usually due to operating noisy equipment for long hours. Recent-model tractors and combines have sound-controlled cabs, but persons running machinery without such protection should wear protective ear muffs or ear canal inserts.

The lungs provide harmful airborne substances with a prime route into the body. Filter masks and respirators can stop dust, mold, chaff, and paint spray particles. Chemical cartridge respirators and gas masks afford protection when applying pesticides. A device that supplies air is essential in oxygen deficient or highly toxic atmospheres.

Hands figure in a large percentage of farm and ranch accidents. Gloves can help the worker retain dexterity while avoiding many minor hand injuries and protecting against grease, chemicals, and other irritations.

Safety leaders emphasize, however, that gloves cannot protect the hands from the mangle forces of running machinery. Remove gloves when working near moving parts since the gloves could be caught and pull the fingers or hands into the moving parts.

Feet are often punctured, smashed, run over, and stepped on by animals. Safety shoes and boots with metal toe boxes and reinforced soles should be standard farm and ranch footwear. Slip-resistant soles can help reduce falls.

Impervious rubber or plastic apparel offers valuable protection when handling and applying pesticides and other chemicals.

Many stores and dealers serving agricultural communities carry or can order personal protective equipment.

Lightning Over Your Head

College Station—A Great Plains farmer and his two sons were pushing a portable auger elevator from one bin to another when they were suddenly stopped in their tracks, literally "frozen." They heard the crackle of electricity above them, then felt the electric current surge through their arms and legs. The older man wrenched free of the machine only to watch in horror as his sons slumped into unconsciousness and death.

Tragically, similar scenes are repeated on farms and ranches across the country. Any piece of metal equipment that can reach power lines is capable of bringing the "lightning" down. Sections of irrigation pipe upended for cleaning, hay stacking booms, communication antennas, raised dump truck bodies, metal ladders—they're just a few of the objects implicated in accidental overhead power line injuries and fatalities according to Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Vice President for Farm and Ranch with the Texas Safety Association.

In a study of electrical accidents made by the National Safety Council's Farm Department, three out of every four resulted from contact with overhead power lines, either the high-voltage supply lines or the distribution lines carrying power from one building to another.

Nelson urges all farmers and ranchers to take a good look at power lines near their operations and determine what precautions and training are needed to prevent electrocutions. Where tall equipment must be used, consider an underground electrical supply. Lines over lanes, drives and field entrances might have to be raised to accommodate modern equipment. Certain hay stackers, folded tillage equipment, and portable conveyors can be inadvertently left raised, coming in contact with power lines installed at the legally required heights.

Make sure no one on your place becomes an electrocution statistic—keep reminding everyone of the "lightning" overhead.

Never work within 10 feet of any power line. Lower tall equipment and check clearances before driving under power lines. Even the CB antenna on your pickup truck or tractor may be high enough to touch some lines.

If you are trapped in or on a vehicle in contact with a power line, stay where you are until someone calls the power company to cut off the power. If you must leave the vehicle—if it's on fire, for instance—jump clear without touching any metal part to avoid becoming a path-to-ground for the electricity.

Don't Tow Into Trouble!

WACO—Nylon tow ropes are like rubber bands: They stretch under tension, storing great amounts of energy. This energy is useful when towing a mired tractor, but it can come back at you like a jet-propelled boom-crang if a chain or hook breaks while the tow rope is under tension. The National Safety Council reports numerous cases of serious injury and death, plus ominous "near misses."

In most cases reported to date, the tow rope itself had not failed. However, hooks, clevises, and chains used in hitching have snapped when the towing vehicle made a running start trying to free a stuck vehicle or dislodge an object. To take advantage of the energy-storing feature of the nylon tow rope, manufacturers suggest that you start with a slack rope and move ahead until the towing vehicle is ready to "spin out"; then quickly set the brakes and use the stored power in the stretched rope to yank out the stuck or lodged object. To do this safely, any hooks, clevises, or chains used to attach the rope to the towing vehicle and the object to be towed must be stronger than the rope.

According to Joe Smatana, Safety Director of the Texas Farm Bureau and Texas Safety Association board member, the best defense against towing mishaps is common sense and following these precautions: Always use a tow rope strong enough to withstand the towing vehicle's power. If possible, attach the rope itself to the stationary object. Hitch only to the tractor's drawbar or, if using a truck, to a sturdy part of the frame. If using chains, clevises or hooks to attach the rope, be sure they are stronger than the rope. Ask bystanders to stay at a safe distance. Don't be like the fellows trying to pull a van out of the mud with a pickup truck and a nylon tow rope. When the truck "hit" the load, its rear bumper was wrenched off and crashed through the windshield of the van. Fortunately, no one was hurt... but the next time they might not be so lucky.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My mother deeded me her home and reserved a life estate in it. At that time she lived in the house, but has since moved and now rents the house for $50.00 a month. The rent money goes to her, which is the way I want it, but do I have to report the $600 a year as income.

A: No, your mother should report the rent as income on her personal tax return. As a life-estate holder your mother may lease her interest or a part of such interest to a third party and the rent income would be taxable to her.

Q: I have heard that in Texas a person does not have to will his or her children any of his or her real estate, money, etc. Is this true?

A: While it is true that in Texas a person does not have to will anything to his or her children, the Probate Code does provide for a family allowance which gives the minor children of the deceased parent the right to be paid an amount sufficient for their care and maintenance for one year from the time of the death of the parent. This allowance is only available in cases where the minor children do not have sufficient property of their own to provide for their support and maintenance.

Q: In the State of Texas, if a man, married with no children or descendants of children, dies without a will, does his estate go to his father or mother or to his wife? Is there a difference if he has children?

A: The answer depends on whether he owns community or separate property or both. When the man is not survived by children or grandchildren, his one-half of the community property plus all of his separate property would go to his father or mother if he has children.

Q: I want to contest a ticket for speeding. Do I need an attorney?

A: While it is advisable to consult an attorney anytime one must appear in court, most citizens represent themselves in Municipal Court and in Justice Court. You may want to attend prior court sessions on similar cases in order to acquaint yourself with the type of questions asked and the type of evidence used, and also to determine whether you should bring witnesses to the trial.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms: personal names and addresses will be omitted.

HOW'S YOUR SENSE OF SCIENCE?

Ingenious American scientists are making great strides in finding new ways to better our old way of life.

For one thing, we can send up satellites that make television specials visible worldwide, and telephone calls around the world easier, faster, and cheaper, too.

Scientists have developed energy-saving heat pumps that extract warmth from cold air and cool warm air, to keep homes comfortable year-round, without using up too much precious fossil fuel.

A textile company's scientists have pioneered the development of several pollution-control devices and processes. In fact, the J. P. Stevens Company has spent more than $20 million for environmental controls over the past 12 years.
