GETTING ELECTED AGAIN

The office holder of today who can reduce taxes won't have to worry anything about being re-elected to the same office again. He ought to have a pension.

A Part of Highway Survey Is Accepted By Commissioners

County Commissioners Hold Called Session Friday Accepting Offer

In a called meeting of the County Commissioners held here Friday, the Board went on record as accepting the original state highway survey from the east county line to the east limits of Hedley. The motion was advanced by J. Less Hawkins.

The purpose of this motion is said to have been to encourage the Highway Commission to come to an agreement, or to induce them to make a counter proposition. It is said that those of the Board voting for this arrangement wish to get the matter in shape so that something may be accomplished.

It will be remembered that the Highway Commission proposed an agreement to the County Commissioners more than a year ago in which the state board agreed to grade a highway across the county and construct all necessary culverts and bridges.

The county was asked to furnish the right-of-way to complete the agreement. A committee was sent out to secure abstracts and deeds to the ground to be used by the highway over the surveyed route. A part of the work was completed when a disagreement arose as to location of highway on the east side of the county, and the matter was dropped.

The matter of building bridges and culverts in District 4 was discussed but no definite action was taken. Sid Harris presided at the meeting in the absence of county judge J. J. Alexander.

Party Makes Bond Friday On Home Brew Charge

Sheriff Pierce and Deputy Cleo Emerson made a search of the buildings at the old Word ranch headquarters Friday after they had received complaints that intoxicating liquor was being made and sold there.

They are said to have found several dozen bottles of home brew and the makings for more besides empty bottles and capper.

After the search, Sid Geddis was arrested and brought to town. Sid made bond in the sum of $1000 when taken before Judge L. O. Lewis, and will await the action of the fall session of the grand jury.

The many friends of Mrs. O. W. Latson will regret to know that she is confined to her home through illness.

Thousands Pass Over Donley County's Highways Daily

Traffic Census Men Counted Over Ten Thousand Autos Over 4-Day Period

According to a statement of O. J. Fleeman, foreman of state highways of this district, ten thousand six hundred and forty-nine cars and trucks passed over Donley county's highway system from Saturday morning till Tuesday night.

The count was made by two men each being stationed at each of five different places in the county. The heaviest traffic was on No. 5 four miles east of Clarendon when an average of 889 cars and trucks passed that point daily.

The count nine miles north of town on Highway 88 showed a daily average of 402 trucks and autos. On the same highway at the Donley-Gray county line, the average was 492.

On Highway five west of town at the Donley-Armstrong county line, the total amounted to a daily average of 655. The travel over this route last season when a census was taken amounted to a daily average of 946. Mr. Fleeman states that traffic in general is much below that of last year.

Old Fiddlers Strut Their Stuff at Leader Office

In a practice program of preparation for the fiddle contest here the 2nd of July, a barn dance program was staged at the Leader office Saturday night.

W. C. Reeves of Lelia, T. L. Clark, and Joe David swung heavily on fiddles while Reid Aycock accompanied on the guitar.

At least one or more of every old-time piece was played. If one player could not handle a number, another would volunteer. Two fiddlers frequently played the same piece at the same time.

T. L. Clark can second on a fiddle and nothing else if you hear him. He with W. C. Reeves are hard to beat on old-time stuff as it was played forty years ago. They carry all the rhythm and punch with a deftness in handling the bow that would run Ole Bull crazy.

Mrs. Harlan B. Naylor Leads in Story Hour

The Pathfinder story hour continues to attract a large number of children, more than forty being present Tuesday evening of this week. The story hour is conducted near the Girl's Dormitory building at 7 p.m. on Tuesday of each week. Half of the period is devoted to story telling and half to a play and game period.

Mrs. Tom Goldston was story teller at the meeting Tuesday with Mrs. R. L. Bigger and Mrs. Allen J. Bryan as sponsors.

Mrs. Harlan B. Naylor conducted the play period in which singing games are a favorite with the children. Mrs. Naylor, in addition to her natural talent for the work, has received training that eminently fits her for this position.

Though not a member, those actively identified with the Pathfinder Club greatly appreciate the fact that she has given liberally of her time and talent at each of the four meetings held this month.

Officers Pick up Negro Wanted at Pampa

Receiving a call from Pampa officers instructing them to keep a look out Tuesday for a certain negro alleged to have broken in to a store at Pampa Monday night, members of the Sheriff's force combed "nigger town" Tuesday night taking in charge one Oscar Lindsey who suited the description.

When the negro was taken to jail, some seventy-five dollars was found on him. He offered the officers a price to turn him loose but was locked up over night. Pampa officers came and returned him to that place Wednesday.

Colored Folks Celebrate Juneteenth Friday

Quite a number of the colored folks went to Amarillo Friday where the big show was staged for celebrating Emancipation Day.

A number of the local colored citizens picniced at Lelia and fished. The day went off quietly, the Sheriff visiting nigger town at various times, reports no disturbance and no fights which is a fine record for that day.

Laundry Accident Becomes Incident Wednesday

When the water tank at the Laundry tumbled down Wednesday shortly after noon, it carried with it the smoke stack because of a wire connecting the two.

The smokestack fell across the roof, and had it not been a well constructed affair, the accident might have been serious as a number of the employees were working in that portion of the room directly beneath when the smokestack lodged on the roof. As it happened, little damage was done.

Joe Ballard of Vega visited in the W. F. Dubbs home Sunday.

Man of Many Trades Again Returns to Clarendon

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Taylor and daughter, Lois Marie returned Tue. from Ft. Collins, Colorado where they have been for the past several months. Homer states that he is glad to again be on his old stomping ground.

Mrs. Bessie Smith, county clerk of Donley county, and son Benton left Wednesday for Hope, Arkansas where they will visit her mother and two brothers.

Miss Lois Alexander and Miss Mary Howren returned from Crowell Saturday where they visited friends over the past two weeks.

G. G. Kemp had business in Pampa Wednesday.

Clemmens Family Wins Over Whitefish Ball Team Sunday

Father of Sixty-Seven Leads His Family to Victory of Fifteen to Three

A new record has been set in baseball annals in Donley county. Never before in the history of the game has a family made up the entire nine, but such an incident happened near Alaneared Sunday.

The Clemmens family gathered to celebrate the 67th birthday of Uncle Bob Clemmens who proposed to take his boys and beat Whitefish. He did. The score stood 15 to 3 in favor of the family team.

Uncle Bob hails from the free state of Jack county where he early learned to throw by knocking squirrels out of trees with rocks. His sons inherited this trait even to the second generation so strong is Jack county influence.

Vodie Clemmens, a grandson, is the sixteen-year old twirler who has led the Goldston nine to victory on every occasion.

The Clemmens lineup was as follows: Jake, c; Vodie, p; John, 1b; George, 2b; Dudley, 3b; Vernon, ss; Uncle Bob, rf; I. E., lf.

When it came time for Uncle Bob to bat, he spat on his hands and reared back like a professional. He whacked the first ball that was thrown and despite his 67 years, made a mad dash for first base—and got there. He led his family to victory and is proud of the record.

Trade Trippers Given Big Reception All Along Route

Gus Stevenson's Band Talent Make Big Hit Drawing Crowds on Visit

Again was it demonstrated that a band is necessary on numerous occasions when the booster trips of Friday and Wednesday were taken to advertise the celebration here July 2, 3 and 4th.

Some twenty of the band talent accompanied the motorcade. Gus Stevenson directed the band playing in each of the towns visited regardless of the size.

The trip Friday included visits to Hedley, Memphis and Estelline reaching Childress at noon hour. Their Chamber of Commerce entertained the band with a luncheon and otherwise showed our folks a real time in a real town.

After noon Wellington, Shamrock, McLean and Alaneared were visited, each of the towns showing a high sense of appreciation. About two hundred miles was covered with eight stops in ten hours. The number to make the trip is estimated at about seventy-five.

The 4th of July booster trip Wednesday saw an even larger number of cars in the motorcade. Stops were made at Claude where the band played and a hasty trip made on to Amarillo.

A "welcome committee" sent out from Amarillo to meet the Clarendon crowd failed to function because they missed the crowd. The motorcade went directly to the building of the Globe-News and staged a concert. The Chief of the police took the lead in a tour of the streets stopping traffic lights for the benefit of the visitors.

The next stop was at Panhandle where the crowd took on a noon-day feed forcing the cafe owner to make the second trip to the grocers. The band gave a concert and were paid a compliment by the ladies who "showered" them with roses. A native chose to speak and stated Panhandle would be at Clarendon in full force for the big show.

Whitdeer enjoyed the band music and Pampa accorded the visitors every courtesy. The band headed a parade on the streets. Groom was visited on the return where the band played several numbers.

Nothing happened to mar the happiness of the trippers except that the car of Ben Andis became overburdened with hot air and suffered a compound fracture of an inner tube.

G. G. Kemp had business in Pampa Wednesday.

Sheriff In Fair Statement Warns All Booze Drinkers

Peddling of Booze, Petting Parties With Beer Come Under The Ban

Sheriff Guy Pierce in a statement recently said, "I want every one to have a big time the Fourth of July, but there must not be any violations of the law by drinking parties."

He especially called attention to the fact that petting parties on the highway are a violation of the law, and that some of these parties entertain with home brew drinking.

It is his opinion that some of our best citizens will be caused no end of embarrassment by reason of the fact that some member of their family are arrested and exposed if these "parties" do not cease.

He expressed a desire to warn all those who have been "taking chances" but at the same time made the positive statement that violators of the law would be arrested regardless of who they might be.

No favoritism will be shown. There will be no "begging off" when the pinch comes. All guilty parties may expect to take the consequences if caught. Every effort is being put forth to catch peddlers of intoxicants. The sheriff makes this announcement as a warning while there is yet time to quit.

Eby Stocking Has Interesting Exhibit African Trophies

Specimens Show a Wonderful Progress in Carving Art of Dark Continent

Local people are fortunate that Eby Stocking collected a large number of specimens of natural and manufactured articles while on his recent trip through Portuguese Africa.

One is at once astounded to see the wonderful skill possessed by the dusky natives in the art of hand carving, most of which is done on ivory, though wood materials come in for a goodly share of attention.

Some of the carving is so minute and exacting that one must look closely to see the hair lines picturing the animal and fowl of that section. Faces carved from wood for use in ceremonial functions are interesting, and especially those made to look more hideous by the addition of horns. Highly carved oars and other useful instruments as well as bows and arrows.

Cloth woven from banana fiber is smooth and soft. Water grass is also made into a form of cloth that is at once surprising because of its texture. Other specimens show a high degree of skill.

Coins and ornaments of many kinds are included in the collection. Native jewelry is of curious designs, the anklet for "mildly" adorned weighing several pounds and made from brass.

Skins of the leopard, elephant, wild boar, rhino and other tusks of ivory are shown. Horns of the gray antelope that is larger than a horse when on his range, deer horns and other wild animal trophies are in the exhibit.

This interesting exhibit was shown at the Stocking drug store Saturday where it attracted many and a part of it, including a large skin of the python snake, was shown at the Pastime Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to further advertise "Trader Horn", a play based on the explorations of the author in remotest sections of Africa.

Mrs. Nora McMurry, County Superintendent of schools, who is attending C. I. A. at Denton, reports that she is enjoying the work very much.

Miss Lucille Allen visiting friends in Altus and Dallas returned home Saturday night.

"Tub" Tidwell is Victim of New Stunt

Filling station men often have a supposed customer drive away without paying for gasoline once it is put into the tank, but "Tub" Tidwell, tank truck driver for Sinclair had an unusual experience Wednesday morning.

An airplane lit at the landing field. The driver came down town and asked Frank Hommel, local Sinclair agent, if he would deliver gasoline to his plane. Frank readily consented and Tidwell took the gas out and filled the plane tank.

After filling the tank, the driver kicked off and told Tidwell to collect from a party he had left behind. The man and woman left behind were broke and were merely hitch-hiking by plane. They later left footback west on the highway. Tidwell forgot to get the plane number and a new experience was added to the filling station list in Clarendon.

Burglars Enter Two Places Lelia Saturday Nite

No clew has been found toward the apprehension of the burglar who entered the depot and lumber yard at Lelia Lake Saturday night.

The amount secured at the depot amounted to $13.85. The lumber yard safe yielded up to the burglar about $24.

The Sheriff's office was notified and an investigation is being made. No clews were left behind on either of the safe jobs, it apparently being the work of a professional.

Wrestling Match Is Big Drawing Card Here July Second

First Event in Celebration of July 4th Features Men of Southwest

T. G. Stargel, local promoter, will stage the first wrestling match that Clarendon has had since the days when Jack Freeman made his headquarters here. This is to be a real wrestling match with two good men on the main match with plenty of amusement in the preliminaries.

In the main match Dutch Mantell of Amarillo, Texas will tangle legs and arms with Pablo Robriquez, welterweight of Old Mexico. "Dutch" is well known in the Panhandle having wrestled some of the best boys in this part of the country. Pablo comes with a good reputation as a real wrestler. These boys will show the fans something that only the larger cities have been having.

The first thing on the card will be a battle royal between five of the local colored boys. This should be worth the price of admission by itself.

The next will be the preliminaries with Jack Jones, undefeated wrestler of Oklahoma, and Densil Davis, the local gas man. Davis hails from Ohio where he held the former amateur title.

The program will be held in the building next door to the Anpro July 2nd at 8:30 p.m.

Stargel made the statement that it would be a real match which he thinks the fans will enjoy seeing. Another feature of the evening will be the appearance of Cal Farley as the third man in the ring.

Uncle Bill Smith Recovers From Serious Illness

After a tussle with heart trouble and high blood pressure over a period of nearly a month, Uncle Billie Smith is again out on the streets.

His children, Mrs. Pearl Owen of Abilene, Mrs. A. G. Amerson and husband of Abilene, and his son Harvey Smith and family of Plainview were here several days during which time he was not expected to live. They left for their homes Sunday after he had recovered sufficiently to be out again.

Uncle Billie says the flowers and the friends that came to his home were worth millions to him when he was flat of his back. Yes, every body is glad Uncle Bill is up again.

Mrs. Eva Humphrey is visiting friends in Pampa.

Donley County's Truck Growers Hard Hit By New Law

Peddlers' License Law May Force Change in Method of Selling

Growers of peas, melons, tomatoes, corn and other truck in Donley county are somewhat disturbed over the fact that a law passed at the last session of the Legislature will force truck peddlers from the plains to pay a license in every county where they sell produce.

It is possible that those growing produce in large quantities may have to buy trucks or make arrangements to sell their own produce. The law does not apply to one selling produce if such is offered for sale by the grower.

Growers in small quantities will be hard pressed if they have to buy trucks to transport their produce to the plains, they say, because it will cost them more than they can possibly make out of the produce.

The new law is said to have been passed to protect the wholesale fruit and vegetable houses against peddlers transporting produce from the valley district to West Texas. They hope to force merchants to buy from them instead of from truck peddlers, it is said.

Sweet Adeline has been murdered by more embryo singers and would be tenors than any other song in the history of songdom.

Evolution!

Some baker will start a fad some day of making square pies in order to economize on oven space. We have often wondered why pies were made by a round pattern anyhow.

Concrete Evidence.

A prehistoric animal has been found in Alabama with its leg bones wrapped around its neck. This would indicate that the rumble seat is not by any means a new idea.

His Ancestors.

A whole lot of the young men in the penitentiary today could trace their ancestry back to the time when their mother entertained a brainless fop in the parlor before he became their father, while her mother frilled dishwater in the kitchen after a hard day's work.

Your Competitor.

Most every newspaper man wants to say something decent about every one. If he should by any chance say a good word for your competitor, don't take it that he is knocking on you. He will be saying the same things about you next time no doubt.

Staple Articles.

Times may get ever so hard, but there are a few things that continue to find a ready market among most of the folk.

Among these articles we might list tobacco either for chawing, snuffing or puffing. Ever know one to quit it on account of hard times. Then there is gasoline, booze and face powder hitting on six regardless. Some one to buy one or more of them under any and all circumstances.

Poor Losers.

There is no truer test of a man's qualities than when his competitors forge ahead. The little one track mind can't stand it. It bursts the bubble of his egotism. He attempts to lean on his supposed friends. His howl for help is pitiful but deserved. Often when he finds excuses won't take the place of results accomplished by honest effort based on merit, he sulks and pouts. If he spent half as much time going after business as he does in trying to 'down' his competitor, he would have no kick coming.

Common Sense.

How much longer will this thing have to last before we can begin having family picnics out on the creeks? Places where the older folks may visit and the kiddies play in the creek and climb trees.

There was a time when folks were neighborly. That was before we got on a "high horse" and went hog wild. We're gradually getting back to it. It won't be many months before we can join the neighbors folks, pile the kids into the family flivver and get in the open spaces.

Please pass the yellow legged chicken, ham and pickles. Fill up this cup again with that camp coffee. Pitch me an onion. Boy! That's living.

Pajamas—Flapdoodles.

Pajama wearing among the women folks is a late fad. It is spreading. A Dallas preacher asked his congregation to vote on whether pajama clad women should be permitted to attend services in his church. They left it up as a bad job after listening to a number of members, a part of whom were ladies.

When such fads hit us, they hit us right in the face. We are swamped from the start. The article in this case runs in all shades and stripes from zebra to a leopard spot.

The women are powerless to resist fashion. Men may grumble but since it is none of their business, the women will go right on having their way about it. They may be wearing regalia similar to a tent fly of the flapdoodle class next.

Girls Who Work.

Yes, a lot of them do. Too often her earnings become necessary as a shield to keep the wolf from the door. Perhaps it is to support an invalid or the aged.

What a relief to see womanhood in all its splendor. She smiles from behind the desk or the counter. Her hands may be stained from dishwater, factory grease or printer's ink. Or perhaps she wears a badge of honor in the form of callous spots in the palm of her hands from work in the field.

All honor to the brave toiler. She's a princess worth while and it is an honor to be worthy of her esteem. Lift your hat to her, young man, as she passes. If you are ever privileged to have her bear your name, you can rest assured that you will find her at home when necessary. She won't throw your earnings out the back door faster than you can throw it in the front door. God bless the working girl!

Are They Heathens?

We read much in print about barbarous Russia. A nation that is described as being inhabited by atheists, bewhiskered and wild. We often wonder what that nation will accomplish should it become civilized.

Heathens of that nation go in for mass production. They have no beggars. Their schools turn out men with whom the men of other nations fear to cope on a basis of shrewd business dealings.

These same heathens threaten to dump on markets of other nations wheat, lumber, oil, gasoline and minerals produced by mass production methods that threaten our markets by reason of the low price at which they are offered.

Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, small nations near Russia's border have no fears of invasion. Russia has no time for war. They are building a stronger nation. They have turned from destruction to construction.

The Russian government began ten years ago with total disorganization, widespread poverty and ignorance and no equipment and today have captured the wheat markets of the world.

Our nation began fifty years ago a program of intensive agricultural expansion with hundreds of scientifically trained men backed by plenty of money and the latest improved machinery, and cannot cope with Russia.

The reason is plain. We allow gamblers to traffic in wheat and other commodities while the producers beg food from the Red Cross.

Believe what we will from the biased press, the whole world fears Russian progress. Much of the condemnation may be coming from those who have not been privileged to pillage her people. "Russia for Russians" is the slogan of the big giant.

Farmers Hit Again.

Many a farmer would be willing to make a living, and more if possible, but the law won't allow it.

That peddler's bill passed by the last session of the great (?) law-making body of Texas shuts dozens of Donley county farmers off from market. Under the new bill, truck driving peddlers from the plains will be compelled to pay a license in each county where they propose to sell produce bought from our local farmers.

When the truck peddlers pay a license, that means that the farmer must take less, or that the consumer must pay more. Since every law making club affecting any class usually falls on the head of the farmer, it is most likely that our farmers will be forced to take less.

You boys who run the gauntlet of insects, hot winds, dry weather, hail storms and whatnot this season, will be brought face to face with the new law that is designed to cut your income and help the wholesale fruit and vegetable houses.

Who ramrodded that bill through down at Austin? The wholesale fruit men were on the job with lobbyists crying about the welfare of the children. They claimed the housewives of this great state were being imposed upon by peddlers offering fruit and vegetables unfit to eat.

They claimed that the produce offered, spread disease, and at the same time the bill plainly implies that if a peddler spreads disease, he shall pay a license for doing so. Who in thunder asked the wholesale fruit and vegetable corporations to take over the functions of the State Health Department?

Every farmer ought to make a study of the names of the lawmakers who voted for that bill and be ready to black his name at the next election. Any honest man who would saddle an added burden upon the producing class during these times of stress hasn't got sense enough to become assistant janitor in a jail.

Hoover Politics.

The next presidential campaign is in the offing—just around the corner. It looks bad for the boys who are lined up at the pie counter whether they are guilty of misconduct or not.

Hoover felt out his crowd at Valley Forge recently. He told the folks on Washington's old stamping ground that conditions were once bad there before like it is today. He had to go back 154 years to find anything to compare to conditions in a government run by Andy Mellon in which Hoover played second and even third fiddle.

His next trip was to the middle west to see if any had survived the starvation period. He found a few and they did not warm up to him. The papers said Hoover was disappointed. Worse than that, he must have been disgusted.

He howled around Lincoln's tomb in a dedicatory ceremony and talked to a few other memorial rocks but nobody took any interest. When he got back home he evidently told Andy a few things.

Andy's coat tails stood straight out in a mad race to catch a boat for the other side of the pond. Andy was the boy to save the day. When he arrived in England that bunch of monikers told him they were in bad, and that they were simply having hell in Germany.

Germany had Facists and Communists breaking out in big spots. They got hungry and wanted a let up from conditions. The world might have been saved for "democracy," but they couldn't eat democracy.

Now the latest news comes that Andy has hit upon plans by which the money barons are to lay low for a year and give the common herd a rest. Let them pick up somewhat and try to do something to live things up over here and save Republican politics.

Nations owing war debts are to be given a year's rest from payments. This will give England, Germany, Austria and Italy a chance to recover. France wasn't paying anything nohow, so they will be ignored in this new arrangement.

If this new plan does not revive business considerably, the Republicans will be defeated next year, and as for the common run of folks, it will just be Katy bar the door.

Beginning At Home

There is no surer sign of better times right here in Donley county than the fact that a variety of crops are being planted.

Feed must be grown at home. Truck patches must be grown for the home canner. Food and feed cost our citizens thousands of dollars the past year. Let's keep this money at home.

THE Triplex safety glass windshield has always been an outstanding feature of the Model A Ford. By reducing the dangers of flying glass, it has saved many lives and prevented countless injuries in automobile collisions.

Now comes a further assurance of safety to every Ford owner . . . polished plate safety glass in ALL DOORS AND WINDOWS at slight additional cost.

The charge for this extra protection is unusually low because of large production and the development of new methods of manufacture. Simply tell the dealer when you buy the Ford that you want "safety plate glass in all doors and windows" and the car will be factory-equipped for you in that manner.

Today, as before, the safety glass windshield is furnished as standard equipment on all Ford cars without extra charge.

FORD OWNERS This announcement refers only to NEW CARS. Ford dealers are not in a position to install safety glass in the windows of your present Ford at the above prices.

There's a difference in all things of course and this bank is known as a bank of "personal service", and we realize there is a difference—something more than mere service.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH

By the Apostle

Mi Gosh! Have you seen the latest? The female pajama, I mean. Loud colors and hat to match. One leg of 'em would make a half dozen dresses of the 1929 model. Listen! we have some stiff breezes some times, and both pajamas and girl may be carried up making it necessary to shoot a hole in her pants to get her down before she starves.

The hat has the appearance of a dilapidated calf shed of the old days. Only it is mostly striped like a barn—red and white. Great rig! Brace your self, they're coming and I don't mean maybe. Let 'em come, it's none of our business.

Not a bad idea either. Free and easy, nice and cool. The fat ones will look like a circus tent in motion, but how can we help it? In horse days we might expect some wrecked rigs. A horse naturally shied at strange objects that appeared to be going some place. Am wondering what the good woman is going to do about this new fad.

Klean Kids' Klub! Can you feature that? The boys are organizing. The only requirement is to bathe in the creek. The initiation consists of a "chaw bacon" procedure as we used to do long ago. Of course they will throw a few extra fits to add excitement. When the thing begins to function, we'll tell you more about it.

And, say, the Sheriff and one of his deputies missed a good haul. A report came up from south of Lelia this week that three cars were parking in a lane for the second time in as many nights.

The officers went down to break up a petting party to which a near by family objected. An inspection of the three cars disclosed boxes. Boxes piled high to the capacity of the car. It looked like a big haul. Shot guns were gotten ready. Plans were carefully made to capture three cars bearing Oklahoma licenses together with their human inhabitants. When the officers got up to the cars they found that the sleeping men were sky pilots and the boxes contained Bibles which they were selling.

The men showed up the load. They even showed how they had collected material on the rounds for a book of a religious nature. There was not a bottle in any of the cars after a careful search. Guy Pierce said: "I felt like a blamed fool shaking down a bunch of preachers." But you can never tell. Banks tie strings to their counter pencils for the same reason that we lock our doors in a nation that boasts of a high christian civilization.

Boys, boys, also some girls. There is an epidemic on against the wholesale making and careless handling of home brew. Totin' it around is running two risks. You may have it stolen, or the peace officers may take it, and you along with it.

My prediction is that the woman who claims she can make and sell home brew here will be frailing suds or spenking dishwater at the jail in less than a week.

The following reader notice appeared in the classified column of the Chicago Tribune Sunday: SHELTON: Come home Henry, I am worried. I will not harm you. Ida.

Henry is evidently taking a vacation. He is likely sporting around a cool lakeside resort. As for Ida, she must have put on a show or at least run a good bluff. Not having the pleasure of a personal acquaintance, I could not say that her promise will hold water, but I bet her hands will hold a club.

This heat is producing a brain storm. Here she comes—

A sweet young singer named Diana, Was caught in a flood at LLano As she floated away, her sister they say, Accompanied her on the piano. There is just this about it, if you need any auto parts, look for them around the railroad crossings.

Most of the time the Apostle has trouble. This time it's the good woman. Her favorite calf is trying to eat up the henhouse. If any one knows how to change the appetite of a calf from weather-beaten boards to the simple diet of a normal calf, please call 455 and tell her about it.

She threatens me with destruction if this notice does not get results. Please be kind to dumb animals—both me and the calf.

To show their interest in the welfare of the homes of this state, the big shots of the Republican party are expecting to stage a Home Made Lye Soap convention at Galveston next month, and I have a free trip.

Did you ever march around the big pot in the back yard poking up the fire while the soap material cooked out? 'Member how we tested it with a feather. Soap making did not come around very often giving the shins time to recover from the burns while stirring the soap.

The affair will likely be managed by a Hoover appointed commission as we now have commissions for every other form of job. The Red Cross is expected to come to the rescue in this pinch and supply the ingredients.

A farmer told me today that at present prices, it would take nearly six bushels of wheat to buy a poll tax to vote for a continuance of prosperity.

Sunday being Father's Day, it was generally celebrated. The dandelion has been adopted as the "flora emblematic" and how scarce they are here! This flower was adopted for two reasons.

The flower is considered to be a pest. They also make an excellent grade of beer. Therefore the suggestion is, let the pest make beer, he's not fit for anything else.

The Apostle is displaying a fine Martha Washington geranium. The flower was selected by a daughter in-law. Had the boys been making the selection, they might have hunted up a wild dandelion—who knows?

Now that Governor Murray has come out flat-footedly in favor of the moon theory based on personal investigation and practice, that settles it so far as the Apostle is concerned. We knew he was right before he spoke. He's a farmer.

Any man who can wave his club at a bunch of billionaire gas corporations and tell them to reduce rates and get a reduction right off the bat, is not only a smart man, but he has the best interests of his people sincerely at heart. And that is what Gov. Murray did and nothing else. He knows his okra and gas too.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

When you visit your physician for your periodic health examination, one of the very first things he asks you to do is to open your mouth wide, and to say "Ah." He is examining the delicate lining of your throat. "Ah!" There is not a man or woman who could even make this simple sound, if in the throat there were no Adam's Apple. For your Adam's Apple is your larynx—the voice box containing your vocal chords. And what a delicate piece of Nature's handiwork the Adam's Apple is. A slight cold—even a tiny particle lodged in the throat—and our voice often grows husky. In acute cases, we may even lose our voice for several days. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY instead—remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder 20,679 American physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating. LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

Chevrolet Sales Are Recovering From Depression Days

Sales of June Better Than June of Last Season is Best Indication

DETROIT, Mich., June 21—Evidence of definitely improving business conditions was presented here today by H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, upon his return to the central office after six months continuous traveling over all parts of the country.

Citing figures of his own company in support of his belief, Mr. Klingler said that the final tabulation of June sales figures would show the current month ahead of last June, and that he expected every remaining month this year to show a gain over the corresponding month of 1930.

"From the standpoint of Chevrolet business," Mr. Klingler said, "the brightest spot in the country right now is the area along the North Atlantic seaboard. We are doing more business there than we ever did. This fact is significant because that area first felt the effects of the stock market slump, and it appears to be, appropriately, the first to recover.

"Similarly, the Pacific Coast, although never so hard hit as the rest of the country, is showing favorably on our sales chart. In the South, mills which had been idle for months are starting operations—on a curtailed basis—but they are moving. The drought area in the middle and south central part of the country requires the stimulus of a new crop for recovery, and by fall such stimulus will be felt. I am in hopes that by the time the favorable conditions now evident on the two coasts will have spread out to include the entire country.

"I do not look for a quick return of the boom times of 1929, but we are gradually working out of the slump, and have been since the first of the year. Some liquidating remains to be done, particularly in commercial paper and real estate, and until it is completed it will act as a drag on a speedy recovery.

"Money is plentiful. And people are willing to spend it for things they desire. The tremendous over-subscription of the recent federal bond issue demonstrated that. The only thing necessary to lure that money into normal channels of trade is restoration of confidence.

"Advertising is the great builder of confidence. It brings money into circulation, which means good times. This year we increased our newspaper advertising over last year."

Hamper and Basket Ensembles

The ensemble's the thing! Everything in the household is supposed to match these days—to move in "sets" as it were. A word to the wise Christmas shopper is sufficient. The latest combination to join the ensemble movement is hamper and waste-basket ensemble. The shops are showing adorable lacquered sets flower-decorated so artistically that they are sure to add a beauty touch to any environment.

If We Knew.

If we knew the cares and crosses
Crowding round our neighbor's
Way;

If we knew the little losses,
Sorely grievous day by day,
Would we then so often chide him
For the lack of thrift and gain

Casting o'er his life a shadow,
Leaving on his heart a stain?
If we knew the silent story
Quivering thru the heart of pain,

Would our womanhood dare doom
them

Back to haunts of guilt again?
Life hath many a tangled crossing,
Joy hath many a break of woe,
And the cheeks tear-washed seem whitest

This the blessed angels know.
Let us reach into our bosoms
For the key to other lives,
And with love to erring nature,

Cherish good that still survives;
So that when our disrobd spirits
Soar to realms of light again,
We may say, dear Father, judge us
As we judged our fellow men.

SHOT FULL OF HOLES

A man who had been living a life, to put it mildly, that was a little irregular, wanted to have his life insured, and applied to a friend of his, who was an agent for a big company, for a policy. The agent sent the company's doctor to examine the applicant, and that was the last he heard of it for a time.

Meeting his friend on the street he said: "Say, George, how about that life insurance policy of mine? Don't I get it?"

"Well," said the agent, "you know in our company it is the custom of the doctor, after he examines a man, to take a chart of the human body, and he punches a hole in it wherever he finds anything wrong."

"Oh, is that so, George? Did the doctor do that in my case?"

"He sure did and he took the chart home and put it on his player piano, and played 'Nearer, My God to Thee!'"

BOYS WHO CAN COOK

Most schools now have domestic science departments that teach cooking, and one of the interesting things about them is that more and more boys are taking advantage of them to learn the art of the skillet and the pan.

Yet many boys would jeer at the idea of learning to cook, considering that such a thing was "sissy." What a ridiculous attitude that is! Any man who spends much time alone in the woods or the wilds, hunting, trapping, working, or on a vacation, realizes the importance of being a good cook, and is proud of his ability to prepare an appetizing meal. These men are certain ly not sissies. Nor were the pioneer who cooked their own meals and faced all the dangers of a primitive country at the same time.

If cooking outdoors is manly, why isn't cooking in the house? after all, every boy will admit that eating is important, and if we want to eat well, we must cook. Don't let the fear of being a sissy keep you from learning this important art.

W. E. George of Goodnight had business in Clarendon Thursday and visited his friends, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smith.

Perhaps it is a hint on Santa's part to keep the hearthstone spic and span for his coming. Anyway, his pack contains an unusual variety of amusing fireplace brushes this year. They are extremely decorative, too, for the spirit of the times is for the humblest utilitarian article to be ornamented to the nth degree as well as useful.

Telephone Company Installs Phone at College Park

Through the courtesy of Carl Throp, district manager of the State telephone company, a 'phone has been installed at College Park for the free use of the officials throughout the celebration of July 2, 3 and 4th.

THE TELEPHONE GIRLS

The telephone girl sits still in her chair and listens to the voices from everywhere. She hears all the gossip, she hears all the news, she knows who is happy and who has the blues; she knows all our sorrows, she knows all our joys, she knows every girl that is chasing the boys; she knows of our trouble she knows of our strife; she knows every man that talks mean to his wife; she knows every time that we are out with the "boys"; she hears the excuses each fellow employs; she knows every man who has a dark past, she knows every woman who is inclined to be "fast" in fact there's a secret beneath each saucy curl of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl told all that she knows it would turn half our friends into bitterest foes; she could sow a small wind that would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she could let go a story, which gaining in force, would cause half our wives to sue for divorce; she could get all our churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing night; in fact, she could keep the whole town in a stew, if she'd tell a tenth part of the things which she knows. Oh brother, now doesn't it make your head whirl when you think what you owe to the telephone girl?

Texas Press Meeting

The Texas Press Association held its annual meeting in San Angelo last week, adjourning Saturday afternoon, after selecting Mineral wells as the next meeting place. The annual session of the association was built around what was termed a "Build Texas" program, and Texas editors were told how to build and help every institution except their own, by the president of many of Texas most important business institutions and utilities. A number of the most prominent speakers failed to appear at the meeting, sending typewritten speeches, which were read at the appointed time. Texas editors have in the past accomplished more than any other group of men in making Texas what it is today and few of them feel that they could accomplish very much more good by listening to an address on the cancellation of the national war debt, or a number of other similarly uninteresting talks. Speaking from the viewpoint of a weekly newspaper man, who comes directly in contact with every movement, large or small, which has a tendency to build their community, and a state is built up by the upbuilding of communities, we feel that they as a whole know the requisites for progress, as well or better than some of the editors of the large dailies, who gain their knowledge more from the reading of the subject as a whole than from directly helping to achieve success in the integral units which go to make up the entire movement. Country editors, or rather many of them, had already heard on previous occasions the cut-and-dried speeches which many of the industrial executives must necessarily make on occasions such as the one upon which they were invited to speak, and did not feel inclined to travel several hundred miles to hear them again, and as a result a number in this section did not attend the meeting, preferring to help "build Texas" in their own accustomed manner. But being democratic, we have no kick to make, and if it suited the majority of the press bunch, it suited us, and we rejoice at the success of the 1931 meeting.

Newman Barber Shop Gets New Fixtures

Four barber chairs of the very latest patterns have been added to his shop recently by J. F. Newman. These chairs are the last word in the automatic barber chair according to Mr. Newman, and as good as can be had.

Sanitary cases of glass for caring for brushes and other "artillery" used by the barbers have been placed before the mirrors and convenient places. In looking over the shop it may be easily seen that the owner had sanitation and cleanliness in mind, the idea extending even to sanitary paper cups for each individual at the water fountain.

The interior has been gone over by the painter. The flat white surface adds much to the lighting effect as well as the general appearance of cleanliness. The barber business at this shop does not appear to be badly affected by the depression.

"From Despair to Happiness"

(or Cupid in the Northland)

Written by W. E. Ferrell

We found another place for a camp and prepared to settle down for the night.

After supper we sat around the fire and talked for an hour or so but Doris was very much fatigued and soon began to yawn and stretch. In a few moments she began to get her blankets ready for sleep.

Doris was soon in slumber-land and the dogs were all dozing, but sleep seemed to flee from me and I watched the glowing embers of our fire as they flickered out one by one. I knew that my mission would soon be ended, my task completed. Then there would be that loneliness that I had been dreading for many days. There would be that parting that I had been looking forward to, with fear and trembling, since she arrived at my cabin. Several times in my life I had separated from loved ones and friends but this time I did not see how I was going to stand to leave this new found flower. Its roots were bedded deep in my heart and I knew that to lose it would tear asunder the very vitals of my inner-self.

Long before day, I rekindled the fire and placed the coffee pot where it would boil. The bacon and eggs were fried and every thing ready for breakfast before I aroused Doris from her slumber. She seemed much surprised to see me up so early, but I informed her that we must need make an early start if we wished to reach Chisana by noon.

The dogs were in their harness and we were on our way long before the sun peeped over the distant hills.

For the first few miles the country was rough and traveling was slow, but about two hours after we broke camp, I saw the old Shisana trail far away to the right, winding in and out among the snow covered hills. At first Doris could not see the trail, but at last she caught sight of several slow moving specks, which were travelers and dog teams on their way to the new gold country.

We were not long in reaching this trail, then traveling was much better. About three hours after reaching the old trail we began to see where men had staked claims along the banks of the creeks, and here and there among the hills could be seen rough made cabins and huts, which told the story, that men were going to invest their labor, time and money in search of the yellow dust. Some would succeed, others would fail and lose their savings of a life time. Some would return to home and loved ones, with gold enough to make them happy for the remaining days of their lives, others would never leave the gold field, and their friends at home would never know their fate. The final resting place of some would be marked by a rugged board or stick while others would be placed in unmarked graves.

We climbed to the top of the hill, there a mile or so below us, lay the mining camp, a cluster of shanties and huts. We were almost at our journey's end, soon we would reach the settlement of Chisana.

A week passed, my work was finished, I had delivered Doris to her father. Yet I lingered at the invitation of Franklin Spencer. Something stronger than a desire for a rest spell held me in the gold country. Now after a week of lingering, resting, watching and waiting, I was no closer to my heart's desires than I was the first day that I reached the settlement. I felt that I owed it to my-self and to my work to get back to my cabin, yet there was something that was holding me in this place. I knew what that something was, I was not in the least bit of doubts along this line or subject. That something, that was holding and drawing me was Doris. I could not find words to express my love to her and I did not have the nerve or the courage to try to put to use such words as I could command. I did not want to let her out of my sight for a moment, yet I knew that the separation must come very shortly. Arrangements had already been made for the Spencer family to return to the States. Spencer having sold his holdings and claims, declared that he would return to Virginia or Maryland and take things easy for the rest of his life. Within the next month or so they would be moving south, so I reached the conclusion that I might as well make the first move.

That night, I announced my decision to her as we sat by the fire-side. She looked up at me with those great big eyes, wistfully, and pathetic, her soft white hand rested on my arm and she whispered, "Don't go -- please." I could feel a tear rolling down my cheek as I demanded her reason for asking me to remain. It was the same -- a woman's reason, always, -- the one little word, "Because."

I felt an indefinable warmth and fragrance from her. I saw a faint blush steal over her face. The next moment my arms were around her, the rest is easy to guess.

When the Spencer family moved south, I was with the party, and when they located in Maryland it was determined that we should make our home with the old folks. I have since outgrown quite a bit of that bashfulness and timidity that I possessed while I was living as a bachelor, but we love to look back over the past and review those scenes and moments that we spent in the cold and dreary northland.

My wife still declares that she forced me to propose.

Major Macke Pays Tribute to War Heroes Before Rotarians

Allen J. Bryan Has Charge of Interesting Program on Varied Subjects

Major Macke, visiting minister and former Chaplain in the World War, was the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon Friday noon at Hotel Clarendon.

He paid high tribute to heroes of the war, the organizations that relieved suffering and related personal incidents of his own experiences.

His tribute to the American flag with explanations and his detailed explanation of the "Rotary Wheel" were subjects that interested his listeners.

President Jenkins took occasion to explain to new members the aims and object of Rotary, covering his subject in a masterly and sincere manner.

Rotarian L. H. Baker as a new member expressed his pleasure at becoming identified with an organization world-wide in its endeavors to benefit all mankind.

Rotarian Geo. H. McClesky in the course of his remarks as a new member stated that he regarded it as a distinct honor to become a Rotarian and paid tribute to the character of men composing the membership.

Rotarian Robert S. Cope had charge of the musical program and the hour was profitably spent. The closing hour was observed with the usual promptness by singing one stanza of "America."

WHAT IS COTTON?

The following has been going the rounds for some time but is still good:

Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the southern states to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy. The fiber varies in color and weight and the man who can guess the nearest length of a fiber is called a cotton man by the public, a fool by the farmer, and a poor business man by his creditors.

The price of cotton is fixed in New York and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought. A buyer working for a group of mills was sent to New York to watch the cotton market and after a few days' deliberation wired his firm to this effect: "Some think it will go up. Some think it will go down. I do too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once."

Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer and left in the field in winter.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

Not—

"How did he die?"

But—

"How did he live?"

Not—

"What did he give?"

These are the units

To measure the worth

Of a man, as a man,

Regardless of birth.

Not—

"What was his station?"

But—

"Had he a heart?"

And—

"How did he play

His God given part?

Was he ever ready

With a word of good cheer,

To bring back a smile,

To banish a tear?"

Not—

"What was his church?"

Nor—

"What was his creed?"

But—

"Had he befriended

Those really in need?"

Not—

"What did the sketch

In the newspaper say?"

But—

"How many were sorry

When he passed away?"
