Texas Farmer's Union Green Thumb forum was a big success

Over 200 senior citizens from Donley, Wheeler, Gray and Hall Counties gathered at Clarendon College Cafeteria on Tuesday, August 19, 1980. They participate in a "White House Conference on Aging" forum, hosted by Texas Farmer's Union Green Thumb, Inc. Special guests attending were Bob Davis, Congressional Aide for Congressman Jack Hightower, Foster Whaley, State Representative from Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Blakney, representing Texas Farmer's Union, from Hall County.

The purpose of the forum was to determine the needs, concerns and opinions of the rural older American. The information gathered at the forum will be completed for input at the 1981 White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Bob Davis, Congressional Aide to Congressman Jack Hightower was guest speaker, and gave an enlightening talk on the changing role, attitudes and individuality of the older American. He also offered the services of the Congressional office to the District 13 Constituents.

As Master of Ceremonies, Clarendon Mayor Leonard (Tex) Selvidge directed the day's activities and included his own touch of humor, adding a light-hearted atmosphere to the serious issues on the agenda.

Entertainment was provided throughout the day by Hereford Kitchen Band, Paul Hancock, Soloist, Jack Daniels and Joan Mahaffey, guitarists, and Billie Clinton, pianist.

A delicious luncheon was prepared by Clarendon Senior Citizens Center, assisted by Clarendon Medical Center.

Donations from First United Methodist; and First Baptist Churches of Clarendon; City of Clarendon and Howardwick Lion's Club covered the cost of the meals.

Local coordinator was Paul Hancock, with the Dept. of Human Resources, assisted by Bill Watson, Methodist minister. Both are Clarendon residents. The Maranatha Club, a religious organization of High School students handled registration and helped in serving the meal.

Texas Farmer's Union Green Thumb, Inc. hosted the forum. The Senior Citizen Center, Dept. of Human Resources, First United

Drive safely Labor Day weekend

The Texas Department of Public Safety has urged motorists to be "exceptionally careful" during the long Labor Day weekend because of the increased volume of traffic which can be expected.

Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS, said "Labor Day, the last holiday of summer, becomes the last holiday-period for far too many Texans and many more have their holiday ruined by a traffic accident."

"Our Statistical Services Division of the DPS, has predicted that 45 persons may die during this 78-hour period. In order to provide maximum protection for the driving public we are placing additional Troopers on the highways. Most will be in well-marked, black-and-white units, although unmarked units will be utilized to detect those determined violators who make the highways unsafe for others."

He also said they will be especially watchful for drunken drivers. Col. Adams said we can easily overcome the predictions if motorists comply with the speed limits, use their seat belts, avoid driving while impaired by alcohol or drugs and watch out for the other driver.

Nuclear waste test hole north of Clarendon

The West Texas exploration, as outlined to the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council and to other government officials in the state, will include:

--A test hole 4,500 feet deep, north of Clarendon in Donley County.

--A test hole 5,000 feet deep, near Vega, in Oldham County.

The purpose of the Donley County test will be to examine salt structures in upper Permian salt-bearing units, observe near-surface effects and mechanisms of salt dissolution, examine potential aquifers in carbonates and sandstone beneath the salt and test and monitor both deep and shallow subsurface hydrologic systems. In Oldham County, geologists will determine the stratigraphy, study the near surface aquifer and test the deep-basin hydrology system. General studies of the surface environment of the Permian region were completed in early 1979 by the NUS Corporation, Rockville, Maryland.

In February 1980, President Carter announced his comprehensive radioactive waste management policy. As the lead federal agency in this effort, DOE's program stresses continuing study of deep geologic isolation of high-level nuclear wastes in several different rock formations, including salt.

Nuclear waste research and site exploration studies are coordinated with public officials in Texas through the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council.

WHEREAS: the programs of basic and clinical research, and medical services maintained by the Muscular Dystrophy Association represent the only concerted effort to find the causes and develop effective treatment for these crippling disorders, and to provide patients with free medical care; and

WHEREAS: the annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon carries the good news of these vital services to patients coast to coast and is a primary source of nationwide public support for these life-extending programs; and WHEREAS: recent new insights into the nature of human muscle and of neuromuscular disease have raised realistic hope for significant further progress in the fight against neuromuscular disease in the foreseeable future.

NOW THEREFORE I, Leonard Selvidge, Mayor of Clarendon, hereby proclaim Monday, September 1, 1980 as

"JERRY LEWIS TELETHON DAY"

In Clarendon, and urge that all citizens of this city join in support of the work of the Muscular Dystrophy Association by contributing to the Jerry Lewis Telethon -- so all those who wait to be set free from the burdens of neuromuscular disease may have their dream fulfilled.

Bill Sarpalius opens headquarters in Amarillo

Bill Sarpalius, Democratic candidate for the Texas State Senate, held a press conference Monday, August 25, 1980 announcing the opening of his Amarillo headquarters located at 221 West 7th. Sarpalius discussed the progress of his campaign and how he is continually working on a grass roots level. He has visited all the towns of the district at least five times now and plans to continue his shoe-leather campaign. He discussed the formation of teams of volunteers in the towns throughout the district.

Sarpalius touched on the main issues of the campaign and expressed his concern regarding the lack of representation by our current State Senator. "I believe that to be an effective voice for the people of the Texas Panhandle you must make yourself available to the people. I intend to do this through the use of a mobile office traveling throughout the district on a regularly scheduled basis. I do not intend to be seen only at election time."

A resume of his issues is as follows:

Effective Representation
I have always believed that in order to be an effective voice for the people, one must stay in touch with the people. I do not intend to be a State Senator who sits behind a desk and waits for people to come to him. I intend to make myself available throughout these 26 counties with the use of a mobile office which will travel to each town on a regularly scheduled basis. I don't see how one can be an effective voice for the people unless one goes to the people.

I believe that an effective Senator must fight for the goals and principles of the Texas Panhandle. He must speak out and be a strong voice in Austin. Max Sherman was able to pass 17 of the 36 Senate Bills he introduced in his last session. He was a respected and effective voice for the 31st District. I intend to be a strong, effective voice for the people of the Texas Panhandle.

In order to be an effective State Senator one must work with the members of the House of Representatives from this part of the State. I intend to work very closely with members of the House to help promote the Texas Panhandle and to serve the people to the best of my ability.

Agriculture
I can be a strong voice for Agriculture because my background, education and experience are in Agriculture. I will work very hard to promote the Agriculture Industry and to expand markets for our products. In particular, I will work toward legislation that will promote the production of alcohol.

I will support legislation requiring labeling all agricultural products imported from foreign countries. I will support legislation prohibiting aliens from purchasing agricultural land.

Right to Work Law
I support the right to work law in our State. I believe in the freedoms given to each of us as individuals and American Citizens, and I believe that a person should have the right to work as hard as he wants and to receive the best pay that he can receive for his work. I don't believe that we should penalize anyone because of their race, creed, nationality, sex, or because they do or do not belong to a union. I will work toward keeping the right to work law in the State.

State Spending
I believe that we have tremendous waste in State Government. Within the past ten years the population has increased about ten percent, the cost of living has increased about 98 percent, and the cost of government has increased 212 percent. I will work toward conserving tax dollars by spending the tax dollar as wisely and frugally as possible.

Taxation
I subscribe to the theory that there is no such thing as a good tax. Taxation is necessary to preserve our way of life, but the burden of taxation has been carried to the extreme. Government must provide necessary services and taxes must not increase. Bringing those two elements together is one of the chief goals I will strive continuously to bring about.

It's Time For A Change
It is time to have an effective conservative speaking for you in Austin. I will be a State Senator who is dedicated to promoting the Texas Panhandle on a grass roots level. I can do a good job working for you in Austin. I need your vote, your help and your support to for education.

We must set priorities in our State. It concerns me that the largest expenditure the State has in always considered toward the last part of the session. I believe that we should consider education first.

I believe that the best way to improve our education system is to make the teaching profession more attractive for good teachers and to keep good teachers in the profession. We must improve teacher salaries.

Immigration
Congressman Jack Hightower again called for an end to anti-American demonstrations by Iranians in this Country during a speech before the House of Representatives on Tuesday. Hightower urged the Subcommittee on Immigration of the House Judiciary Committee to schedule immediate hearings on H.R. 5813, legislation authored by the Texas Congressman that would provide for the deportation of nonimmigrant alien students who knowingly participate in violent political demonstrations. The Hightower bill has 75 co-sponsors at this time.

"I believe we have put up with this nonsense long enough," insisted Hightower.

"Recently, 192 Iranian men and women demonstrators were released from custody in New York. The Immigration and Naturalization Service could have deported those who initially refused to give their names. Instead, they were released and are free to roam our streets and incite more political demonstration. Incredibly, out of the group only one Iranian is under deportation proceedings and one other has been served with an order to show cause why he should not be deported," Hightower explained to the members of the House. The three-term member went on to relate that the people of his district continue to ask, over and over, "why can't something be done" about the people who are guests in this country that continue to abuse and insult us while Americans are held hostage in their country.

"I for one", said Hightower, "want something done."

4-H parent-leader Association met

The Donley County 4-H Parent-Leader Association met in a reorganizational meeting Monday night, August 25, at Clarendon College. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Wayne Richardson, chairman, who called on County Extension Agent Lesli Garnett to lead the 4-H Club Motto and Pledge. Highlights of the successful projects of Donley County 4-Hers during the past year were reviewed by the group of more than twenty-five parents and adult leaders interested in the 4-H program here. Mrs. Richardson then recognized special guests from the Moore County Adult Leaders Association who had come to present the program for the evening. Mrs. Donna Kizer and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Felts of Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dooley of Sunray presented a very interesting and enlightening panel discussion on the involvement of parents and adult leaders in the 4-H Program in Moore County. The 4-H work in Moore County is one of the most successful in the State, and these five leaders' involvement and enthusiasm is the major reason why their program has been so successful. Mr. Felts aptly summed up the secret to success in 4-H as being adults' and parents' involvement, Communication, and Project Leadership. This panel gave the Clarendon group many useful comments and suggestions on how the 4-H program can be improved here by using more of the potential in both adult leaders and senior 4-H members in a Teen Leader Association. Also discussed was the team work necessary between the adult leaders, Teen Leaders and the County Extension Agents. In the business session following the program, Mrs. Richardson led a discussion planning the 4-H program for the coming year. She recognized special guests Mr. and Mrs. Bob Andis, who will again be leading the dog project, and Mrs. Jeanette Walker, who will be directing a charm and modeling course. Mrs. Richardson appointed an Organizational Committee to plan for the Countywide 4-H meeting to be held September 15. This committee will be meeting September 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the College Ad Building to discuss the organization structure of the Donley County 4-H Club, to discuss projects to be offered, and to elect organizational leaders. Members of this committee are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moreman, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Alderson, Mr. and Mrs. James Alvin McAnear, Lesli Garnett and Ronald Gooch. Senior 4-H members to serve with these leaders are Jack Craft, Karen Alderson, Phillip Moreman, Jamie McAnear, Rodney McAnear and Virginia Clifford. Plans were made for members of the Donley County Association to attend a meeting of the District Adult Leaders Association to be held in Berger on August 29. A lot of enthusiasm for promoting and working with the 4-H program was expressed during this meeting, and it was the consensus of the group that the 4-H program in Donley County will be a successful one during this coming year. Parents and leaders attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Lee Noble, Mrs. Jim Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Moreman, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Alderson, Mrs. Wayne Richardson, Mrs. Bobbie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Leathers, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Andis, Mrs. Carol Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Harbert, Mr. and Mrs. James Alvin McAnear, Mrs. Margaret Smith, Mrs. Jeanette Walker, Mr. Don Robinson and County Extension Agents Lesli Garnett and Ronald Gooch. Janella Marie Just of Pampa celebrated her first birthday on Saturday, August 23, with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Just. Guests included Frankie Just and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harvie Dunn, and Mr. and Mrs. James Vaughn, maternal grandparents, of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Just, paternal grandparents and Mrs. T.A. Nelson, paternal great grandmother. Gifts were opened and refreshments of Birthday Cake and ice cream were served to the guests who had a most enjoyable time.

FHA plans discussed

Thursday, August twenty-first was the first officers' meeting of the Clarendon Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America for the 1980-81 school year. First on the agenda were several ideas for a money making project. We decided to sell Bronco mugs as well as to continue our Tom Wat sales. Second, we planned socials and meetings to be held each month until school is out. Regular meetings will be held on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at seven o'clock p.m. F.H.A. members will be reminded in the daily bulletin.

Our first social will be a watermelon feast, September second for freshmen interested in joining F.H.A. Also discussed were: a salad supper, a box supper, a choir boys concert and a Christmas party. Attending the meeting were: Miss Vicki Prior, sponsor; Jamie McAnear, president; Lori Skelton, programs chairman; Taffie Williams, encounter; Anna Harrison, publications; and Charla Crump, recreation. Officers not present were Melody Moreman, projects; Karen Alderson, secretary; and Susan Thompson, historian-parliamentarian.

100th Judicial District probation office report

The 100th Judicial District Adult Probation Department will begin its seventh year of operation on September 1, 1980. The Department, established in 1974 with the aid of a federal grant, is presently funded by probation fees collected from probationers and by state assistance administered by the Texas Adult Probation Commission. The Department serves the five counties of the 100th Judicial District, Carson, Childress, Collingsworth, Donley and Hall, with offices in the Hall County Courthouse. Bill George Kesterson is the Chief Probation Officer and Lucheryl Ellis is Secretary-Assistant Probation Officer.

The principle function of a probation department is the supervision of persons who have had their jail or prison sentences suspended and have been placed on probation during a term of good behavior. Court imposed fines, court costs and restitution to be paid to victims of crimes are collected from probationers and distributed by the probation officers. Since its inception, the Department has collected $16,056.05 in fines, $13,122.60 in court costs and $40,456.77 in restitution for victims of crimes.

In addition to the 100th Judicial District Court which has jurisdiction over felony offenses such as murder, rape, arson and theft, the Probation Department also serves the five County Courts in the district. These County Courts have misdemeanor jurisdiction, including driving while intoxicated which comprises a large percentage of the total probation workload. The Department presently supervises 96 persons on felony probation and 117 on misdemeanor probation.

The purpose of probation supervision is the rehabilitation of offenders. Personal counseling, financial planning, job assistance and alcohol abuse programs are some of the areas in which help is available for the probationer. The emphasis is on helping and not merely a watchdog approach, although frequent contact is a vital part of supervision.

The cost of supervising a probationer is $6.65 per day compared with $7.50 per day to maintain a prisoner in the Texas Department of Corrections. Other economic advantages of probation result from a condition of probation which requires each probationer to be employed. The enforcement of this condition generates federal, state and local tax money and helps to reduce welfare rolls.

Probation, regarded by many as a "pat on the wrist" type punishment, is an effective tool in the criminal justice system when properly administered. Probation is punishment. A person placed on probation in effect contracts with the Court that during his term of probation he will abide by the terms set out by the Court in the probation judgment. These terms, in general, are that the probationer with not violate the laws of this state, or any other state or of the United States, he will report to the probation officer as directed, he will pay his fine, court costs, probation fees, court appointed counsel fees, if any, and make restitution to the injured party. He will be required to work and support his dependents and may be ordered to submit to one of the alcohol abuse programs or psychiatric treatment.

One of the major advantages of probation is the simplicity of the procedures for revoking the probation order. When notice of a probation violation is received, the prosecutor files a Motion to Revoke Probation. A hearing is held and upon proof of a violation the probationer is subject to having his probation revoked and being confined in the Texas Department of Corrections, in a felony case, and in the county jail, in a misdemeanor case, to serve the original sentence imposed against him. The probationer is not entitled to a jury at the revocation hearing and the state's burden of proof on the violation is not as great as it is in a regular criminal proceeding.

In some areas a new program called "Partners in Probation" is being implemented. This is a program in which people who are interested in probation type community service can be a part of the system by accepting a non-compensated appointment as a "Partner in Probation". The appointed citizen becomes a "Partner in Probation" to a person on official probation and substitutes for a regular probation officer. If you are interested in such a plan and want to join this people helping people program, contact Bill George Kesterson at the Courthouse in Memphis, Texas, or call (806) 259-3388.

Salt often is hidden away in foods ranging from pancakes to canned peas. Not salting food at the table is an easy way to cut down on salt consumption by as much as 30 percent and help avoid high blood pressure and other problems, the Texas Medical Association says.

4-Hers entered state dog show

On Saturday, August 16, four Donley County 4-Hers traveled to Conroe, Texas, to participate in the State 4-H Dog Show. Making the trip were Bret Harbert with his Catahoula Leopard "Mr. C", Glenn Harbert and his soft-coated Wheaten Terrier "Muffins", Dawn May with her mixed breed "Missy", and Lynn Alderson and his Miniature Schnauzer "Sigg". This is the first time Donley County has been represented at the State Dog Show and they did extremely well. Glenn Harbert placed 5th in the Terrier Confirmation Class, Lynn Alderson took 5th in Junior Showmanship, and Dawn May and Lynn Alderson tied for sixth place in Sub-Novice Obedience. They scored 156 1/2 out of a possible 160 which was only 1 1/2 points off the winning score. Lynn and Glenn also entered the Costume Class.

There were approximately 75 dogs entered in the show from the entire state of Texas. The show was held in the VFW Hall in Conroe and 4-Hers entered in approximately fifteen Confirmation, Showmanship, Obedience, Trick and Costume Classes.

Accompanying the 4-Hers from Donley County were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Harbert, Taylor Ann and Chet; Mrs. Jerry May, Mrs. Gene Alderson and County Extension Agent Leslie Garnett.

Coaches for the 4-H Dog Club were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Andis and it was evident at the show that the Donley County group was well prepared. The 4-Hers and their parents would like to take this opportunity to thank the Andises for their interest and help.

Another 4-H Dog Project group will begin meeting the latter part of September. Any youngster who is interested may participate, so be watching for meeting times and dates.

Proposed amendments

Amendment No. 1: UNMANNED BANK TELLER MACHINES

The amendment would permit the legislature to authorize banks to use unmanned teller machines within the county or city in which they are located on a shared basis to serve public convenience.

FOR:

1. Unmanned teller machines allow customers to transact business at convenient locations and at any time.
2. Because each bank has the right to share in the use of the machines, a bank will be able to serve a larger area than it currently serves. Competition among banks will increase.
3. The use of unmanned teller machines allow banks to better compete with savings & loan associations, which currently may have more than one business location while banks are restricted to a single location.

AGAINST:

1. The cost of installing a network of unmanned teller machines would be passed on to the consumer.
2. The amendment circumvents the long standing prohibition on branch banking in Texas.
3. The use of unmanned teller machines will let big banks serve the entire community and force smaller banks out of operation.

Amendment No. 2: STATE'S RIGHT TO APPEAL

A constitutional amendment to grant the state the right of appeal in criminal cases from certain rulings of the trial court.

FOR:

1. Granting the state this limited right to appeal provides the only effective way of testing the constitutionality of certain statutes and the legality of certain pretrial practices.
2. The amendment will provide a criminal defendant with a method of ending criminal action at an early stage if appeal is worthy.
3. Granting the state a right of appeal will eliminate to some extent the tendency of some judges, when in doubt, to rule in favor of the defense to avoid appellate review of their rulings.

AGAINST:

1. The duration of a criminal trial will be substantially lengthened when the state takes an appeal.
2. The caseload for the court of criminal appeals will be significantly increased.

Amendment No. 3: EQUALIZATION BOARD FOR AD VALOREM TAX

Proposing a constitutional amendment to create an Equalization Board for Ad Valorem Tax.

FOR:

1. The duration of a criminal trial will be substantially lengthened when the state takes an appeal.
2. The caseload for the court of criminal appeals will be significantly increased.

Amendment No. 4: LOCAL CHARITABLE BINGO GAMES

Proposing a constitutional amendment to authorize bingo games for charitable purposes on a local option election basis.

FOR:

1. The charitable purposes for which churches, synagogues, religious societies, and many other organizations engage in bingo are of great benefit to society.
2. The proposed amendment would allow each community to decide whether to permit bingo games.
3. Bingo games provide an opportunity for entertainment, social gatherings and relaxation.

AGAINST:

1. Fraud in bingo games would not be easy to prevent by local law enforcement.
2. Organized crime would become involved in bingo games since profit margins would be as great as in criminal activities.

Amendment No. 5: STATE'S RIGHT TO APPEAL

A constitutional amendment to grant the state the right of appeal in criminal cases from certain rulings of the trial court.

FOR:

1. Granting the state this limited right to appeal provides the only effective way of testing the constitutionality of certain statutes and the legality of certain pretrial practices.
2. The amendment will provide a criminal defendant with a method of ending criminal action at an early stage if appeal is worthy.
3. Granting the state a right of appeal will eliminate to some extent the tendency of some judges, when in doubt, to rule in favor of the defense to avoid appellate review of their rulings.

AGAINST:

1. The duration of a criminal trial will be substantially lengthened when the state takes an appeal.
2. The caseload for the court of criminal appeals will be significantly increased.

Amendment No. 6: EQUALIZATION BOARD FOR AD VALOREM TAX

Proposing a constitutional amendment to create an Equalization Board for Ad Valorem Tax.

FOR:

1. The duration of a criminal trial will be substantially lengthened when the state takes an appeal.
2. The caseload for the court of criminal appeals will be significantly increased.

Amendment No. 7: LOCAL CHARITABLE BINGO GAMES

Proposing a constitutional amendment to authorize bingo games for charitable purposes on a local option election basis.

FOR:

1. The charitable purposes for which churches, synagogues, religious societies, and many other organizations engage in bingo are of great benefit to society.
2. The proposed amendment would allow each community to decide whether to permit bingo games.
3. Bingo games provide an opportunity for entertainment, social gatherings and relaxation.

AGAINST:

1. Fraud in bingo games would not be easy to prevent by local law enforcement.
2. Organized crime would become involved in bingo games since profit margins would be as great as in criminal activities.

'New Legal Code Of Conduct Would Benefit Clients'

By Theodore J. Koskoff
President
Association of Trial Lawyers of America

In June a proposed new code of conduct for lawyers was released by the Roscoe Pound-American Trial Lawyers Foundation for public discussion.

Called "The American Lawyer's Code of Conduct," it focuses primarily on clients' rights and the proper conduct of the individual lawyer in dealing with individual clients.

Drafted by the Commission on Professional Responsibility, the proposed new code carries forward the basic American values incorporated in our Constitution's Bill of Rights.

It is particularly concerned with the fact that our system of justice is an adversary system — a system which protects the liberty of the individual. The adversary system in the United States guarantees the impartiality of the judge, the tribunal and the jury. It is the lawyer who equalizes the odds.

The proposed code, drafted as an alternative to another proposed code of conduct by the American Bar Association, is written from the point of view of the client.

The hallmark of this code is its commitment to the doctrine that lawyers do not have clients, but that it is the client who has a lawyer. Thus, it tells the client in plain language what conduct he or she is entitled to expect from a lawyer.

In addition, it tells the individual lawyer what he or she may or may not do for the client and what the lawyer shall or shall not do because of the nature of the attorney-client relationship in the American adversary system.

A significant recommendation in the new proposed code of conduct is a requirement that lawyers remain silent about virtually all client wrongdoing. The new ABA version, if adopted, would in some instances require lawyers to disclose a client's planned wrongful acts.

The reason for the strong anti-disclosure aspect of "The American Lawyer's Code" is to encourage clients to be candid with their lawyers.

Public comment is welcome on "The American Lawyer's Code of Conduct." The Commission that drafted the code will meet again this Fall to consider public suggestions and input before drafting the final code of conduct for lawyers.

The goal of the code is to give the public a better understanding of what legal conduct to expect from a lawyer, and to promote client confidence in lawyers.

T.J. Koskoff

Karen Simmons attends WTSU course

Many of the 31 students who enrolled in Multi-Culture Education, a second summer school session course offered through the West Texas State University College of Education, did not realize they had prejudices. The course was designed to aid students in a more tolerant attitude toward students from multi-cultural backgrounds.

The course, taught by Dr. Jack Nance, associate professor of education, included 31 elementary, secondary and junior college teachers and nurses from 16 Texas Panhandle communities.

Students from Clarendon enrolled in the course included Karen Simmons.

Having trouble sleeping? An estimated 10 percent to 50 percent of the population has sleep problems sometime. The Texas Medical Association advises avoiding daytime naps, getting plenty of exercise and avoiding heavy meals before bedtime as a few ways to help encourage a good night's sleep.

Walden and Aileen Moore have recently returned from a vacation in the cool mountains of Colorado. They spent most of their time in the quaint little town of Ouray, which is surrounded by high mountains. It is known as the Switzerland of America. They also spent some time in Durango, Telluride, which is a ski resort, Pagosa Springs and Canon City, where they saw the Royal Gorge and rode the little train around the rim of the gorge. They reported it was so good to be in the cool mountains with rain showers almost every day. I know they had a good time. But we are glad to have them home.

Visitors in the Melville Mills home this past week were their son, Ray and wife Coeta Mills of Dallas. They came Tuesday afternoon and on Wednesday evening Ruth and Sharon took the group to the Country Squire Dinner Theater, to celebrate Mel's birthday and Ray and Coeta's 15th wedding anniversary. Peter Breck and the other actors visited with each table after the show and signed autographs. The Mills reported the show was very good and they enjoyed it very much. The younger Mills returned to Dallas Sunday afternoon. Mel, Ruth and Sharon took a few days off from the center to enjoy their company and really have a good visit.

I forgot to mention a certain gentleman who had a birthday when I reported on the Friendship Club. I wish you a belated happy birthday Mel.

Bo Garvin who spent 10 days with his grandmother, Norma Corgill, returned to his home in Turkey Sunday. To begin school days again Monday morning.

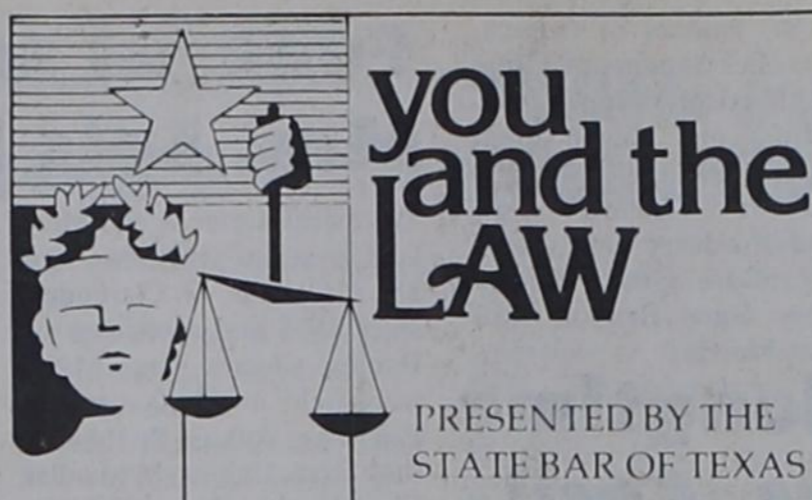

Mr. and Mrs. Don Tweedy David and Amliee from Fort Worth visited her parents, Leon and Mabel May last week.

Q: I own a dance hall. If while dancing, a person slips and falls resulting in bodily harm, can I be held liable?

A: The owner of a dance hall is not automatically liable. The owner's duty is to use ordinary care to make his premises safe. You would be liable if you fail to notify your patrons of a defect in the dance floor or of a hazardous and dangerous condition which may cause a person to slip and fall. Therefore, if you knew - or should have known - of a dangerous condition, and you fail to warn your patrons of the danger, you can be held liable for a resulting injury.

Q: This past December I received a promotional letter trying to interest me in some land. I was invited out to look at the property, with a chance to win in a drawing. I wasn't interested so I threw the letter away. Two weeks later another letter arrived informing me that I had won, but I had to tour the property to receive the prize. Must I go there to get my prize? Since they said I am a winner, shouldn't I be entitled to it anyway?

A: The promotion organizer can impose conditions to receiving the prize. Requiring you to accept it at a particular location is a valid condition, and they may withhold the prize until you appear.

Q: I was recently involved in a collision. The other car was totaled, and my car received $800 worth of damages. We don't have an insurance. Can the other driver make us buy him another car of equal value?

A: If the other driver files suit, a jury will decide whether one or both of you were at fault under our system of comparative negligence. This means that if the jury found that both were equally at fault, you would each pay 50 percent of the damages. If the jury found the other driver more at fault, you would owe nothing. But, if you were more at fault, you'll end up paying for your damages, plus a percentage of the other driver's damages as determined by the jury.

Q: My husband and I each have two children by a previous marriage. He has no will. I am told that if he should die, one-half to two-thirds of everything would go to his minor children and I would receive nothing. Is this true?

A: You have described a situation in which it is urgent that will be written. Under Texas law, were your husband to die without a will, all his share of your community property would go to his children, no matter what their age and no matter which parent had custody. You would own only the half of the estate you already own during marriage. His separate property passes differently. You would have one third of everything he owned before marriage, but only for your lifetime. His children will get two-thirds plus your share on your death.

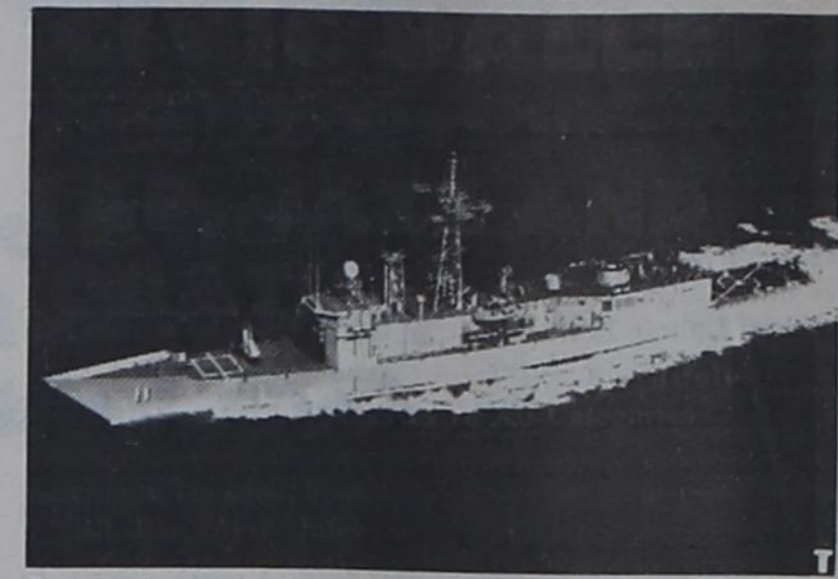

Q: My husband died back in November. He worked twenty-four years for the bus company. They tell me that I cannot draw his pension when the time comes because he did not have twenty-five years of service. Is this true? Am I not entitled to something for all his devoted years of service?

A: Since 1974, federal law requires company benefit plans to provide at least minimum benefits depending upon the type of plan and employment history. However, benefits may be forfeited if certain conditions are not met. Each plan must be examined to see what its provisions are and whether they comply with federal law. If you suspect that you have a claim to the pension, you should consult an attorney specializing in employment law.

USS Clark Honors American War Hero

A proud vessel, the new USS Clark built in Maine exemplifies many noteworthy achievements besides those of its hero namesake, U.S. Navy Admiral Joseph Clark.

Commemorating the legendary Admiral Joseph (Jocko) Clark, the USS Clark became the fifth of a large new class of 50 guided missile frigates commissioned by the U.S. Navy.

Commissioned in May at Maine's Bath Iron Works, the Clark is part of the largest destroyer class since World War II. It is designed to provide in-depth protection for military and merchant shipping, amphibious task forces and underwater logistics groups.

The ship will also help meet U.S. international commitments and help keep vital sea lanes of communications open, Navy spokesmen say.

Admiral Clark, the ship's namesake, was known as a bold aircraft-carrier commander and World War II hero. He forged a distinguished reputation in Navy circles as a fearless, aggressive leader and a brilliant tactician.

During his 40-year career, spanning service as a desk officer to Navy pilot to fleet commander, he participated in World War I and the Korean conflict, too. Following retirement in 1953, he died in St. Albans, N.Y., in 1971.

In addition to the traditional flags flown on U.S.

Signifying goodwill and the ship's peaceful purposes, the Clark candy bar flag flies at full mast.

Introduced in 1917, the candy is yet another Clark with a proud reputation to uphold, says A. Robert Fortunato, president/group manager of the D. L. Clark Company division of Beatrice Foods Company. Among many noteworthy technological advances represented on board the USS Clark is a computer-controlled propulsion system that allows the system to operate in less than an eighth of the time required by conventional steam- or nuclear-powered ships.

On some coasts, such as at Cape Cod, land is worn away by sea erosion at the rate of a one to six inches a year.

JERRY MOORE

God restored sight, evangelist asserts

By J.C. HIXENBAUGH

"I never asked the Lord to let me see, but to let me serve."

With that private prayer of dedication to the ministry at age 18, evangelist Jerry Moore said the veil of blindness which had darkened his life for 10 years lifted and "the Lord gave me my sight."

"I ran out into the sunlight and to an aunt's house," he said. His aunt called his widowed mother home from work, he said, adding, "I hadn't seen her in 10 years."

Since then, with more than 20 years ministerial experience behind him, each day has been a joy and a privilege, he said.

"Every day I thank the Lord for the privilege of seeing. There's never an ugly day, even when the sun's not bright."

Moore will be at Howard-wick to speak and sing at revival services being held August 31-September 4 at First Baptist Church. Services begin at 7:30 p.m.

In addition to his work as evangelist, he has recorded three albums and served as pastor at churches in several states. A resident of Lynn Haven, Fla., he lived in Augusta from 1972 to 1975 while serving as minister of music at Second Baptist Church.

He never learned what caused his gradual loss of sight over several weeks when he was 8 years old, he said, although his widowed mother took him to a variety of doctors in his hometown, Birmingham, Ala., and throughout the South. Doctors still are unable to explain how his sight was restored since he continues to have the problems which contributed to his blindness, including scar tissue and dilated blood vessels, he said.

The doctors, he added, were "good men who tried to help me," but treatment was often intensely painful. He was bedridden from age 8 to 13 and hospitalized much of the time, he said.

In addition to the eye disease, from age 3 months to age 22, he suffered from "one of the plagues of Job," a glandular problem which caused painful carbuncle-like aces which had to be cut open, he said.

"I was never without pain all those years, and I'd often wake up at night."

At age 18, he contracted a staphylococcus infection in his eyes and lost what little light perception he had, he said. When that happened, doctors told him they had no hope of restoring his sight, he said.

"I didn't think about ever seeing again," he said.

He'd become a Christian at age 13, he said, but had tended to be rebellious and independent. However, the loss of light perception, he said, "helped me realize how dependent we are on God's help."

One morning at age 18, he said, "I came to a place of what we Christians call dedication or commitment—to lay my all on the altar for the Lord."

At that point, he said, his sight was restored "instantly."

The public is invited.

The nation's poor generally get as much or more medical care than other economic groups, the National Center for Health Statistics says. In 1977 each member of families earning under $5,000 annually saw a doctor about six times yearly. The same U.S. government study showed that people with higher incomes had slightly fewer visits.

Energy Facts

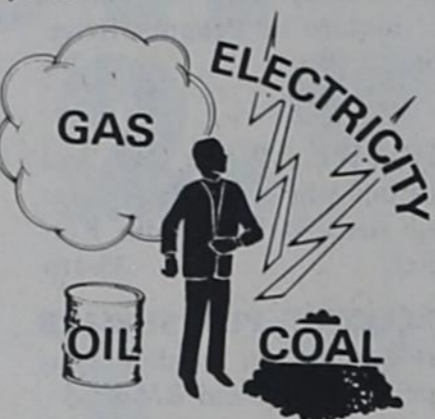

Did you know that . . .

One barrel of oil contains 42 gallons. Forty six percent of a barrel of crude goes for motor gasoline; 26 percent for light fuel for home heating and diesel oil; six percent for aviation jet fuel; 10 percent for residual fuel for utilities, industry, large apartment buildings, and office buildings; two percent for propane, and 10 percent for all other petroleum products.

Forty states already have enacted their own legislation providing property, sales, or income tax breaks for homeowners installing solar equipment.

Alaska's pipeline is now providing the U.S. with 1.4 million barrels of oil a day. The contribution from the pipeline could rise to about two million barrels a day.

Each day, the average American uses the energy from 16 pounds of coal, 3.6 gallons of oil, 240 cubic feet of natural gas, 3.8 kilowatt hours of hydroelectric power, and 3.5 kilowatt hours of nuclear power.

The U.S. Department of Energy reports that Americans are using five percent less gasoline than at this time last year, and we're importing 13.3 percent less oil. The average price of unleaded gasoline (regular) has risen 86 percent during the same period, from 65.7 cents a gallon to $1.22.

Common Sense Tips

Hints For Homeowners

AUTOMATIC WASHERS

New miracle machine-washable synthetic fibers have made wash day a lot easier, but just a few laundering mistakes can be very costly. To help you avoid mistakes, here are some laundering tips from Whirlpool home economists that can help you keep your clothing cleaner looking and longer lasting.

• Treat spots and stains before washing. Many stains are easy to remove when fresh but become set when allowed to stand.

• Close zippers and hooks and remove pins buckles or other sharp objects from the clothing before loading to prevent snagging other items in the load.

• Mend rips and tears before washing so that they don't become larger during washing.

• For cold water washing, heavy duty liquid detergents are recommended. If you use a powdered detergent, dissolve it in a little warm water first and then add it to your cold wash water.

Twenty-three million American adults read below the eighth-grade level; 34 million American adults cannot interpret their earnings statements!

A "high-grade" teacher that cost $300 million—and took 17 years to develop—is helping high school dropouts make the grade in math and reading skills. The "teacher" is the PLATO system, a sophisticated computer system developed by Control Data Corp.

One principal using this computer-based instructional program pointed out that in his school, student achievement—at both ends of the learning spectrum—has increased in 90 percent of the cases. The dialogue with the PLATO system isn't Greek to some!

Mrs. Ora Aten is a master craftsman of many fine arts. Her home is really a show-place filled with needlepoint, peti point, paintings, and croquet as well as many beautiful hobby results. In addition, Ora has a window full of African Violets and a back porch full of greenery that would shame any greenhouse.

Lamar and Ora Aten lived in Lelia Lake since 1926 and have been in Clarendon since 1972. Ora's son, L.D. lives in Victoria, Ora told him when he moved there, "Honey, if it hadn't been for that hole of water, you'd have kept on going." Betty Jo Scott lives in Plainview and is the only daughter. The Aten's third child is deceased.

When Ora and Lamar lived in Lelia Lake, they ate a lot of blackeye peas in the summer and pinto beans in the winter. To add spice to the peas, Ora would add bacon or boil a pork shoulder and slice it into the peas, or add other meat tidbits to the blackeyed peas as they cooked.

Although Ora has been cooking since she was big enough to stand on a shot gun shell box to cook eggs and make gravy for her family as a child, she doesn't claim many favorite recipes.

One of the recipes she has comes from a relative in Indiana and she says it is a very unusual one, "fit for Ole Shep" but those people up there like it.

Indiana Bread Dressing
Break up several pieces of light bread, put in a cookie sheet pour milk over it sprinkle with salt and pepper put in oven until lightly browned.

The Aten's used to milk 17 cows 2 times a day until 1959. Since she had so much milk she made "a house full of ice cream." when they had the time, since the family worked in the fields.

Ice cream

6 eggs to gallon of milk (beat the eggs very well)
2 C sugar
vanilla
ice cream powder to make it smooth

put in ice cream freezer

To add nuts or fruit, wait until cream is almost set, carefully remove ice from the top of the freezer, wipe the lid clean, then stir in ingredients.

One favorite dish in the Aten house is 1/2 cantalope, the seeds removed, and the hollow filled with warmed over blackeyed peas! "What don't kill will fatten!"

Wright - Texas Saddlery employee of the week

Cross-country selling via telephone is the system which has proven to be advantageous for Texas Saddlery. Carrying out this sales routine is Doug Wright, one of three salesmen who work with sales manager Walt Skinner and who stay busy on the telephone five days a week for Texas Saddlery.

A typical day for Doug includes calls from and to persons from Clarendon to the east coast and from the Mexican border to Canada.

Wright has been an employee of the company for one and a half years and enjoys his position with the company. Heavy sales demands come in about twice a year. However many firms are now ordering to replace some tiems as they are sold, such as saddles.

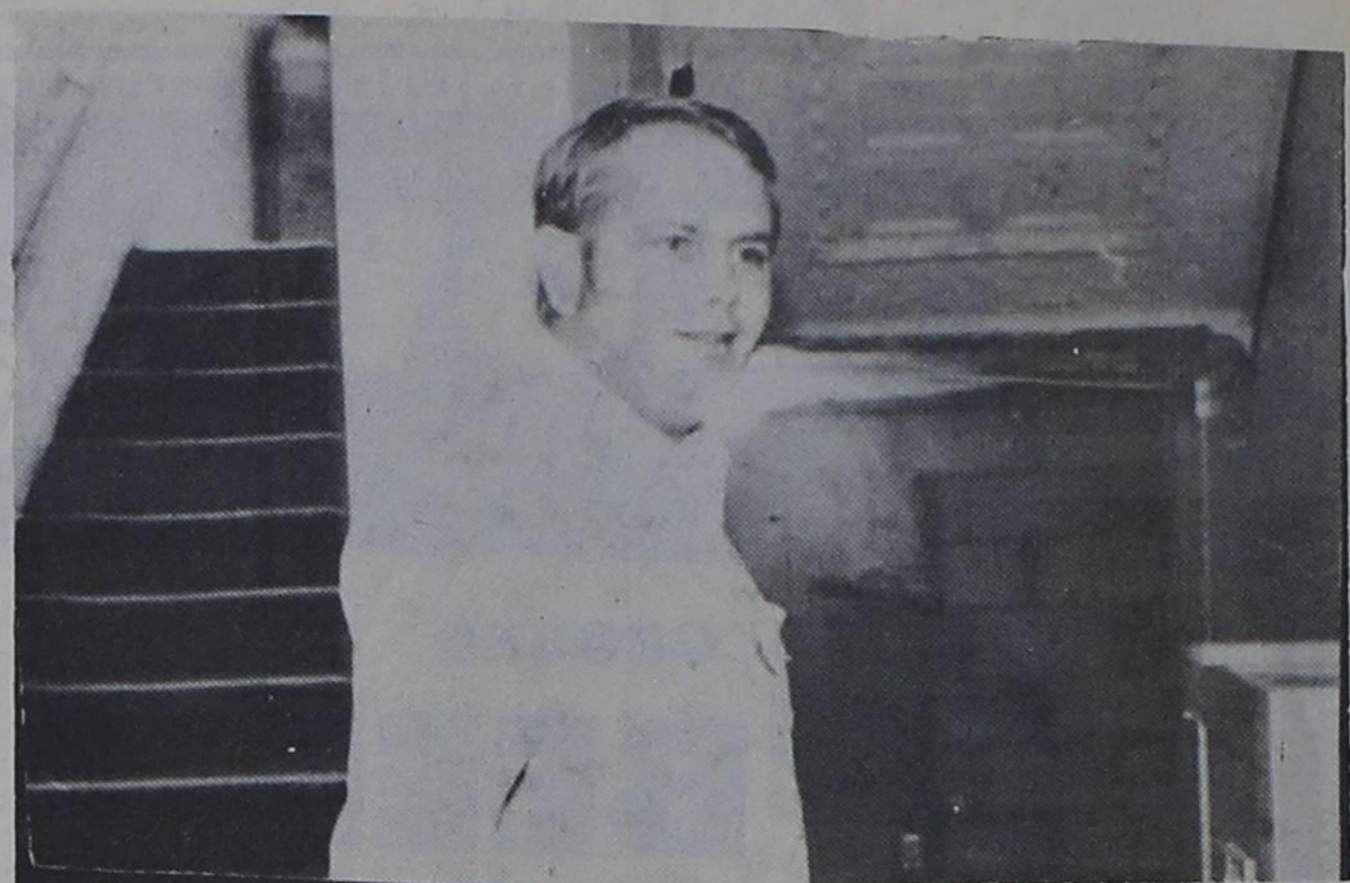

Items such as halters, bridles, reins and other smaller items in orders can be filled quickly. Saddles, half a dozen at a time, require the attention of several skilled persons and a great deal more time. Orders are being taken at present by Texas Saddlery to be filled and shipped in December.

Shipping from Texas Saddlery to the purchaser is done by motor carrier and includes parcel post, bus lines and motor freight lines from Clarendon.

In the time he has been associated with the company, Wright has had an interesting and fun time along with business in the sales area. A lot of good natured joking goes on in a give-and-take atmosphere to relieve the rapid pace of live interviewing and selling by telephone.

Off the job, Wright, and his wife, Rosie, find recreation fishing and hunting with their three sons, Creed, 14; Craig, 11 and Clay Don, six years old. Taking part in the extra-curricular of their sons is a full time occupation away from work for the Wrights.

DOUG WRIGHT Employee of the Week

Part of U.S. Energy Future Is 'Written on the Wind'

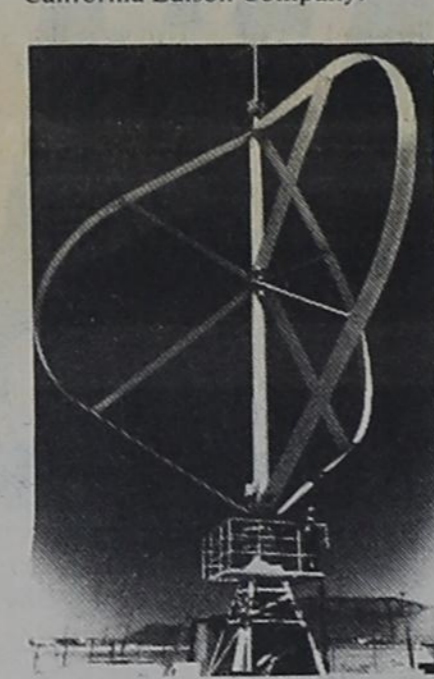

By Brad Byers
U.S. Department of Energy

When warm breezes blow, the young and young-at-heart think about kites a-flying. And this year, influenced by the high price of oil, lots of people are thinking about windmills a-turning.

Although the number of windmills still is small, farmers, rural homeowners, some businessmen, and especially utility executives today are deeply interested in the prospects for using sleek, modern wind turbines to generate electricity.

Darrieus wind turbines, which look something like eggbeaters turned upside down, generate electricity to refrigerate milk at a dairy farm in Ft. Collins, Colorado and pump water on farms near Bushland, Texas and Garden City, Kansas. Trim but conventional three-bladed turbines provide power for isolated homes where utility lines are distant, and at other experimental locations.

A big brother to the single-family three-bladed models -- this one with blades 80 feet in diameter -- has been built by a private company to serve the 50 residents of Cutty Hunk Island, Mass.; another, larger three-blader is under construction near Palm Springs, Calif., for the Southern California Edison Company.

Looking like an eggbeater but really a modern windmill, this 55-foot Darrieus turbine is being tested at Sandia Laboratories in Albuquerque, N.M.

Other large machines are being bought by the Bureau of Reclamation at Medicine Bow, Wyoming, and by the California Department of Water Resources.

A metal manufacturer near Reading, Pa., is buying a 2,000 kilowatt wind turbine to help reduce its $50,000 annual electric bills. Built with six 60-foot blades, it is designed to generate 1,250,000 kilowatt hours per year in nine-miles-per-hour average winds -- a very moderate wind speed that is characteristic of Pennsylvania.

The world's largest wind turbine that is presently operating sits on a 150-foot tower on a North Carolina mountain top at Boone, serving customers of the Blue Ridge Electric Membership Corp. Built by General Electric for the Department of Energy, it uses wing-shaped blades 200 feet in diameter to generate up to 2,000 kilowatts of electricity. It requires an 11 mph wind to begin operating and reaches its peak at 25 mph, providing enough electric power for about 500 homes.

Late this year, the first of three even-larger wind turbines will be completed near Goldendale, Washington in another Department of Energy experiment. These turbines, with two blades 300 feet in diameter, start generating in 10 mph winds and reach their 2,500-kilowatt peak at 20 mph. They will supplement hydroelectric power to serve customers of the Bonneville Power Administration.

Much more ambitious is a plan by a group of businessmen in California to build 30 large wind turbines in Hawaii and sell 80 million watts of power to the Hawaiian Electric Company. The turbines will require an investment of about $200 million.

Such plans are based on confidence that the cost of the large turbines will come down when they are built in quantity. Small turbines, too, are expected to become cheap enough for farm and other rural use within the next four or five years.

People interested in small wind turbines may obtain a list of manufacturers and a guide to the economics of wind power free from Wind Systems Program, Rockwell International, P.O. Box 464, Golden, CO 80401. A free pamphlet, "Energy from the winds," is available from the Department of Energy's Technical Information Center, P.O. Box 62, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

When Nancy Greenaway turns on the lights at her Block Island, R.I. home, there's about a 50/50 chance that the electricity is coming from the big windmill with the 125-foot blades. Installed by

Dove hunting season opens Sept. 1

Dove season is upon us once again, and there seems to be plenty of birds in the area today, but by the opening day, they will very likely have taken wing and flown the coop.

The white-winged dove daily bag limit is 10, possession limit is 20. The shooting hours are 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has suggested some pointers to help keep you on friendly terms with Gary Hunt, the Game Warden in Clarendon. Gary doesn't want to find anyone hunting dove that doesn't understand the law.

No person can have more than 10 freshly killed dove while in the field. It is also suggested that any freshly killed migratory birds given to another person, except at the home of either person, must have a tag attached to the bag, signed by the hunter who took the birds. This tag must have the name, address, total number of birds taken to fill this requirement.

You cannot hunt at Greenbelt Lake, nor can you hunt off the side of the road. If you have any questions contact Gary Hunt at 874-2631.

Car Safety Checklist

When it comes to keeping your car on the road to safety, little things mean a lot. Little things done properly all the time can add up to a lot more safety and save money in the long run.

Most pros advise checking your car's basic equipment before you start on a trip. Here are a few tips:

Seat Belts—Be sure you fasten them before you start out.

Windows and Doors—See that windshield wipers work and that the blades are good. Make sure all windows are clean and keep the rear window deck clear of articles that can obstruct your view. Lock all doors—especially if there are small children in the car.

Engine—Before you start it, check the radiator, battery and windshield washer fluid levels. Check drive belts for wear: look for cracks on the inside edge or glazed contact surfaces.

Tires—Inspect them for unusual wear and check the pressure, before driving, with a quality gauge. Proper inflation will save fuel and reduce the chance of tire failure. For added protection equip your car with Uniroyal's new puncture-sealing tire called Royal Seal. The Royal Seal is an energy-efficient steel belted radial tire with a patented compound that protects against 90 percent of punctures 3/16-inch in diameter or less.

Battery—Inspect, test and, if necessary, replace it. Have the terminals, cables and battery itself cleaned. Take along a good set of battery booster cables.

A check of your car should help you drive danger away.

Since cables are no good unless they work, it makes sense to invest in a top-rated product like the M. Black TPR 16Q from M. Black Manufacturing Co. of Philadelphia. These cables are insulated with Uniroyal TPR, a high-technology rubber that protects and ensures high performance.

Cooling System—Check the coolant's strength; drain and flush if under par and add more antifreeze coolant. Inspect the hoses and connections for cracks or leaks.

Following this professional advice can help you arrive safely and on time.

Fish tails

By KATIE DVORAK

The lake is "smooth and beautiful, like a mirror", says J.L. Phillips. The boaters have been steady, mostly just "players" are on the lake this time of the year. A little dock repair is going on, the ancient carpeting has been torn up and rotted or broken boards replaced.

B.J. reported a 10 1/2 lb Northern Pike caught Friday, and reports of lots of big catfish and two good sized bass caught. Some of the cats were pulled in on shrimp, minnows, liver, worms and one person even tried jack-rabbit meat!

The little black bass in the nursery pond are doing well, comes the report from their wet nurse. The little pond is higher than the lake body, so water seeps back into the lake. This means that lake water must be pumped into the nursery pond every week. Of course, this is a great advantage to the fingerlings because it gives them cooler water, and it helps circulate the water to prevent stagnation. There has not been any visible fatalities and nothing is bothering the pond, so a great harvest can be expected when the bass are ready to be "weaned" and dumped into that "Great Lake on the Other Side".

If you want to know the best place to fish, I have it for you! It comes straight from the fishes tail, and here it is: in the water.

investor's advisory
By Peter Costiglio
ENERGY

Question: Are energy stocks a desirable investment? How will they be affected by OPEC and instability in certain countries with large oil reserves?

Energy investments are still considered good—but be mindful of details.

Answer: Many energy experts anticipate continued strength in such investments. Increased competition for OPEC oil—including expected Soviet competition in the mid '80s—may hike prices even higher. However, oil companies with higher investments in politically insecure countries may be more vulnerable. Experts at the investment firm of Bache Halsey Stuart Shields are advising investments in companies with secure markets—like the U.S., Canada, Australia—or in companies putting their profits into oil and gas exploration in secure regions.

Children's immunizations important!

Children's immunizations are important, and now's the time for "all good parents" to review their records and update their children's protection from diseases, says a health education specialist.

Immunizations are "tedious business" to many people, but they don't have to be—especially if you know what's needed and keep updated records, Mary Ann Shirer stresses.

Dr. Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

First, know what your children should be protected against, and then be sure to keep immunization records in a safe, organized file -- make photocopies before sending the record to school or to a child-care facility, the specialist advises.

Immunization 'Musts'
Here's what children need to enter first grade or kindergarten:

- at least three doses of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis -- (DPT) -- with one dose received after the fourth birthday
- or tetanus-diphtheria (TD)

vaccines -- with one dose received after the fourth birthday)

-- three doses of polio vaccine (one dose must be received after the fourth birthday)

-- one dose of measles vaccine (must be received after the first birthday)

-- one dose of mumps vaccine -- one dose of rubella vaccine.

Remember, all public school children in Texas must show a validated record of their immunizations upon entering school.

Mumps vaccine for older students

Last year, mumps immunization was required for first graders only, but each year the grade requirement will increase.

Here's how that will work: For the 1980-81 school year, all first and second graders must have mumps immunization.

For the 1981-82 year, all first, second and third graders must have mumps immunization.

This age progression in requirements for mumps immunization will continue through the next 11 years, so that, finally, mumps immunization will be required of all students grades one through 12.

However, remember, once a child age 15 months or over has received the mumps vaccine, he is thought to be immunized for life -- so just the one dose of mumps vaccine is required in most cases.

Measles vaccine for older students

Also, measles immunization will eventually be required for all public school students in Texas, grades one through 12.

For the 1979-80 school year, measles immunization was required for children in grades one through six.

This year, grade seven will be added to the requirement, and each year another grade will be added until the progressions reach grade 12.

Rubella required through age 12

Rubella immunization is required for students up to their twelfth birthday.

Danger: Measles outbreaks, Older students

Because of measles outbreaks among junior and senior high school students recently, parents may want to ask their private physicians about immunizations for children beyond the official age requirements for this current school year -- especially measles immunization and, perhaps, mumps immunization.

Measles can be a serious illness, Dr. Shirer warns.

It causes ear infection or pneumonia in nearly one of every 10 students who contract it.

Encephalitis -- inflammation of the brain -- results from measles in one child of every 1,000 who contract it. This can lead to convulsions, deafness or mental retardation.

Finally, measles is fatal to one child of every 10,000 who contract it.

Mumps complications serious

Mumps also can cause serious complications.

Mumps causes a mild type of meningitis in about one of every 20 children who contract it.

Meningitis is inflammation of the membranes which envelop the brain and spinal cord.

Mumps also can cause encephalitis and deafness.

Rubella, Pregnancy dangers

Even though rubella immunization is not required past the twelfth birthday, the Texas Department of Health recommends it for non-pregnant students who haven't had the immunization.

If a pregnant woman contracts rubella, there is a high-percentage chance that her child will be born crippled, blind or with other defects, especially if the disease is contracted in the first of pregnancy (the first three months).

SELF-CARE

Self-reliance and neighborly assistance are traditional to the American way of life. During the early years in America, neighbors nursed the ill and delivered babies. Yet with the twentieth century, scientific progress engulfed many of those practices. Medical care grew increasingly sophisticated and became the domain of the professional caregiver.

Today we are witnessing a re-evaluation of this approach. Highly specialized technical care is often criticized as too impersonal, too costly, and not without dangers of its own. Now there is an explosion of interest in what has come to be known as self-care. Self-care is the name given to that which we as individuals perform on behalf of our own, our family's, or our neighbor's well being.

The pharmacist has historically assisted Americans in their self-care efforts. The pharmacist has provided non-prescription medicines for everything from common cold to athlete's foot . . . from diarrhea to dandruff. Perhaps most important, however, the pharmacist has traditionally helped people determine when self-care is inappropriate...when it is time to seek medical care.

As self-care becomes increasingly popular, your pharmacist will continue to be a valuable community resource. Pharmacy and self-care go hand in hand.

The Consumer Alert

AUSTIN—The prospective home buyer should be aware of recent developments concerning a new type of mortgage that is being offered on a limited basis through savings and loan associations in Texas. The federal and state regulatory authorities have authorized savings and loan associations under their jurisdiction to offer a negotiable rate mortgage. This type of mortgage is different from the fixed rate mortgage that most of us are accustomed to.

The negotiable rate mortgage is an attempt to find an effective way to make more money available to prospective home buyers. Under the fixed rate mortgage, the period of the mortgage would be for a certain long-term period with an unvarying interest rate. Under the variable rate concept the mortgage itself would still be for the same long-term period, but it would be financed through an automatically renewal short-term note. The interest rate for the short term note would be renegotiated at the time of each renewal.

It is hoped that the negotiable rate mortgage will be flexible enough to allow lenders to approach market rates while providing consumers with a period of stability and the opportunity to benefit from downward shifts in interest rates without having to refinance. There are differences in contracts being offered by the state and federal savings and loan associations. Consequently, the negotiable rate mortgage offered by each lender should be considered very carefully so that the prospective home buyer will know exactly what to expect. The federal and state regulatory authorities have attempted to insure that the prospective borrower will be given adequate information concerning the negotiable rate mortgage. When you are considering the purchase of a home, you should review the information provided very carefully so that you fully understand the differences between the negotiable rate mortgage and the fixed rate mortgage. Ask questions and get answers. Remember, under the negotiable rate mortgage, if interest rates rise, your monthly payment will also increase at renewal. Conversely, a decrease in the interest rates will operate to lower your monthly payment.

The purchase of a home represents a significant investment. Take the time to understand fully what you are doing. Shop for your financing carefully. The rates between lenders may vary even with the new mortgage instruments.

Common Sense Tips

Hints For Homeowners

FREEZERS

When used properly, a freezer can really help homemakers pinch pennies to stretch the food budget. It lets you take advantage of special sale prices to stock up on family favorites.

It is important to select ingredients of good quality for freezing, and according to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, blanching is one of the most important steps in freezing vegetables. Blanching is a heat process that arrests enzymatic action and stops ripening or maturing. It also helps vegetables retain color and stabilizes vitamin content. Quick frozen foods resemble fresh foods more closely and retain a higher proportion of their original nutritional value than foods preserved by any other process.

The home economists also advise against using containers or wraps not designed specifically for freezing because both the food quality and flavor can be lost through improper wrapping. Air tight packaging is the secret to success in freezing foods, they say, so don't fill containers too full—allow room for the contents to expand otherwise the lid may pop off exposing the food item.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Riley last week were Barry Manton and his son Dermot, from Limerick, Ireland.

Mrs. Riley and her nephew visited in the Manton home on a trip to Ireland in 1978. The Manton's spent a week in Texas this trip in the United States, several days of which were spent in Amarillo with Ann and Jim Palmer, who also became acquainted with and visited the family in Ireland.

Departure date for Manton and his son was August 25, 1980.

Clarendon College has announced that three college classes will be offered in Wellington this Fall. The classes scheduled are Spanish, Sophomore English, Psychology and/or Sociology. The number enrolled in each course will determine if they can be offered by the college. The classes are scheduled on Monday nights and will meet from 7-10 p.m. The courses carry three semester hours of credit. Dr.

THE ENERGY MISER

Are you wasting water bill dollars when watering your lawn? To check how much water your lawn sprinkler is using, place an empty coffee or soup can on your grass. An inch of water per week is enough for most lawns. If you're exceeding this amount, reduce the water pressure or cut back on the length of time you water your lawn.

Are you a tub person or a shower person? Taking a shower uses about 10 gallons of water, while a bath uses 20 gallons. To save on water bills, take showers instead of baths.

And if you prefer baths, after bathing let the water stand in the tub until it cools. The heat from the tub is sufficient to warm a small house on a chilly summer or fall evening.

Speaking of fall, now is the time to plan your early-bird attack on next winter's heating bills. Energy experts agree that the fundamental step is making sure you have an adequate amount of fiber glass insulation in your attic. (Savings vary. Find out why in the seller's fact sheet on R-values. Higher R-values mean greater insulating power.)

To find out how much fiber glass insulation is recommended where you live and for a step-by-step guide to doing the job yourself, write for the booklet "Insulation Facts." If you'd like a contractor to do the work, ask for "Tips on Choosing an Insulation Contractor." Both booklets are available free from the CertainTeed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482.

GOVERNMENT HELPS PARENTS FIGHT POT

If your child or teenager smokes marijuana or if you're searching for ways to prevent this behavior, consider obtaining the free educational marijuana film and publications offered by the Federal Government.

"For Parents Only" examines the myths and facts concerning this controversial drug—currently used by nearly 23 million Americans, 4 million of whom are between the ages of 12 and 17. The program was developed by the National Institute on Drug Abuse and the Drug Enforcement Administration under the auspices of the White House Drug Policy Office.

The film and publications clarify the psychological and physical health effects of marijuana, including:

- The drug's ability to affect thinking, memory, comprehension, and problem solving.
- The lowering of hormone levels in men and women.
- Interference with driving and other skills involving mental and physical coordination.

By presenting these health effects and providing information on how and why young people use marijuana, the Government hopes to assist parent organizations, church and community groups in preventing marijuana abuse.

The "For Parents Only" package includes a half-hour 16 mm film and 25 copies of two comprehensive brochures—one written for parents and one for youngsters 12-15 years old.

The film, "For Parents Only: What Kids Think About Marijuana," depicts teenagers candidly discussing their marijuana use as well as the opinions and advice of parents and drug experts. The film package includes an 8-page leader's guide with discussion questions and an action agenda.

For Parents Only: What You Need to Know About Marijuana, a booklet specially written for parents of adolescents, offers the latest scientific information in a question and answer brochure. Marijuana's health effects, both physical and psychological, as well as advice for parents are discussed in the publication.

The companion brochure, For Kids Only: What You Should Know About Marijuana, was written especially for young people. It provides scientific information on marijuana's psychological and physical effects.

To order the 16 millimeter free-loan film (accompanied by a film guide and 25 copies each of the For Parents Only and For Kids Only booklets), write to Modern Talking Picture Service, 5000 Park Street North, St. Petersburg, Florida 33709. Or, phone (813) 541-6661. Please allow three weeks for delivery.
