DEE GARNER

The funeral services of Dee Garner, brother of D. N. Garner of this city were held from the Methodist Church in this city October 6, 1925 by Revs. L. A. Ravis and Roscoe Stapp.

Mr. Garner was 47 years of age at the time of his death and had been in Clarendon in the home of his brother for several months. Death came after a long siege with the dread tuberculosis. For many years of his life he had been a railroad man and when he was forced to leave his work due to ill health, he was in the position of engineer. He moved to Clarendon in May 1925 from Concrete, Washington, where he had been making his home up to the time of his late serious illness. His wife was at his bedside at the time of his death. He was married some 22 years ago to Dollie Rule.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ashley of Childress and D. N. Garner of this city were the only other near relatives who were present at the time of his death. They were J. H. Hurn, W. B. Halle, W. L. Blaylock, C. W. Bell, J. M. Newland and Rev. T. O. Walton. Interment was had in the citizens cemetery.

DR. C. A. PEARLE TO LECTURE SATURDAY EVENING

Dr. C. A. Pearle, head of the chemistry department of West Texas State Teachers' College, will deliver a lecture of interest to every one Saturday evening at the High School auditorium. Dr. Pearle will talk on the relation of nutrition to certain dental diseases and their prevention and cures. His talk will not be directed to physicians and dentists alone, but will be in terms understood by all hearers, and is being given for the special benefit of students, parents and teachers. Dr. Pearle recently made some very astonishing discoveries with regard to the relation of diet and the so-called brown tooth stain which is so common in this section of the state. In his talk of Saturday evening, he will give the public the benefit of his discoveries. He is now doing research work in the dental field for the National Dental Association, and will exhibit at the lecture animal specimens on which he is experimenting.

In as much as the subject of Dr. Pearle's talk is one in which every one is or should be vitally interested, it is expected that a large crowd will be in the auditorium Saturday evening. The very flattering comments of the large newspapers of the country made on his lecture to the National Dental Association, which met in Louisville, Kentucky a short time ago, are further incentive for attending this lecture. The Parent-Teachers' Associations feel very fortunate in securing the lecturer. There will be no charges.

H. Mulkey and Lee Casey went to Dallas Sunday to attend the Dallas Fair and to secure the equipment for the new picture house, "The Queen", to be opened soon.

COLLEGE TAKES FIRST HOME GAME

BRONCHOS FROM ROSWELL LOSE TO BULLDOGS BY TWO TOUCHDOWNS FRIDAY.

The Clarendon College Bulldogs met the Bronchos from the New Mexico Military Institute on the College Park last Friday. Although the air was exceedingly chilly to the spectators on the bleachers and made an overcoat feel exceedingly good, the game was free from fumbles and was a real football game. Clarendon was able to make any gain necessary through the line of the Institute and their passing was working to a fine advantage.

The Bronchos were outclassed in all points of the game but could have made the score much different had they pursued their passing game through the entire part of the game. During the last period of the game they broke loose with an aerial game that threatened the Clarendon goal until a pass was intercepted by a Clarendon man who made a good recovery that finally netted Clarendon her final score.

Jim Crow, Bob Parks, Mike Corbin, and others made a play for themselves on the College team and placed themselves more firmly in the minds of the fans of the city. Mike Corbin handled the team in a splendid manner, mixing his plays to an extent that made the Roswell players keep their eyes open at all times of the game. The educated toe of Crow showed itself to a good advantage at several times in the game, placing the Roswell team on their own goal line to the advantage of the Bulldogs at several times in the game. The fine work of Parks will give him a berth on the Clarendon team for the remainder of the year. Bradford Bulls returned to his old place in the line of the team and will prove to be a strong link in the defensive as well as offensive part of the game. He is one of the members of the team which held such an enviable record in 1923, passing an entire season undefeated.

The two scores of the game were made by Crow and Parks, goal being added point after goal. The final link kicked from placement for each score of the game was 14 to 0, favoring the Bulldogs.

The college has a tough game scheduled for Friday of this week when they meet the Weatherford, Oklahoma team on their own grounds. This team has given the college much competition in the past and a number of games have been lost to them by the College. The Bulldogs are getting fine going over this week and will be in first class shape to meet these Oklahomans when they are scheduled to play Friday.

PITTSBURG WINS WORLD'S TITLE

Accomplishing the well-nigh impossible, the Pittsburgh Pirates won three straight games from the Washington Senators, in the world's series baseball classic, after Washington had won three out of the first four set-tos. In today's game Pittsburgh won by a score of 9 to 7, over the veteran, Walter Johnson, who had twice defeated them, after Washington got away to a four run lead in the first inning. The series was full of thrills from the very first game, and Pirate fans have only the regret that Walter Johnson had to be defeated in the last world's series appearance of his baseball career.

BANKS OF CITY MAKE SHOWING

STATEMENT ON CALL LATE IN SEPTEMBER LOOKS SPLENDID FOR COUNTY.

The three banks of the city whose statements appear in this issue of the News make the best showing for the time of year that has been seen here for a number of years. Cash reserves are in good condition and the total deposits are a little larger than the total of the loans that are outstanding.

The cash reserve in the banks make up a total of $134,609.73. This is a splendid showing when it is considered that the cotton and other money crops of the county have barely started their movement to the markets in the city.

Loans that are outstanding make the total of $84,088.67. This will be reduced to quite an extent when the crops have been turned into cash and the outstanding indebtedness against the producers have been paid off.

Deposits are found in the three banks of the city to a total of $881,627.89. This figure includes time deposits and deposits which are bearing interest, but does not take into consideration that part of the state, school and city money which is in city. This sum added to the total deposit in the three banks of the city of the individual deposits would bring the whole up to near one million dollars on deposit here.

Finance conditions are fine and with a few more days of sunshine to allow the producers to get in the fields and to allow the present pickers to get at the crops, there will be prosperity and plenty to spare in Donley County this fall and winter.

Last Friday evening the Clarendon Municipal Band met in their regular practice hour and started their work on the music received as one of the prizes in the contest at Amarillo. The music arrived the fore part of the week and the practice Friday evening started the band in on one of the most extensive repertoires that can be found in this section of the country. It has been stated that the band, when they have mastered all the new music, will be enabled to give ten well balanced concerts without the repetition of a single selection. BRONCHOS LOSE GAME TO CLAUDE

CLAUDE TEAM GETS ALL BREAKS OF GAME AND VINS BY 7 TO 2 SCORE.

The Bronchos from the Clarendon High School met their first defeat of the year last Friday when they met the Claude High School team on the Claude gridiron. A high and cold north wind put the players on their mettle and the game was swift and final. Fumbling was predominant from both the offensive and defensive parts of the game and both sides suffered from the loss of the ball at times during the game.

Luck and the breaks of the game were all on the Claude side during the game. Clarendon had no difficulty in making as much gain through the line as they cared to make but at the crucial moment would lose the ball on a fumble and the performance repeated. The Claude score was made from a recovered fumble. The safety kicked by Clarendon was scored by a kick of the year last Friday when they met the Claude High School team on the Claude gridiron.

An example of the blind luck of Claude may be seen in the goal kicked by Claude for the point after goal. The ball was kicked and hitting the goal post, caromed inside and gave them the extra point. Other places in the game were as much luck as this one and the breaks all went against Clarendon allowing Claude to take the game with a score of 7 to 2.

Johnson and Whitlock showed ability to handle the team in a splendid manner. This ability to make consistent gains with the ball was also demonstrated in several instances.

Friday of this week, the Clarendon local field. Coach Boykin states that the team meets the Pampa team on that this will be a real battle and that he will need the entire support of the city to make the game break even. A number of season tickets have been sold, but there are plenty made their purchase.

MANY NEW HOMES RISING IN CITY

CONTINUED BUILDING ACTI- VITY POINTS TO INCREASED PROSPERITY IN CITY.

With the announcement the fore part of this week of the building of a new rooming house on the highway just across from the Buick Garage, the building business in Clarendon has received another big boost. The house is to be built by Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson, new residents of the city and they state that they see an opening in the city for a house of this sort. The number of rooms has not been made public, but it is understood that it is to be the largest house of this sort in the city.

A new residence that sprung up almost over night is that in the western part of the city that is being erected by R. W. Talley. A bungalow of the most modern sort with all the modern conveniences has been started and will be complete in a short time.

The Lon Rundell house is nearing completion in the same part of the city. Many others in the city are planning to enlarge their present homes or to build anew before the hard winter sets in and prevents their working on the houses. A new duplex sort now being erected by Carl Boston is being planned for west second street and will possibly be built in the near future.

The house being remodeled by Judge Porter in the College section of the city will be completed by the first of November. The house is already taken.

Work is progressing nicely on the building that will house the new picture house and the work on the interior will be started at once as soon as the roof in the rear has been completed.

Other improvements in the business section of the city are being made and several new buildings are contemplated for the very near future.

As no man thoroughly understands a truth 'till first he has contended against it, so no man has a thorough acquaintance with the hindrances and talents of men until he has suffered from the one and seen the triumph of the other over his want of the same.—Emerson.

I believe education is the first essential to business success. . . . The man who is in a position to offer advice is broad enough to see things as they have been, as they are, and to forecast the future. All may profit by experience, and often, in a word, truths may be demonstrated that it has taken years to prove.—Col. Myron T. Herrick

Clarendon's Municipal Band is busy mastering a new shipment of music which will give them a repertoire for ten concerts without repetition. By spring the band will be far ahead of its class and in June at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Amarillo should easily win first money in the first year class.

The Vernon Record will become a daily on Nov. 1st, according to an announcement by Editor R. F. Nichols. Vernon is one of the coming cities of this section and Editor Nichols is just the man to keep the Record just a little ahead of his city's growth. We will enjoy the daily just three times as much as we did the semi-weekly.

Tonight a group of local talent will broadcast a program over radio station WDAG at Amarillo. The cost was borne by a number of Clarendon business men, and it is hoped that our city will get much favorable publicity from the program. Besides the addresses relating to the opportunities of Clarendon and Donley County, there will be several readings, violin, voice and piano numbers. "Tell the World about Donley," is a practical motto.

Few men have died in the history of the nation, so generally mourned as Christy Matthewson, the athlete and all-round sportsman, who lost in his battle against the great white plague early last week. Mr. Matthewson was the typical college man in baseball. He was without doubt the greatest pitcher of all time and thousands of people who never saw him, loved him for his sterling qualities of manliness and fair play. He was a fine speaker and an author of books of high quality. He never missed an opportunity to speak to audiences of admiring boys on the subject of clean living and everyday righteousness. Baseball has had a mighty champion in his everyday exemplification of sportsmanship and America is better for his having lived. May all our athletic contests be carried on on that high plane reached and practiced by Christy Matthewson. Peace to his ashes!

CLARENDON, TEXAS

Some small souls still actuated by the prejudices of civil war days, are raising a tempest in a teapot about the placement of the bust of Lincoln in the classic halls of the Texas Technological College at Lubbock. This is a united nation and if our northern brethren have the brotherliness to place the bust of Robert E. Lee in the "hall of fame" at Washington, it does seem that a minority in the south could afford to be quiet. West Texas is no place for extreme sectionalists.

Clarendon's chances for a county fair next year has been greatly brightened by the offer of services from the instructor of agriculture and his classes in the high school. Their knowledge and efforts would simplify the matter of arranging a creditable fair and The News hopes the city will avail itself of the offer. In the absence of proper grounds and buildings it appears that the best plan would be to put on a free street fair. As the event grows some plan to provide for grounds and buildings will be evolved. Let us have the county fair.

There is some possibility of securing state aid in the paving of the highway through Clarendon. This paving was contemplated some years ago but the financial stringency after the war caused its temporary abandonment. With good times here and ahead of us, it looks as if the coming year would be a most opportune time, especially if state aid can be had. Much favorable attention would accrue to the city if tourist travel could be routed through our town on the same class of paving that the business section now enjoys. An overwhelming majority of the property owners along the highway favor the paving.

A ROYAL TRIBUTE TO THE SOUTH

They love the South best who recognized its past shortcomings and who strive to enrich its latter day history and life by enlargements of its original graces of liberality, generosity, courage and progress. The News is pleased to present the following tribute paid the South in an address delivered by James W. Atkins, editor of the Gastonia, N. C. Gazette, before the Virginia Press Association at a recent session:

"There was a time in the history of the United States when the leadership of national affairs was conceded to the South without argument or debate. Then came the dark and bloody period of the War Between the States and reconstruction. Today there is a definite hope that she may regain that leadership. Through that long period of suffering and struggle the sustaining spirit of the Southern men and women has been the 'Spirit of the Old South'. There is no term that compasses its meaning, for it has made for many things—a pure, noble ancestry, ladies and gentlemen of courtly dignity and gracious manners, hospitality, patriotism—the heritage of every Southern-born man and woman. When we refer to the South, we do not refer to a particular geographic locality, but to this spirit.

"It is counterfeited, as all good things are. It is sometimes exploited, sometimes ridiculed. But our whole country recognizes it and more or less consciously concedes its place. It is not merely an aristocracy of family name or history, but it is the distillation of long years of untainted ancestry and proud history. We do not boast of it as we do of our other possessions. Certainly we are not going to capitalize it as we have our other resources. But we are going to keep it, let us hope, always. May the time never come when that well-loved word 'The South' does not have its cherished memory.

"There is a word, a beautiful word, that very nearly carries the full meaning of this idea—the word 'Virginia—Old Virginia.' However we other Southern States may boast—and we do boast considerably—we give to you this premiership. You are the custodians of our most sacred traditions. Your sons have been our greatest heroes. There are shrines on your soil where every Southern pilgrim bows his head and prays to be worthy of his inheritance of all the virtues—Arlington, Mount Vernon, Monticello and a hundred others where we, with all other true Southerners, stand with uncovered heads."

IS IT FAIR TO THE PRINTER?

The whole principle involved in the subject of government ownership of industry is wrapped up in the government printing and selling stamped envelopes, the only absolutely socialistic movement that the government has gone into.

To the everlasting glory of the American press and particularly the rural press, it has stood solidly as a matter of principle and without price against all encroachments of government which would tend to break down or destroy American ideals of freedom and the right of exercising individual initiative and enterprise. It has done this in the face of government competition and government ownership in the printing industry, and in spite of the fact that a large percentage of stores, banks, doctors, lawyers and manufacturing institutions which would fight such competition in their own line of business, consistently fail to patronize the printing offices of the publishers from whom they expect protection when necessity arises.

On orders under 10,000 it is impossible for printers to furnish envelopes with a printed return address at a price to compete with the government. For amounts over 10,000, larger printers can produce printed envelopes far below government figures.

It is the small publisher and printer who is hurt worst by the government competition. This is the general rule in all lines of activity when government ownership is established. The more the government gets into the field of business, the more impossible it will become to eliminate the government printing of envelopes.

This problem affects not only the printers of this nation, but every individual who ever hopes to do anything besides draw pay in an official position.

FINALLY, BRETHREN, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.—Philippians 4:8.

The Electrical Industry--- The Leading Industry Of Today

All other industries are more or less dependent on good electric service. The mighty wheels of our industrial plants are operated by electricity, because it can be done more practical and economical than with any other source of power.

In our homes the most dependable servant we can have is electricity. The housewife can shift the drudgery and the more important tasks to the electric servant.

It will do her cooking, washing, ironing, sweeping, churning, sewing, it will even make your ice for you in your own home, in fact the things it will do are innumerable.

Let us prove to you that electricity will do these things, and do them better and cheaper than it can be done any other way.

FORMER CITIZEN RISES TO FAME IN MEXICO

Texas Man Makes Wonderful Record in Tampico Oil District

Many Clarendon people will be interested in the following article concerning a former citizen of Clarendon, James Ferguson Martin, the son of Mrs. N. W. Hatchett, who lived here for a number of years.

Tampico, Mex., Oct. 3.—From an wheel wagon and four mules to the president of teh largest contracting concern in Mexico is the story of the advancement of James F. Martin.

Today Jimmie Martin is president of the James F. Martin and Company, the Cia. Constructora Latin-Americana, S. A. and the Cia. Ingeniero Constructora "Martin", S. A., with a total capitalization of 6,600,000 pesos, the largest construction group in the Republic of Mexico.

From a one wagon outfit Martin grew to where at the height of the boom in the light oil district, he worked 3,000 mules in inland transportation and a large number of automobile trucks and caterpillar tractors, for it was found by the various oil companies that not only could Martin move their material cheaper than they could do it themselves, but that he could do it in a great deal less time, and incidentally with a better knowledge of trimming, Martin could load to greater capacity than anyone else.

Builds Pipe Lines From transportation he branched into pipe line work and from that into tank and terminal construction and all other phases of the petroleum industry.

When salt water invaded the light oil fields and the boom broke in 1922, Martin found himself with a tremendous equipment and nothing to do, but with one of the finest working organizations ever gotten together in Mexico.

About this time an era of road building hit a number of cities in the republic, including Tampico and Martin became the successful bidder for much of this work with his first big contract in Tampico.

Big Contracts The Monterey contract calls for 10,000,000 pesos, of paving and is now about half completed. In Monterey, Tampico, Guadalajara, and Parral, James F. Martin and Company have asphalt plants, while at Monterey, Mr. Martin is constructing 40 residences at an average cost of 30,000 pesos each.

As operation spread, the James F. Martin and Company, which had been organized in the meantime, took on new classes of work and much to the surprise of railroad contracting firms in the United States, was the successful bidder for the 11 kilometers of most difficult right-of-way on the Southern Pacific Railroad connection from Tepic to Guadalajara. Work on this contract, which was started in 1923, and which will probably be completed prior to contract time July 1, 1926, calls for the construction of 12 tunnels from 50 meters to 1000 meters in length; a considerable number of bridges; innumerable side hill cuts and fills and practically not a single foot of natural going.

Largest Contractor The Martin Company is the largest drilling contractor for oil and water wells in the Republic as well as being the largest operator for the salvaging of pipeline equipment, oil terminals, field steel storage tanks, pump and heater stations and other things connected with the petroleum industry.

Altogether James F. Martin and Company has constructed 800 kilometers of field roads in the Tampico district and are at present building an average of 125 kilometers per year. For the past year they have built approximately one and one-eighth kilometers of oil flow lines per day and will maintain this rate at least until January 1, 1926.

The company builds an average of six 55,000-barrel steel oil storage tanks per month; handles an average of 3000 tons of material monthly by river transportation and 7000 tons by land transportation using mule teams, trucks and caterpillar tractors. Within the past year it has built $1,500,000 (pesos) of power and ice plants in Fresnillo, Torreon, Panuco or Tampico; has drilled $1,250,000 (pesos) of oil wells for the National Railways of Mexico, Dutch Shell and Mexican Eagle oil companies; has drilled 12 water wells for agricultural purposes in the cotton district of Torreon or in the states of San Luis Potosi or Agascalientes since April 1, and has future contracts for $500,000 (pesos) of similar work.

Its salvaging department in addition taking up 260 kilometers of pipe line, has salvaged 30,000 tons of equipment from abandoned steel storage terminals along the Gulf of Mexico from Mata Reconda to Agua Dulce.

FEW FIRES MEAN GREATER PROSPERITY

October 4th-10, 1925

Fire Prevention Week: Stop fires before they start. Fires can be prevented; the week focuses attention on this. It is the time to start stopping fires—to begin a campaign lasting 52 weeks in the year.

A cow in Mrs. O'Leary's barn kicked the lantern that started the great Chicago fire of October 9, 1871. The 54th anniversary of this Fire Prevention Week, 1925. Mrs. O'Leary's cow is symbolic of our everyday carelessness which now costs annually 15,000 lives and a half billion dollars.

Most fires are positively preventable. We only need apply existing engineering knowledge, or plain common sense. There is no excuse for a fire starting, or once started, spreading beyond the place where it starts.

Fire Prevention Week is set aside to think and act, on preventing, restricting and extinguishing fires.

"But why should I be concerned about fires?" perhaps you say, "my house and property are insured. Yes, and your butcher, baker and candlestick maker also carry insurance on their property—on their stores and stocks of goods. Everything you buy is insured in every step of its route from producers to consumers. In the price of a suit of clothes, a pound of meat, or a loaf of bread, is concealed a tax which is your share of what is paid to replace what fire destroyed.

The insurance company, taking the premium money it collects, distributes it to persons who lost by fire. Last year $600,000,000 was lost by fire in the United States and Canada. Of this, you paid approximately $5.00. If all the indirect losses are also included, such as the incalculable loss due to interruption of business, overhead costs in insurance and upkeep expenses on fire protection facilities, the individual burden becomes at least twice the above figure.

Besides the financial considerations, fire killed 15,000 people last year, caused untold suffering, unemployment and business failures.

Insurance money may rebuild your house. But how about the lives of your family, your home, your family treasures, and your job?

All may be destroyed by fire. Why gamble with these, your priceless possessions?

While the fire loss impoverishes us as a nation, every fire is itself local and must be attacked locally. We have three lines of attack against fire, first, preventing it from starting, second, preventing it from spreading and third, putting it out.

We have control over the physical factors which cause and spread fire. We throw matches and cigaret ends around promiscuously, we are careless with hazardous materials, we build flimsy houses that burn readily, we leave our cities wide open to conflagrations, not providing any areas of superior construction as barriers to them; and we are content to let our fire departments get along as best they can: under-equipped and undermanned.

In Fire Prevention Week we should take steps to clean up hazards in our community; to develop care with matches and smokes; to enact ordinances to provide for better building construction and for improvements in the fire and water departments. A cleanup will take care of such hazards as are immediately and easily remediable and while the development of careful habits and improvements in the physical makeup of the community will provide its future salvation from fire.

Yours truly, J. J. TIMMINS, State Fire Marshall.

The survey for the pipe line from the Cole field to the Callahan field was completed several weeks ago and the route staked out. Connections will be made from the Callahan field with the Southern Natural Gas Company that supplies San Antonio with gas.

Comanche—The entire plant of Higginbotham Bros. & Company of this city was destroyed by fire with a total property loss of more than $200,000. General Manager, T. J. Williams stated the firm would soon have a new stock of merchandise and ready for business again.

Floydada—Construction is now under way on the new high-way connecting Floydada with Crosbyton. The highway will come up the Blanco Canyon making it a beautiful scenic drive for this section. Floyd County Commissioners are contemplating the connection of this highway with the road leading into Floydada, connecting with the highway here leading into Silverton.

Estelline—The business men of Estelline organized a Chamber of Commerce here recently. More than forty business men and farmers were present at the organization. The aim of the new Chamber is to do two things immediately to benefit the city and community; incorporate the city, and build a larger and better school. Officers elected were: R. H. Whaley, president; R. L. Erwin, secretary; and a vice president will be elected later.

Sweetwater—J. W. Carpenter, General manager of the Texas Power and Light Company has announced enlargement of the Sweetwater Ice and Cold Storage Company, also the construction of a 40-mile high tension electric transmission line from Sweetwater to Snyder since the purchase of the Snyder Electric plant. It is planned to have the n-w plant in operation before next spring.

Burkburnett—Travel across the bridge near Burkburnett has been impossible the past few days due to a gap washed out during high water near middle of the stream. It has not been possible to ford the high stream as was the first anticipation and traffic has been detoured over two other bridges near Burkburnett.

Childress—A branch of the United Tire Company, associated with the Hicks Rubber Company has located an office and warehouse in this city. The business will be managed by H. H. Hering of McGregor.

Plainview—The new Plainview Theatre under the management of Roy Mitchell opened here recently with an estimated attendance of 1,500. This is one of the most modern equipped theatres in the Panhandle and would be a credit to a town much larger.

HAVE YOU A BAD BACK?

Then the Advice of This Clarendon Resident Will Interest You.

Does your back ache night and day?

Hinder work; destroy your rest? Are you tortured with stabbing pains?

When you stoop, lift or bend? Then likely your kidneys are weak. More troubles may soon appear. Headaches, dizziness, nervousness; Or uric acid and its ills.

Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic.

Use Doan's Pills.

Read this Clarendon testimony.

G. F. Lane, trucking business, says: "I had a dull ache across the small of my back that hurt me a good deal. During the night my back got stiff and sore. My kidneys were weak, too, and the secretions passed so frequently I had to get up several times. I began using Doan's Pills and they soon regulated my kidneys and rid me of the back-ache."

OUR SEC. SAYS

People who have not been out into the cotton fields cannot imagine just how badly the farmers are in need of pickers and maize headers to gather the crops that are wasting. The secretary was out over some parts of the county a few days ago and found that cotton is falling out badly. A hard wind or rain would do untold damage to the cotton.

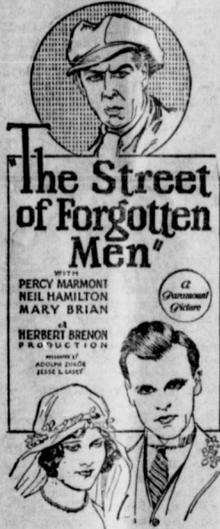

By the time this goes to press the secretary and someone will be in East Texas after a solid car of pickers to be brought here for the farmers and if more can be found they will go immediately back after another car load. The secretary thinks that his time will be well spent if his labors can aid the farmers in any way towards saving this crop.

Mention was not made last week in this column of appreciation of the efforts of those people who contributed toward the success of the Donley County exhibit at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair—so the secretary takes this time and space to thank each person for all that was contributed and for all that each person did for the exhibit. All articles that were borrowed for display will be returned as soon as possible. Vegetables and other perishables, of course, cannot be returned.

For the benefit of all readers who care to have their programs or anything of interest sent to the State papers for publication if they will please see or call the office, 522, the secretary will be glad to give the publicity to all those asking for it.

WHEN THE BLIND SEE

A few weeks ago the newspapers carried what, to us, was the prize story of the year. Sent out by the Associated Press and carrying a Denver date line, the story was as follows:

The commonplace things of life became marvels today to two children. For the first time Peter Morris and Viola Emour saw the blue sky, the wonders of a zoo, and went into raptures over the warm color of bricks.

The children, two of the 11 from the State home for the blind and deaf at Colorado Springs, who underwent operations in an effort to restore their sight, were driven about the city, able for the first time to endure the strong light of day.

"Would you mind if I ask a great many questions?" Viola ventured. "Everything is so strange—so—so—so—beautiful!"

"Bricks, bricks!" the boy shouted. "Bricks—why, I knew the shape of them; I knew how a brick fell—but look at the color—look at the color!"

As their automobile rounded the first corner Viola buried her head in her arms. Then she raised her head, saying: "It's all right—I can't believe my eyes are so full of tears. They're not cry tears—they're happy tears and I'll never cry again!"

"Lovely houses made of bricks", the boy kept murmuring. "Lovely, lovely bricks—the color of them."

Lakes, trees, street cars, people, houses, grass and shrubs all came in for their share of the delighted attention.

It was a great day for two children. Blase city folk fell under the spell and saw beauty growing in the city streets where it never had been before.

To attempt to draw a moral from this story would be as if attempting to paint the lily or perfume the rose.

MAIL ORDER HOUSE NOW USES NEWS ADVERTISING

In the Clarendon News of this week will be found a display advertisement of one of the nation's largest mail order houses. There is a story connected with the order for advertising in the Clarendon News that will be interesting to local people. Ever since the present management has owned the News it has steadily advocated buying at home from home merchants, as it had for many years before. When the present order for advertising was received from an advertising agency, we at once wrote that we did not solicit such business, that we never missed an opportunity to show that it was a mistake to do business with mail-order houses, but if they still wanted to buy space in these columns with such a handicap and at the regular rate of thirty-five cents per column inch, we would accept the business and would not feel responsible for any lack of results the investment might bring them. With this understanding the copy and plate was sent along, and while patronizing these columns with the stipulated handicap is some compliment to the News as an advertising medium, yet we want to take this opportunity to reiterate the statement, that Clarendon people owe their patronage to Clarendon merchants. It is a sound rule of economics and the News hopes its readers will not depart from it.

KEARNEY STREET PICK-UPS

Heard in Kearney Street: "Clarendon goods and prices have got Amarillo beat way yonder. Last week certain Claude ladies came to Clarendon and bought over a hundred dollars worth at Clarendon stores and saved money, too." The News isn't knocking other towns, its busy boosting Clarendon.

Miss Mary Howren: "I think the Kearney Street Pickups are the most interesting part of the News. The column is a real addition. How'll they stop us with remarks like that."

Judge Chas. Dean: "People here don't appreciate this paradise, unless they take a trip off down in other section of the state."

"I can take a beating, but it sure hurts to donate a game like we did to Claude last Friday"—Coach Boykin of the Clarendon Hi Bronchos.

Down-state Visitor—"You sure have a nice clean, attractive town here. It appeals to me as being a most pleasant place to live." The more we smile the more we look that way to other people.

Custis Benson: "I'm not ashamed of my age. I'm 59 years old, even if I don't look it."

"Been slocking feed this morning, paying any mind to dew a long dew? Yes, pretty heavy, but I quit time ago. What we need now is more hands to handle the feed crop and pick this cotton."—L. Ballew.

A. N. Wood: "Clarendon is a nice town to do business in, and I'm liking it better all the time."

"Coming out of Fort Worth the other night, the Denver ran the train in two sections. I heard them calling the first section the 'Midnight Special' and I didn't know what they meant by it until I found that it was made up mostly of carloads of negro cotton pickers. I heard one white man in charge of one of the parties go in and order a 'bushel of ham sandwiches and five gallons of coffee.' They were sure bringing them to West Texas, but they didn't get them out this way far enough to help us any."—Jim Crystal.

It is reported to this column that Postmaster Glascoe, through force of habit, has come down to the old postoffice building on several occasions and started in just like he used to. Now, now—the Postmaster was down to get a slant on what they were doing to his old quarters.

Mrs. Nat Perrine says she "doesn't get too much like in her coco cola." Old Nat takes his straight.

George Ryan says his pipe has been called one of the sweetest smelling pipes ever known, but most of his friends call it worse than that.

LOCAL JEWELER REPAIRS HEIRLOOM TIME PIECE

There is now on exhibit in the show window of Stocking's Drug Store a most interesting antique—a clock more than three hundred years old that was mended this week by H. E. Skiles. The clock belongs to Mrs. George Ryan, who inherited it from her aunt, the late Mrs. T. T. Hillman. Mrs. Hillman bought the clock over seventy years ago, when she was a small child, from a Methodist minister's wife, who declared she was tired of moving it from place to place. The clock was a family heirloom, and according to the minister's wife, was then more than three hundred years old. It has now been in America for more than one hundred and fifty years. The structure of the clock attests to its antiquity, for every part, except the hand-wrought hands, the bell and the pendulum are made of wood, and it is wound with a string and weights. It is even held together with wooden pegs, and the wooden face is hand painted. The clock had not run for a number of years until Mr. Skiles repaired it, replacing all worn out parts with hand-carved wooden pieces. It is now keeping perfect time and is apparently enjoying its work as much as did the famous clock in the Anderson fairy tale that went on the long strike, and after returning to work, declared that even the monotonous duty of a clock was more interesting than utter idleness behind a kitchen door. After a few days the clock will be returned to Mrs. Ryan and replaced in its rosewood case which is eight feet tall.

PASTIME BUYS NEW MIX SERIES

Tom Mix, the stunt riding actor who with his pony, Tony, is so popular with Clarendon movie fans, has become so popular nationally that he has entered the high-priced ranks of actors and with this year is making only seven pictures and at a greatly increased cost to the producer. Manager Mulkey says he could not afford to cut Mix off his programs even if he does cost so much more than he did formerly, on account of the popular demand, therefore he has decided to make Mix one of his Saturday specials and will show the seven new pictures in Clarendon at a slightly increased price, although the difference charged doesn't cover the percentage difference in the cost to him.

Beginning next Saturday, with "The Everlasting Whisper," Tom Mix will be shown at the Pastime, Matinee and Night, at the popular price of 20c and 40c. This is the first of the new series and all the press reports say that Tom and his pony, Tony, are better than ever. Tom Mix always fills the Pastime, so you will have to come early to get a seat, according to Manager Mulkey—and he knows.

EXPORTS INCREASE WITH FOREIGN INVESTMENTS

During the first six months of this year 72 foreign borrowers sold nearly $600,000,000 of their bonds and stocks to American investors. These foreign borrowers included governments, states and provinces, municipalities, banks and corporations. Excluding the war loans owned our government by foreign governments, the American people have more than $5,500,000,000 invested in European and South American countries.

During the first six months of 1925 our exports amounted to $2,364,000,000, the largest amount of world trade that this country has done for any similar period since 1920. Much of this increased buying on the part of foreign countries was made possible by the credits in the form of loans extended by American investors. Thus our investment in foreign securities has meant a greater prosperity and stability for our manufacturers, our farmers and the people of the nation as a whole.

KNOW TEXAS

Texas produces about one-third of all the cotton grown in the United States—about four million bales a year.

Since petroleum was discovered in Texas there has been produced in this state $1,350,000,000 worth of it. A billion of this sum was produced in the past six years.

The output of electricity in Texas is about 110,000,000 kilowatt hours a month. Three-fourths of the electric generating facilities of Texas are interconnected.

Fifty million thousand cubic feet of natural gas are produced in Texas each year.

"SERVICE WITH PEP" TEXAS

CLARENDON,

FOUR OUT OF TEN PERSONS HAVE MONEY COMING IN

About four out of every ten persons in the United States are gainfully employed. The latest estimate gives the population of this country at 113,454,000. Of this number about 35,000,000 are children under the age of fifteen years. Another 35,000,000 are adults who are not working for pay. This group includes the housewives, persons living on their incomes, pensioners, adult dependents, and the like. In the gainful employed group approximately 33,500,000 are working for others, and about 9,500,000 are employers or are in business or professions on their own account.

Upon the earning power of 38 per cent of the population in gainful employment is dependent, in a great measure, the welfare of the other 62 per cent. Wages and salaries paid to individual earning less than $2,000 per year account for more than half of our annual national income of $60,000,000,000. Individuals who earn more than $2,000 per year are in the minority. In bad years there is idle about 20 per cent of our productive capacity, and this loss of billions of dollars falls heaviest, unfortunately, upon the individual of least earning power. It is evident that very few men can become rich or even financially independent on their earning power alone. A common calculation is that 75 per cent of the average income is required for food and shelter. Out of the remainder the individual must provide for clothing, education, recreation, luxuries and savings.

It is only by teaming up the earning power of his savings with his individual earning power that the average man can hope to get ahead or to avoid a dependent old age. If but $25 a month is invested for a period of 35 years at 6 per cent and the interest reinvested regularly, this investment will provide an annual income of more than $2,000 at the end of that period. The earning power of invested money is enormous, if proper care is taken to see that the money is in the hands of men who will employ it honestly and efficiently.

TELEPHONE CABLE IS A VERY BIG ITEM

The making of lead-covered cable for the nation's telephone system is a highly important job, and one that must go on continually so that telephone development will not be interrupted. Last year alone, enough copper wire to reach to the moon and back twenty-five times was manufactured into lead-covered cable by one Company.

The first and one of the most ingenious processes is that of insulating copper wire with paper. This is done by insulating machines which wrap a paper tape around the wire in the form of a continuous helix, overlapping at the edges. These machines put on about 2,400 wraps or turns in a minute. Each wire must be covered with paper throughout its entire length so that it cannot touch any other wire in the cable. If two of the wires touch each other even at a single point a telephone circuit is ruined.

The insulated wires are then twisted into pairs by a machine. The reason for twisting the insulated wire into pairs is two-fold. First, it keeps together the two wires which are required for one telephone "line", so they can be easily identified at each end of the cable; and second by properly arranging the lengths of twists, it prevents overhearing or cross talk from one line to another.

OIL CAN COVER IS ELECTRIC LIGHT SOCKET

Nearly three hundred million standard size electric lamps were used in the United States last year, and everyone of them was equipped with a uniform, simple socket whose design was evolved from the tin screw-cover of an humble coal oil can, according to a forty-five year old record that has recently come to light, says the Texas Public Service Information Bureau.

In 1880 before the first electrical central station had been started, Thomas Edison was experimenting with the earliest forms of incandescent electric lamp. Some means had to be found to connect the lamp with the electrical circuit. The first socket designed was operated by a thumbscrew, which made the connection but did not keep the lamp from falling out if the socket was held upside down.

"One night in the early part of 1880," says the old record, "Mr. Edison was talking on this subject to some of his assistants. He noticed a kerosene can on a shelf near where he was sitting. Taking it up and unscrewing its cover, he studied the combination for awhile and then exclaimed, 'This certainly must make a bang-up socket for the lamp.'"

Experiments followed, and from them was developed the lamp-socket that neither time nor change has been able to improve.

"OUR" NEWSPAPER

This expression, "our" newspaper, is familiar. We hear it from the lips of town and country folks on all manner of occasions and by all manner of people. "Our newspaper told about it." "Our newspaper would like to publish it," and the great light that comes over the face of "a pilgrim and a stranger" when he comes across the old home paper at some news stand.

The "our" part of it strikes me as proprietorship, a patriotism akin to "my country." Without trying to run it, we all enjoy it and speak of the home paper as "our paper."

Our federated clubs and our churches, our schools and our lodges would miss it almost as much as we would the absence of a dear relative. The commercial side of the town would be almost paralyzed without this medium of conveying the good news of a new shipment from New York or St. Louis.

I have visited a town or two which had lost their paper—it seemed like a cemetery. Some of us study these things; pick up your local paper and note how the town backs it up by display of ads. We at once get the "number" of a town. Many a town sits down in the dumps and wonders how others towns get this, that and the other things while they do without. The lack of patronage of the home paper is the reason. Many an investor-to-be passes up a town when he notes the

An Increase In Our Rate Is Necessary

For some time there has been a movement on foot to state that an increase in the rates of telephone service in Clarendon was necessary. This increase is absolutely necessary for a number of reasons.

FIRST: To uphold the standards of service that have been set in the past, the operators must receive more than they have in the past. We have lost two of the best operators we have ever had on account of them being able to receive more pay elsewhere.

SECOND: The cost of installation of extension lines has grown almost out of the reach of the small operator. An increase is necessary to keep the outside service up to the standard of the past.

THIRD: To give the owners of the company a fair return for their investment.

HOW A TENANT BECAME A LANDOWNER

When I was married 16 years ago I had nothing and lived in the house with my father the first year and worked half shares. That fall I moved to another farm just a few miles away. I happened to get with an extra good man and stayed with him for seven years. Part of this time I worked half shares, and the rest of the years I gave a fourth and worked my own team.

Eight years ago I bought a small farm—just 60 acres. I had only enough money to pay half cash. The place had been rented out for years and was in bad shape and had not been improved any. Some of my neighbors told me I would never be able to pay the rest of the money, but my wife and I moved in and went to work. We had three little children at that time. I had gotten hold of a very good mule by that time and a one-horse wagon and buggy. Our first crop was small, but we did the best we could, and the next was better. After we made four crops we had finished paying for 60 acres, and then bought another tract of 30 acres adjoining it. Two years ago we finished paying for the second tract. We haven't any fine home, but have a five-room house and hope to have a better one after a while. I have a pair of mules, double wagon, two milk cows, farm implements, a fine flock of Barred Rock chicken, and a Ford—and am practically out of debt of any kind.

I have never had a store account. My father was a good man, but he got me disgusted with store accounts when I was a boy. My wife and I made it a rule to raise our own meat each year and a little to sell. My wife raises chickens to eat and some to sell. We raise our own vegetables and have plenty of milk and butter. I set out an orchard the first year I moved here and now we have plenty of fruit and a nice strawberry patch with plenty to sell and give our neighbors.

As soon as I moved here I started sowing cowpeas and crimson clover and bought all the fertilizer each year I felt I was able to pay for. I saved all the manure from my stalls and hens. Now I raise plenty of corn and feed for my stock and poultry, potatoes, beans, peas, and some wheat. Then we make all the cotton and peanuts we can for market.

We have six children now, with a good school near us, and four of the children in school there. We are proud of our children, our home, our school and church, and proud of our good neighbors. The Progressive Farmer has been a great deal of help to us for the past 10 years. I hope what I have written may help some other tenant try to become a landowner.—A. B. Jones, Brunswick County, Va., in The Progressive Farmer.

VALUE OF BAND TRAINING DEMONSTRATED AT MEMPHIS

The following clipping, taken from the issue of the Memphis Democrat of last week is one more reason why Clarendon should have a band. There is always an opening for a boy of this sort and Clarendon could well afford to give some worthy student an opportunity such as the one afforded in the illustration. The clipping follows:

Holmes McNeely was given a $200 scholarship in the Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington Mo. His preparation in the Memphis Band gave the qualification that led to this honor. It speaks well for the Memphis Band, its director, and Holmes himself.—Memphis Democrat.

Frank White, who is principal of the Buck Creek School, seven miles from Wellington, opened his school Monday morning. He left here Saturday.

MAN AND HIS BOOKS

Omar Kalyan of Naishapur, a man of no mean discernment, lives today although he probably never lived at all outside of those famous few verses, the Rubaiyat. Doubtless that old sage would disagree with the bright young fellow who, when accosted by a book agent, answered smartly, "What do I need with another book? I have one already." For Omar held books not so lightly.

Omar placed a book among the necessities of life, with food and drink, contending in his subtle way that Here with a loaf bread beneath the Bough, A jar of Wine, a Book of Verse—and Thou Beside me singing in the Wilderness— Oh, Wilderness were Paradise enow! A book may not hold food and drink for man, but it can supply countless other hungers and thirsts that "are not banished with bacon and beans." Who has not imagined himself on a desert isle with an abundance of food and drink and a store of good books? Who has not tried to be alone on a winter evening, softly cussed in the arms of a great overstuffed chair, bright flames flashing, dying and glowing in the hearth before, and a soft light sifting upon an interesting volume; or an evening's repose upon a veranda, birds chanting gaily among the rustling leaves of an overhanging tree, deep shades of green in the distance, children's voices coming from less far and "thou" beside you as you read lazily here and there in a book of verse. What rest! Such peace!

Someone said that Lome was "a roof over a good woman," but surely it must include books—probably not a spacious and imposing library with volume upon volume, rather a few good books that will not weary you even after the pages are thumb-worn from rereading.

- May men and women have named their choice books during the past year; it must have been somewhat of a sad among the "literati." Some of the choices were doubtless good and suited the compilers' taste and matched their character, but one of the best and surely the most wholesome and simple was the little library which President Coolidge advises should be in every American home:
1. The Bible.
 2. "Les Miserables."
 3. "Care and Feeding of Children," by Holt.
 4. "Boston Cooking School Cook Book," by Farmer.
 5. "Mother Goose Rhymes."
 6. "Grimm's Fairy Tales."
 7. "Little Women."
 8. "Robin Hood."
 9. "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," by Frank.
 10. "The Story of Mankind," by Van Loon.
 11. "Outlines of World's History," by Fisher.
 12. A good History of the United States.
 13. Franklin's Autobiography.
 14. "Biography of Washington," by Lodge.
 15. "Biography of Lincoln," by Chanwood.
 16. A Dictionary.
 17. An Atlas.
 18. "The American Commonwealth," by Bryce.
 19. "Home Book of Verse," by Stevenson.
 20. Works of Shakespeare.

Each summer for seven years a Negro preachers' institute has been held at Bettis Academy, in the sandhill country of western South Carolina. This year's attendance included 300 preachers and 180 teachers, and they spent four days in intensive study of educational and religious subjects, under the leadership of Dr. James H. Dillard, president of the Jeanes and Slater funds.

SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW!

So its position may be plainly understood at the outset, The Amarillo Globe hereby commits itself as opposed to the establishment of a Junior College in Amarillo.

The Globe will not oppose any movement solely for the reason it is fostered and sponsored by another newspaper, but the question of a Junior College for Amarillo is of such vital importance that the management feels it is The Globe's public duty to do everything within its power to check the movement.

There are two fundamental reasons why Amarillo should not and must not have a Junior college.

The first because of the excellent schools at Canyon, Clarendon, Plainview and Lubbock. The school facilities in Northwest Texas are splendid. The city of Canyon with its West Texas State Teachers' college, is Amarillo's neighbor. It is within twenty miles of this city and scores of Amarillo girls and boys are attending this wonderful school. Clarendon College at Clarendon and the Wayland Baptist College at Plainview also are wonderful institutions of learning. The Tech College at Lubbock is destined to become one of the greatest universities in the South. We do not need a Junior college in Amarillo.

The second reason is because it would be another raid on the taxpayers. The tax rate in Amarillo was raised a tenth of a cent recently because of increasing expenses. A growing city requires a larger outlay than a city where growth has been stifled. Amarillo cannot afford a college maintained at the expense of the taxpayers; every intelligent business man is Amarillo knows this.

The Globe believes in building up all of Northwest Texas. If Amarillo maintain its position as the central city of Northwest Texas, it must support worthy institutions in the sister cities. The Globe not only opposes the Junior college, or rather a Tax-payers' college, but it pledges its unwavering support to the colleges at Canyon, Clarendon, Plainview and Lubbock. It will encourage more and more Amarillo students attending these fine institutions; it will do everything in its power to assist them, rather than to antagonize them.—Amarillo Globe.

MASTER, THIS WOMAN was taken in adultery. Moses commanded us that such should be stoned; but what sayest thou? . . . He said unto them, He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her.—John 8:4-7.
