of October, when Co. H, 142nd In-fantry, composed mainly of Harde-man, Hall and Donley County men, went over the top in the St. Quen-tin region, and crossed the Hinden-burg line. The number of dead and wounded was exceptionally great in this battle.

this battle. Co. H was used as a shock com-pany; the men being exceptionally well trained, had been excused from trench service. The Hindenburg line facing them was a formidable affair composed of many fortifications, each supporting the other, and honeycombed with comfortable dug-outs, where the Germans felt secure no matter how severe the weather, or how terrific the Allied bombard-ment. But where the Panhandle boys or how terrific the Allied bombard-ment. But where the Panhandle boys attacked, the French guns of Gen. Gouraud, a one-armed hero, and a most capable commander, had played havoc for months with the whole line. The French are good fighters but were played out when the Americans got there, and were perfectly willing member our cook, Johnnie Alverson, to let them do the heavy work they were clamoring for. French guns and tanks supported the attack. The Germans make first-class sol-diers, and while I have read a great deal about their not wanting to stand deal about their not wanting to stand the definition of the stand stand the definition of the stand stand the definition of the st deal about their not wanting to stand up and fight, I must confess that I would hate to fight any brave men if the huns are cowards. The Prus-sian will do anything he is com-manded to do, no matter how heart-less, but he will stand up and fight till the last, while the Bavarians of-trop would surrender when we were the bavarians of-the hundred to do.

till the last, while the Bavarians of-ten would surrender when we were still one hundred yards away. It was five o'clock in the morning when we went over the top. The Germans must have known from our barrage that we were going to at-tack, and were ready for us, and op-ened up fire as soon as we came into view. In spite of our losses we push-ed them back, and gained our ob-cutive of five kilometers, 3½ miles.) More us was the Prussian guard.

BOTHENIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ORGANIZE

The young people of the Christian Sunday school met at the home of Mrs. Dona Green last Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing the class.

The president and vice president and secretary had been elected the previous Sunday, which are given as follows: President, Herschel Faulk-per; vice president, Miss Emma Mae

COUNTY-WIDE CLUB GUEST AT

SETTING THE PRECEDENT FOR MEETING AT VARIOUS CEN-TERS IN COUNTY D. C. P. C. GOES TO HEDLEY FRIDAY.

The founders of the Donley County Progressive Club meant what they said when they proclaimed that the new organization was to be one of county-wide membership and interest. To prove this the invitation of the Hedley contingent for the next meet-ing to be held in their city was un-animously accepted at last Friday's meeting and arrangements are being meeting and arrangements are being perfected to carry a large delegation from Clarendon and other parts of from Clarendon and other parts of the county, to partake of the Hedley hospitality and further cement the goodfellowship of the plan. The most important matter that came up in last Friday's session was the settlement of the amount of the annual membership fee. After much discussion it was decided that a flat membership fee of one dollar was to be levide against every member an be levied against every member, as the smallness of the amount is cal-culated to enlist the large numbers from every part of the county, which is absolutely necessary to the suc-cess of the club. F. E. Chamberlain was elected treasurer of the club and all fees collected have been placed in his keeping.

The president was empowered to appoint a membership committee of three as a central committee, whose duties it is to see that a local committee is appointed in every school district in the county. It is expected that many new names will be added to the growing roll at the Hed-ley meeting Friday. It is understood that the membership of Hedley has struck and dis-tributed circulars announcing the meeting and urging that that end of the county turn out en masse. Pre-parations are being made to make this meeting one of great benefit power and enthusias kept on going for several hours af-terwards. I was hit in the left leg, and the big leader above the heel was nearly shot away. When lying in a shell hole afterwards, Captain Duncan Perkins of the supply company came through the barrage to see us. He did for the Quanah boys whatever was humanely possible besides keeping our company supplied. In spite of his efforts we had a hard time getting something to eat. I had my last meal on the 5th, and my next meal was on the morning of the 9th, and our men fared about as well. I shall never forget Johnnie Alverson, who came to hunt us up with a lot of food from the kitchen. The barrage that he had to creep through was so intense that he lost part of it, and when he came to me, all he had left was a can of jam, which he handed to me, saying: "Here, eat." And I did eat, too, with a relish.

"I am not waiting for the final passage of the new reve-nue bill by congress," said Internal Revenue Collector Walker, today, "nor for the new regulations and blank forms to be issued. To get this big tax in and get it accurate and complete, I urge that we all be-gin now."

"The income tax obligations im posed by the old laws, as well as the posed by the old laws, as well as the measure now in congress, consist of two distinct operations. "When the new bill is enacted into law, I will have the proper return forms distributed throughout the dis-trict, and everybody will be informed of the date when the sworn return must be filed. It is my plan to send my men out to central locations, and to have them travel through the districts, aiding taxpayers in the pre-paration of the returns and in decid-ing doubtful points. We will go right to the people with the income tax, and with the co-operation which the public can give the government men, the returns will be filed by every body who comes under the law's pro visions, the right taxes will be paid, and the district will have done its full patriotic duty towards the government's support.

- Seldom does a day pass that some organization or industry in the Unitd States doesn't register emphatically against government ownership of railroads and demand the early return of the roads to their owners. This socialistic fallacy, introduced into the democratic party by Bryan and fostered by McAdoo is against the best interests of the nation, and although intended to be a plank on which McAdoo was to ride into the which McAdoo was to ride into the presidency, is reacting against him with the accuracy and effect of a boomerang. The teeming millions of this nation are opposed to any ar-rangement which will put the rail-roads into politics and at the same time render the service of the roads less effective. Government super-vision is all right, but the right tide of sentiment against federal ownership is sweeping every obstacle

We have had charge of the Clarendon Steam Laundry for two months and have not come out flat-footed before and said "We are now ready to handle all the work you can give us and not only that, but do it right, and send your work back the way you want it-'CLEAN.' So now, we kindly ask you for your your business-as we are prepared and equipped to handle it-don't send it out of town until you give us a trial! We spend our money at home. Why don't you?"

We now have a complete equipment and a full force to keep the same in operation and under their skillful hands we will be able to live up to our motto of keeping all the dirt-we like dirt; we live on dirt; just wallow in it; dirt is worth money to us, yes sir, if it was not for dirt there would be no need for the Laundry, that is why

YOU SEND US YOUR DIRTY CLOTHES; WE WILL SEND YOU BACK THE CLOTHES AND KEEP THE DIRT.

Just call 75 and that will bring our driver, Ralph Andis; and not only that but promptness of return is as valuable to us as is "DIRT."

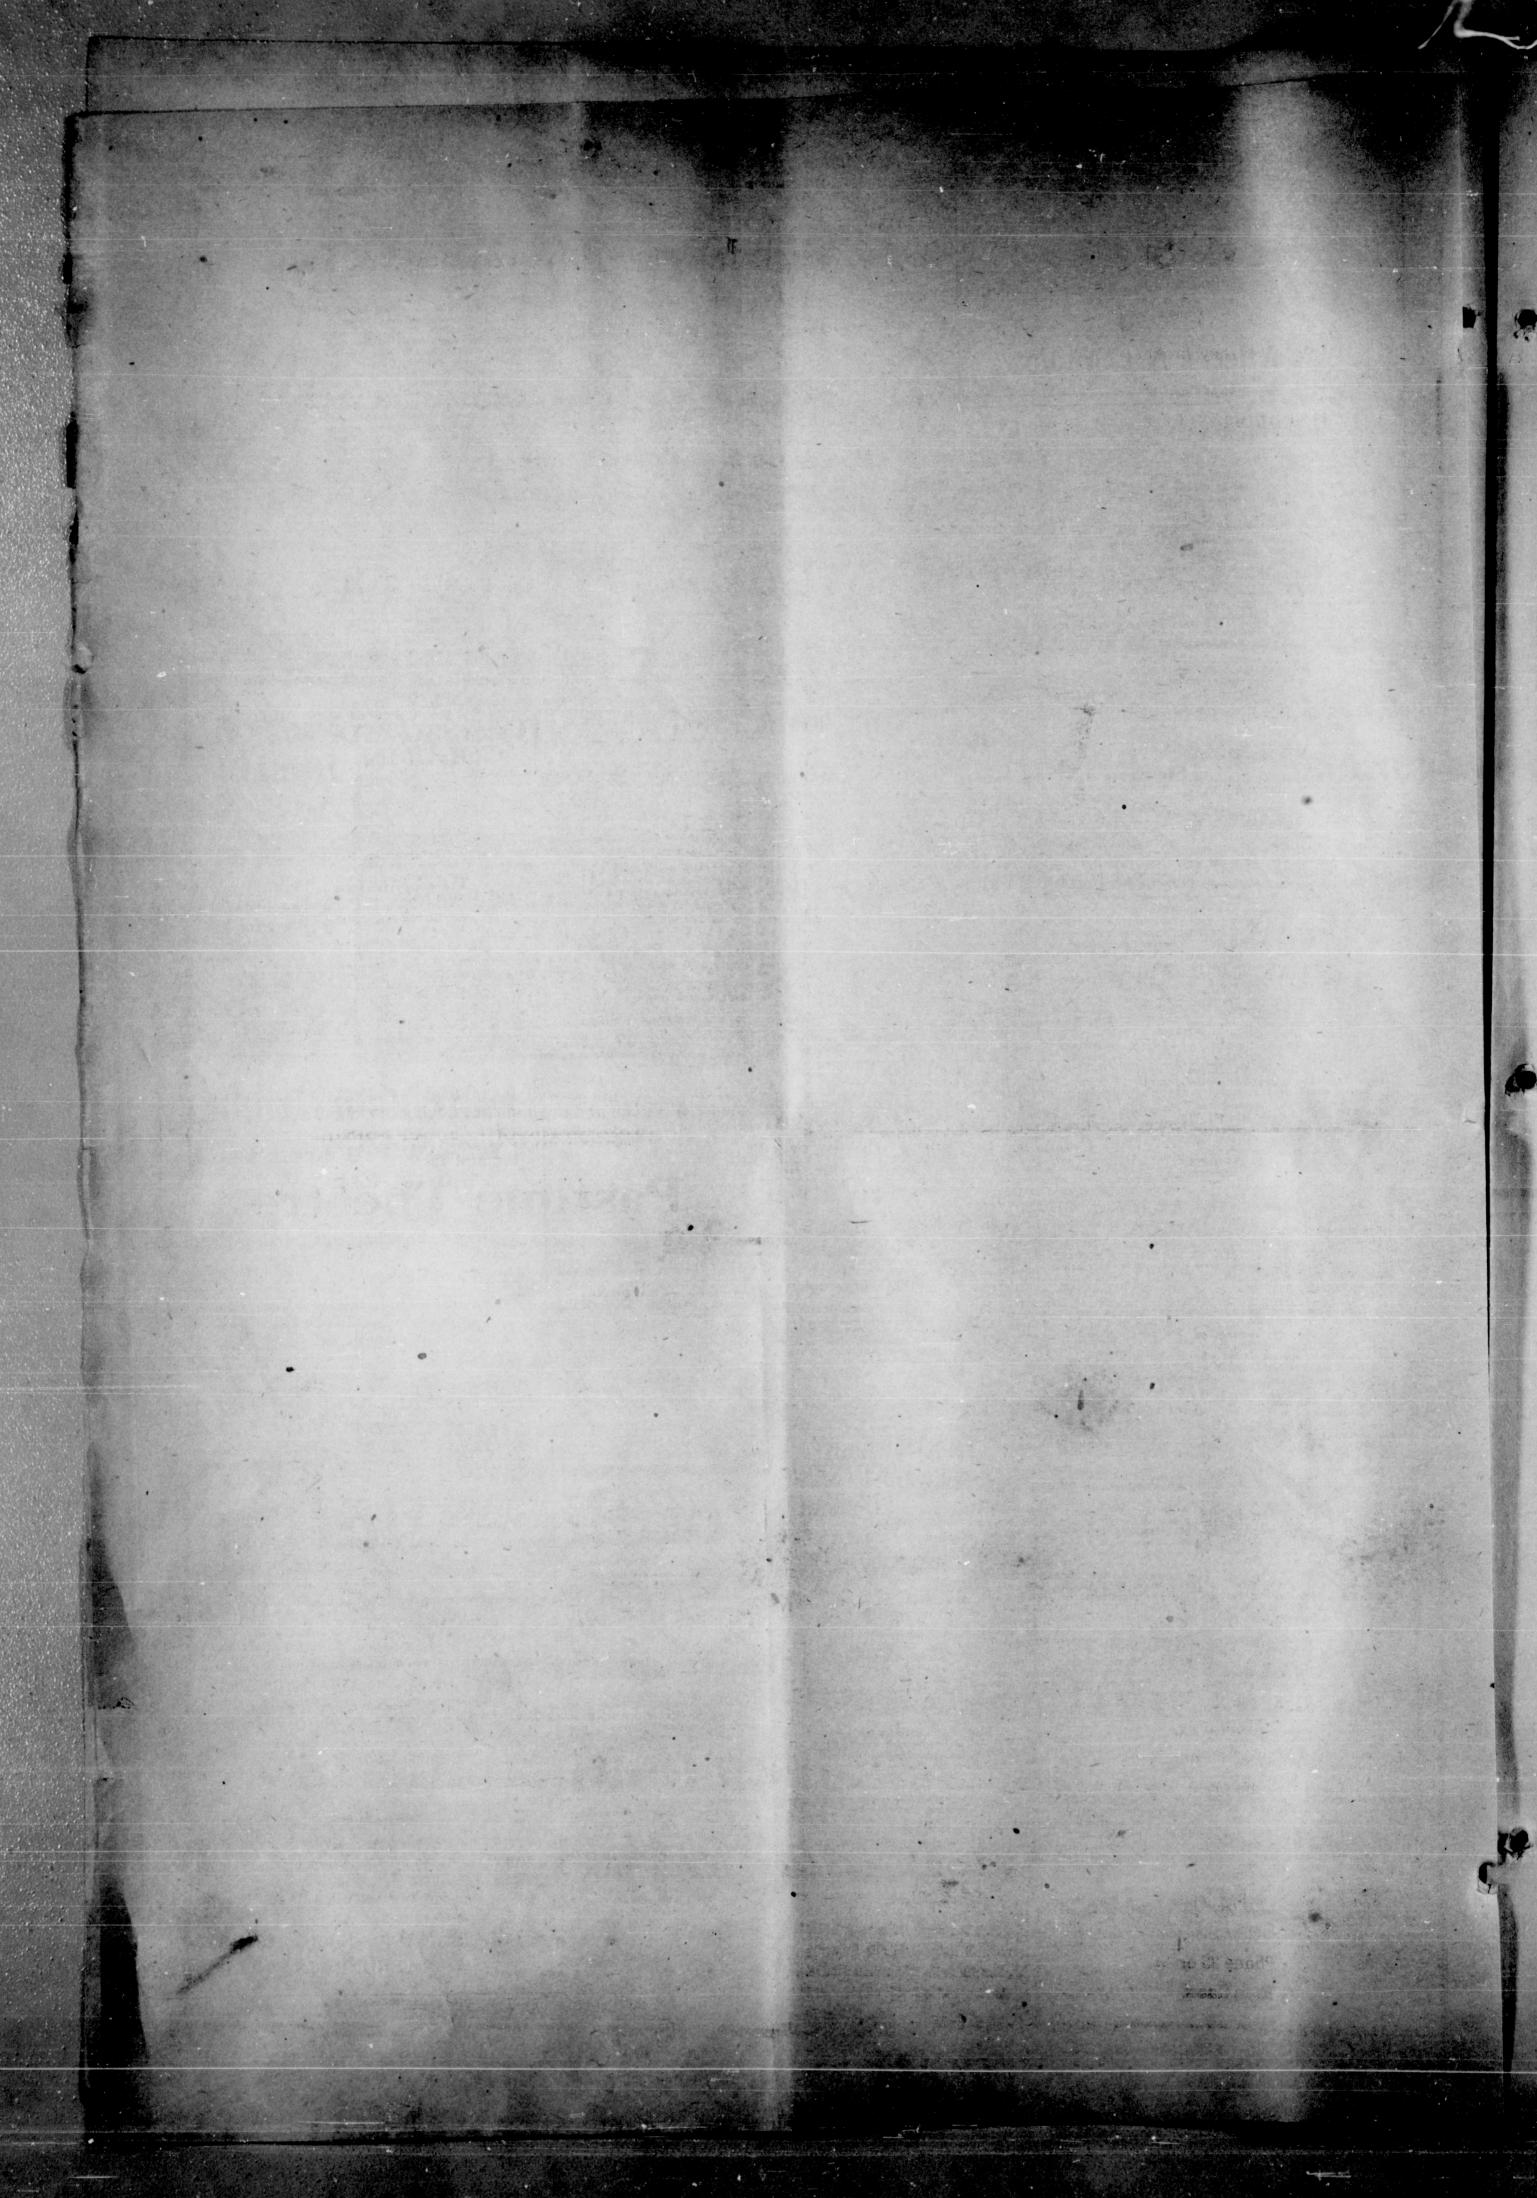

Be careful not to let Ralph see any dirty clothes or garments or anything that needs cleaning lying around for they will sure find their way to the Laundry, or he won't sleep good that night. FIRST AID TO THE HOMESICK

A group of American Red Cross girls were returning along the Strand the other evening from their post on canteen duty at one of the railway stations.

A huge sign with the "American Red Cross First Aid Sta-tion" loomed out of the fog just ahead of them. The group of young vomen had not been in London long, and here was something they had not seen before. One of them suggestd that they "stop in for a momen and see the sufferers who have been brought in tonight.

They entered quickly, expecting to find an operating room and a doctor They didn't find either.

Instead, they found a Virginia reel full progress. A negro banjo player was playing the music and shouted as he played: "Swing your partners right and left; kiss the girl

WITH THE RED CROSS IN FRANCE

BY CAPTAIN HERBERT S. JOHN-SON, PASTOR OF THE WARREN AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH, BOSTON; WITH THE AMERI-CAN RED CROSS IN EUROPE.

The Emotional French Since the great victory celebration in Paris November 11 and 12 I have talked with many American officers and private soldiers about their personal experiences. All of them, in giving their impressions, speak first of all of the conduct of the French people, and remark that the French showed themselves very emotional and very affectionate in their demonstrations of joy. Practically all men in American uniform were kissed, not once, but many times.

Young men and old men, tall men and short men, lean men and fat men, all had the same experience. Ministers of the gospel and newspa-per men ("the two extremes of soas a newspaper man jocularly ietv remarked) were no exception to the rule

I am compelled to confess that personally I was kissed early and often.

It began in this way: I was walk-ing in the Rue Royale, perfectly in-nocent and inoffensive, when sudden-ly I was surrounded by a dozen French youths and maidens. They formed a circle and densed ring-Dad Schaffer was on our streets formed a circle and danced ringaround-rosy about me. When I shouted "Vive la France!" the circle suddenly broke up and the Iadies began to hurl themselves upon my chest. Each of them kissed me on both checke! both cheeks!

After this first experience I asked myself whether it was my duty as a respectable minister of the Gospel to go home to my room and lock myself

I did not do so, on the following grounds, to-wit: I was in an Ameri-can Red Cross uniform; therefore I represented not myself as a personal Mrs. Southern and daughter, Chloe, were visiting at the E. Harold Coffin, a young American athlete who has been attached for welfare work to some of the hardest fighting units of our army, was recently in Gondricourt. Hearing the bells ringing in a little Catholic church, Coffin entered it. He found that a funeral service was being held have many companions for one of the sisters of the convent

In the church there were several score of the people of the village and about a hundred nuns. At the conclusion of the impressive

A New War Painting There is a new oil painting which is now attracting a good deal of at-tention in Paris. I saw it immediately after viewing the hundreds of German cannon in the Place de la Concorde.

The name of the painter is Inno-cente. The subject is the legend of the reappearance of Joan of Arc to save Paris in September, 1914, at the first battle of the Marne. In the sky, like a flying white angel, is Joan of Arc. In one hand she car-ries a flaming sword and in the other the tricolored flag. The sword is directed toward the enemies of France. In the foreground are the French soldiers who helped to save Paris. Their faces are turned toward the vision but their hands clutch fiercely their bayoneted rifles. Marshal Joffre has thought so well of the painting that he has sent a personal letter to Innocente thanking him for it. I had to fight my way to the window in which the picture is exhibited through dense crowds. The legend of the reappearance of

Joan of Arc has certainly taken a strong and probably permanent hold upon the people of France. I could not help noticing the dramatic contrast between the German cannon in the Place de la Concorde and the picture by the French artist a few hundred feet away in the Rue Royale

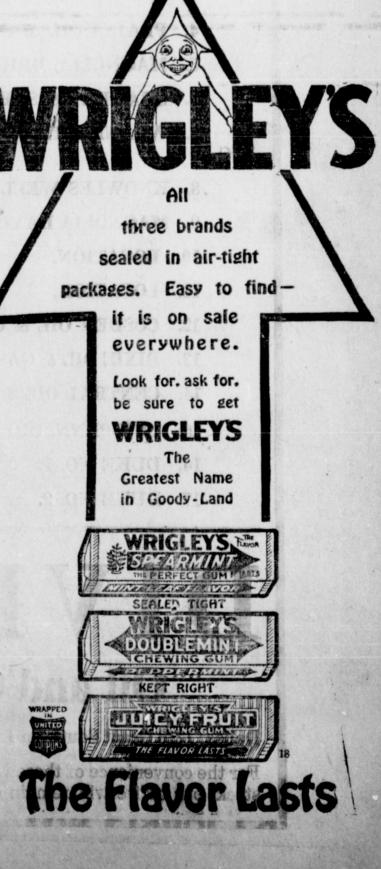

The French will probably always believe in spiritual ideals. The Ger-mans will probably always believe in cannon.

Blind People

A few weeks ago I attended a Sun-day evening service in Westminster Abbey, in London. I arrived late and was compelled to enter at a side door. I walked perhaps a hundred feet from the entrance and found a seat in the crowd, from which I listened to a fine address by the Bishop of Jerusalem.

A few days afterwards I visited A few days afterwards I visited Westminster Abbey in the daytime and found that I had all unconscious-ly walked over the graves of Tenny-son and Browning as I had taken my seat in the audience. utary thoughts to my mind. Charles G. Lutz is an ambulance driver attached to the American forces. As he was coming to Saveney, France, the other day on the train, he found a young American soldier who had been recently gassed. The boy was about sixteen years of age.
