RECENTLY the daily papers were telling of the abuses of the secondclass mail privileges and were advocating the passage of the Loud bill, which was but a stab at the country newspaper. If they really want a reform in postal expense, let them strike at the real and worst raids made on that branch of the service, as indicated in the following from the New York World: "For hauling a ton of ordinary freight the great railroads charge from three-tenths of a cent to one cent for each mile. For hauling a ton of mail matter the same railroads charge the government nine cents a mile. Is not this an outrageous extortion? Should not Congress stop it? Why should the government pay from $9 to $30 for the service which is rendered to private persons for $1? It is true that mail matter is a special kind of freight which ought to pay more than ordinary freight. But, in conscience name, how much more?" These questions have been asked by Populists time and again for the past dozen years, and have never been answered. And, the Populist is the only party that has ever offered a remedy. New York, June 4.- A New York paper prints under a Cape Haitien date the facting, which is affirmed to have been cabled verbatim to Europe from Santiago:

"Yesterday there was heavy cannonading from 3 to 4 o'clock. An armed American trans-Atlantic steamer tried to run over the line of torpedo defenses. The Spjaniards let her do so, but when the American ship, which had already got into the pass, attempted to run over the second line of torpedoes the Spaniards set fire to one of these and the American ship sank 'right down immediately' after the explosion of the torpedo.

There is absolutely no doubt in the minds of the naval officials in Washington that the sending of the collier into the harbor was all a prearranged move on the part of Admiral Sampson.

The crime which has agitated the people so much was committed on the most respectable woman, when returning from a neighbor's, where she had been sewing, was met by a negro, who passed on, but had only gone a few steps when the negro turned and attacked her, catching her by the throat and striking her over the head and face in a fearful fashion. At first she fought with a frenzy born of desperation, but soon sank unconscious in the road at the feet of the negro, and when she awoke to consciousness, the next morning, she crawled to the roadside, where she was found by a young man named Earl Fisher. He summoned assistance and conveyed her to her home.

Before Founlist Organization. One of the strangest things to me is that intelligent men will insist on the practicability of a unios of reform forces without disintegration of political parties. To an extent all political parties favor reform; some would make matters worse, but they insist that they would not. I can conceive how if they would begin at the foundation there might be some good accomplished, but to join forces merely to put a shingle Finance, Land and Transportation on the roof when the roof is slippery, and the foundation is rotten, is beyond my ken.

And such would be a combination of the forces on the silver issue. Free silver would be but putting a shingle on the roof. It is true that the free silver issue belongs to, but it is not Tenant slavery, crime and corruption the money question by any means. In fact as advocated by free silver Demo-The Initiative, Referendum and Im- crats and Republicans, it would serve as a prop to the very worst feature of the money question-that of redeeming In the Omaha platform of the People's one kind of money in another-coin re-

That far, and None but fools, and speculators favor no farther, do the Populists go with the free silver Democrats and Republicans; but their contention to take 40 cents' worth of silver and make out of it 100 cents' worth of redemption money is repulsive to every advocate of a scientific money.

It is said that if we join the free silver Republicans and Democrats on the The fox is noted for being sly, but an issue of free silver we can induce them to join us. The People's party is organized differently from the old parties. The majority of Populists would willingly sacrifice their organization in order to have their essential principles enacted into law. But they do not believe either old party will do this, nor do they believe that free silver is an essential principle. Men who are advocating reform along the lines set forth in the People's party platform, and who still cling to either old party, are certainly wanting in courage, information or sincerity. The Republican party does not promise any such reforms, and the Democratic party, although it promises some things advocated by Populists, cannot be taken seriously, for its record on promises is worse than its record on anything else, which is saying a good deal. Immortality for a Cent.

When the pedestal of the statue of Blair, which Missouri has presented to statuary hall, was standing in that hall the other day awaiting its bronze figure, some one noticea that in the center of the stone block was a small square hole. The Missouri delegation was present to watch the placing of the statue, and one of the congressmen fishing through his pockets found a cent. He put the coin in the square hole, and also deposited a bit of paper with his autograph. The example was contagious. Every member of the delegation put in a cent and his name, some curious bystanders did likewise. and by the time that the statue was placed in position there was almost enough copper in the pedestal to sheathe a ship.—Washington Post.

Population of Russia.

European Russia, at the beginning of 1897, had a population of 94,215,000; the Caucasus had 9.248,000 inhabitants: the Previsliansky provinces, 9,455,000; Siberia, 5,727,000; Central Asia, an estimated population of 7,721,000. The total population of European and Asiatic Russia is thus placed at 126,368,-000; and including the Russians in Finland, Bokhara, and Khiva the total is placed at 126,411,000, of which number 63,253,000 are males. United States Consul Smith of Moscow says that the population of the cities and towns of Russia is only 16,289,000, or about 13 per cent of the aggregate population If the people of the villages and small settlements are added, the actual town population is still only 20,000,000.

THE WAR IN THE PHILIPPINE

The Natives Had Good Cause to Revolt—Victims of the Rapacity of Their Spanish Masters They Had Been Harried by Corrupt Officials and Clergy.

since July, 1896, was the corruption. and insatiable greed of Spanish officials, leading them to extremes of taxation and persecution in order to enrich themselves. The first cry of the revolutionists was "Down with the taxes," which soon was changed to "Down with the clergy" and finally to taxes," which soon was changed to "Down with the Spanish." The government and ecclesiastical authorities were joined in an unholy alliance to wring profit from the misery of the natives. The richer class is made up of foreigners, Germans, Chinese, Englishmen, and a few Americans, who, exacting a greater tribute from the native agriculturists, pay a less to the governor and the host of greedy alcaldes and minor officials. Briefly, these were the causes which led to insurrection in Cuba as well as the Philippines, and which in the end will rob Spain of the two last gems of her colonial crown. Wherever there was disaffection it was encouraged by republicans and Spanish Carlists, hoping in the end to serve themselves by weakening the kingdom.

In the Philippines there is added to official corruption the shocking immorality of the European clergy, belonging to all known monastic orders, who encourage abuses of governmental authorities that they may gain immunity from an interference in their nefarious business. Year by year the taxes have been increased and have assumed proportions out of all reasonable relation to the yield of rice fields and sugar plantations. The people protested feebly against new impositions. but as opposition to the government increased the rigor of the rule grew. and hundreds of men and women were deported without trial to the penal colonies of the Caroline and Marianne

The primary cause of the rebellion | favorites of the new ministers, and nawhich has existed in the Philippines | tives are never allowed to share in the feast. Moreover, the lands of the religious orders steadily increase. The priests and monks possess enormous plantations from which they derive immense revenues. The people are made to pay dearly for sacraments, and the fees exacted are much greater than in any parish of Europe. The clergy live in luxury, giving themselves up in their isolation not only to every manner of secular indulgence but to the most atrocious excesses, which in Spain would drive them in disgrace from the church. While these functionaries enjoy free> dom from taxation, any native, man and woman, without reference to property income or station, is compelled to pay a fixed tax. An Indian woman without employment and not owning any furniture must pay 10 pesetas. A man must pay 45 pesetas. Defaulting in this payment, he is forced to work for fifteen days on the roads. Every individual whose trade does not exceed the sale of a few betel nuts, a basket of mangoes, or a bunch of bananas, must pay an additional tax, as must also the natives who go from the country into Manila to sell nothing more than a chicken or a fish. At one time in every village there were several weavers whose cotton cloths, much prized by the natives, had a ready and remunerative sale. This local industry has disappeared owing to a royal decree favorable to the manufacturers of Catalonia, which permitted their goods to enter without duty. These manufacturers sent goods of an inferior quality and extraordinary cheapness and drove the native workmen out of competition. This was the only industry known in the Philippines, and there remained only the cultivation of the fields. But the native, if owner of for secret meeting has been given by the introduction of Masonic lodges, which have increased rapidly in number and in membership. The clergy brought to bear all of its immense influence with authorities both at Madrid and Manila for the suppression of these organizations, and so severe was the persecution of the Free Masons and so great became the abuse of the arbitrary power of alcaldes to imprison and deport suspects that the Spanish government issued a decree declaring that every individual whose culpability was not proved after forty-eight hours' imprisonment should be given his liberty.

Places for Nuisances.

It has long been a notorious fact in Spain that generals whose influence among the people is becoming too great for the entire comfort of the regency or who are disaffected through the constant shifting of politics are sent to Cuba or to the Philippines to make or remake their fortunes. If they return to Spain with riches out of all proportion to the emoluments of their office nobody commits the indiscretion of asking the source. Their commissions are recognized as letters of marque giving them the right to seize upon whatever they may. There are many and celebrated instances of this condition of things, including General Weyler, General Blanco, and General Riviera. Still more extraordinary than the apathy of Spain to this legalizing of corruption is the fact that the colonies regard with terror every change of ministry, knowing that it means a change of governor general and another swooping down of birds of prey, whose ravenous appetites must be assuaged. The hatred of colonists for the mother country is made greater because all minor offices in the islands, even to the clerkships, are given to

Not satisfied with the tributes of the rich Chinese and foreign houses, the governors impose taxes upon the poor native landholders which take from them everything they may gain from their crops. The governors are energetic in the collection of these taxes, for they receive a percentage, usually one-fifth, of all the revenues of the colony, in addition to money which the law does not allow but custom never questions.

closed their lodges as soon as the creoles and half-breeds showed their intention of joining them, but the mischief was done with the lesson. The natives began to establish societies in all parts of the islands, and in a few years had enrolled 30,000 members. The mysterious and symbolic attracts the imaginations of these people, and the opportunity of secret meeting and discussion of grievances without fear of tetrayal was seized upon enthusiastically. It is the custom for a new member to make a gash in his arm, and over the blood he mixes with that of the initiator he swears his allegiance. Each member, therefore, bears a scar on his arm, and this mark makes him a suspect of Spanish authorities. It has happened many times that a pris-military authorities, and a regime of liberty roughly formulated. The lodges are most numerous in Cavite, the principal theater of the rebellion, while in Batangas, Bulacan, and Pampanga there are ten to twenty branches of the order, and at least one in each of the other provinces. Their growing influence and implacable hatred of the clergy was a source of grave apprehension to the priests, who petitioned the minister to order General Ramon Blanco, then governor general of the archipelago, now of Cupa, to put an end to Freemasonry. But General Blanco was not energetic in carrying out this command, being too much occupied in a contest against Mohammedanism in Mindanao. The government, again appealed to by the priests, and peculiarly susceptible to this influence, peremptorily ordered Blanco to take the rigorous measure of deporting 400 members of the lodges.

fostered, free from civil, religious and

This order was the direct cause of the uprising in 1896, which began in Manila, and extended to Cavite, Pampanga, Laguna and Bulacan, but not to other provinces, because of the ancient rivalry of the races, the surest safeguard of Spanish rule. This is a factor in the politics of the Islands that the government fully appreciates, to the point, indeed, of encouraging the factional enmities. Before the conquest by Magellan the islands were ruled by warring Sultans, and there still remain vestiges of numerous

Because of his inactivity and apparent indulgence to the rebels Blanco was denounced in Madrid by religious bod-What exasperated the priests most was that he refused to kill Rizal, who was by them proclaimed to be the principal factor in the rebellion. As a matter of fact, however, this does not appear to be true, and no just cause was given for such summary action. The clergy sought revenge upon Rizal above everything else for his denunciation of them to the people.

Rizal's Tragic Career.

Rizal was a pure-blooded Indian, who was brought up by the Dominicans of Manila. He went to Europe, studied medicine, law, sciences and foreign tongues, and returned to Manila honored with the highest degree of continental universities, a Freemason, and the inexorable foe of the corrupt clergy. He was the author of a novel called "Nolle Me Tangere," in which he showed the despotic, rapacious and debauched nature of the priests of the country. This book was placed in the Index Expurgatorius and the author's goods confiscated, his brothers deported, his aged mother banished, and himself relegated to the Island of Mindanao, entirely peopled by Mohammedans, mortal enemies of Spain.

Rizal lived in this exile for several years, until he learned that physicians and surgeons were needed with the troops fighting in Cuba. He offered his services to Spain, which accepted them, and he embarked at Manila for Barcelona. When he arrived at the peninsula and was ready to leave for Havana he was arrested, sent back to Manila. summarily tried, and executed. This was the work of Governor Polavieja, who had succeeded Blanco. While Rizal was on his journey to Spain rebellion had broken out, and the anger of the authorities against him was aroused by new charges of perfidy made by the priests, to whom Polavieja was devoted. The execution of Rizal made the rebellion more furious, and the insurgents sought as much to avenge his death as their wrongs. Rizal to them was the martyred hero of their cause. The first victims of the rebels were the priests. Their monasteries were burned, and the hatred for the monks sought extremes of cruelty in its expression.

Not only the uneducated and superstitious elements of the population took part in the rebellion, but the most prominent native families. Many young men are sent each year to Madrid and other peninsular cities to be educated, and return to their homes with knowledge of the freedom of speech and unrestricted liberty of the press in Spain and imbued with republican or anarchist ideas, which encourage them to attempt the free expression of their opinions. The result is persecution. Furthermore, a native, no matter how prominent, is never given a salaried official position, all of which are monopolized by the retainers of different ministries. To all of the wrongs described are to be added the notorious corruption of the judiciary and the brutality of the police.

The people yielded submissively to accumulating injustice for many years. Tolerance is one of the chief characteristics of the Indian, natives of the Philippines, who greatly resemble their near neighbors, the Japanese. Their uprising two years ago was almost incomprehensible to witnesses of the respect of established authority, submission, and gentleness of habit through years of misrule.

Blanco was deposed by the enhity of the monks, who thought him too tolerant and without the cruel energy they demanded. Polavieja, his successor, was taken with fever and returned to Madrid. After him came General Primo de Rivera, and now General Basilio Augustin Devilio is pent up in Manila by Admiral Dewey's fleet.

Timely showers fell around Lot. Mc Lennan county, on the morning of the 1st, which will prove of material benefit to corn and cotton. There was some wind with it, but uncut oats were not damaged to an appreciable extent.

Harvesting of the large wheat and oat crops around Nocona, Montague county, will soon begin. Rain at reasonable intervals will be needed for panies of the Galveston regiment went corn and cotton, and with this necessary element both will produce largely. Farmers all over Montague county are in good spirits.

Will Estes of Midland county recently had a conversation with W. H. Godair, senior member of the live stock commission firm of Godair, Harding & Co. of Chicago, while Mr. Godair was visiting Midland. Mr. Godair has extensive ranch interests north of Midland and is much interested in the cattle industry. He said he thought the future of the cattle business in Texas was all right: that while he felt sure prices would decrease to some extent the decline would only be slight and would finally settle down upon the basis of prices in the northern territories, which would still leave Texas cattlemen a margin of profit on their young Oats and wheat are being harvested in Dallas county and pioneer farmers say this season the most prolific harvest known in many years will reward the tillery of the soil. They feel highly elated over their prospects and feel that Easy street will be their thoroughfare the latter part of 1898. The music of reapers and threshers is heard in the air all over Dallas county, and many laborers are busily engaged garnering the golden grain. Cotton is growing nicely and promises a fair yield.

Tom James of Scurry county, who visited Fort Worth lately, says that crops in that county are looking first rate and that three-fourths of the product this year will be cotton. He says that corn is up knee high and that the recent rains in that district almost insure an abundant yield. The most noticeable thing in that coutry, and one that concerns stockmen the most, is the rapid increase in prairie dogs all along the line. The pests, according to Mr.James, are increasing with wonderful rapidity every year.

A thrifty lot of immigrants are reported to have settled in Brown and Tom Green counties the past few months. The improvements they have made are of a substantial character. indicating that they have come to stay.

Judge J. W. Stevens of Hillsboro. who has made an extensive tour over north Texas, says the wheat crop is the largest and best quality seen in that section for many years. The oat crop also he regards as promising an abundant vield.

Our Navy--Illustrated.

At the present moment, when all eyes taining so nobly the honor of our country, we often hear people ask: "What is the difference between an armored cruiser and a protected cruiser?" few people are able to answer such queries of hand, and it would be hard to obtain satisfactory answers to them from cyclopedias or dictionaries. To answer these and similar queries the answer these and similar queries the Scientific American has just published a "Special Navy Supplement," a large folio of 40 pages illustrated by 90 illustrations, showing vessels of the new Navy, whether battleships, coast defense vessels, cruisers, rame, torpedo boats, gunboats and submarine boats. Unlike most publications dealing with the Navy, the actual methods of "Fight-ing the Ship" are described—the engines, boilers, guns, turret, mechanism, steering gear, etc., being illustrated. We do not know of any publication which gives in any degree the same mat-ter. The present time is most oppor-tune for a publication of this kind and we are pleased to know that the sale has been phenomenal. This issue contains a colored map of Cuba and the West Indies. It is sold for twenty-five cents a copy by all newsdealers or by Messrs. Munn & Co., Publishers, 361 Broadway,
