JOY WYNN MARTIN

W.R. CHRISTAL

Vote for candidate of your choice

W.R. Christal

I am working full time in the Office of County Judge and will not shirk that duty, therefore I cannot see everyone personally. The duties and responsibilities of the County Judge are more demanding than in the past. These duties are governed by the laws set forth in the Texas Constitution and in Texas Vernon Statutes. These laws are made by the Texas Legislature and recorded in the Texas Vernon Statutes and any decision or interpretations made by the County Judge must conform with these laws or it is a reversible or voidable decision. This requires a knowledge of law and its interpretation in concurrence with the Attorneys General opinion and with Case Law. Any operation of the County Judge in budget, finance, bonds, bids and Courts of Probate, Civil or Criminal nature and Commissioners Court, are to be in compliance with these laws. The County Judge is also on call day or night to attend alcoholics, mental, drug cases, arraignments, and warrant issues.

I feel I have a working knowledge and enough experience to act in the best interests of all the people of Donley County. I would sincerely appreciate your vote in the May 3rd. Primary Election.

Joy Wynn Martin

I am Joy Wynn Martin candidate for County Judge.

A lot of people have been asking me what my platform is. They may not know, but the duties of the County Judge are proscribed by Texas Jurisprudence, which is its system of laws.

This means that the State of Texas tells the County Judge its duties.

How the judge interprets these laws and applies them to the county and its people is the qualification of a good County Judge.

My platform then is to know these laws, know my county and

James E. Johnston

I James E. Johnston, was born and raised in Donley County and attended school in Clarendon. I was drafted into the Army and after serving 24 years I retired and with my wife returned to what I had always considered my home, Clarendon.

I have served two tours of duty in the Military Police, one in the traffic sections and one in administration. On Project Transition I attended the III Corps. Law-Enforcement Academy at Ft. Hood, Texas.

I do not feel that the office of Sheriff of Donley County is a part time position. The responsibilities and the time required to perform the sworn duties of this office dictates that any person seeking this office must be willing to devote himself to this office in a full time capacity.

Any person seeking this office has a full understanding of the salary, if he must have an additional job to supplement his income, then full attention cannot be given to the office as mandated. If a person seeking this office cannot live on the salary, to be fair to the voters of Donley County, he should look elsewhere.

During the past several weeks, I have tried to contact each voter in the county; I have however missed some of you. I will continue to attempt to meet and talk to each of you personally.

Jimmy Thompson

I have served as deputy sheriff to the best of my ability. As sheriff I will keep the people informed and myself available.

Sim Goodall

"I am the only attorney willing to devote Full Time to the office of District Attorney, and I have more experience in the legal profession than my two opponents combined. If elected will work for you and with you, want to prosecute criminals and get them off the street, and make our communities as safe as possible."

Charles W. Darter

"It has been a high honor and privilege to have served as your District Attorney since May 1974. The office has an awesome responsibility in that the District Attorney's oath requires him to prosecute the guilty as protection for the public, but also to ensure that the rights of the accused be protected. I have conducted my office based on this oath during my tenure and upon re-election will continue to do so. My office has also been open to the public and press and I believe that we have their respect for our conduct of the office since 1974. I do wish to thank all the people in the District for their assistance to me in the past and in particular, the citizens of Donley County for their support."

House shower for the J.F. Cole

Friday, May 2, 1980 the Howardwick Friendship Club will host a House Shower for Howardwick residents Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Cole, from 7-9 p.m. at City Hall.

The Coles lost their home and all possessions earlier in the year when their home burned while they were away. Everyone is invited to attend the shower at Howardwick City Hall.

Vote Saturday May 3

Texas ballots in the May 3, 1980 primary have a different look this year with the names of the presidential candidates for the Democratic and Republican candidates on the respective ballots for the presidential preference vote.

Texas voters will determine which candidates will get the 80 Texas delegates to the national Republican convention and how the 152 Democratic delegates will be apportioned to the Democratic candidates.

Local and area candidates appear on the sample ballots found inside this issue of the

GOP Primary 'Open to all'

Persons wishing to vote in the Republican Primary Election in Donley County on May 3, may cast their ballots from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the James F. Hayes & Co. office building at 204 S. Kearney in Clarendon.

"You don't have to be a life-long Republican to vote in the May 3 Republican Primary," according to Jerry Courtney, Donley County Republican Party Chairman.

"Voters who have always voted Democratic in the past, and who intend to vote for some Democrats in November, are nevertheless eligible to cast a ballot in the Republican Primary."

He pointed out several good reasons for doing so, including the fact that the Republican Primary offers the voter an opportunity to influence the choice of the presidential nominee. "Our presidential preference primary will be binding--the delegates to the Republican National Convention will be chosen based on the votes

Brownies and Girl Scouts to have ice cream supper

All Brownies and Girl Scouts and their families will have a "Last of School" Ice Cream Supper at the park next Monday, May 5, 1980 at 6:30. Fun activities are

Before the day of the Bike-A-Thon riders should get as many sponsors as possible. Ask friends and acquaintances to sponsor you for each mile you ride in the event.

Sponsors should know that their contributions will be used to fight cancer through research, education and service to patients.

This is not a race, the object is to ride the number of miles, not do the miles in record time.

Prizes will be awarded for 1st, 2nd and 3rd distance riders and they will be given plaques.

The day of the event riders will have a police escort and refreshments will be provided enroute.

Money collected by the riders is to be turned in to Jeff Walker by May 23, to be eligible for the prizes.

State law in Texas and a City ordinance requires that all pets six months old or older must be vaccinated for rabies. A City ordinance also requires that City residents purchase a City license for their pets.

Dogs and cats that are found running at-large may be picked up and placed in the City's pound. It will more easily enable the Police Department to see that these pets are returned to their owners if they are wearing their tags.

In Response

On the pages of this newspaper, the reader has been subjected to some tactics that cannot go unanswered. That same Bible that has been invoked as the "supreme source" calls for Christians to "be ready always to give an answer" 1 Peter 3:15, and "contend earnestly for the faith" Jude 3. This is what we are doing now.

In the article by the United Pentecostal Church, inserted by Mrs. N.W. Thompson, April 17, 1980, paragraph two, "If our beliefs are contrary to the scriptures, we are wrong."

My contention is this: you do not baptize for traditional reasons, nor for the sake of controversy or rebellion. You folk have initiated your own brand of religion, contrary to scripture, see Galatians 1:6-9. You have a constitutional right to do this, but the error is that you try to invoke scripture for proof of your doctrinal positions.

Ten or a hundred reasons for baptizing in Jesus' name are not enough if you have begun with the wrong authority or attitude. Seeking to prove anything with an improper beginning results in only more error.

The strongest arguments against your doctrines are found in your own writers: Arthur Clanton, Fred J. Foster, and others. Their writings claim 1913 as the time when this doctrine was "fully revealed". Arthur Clanton, "United We Stand" pp. 15, 184. This date is about 1900 years too late to qualify as authoritative.

It would benefit all more if those claiming the Bible as "the supreme source" would stop allowing men such as John Alexander Dowie, John Schrepp, and Howard A. Goss to tell you what they think the Bible says.

Passages of scripture that establish the Gospel of Christ as a closed revelation also eliminate the private revelations many claim to have received since New Testament times.

Galatians 1:6-9 is one such passage, another is Jude 3. 2 Timothy 1:13 speaks: "Hold fast the form (pattern) of sound words, which thou hast heard of me..." Significant emphasis is placed on the words and context surrounding them like, "the faith," "the doctrine," "the commandments," "the word," "the will" to point to a specific, clearly identifiable body of doctrine. It has been usable for 1900 years to convict men of sin and offer salvation. A 1913 date for new revelation or a 1945 date for the new organization does not qualify, it rather disqualifies your doctrine.

In answer to a question quoted in your history as, "What could be a grander name than united?" Christ is that grander name as Philippians 2:9-11 says, "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him (Christ), and given him a name which is above every name..." "United We Stand" by Arthur Clanton, page 131 says, "General Superintendent is the official title of the head of the United Pentecostal Church International, Incorporated."

Your allegiances are confusing when you claim Christ Jesus as Lord, then give authority to any other.

"You have been weighed in the balances and found wanting..."

Last Monday, 50 Aggies and their wives met in the Quail Community Center to conduct the solemn ceremony, eat a hearty meal and to compare school days. Those in attendance came from Collingsworth, Donley, Hall and Wheeler counties. Six of those enthusiastic Aggies and their wives came from Clarendon.

Charlie and Thelma Bairfield, class of 1923, represented the earliest graduating class at this Muster. C.J. and Mary Hazel VanZandt, class of 1930 were newly inducted into the time honored SUL Ross Club. This is a special group of Aggies who must have been graduated from Texas A&M for 50 years or more. This year was C.J. Van Zandt's first eligible year to join that elect group.

Jim and Connie Robinson, class of 1966 and Dave and Katie Dvorak, class of 1967 represented the last years of the traditionally all male campus. Women were allowed to enroll at Texas A&M in 1971 and the over-all student enrollment made a marked increase to a current enrollment of over 32,000!

Cooking frozen meats

From Leall Garnett
County Extension Agent

Cooking "frozen-solid" meats avoids lengthy thawing time -- but it does take longer than cooking non-frozen meats.

Allow for the extra cooking time, so you'll have a tasty product -- and you can still save lots of valuable hours.

Extra cooking time for frozen meats depends on the size, shape and thickness of the meat.

For example, large frozen roasts may take up to 1 1/2 times as long to cook as unfrozen roasts of the same size.

On the other hand, remember that smaller roasts will need more extra time PER POUND than larger roasts (but not more total time, of course).

Frozen steaks and chops take up to 1 1/2 times as long to broil. Place them at least four inches from the heat source to prevent over-browning.

If you do prefer to thaw meat first, allow four to seven hours per pound for large-roast thawing in the refrigerator. Small roasts need three to five hours per pound.

After thawing, cooking time is the same as for meat that was never frozen.

Sanders-Altman plan wedding for May 17

Miss Ronda Kay Sanders and Timmy Lynn Altman are planning a May 17, wedding at the First Baptist Church of Carey, Texas.

The bride elect is the daughter of Mrs. John Thomas, Northfield, Texas and Mr. Harold Sanders of Amarillo, Texas.

Mr. Altman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Junior Altman of Estelline, Texas.

Miss Sanders attends West Texas State University and graduated from Clarendon College, Dept. of Vocational Cosmetology.

The prospective bridegroom attended Estelline school and is currently engaged in family farming near Estelline, Texas.

Voters are warned against name confusion

Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent warned voters this week not to mistake his opponent's name in the May 3 Democratic primary for that of respected Texas Congressman Jack Hightower.

"My opponent, Jim Hightower, is the left-wing radical who was editor of the Texas Observer, and is the candidate of Ralph Nader, George McGovern and other northeast liberals who want to keep buying Texas energy at bargain basement rates," Nugent said. "He is hoping that Texans, particularly in the northwestern part of the state, will confuse his name with that of Congressman Jack Hightower of Texas, a respected conservative."

Nugent recalled when Texans confused the name of Don Yarborough with that of former Senator Ralph Yarborough and elected him to the Supreme Court. He later was forced to resign.

Nugent points out that official state records reveal that about 40 percent of his opponent's cash contribution has come from out-of-state, while his own campaign has been supported by citizens of Texas.

Prior to serving on the Commission, Nugent was repeatedly reelected to the Texas Legislature by the People of his district for almost 20 years. He has a broad background of law and engineering.

Alpha Upsilon Epsilon

The Alpha Upsilon Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi joined the Xi Lambda Xi Chapter for a celebration of the 49th anniversary of Founder's Day.

The dinner collaborated with the motto "Around the world with Beta Sigma Phi". Dishes from countries around the world were enjoyed by the two chapters. Each dish had a flag from the country it represented and the person's name who made the dish. They were all delicious and varied in taste as much as their names.

Following the dinner a special Founder's day program was presented. This included a history of each chapter's year of successes and laughs. A letter from the founder Walter Ross was read, and each pledge of the year was announced and presented with a gift.

Alpha Upsilon Epsilon's pledge of the year was Mrs. Nonie Nixon. Members present were Mrs. Fuzz Mooring, Mrs. Sondra Eads, Mrs. Nonie Nixon, Mrs. Terri Floyd, Mrs. Denise Grady, Mrs. Tonya Owens, Mrs. Pam Hart, and Mrs. Jennie Mondragon.

We'd like to thank the Xi Lambda Xi for sharing this Founder's Day with us. It made our first celebration a memorable occasion.

John Lovell honored

John Lovell, of Donley County, was one of three people honored this month by the Texas Chapter of the Wildlife Society for making outstanding contributions to wildlife during the Society's annual meeting at Nacogdoches April 10-12.

Others honored were Herbert Ward, a retired game warden from Dimmitt County and Walter Hairgrove, a rancher from Henderson County.

Lovell, of Donley County, manages about 20,000 acres in the Texas Panhandle and is trying to develop and manage a mule deer herd with trophy bucks. In recent years, the ranch has produced the number one and number three typical mule deer rack and the number one nontypical rack in Texas. Last season, his ranch produced the number one mule deer rack in the Panhandle.

Lovell has carried out an extensive grassland improvement program with careful consideration given to wildlife through the Great Plains Conservation Program administered by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. Lovell also makes his ranch available to personnel from the Range and Wildlife Department of Texas Tech University for wildlife research.

At the age of 82, Ward is still a staunch supporter of wildlife. During his career with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, he taught in the Department's game warden training school and was well known for his knowledge of wildlife in South Texas.

Hairgrove manages a 1,900-acre ranch in Henderson County. Although the rancher's primary objective is producing beef, Hairgrove has incorporated an excellent wildlife management program into the operation. Some of the wildlife projects underway on the ranch include turkey restoration, wildlife forage plots for deer, properly grazed woodlands, the use of prescribed burns on woodlands, restricting buck harvest to improve the quality of the deer herd, fish pond improvement, and wetland management for wood ducks and alligators.

Jim Hightower is a native Texan, born and raised in Denison. An honor graduate of North Texas State University, he has worked as a public policy analyst for the Library of Congress and served as a legislative assistant in the U.S. Senate. He is the author of two trailblazing books on U.S. food policy, Eat Your Heart Out and Hard Tomatoes, Hard Times, and prior to launching his campaign, he served for three years as editor of The Texas Observer. He's won numerous awards for investigative journalism, including the National Farmers Union "Outstanding Journalist Award" and a special "Free Enterprise Award" from the Texas Consumer Association.

In its Spring 1978 issue, the Texas Association of Business Quarterly said of Jim: "Talking to Jim Hightower is like reading a book about Thomas Jefferson. Both bring to mind thoughts of idealism, patriotism and concern for the welfare of the common man."

The Pathfinder Club

K. Linn Borchardt, from Tullia, was guest speaker for the Anniversary Tea of the Pathfinder Club at the Patching Club House on Friday, April 25. She presented a beautifully descriptive account of her trip to Jerusalem which she made with Mrs. T.M. Caldwell and a group from Houston under the leadership of Dr. Charles L. Allen. Each historic site was so vividly and enthusiastically portrayed that each person had a better understanding of that area of the world. K. Linn was a real inspiration to all who heard her presentation.

As a beautiful and appropriate ending to the program Mrs. Caldwell sang "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Raleigh Adams.

The meeting was under the direction of Miss Mabel Mongole, president of the club, who extended a welcome to the twenty-six members and guests present.

Delicious refreshments were served from the beautifully appointed tea table with Mrs. C.J. VanZandt presiding. Hostesses were Mrs. Rolle S. Brumley, Mrs. Joe Wells, Mrs. Verdine Herrington and Mrs. A.R. Henson.

time, Besant explains. "By the 1840's, Chicago had become the hub of one of the richest and largest grain-producing regions in the world. In the fall, an influx of farmers would converge on Chicago to sell their grain to merchants — sometimes the loaded carts stretched for miles into the city. With the harvest time glut, grain prices plummeted. Sometimes prices went so low that some farmers dumped their grain into Lake Michigan in anger," Besant says.

"By spring, however, there were often shortages. The price of bread could triple between October and February."

Chicago clearly needed a large, liquid, year-round market for the bounty of the prairie, Besant says. To provide that marketplace, 82 Chicago businessmen es-

Futures and Farmers

Futures Provide Historical Stability

You've seen it nearly every time there is some major news about grain: the TV news programs show footage of traders at the Chicago Board of Trade. Shouting and gesturing erratically, the traders might seem more like wild-eyed demonstrators than respectable businessmen. It looks so chaotic.

Yet those traders are actually engaged in some of offering and the price he wants. This system contributes to liquidity in the market and enables the exchange to quickly reflect up-to-the-minute changes in the supply and demand situation in commodities."

The Chicago Board of Trade was created in the mid-19th Century to bring order to the feast-and-famine grain marketing situation of the established the CBT in 1848. "The Board of Trade's first quarters were above a feedstore. The new marketplace brought order to grain merchandising. Surplus grain in the fall now was stored, to be marketed later. The membership association also worked to improve the grain transportation system, to promote favorable trade laws and to standardize grain quality and delivery procedures," Besant says.

From those early years to the present, the Board of Trade's history has sometimes been stormy and other times sleepy, he notes.

The Chicago fire of 1871 destroyed some exchange records, but it is clear that by that time, the practice of futures trading had developed out of forward contracting in grain.

"Forward contracting came into use at the exchange soon after it was established. Members would trade 'to arrive' contracts, with the delivery dates and prices set when the contracts were negotiated."

From this, the futures contract developed, with delivery month and location, quantity, quality and margin payments (performance bonds or earnest money) established by the exchange. Through much of its history, the Board of Trade served primarily as a cash grain market, and today you can still contract for actual immediate delivery of grain at the exchange.

"But the establishment of futures trading was one of the most important developments in the history of the grain trade. Futures allowed those in one of the riskiest businesses around — grain farmers, merchants and processors — to offset some of their risks and to add flexibility to their trading strategies."

A record of the significant historical events of the exchange could and has filled volumes, Besant says. In that history, another important landmark was the development of trade clearing procedures.

"To prevent defaults on trades, the practice developed early to require buyers and sellers to post margin payments, a form of earnest money. Then the exchange instituted a clearing department to process trades and record margin payments. In 1925 the Clearing Corporation of the Chicago Board of Trade was established as an independent entity to function as a third party and guarantor for futures transactions."

That independent corporation has proved an important pillar of the integrity of the grain market, Besant stresses. "Since the establishment of the Clearing Corporation, tens of millions of contracts have been traded at the Chicago Board of Trade without a single default."

Today, the grain futures market thrives and new contracts — notably interest rate futures — have expanded the CBT's scope. In 1979, nearly 34 million contracts were traded at the membership association that started above a Chicago feedstore in 1848.

For more information on the futures market, write to: Chicago Board of Trade, Dept. FSI, 141 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. 60604.

Winter storms can be stored for later use

COLLEGE STATION — Engineers at Texas A&M University have developed a method to store winter weather underground and use it for relief from scorching summer heat.

They have literally retrieved some of Texas' "blue northers" after six months of cold storage.

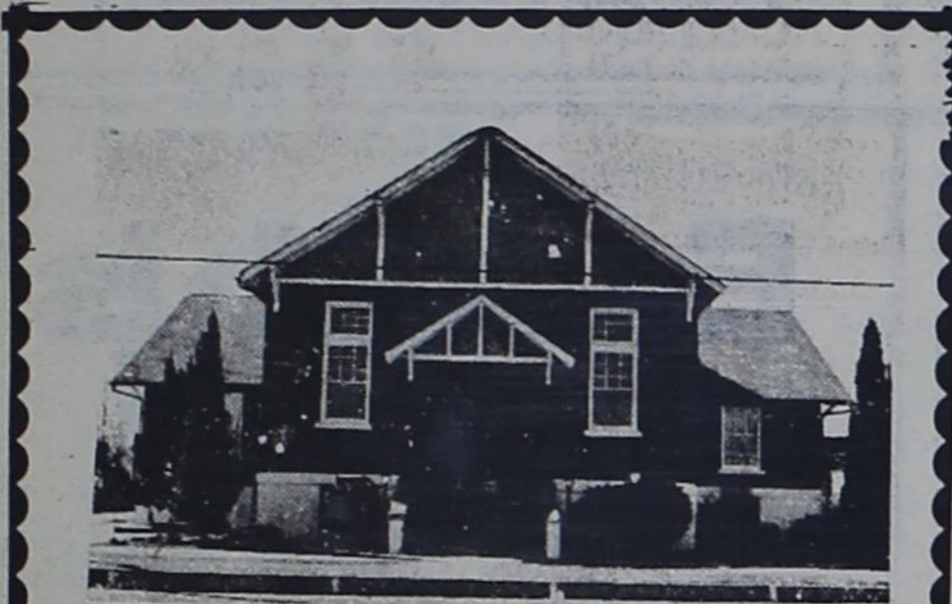

From November through February, water was sprayed into the cold winter air and chilled to an average 48 degrees. The water then was pumped into a 60-foot-deep underground aquifer for storage. Since July the cold water has been pumped out again and could be used in air conditioning chilling systems, said project supervisor Dr. Donald E. Reddell.

With adequate return, a system moving 200 gallons of water per minute could provide air conditioning for a housing development of 40 homes for about a $2,500 initial investment per home. An annual operating cost of about $500 per year per household would be required.

Foreigners Own Less Than 1% Of Texas Farm, Ranch Acreage

AUSTIN—Foreigners own less than one percent (.38 percent) of Texas agricultural land, according to the latest compiled figures, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

"The total acreage on reports sent to us by the USDA since last August is 527,719 acres," Brown said. "That is still a minimal portion of the 139.7 million acres of farm land in Texas."

The county with the largest acreage owned by foreigners is Hidalgo. The total is 106,256 acres. Investors in citrus groves account for a substantial amount of the foreign ownership there.

Many of the older ranches which may have some family members still living in Mexico are listed as being foreign owned.

Next are Presidio County with 77,270 acres, Bowie County with 25,890 acres, and Pecos County with 23,920.

Brown commended the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee for scheduling hearings on foreign ownership this spring. "I believe that we need to know what our own citizens think about such investments and what effect these purchases are having on local land values."

He cautioned that the total acreage may be misleading because of the law governing the reporting of foreign ownership. "If only 5 percent of the property is in the name of a foreigner, the entire acreage must be reported. In these cases, 95 percent of the income is staying here in the state."

"Another problem in the system is the lack of a report when the foreigner sells the property to an American citizen. This situation could make conditions look more threatening than they truly are.

"I think we need to know where we stand, and these reports give us some idea. But we need some correction in the Federal law covering the reporting system to provide accurate data."

COLLEGE STATION — Each year the nation has a significant number of fatalities, maiming injuries and extensive property damage resulting from car impacts with mailboxes on rural roads. The boxes are poised 42 inches off the ground, exactly the right height to smash through a windshield.

"What is amazing is how mailboxes line up at windshield height for subcompact right up through full-size cars," commented Dr. Hayes E. Ross, Jr., a Texas Transportation Institute engineer at Texas A&M University.

Ross believes national mailbox safety standards are overdue. "Mailboxes obviously are not problems along major interstate routes," he said, "but they are on secondary and rural road systems."

Mild '79-80 winter may mean famine for Texas insects

COLLEGE STATION — The spring may mean famine for some bugs as a result of one of the mildest Texas winters on record.

"It's possible the mild winter will delay bud break in the southern part of the state," warned Dr. Marvin Harris of Texas A&M University's Department of Entomology.

If that happens, some of the insects will die because nature's food chain has a triangular relationship of plant, insect and environment.

Harris explained trees and shrubs require a winter rest period to grow. The mild winter could very likely cause the trees to sleep in late, delaying their sprouting of new buds which will eventually turn into leaves.

Without leaves there is nothing for the insects or their offspring to eat, so it's goodbye bugs for this season.

YOUR GARDEN

GET GROWING EARLY!

If you want your garden to spring into early bloom and continue to thrive, it's important to protect your plantings properly from the unstable weather typical of this time of year.

It's possible with an Instant Greenhouse, a wire reinforced plastic that traps desirable humidity and warmth to spur germination of seeds and growth of plants while protecting them from late frosts.

You can make miniature greenhouses in moments by putting the reinforced plastic over flower and vegetable seedlings. All you do is cut the plastic from the roll into the desired size, bend it into the shape of a tent, place it over the seed beds or seedlings, and stake it down with garden stakes or even wire coat hangers. The ends of your garden tent can be pinched together or screened to keep humidity in and garden pests out.

Before installing the plastic wrap, loosen the earth around the plants so that the wrap can be sunk to a depth of an inch or two. This will discourage cutworms from dining on your efforts.

If you pinched the sides of your Instant Greenhouse together, be sure to open the ends on days of strong sun to avoid overheating. The plastic shelters act as incubators for seed beds, keeping soil temperatures constant. This speeds the growth of cucumber, melon, squash, pepper, and tomato seeds. The same wire-laminated plastic sheeting also can be used in the fall to extend your garden's productivity during cooler weather.

Plants get an early and safe start under the protection of an individual instant greenhouse.

Instant Greenhouse is available from Gilbert & Bennett at garden centers and hardware stores in 25 foot long rolls, 36 inches wide, weighing less than four pounds, which can be easily cut with kitchen shears and bent to any shape desired.

Want a great looking garden? With this kind of canopy on your plants, it could be "in the bag."

Personal or Corporate

By REV. WAYNE NAYLOR

"Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you." James 4:7. Was James talking to the church as a corporate body or as individuals who would face the temptations of a personal devil? "Yourselves" could have the group idea as well as "you" in the scripture, but it seems that the experiences of men have been to resist the devil as a personal tempter who comes subtly to suggest his ways. It doesn't seem that the devil gets in his best licks while we are worshipping God, but when we get our minds away from God and centered on other things. Hence the admonition to submit to God and resist the devil.

A Christian woman wrote upon the flyleaf of her Bible the following words: "Lay any burden upon me, only sustain me; send me anywhere, only go with me; sever any tie but that which binds me to Thy service and to Thy heart." These words are the expression of one who had found the source of strength, wanted to stay committed to that strength, and in the submission surely the devil would flee from her. In her resolve to be useful there was the probability that she was fulfilling the man's statement who said, "It might be well to bear in mind that whenever you're coasting you are either going downhill or losing momentum."

It stands to reason that if we listen to the devil and do not resist him that we might have a similar experience that David Presly describes. "A short time after my wife and I were married we made a trip to visit her parents in Chicago. I was unfamiliar with the route we were traveling. Everything seemed to be going fine. Illinois interstate 57, the road we were taking, was smooth and the traffic was light. With nothing to worry about we sailed along.

Suddenly with no warning a huge sign appeared. 'Welcome to Indiana,' it read. We were lost and didn't know it. We wasted two hours getting back on the right route. Unfortunately, many lives are like this. Men travel through life assuming that everything is alright. They sail along thinking that they are on the right road. Suddenly one day they open their eyes and before them is a sign. It reads, 'Welcome To Hell.' They have wasted more than two hours; they have wasted eternity."

"Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you." James 4:7.

Conservation tillage is accepted

Conservation tillage is a system of farming that leaves protective amounts of residue mulch on the surface of the soil throughout the year. Properly managed, the system has the potential to substantially reduce water and wind erosion, and to conserve energy on cropland and in most areas of the United States and is cost-effective.

Estimates gathered from Soil Conservation Service state agronomists by No-Till Farmer magazine indicate that conservation tillage will be practiced on 88.7 million acres this year, up from less than 30 million acres in 1972. It is estimated that another 226 million acres of cropland will be conventionally tilled in 1980.

The term conservation tillage incorporates several types of tillage practices formerly identified by other names. No-till, slot planting, or zero tillage describe practices where the seedbed and planting are completed in one pass over the field. Less than 10 percent of the soil surface is disturbed. A protective cover of crop residue is left on 90 percent of the surface.

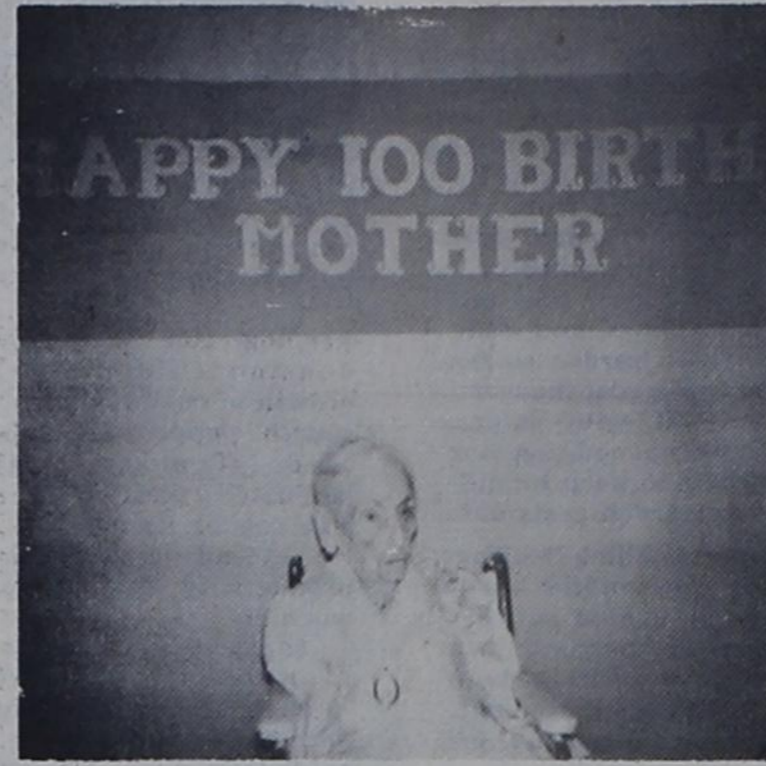

In strip tillage, seedbed preparation and planting is completed in one operation. The tilled area is generally no wider than one-third of the total area.

In chisel, sweep, disk, or rotary tillage, the entire surface is loosened, and the residue is incorporated into the top few inches of the soil.

The protective cover formed by the residue on the surface of the soil acts as a deterrent to wind and water erosion. The cover increases water infiltration and reduces losses of water, pesticides, and herbicides in overland runoff or through evaporation.

The timely application of herbicides to control weed growth is critical to the success of conservation tillage. Standard conservation practices such as terraces, diversions, and waterways, where needed, provide an added level of soil protection.

Conservation tillage systems have a positive effect on farm energy efficiency. The Council for Agriculture, Science and Technology (CAST) estimates that if conservation tillage had been practiced on all of the 203 million acres of row crops grown in the U.S. in 1977, savings for farmers on diesel fuel alone would have amounted to $438 million. At today's prices the dollar savings could top $1 billion.

It should be noted that conservation tillage does not work equally well for all crops, on all soil types, or in every part of the country. Farmers should seek advice and assistance through their local conservation district.

Statement from Jack Hightower on Iranian hostage rescue attempt 1

The tragedy is that the mission did not succeed. That tragedy is compounded by the fact that eight American servicemen lost their lives.

Had the mission succeeded there would be shouts of jubilation resounding throughout the nation.

It was a perilous, calculated gamble, and I admire the President's strength of character in attempting it. There will be cries from some members of Congress bemoaning the fact that the President did not consult with the Congress prior to the operation under provisions of the War Powers Act of 1973. I would brand such protests as a failure to accept reality.

As I understand the act it permits the President to act unilaterally, pursuant to his constitutional responsibility to carry out the foreign policy of the United States, in certain situations.

I believe this situation fits those provisions of the act. It was a covert action that required the strictest secrecy. The record of Congress in keeping secrets has been less than exemplary.

100th birthday of Mrs. E.L. Lewis

A very unusual celebration was held Saturday afternoon at the Clarendon Medical Center honoring Mrs. E.L. Lewis on her 100th birthday. The affair was hosted by her family.

The reception room was decorated with many lovely floral arrangements. Guests were served from a beautifully appointed tea table.

Approximately 100 relatives and friends from a wide area came to honor Mrs. Lewis. There were guests from Abert, Adrian, Amarillo, Anton, Borger, Brownfield, Canadian, Canyon, Claude, Dallas, Lubbock, Pampa, Post, Tahoka, Waco, Ft. Smith, Arkansas and Washington.

The family wishes to express sincere appreciation to the entire staff of the Clarendon

Medical Center for their excellent cooperation and support which made the affair possible, and to the many friends who showered Mrs. Lewis with lovely flowers, cards, and gifts. It was a memorable occasion for her and her entire family.

John Connally doesn't need your vote anymore.

Texas does!

Northeastern liberals have been planning for months to take over a seat on the Texas Railroad Commission—so they can continue to buy Texas energy for bargain basement prices.

They're counting on conservative Democrats crossing over into the Republican Primary to support Ronald Reagan (who now has the nomination all but assured)—leaving only liberal voters in the Democratic Primary.

If they are successful, they will elect radical left-winger Jim Hightower (not to be confused, as they hope, with conservative Congressman Jack Hightower).

Jim Nugent is the best qualified man for the job. Jim Nugent—and Texas—needs your vote in the Democratic Primary May 3.

Inflation Fighting Car Ideas

HELPFUL TIPS

HOW TO REDUCE TIRE COSTS

Drivers seeking ways to offset soaring auto fuel and maintenance costs can start with their tires.

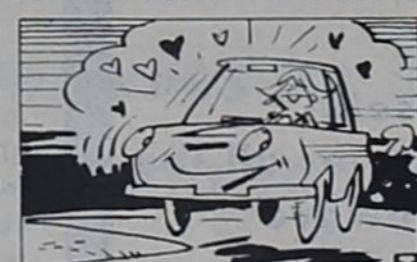

Proper tire maintenance is essential if a driver is to protect his investment in tires, say industry experts. As many as eight out of ten tires on the road today are underinflated and wear prematurely.

Seriously underinflated tires—4 or more lbs. below manufacturers' recommendation—are a potential hazard. At highway speeds, the tires overheat and can come apart.

Proper inflation improves tire mileage life as much as 15 percent. Drivers should buy a good tire gauge and check air pressure at least once a month.

Another way to save money on tires is by purchasing retreaded tires. Many drivers have discovered that retreads are one of today's great consumer bargains.

According to the Tire Retread Information Bureau, one out of five replacement tires is a retread. Prices vary from region to region, but on the average, a retread usually costs one-third to one-half less than a comparable new tire.

About 70 percent of the cost of a new tire is in the casing—the tire body. Retreading starts with a well-maintained casing that has at least 1/16 in. of tread and can pass a battery of thorough inspections. The tread is buffed back and the tire is then "remanufactured"—new tread is applied and permanently vulcanized to the casing.

The end product is a tire that provides the same mileage and performance of a comparable new tire. In fact, many retreaders offer new-tire guarantees with their retreads.

Retreads also provide consumers with additional cost savings through lower sales taxes and much lower Federal excise taxes.

In Our Time

SUGAR, A CARBOHYDRATE, IS THE PHOTO-CHEMICAL CONVERSION OF THE ENERGY OF THE SUN INTO A FOOD.

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY IS THE CONVERTER OF THIS NATURAL SOURCE INTO USEFUL FORMS...

INVOLVING OVER 100,000 U.S. WORKERS, THE INDUSTRY RANGES OVER 18 STATES GROWING SUGAR BEETS, AND 4 STATES GROWING SUGAR CANE, PROCESSING MILLS AND PLANTS ACROSS THE NATION ARE VALUED IN EXCESS OF $10 BILLION.

FAILURE OF THIS IMPORTANT SEGMENT OF OUR ECONOMY THROUGH IMPORTS WOULD BE UNTHINKABLE. TWO BILLS ARE PRESENTLY BEFORE CONGRESS, NO. 463 IN THE SENATE, AND NO. 2172 FAVORED BY THE ADMINISTRATION, BEFORE THE HOUSE. BOTH ARE INTENDED TO IMPLEMENT AN INTERNATIONAL SUGAR AGREEMENT PROPOSAL DESIGNED TO STABILIZE THE WORLD MARKET PRICE WHICH WILL HELP FIGHT INFLATION.

Spring and summer come in on wings

Dave Dvorak, wildlife biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife, has been carried away by the signs of spring and summer as they fly into the area. Dave said that one of the first signs that spring is here to stay is the arrival of the doves. Didn't a dove bring Noah a sprig when the floods were receding? Doves also signal the return of spring to us here in the Panhandle.

mid-April. Around the middle of April the pretty sissor tails come whipping back into the skies, followed by the little puddle waders, the curlews.

Lark buntings come back about the end of March, then the ugly and unpleasant but necessary buzzards return to their happy hunting grounds in Horned larks and the kites are among the last migratory birds to come back to the almost treeless area to spend their summer.

Most of these birds will nest in town. You can encourage them to stay in your yard by planting trees such as cedar, maple, elm, locust and of course by putting out feeders.

These birds are like most migratory birds in that they return to the same general area generation after generation to nest. They don't come in flocks or gaggles like ducks and geese, but they each have an instinctive knowledge of their own "family tree" and return there to nest.

Census takers continue

Census District Manager, William E. Soule reports good progress in this area of the follow-up phase of the 1980 Census of Population and Housing. Census takers are following-up on missing census questionnaires by visiting addresses from which householders have not yet mailed theirs back, as well as telephoning most households from which questionnaires were returned inadequately filled out.

The manager asks householders to welcome these census takers when they call and to give them full cooperation in supplying the required census information. But you should always ask to see their official credential before admitting them to your home. It is a red, white, and blue ID card bearing the

The manager stressed that, because the count of the Nation's population was to be for one day, April 1, everyone who was in the household on that day should be listed on the questionnaire, but not anyone who has moved in since.

"The information given the Census Bureau cannot be used to identify anyone in any way at all," the manager said. "Facts about individuals are lumped together to arrive at statistical totals, averages, and percentages, figures in which no one can be identified. Information about a person cannot be given to any other agency of government, or to a public or private organization of any kind, or to any other individual."

Understanding The American Court System

By Theodore I. Koskoff
President
Association of Trial Lawyers of America

The American court system can have a profound effect on the lives of every American citizen, yet it is a system that few people outside the practice of law fully understand.

Generally speaking, our system of government is divided into three separate groups. The legislative branch that makes the laws. The executive branch that administers the law. And the judicial branch that interprets and applies the law.

Since we live under both state and federal governments, there are both state and federal court systems. The judicial systems of our 50 states vary widely, but the same general pattern prevails. Usually at the lowest level are the local courts with very limited jurisdiction or power. The names may vary but they are usually called Traffic Court, Police Court, Small Claims Court, and the Justice of the Peace.

There are two important points to remember about these local courts. Cases are generally heard and decided by a judge and his/her verdict frequently cannot be appealed.

Next up the judicial ladder are the Trial Courts. These sometimes are called Municipal, County, District, or Superior Courts. These courts have general jurisdiction to hear both civil suits and criminal cases. Some state court systems may also have special purpose courts such as a Criminal Court which hears only criminal cases, or a Probate Court that probates wills and hears claims against estates of persons who die with or without a will.

More populated areas may also have Juvenile or Family Courts which concern themselves with only domestic, juvenile delinquency and youthful offender cases.

Unlike the small local Traffic and Police Courts whose decisions may or may not be appealed, all decisions from the Trial Courts usually may be appealed to one or more higher courts as designated by state statute. These courts are called Appellate Courts.

The Appellate Court's only function is to decide whether or the trial judge correctly applied the law. When an Appellate Court reverses a decision, it has the alternative of letting the matter stand, or return the case to the lower court for a new trial or any further proceedings that seem appropriate.

The court of the last resort in each state is sometimes called the State Supreme Court. It is the final word in the matter, unless it is shown that a constitutional right is involved. Then, the case may be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. It usually takes four Supreme Court Justices to agree to hear such a case.

Be informed.

The Texas Railroad Commission is far too important to the proper conservation and management of Texas energy resources to elect a Commissioner on the basis of vague information, mistaken identity or a general "feeling" about a candidate.

Make sure you know the facts before you vote!

Did you know Jim Nugent:

- Is uniquely qualified to handle the complex technical and legal matters that come before the Commission, thanks to his background in law and engineering.
- Has almost 20 years of service to Texans, first as a State Representative, now as our Railroad Commissioner.
- Successfully introduced and passed the first "ethics laws" for elected Texas officials... and completely revised the state's penal statutes improving criminal prosecution procedures without violating individual rights.
- Is supported by a broad cross-section of conservative, moderate and liberal Democrats who know he's the best man for the job!
- As a member of the State Legislature and as our Railroad Commissioner, is respected and known as a tough, independent and dedicated public servant who has consistently fought for the rights of Texas consumers.

Did you know that Jim Nugent's opponent, Jim Hightower:

- Has no qualifications to serve. His only background is having worked as editor of a radical left-wing newspaper (he calls himself an "investigative reporter") and working for a former liberal senator.
- Is the candidate of Ralph Nader, George McGovern, labor organizer Caesar Chavez and a group of Northeastern liberals intent on buying a seat on the Railroad Commission so the Northeast can continue to buy cheap energy from Texas.
- Is basing his campaign on hopes that the electorate will confuse his name—Jim Hightower—with well-known conservative Congressman Jack Hightower.

*Jim Nugent has been endorsed by major newspapers* throughout the state. They have carefully considered qualifications of the two candidates, and have chosen Jim Nugent as the best man for the job.*

*Jim Nugent has been endorsed by the Austin American-Statesman, San Antonio Light, Houston Chronicle, Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Times Herald. As of April 22, no major newspaper in Texas has endorsed his opponent, Jim Hightower!

LOIS HUTCHINS

May - Senior Citizens month

May has been designated by Governor Clements as Senior Citizens month in Texas. We salute all senior citizens for their countless contributions to society, and have selected Mrs. Hutchins as the subject for a feature article.

Lois Beatrice Newland Hutchins

By JEANICE WEATHERLY

Lois Hutchins, was born in Cook County on October 12, 1894, to Eva Orlena Morris Newland and John Marion Newland and at a very tender age her father moved his family to Oklahoma to file on land.

Later the family moved to Northfield, on the Pease river in Texas and from there to the Estelline vicinity. From that time Mrs. Hutchins has resided in the area near Clarendon.

Lois Hutchins recalls the land her father filed on near Shirley, Oklahoma, a small village with a store and post office. Mr. Newland's property had running water and a spring on it and he raised broom corn for a cash crop.

It was at Shirley that Lois started to school in the little one-roomed school house. The family had made the move from Cook County in a covered wagon. That same covered wagon was to be their home until their new dugout house was finished. The wagon was drawn up along the creek for convenience.

Before the dugout was finished and the family moved into the new quarters, Lois' father became ill with measles. Neighbors took the sick man into their home and cared for him away from other family members who would have been exposed to the disease, until he recovered. Such was the deep feeling early settlers of this area had for their neighbors. Truly it was the caring neighbors who made the difference between life and death and the difference between living and just existing.

An apparent result of the good rich soil in the family garden was a particular crooked-neck squash which grew so large it was transported to the fair. Before the day of refrigeration this was an out of the ordinary event.

One of Lois' earliest recollections at about five years of age had to do with a red, ruffled dress and her disobedience on a wash day. As she relates it Mrs. Newland was outside with the wash tub leaning against the side of the house as she scrubbed the laundry on a rub board. Lois had been warned to keep away from the tub, cautioned not to pull on it lest it turn over, or to dip her hands in for there was enough water in the tub to drown a small child. She disobeyed even after the warning from her mother and the tub over turned. Child-like her first thought was to run, which she did as fast as her legs could carry her around the house and out of sight. Her mother went the opposite way and met a very surprised little girl. Mrs. Hutchins does not recall the punishment, if any at her misdeed. What she does remember is the bright red ruffle of her dress trailing behind her in the air as she fled the righteous wrath of her mother. The flying red ruffle was so exciting that until today Lois considers it the prettiest trim for any dress.

When Lois' father sold his land in Oklahoma he returned his family to Texas, near Northfield, on the Pease River. From there the Newlands moved to the Estelline area and Lois drove a buggy seven miles to school each day in Estelline graduating in 1913.

As had other families before them the Newlands moved to Clarendon to enable their children to attend Clarendon College. Lois Newland received her teachers certificate from Clarendon College but never used it.

In August of 1919, Lois Beatrice Newland and Walter Hutchins were married by Dr. S.E. Burkhead, English professor at Clarendon College. After they married Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hutchins lived in the Martin Community, west of Clarendon where they were engaged in farming until his death in 1959.

After the death of Mr. Hutchins Lois stayed eight more years on the farm where they had lived together for 41 years. In 1967 she built the brick home in Clarendon which they had planned together and which she runs. She still owns the farm at Martin.

Lois Hutchins, is a remarkable woman and like her contemporaries she remains busy and interested in her community. She drives her own automobile a 1959 Ford, and deplores the fact that parts are getting difficult to find. In fact Mrs. Hutchins remarked that she and her husband had never owned any kind of car except a Ford. The first one they ever had was a Model T, 2 seater with curtains. She visits, attends activities at the Senior Citizens Center, was a charter member of the first senior citizens organization in Clarendon, in 1968 and does lots of hand work.

Her home reflects the time and patience with her lovely handmade afghans, crocheted tablecloths, table covers and handpieced and quilted bed coverlets.

Lois Hutchins is a member of the First United Methodist Church, was baptized at the altar of the Clarendon church and attended when they used the rings in the hitching posts to tie the horse and buggy to during the services. She is a 67 year member of the Methodist Church of Clarendon. Many times during her lifetime problems arose and were serious enough that she hardly knew which way to turn. During those times her faith sustained her and things did work out.

Lois said, "I've had a wonderful life, also problems along with blessings to numerous to mention. I enjoy life every

Friendship Quilting Club

Members present were: Ora Aten, Lily May Carmichael, Louise Aten, Florene Bennett, Irene Jones, Yvonne Belle McDaniel, Vada Morrison, Mary Lee Noble, Odie Moss, Annie Thomason, Leona Quattlebaum, Doris Denney and guests were Theta Hardin and Rachel Butler and the hostess Edna Dishman.

TEN REASONS FOR BAPTISM IN THE NAME OF JESUS

Con't from last week

Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Matthew 28:19

United Pentecostal Church, Mrs. N.W. Thompson-reporter

Reason No. 4: There are not two gospels. Neither are there two ways to be baptized. I have heard it argued that there were only Jews or Jewish proselytes baptized in the second chapter of Acts, and since they had rejected and crucified Jesus, it was now necessary for them to be baptized in Jesus' name, but Gentiles should be baptized in the name of Father, Son and Holy Ghost. Now those who would argue that Acts 2:38 is only for the Jews are admitting that they believe in two gospels—one for the Jews and another for the Gentiles. This, of course, is ridiculous. There is but ONE gospel. The message of Acts 2:38 is addressed to everyone, and it is for you, my friend, whatever your nationality or race.

Reason No. 5: Thousands of believers insist upon the literal fulfillment of Acts 2:4 in the baptism of the Holy Ghost, but will not accept a literal interpretation of Acts 2:38. However it is only reasonable to conclude that if we place a literal interpretation upon Acts 2:4 and teach that speaking in tongues is the initial evidence of the baptism of the Holy Ghost, we shall be consistent in placing a literal interpretation upon Acts 2:38 and baptize converts in the name of Jesus for the remission of sins.

Reason No. 6: In Colossians 3:17 we read these words, "Whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus." Now water baptism is both word and deed. We are told to do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus. Why anyone should object to water baptism in Jesus name is difficult to understand. Thousands of ministers will pray for the sick in Jesus name, in fact do everything in Jesus name except to baptize converts in the wonderful name of Jesus. Oh, the inconsistency of man! God's Word is consistent, and here we are clearly told to do everything in word or deed in the name of the Lord Jesus. Certainly this means water baptism.

Reason No. 7: In salvation we are identified with Jesus Christ in death, burial, and resurrection. When we repent we are actually dying to sin and the world; water baptism is likened to burial and resurrection. In Romans 6:4 we read these words, "We are buried with him in Baptism into death." This is one of the reasons water baptism must be by immersion in water for it signifies burial. Now if water baptism signifies burial, then with whom are we to be identified? In whose name are we to be baptized? I ask you the question, "Was the Father crucified and buried? Was the Holy Ghost crucified and buried?" No, certainly not, it was Jesus, our Saviour, the Lamb of God, who went to Calvary's Cross and died there in our stead. Then in whose name should we be baptized? There can be only one answer. In the name of Jesus.

A Moment for Meditation

By INEZ G. LAWRENCE

"What is that to thee? Follow me". Jno. 21:22

Peter and Jesus were on the seashore discussing the hardships ahead of Peter in the years to come. They were not pleasant to anticipate, so Peter looked toward John and asked about his future. Jesus spoke the great truth in the verse, "What is that to thee? Follow thou me".

It is so easy to compare ourselves with others especially when trouble comes. The first thought is, "Why me?" Almost immediately a list of our good qualities flash through our minds and we feel there is no apparent reason for this calamity. Then we look at others who certainly are no better than we are, yet they are still healthy, or prosperous or happy. At that point we feel like Peter did and want to ask why they are untouched and we suffer. So we need the truth of Jesus' answer just as Peter did.

To have real confidence in any cause today requires enough dedication to risk a lot to follow it. Sometimes we do not consider the sacrifice or effort involved to participate. We are joiners not doers. We want the benefits but not the responsibilities. When things get tough we look around to see if others are having a hard time too. Then we wonder and the trying to reason out WHY may destroy us. The real solution is to learn we have no possible way of sorting out the future. We must live life individually and daily and a key to the living is in the command, "Follow Me". To follow is to accept less than first place. It is to rely on another's judgment and leadership rather than one's own ability. It is not to question but to obey when the going gets rough. It is to remember that each is responsible for his own reaction to life's problems. No one else can live or die for us. It is a very personal matter.

What God allows in another's life is not our concern except as we may give comfort or aid. What He allows in our own life is our concern—a concern to face it with faith and obedience as we follow our Leader through it all.

American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital

A bank manager writes: "I recently donated blood to help a child with leukemia. I wonder if people are aware of the need for blood in cancer treatment?"

ANSWERline: Blood component therapy is an important part of current methods of treating leukemia. Leukemia is cancer of the blood and blood-forming tissues. Hemorrhage and infection are two serious complications of leukemia which can be eased by transfusions of blood components. The use of blood components also can offset dangerous side effects of anticancer drugs. Blood from a healthy donor is essential, so your special "gift" was a valuable one indeed.

I believe that there are important issues involved in this election.

- 1) A sheriff should work.
- 2) A sheriff should be a full time sheriff, not just an advisor.
- 3) A sheriff should be willing to take full responsibility for the honest and efficient operation of his office, and not pass the buck.
- 4) A sheriff should tend to the sheriff's business; not to things that are none of his business.
- 5) A sheriff should use good common sense and be fair and impartial to all persons.

Maurine's Kitchen

By MAURINE BUTTS

MAURINE BUTTS

One of the best ways to please your family is to bake something they enjoy. A chocolate cake seems to be the favorite of a majority of families. In digging through my recipe cards, I ran across two chocolate cake recipes which have been handed down to the next generations a few times. Every family has their favorite chocolate cake recipes and I think these two may be included with those.

The chocolate sheet cake recipe can be baked and iced in about 30 minutes, because the icing is applied while the cake is still warm.

Chocolate Cookie Sheet Cake

- 2 c flour
- 2 c sugar
- 1/2 t salt
- 2 sticks oleo
- 3 T cocoa
- 2 eggs (well beaten)
- 1 t soda
- 1/2 c buttermilk
- 1 t vanilla
- 1 T cinnamon
- 1/2 c water

Sift flour. Resift with sugar and salt. Put oleo, water and cocoa in pan and bring it to a boil. Pour over the flour and sugar mixture. Mix eggs, soda, buttermilk and vanilla together in a separate bowl. Add to the flour-sugar mixture. Mix well. Pour into a well greased and floured sheet cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until done.

- Icing
- 1 stick oleo

- 3 T cocoa
  - 6 T milk
  - 1 box powered sugar
  - 1/2 c nuts
  - 1 t vanilla
- Combine oleo, cocoa, and milk in a small sauce pan. Heat over low flame. Do Not Boil. Remove from heat and pour over sugar, nuts and vanilla. Ice cake while it is still warm.
- *A substitution for buttermilk is 1 teaspoon vinegar per 1/2 c sweet milk.
- Cocoa Cola Cake
- 2 c flour
  - 2 c sugar
  - 1 c coke
  - 3 T cocoa
  - 1/2 c oil
  - 1/2 c oleo*
  - 1 1/2 c miniature marshmallows (optional)
  - 2 eggs
  - 1/2 c buttermilk
  - 1 t soda
  - 1 t vanilla
- Sift the flour and sugar together. Set aside. In a small sauce pan, bring to a boil the coke, cocoa, oil and oleo. Add to the flour mixture. Mix well. To this mixture add the eggs, buttermilk, soda, vanilla and marshmallows (optional), and mix well. Pour into a well greased and floured 9 x 13 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

- Icing
- 3 T cocoa
- 1 c nuts
- 6 T coke
- 1 stick oleo

- 1 box powered sugar
- 1 t vanilla
- 1/2 c nuts

Bring the first four items to a boil. Remove from the heat and add the powered sugar, vanilla and nuts.

Consider energy when selecting microwave methods

COLLEGE STATION — Although microwave ovens are easily the most energy-efficient cooking devices for small amounts of food, a Texas A&M University consumers study suggests a much closer look at add-on energy costs.

Gadgets like browning devices heap on energy consumption. For instance, in cooking beef patties energy increases ranged from 51 to 71 percent over cooking by microwave alone.

Researchers probe problems of chewed cables

COLLEGE STATION — How to stop pesky varmints from chewing up thousands of dollars worth of oil company seismic cable is a problem that is being tackled by scientists at Texas A&M University.

A curious rodent like a nutria or even a cow can knock out a $100,000 cable and put a $10,000-a-day crew out of work with one or two chomps.

The cables act similarly to radar to map underground structures that might hold oil reserves.

A major problem facing the Texas A&M researchers is that the devised method must work for different animals. While a crew might be able to take a pot shot at a rodent gnawing on a cable, no Western landowner would be as understanding about his cattle, explained geophysicist Dr. A. F. Gangi.

If you put a piece of wax paper directly on top of soups and stews before you refrigerate them, you can peel the fat off when they're cool.

Supreme Court Provides Equal Justice to All Citizens

By Theodore I. Koskoff, President Association of Trial Lawyers of America

Carved above the main entrance to the U.S. Supreme Court Building in Washington, D.C., is the inscription, "Equal Justice Under Law." These words sum up America's legal tradition.

The U.S. Supreme Court, which is the highest court in the nation, is made up of the Chief Justice and eight Justices who are appointed for life to the Court by the President with the consent of the Senate.

The Court has the awesome power to invalidate decisions of the other elected branches of government and has appellate jurisdiction for the lower courts and the state courts of last resort if a federal question is involved.

Everyone has heard the famous line, "I'll fight this case all the way up to the Supreme Court!" But actually few cases ever reach the Court. In most situations, review by the Court is not a matter of right. The Court must be petitioned by the lawyers involved to make a judgment on a case. But it accepts only a small number of them in order to function properly. The Court can agree to hear any state or federal case or can refuse to hear it without stating a reason.

Out of the thousands of cases it is asked to hear each year, the Court decides upon which cases it wants to hear, according to the significance and timeliness of the questions presented in the case by the attorneys.

Before a case which originates in a state can be heard by the Supreme Court, the case usually must be appealed through the state court system — often two appellate courts after the trial court.

When dealing with a federal question, a case is usually filed in the federal district court, is appealed to the federal court of appeals and then appealed to the Supreme Court to be heard.

Cases commonly reaching the Court are those involving litigants of the states themselves. Also coming under the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court are cases involving federal law.

The ultimate duty of the Supreme Court is to interpret existing law as stated in the United States Constitution and not to create new laws as many people mistakenly believe. Many of the Courts' decisions — such as school desegregation, rights of the accused, prayer in schools and censorship — have had a far reaching and lasting impact on all of the citizens of the country.

Under the supervision of a judge, the state police should be able to use electronic surveillance methods, such as wiretapping, in cases where suspected drug dealers are involved. (Bajo la supervision de un juez, debe de permitir a la policia estatal que use vigilancia electronica, incluir de "wiretapping" en caso de que se sospecha traficantes de drogas.)

Texas should have Initiative and Referendum, a way for the public to vote directly on issues and make law in elections rather than depending only on the state legislature. (Tejas debe tener Iniativo y Referendum, que sera una manera en que el publico puede votar directamente sobre asuntos y hacer leyes por elecciones en vez de solamente dependerse del la legislatura estatal.)

The Scientists Tell Me . . .

Cotton Gin Waste May Provide Low-Energy Gas

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Cotton gin waste may be Texas' most readily available source of agricultural biomass available for energy conversion. The mountainous quantities of hulls, stems, leaves, etc. accumulated at gins from cleaning lint off a more than 5-million-bale cotton crop offers a real challenge to an energy-hungry country.

Five major crops in Texas (sorghum, cotton, corn, wheat, and rice) produce more than 20 million tons of residue each year according to estimates of Dr. Wayne LePori and Dr. Ronald Laceywell, scientists at Texas A&M University. These Experiment Station researchers say this material has the energy potential equal to the amount of energy purchased each year for use on Texas farms.

And like amounts of energy are available in forest residues and unused woody species like mesquite, according to Dr. Ed Soltes, whose Station research focuses on wood chemistry.

The problem is accumulating and converting these masses of agricultural residues into a form of readily usable energy. Cost of accumulating and transporting some agricultural residues are presently uneconomical for their energy yield.

Not so in the case of gin trash; it's a by-product of essential processing of cotton.

A research and demonstration program for the use of biomass as an alternative energy source has been cooperatively developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Engineering Experiment Station, and the Center of Energy and Mineral Resources of the Texas A&M University System.

The Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council has also provided financial support from the Texas Energy Development Fund.

The research team evaluated various energy conversion techniques and concluded that fluidized-bed technology was best suited for converting biomass to usable energy.

Fluidized bed technology, which combines the physical characteristics of both a solid and a fluid, can be regulated to produce combustion, gasification, or pyrolysis.

Fine solids are transformed into a fluidlike state through contact with a gas or liquid.

If air is rapidly forced upward through a porous floor in a chamber containing granular particles, the particles become suspended in a churning turbulent mass which behaves and looks like a boiling liquid. This turbulent mass is termed a fluidized bed.

In a fluidized bed combustor, the solid particles absorb heat, become hot, and look like bubbling molten lava. The turbulence of the churning bed keeps the temperature uniform throughout the bed, and the solid particles provide for storage of heat.

When fuel is introduced into the fluidized bed, it rapidly absorbs heat from the solid particles, attains ignition temperature, and burns. This action permits a wide range of low-grade fuels to burn efficiently.

In operation of a fluidized bed, if sufficient air is present to completely burn the feed material, then only heat and hot, incombustible gases will be produced.

If air is limited in gasification, partial combustion results and combustible gases are produced. Further reduction of the air-to-fuel ratio results in pyrolysis which yields a combination of liquids, solids, and gases. Both gasification and pyrolysis have unique characteristics with attractive potential as longer-range energy alternatives.

In gasification processes, a maximum amount of combustible gas is produced, but in pyrolysis liquid fuel production is maximized.

Two fluidized bed gasification reactors have been built and tested at Texas A&M. About 18 standard cubic feet (scf) of dry gas were produced per pound of cotton gin trash in the small unit and about 26.6 scf per pound in the larger unit. This low-BTU gas had heat value ranging from 115-150 BTU/scf compared to natural gas averaging 1,000 BTU/scf.

The total energy produced in the form of gas from a pound of cotton gin waste was about the same for both units—approximately 3200 to 3400 BTU per pound.

"Little tar formation was observed in both units although it was detected at the lower operating temperatures," LePori says.

"Low tar percentage is important if gas is to be used in an internal combustion engine."

"On the basis of our short-duration experiments at A&M using cotton gin trash, with a combustor and two gasifiers, fluidized-bed technology appears to have a number of advantages for reclaiming this energy resource.

"This technique offers potential of providing small-scale energy conversion systems.

"Additional work is in progress to establish long-duration operating procedures and measure emissions in the off-gases from the combustor and gasifier," LePori concluded.

NEWS OF PHYSICAL FITNESS

Athletes are constantly looking for ways to build themselves up, to strengthen muscles used in a particular sport. A new product called Powerplay® is designed to strengthen fingers, wrists, forearms, elbows, upper arms and shoulders.

A handy exercising device you squeeze won't put the squeeze on your budget.

Powerplay has the look and feel of Silly Putty. It is made of unvulcanized silicone rubber that the manufacturer says is non-toxic. Powerplay comes in four different hardnesses for a graduated program, color coded for easy identification. The classic strengthening tool of this kind has been a tennis ball, but the manufacturer says that this product — because it can be flattened and squeezed into shape — provides "greater range of movement." Powerplay is "chewing gum for the hand," says the firm.

New York Yankees' trainer Gene Monahan, who has been using Powerplay with some players says, "Powerplay gives you some tension to work the fingers and the wrist. It's good for all kinds of injuries. There are a million different exercises you can do with it."

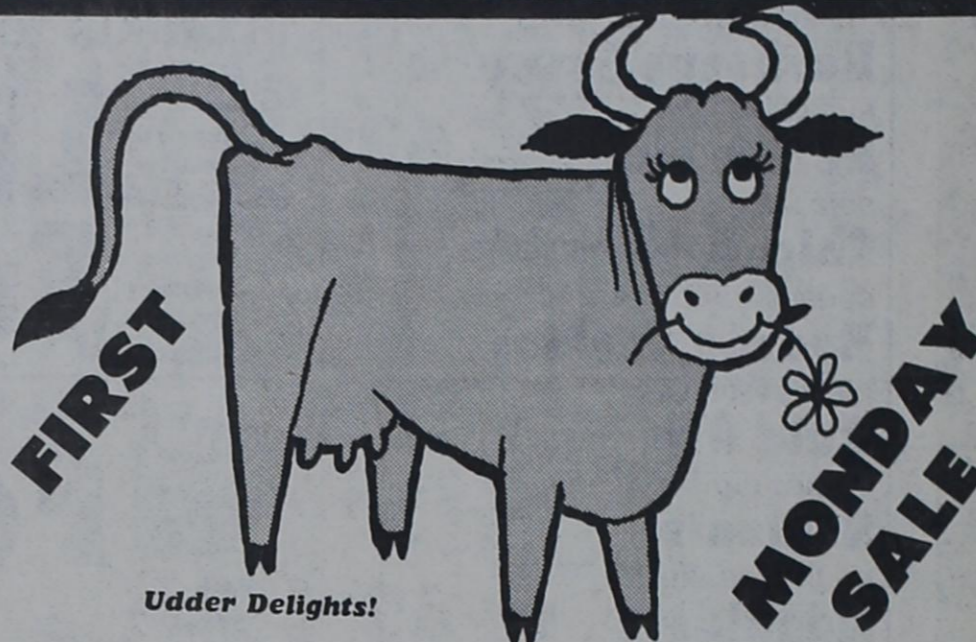

The trainer said he also liked Powerplay because it is compact and can be taken anywhere. "It keeps the players doing something, keeps them working their hands," he said. Powerplay can be ordered by writing to The Competitor's Edge, Inc., 95M South Hoffman Lane, Central Islip, New York 11722.
