Johnson of Spur, Texas and are from one of the best herds in the Panhandle section of the state. Mr. Johnson had these cattle on display at Weatherford and for this reason they did not show up so well as they will after a few days on full feed.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO PUR- CHASE INITIAL FURNI- TURE FOR CLUB ROOM

The regular meeting of the American Legion was held Tuesday evening of this week in the lately finished Legion Home in the City Hall and although the attendance was not all that might have been expected, the interest was such that a great bit of work was done that will prove satisfactory to the entire membership. Committees named some time past made their reports and all of them were accepted.

ALDERSON'S STUDIO IS THOROUGHLY RENOVATED

The Spring campaign for enlarging business lots and home premises has spread to the business section and is to be found at its best in the renovation of the interior of the Alderson's Art Studio and Gift Shop on upper Kearney Street. The interior is being thoroughly refurnished with special reference being given to the room where sittings are made for photographs. The walls and ceiling have been repainted a pleasing color and the wood work and other decorative features are being retouched by the painter with results that are altogether pleasing to the visitor to this place of business.

IDEAL CAFE IMPROVES ENTRANCE—RENOVATES

Another instance of great improvement effected by use of the painter's brush and a little application of the carpenter's handiwork is found in the recent completed facade to the Ideal Cafe. A new door and entrance has been added to the place, a business that adds greatly to the attractiveness and general appearance of the place of business. The front, coupled with the general appearance of the interior will do much to attract business here that has been going elsewhere in the past.

FIRE FRIDAY AFTERNOON DESTROYS RESIDENCE

Fire late Friday afternoon destroyed a residence, all contents and a part of the out buildings and other accoutrements just west of the city limits. The fire was of undetermined origin and was well under way when the alarm was turned in to the fire station. Being located beyond the limits of the fire department and without adequate water supply of any sort, the fire consumed the entire house and all contents without the company being able to save any of the contents. The place was directly west of the J. T. Sims home and was formerly occupied by the DeJarnett family.

GOOD DELEGATION FROM HERE ATTENDS CONFERENCE

The District Conference of the Clarendon District of the North-west Texas Conference of the Methodist Church Tuesday and Wednesday of this week was well attended by representatives from Clarendon. The meeting was held in Wellington and a splendid gathering was present from all charges in the District with some very good reports presented by the pastors of various places. HEREFORD WINS SUNDAY MATCHES

The Hillcroft Golf Club met the oldest and probably strongest golf team of the Panhandle at Hereford last Sunday and returned to their homes here with the small end of the score. Twenty matches were played and the visitors emerged with the small end, losing fourteen of the twenty. Players making the trip state that they met with the best treatment yet had when they were in Hereford and were glad to have a return match with the Hereford men.

HILLCROFT CLUB LOSES FOURTEEN OF TWENTY MATCHES PLAYED THERE

The Hillcrest Golf Club of Amarillo will be here next Sunday for the match deferred some weeks past when the weather was too bad for playing. The following Sunday will see the Hereford players here for a return match. By the time this game has been played, the local tournament will be played to determine entrants into the Greenbelt tournament at Memphis the last four days of May.

BAND BENEFITS FAIR SUCCESS

NEW STRETCH OF WALK FOR WEST OF KEARNEY

Workers completed a stretch of sidewalk in the front of the Taylor & Sons Hardware Store and the place of business of the Greene Dry Goods Company Friday afternoon of last week. A new method of procedure was adopted in the laying of this walk in that the entire work was done at one pouring instead of using the usual method of pouring in strips. The walk is laid before the buildings owned by Mayor H. W. Taylor and represents the final work needed to complete the work done last year when the fronts of the two buildings were completely refinished.

2617 STUDENTS IN CENSUS OF COUNTY

SCHOLASTIC REPORT FOR CURRENT YEAR INDI- CATES LOSS OF 100.

For the first time in years, the scholastic report for Donley County registers a loss in the number of students who will attend Donley County schools for the coming year. Two Independent Districts, Lelia Lake and Hedley, show a small gain to partly offset the loss found in the Common school districts of the county and in the loss found in the Clarendon Independent School District.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENS FIS- HING SEASON AND AN- NOUNCES SUMMER PLANS

Letters were mailed out the latter part of last week to the members of the Clarendon Country Club over the signatures of J. W. Martin, President and W. W. Taylor, Secretary, giving plans for the operation of the club and its privileges during the summer months. Mr. Martin is the newly chosen President of the Board, having been selected after the annual meeting of the latter part of February. Holman Kennedy was elected Vice-President and Fred Chamberlain was retained in the office of Treasurer. P. B. Gentry is the remaining member of the board.

PARTY IS PLANNED FOR JULY FOURTH

Every one knows that the fishing season was closed until May first, which was Tuesday of this week. A limit has been placed on the size and number of fish caught, and will apply only to members of the club and their out of the county visitors. Bass under eight inches and Crappie under six inches are to be turned back into the water, as well as all channel cat caught. 10 Bass and 10 Crappie per family per day is the limit set.

LOCAL MASONS ASSIST IN OPENING CHAPTER

Home Mulkey, W. H. Patrick, C. E. Killough and H. B. Kerbow were among the out of the city visitors in Dodsonville Friday of last week for the opening of a Blue Lodge in that city. The aforementioned gentlemen made the trip from here, leaving early Friday morning and were out of the city all day. Mr. Kerbow is Deputy District Grand Master for this section of the state and was in charge of the opening ceremonies attendant on the establishing of a Masonic body in Dodsonville.

STANLEY MILLER AND EN- NIS TAYLOR HOME ON LEAVE

Stanley Miller and Ennis Taylor, Donley County boys who have been in the Naval Academy Preparatory Class for the past few months are here for a visit of thirty days or more on leave. Both the boys have taken the entrance examinations and are awaiting the report from the examination board. Stanley was a caller in the News office the fore part of this week and is looking to be in excellent health from the past few months of strenuous work and heavy bean eating. The boys, six of them, made the trip from Norfolk to Denison in a car and at that place they scattered to their homes. Ennis Taylor remained further down in the state for a visit with other relatives before returning to his home at Lelia Lake. The brother of Ennis is in the Trenton at Shanghai in China.

PEASE-RED RIVER VALLEY SPECIAL TO FORT WORTH TO START HERE

The regular monthly meeting of the Pease-Red River Valley Association was held in Vernon Saturday of last week and plans were practically completed for the operation of a train from this district to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Fort Worth in June. The train will originate in Clarendon, this town being the farthest west part of the district covered, and will add people as the other towns in the association are passed. At the present time, it is planned to leave here early in the evening of June 18th, and arriving in Fort Worth on the morning of the 19th. Fort Worth will be left on the night of June 19th and the return will be made from Fort Worth on the evening of the 19th.

FIFTH SUNDAY IS MUCH ENJOYED

Other matters attended to at this meeting included the securing of spaces for the display of the products at the Dallas Fair. The composite display of these nine counties will probably be the only affair of the kind at the Dallas Fair this year and should attract unusual interest from the visitors to that event.

MANY TOWNS IN HALL AND DONLEY COUNTIES REP- RESENTED HERE

A recital of the students of Misses Helen Martin and Rita Foster of the Fine Arts Department of Clarendon Junior College was held in the Clarendon Auditorium Tuesday evening of this week. Misses Gertrude Osborne and Eunice Johnson are students of Miss Foster and Misses Leathers and Morrison are studying under the tutelage of Miss Martin. A fair attendance marked the appearance of this popular quartet of performers and showered them with praise following the recital. The following program was presented:

FAIR ATTENDANCE HEARS CONNALLY

MUNICIPAL BAND ASSISTS IN WELCOMING CANDIDATE TO CITY

A fair audience of voters from Clarendon and Donley County heard the Hon. Tom Connally of Marlin in his appearance here Friday of last week. The auditorium of the Queen Theater was the scene of the speaking with Tom C. Connally of Clarendon, a cousin of the candidate, as Master of Ceremonies. Dr. B. L. Jenkins introduced the speaker.

MISSES MARTIN AND FOSTER PRESENT STUDENT RECITAL

The speaker left immediately for Amarillo and other points, where he will continue his campaign speaking.

GASTON FOOTE TO PREACH SERMON TO HI-SCHOOL

Rev. Gaston Foote, pastor of the Methodist Church at Whitesboro has been selected to preach the baccalaureate sermon for the High School Seniors on Sunday, May 13th. Rev. Foote is one of the most popular pastors of the entire Panhandle and is especially well liked among the younger people of this section. Rev. Foote attended Clarendon College many years past when the school was at its best and his return to the city will be welcomed by his many old friends here.

STREET MARKING PROGRESSING WELL

GOOD RESULTS ARE MET BY FOLK WORKING ON NUM- BERING OF HOUSES

The two representatives of the Kansas City Directory Company who are working the city systematically on the numbering of houses for utility purposes are finding the people ready and willing to respond to their offers. What the people of Clarendon will later find to be a record was had Monday of this week when 100 calls were made at residences of one thousand registered. This indicates that all the keepers of the houses, whether home owners or renters, bought the numbers and affixed them to the fronts of their places of residence where they might be seen by all who pass that way.

PLAY OF YOUNGSTERS TO BE GIVEN MAY 11TH

The pupils of the first to sixth grades inclusive will present their usual Spring operetta in the College Auditorium on Friday evening, May 11th. Preparations have been under way for this event for many weeks and the youngsters are all set and ready for the event to be staged. The operetta, "Peter Rabbit" is the final number of the program of interesting parts. These start with the students of Mrs. B. G. Smith and end with the sixth graders presenting the operetta as a finale. The far famed harmonic band will be one of the features of the play and will be presented at the close of the event with Truett Holtzclaw and Nicky Stewart as the soloists of the group. Miss Sarah Thompson is manager and director of the event and states that over two hundred students are listed as being a part of the play. Programs are being prepared for the event, which will be presented under the auspices of the Parent Teachers Association of the South Ward School.

BEVILLE IS NAMED DEMOCRATIC HEAD

On the resignation of J. J. Alexander, Democratic Chairman of Donley County, the vacancy was filled by the appointment of R. H. Beville. Mr. Alexander became disqualified for the County Chairman's office when he announced for office and his resignation came as a matter of procedure and his race.

LOCAL ATTORNEY SELECTED TO SUCCEED ALEXANDER. CALLS MEETINGS

The new county chairman, R. H. Beville, is particularly well fitted for the place, having served in numerous capacities in public office before this time. His first official act was the calling of the Precinct conventions which will be held on next Saturday, May 5th. Official announcement of the meeting and the purpose will be found elsewhere in this edition.

"Every House numbered and every street marked" is the slogan in Clarendon these days.

It might be worse in Nicaragua. Suppose our poor marines had to keep order in a Democratic convention down there, too.—Dallas News.

Local Chamber of Commerce officials are very hopeful of a strong delegation of Clarendon people accompanying our band to Fort Worth for the 1928 West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in June. Clarendon has always made a creditable showing at the big party, and she will not fail this year.

The News is happy to join in congratulations to Editor Ray Carney of the Robstown Reporter on his election to the presidency of the South Texas Press Association at San Antonio a few days ago. Mr. Carney was a valued employee of the Clarendon News a few years back, and we have watched his progress with more than usual interest. Here's luck, Ray!

Surely we have waited long enough on projecting a workable road bond issue for Donley County. Ours is a peculiar case and one that will insure us getting liberal aid from the state and federal departments, who are anxious to help those who help themselves. A meeting of citizens over the county to map out plans for paving designated highways and improving laterals, with fair distribution of funds for all sections is highly desirable. That accomplished it will be no great task to get the petitions signed praying for the election. Success comes to those who take advanced ground; always pressing forward.

Donley County has had much valuable publicity in the past few months relating to our rapidly increasing dairying industry and its attendant poultry interest. Hardly a week passes now without several dairy cows of high quality being brought into the county bought by some local farmer who is forging to success by this certain path. More baby chicks of the standard breeds have been shipped in to local folks than any two years before, and the home broods have been greatly enlarged as well. Donley County is doing now what she should have done ten years ago, but there's no use of crying over spilt milk—we are inspired by the prospects of our increased financial prestige and the general happiness of our people. Donley is going forward.

Clarendon people know just exactly how the Waco people feel. "We've been thar."

In conversation with several local men a few days ago it developed that there was some talk of a co-operative revival meeting for Clarendon, which, by-the-way, is a thing our city needs very badly. An outstanding difficulty in the way, however, is the lack of an auditorium. This is a thing that has been a grievous thorn in the flesh of Clarendon for a number of years. We need that auditorium nearly every week in the year. In a few days there is to be a pageant staged by the public school with something like two hundred children participating. Where can such a production be staged without entailing great inconvenience to the director and children? Where can an audience which such a company of children will insure—where can they be comfortably seated? It is a problem that grows with each succeeding month, and will never lose its troublesome grip until it is settled right. A moving revival of religion participated in by all the churches of the town, would alone be worth the entire cost of the auditorium. After that its utility would be clear profit. Think it through.

In the proposed move of Baylor University from Waco to Dallas, it is not settled by any means that the school is going to the metropolis on the Trinity. A special session of the State Baptist Convention is yet to pass on the proposal, and when it is considered that the leading forces in nearly every Baptist church in Texas are graduates or former students of Baylor, all afire with loyalty to their alma mater, there is every reason to anticipate a veritable landslide of denunciation against the majority report of the board who voted to move the school. Former Governor Pat Neff, in a detailed minority report sets forth some mighty logic why the school should not be moved, President Brooks is openly opposed to the project, and it is safe to suspect that hundreds of unterrified Baptist laymen and ministers will go to the special called session of the convention with hundreds of reasons and tons of determination that the move shall not be accomplished. On a plain business basis the million and a half dollars Dallas offers, does not offset what Baylor now has at Waco—and Waco will do even better.

Came this week another of those smooth-tongued gentlemen who lure newspaper men into trick advertising stunts by offering to buy one to four pages of advertising space at regular rates, then go out among the merchants of the city and sell the space at forty to fifty per cent increase, pocketing the difference. As has been our custom for many years we refused the proffered business, greatly to the surprise of the "expert", and thus again Clarendon business men were saved—insofar as The News was concerned—excessive advertising costs of from twenty-five to thirty-five dollars per page. This is only one of the many instances where The News management stands guard over the legitimate advertisers of Clarendon. We often have the pleasure of sending some grafting advertising specialty man on his way, refusing to print any sort of job without recognized publicity merit. This, we feel to be our duty. We charge our patrons a fair price for the service rendered, and we will not be a party to any scheme whereby these faithful patrons will be charged more than our rates, with some outside fellow carrying off the difference. This is a practice that ethical newspaper men all over the country are frowning upon, no matter how easy it might be to "get theirs". It isn't right, and what isn't right should be stopped. Grafting advertising salesman, fakers, chautauquas, lyceums, peddlers and what-nots deserve our scorn. Let's co-operate in protecting ourselves.

The editor of this column has long been a champion of and a sympathizer with the women, and we must confess that we deplore the kind of weather we have had in last few weeks. It's too windy for the women to do the gardening with any satisfaction. We men know how it is, for it has been too windy to play golf, too—Clarendon News.

Sure it is too windy to play golf. The editor of this great moral persuader has put up his sticks and has taken to raking off the back yard and making himself useful as well as editorial. As for gardening—we have both formed the opinion that our combined forces are needed to keep the weeds down and to make the soil mellow by oft cultivation, but it is far easier to go to the store and buy an onion than to make an onion grow. Therefore altho the Clarendon editor seems to be putting the gardening on the women, we here and now refuse to be a party to thus imposing on good nature. For what woman wants to dig in the dirt to support the family table while the man she has taken for better and for worse is piddling around with a little ball and a bag of sticks that are not even good to stake out peas. It is time for the early vegetables to be put to bed in the ground and whether the seeds come up or not, we are going to—make a dash for the store and buy our garden sass already cooked.—Higgins News.

TALK IT UP

There's no place like home, particularly when you are away from home. This is due to the simple fact that we overlook the good things near at hand. We do not appreciate as we should the folks and forces that are near. We harbor the idea that greatness is far off.

That is why the old town seems so good to us after we have journeyed far and wide. We know those with whom we touch elbows every day. It's a pleasure to be able to call a neighbor by his first name; also to eat corn beef and cabbage with him occasionally. It seems rather fine to be able to get a check cashed without securing identification; to have the family doctor if need be, because it is he who seems to know better than all others your particular ache and ailment.

And isn't it a glorious thing to have the endorsement of your fellow citizens when you go outside of your community for some favor or recognition, since the endorsement must come from them if nobody else knows you?

Since the old town means all of this to us, houses, feeds, clothes, employs us, shouldn't we stand by the old town? We certainly should. We should talk it up and not down. We should extol its virtues, and remove its faults.

The best way is to recognize the merits of the town's institutions and the genius of its citizens.—Thorp, Wisconsin, Courier.

BUSINESS MEN MUST EXERCISE TO KEEP FIT

If business men would keep fit they must exercise. "Always motoring, makes much misery" might be a truism about the average business man who steps in his car in the morning, rides to his office, rides to lunch, rides home in the evening after scarcely getting out of his office chair all day. Such inattention and carelessness regarding the primary demands of life brings about eventually a long train of ills.

The individual who will take advantage of athletic clubs, golf, polo or tennis courses, try to secure sufficient sleep and eat nutritive foods, will surely keep in a tip-top physical condition. "Exercise or physical activity has long been recognized as a tremendous factor in the health program, but with the recent rapid tendencies toward urbanization, the mechanization of industry, and the war revelations on the physical condition of young men, it has received increased attention."

"Physical activity has the effect of increasing metabolism, old cells are broken down, new cells formed—the blood flow is increased, respiration increased and other organic functions generally activated."

Let these rules be among your "health habits."

1. Walk a brisk mile or two daily.
2. Breathe deeply, many times daily.
3. Spend one afternoon outdoors at least once each week.
4. Play some outdoor game two or three times during the week.
5. Eat some fruit and coarse vegetable daily.
6. Drink two quarts of water daily.
7. Take a bath and vigorous exercise daily.

Young dairy heifers should at all times have plenty of roughage which is best furnished, in late spring and summer, by green pasture. In addition, enough grain should be fed so that the heifer develops steadily and gains from 1 to 1 1/2 pounds a day. If skim milk is plentiful and cheap, it may be fed advantageously to dairy heifer until she is 8 or 10 months old. STORIES OR AN OLD FRONTIERSMAN taken to bring about its disappearance in our civilian population.

In the year of 1912 there died at his home near Harper, Texas, one of those sturdy old frontiersmen, Captain W. R. Russell, whose experiences in the southwestern part of Texas during the early days would fill a volume if they were written up.

The increase in the practice of pasteurizing milk has also been another and a very important factor in the decrease of typhoid fever. Typhoid fever organisms grow and multiply with incredible rapidity in milk.

Beware of shellfish that come from sewage polluted flats. Boil drinking water that is not absolutely tested.

TYPHOID FEVER

It is gratifying to compare the typhoid fever reports with those of 25 years ago when in most of the city hospitals of the United States there were places set apart as typhoid fever wards.

The total number of cattle, including calves, in Texas in 1927 was 6,136,000 and the total value was $175,775,000.

Texas has 1,791,325 of the 3,370,218 goats in the United States and it is the leading sheep and wool state of the union.

The total value of Texas petroleum in 1926 was placed at $308,700,000.

Texas is the Union's leading state in the number of sheep, number of mules, number of beef cattle, and number of goats.

TRAFFIC SURVEY REVEAL SECRETS

ROAD DOCTORS THROUGH STUDY SHOW WHERE TO SPEND ROAD MONEY

Communities suffering from traffic ailments are calling in highway doctors. Traffic surveys, comparable to medical examinations, are revealing in positive terms what was already known in a vague way.

Vermont, in a survey conducted by the state highway department in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, found that the State roads, comprising nearly a third of the total highway mileage carry more than four-fifths of all the traffic.

That State roads bear by far the most traffic was further evidenced by the traffic survey made in Ohio, also with the assistance of the Bureau of Public Roads. In that state, 57.7 per cent of all traffic is carried on the state highways which at present constitute about one eighth of the road mileage.

The traffic survey not only reveals the routes that should be paved because of the heavy volume of traffic they carry at present, but also indicates future trends in highway developments and needs. The Ohio survey, for instance, brought to light that within a few years a number of roads would be carrying many more vehicles than they are now.

The Ohio studies further point out that the money would be saved the state if 1,220 miles of roads were to be reconstructed, 1,594 miles widened, and 1,707 miles of new highways built. The total cost of such an undertaking is estimated at $100,000,000—yet when the yearly Ohio highway income is considered it is quite apparent that this outlay could be easily made and with everlasting benefit to the citizenry.

POULTRY OPPORTUNITIES IN TEXAS

A good deal is being said at the present time on "How the Eyes of the Nation Are Turning Texasward," and there is certainly justification for the poultrymen of the country looking over what Texas has to offer them. The fact that Texas ranks sixth among the states in poultry production in spite of a yearly average of only six dozen eggs per hen indicates that conditions are favorable for economical egg production, for an industry with such low average production could not otherwise hold such a high place.

Texas offers the following distinct advantages: (1) housing, (2) feeding, (3) green pasture and range, (4) temperature and early season, and (5) relatively low land cost.

Very few large fortunes have been made in the poultry business in Texas but several thousand Texas farmers have found that a flock of 500 high-producing Standard-bred hens will not only foot the bills of the family, but will leave a cash balance besides.—E. N. Holmgren, in The Progressive Farmer.

SOUTH ADAPTED TO HEAVY EGG PRODUCTION

In the Poultry Special a year ago, we mentioned the tremendous growth the poultry industry had made in the South. We also enumerated the many natural advantages our section offers which make profitable poultry raising possible. Growth this past year has been as great if not greater than in any previous year, and if increased incubator capacity is any index to future development, next year will show another record.

Probably the finest indication and greatest proof that our climate is conducive to heavy egg production will be found by examining records from last year's egg-laying contests. Of the twenty-nine egg-laying contests reporting, twelve are located south of the Mason-Dixon line. All but four of the thirteen contests having the highest average egg production are located in Dixie. One of the four outside of Dixie is located in the Middle West and the other three on the Pacific Coast. While Southern contests are in the minority with only twelve out of twenty-nine, only three failed to get in the high thirteen class. Most of the Western and Eastern contests have been operating much longer than our Southern contests and have a larger class of real breeders to obtain entries from.

One of the Texas contests had the highest egg production per bird of any contest in the United States. The South Carolina contest was the fifth highest and Georgia sixth. The Georgia contest was the second highest large contest in the country. Checking on birds laying 300 or more eggs, we find that there were fifty-six such birds in the twenty-nine contests. Twenty-six 300-eggers were in Southern contests. Of the remaining thirteen in the elite class, sixteen were in the Western Washington contest and the rest divided among the remaining contests. The Connecticut contest, which is the oldest, being in its seventh year, had its first 300-egg Leghorn last year. Georgia's contest showed six birds in this class its first year, and South Carolina had five its second year. The contest records demonstrate conclusively that we can obtain heavy egg production in all sections of the South. Progressive farmers should think about this. If we can obtain more eggs than our Northern neighbors, then there is no reason why we cannot compete favorably with them. Let's not wait for Northern farmers to come here to raise poultry for us, but let's produce enough for ourselves and a surplus for cash returns.—The Progressive Farmer. PROHIBITION ISSUE IS PARAMOUNT TO DEMOCRATS

Austin, Texas, April 30.—Despite a maze of conflicting and contradictory statements from various sources, the principal issue before the voters of Texas in the precinct primaries next Saturday, in the judgment of sound political observers, is whether the Texas democrats will send a pledged delegation of uninstructed dries to the Houston convention. Despite the various attitudes of various individuals and groups, the aims of the Democrats of Texas organization have never varied. They demand a dry plank in the national platform and demand that the Texas delegation shall support a dry candidate for the presidential nomination. They ask that no negative instructions be given the delegation, so that its members may have more freedom to use their judgement for the best interest of Texas. They also request that all democrats subscribe to the fealty pledge in good faith. These, in short, are the aims of the Democrats of Texas, under whose banner are now gathered virtually all the prohibitionists in the state.

Desperate efforts will be made in many precincts and county conventions to capture these conventions for the Smith forces. Detailed instructions as to procedure have been issued by the Smith leaders. However, the dry forces of the state are in a decided majority and there is little likelihood that they will lose control except in a few counties.

The series of conferences during the latter part of last week were highly significant, in that they brought a comparatively new element into control of the politics of Texas. Tom Love and his lieutenants, who have ruled the party for many years, were nearly all left out in the organization of the new controlling group, at the head of which is Dan Moody, ably seconded by Lynch Davidson.

Neither Moody nor Davidson cared to be drawn into national issues and both were virtually drafted. Moody was brought into it when it seemed the bolting element under Tom Love would control the state and Davidson later became active head of the opposition, at the Dallas meet April 7. Moody is virtually certain to head the Texas delegation at Houston as a result of his activities, and one reason he would accept the honor would be the opportunity it would give him to demand and fight for a dry plank in the national platform.

REGISTRATION FOR CONVENTION OFFERS MANY ITEMS
Late receipts of information from headquarters of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce indicate that registration at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention in Fort Worth will mean more than a mere securing of a badge. These badges will be out about the first of May and are entirely new in design, being one of the most beautifully designed badges that has ever been used by the organization. A new plan is being used this year to facilitate registration. The badges will be mailed to the various towns of the state and the number of registrants will later receive coupon books showing the privileges they should receive for the registration. These privileges will include: Admission to Panther Park to witness a game of League Baseball between Fort Worth and Waco and Fort Worth and Shreveport, Waco playing two days and Shreveport one. Admittance to at least one show in Fort Worth. Admittance to the pageant at T. C. U. Stadium. Admittance to any dance under auspices of the General Arrangements Committee, including the Official Ball.

SUMMER GASOLINE IS BALANCED MOTOR FUEL
This week's edition of the News carries announcement of the Continental Oil Company's Summer Fuel, designed for use during the summer months when operating conditions are numerous degrees higher than during the winter. This gasoline is the result of years of study and experiment, during which time it has been learned that a fuel should be composed of parts rather than all being of the same texture or burning facilities. Lighter parts are used to facilitate a quick start, these being used to ignite the heavier and more slowly burning units, the whole giving a strong and steady push of power rather than a sudden burst and an end to the push. Summer Gasoline as evolved in the Continental Oil Company's laboratories is then found to be made up of a great deal more of the heavier parts resulting in a longer burning fuel and giving more miles to the gallon. A summing up of the properties of the gasoline and its properties may be found in the following paragraphs:
"A shovel full of paper will ignite quickly, but cannot produce heat (or power) equal to a shovel full of coal. No more will 'high test' gasoline, as some call it, or a gasoline composed too largely of light parts, give you power.

Conoco Gasoline is made up of many parts, some of which are very light in weight, vaporizing and burning at very low temperatures. Just a nudge on the starter button and these light parts of Conoco Gasoline ignite with a flash. The remaining parts are gradually increased in heat value and ignite one from the other to deliver a steady, powerful drive of heat expansion to the pistons of your motor.

"To put a gasoline into your car not complete in its parts would give you the same problem you would have in building a campfire—if you would throw a heavy, soggy log on top of a few leaves instead of building up from a handful of leaves with small twigs and sticks to the heavier timbers. Your fire would go out and the heavy log would not burn. If the parts of gasoline are not graduated in heat value, you lose a great deal of the power because some of it will not burn—and what is worse, goes by your piston rings, destroying the oil film, reducing motor compression and causing excessive wear.

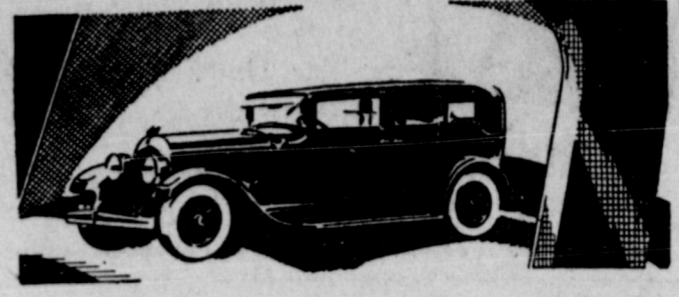

"More than forty years of experience combined with the best facilities known to the petroleum industry have enabled the Continental Oil Company to build Conoco Gasoline, part by part in perfect balance. All for the purpose of giving you what you want—Extra Miles!"

POINTERS ON PAINTING
Spring is a good time of year to paint farm buildings and implements. Not only does paint improve the appearance of buildings, but it protects them from the weather and is the cheapest way of keeping them in good condition. Painting should not be delayed too long; if wood has begun to rot or iron to rust, the deterioration will continue even after paint has been applied. Outside painting should be done when the surfaces to be painted are dry and the weather is not too damp or cold. Buildings should be painted every three to five years, sometimes often than this. New wooden buildings should be given a priming coat of paint as soon as possible and a finishing coat within the next month or two. Before exposure to the weather or to dampness, both the wooden and metal parts of farm implements and machinery should be painted. When painting outside surfaces, two or three thin coats are better than one thick coat.

KILLING JOHNSON GRASS IS NO EASY TASK
The eradication of Johnson grass in sections of the South and of the far West, where it flourishes as a weed, entails much hard work. Farmers' Bulletin 1537-F "Johnson Grass as a Weed" just published by the United States Department of Agriculture, summarizes proved methods of eradication and suggests other which have been found effective in various localities and under different conditions of soil, climate, and culture.

"In attempting to clear fields Johnson grass by any method," says M. W. Talbot, author of the bulletin, "the threefold aim should be (1) to exhaust existing rootstocks and to prevent the growth of new ones, (2) to kill new seedlings, and (3) to prevent the

FARM POULTRY RAISING IS PROFITABLE

By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas How many farmers remember what happened to the cattle business, several years ago, also the hog business. What about cotton raising? Actual records, prove more farmers have lost money growing cotton, than have made any money.

I do not believe there is anything on the farm, that is as highly profitable as a good flock of chickens. I believe the average farmer gets more money for the time devoted to the care of the chickens, than anything else he can do on the farm.

Hens in the flocks of 543 farm workers who last year kept cost records, earned more for their owners in 1926 than in any year since such records have been kept.

This report shows that the average hen in these 543 flocks, paid its owner $3.23 for labor. In Leghorn flocks that produce less than 100 eggs per hen made a labor income of 37 cents per bird, while Leghorn flocks producing 180 eggs or more per bird made a labor income of $4.23 per bird.

Good stock and proper care will make any farm flock profitable. Why not convert some of your home grown feed and even some products, that would otherwise go to waste, into marketable eggs and chickens.

We sincerely believe farm poultry keeping is a profitable side line. However, it requires good stock, some preparation and work. Here is what we mean by preparation. The other day a man took off a hatch of 195 perfect chicks, healthy, strong and vigorous. He tried to keep them warm in a dry goods box and two lanterns. Today he has no chicks, the next time he will make preparations.

LINDBERGH WEARY OF THE LIMELIGHT

Now that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has taken most of the members of Congress and their families on air flights in the interest of aviation, he intends to stop making public appearances for a time except at airports, and will try to become "Slim" Lindbergh.

For eleven months Lindbergh has been perhaps the most discussed figure in the world. As a result all sorts of myths have grown up about him, due largely to his extraordinary reticence. His friend, Russell Owen, tells us a few things heretofore unknown about Lindbergh. Owen's story will appear in the monthly Magazine Section of the Clarendon News, May 17.

CARLSBAD PREPARES FOR JULY FOURTH FESTIVAL

Carlsbad, N. Mex. April 3—At a meeting of the directors of the local Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday, it was unanimously agreed that the largest and best Fourth of July celebration ever witnessed in the southwest would be staged here on Independence Day.

Last year, a crowd variously estimated at from five thousand to seven thousand people witnessed the mammoth night fireworks display at the Carlsbad Bathing Beach, many of the watchers having previously participated in the water carnival and boating which extended throughout the day.

The entertainment is being provided for the hundreds of tourists who will visit Carlsbad Cavern and the beach on July 4. Last July 3 and 4, there were 1,501 registered visitors to Carlsbad Cavern over the two day holiday. This year, Park Service officials are preparing for 1,200 visitors on July 4, alone, owing to the limitless publicity which has been given to the cavern during the year past.

A sight that has been remembered by many visitors who have returned for a second visit to the cavern is the reflection of the fireworks in the waters of Pecos

AUTO NOMADS BEGIN TREKS

GOOD ROADS STIMULATE TRAVEL; PARK VISITORS INCREASE 52 PER CENT

Nomadic Americans, probably more than 40,000,000 of them, will spin over the highways and byways this summer under the classification of "automobile tourists."

Before the summer is over this tourist horde will doubtless have spent $3,500,000,000 for sardines and crackers, baked beans, automobile tires, gasoline, broken radius rods and other requisites of the rambling life.

The volume of travel to national parks and monuments, forest preserves, national forests and to Canada definitely proves that road building is no longer chiefly a local problem but a state and national. Government records show that park visitors are increasing by leaps and bounds.

Four California parks registered a gain of 52 percent in attendance last year. Canada reports that 11,000,000 Yankees visited the various provinces in 1927, and incidentally, spent $100,000,000 in doing it.

Possessed of a motor car pulled by the power of 20 or more horses the motorist's only handicap is that of poor roads, of which there is still an all too plentiful supply. The tremendous tourist travel that now exists is due to the roads that have been improved. Further road betterment will place the great outdoors still closer to the city. The worker with but two short weeks vacation may be enabled to visit his aunt 2,000 miles away with comfort.

There are 3,000,000 miles of roads in the United States, but not all of them need be paved for a considerable mileage is infrequently traveled. Of this mileage but 518,000 miles are ministered to by road workers. Only 69,000 miles may be called really first class roads. It is plain, then, that a great deal still remains to be done. This is not discounting the accomplishments to date, for the progress of the last quarter century, during the automobile's life time, has been noteworthy.

Since this is now a nation of people whose education is largely received through contacts with others and through observation of how others live and do things, road building assumes a greater importance than ever before. State road programs should be speeded up so that more low cost roads may be placed in service for the use of those living today. Where circumstances demand, local communities such as counties, should cooperate with the state as closely as possible so that the greatest mileage of first class highways can be obtained.

Road building is second to education in total expenditures. This is proper for nothing is of greater importance than education and roads themselves are of great importance in education.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Knight motored to Electra Sunday for a visit with friends and relatives. They report the country near Electra in worse condition than that near here, with practically all their crops burned up. The continued dry weather was met at Childress and followed on as far as Electra. Mr. Knight stated that their wheat crop was a total loss with many of the fields being grazed off, preparatory to plowing them under for seeding to feed and other crops.

BYRON KING PAYS TRIBUTE TO CAR

Old Timers among true lovers of horseflesh will remember "Poetry of Motion" with a thrill of unalloyed pleasure. It was nearly two-score years ago that this great Champion among five-gaited saddle horses stirred the hearts of applauding thousands of fashionable people as she pirouetted on proud parade, prancing around the tanbark rings of the greatest Horse Shows in the land.

And now, in this newer Automotive Age, owners of the modern steel steed are breaking out into poetry about their four-wheeled mounts.

Ordinarily, springtime poetry is inspired by the tender passion for the fair sex. Indeed, if one's recollection does not serve him poorly, the vice of versifying is quite general in this season when the younger generation is apt to be mooney, absent-minded and even, shall we say, "a bit balmy"—like unto the welcome weather.

But here is a real springtime tribute to a motor car, perhaps the finest bit of poetry ever penned on the subject, just received by Walter P. Chrysler from Byron J. King, of Pittsburgh.

"I have been driving one of your '27 Sedans," writes Mr. King. "It has seemed to me from the very first time that I took the wheel in my hand that Chrysler cars possess a distinct personality, a personality that changes with the character of the driver, with the season of the year, with the hour of the day.

"Hour after hour I have sat behind the two little shining wings while they have cleaved the air like a falcon, or soared majestically as an eagle. I have watched them alert and gleaming with the first light of early morning, and staunch and brave through the dreariness of rain and mud in the darkest night.

Mr. Ponder and Mr. Mulkey were also participants in the pleasures of the day. In spite of her years, Mrs. Williams planned and prepared most of the sumptuous dinner in honor of the occasion, and her many friends wish her many happy returns of the day.

PETTY BURGLARIES ARE REPORTED MONDAY EVE

The coal office of D. O. Stalings was entered through a window on the eastern side some time during the night of Monday of this week and the place was generally ransacked by some person looking for valuables articles. The contents of the safe were very generally scattered about the place, but little of value was found. A sum amounting to approximately 75 cents in nickles was taken from the safe, and no other damage was done. The safe was not locked and the visitors had no difficulty in getting into where the valuable might have been kept. Railroad authorities report merchandise cars with their seals broken, but were unable to determine the nature and amount of the loss. No other acts of vandalism were reported.
