CLARENDON BIDS HER SOLDIERS FAREWELL ON TUESDAY EVENING

At last a serious realization of the war has borne itself in upon the minds and hearts of the Clarendon people. Heretofore the presence of the streets of Company B upon our streets has lent more of a gala and romantic atmosphere to our city than that of war. But the seriousness of war began to grow when early Monday morning orders came to Capt. Simpson to hold the company in readiness to entrain at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in special cars left here Monday for their transportation to Camp Bowie, Fort Worth. Monday morning The News issued a small "extra," apprising the public of the early departure of Co. B, from that hour the city was thronged with those who sought to be with their loved ones and friends among the soldiers as much as possible.

Shortly after five o'clock Tuesday afternoon Capt. Simpson formed the company and paraded them through the main street to the depot, where they executed "column right" and marched to their cars, which were parked on a siding near the oil station. Arriving here, followed by an ever-growing crowd of friends, the company was formed in double rank, wide formation, and opportunity was given for all friends and relatives to come and go between the lines and speak to the boys the last time before they entrained.

Brothers feigned composure while they bid brothers good-bye. Fathers offered a short word of advice to departing sons, gray haired mothers wept as they clung to their sons, whom they had offered in sacrifice to our great Government, sisters and sweethearts lingered for last words and kisses with guardsmen near and dear to them, while the handshaking of friends reminded one of the closing scenes of an old-fashioned camp-meeting.

Shortly before seven o'clock the "soldier's special," bearing the Amario company, arrived, amid an outburst of cheers from the train and those assembled here, and without any ceremony and with characteristic American railroad efficiency the three coaches and baggage of the Clarendon company were added to the train and to the accompaniment of cheers and hurried words of farewell, the train hurried on southward. At Childress another company was added, after which no stops were made except those made necessary by the schedules of passing trains. The three companies detrained at Fort Worth Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock.

MRS SHURE ENTERTAINS THE NEEDLE CLUB

Mrs. R. D. Shure entertained the Needle Club last Wednesday afternoon very delightfully.

Fancy work and conversation helped to pass a very pleasant afternoon.

A dainty salad course was served to Mesdames Bob Younger, E. A. Nolan, C. Powell, H. Glascoe, Geo. Slover, Mary B. Adams, F. W. Taylor, W. T. Patman, W. T. Hayter, W. W. Taylor, W. C. McDonald, C. W. Taylor, F. E. Chamberlain, R. A. Chamberlain, and Misses Mamie and Mary McLean.

WHY NOT HAVE AN EXHIBIT?

Why does not Donley county begin to make preparations to have an exhibit at the Dallas State Fair and Amarillo State Fair this year?

With our beautiful crops we would easily win first prizes without a doubt. As heretofore, our products have won many of the blue ribbons.

Miss Ida Barnett of Canyon is here this week, attending the teachers' institute.

CLARENDON COLLEGE OPENS TUESDAY WITH HEAVY ENROLLMENT

In spite of the depressing effects and uncertainty of the world war, Clarendon College opened her doors Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with an attendance that would do credit to years when prosperity abounds throughout the Panhandle.

President Slover and his efficient corps of instructors are optimistic over the opening and it has been predicted that the attendance would exceed that of last year and all appearances point that way.

Promptly at 10 o'clock President Slover announced the opening hymn, which was sung by the large audience of pupils, citizens of the town and well wishers of the institution, after which the opening prayer was offered by Rev. Ross, pastor of the Sylvester Methodist church. The scripture lesson was read by Rev. E. Burton, pastor of the Baptist church of this city, who added appropriate remarks to the reading. Then Bro. Slover made one of his characteristic addresses on the aims and aspirations of the school in which efficiency in the moral as well as the mental and physical nature of men and women was pointedly stressed. The President contrasted the product of the agnostic universities of Germany to the product of our church schools where firm belief in God and His providences are the bed rock upon which are reared the foundations of true education.

Short talks were then made by Bro. Story, pastor of the Methodist church, Dr. Jenkins, Judge O'Neill, Dr. Stocking, Prof. Silvey and others who lauded the work of the College, gave hearty welcome to the students assembled here in Clarendon and pledged the fullest measure of co-operation with the faculty and trustees in making Clarendon College as great as her environments will allow.

Class work began Wednesday morning and the school will be operated on a six recitation-day schedule.

RED CROSS "SING-SONG" AND SOCIAL

The Funds Committee of the Red Cross is going to put on something "Great Big" on Thursday night of next week and of course you are going to attend for everybody in Donley county will be there.

Many of us have read of the Fort Worth sing-songs that have been going on all summer, conducted by Sam Losh; well, Fort Worth is not the only town that can have these things, for we are going to have the band and college orchestra on the band stand and Mr. Shure will lead the singing of patriotic songs, in which all will join.

America, Dixie, Old Black Joe, The Star Spangled Banner and other similar songs will be used and it is hoped that there will be three thousand people there to join in the singing and we believe there will be.

There will be booths for the sale of candy, ice cream, pop corn, etc., and all of the funds will be applied to the Red Cross, that splendid organization that is doing more than "its bit" at home.

COUNTY INSTITUTE HAVING INTERESTING SESSION THIS WEEK

The Donley County Teachers' Institute convened Monday morning at 8:45, in the high school auditorium. After calling the session to order, the county superintendent of schools, J. H. O'Neill, suggested a permanent organization by the election of officers for the week, as court was to be held during the week. Prof. W. R. Silvey was chosen permanent chairman and Miss Margaret Willis secretary. Mr. O'Neill then addressed the teachers, calling attention to their duties and obligations to the county institute, as well as to their schools.

The regular program of the institute was then taken up, after it was divided into high school and elementary sections. Prof. S. W. Lowe was chosen as chairman of the high school section, and Miss Sallie Helm of the elementary school section. The teachers have as a body been enthusiastic in their work and seemingly anxious to get all they can from its sessions, as well as assist in every possible way. So far every teacher has been ready to respond to every duty assigned on the program. Some splendid addresses have been delivered by persons who are not members of the County Institute. The subject, "Professional Growth While Teaching," was discussed by Prof. S. H. Condon of Clarendon College on Monday. His address was helpful and stimulating to teachers. He emphasized the fact that the successful teacher must grow professionally.

Tuesday morning the Institute was addressed by Mrs. Ann Guillott from the extension department of the A. & M. College. She stressed the proposition of food conservation in some of its phases and encouraged the teachers to assist the Government in this undertaking. Dr. B. L. Jenkins, on the subject "Some Things Teachers should know," held the interest of the Institute by the carefully prepared address that he delivered. In fact, the information given proved to be of a kind that all should know. L. L. Pugh, formerly county superintendent of Harris county, representing the State Department of Education, addressed the Institute Tuesday, discussing along with other topics the two-million-dollar appropriation and how it is to be distributed. He also gave the information that about one hundred and thirty thousand dollars would, under certain conditions, be given to high schools in the interest of industrial education. A representative of the extension department of the University of Texas, C. P. Blackwell, spent a day with the Institute and made several very instructive talks. He

SIXTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AND FAMILY REUNION

In the little village of Flat Creek, Tennessee, on September 3, 1856, occurred the wedding ceremony of Margaret Ann Philpot and William Wallace Hastings.

On Monday, September 3, 1917, sixty years later, this fine old couple celebrated their anniversary in a most hospitable fashion, by having served one of those splendid feasts which it is not one's pleasure to enjoy often, and especially in company with two who have been companions for so many years.

This was indeed a gala day with them; not only did they enjoy a magnificently prepared dinner, but it was a delight to have twelve of their children and numerous friends present to celebrate this day, which was so dear to them.

From this union were born thirteen children, all of whom are living. Jim Hastings was the only one absent, he being at this time in California in a sanitarium. For the first time in ten years the family have been together again, thereby making a double occasion of the wedding anniversary and family reunion.

There were four generations present at this gathering, which numbered one hundred.

A family group was taken Monday, and at some future date will be printed in The News.

Mr. and Mrs. Hastings have lived in Clarendon for a number of years and are known and loved by many. Every one knows by their deeds and actions that they live a true Christian life each day.

They are walking hand in hand along life's road, patiently in wedded love and harmony, waiting and ready, if needs be, to answer that last call where their spirits will be re-united in heaven as they were on earth.

Those present were: W. W. Hastings and wife, Bob Hastings, Henry Hastings, Frank Hastings, William Hastings, Joe Hastings, Silas Hastings, Luther Hastings, Tom Hastings, Charley Hastings, Wallace Hastings, Birdie Hastings, Ruth Hastings, Loyd Hastings, Maggie Hastings, Janie Hastings, Alvin Hastings, Gladys Hastings, Callie Hastings, Jennie Hastings, Ila Mae Hastings, Dr. S. E. Burkhead, Mrs. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McClure, Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Buntin, Florence Hastings, Lizzie Hastings, Vestal Hastings, William Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Stallings, Houston Miller, Mrs. N. N. Martin, Lester Martin, Lizzie Martin, Alma McClure, Lola Miller, Ora Miller, Fred Miller, Elton Miller, Fray Stallings, Loyd Stallings, Margaret Derrick, Henry Derrick, Sis Oxford, Gladys McClure, Kelly McClure, Tom McClure, Allene McClure, Mollie Green, Nola Frazier.

TEXAS COMPANY COMPLETES OIL STATION HERE

One of the most complete oil stations in the Panhandle has been finished on the Denver right of way east of the depot in Clarendon this week by the Texas Company. The tank capacity is a car each of oil and gasoline with a splendid warehouse for the storage of lubricating oils and package goods of all kinds put out by this great Texas concern. The pumps in the pump house are power driven, which convenience will enable Manager A. J. Dobson to operate the station with the help of only one man. To insure perfect service the company has assigned a ton and a half motor truck for quick delivery of their products.

The station is neatly fenced and is an addition to the looks of that part of our city. Clarendon is improving every day and it speaks well for our town that great concerns are willing to spend freely within our limits.

M. L. Kelly Jr. made a trip to Dallas last week.

Lots of stuff in canned goods that we still sell for less than the other fellow buys them. You will only have to compare prices occasionally to learn that we sell groceries on an average cheaper than you can buy them elsewhere. We can usually sell you cheaper because we anticipate your wants in advance. For instance most of the canned goods we have on hand now were contracted for before the advance came on, and the canned goods that we expect to receive this fall; most of them were contracted for in January, before the last heavy advance came on. Remember that we sell everything, quality and price guaranteed to please or your money back.

Insurance Protects Your Estate

It is better to stand a small loss, which is the amount that Insurance cost you, year by year, and which is the price of protection—than to stand, day by day, under the shadow of a great loss, the destruction of your home or business, which might mean your financial ruin.

If you buy Insurance, avoid trouble by having it written by those who know how.

CLARENDON COLLEGE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

The school of music opens with a record breaking enrollment, and if you want to hear something that is interesting, drive by the young men's home on College Hill and hear the five teachers and numberless students at work.

The studios are all nicely situated in a row on the first floor, adjoining each other, and the schedules are all so well filled that any time of day will do to take that drive.

It took just a few hours to overrun Mr. Shure's schedule and it is a pleasure to notice that many of the students from out of town are extremely talented, so Clarendon knows what to expect this year in the way of fine recitals.

Miss Loeffler, the artist-violin teacher, has returned from an extensive tour of the Pacific coast and all are glad to welcome her back.

The faculty concert will take place on Monday night, the 17th of this month, and a wonderful program is being prepared.

We heard so many speak of the beautiful auditorium, on the opening day, and that is the only way to express it since it has been so nicely decorated.

Doc Neeley of Wellington was a guest at the T. M. Little home the past week.

There is an Economy Wave Over the Land

American people are beginning to realize that they are living too fast, beyond their means. It has been the rule that the man with $20,000 a year as well as the man with $600 a year lives up to every penny of his income. Slowly but surely this order of things is changing. The era of extravagance and waste in business and personal expenses is nearing an end. Efficiency and economy is the order of the day. Bank deposits are growing.

It is up to one to economize. The best and surest way to do so is to place your surplus in the bank. If you already have a bank account make it a point from today to increase it. Add to it weekly; daily if possible.

PLENTY OF HELP TO GATHER CROPS

There seems to be some fear in this county that sufficient labor to gather the crop will not be available on account of the war situation. Now such will not be the case, for I have definite information from the state labor commissioner that plenty of help will be furnished from the drought stricken counties in Texas, and at this particular time I wish to call the attention of farmers in Donley county who are going to need help this fall. If you will write or phone me at Clarendon, advising me just how much help you think you will need I will prepare a list and send it to the state labor commissioner at Austin, and the help will be arranged for. The people in other counties in Texas have been very unfortunate in not making any crops this year, and they are anxious and willing to lend a helping hand in harvesting the bumper feed and cotton crop of Donley county. So don't delay, but write me at once, saying how much help you need and I will have the matter looked after.

While we sympathize with the people of other parts of the state that have been hit so hard by the continued drought and I feel sure will give them work, let's not forget that we have a wonderful opportunity to show some fine specimen crops at the Dallas Fair this fall. Farmers, may I have your co-operation in getting together the types of farm products which I feel sure will be the blue ribbon winner at the State Fair this fall. May I write the secretary of the fair association for space for the Donley county exhibit? What is your wish in the matter? Yours very truly,
L. A. KENNEDY,
County Agent.

A GREAT FAIR

That the Panhandle State Fair, to be held in Amarillo, October 8th to 13th, will be much better and bigger than ever before, is now an established fact. There will be upwards of $18,000 in premiums and purses to be contended for. There is $10,000 in the cattle division alone, $6,500 of which is offered in the Hereford classes. Already enough entries have been announced to make the coming exhibition in the class with the Chicago Fat show and the Royal at Kansas City, and it will be better than the Denver and Fort Worth shows. If the people of the Southwest can be brought to realize this fact as many as 75,000 people should pass through the gates at the fair to see this feature alone. But this is only one of the main attractions. One of the best agricultural displays ever shown is already promised all over the Panhandle section. Never in the history of the fair has the amusement received so much attention as is being given this year. Secretary J. L. Van Natta informs us that there are more than fifty horses already entered in the harness races and he expects to see the number increased to eighty before the entries close. There is $4,000 in purses hung up for the races. Then Mr. Van Natta has secured several clean amusement features which will practically make "something doing" every minute. Among these latter, Mile. La Bella and Dare Devil Hurley appear twice daily in their great automobile cloud swing, which has to be seen to be appreciated; Bell and Eva, do acrobatic and clown stunts that are right up-to-now; Grace Ayer said to be the premier roller skater of the world, puts on two exhibitions every day. These are all free entertainments for those who attend the fair. Other free attractions are being sought.

If the people of the Southwest will take hold of this great fair as they should we will soon have as great an exhibition right here at home as the state fair at Dallas. Get busy, tell your friends about it, and make arrangements to be there with the whole family!

LETTER FROM G. W. ANTROBUS

Mineral Wells, Tex., Aug. 26, '17.
Editor Clarendon News,
Clarendon, Texas.

Dear Sir: The writer recalls that he promised to send you a line while out, pertinent to our trip. The stay at Mineral Wells for twelve days has been quite beneficial, at the same time I am far from being made new and strictly cured.

I was surprised to meet my old friend, Mr. E. L. Kennday from Lelia Lake. We had the pleasure to go on a tour of inspection of the great city that is surrounded by hills and mountains, and were compelled to climb steep after steep to get to the top of the great cliffs, from which the view of the city is immense. The city is built in the valleys with great many buildings in the side of the mountains—in fact it reminds one of the Yellowstone National Park.

Bathing and drinking water seems to be the order of the day. The principal enterprise out in the country seems to be watermelons and peaches, and old friend Kennday and I have had the pleasure to sample a few of them.

From the best we can learn of the wells, it is a cure-all. The dead are actually raised, new limbs grown on the limbless and afflicted, first class mowing machines are required to clip the hair being grown on bald heads. All doctors have thrown their pill boxes to the four winds and have engaged in other avocations and occupations for a livelihood. This is about what you hear, but I am a skeptic in the matter.

I conclusion I might say that I am loading out at this writing to other quarters for relief. With best wishes for all the office force and all the old friends, I am,

Yours very truly,
G. W. ANTROBUS.

THE ALIEN SLACKER

British subjects in the United States, and the subjects of Japan, Serbia, Italy and other countries which are also at war with Germany, occupy peculiar positions and utilize advantages which do not come to their fellow citizens in their native country, nor to the fellow inhabitants of their adopted country. We refer to alien slackers.

Great Britain has conscription, The United States has conscription, but the laws of Great Britain cannot reach her citizens in this country, and the laws of this nation do not operate upon citizens of another country. So, these guests of ours have a freedom from military service not enjoyed elsewhere. This situation has created such an impression, that steps are being taken in Washington to reach the class referred to either by letting their native countries come and get them, or taking them ourselves.—Exchange.

Lieut. Allan Burton left Monday night for Fort Sam Houston, where he will be stationed temporarily.

We extend you a cordial invitation to attend our fall opening on Friday evening from 4 till 9 o'clock.

CAPT. SIMPSON THANKS OUR CITIZENSHIP

To all the Friends of Company B, 7th Texas Infantry:

On the eve of the departure of this company for the mobilization camp at Fort Worth the gratitude of the men and the officers on account of the kind treatment given us by the citizens of this country impels me as the commanding officer to give expression to these few words of public thanks.

We have been in camp in Clarendon since August 5th, during which time untold courtesies have been shown to the entire camp, for all of which we are deeply thankful and we here now give our individual thanks to each and every person for every kindness shown us. We would be glad to list the names of those who have remembered us so well, but space forbids. To all we say we shall remember you in person. During the time that we have been in camp the strongest feeling of good will has developed among the members of this company; good comradeship abounds. The men have been and are content, have been well cared for and well fed, due to the kindness of the many friends of this company. We are now departing for a field of greater training, and after a due season of training it is the earnest wish of every man that we may serve our Country on the field of action on the plains of France and after so doing that we may be permitted to return to our many good friends in Clarendon and its vicinity.

Respectfully,
ETHAN A. SIMPSON,
Captain 7th Texas Infantry, Commanding Company B.

GOLDSTON CANNING CLUB

Owing to some things which could not be avoided, our canning club failed to meet for two consecutive meetings; therefore, there has been no report sent in for some time. But we are still on the map, and doing a lot of canning. On last Friday, August 31, being a regular meeting day, quite a number of us met and enjoyed a pleasant and profitable meeting, it being the first meeting held since the delegates, Mrs. Ras McAdams and Miss Myrtle Hodges, attended the canning convention at Austin. Mrs. McAdams gave a very interesting report of their trip, which was very much enjoyed by all present. She also showed some interesting pictures which were made during the convention. The club also planned some great things we hope to accomplish in the future.

We also wish to tell of a little picnic which the club enjoyed very much on the evening of August 1, in the beautiful grove near Mr. Bellew's residence. Each member took something good to eat and a nice lunch was served, and all had a jolly good time in general.

At our last meeting Mrs. McAdams was appointed supervisor of the children's department.

One day next week we will have with us a lady demonstrator, who will teach us how to can all fruit and vegetables successfully. Our next regular meeting will be Friday, Sept. 14. We hope all members will be present. PRESS REPORTER.

Chas. Moore with his family has returned home after an extended stay in New Mexico.

Silas Hayter made a business trip to Hall County Monday.

GOOD WAY TO CAN TOMATOES

A good, economical way to can tomatoes in the South, says the United States Department of Agriculture, is to pack firm, whole fruits in a jar and fill in the spaces with a concentrated tomato sauce. Each quart jar then will provide whole tomatoes for salads or baking and a tomato puree for soups or sauces. The department's recipe is as follows:

Select firm, uniformly red, ripe tomatoes of medium size. Put into trays and lower into boiling water for one minute. Remove, plunge into cold water, drain, and cut out the core with a slender-pointed knife without cutting into the seed cells.

Peel promptly and pack into jars. To each pint add one level teaspoonful of a mixture of one-third salt and two-thirds sugar. Fill the jars with a thick tomato sauce made by cooking the small or broken tomatoes until tender. Remove the seeds and skins by straining the pulp—and concentrate it by boiling to about the consistency of ketchup. Adjust the rubber and cap, place the packed jars on a false bottom in a vessel of water which reaches almost to their tops, and keep at boiling temperature for 25 minutes. Remove the jars from the water bath and tighten the covers immediately.

NOTICE.—Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

The News welcomes the students of Clarendon College to this city. We have always loved college boys and girls, and we still love them for their optimism, their energy and their sauciness. This editor played four years of intercollegiate football and three years of intercollegiate baseball in Texas, and when the games come on we expect to make a twin-six rooster out on the sidelines. If we can help you in any way at any time, just let us know and we'll be there "on the job."

The article in this issue, headed "When Our Sons Are Dying in France We Will Not Stand for Traitors at Home," signed by "A Parent," is most timely and pointed. This is a time when thinking men are patriots and wedded to the cause of right and honor as upheld by our Government. There are two other classes, those who do not think and the down-right traitors at heart. The utterance of any word reflecting upon those noble youths who have heard and answered their country's call proclaims the speaker to be either criminally thoughtless or a traitor to the cause of democracy and this Government. No good man, no patriot, wishes to number among his acquaintances, (much less his friends), those who are not thoughtfully enough or loyal enough to at least keep the tongue of criticism off those who are bearing the brunt of this fight against kaiserism and the agnostic ideals of a so-called "cultured" Germany. The nation is rousing itself against these knife-thrusts in the back and soon the authorities must put an end to it to save an enraged citizenship from meting out a red handed justice.

Several of our contemporaries are remonstrating with The News upon its avowed opposition to dividing Texas into two states. They say our opposition is based upon sentiment, that West Texas is discriminated against in the matter of representation and taxes. Now, it might be that sentiment has something to do with our position on the proposition, but after all, should you take sentiment out of the affairs of men there would be little of civilization left and no brotherly feelings at all. Without sentiment we would become Prussians. The great war in Europe came about because the higher feelings of sentiment have been starved out that imperial selfishness and might should reign. Texas has had a good name in the past and with the help of the high moral intelligence of the citizenship north of the T. & P., those of the same character below that line, (and they are many), can soon rid the great state of those blighting influences of liquor and ignorance. Let's "don't give up the ship" when victory is almost in sight. As to the discrimination against this section in representation, that's a matter that a little time and intelligent effort can overcome, if it truly be the case. This charge may be true, but if it is this editor had to come to the Panhandle to hear of it. If it is a condition of very long standing our representatives would band together in their voting, action could soon be forced to save the filibuster. Thirdly, that matter of taxation must not be rightly understood. Central Texas certainly bears the great brunt of taxation, not unjustly, for that part of Texas is very rich, but considering the values of land and personal property we are sure this is a groundless charge. The cost of operating a state government is enormous and we won't know what taxes mean unless we should attempt to set up state housekeeping for ourselves. There has been so many editors in West Texas recipients of state appointment jobs, one would almost wonder whether this cry for a new state was not a smooth way to eliminate competition in getting to the "pie counter. Seriously, boys, let's stay with the old ship of state and pilot her into a harbor without political mines and where the winds of suspicion do not blow.

The streets of Clarendon seem mighty lonesome since the boys of Company B have gone to Camp Bowie.

Saturday, September the 8th is the last day in which the liquor manufacturers may make whiskey, under the new food conservation law. This is a great advance for the economic and moral forces of the nation. Just think of being in a business whose continuance is against the public weal when the Nation is in war. Such business is an outlaw business and has no place in the busy marts of men. What a great boon to America it would be if September 8th meant the eternal finish of the hellish liquor business.

Senator Meyers of Montana, a former advocate of woman suffrage, has abandoned their fallacious platform since they have shown themselves so traitorous at Washington and onw declares that the suffragists are "infamous, disgusting and intolerable." What we can't understand is how a man with sense enough to become a senator ever thought otherwise. God, in the scheme of nature, planted woman in the home and gave her enough to do there, and when she departs from that divine order, ruin and chaos are inevitable. Man's greater strength was given him to be a physical help to the woman and that order cannot be reversed without punitive results.

Newspaper ethics forbid that in giving the news in regard to the sale of farms and town property that the name of the agent arranging the trade shall appear. It is no more in the province of a newspaper to do this bit of advertising for real estate men than it is to publish the fact that a certain hardware store sold a wagon to Mr. So-and-So. We are running a county newspaper fair to all and will not deviate from this rule.

GERMANY SEEKING FOOD

One feature of the German drive into Russia has been overlooked by most of the reviewers, who forget that in their retreat the Slavic armies failed to destroy the standing crops. Consequently the advancing Teutons are hastily garnering the crops which are ready for their harvest, after a season's care in the hands of the Russian farmers.

This is probably the main reason why Germany and her allies are hitting Russia so hard. They know that a rigorous embargo and that their food supplies will necessarily become lower. Bessarabia furnishes the most likely supply field and the storehouses in the southeastern section of Russia, along the Black Sea coast, probably contain unlimited quantities of cereals which would help the German empire in its desperate fight. At any rate, a desire to acquire these crops easily explains the direction of the Teutonic effort.

The man who stops his paper because he is a "little short" and keeps right on smoking "fifteen-cent or two-for-a-quarter" cigars lays himself open to the suspicion of being "off." The man who don't want to take the paper because he is taking too many now, had ought not to feel aggrieved when said paper forgets to make any special mention of his fine property which sold for a big price or fails to reprint the complimentary notice a paper in some distant city makes of him, not knowing how poor a friend he is to the printer. The man who sticks a card in his show window offering his stock and the business for sale and makes no mention of his offer in the papers, ought to take it, no matter how low it is. He is too far behind his time to make business go in these years. These facts are like the United States Treasurer's reports, "respectfully submitted."—Caldwell Ledger.

THAT TROUBLESOME H

A certain English foreman in one of the Kensington textile factories is in the habit of having an apprentice heat his luncheon for him. The other day he called a new apprentice.

"Go downstairs and 'eat up my lunch for me," ordered the foreman. The boy—a typical young American, with no knowledge of cockney English—obeyed with alacrity. He was hungry.

"Where's my lunch?" he demanded. The boy gazed at him in amazement.

"You told me to eat it up—I ate it," he stated.

"I didn't tell you to heat it up!" roared the irate foreman. "I told you to 'eat it up."

"Well, I didn't heat it up," maintained the youngster stoutly. "I ate it cold."—Youth's Companion.

POLITENESS

In the midst of the rush of life do not forget to be polite. The other man has troubles and is not able to bear your rudeness, but needs your smile and friendly greeting to help him in his way. You need to be polite because it makes your burdens eased to bear. To be polite costs us nothing and it pays us a dividend of happiness that money cannot buy. It sends our fellow-man on his way rich in good wishes for us and with joy in his own life because we have cared to give him that which enriched us both, namely, a smile and a kind word.

"Politeness is to do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way."—Exchange.

MARQUIS CONSERVATORY IS NOW OPEN

The Marquis Conservatory of Music opened for student enrollment on the thirtieth of August, and the teaching began on Tuesday. The Conservatory offers special courses of study in pianoforte, violin, band instruments and the theoretical subjects of music. Student and artist recitals are features of the advantages given along with choral and orchestral training.

Miss Marquis, director, and her able assistant, Mr. Larson, have taken the lead in bringing the best musical compositions written for violin and piano before musical audiences in the Panhandle. Their teaching and public work have no equal other than that of Carl Venth and Hans Richard in Texas.

MISS ROSA ADELAIDE MARQUIS

Miss Marquis is a native of Greencastle, Indiana. She received her earliest musical instruction from her father, Professor Emanuel Marquis, well known throughout the East and Central States as a pianist, composer and musical critic.

After several years of pianoforte study with her father, Miss Marquis entered the senior year of the De Pauw University School of Music, Greencastle, Indiana, where she was a pupil of Professor Walter Howe Jones, concert pianist. Miss Marquis studied harmony, canon, fugue and composition with Professor James Howe, of Boston, Mass.

Miss Marquis is a graduate of De Pauw University School of Music and was a teacher in the same school for six years.

Later, she studied piano in the Chicago Musical College, and continued the study of the theoretical musical subjects with Professor Louis Falk, Adolph Koelling and W. S. B. Mathews.

In Berlin, Germany, Miss Marquis was a pupil of Madame Cornelia Ritter-Possart, concert-pianist. At an early age, Miss Marquis began the study of the violin with the Russian master, Prof. Berth Zerkowsky.

After careful training under his direction, Miss Marquis became a favorite student of the famous Professor Simon E. Jacobson of the Chicago Musical College. In Berlin, Germany, her violin work was pursued under the personal direction of Herr Antin Witek, concert master of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra.

Miss Marquis taught for three years in the Birmingham Seminary for Young Ladies, Birmingham, Alabama. Was director of music for three years in the Louisiana Industrial Institute, Ruston, La. Was director of Music in the Illinois State School for the Blind, Jacksonville, Ill., for two years, in civil service.

The musicianship of Miss Marquis as concert soloist of pianoforte and violin, conductor of orchestras and choral unions is marked by unusual success. Responsible positions as teacher of the pipe organ and as church organist have been held by Miss Marquis.

Her work bears the highest commendation of her teachers and other well known artists, including the late Emil Liebling, concert pianist of Chicago.

In Pianoforte technic, Miss Marquis adheres to the principles of Professor Theodore Leschetizky, and of the Ottakar Sevcik method in violin technic.

MR. ARTHUR LORIN LARSON

Mr. Larson was born of Scandinavian parentage in Ellsworth, Wisconsin. He gave evidence of musical talent when a youth. The serious study of the violin was begun in St. Paul, Minn., and through efficient training Mr. Larson became first violinist in the Grand Forks, North Dakota, Symphony Orchestra, with which organization he traveled.

Mr. Larson is an artistic player, a conscientious teacher, and enters into the different phases of musical study with rare enthusiasm. He has de-

A UNIQUE RECORD IN ADVERTISING

Foster-Milburn Co., whose product, Doan's Kidney Pills, is advertised in our columns, is one of the oldest advertising firms in the United States. They began using the daily and weekly newspapers 35 years ago, and have kept it up ever since. This is one of the strongest proofs of the value of newspaper advertising.

Twenty years ago Foster-Milburn Company conceived the idea of proving the merit of their goods with local testimonials. It took them fifteen years to collect the testimonials from every one of the 3500 United States towns in which they do advertising. It was a tremendous task, but they stuck to it until they succeeded, and the result is that Doan's Kidney Pills are one of the best recommended remedies in the world.

HISTORY AND AIMS OF THE I. W. W.

One who has acquainted himself with the genesis and organization of that group of agitators who style themselves "Industrial Workers of the World" is in a position to take a mental attitude more or less bordering on equanimity in regard to the present activities of that order. This calmness of temper, however, will take its origin more from the constant inspection of the inevitable than from a moral approval of the behavior of these laborers. A disaster that has been foreseen and expected is, under any circumstances, easier to bear up under than one which falls, so to speak, from a clear sky. The latter takes the mind in a state of greater or less preparedness, and shocks not alone by its intrinsic evil, but also by the suddenness of its advent; whereas the former, known to have been for a long time impending, finds the mind bolstered up, and calloused, to some degree, by the consideration of mitigating circumstances.

Not only the birth of the I. W. W., but the record of its activities from the period of that birth, has pointed with unmistakable distinctness to the inevitableness of what we are now witnessing. All that was heretofore lacking in the matter of opportunity of widespread disaster has now been supplied by our entrance into the war. What was sporadic has now become epidemic; a crisis in the affairs of the Nation is welcomed by the I. W. W. as the awaited condition of amalgamating separated disloyalties into a unified system.

The I. W. W. was formed in Chicago on June 27, 1905, following an attempt of certain socialist leaders to gain control of the American Federation of Labor. Disaffected members of the latter organization determined to organize a district and more radical union of labor; and to that end the Western Federation of Miners, the United Metal Workers, the American Labor Union, and the Socialist Trade and Labor Alliance met in convention, declared in favor of international socialism, and adopted the platform of the socialist party.

Perhaps no better insight into the aims and purposes of this new body can be obtained than from the perusal of the preamble of this Chicago convention:

"The working class and the employing class have nothing in common. Between these two classes a struggle must go on until the workers of the world organize as a class, take possession of the earth and the machinery of production, and abolish the wage system. We find that the centering of the management of the industries into fewer hands makes the trade unions unable to cope with the ever-growing power of the employing class. The trade unions foster a state of affairs which allows one set of workers to be pitted against another set of workers in the same industry, thereby helping defeat one another in wage wars. Moreover, the trade unions aid the employing class to mislead the workers into the belief that the working classes have interests in common with their employers. These conditions can be changed and the interest of the working classes upheld only by an organization formed in such a way that all its members in any one industry, or in all industries, if necessary, cease work whenever a strike or lockout is on in any department thereof, thus making an injury to one an injury to all. Instead of the conservative motto, "A fair day's wages for a fair day's work," we must inscribe on our banner the revolutionary watchword, "Abolition of the wage system." It is the historic mission of the working class to do away with capitalism. The army of production must be organized not only for the every-day struggle with capitalists, but also to carry on production when capitalism shall have been overthrown. By organizing industrially we are forming the structure of a new society in place of the old."

Thus, as will be seen, the I. W. W. is organized on the industrial basis rather than the trade basis. The I. W. W. is not only at enmity with capitalism, but with its fellow-laborers who belong to the trade unions. This enmity is founded in an adherence to the doctrine of syndicalism.

The I. W. W.'s believe that the present-day capitalistic order should be abolished; and their idea of the proper way to abolish it is by making the present scheme of classes untenable by making it unprofitable. For this reason they resort to sabotage.

Their opposition to the Government arises from their doctrine of direct rather than political action. They would not seek labor reforms, or the abolition of capital, by the slow and conservative process of legislation, but instead look forward to the day when a levee en masse, or a universal uprising of labor, will overthrow the constituted government and enthrone the laboring classes. And it is because they believe that the present crisis of our Government furnishes the psychological moment for this uprising that the recent widespread disorders, and the talk of a revolution of labor, have come to pass.

In short, the I. W. W. feels that the time now is ripe for the overthrow of the Government, and simultaneously the abolition of capitalism and the paramounting of labor. It is felt that with the dissensions and the troubles inevitably incident to the waging of war by a democracy, the Government is now weaker than it has been at any time since the inception of the I. W. W.; and that, hence, there can be no more opportune time to be selected for its overthrow. For this reason, resistance to the draft is being preached and strikes and revolutions are being fomented.

In effect, this is anarchy, and it is to be hoped that the Government, supported by the overwhelming majority of the people, and by the loyal labor of the country, headed by Mr. Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, which has already pledged its co-operation to the Nation, will not tolerate it. We must not be misled by our veneration of freedom of speech into such toleration. There is room for constructive criticism always, and in peace times there is perhaps some gain to be extracted from even destructive criticism. But that this same condition prevails in war time is, or should be, an egregious misassumption. Particularly does this apply to organization that professes itself of anarchistic inclinations.

There was a split in the I. W. W. in 1908, with the result that there are now two branches of the organization—one at Chicago, the other at Detroit. That at Detroit is conservative, believing in political action; and, hence, has no designs against the Government; while that at Chicago is composed of the radical elements that believe in direct action.

The Western Federation of Miners withdrew from the I. W. W. in 1900, and now exists as a separate organization. It was the effort to gain back the Western Federation of Miners that led to the split in the organization in 1908.

The I. W. W. membership is somewhat under a hundred thousand. Until recently its organization was very loose, consisting of a number of locals that exercised practical autonomy. As a result of this condition the treasury of the central headquarters was always in a more or less depleted state; and it was a knowledge of this fact that led to the belief that the activities of the organization were being financed by German money.

From whatever source its financial support is obtained, one thing is certain, and that is that the I. W. W., the radical element at all events, is and always has been intensely disloyal to the Nation. The question before the American people and the United States Government simply is, to what lengths will this disloyalty disport itself before it feels the hand of repression? Already the condition is dangerous and annoying; too much democratic idealism may permit it to grow into a positive menace.—Dallas News.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Burton have been enjoying a pleasant week's visit from their children, this being the first time in seven and one-half years all have had the opportunity to be brought together. THE CRUX

He'd never really been keen on soldiering.

He'd only gone into the army because he couldn't very well avoid it.

But hitherto he had gone through with it without making a conspicuous ass of himself.

Now, however, that moment was at hand, the moment that would really test him, he knew himself for a coward.

He felt a worm, a jelly-fish, no man—he felt, in fact, a conglomeration of all the emotions that analytical novelists, depicting their heroes in blue funk, had described at length in the days before there was a paper shortage.

And the earth refused to open and swallow him.

And even the opportunity of running away was denied him, for the brutal sergeant—he'd always disliked that particular sergeant—had set him in front of the first rank inside the hollow square and was huskily whispering in his ear: "Now, me lad, if yer will be a blinkin' hero, go up and take your medicine."

"Corporal Smith," called an officer, reading from a paper.

—And Corporal Smith guiltily crawled forward to receive from the hands of the general the decoration he had earned in France.—London Opinion.

The News had an appreciated visit from J. H. Reeves, who lives on the east side of town, Wednesday afternoon of this week. Mr. Reeves is an old citizen of this place, and bad health has kept him away from town the past few months. We hope to see him often.

Railroad Man Says Tanlac Is the Only Thing that Helped Him After Suffering Four Years

"If the people of this town only knew what Tanlac had done for me you would sell a thousand bottles tomorrow," said Tom Stringfellow, a well known employe of the Southern Railway, who lives at 126 East Ninth Street, Anniston, Ala. Mr. Stringfellow is well known in railway circles and is on the Atlanta and Birmingham division.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion for four years," continued Mr. Stringfellow, "and got so I couldn't eat hardly anything. I fell off until I only weighed one hundred nineteen pounds and finally got so weak and run-down I was on the point of having to resign my position. To tell you the truth I just felt like life was not worth living because I just seemed to be getting worse all the time and nothing seemed to do me any good."

"I would have awful pains in my back and kidneys and could hardly sleep. Two hours each night would be about all the sleep I could get. Most always after eating I would have gas on my stomach and my heart would palpitate. I would get weak in my limbs and have dizzy spells and would have spots in front of my eyes."

"About a month ago I began reading about Tanlac, and heard the railroad men talking about it. Several of my friends had taken the medicine and said it was a fine thing for stomach trouble, so I decided to give it a trial. The first bottle helped me so much I kept on taking it and have just finished my fifth bottle. When I weighed the other day I kicked the beam at one hundred forty-one pounds, and was so surprised I turned around to see if some one was not standing on the scales. Yes sir, that's a fact. I had actually gained twenty-two pounds and felt like a well man again for the first time in four years."

"Tanlac helped me right from the start, and before I had finished taking the second bottle I got so I would eat and sleep and work as good as anybody. That's what the medicine did for me and everybody who knows me will tell you the same thing. Why, I can just eat anything now and indigestion never bothers me a particle more. I can sleep good, too, and feel just fine in every way. Speaking of eating, my grocery bills have gone up almost double."

"Just to show you what I think of the medicine, I bought a dozen bottles today in order to always have a supply on hand. I wouldn't be without it for anything in the world."

Tanlac is sold in Clarendon by Dr. J. D. Stocking, in Hedley by J. F. Tomlinson Drug Co., and in Jericho by O. C. Brown.

WHEN OUR SONS ARE DYING IN FRANCE WE WILL NOT STAND FOR TRAITORS AT HOME

Our soldier boys are gone—gone to Camp Bowie at Fort Worth—perhaps their only stop till they go to the bloody trenches in France—to uphold their country's honor—to fight the world's battle for liberty.

These boys—our sons and loved ones—are gone from us. Our homes from which they went are now resting under the heavy shadows and deep sorrows. The vacant chairs are there—the sad good-byes are said—the wound is in our hearts.

To every parent the sacrifice was great. We saw our many sons depart with parental pride, mingled with our sorrows. Everyone of them was a VOLUNTEER—a "went and not a sent." God bless every one of them. We pray that they all may return to their homes and loved ones again, but if otherwise, and very likely many of them will never return again, then we pray that to the homes that comes the additional greatest sorrow, may come a double portion of the consoling grace of our Heavenly Father.

This leads us to the point of saying what we wanted to say.

Our sorrows are not all at seeing our sons go away to war and realizing that many, many, of them may never return. Since the time of their volunteering some two months ago, until after their departing train was out of sight, and I suspect still, there has been an overflow of unkind, unjust criticism, by some men and women, which has angered and wounded greatly the parents and friends, as well as the soldier boys themselves. Some of the sayings in criticism, about the soldiers and their officers, if said in any place other than free America, would have subjected the sayers to military court martial and likely military prison.

Of course our boys and their officers are not perfect—nor are any of their traducers.

Notwithstanding the sayings of these critics that this company was made up "mostly of riff-raffs" and very few indeed had any "social standing," we assert that they were the very best of this country. I admit that none of them are from the homes of the idle rich and would-be leaders of "pink tea" society, for these classes here so far have not furnished a single volunteer, yet that is no reason why criticism should be made of the company, that they would not want their sons in such "company." Neither do we want our sons in war, but somebody's sons must fight the war, and war is no "pink tea" affair.

This is not written to stir up any class feeling. On the contrary to warn against it. We would admonish that if you furnish no volunteers, that at least you refrain from criticizing those who do volunteer to fight the war for you and your country.

This is a time for sameness of speech and action, and this is a plea that all desist from further criticism, and save wounding the feeling of parents and possibly prevent personal resentments.

Again we say, "When our sons are dying in France, we will NOT stand for traitors at home." A PARENT.

THE COUNTY INSTITUTE HAVING INTERESTING SESSION THIS WEEK

(Continued From First Page) proved himself to be a Panhandle product by his experiences as a teacher in Greer county and other counties of this section of the state.

The pastor of the Baptist church, Rev. G. E. Burton, gave the teachers a very entertaining and instructive talk on "The Power of Small Things." His address was especially refreshing since it was not intended to remind teachers of their professional duties.

Other matters attended to previous to Thursday were arrangements for the County Fair and County Meet. For the latter W. A. Lewis was elected director general, S. W. Lowe director of athletics, S. W. Reeves director of debate and declamation, the County Superintendent of Schools being director of spelling. The next meeting of the County Interscholastic League will be held in Clarendon.

It was the Jones family that revolted in Pottawatomie county, Okla., and attempted to start a rebellion against the selective draft. Fortunately the Joneses couldn't mobilize their forces. Had they been able to do so a million men would have been under arms against Uncle Sam and hades would have been to pay. Of course all the officers would have been John Joneses and Bill Joneses, with other popular Christian names filling up the ranks of high privates. —Honey Grove Signal.

Between May 1 and Oct. 3, 1898, of the Spanish-American war, twenty-three officers and 257 men were killed, and four officers and sixty-one men died of wounds in Cuba.

WORLD WAR FORETOLD BY OLD MONK IN 1650

A well-known manufacturer of In-fin, Ohio, has just received from a friend in Cleveland a translation of a remarkable allegory from a book entitled "Omens of the Great War," which was written in 1650, at the close of the Thirty Years' War. The author was a German monk, known as Brother Johannes, and the book is very rare.

The allegory is interesting for the fact that it follows closely the events of the great war now raging and predicts the final overthrow of the kaiser. In the allegory France is represented as a Cock, England as a Leopard, Russia as a White Eagle, Germany as a Black Eagle, Austria as the Other Eagle, while the Lamb stands for justice, mercy and truth. As translated, it reads as follows: "Toward the year 2000 the Antichrist will manifest himself. His army will surpass in numbers all that can be imagined. There will be Christians among the legions and there will be Mohammedans and savage soldiers among the defenders of the Lamb.

Entire World to Fight

"For the first time the Lamb will be all red. There will not be a single spot on the Christian world that will not be red, and the red will be the heavens, the earth and the waters, and even the air, for blood will flow in the domains of the four elements at once.

"The Black Eagle will throw himself on the Cock, who will lose many feathers, but will strike back heroically with his spurs. He would soon be lost were it not for the help of the Leopard and his claws.

"The Black Eagle will come from the country of Luther, will surprise the Cock from another side, and will invade the country of the Cock up to the middle of it.

"The White Eagle coming from the north will surprise the Black Eagle and the Other Eagle, and the Other Eagle will invade the country of the Cock up to the middle of it.

"The Black Eagle will see himself forced to liberate the Cock in order to fight the white eagle and the Cock will pursue the Black Eagle into the country of the Antichrist to help the White Eagle.

Lamb Will Win

"The battles fought up to then will be as nothing compared to those which will take place in the country of Luther, for the seven angels will together pour in the fire of their censers of the impious earth, which signifies that the Lamb will order the extermination of the race of Antichrist.

"When the beast sees that he is lost he will become furious and for many months the beak of the White Eagle and claws of the Leopard and the spurs of the Cock will fiercely strike at him. They will cross rivers on the bodies of the slain, and these in places will change the course of the rivers.

"They will bury only the men of noble families, the leading commanders and princes, because to the carnage made by the armies will be joined by the wholesome death, those who will die of hunger or the pest.

"The Antichrist will seek many times for peace, but the seven angels who walk in front of the three animals defending the Lamb have declared that victory will only be granted on condition that the Antichrist be crushed like a straw on the barn floor.

"The executors of justice of the Lamb could not stop fighting as long as the Antichrist possesses soldiers to fight against them.

"That which makes the decrees of the Lamb so implacable is that the Antichrist has pretended to be a follower of Christ and to act in His name, and if he does not perish the fruit of the Redeemer would be lost and the doors of hades would prevail against the Savior.

To Fight at Krupp Works

"The fight which would take place where the Antichrist forges his arms will not in any way be a human fight." (Essen, the location of the Krupp gun works).

"The animals defending the Lamb will exterminate the last army of the Antichrist; but they will be forced to erect on the battlefield a pyre as large as the city, for the bodies of the dead will change the aspect of the countryside, as there will be mounds of the slain.

"The Antichrist will lose his crown and die in solitude and madness. His empire will be divided into 22 states, but none of them will any longer possess fortresses, armies or vessels." (Curiously there are 22 states in Germany now, whereas when this prediction was written the empire was divided into 25 principalities).

"The White Eagle by the order of St. Michael, will drive the Crescent from Europe and will install himself in Constantinople. Then will begin an era of peace and prosperity for the earth and there will be no more wars. Each nation will be governed by its desires and will live according to the rules of justice. There will no longer be Lutherans and Schismatics.

"The Lamb will reign and the supreme happiness of humanity will begin. Happy will be those escaping the perils of that period. They will be able to enjoy the fruit of the reign of the Spirit and the purging of humanity, which can only come after the defeat of the Antichrist."
