One Dead And Five Injured Following Auto Collision Near Hedley Tuesday

Glenn Sibley, Driver of Ford Sedan, Succumbs To Head Injuries at Adair Hospital at Nine O'Clock This Morning Others Injured Are Removed to Their Homes

One of the most shocking Christmas tragedies of this section occurred about 5 a. m. Tuesday morning on the top of the hill just east of the Bell filling station four miles west of Hedley when two cars crashed resulting in one death later, and severe injuries to five others.

A Chevrolet coupe driven by Charles Bourland of Pampa collided with a Ford sedan driven by Glenn Sibley of the Martin community. With young Bourland was Miss Lorraine Patrick of Clarendon who received painful cuts about the face and head. Bourland was bruised and received minor lacerations.

The Ford sedan was occupied by Glenn Sibley as driver, and four other men. Sibley never regained consciousness, after 3 p. m. Wednesday. His principal injuries being on the top of the head and at the base of the nose. He passed away at Adair hospital this Thursday morning about 9 a. m.

Fred Jackson received a leg cut. Hubert Heatherly has a wrenched back and a finger almost severed. Gordon Heatherly's lip was split open. Henry Rowdin, J. A. Ranch hand and the largest fellow of the lot, received no injuries except to suffer the loss of his false teeth that were recovered next day. The above occupants of the Ford sedan were more or less bruised in a number of places.

The injured were all brought to Adair Hospital soon after by a passing truck.

The Ford is said to be owned by J. Sibley of the Martin community. The Chevrolet is said to be owned by Jack Bourland, and bears an Oklahoma license. Both wrecked cars were brought to town by the Palmer motor company where they are now in storage.

One peculiar circumstance in connection with the wreck was the apparent fact that the impact was so great that the crank and a wrench lying on the car floor under the turtle of the Chevrolet flew up and almost passed through the sheet iron partition back of the seat.

The six survivors are said to be resting well, at their respective homes today of the more seriously injured. Some are able to be out today making arrangements for the funeral of young Sibley which is to be held here Friday.

Palmer Motor Company Tells Public of New V-8

Doss Palmer, Seldon Bagby and John McMahan are in Oklahoma City attending a pre-showing of the new 1935 V-8 Ford. They were accompanied by Meredith Gentry.

The new model is scheduled to go on display at the Palmer Motor Company show rooms here next Saturday. Mr. Palmer cordially invites the public to see the latest product of the Ford motor company.

Young Man is Injured When He Falls in Street

While crossing a street here about 11 p. m. Tuesday night, Elery Watson, husky wrestler in his early twenties, fell to the brick pavement with such force that three ribs were cracked.

Watson was on a run from the opera house to the Lee Muse cafe to fill an employment date when the peculiar accident occurred, but he did not fully recognize the cause until next day.

Pastime Theatre Opening Attracts Large Crowds

Hundreds visited the Pastime Theatre Sunday and Monday during opening shows to admire the finish and equipment of West Texas' most beautiful talking picture show.

Mr. Mulkey is highly gratified with the patronage all through the holidays, every show being accorded a full house attendance.

50th Wedding Anniversary Goldston Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Johnson celebrated a home coming on their 50th anniversary Christmas Day.

The following honored them on this occasion: Mr. and Mrs. Will Malone of Memphis and their children, Weldon, Zona, Horace, Trassus, and Keneth, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson of Amarillo and their children Jewel, Keneth and Graten; Curtis Johnson and lady; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blevins of Memphis and their children, Jaunita and Melvin; Bill Johnson of Amarillo and Dave Johnson.

The following friends and neighbors enjoyed the day in the home of these fine old people: Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Grant, Bill Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Veasy, Mrs. Darby of Amarillo and sons, Ray, E. C. and Orvel; Murphy Brock and his good wife; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Meadors of Hudgins, and daughter Mary Garland; H. B. Rhodes and wife and sons H. B. Jr. and Weldon, and A. L. Millsap and lady.

All told forty-three people were served with the most sumptuous dinner the writer ever witnessed, for aunt Hattie as she is commonly known, is an artist in preparing tempting dishes for such occasions. Two fine turkeys made the supreme sacrifice that her guests might enjoy a great feast. The great table fairly groaned with the trimmings that put the finishing touch to these glib dinners.

After dinner stories were told and reminiscence of other days related and the time for departure came all too soon as each one wished for many more such celebrations for these fine old folks who have spent eighteen years in their present home.

Multitudes Throng Street Trades Day-Monday

Thousands gathered in town Monday for the last Trades Day affair. The Christmas spirit in the air, it was a jolly crowd that gathered on the Main street. When the contest closed, the street was covered with tickets.

JANUARY FARM CENSUS FORCE IS BEING FORMED

Inquisitive Enumerators To Swing Into Action In 28 Counties

Inquisitive enumerators who are going to ask farmers in Donley and 27 other counties surrounding it a lot of personal questions early in January, are being assembled by C. C. Gibson of Amarillo, farm census supervisor of this district.

Uncle Sam is taking a nationwide inventory of his agricultural assets. All told, farmers will each be asked an even 100 questions including an inventory of farm equipment, products and live stock as of January 1, 1935 and the number of chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese, if any, etc.

It will be late next week before the final set-up is ready to take to the field. Sixty-eight enumerators will get on the job that is expected to be completed within thirty days. The work begins January 2nd.

Only one enumerator is known in this section. He is Jess Pool of Hedley.

Results of this inquisitive action is expected to provide the AAA officials with authoritative data on which to base their future policy of rural relief.

TRADE REACHES NEW HIGH MARK AS YEAR ENDS

Bank Deposits and Business Of Merchants Lead in This Economic Increase

With the active part of December virtually closed, the month has easily established a peak of business volume above that of 1933, according to reliable reports. In some lines, merchant sales have exceeded those of any period since January of 1930.

Local business men report a nice volume of sale through the Holiday purchasing period. This volume has extended to practically all lines offering necessities, and practical gifts.

Another noticeable feature this season is the fact that quality demands have been higher. The cheaper grades have been passed up indicating a more sensible judgment backed by ability to make the purchases long desired.

Christmas trees adorned with presents and decorations also took on a prosperous appearance over the county, the rural districts easily keeping pace with those of the larger towns in points of gifts of value.

Purchasers entered into the Holidays with a real Christmas spirit of hilarity not seen in years. That jubilant air is the best barometer of indication of more prosperous times than any other one thing.

Representative Gene Worley Visits Here Wednesday

On a last minute visit with his people before assuming the office of Representative from this district, Gene Worley was on a tour of the towns of his district Wednesday. He was accompanied by Edgar Close, a personal friend and who also lives at Shamrock.

Mr. Worley is expecting some interesting sessions when the Legislature meets the 8th of January. He stated emphatically that he was lined up with the "New Deal Governor", and would lend him every support. In fact he has already been giving Gov.-Elect Jimmie Allred his support in the speakership contest in the making.

Duckett Family Observes Annual Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Duckett of the Chamberlain community enjoyed another happy Christmas, with all the children, and grandchildren, home except one son. The house was beautifully decorated carrying out the Christmas colors. The day was begun with rejoicing when the grandchildren presented a program: a song, "Christmas Greeting," by Emma Lee and Lillian Standiford; Luke 2:8-12 quoted by Hazel Latrisse Wallace; a reading, "A Suggestion for Santa Claus" by A. J. Standiford; a song, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" by Vera Marie Standiford; the Lord's Prayer by Emma Lee Standiford.

Afterward the many presents on the beautiful decorated tree were distributed. Everyone was happy that Santa Claus had remembered them again.

A delicious dinner was enjoyed by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Standiford and children from Cee Vee, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. John Short and children from Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Tidwell from Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wallace and children from Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Darnell and Maxine from Pampa, Grandmother Rowten and J. B. Duckett.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wallace from Pampa, making a total of twenty-seven present that enjoyed a very delicious dinner.

Midnight Blaze at Warren Home Tuesday Night

What came near being a serious fire, and spread alarm among the occupants of the building occurred at the Jim Warren home in the Wilder sanatorium building about midnight Tuesday.

The elder children came in from the picture show and in lighting the stove with a flaming piece of paper, the decorations became ignited spreading fire to the wall paper.

Jim Warren Jr. was slightly hurt when he was cut by glass. The fire caused little real damage. The fire department made a record run and the flames were quickly subdued.

Lad Has Narrow Escape As He Falls From Car

While riding on the running board adjusting the carburetor Tuesday east of town, Lois Byrd was slung to the roadside when the car swerved. It was feared at first that his shoulder was broken, but only minor bruises were noticeable Wednesday.

The driver of the car was "Son" Dunham, and the accident happened between here and Lelia.

Auction Sale at Hott Farm January 3rd Advertised

After spending the past two years on their farm in the Chamberlain community, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hott and children will return to New Mexico soon to make their home. They formerly lived at Clayton for more than twenty years, but expect to tour the state before finally locating for the last move.

The family effects, as well as the farm plow tools and live stock, will be offered at public auction at their home Thursday, January 3rd. Because of the exceptional quality, a large number is expected to be present for bidding. The ladies of the T. E. L. Sunday school class will serve lunch at noon.

Will Preach Series Sermons At Chamberlain School

Rev. Andrew Reavis Jr., student of Southern Methodist University, and here on holiday vacation, will make good use of the time in preaching a series of sermons to the people at the Chamberlain school.

He will preach his first sermon Thursday night of this week, and each evening thereafter beginning at 7:30, and concluding Sunday night. The young minister is a son of Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Reavis of Clarendon.

BRIGANDS DEFLY LAW OF AMARILLO LAST SATURDAY

Steal and Plunder Autos As More Than 8,000 Watch Football Game

Cars were plundered by brigands in truly Chinese fashion at the Amarillo football game, there apparently being no protection offered the public by either city or county.

More than 8,000 people were present with acres of cars parked at the mercy of outlaws who not only stole, but actually removed valuables from cars and tramped upon them with their feet and the value was destroyed.

Among those to suffer the greatest loss was Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Estlack of Clarendon. Returning to their car at the close of the game, they could hardly recognize their property.

The two right wheels had been removed with casings and carried away. The back window had been broken out and valuables removed from the car. Some of the smaller articles including children's toys, lay upon the ground where they had been leisurely stamped upon, mutilated and bent.

A stranger went to town and reported the matter when no officer could be found on the grounds. Two motorcycle cops came out and surveyed the wreckage. One returned to the city and two more came in a large car.

The police extended every courtesy in procuring a wrecker to make the necessary replacement of tires and wheels. This need was supplied through the owner of a tire company at 821 West 6th operated by Richard E. Ross. Mr. Ross readily supplied the missing parts and wrecking service at a very reasonable rate.

Fortunately, the young couple had left their babe at a nursery down town. It is believed by them that if the babe had been left in the car, it would have been kidnapped or murdered outright, judging from the vicious nature of the brigands in wantonly destroying playthings intended for children.

Relatives Gather Tuesday At Armstrong Home

A most enjoyable Christmas came to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Armstrong Tuesday when the members of the family and other relatives took Christmas dinner with them.

John Koening and family, and G. L. Armstrong and family of Hedley, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Baldwin and children of Amarillo, J. G. Sherwood and family of Clovis were among the guests. Also the families of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Armstrong and children of each family, and Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Gilliland and children, all of Clarendon.

Nightwatchman Tenders His Resignation January 1st

Mr. Kutch has served the city well and faithfully over a period of years, and it is with much regret that he is giving up the position to engage in other work. He will be connected with the Buntin burial association.

Applicants for the place are A. G. Lane, L. L. Cornelius and Sid Endsley.

HOW TIMES CHANGE!

It used to be that when we could gather in 'punkins, 'taters, corn and kill a bunch of hogs, we felt all ready for the winter.

Now if we can't gather in a new car, a new radio, tuxedo and some government relief, we feel "all blowed up."

THAT ANNUAL POSTAL DEFICIT.

In order to make the folks have a better Christmas, Postmaster General Farley announces that the postal department has a surplus of five million dollars.

The Treasury Department announces a postal deficit of exactly $52,003,295.62.

Mail directly simply to "boxholders," a large percent of which was pure bunk, is said to have created twelve millions of the deficit. Farley appears to want to make us feel good, and at the same time play us all into the hands of the mail order catalog houses.

CLARENDON'S JUNIOR COLLEGE.

Having abandoned the idea of "keeping the light under a tub," the Leader was given some publicity on Clarendon's Municipal Junior College two weeks ago. The Childress News was charitable enough to copy that article, for which Messrs. Pink and Story have our personal thanks.

Through the years, this creditable school has existed only within the minds of a very few people beyond the fifteen mile limit. Just why no publicity had not been sought when it could be had without charge, no one seems to know.

If the school merits the consideration of the general public, let's tell the general public something about the Junior College.

THE DELUDED AND HELPLESS.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, comes out boldly against the Townsend old age pension plan that would give the old folks anything.

Mr. Green draws a big salary from the union laborers who contribute of their limited means to a cause they think will help them "some time," since it has amounted to very little to them for several years—if ever. Union labor has attempted to provide a home for the aged unionists. Those who do not belong and pay dues for a quarter of a century, just root hog or die when they get old, or else go to a government poor house. That is one of the big objections to the union plan.

If the Roosevelt plan took care of the laborers, and the government pensioned the aged and helpless, fellows like Green would have no job, hence Green is against it.

It reminds one of the Legion boys yelling for the adjusted compensation payments. They are due the money, all of them know it, but their national leaders are "agin" it because there would be less incentive for the boys to 'belong' if they were paid off, and the leaders know it.

It's a great deal like Will Rogers said in Saturday's papers when he included in his daily squib the statement: "Trouble with these plans is, the plan is generally to assist the planners' own business."

CAPITALISM'S GREATEST CRIME.

Writing in the Houston Press recently, Mrs. Walter Ferguson took occasion to point out a few glaring facts that are eating away the very foundations of our civilization. She did not mention the fact that in our own land today, thousands of couples have been forced to break up their homes and seek employment in separate and distant fields. These young couples who are, or should be, the parents of Americans who must "carry on" after our day, strive to keep alive that loyalty and affection under most trying circumstances. How many are obscuring a tragic picture with air castles of the future? There are thousands.

Here is what one of Texas' most active social worker has to say:

"Assembled in New York City recently were many noted leaders, the ubiquitous Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt among them, to study the problems of youth and marriage.

The opinion seems to be unanimous that girls and boys should be able to marry when they fall in love, somewhere in the early twenties, let us say. Only, as conditions are now, they can't marry, most of them, because they haven't either money or jobs and very small prospect of obtaining them soon.

It should then be obvious that the only way of getting around such a condition—shocking as it may sound—is for them to live together without being married. I assume, if they are normal beings, this, at least, is the solution which will first present itself to them. As alternative there is trial marriage, which to certain old-fashioned souls is only another name for the looser relationship.

I can hear some of you gasp. It's a gasping subject. But just the same, there it is, plain, blunt and inescapable. No use to cover it up with platitudes, no use to preach, no use to cry.

Whenever a society is so badly arranged that young people can not marry, they will do the next best thing. Nor will the next best thing appear to them any evasion of the moral codes. Neither will it mean that they particularly like to resort to what must seem sometimes a shabby subterfuge.

For there is a vast difference, sensed by most boys and girls, between the happiness which comes from illegal or impermanent unions and that derived from a sharing together of home and life; from merely living together, and being husband, wife and parents. Those who have been cheated of the latter state have, in my opinion, a legitimate grudge against society, and you can be perfectly sure society will pay some way in the end.

We babble meaningless nothings when we talk about chastity, selfcontrol and hope to poor and homeless young people. They need new moral codes, which will help them in their peculiar and awful predicament.

Worn out, valueless banners of virtue which would set a stigma upon the natural and inevitable, and which are now held aloft by an inept society, flap dismally in the tornado which sweeps across the world."

AMARILLO BRIGANDS BECOME BOLDER.

Most any town the size of Amarillo would naturally harbor a few outlaws. While they have been more active in recent years, it remained for the football game last Saturday to afford an opportunity for the brigands to operate in broad daylight "in the presence of more than eight thousand people."

More than one car parked by Butler field was entered. One car came out minus both right wheels. Valuables were taken from this same car by breaking the back side window. Those articles not meeting with the approval of the robbers, were stamped under foot.

The material loss does not irk me so much, but when I think of an outlaw tramping upon the toys of my grandchildren, I am everything except pleased.

One peace officer could have made the rounds of the parked cars at least twice during the time required to remove the wheels and desecrate the belongings inside the car. Surely no peace officer would have the unmitigated audacity to allege that he was on duty near the parked cars.

Since no peace officer could be found on the grounds of Butler Field, it is naturally to be presumed that Amarillo, in inviting the public to that fair city, is more concerned in the dollar than to assure her visitors the constitutional rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," to say nothing of the rights of property.

And the brigands operated in the presence of "more than 8,000 people."

It has been alleged for some time that peace officers of the city and county are actuated more from political motives than from a high sense of obligation due the law-abiding citizens who reside there, and those who happen to temporarily sojourn within her gates.

Amarillo has been accused of being a "cold-blooded" town in which are coddled thieves, bootleggers, rape fiends, high-jackers, etc. Does she deserve that slanderous reputation?

Amarillo's only mouth-piece is the News, edited by "Old Tack." Let the Amarillo News come to the defense. If the News wants some real live copy that will be appreciated by every one of the thousands of good, honest sensible law-abiding citizens of that town, then start a clean-up campaign.

Since one of the most cowardly crimes has been committed by thieves who steal and destroy without reason, let Amarillo check up on her thieving record. This particular form of crime is suggested as a beginner for the reason that the writer is informed by reliable authority that thieves are frequently arrested, some of which are second, third and even fourth time offenders, and are repeatedly turned loose without any form of punishment.

This form of laxity in law enforcement smacks of "politics." Crime in the category of larceny—both petit and grand—is rapidly on the increase in Amarillo. Purchasers from outside the city are advised to lock their cars while standing on the streets. The goods must be protected from second, third and fourth offenders—not beginners.

The time is rapidly approaching when we publishers of Amarillo trade territory will be printing something like this:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Jones successfully made a purchase in Amarillo Monday. Mr. Jones guarded the family car with a sawed-off shotgun while Mrs. Jones darted into a store and made the necessary purchase."

In conclusion Tack, I dare you to print this regardless of what your explanation might be.

Then if you do not care to print the above indictment, I double-dog dare you to print a tabulated list showing the number of arrests on petit and grand larceny charges for 1934 which should show whether previous arrests have been made in that individual case for a similar offense, disposition of the case, and if tried, state whether before a judge or jury. This dare includes the larceny cases of your district and county courts, your police court, and include the record of your probation officer in the biggest surprise that you can offer your reading public, and the greatest service you have rendered Amarillo since you took over the helm as editor.

Owens Champion Sausage Mill Of the Panhandle

While he claims extra merit for the sausage mill, others are of the opinion that management, or what would be termed "business sagacity" in 1934, is the real basis of the success of the venture.

A. O. Hefner of the Midway community owned the same sausage mill which he loaned neighbors for 28 years. He claims tons of sausage during that time were returned with the mill as a mark of appreciation for the loan.

Recently, he purchased a larger mill with the evident purpose of garnering sausage on a more copious scale from his neighbors. The neighbors apparently regarded the new purchase as an indication of "affluent finances" and, while they borrowed the mill frequently, sausage returns were totally minus.

Then it suddenly became norated that Tom L. Naylor had returned sausage for the loan of the new machine. Naylor may have been bribed, or there might have been no foundation to the story at all. At any rate, Hefner is lending and receiving in great gobs, according to neighbors who have viewed sausage stacks in the smokehouse, hanging from rafters and otherwise cached up for the winter by the owner of the mill.

Those who wish to borrow should feel free to replenish or add to the meat supply of the owner. The success thus attained largely determines the "sausagability" of the writer for dropping this strong hint.

CC Camp Quotas Calling For More Enlistments

The enrollment of 3,590 young Texans between the ages of 18 and 25, to take place between January 1 and 13, will bring the Civilian Conservation Corps quota for Texas to full strength for the final three months of the present 2-year authorization, which expires March 31, 1935. It has been announced from the offices of the Texas Relief Commission by Neal E. Guy, enrollment supervisor.

COUGHING, WEAK AND THIN AFTER FLU

"I nearly died from 'flu' last October, and it left me with a terrible cough.

"I saw Milks Emulsion advertised and started using it. It helped me right from the start. I had no appetite and my stomach was in bad shape. But 12 bottles have straightened me out entirely. I eat anything without distress, my cough is gone and I have gained back my strength and flesh."—Emma Withers, Box 50, Belmont, N. C.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action. Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children. You are urged to try Milks Emulsion. Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

In his instructions to county relief administration, covering the procedure of enrollment, Guy stated that "since the number of applicants exceeds the number of openings in a ratio of approximately ten to one, it is possible for you to select the finest bunch of boys we have ever enrolled. In order for this program to be successful, boys sent to camps by you must be physically fit to perform hard labor. A certain degree of intelligence is also a factor which will greatly simplify the educational programs available, and since the people who must fill these positions available, and since these people who must fill these positions are enrolled by you, I hope that mental capacity as well as manual capacity will be considered."

To be eligible for participation in the program, a person must be an unmarried citizen of the United States. He receives $30 a month, and must be willing to allot between $22 and $25 of this amount to the care of his dependents. When he enrolls, he agrees to serve for at least six months, but may be discharged for adequate cause before the expiration of his contracted term. Guy stated that since the beginning of the program two years ago, an increasing number of men have left the camps to accept permanent employment.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

Speaking of hard luck stories, how about the man who crawled under his car to make repairs and an alley cat chased a sewer rat up his pants leg. Two bites sent him to a hospital and he was so delirious that he never knew Christmas had arrived.

After listening to a good sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. Perry King Sunday morning, we also noted the free will offering for Buckner's Orphanage was up 36 percent as compared with a year ago at the First Baptist church. Times and people are both improving.

Being favored with a pad-calendar each season by Geo. B. Bagby, the insurance man, we have naturally appreciated it all through the years. This season the Clarendon Motor company sends a lot of us a metal calendar for the desk that is both beautiful and useful. Ever-sharp pencils sent by the Kerr school supply firm of Amarillo are also something that will come in handy through the year. The pencil is one of real quality as well as beauty. Thanks, folks. Thanks a lot.

Christmas would not be complete without sausage—that good old-time kind all seasoned and flavored for home use like home folks like it. C. T. Isham brought in two sacks that seem to be a little better than the quality he donated last season. Thank you, Mr. Isham. We looked forward to this all summer and fall, and it was worth all our effort.

It costs less to see that your boy has a good lamp on his bicycle than it will cost to hear the crunching of hearse wheels before your door.

A. N. Wood claims to have attended a grand Christmas ball in Jack county in 1876, garbed in a white suit and a derby hat. He says it happened in Jacksboro. He must have looked like a renegade ghost!

Hali Tosis advises the eating of garlic. No, it won't cut it all out, but it will help a lot. Ain't Miss Hali smart!

Flash! Flash! A transient camp crew has dammed the Mississippi river in the wrong place!

Sheeza Fizzle says, when that old age pension plan gets into operation, somebody is going to sell an awful lot of facials, pumps and panties."

"There never was a day without an ending, Followed by the beauty of a moon and star-lit skies; And there never was a night with out a dawning, But the beauty was disgraced with vicious lies."

When the man had made the final payment, he was handed a deed to his home, which he promptly refused. "No," he said, "I want a mortgage." The realty man explained the difference between a deed and a mortgage, but the man still refused, saying, "The last home I owned, I held a deed and the bank held a mortgage. The bank finally got the home. Just give me a mortgage this time."

As a suggestion for a vacation trip next summer (already), why not a jaunt into the brakes of Briscoe county and have a flat tire?

Then this Byrd had to fly to the South Pole and add 200,000 miles of frozen assets to the United States.

Three coddled youths well above twenty were doing some drunken driving near Canyon Sunday in observing the Sabbath. Boyce Long, a highway patrolman, feeling that others had a right to travel the highway without danger to their lives, arrested the three young men. At the first opportunity, they hit Long over the head with a bottle of whiskey, took his gun, kicked him out of the car and drew the gun on others who came to Long's rescue. Then they sped north toward Amarillo running into the Bruner car and badly crippling Mrs. Hal Bruner.

One of the fellows was questioned and turned loose although the courts records showed that he was then under a five year "suspended" sentence, given him in Amarillo and had formerly done 'time' in an Oklahoma prison. Later they began a hunt for him.

Another of the trio had served a sentence in Oklahoma, and was then under a 4-year "suspended" sentence given him in Amarillo last year in the 47th District Court on a charge of tire theft, according to the Amarillo News.

The third man being sought Tuesday, had recently been released from the Oklahoma penitentiary. The first two were residing in Amarillo.

Will these outlaws be "coddled" out of this scrape to become a menace to public safety of both life and property?

Amarillo's police force is undermanned. They need more men on the job. The police quality is up to par, and they are a fine bunch of men. But it appears to be true, as one policeman told the writer recently, when he said, "we can arrest them, but they are turned loose on the public just about as fast as we can bring them in." This destroys police morale.

Something ought to be done about it. Public sentiment should be aroused. Citizens should demand an investigation and find out why they have such little protection.

It's up to the Amarillo News to lead the way. If the News is not politically controlled, it will do that very thing in arousing sentiment that will demand a reasonable law enforcement.

This issue of the Leader will be mailed to prominent citizens who live in Amarillo and believe in law and order. Officials will have an opportunity to read it.

The writer has spent almost a half century in the Panhandle. He believes in the Panhandle. He recalls the day when our pioneers would not stand for this brand of foolishness a minute. Surely there is enough red-blooded citizens in the Panhandle to stamp out outlawry. Let's try it, at least. Now if you have waded through the above protest, turn to the editorial column, and read what the editor has to say about "brigandage" in Amarillo.

Donley county has a good class of citizens. Just about an average of the regular residents of the Panhandle. We stand for nothing short of human rights. Our peace officers do their duty. They are backed by a young army equipped to cope with anything at a moment's notice. We don't intend for outsiders to come in here and mess us up. All over the Panhandle the better element has the same opinion of outlawry—except Amarillo. The best citizens of Amarillo are waiting for a leader. They are disgusted and don't know what to do about it.

It is to be expected that other publishers of the Panhandle will have the "guts" to take up the cause of Amarillo's good citizens, and comment on this phase. There will likely be a lot of pressure brought to bear on the metropolis to "clean up" so that most any of us can visit there with a reasonable degree of safety.

Santa was great this time. Gobs of shirts, ties and socks and all the family got home to poke their feet under the table once more! The Apostle thanks most heartily each and every one that remembered him in any way. It's great to be remembered. Thank you, folks. Thanks a lot.

Whose Is The Fault?

"You ask when things are going to be better," wrote Chas S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan. "I might retort by asking, 'What things?' There is absolutely nothing wrong with the earth. The sun performs its functions. The earth is still in its orbit and on its axis. The clouds that are the nursemaids of the sky move hither and thither as usual and drench the thirsty footstool. The soil has all the elements of nourishments that sustain human life and everything else that it ever had. There is nothing wrong with the earth and with heaven, but somewhere between there has been a good deal of a mess. What, then, IS wrong? It must be man!"

LOYALTY Begets LOYALTY

We consider it one of the elementary principles of good banking to be loyal to those individuals and concerns who entrust their money to us.

This loyalty expresses itself particularly in the matter of making loans. We have never seen the time when we were not ready and willing to make loans in proper amounts to our customers deserving of credit. By "deserving of credit" we mean those customers who can show a justifiable use for the money, satisfactory proof of ability to repay within a reasonable time, and that regular curtailments of the debt will take place during that time.

Quick Method for Increasing Egg Production

Average Egg Yield More Than Doubled by Proven Plan

Yolk and white—that's the whole story of the interior of every egg. In the production of an egg there must be enough white to go with the yolk or the egg cannot be laid. That's common knowledge—yet it is so frequently disregarded in the handling of poultry that many flocks today are producing far below their normal capacity, according to C. S. Johnson, manager of the Purina poultry department.

"The fact that one hen or a group of hens has a better production record than another bird or group of birds does not mean, necessarily, that the former has better inherent laying ability than the latter," Johnson says. "It means far more often that the poorer group just hasn't been given equal opportunity to show what they could do in the way of fully sustained production.

"In every hen, for example, there's an 'egg nest' containing hundreds of small yolks—some no larger than a pinhead, others as large as a marble. These yolks were put in the hen by nature and are developed by the yolk making feed that the hen eats. Grain alone will develop these yolks. But they can't be turned out as yolks alone. There must be a white and there must be a shell.

"There's a small amount of white and shell material in grain, but not much," says Johnson. "That's why hens fed on grain alone lay so few eggs. It is estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture that the average farm hen in the United States lays only 72 eggs a year and most of these are produced in the spring months when eggs are cheap. That's what straight grain feeding or unbalanced feeding does. When one stops to realize that it takes 80 eggs from a hen in a year to pay her feed cost it is easily observed that the average farm hen hardly pays her way.

"But she can be made to pay by giving her enough material for whites and shells that will enable her to complete the eggs with the yolks she has in her body so that more eggs can be laid. It takes laying mash to make these whites and shells. Grain alone just can't do it. Neither will just any random untested, ordinary laying mash. What's required is a mash that has been developed, tested, balanced, and blended especially to give hens what they need for making whites and shells.

"It is entirely possible to produce such a mash. At our Experimental Farm, for instance, we have definitely and repeatedly been able to step up egg production from a yearly average of 72 eggs per bird when fed on grain alone to an average of 178 eggs."

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

W. E. FERRELL, Minister First Christian Church

"Our Year's Study."

Dear Friends, this year is rapidly drawing to a close. We have enjoyed many blessings along the way, but we count one of our greatest joys, the opportunity which has been ours to appear before you weekly in our little Chats. We wish to thank you one and all for your patience and interest in these articles. We feel that the most interesting book in all the world is the one about which many of us know the least. If we could read the thoughts of people we would find that some think the Bible to be a little more than a group of fables and superstitions, while others believe it to have been dictated word for word by the Holy Spirit. If we have helped you to obtain a better knowledge of the Bible and have led you nearer to your Heavenly Father we feel glad and proud of our year's work, and hope that we might get more information and aid in the days to come.

The teaching of the New Testament makes men better, happier and holier. It sets forth the majesty and dignity of man. It works moral revolutions in character. It adapts itself to every want of the soul. In following the gospel of Christ as it marches down the centuries, we behold the hardest hearts softened. Many martyrs, because of their faith in Christ and the love of His word, have welcomed the agonies of torture. On every hand asylums for the afflicted and homes for the orphans speak eloquently of the power of the gospel. Regenerated lives are unanswerable arguments in favor of the genuineness and worth of the New Testament, the good tidings, the gospel. "The power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

We thank you for your cooperation and interest during the past twelve months and hope we have been able to assist you in obtaining more information concerning the Bible, if we have accomplished this one point, we feel that we have been richly paid for our endeavors. With many wishes for the days to come and a Prosperous New Year, and a better understanding of God, Christ and the Plan of Salvation, I beg to remain your friend in Christ's cause.

A NEW YEAR'S PUDDING

"Take some human nature, as you find it. The commonest variety will do; Put a little graciousness behind it, Add a lump of charity or two.

"Squeeze in just a drop of moderation, Half as much frugality, or less, And some very fine consideration, Strain off all of poverty's distress.

"Four some milk of human kindness in it, Put in it all the happiness you can; Stir it up with laughter every minute, Season with good will toward every man.

"Set it on the fire of heart's affection, Leave it till the jolly bubbles rise; Sprinkle it with kisses for confection, Sweeten with a look of loving eyes.

"Flavor it with children's merry chatter, Frost it with the snow of wintry dells, Place it on a holly-garnished platter, And serve with the song of New Year's bells."

Clarendon Junior College Girl Wins Essay Prize

Miss Wanda Mayfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mayfield of Clarendon, and a student of Clarendon's municipal junior college, was awarded the $15 prize in the Amarillo News-Globe Better Housing Essay contest last week.

Her winning essay follows: Although the Texas Plains cities do not have as serious problems concerning crowding, sanitation, and ventilation as northern manufacturing cities, the National Housing Act can certainly be of benefit to our enterprising communities. Farm life plays an important part in the industry of Texas, and it is on the farms that the greatest need of proper housing is found. The Better Housing program provides generous loans to persons who want to improve their property, and it offers to finance repairs on easy terms with proper security.

Among the important points to be remembered by those who take advantage of these loans to effect improvements on their homes are to buy substantial materials to carefully plan the repairs, to adapt changes to climate and use, and to consider the family who lives in the house to be improved.

There is no plausible excuse for allowing country homes and their surroundings to show the lack of enterprise. Forcing helpless farmers to occupy filthy, rude shacks appears to be a result of lawlessness indulged in by miserly landowners. When President Roosevelt in a message to Congress in May said, "Many of our homes are in decadent condition and not fit for human habitation," he accurately portrayed the circumstances of the Texas Plains tenant houses. A surprisingly large number of rural homes do not have modern or sanitary bathrooms, convenient kitchens, good floors, decent paint or properly papered walls. With this opportunity offered to the landlords of decrepit farm houses, every home on the Plains can be equipped with these necessities. A farm that has only disreputable shacks for its tenants is branded as an unsuccessful business. Not only is the life of the farmer made more pleasant, but the sale value of the property is considerably increased by an attractive, commodious home, completely modern, extreme weather conditions exist in the form of high winds, intense summer heat and winter cold, occasional hail, and frequent sandstorms, poor building material and inferior paint are menaces rather than improvements. What is the advantage of re-roofing our homes if, when an unexpected heavy rain or snow falls, the flimsy, inefficient roof gives way or warps so that water reaches the wallpaper? New electric equipment should be installed at this time, but insulation jobs should not be attempted unless materials are of the best and installed by skilled workmen.

Painted with quality paint, and well roofed.

Painting exteriors, re-shingling, and modernizing of kitchen and bathroom seem to be the jobs that patrons of the Better Housing Act are most eager to begin. In accomplishing the improvements so they will be an asset to the property, it is essential that the best materials obtainable be used. We can only reach the Utopia of living conditions by laying a dependable foundation employing only those materials of unquestionable quality applied with expert hands. Materials of indisputable high merit and good labor may cost a little more, but the construction will outlast one of cheap building stock badly handled, and the expense will prove a saving in the end.

In making over the kitchen, modern metals may be used to obtain the utmost convenience. Monel metal inks, table tops, and other kitchen furnishings are expensive, and they have been proved wear-worthy over a period of many years. All better materials can now be purchased at reasonable prices, but after a few years the now cheap building stock will cost more than quality materials today. Too, expert laborers can now be hired for small sums, and in furnishing employment to a few worthy men we are doing our part to restore national prosperity under the plan of the NRA.

In renovating homes the various changes to be made must be carefully planned so they will accommodate the individuals of the home. Creating workshops, recreation corners, or nurseries from waste space such as basements and attics can be cleverly adapted to the needs and wishes of the family. Appropriate furnishings will create a child's interest in his room; he will be proud instead of ashamed to invite friends to his home.

Well-designed woodwork, built-in bookcases, closets, and cabinets make rooms more inviting and livable. Repairing the old porch may increase the family's satisfaction in retiring to the porch swing or garden furniture in the evening. Proper outdoor chairs may be purchased with the federal housing loan. Our improvements will have to be thoughtfully planned to accommodate the individual needs and desires of the several households. With these few common-sense thoughts in mind, it will not be difficult for any normal property owner to wisely use his federal loan to the best advantage for himself, his property, and his fellowmen.

Legion Coins Bear Design Historic Value

Much interest is being manifested in the placing on sale throughout the State of Texas Centennial silver 50-cent pieces by the Texas American Legion, to be sold at a dollar each, the proceeds to be devoted to the erection of a Texas historical museum on the campus of the University of Texas here in connection with plans for the Texas Centennial celebration of 1936.

The coins were made available by the passage of an Act of Congress in 1933, which was signed by President Roosevelt, June 15, of that year. The coins are unique in that, in their designs, are to be found the six flags under which Texas developed, the Lone Star of the State, the Alamo and the faces of Stephen F. Austin and Gen.

Many Breeds of Dogs—How to Feed Setters

Nearly every human being is interested in dogs. No other animal is so friendly, so understanding, so pleasant to have about as a good dog. Many varieties of dogs have been developed. New breeds are announced nearly every few years. Older breeds are improved.

In the large dog shows often as many as a hundred different breeds are represented, varying in size from the giant Saint Bernard, weighing around 250 pounds, to the tiny Chihuahua. There are long-legged dogs, short-legged dogs, heavily furred, tion of black, white, tan, orange or lemon.

Irish Setters are a little more high-strung in disposition. When well-trained, they are unexcelled as hunting and field dogs. Their color is a rich golden chestnut, no trace of black.

The Gordon Setter in the bottom illustration was originally more delicate in structure than either the English or Irish Setter. He has now been bred to a sturdiness necessary for a hunting dog. The males will reach a height of 22 to 25 inches; fe-straight-haired, and some with hardly any hair at all. How to tell different dogs apart and to note the characteristics that differentiate one from the other is an interesting study. Through the courtesy of Purina Mills' Educational Division, we are able to present a series of most interesting photographs of breeds of dogs. In the accompanying illustrations are shown three types of Setters, among the most popular of our hunting dogs. The top illustration shows an English Setter, the center one, an Irish Setter, and the bottom illustration a Gordon Setter.

The English Setter is the largest and strongest of the Setters. His entire make-up shows power to gallop with ease through a hard day's work. Color may be any combina-males slightly less. His color is coal black with tan markings of rich chestnut and mahogany red.

All setters should be kept hard and in good condition. It is bad practice to allow them to become fat and lazy. The most effective method for keeping valuable hunting dogs in condition is to eliminate all chances for germ infection by controlling their feed sources. A standard dog food that comes in dry checker form, where every unit of nutrient is under perfect control both as to rich vitamin content and to freedom from contamination, is the method followed by the more successful dog owners. Dog food in checker form is less bother to feed, keeps indefinitely without spoiling, and does not need to be supplemented with other foods.

No More Bank Check Taxes After January 1st

Those who have rebelled at the thought of affixing a two cent tax to each check have some idea what a general sales tax would mean. The New Year will be anxiously awaited because January 1st will see the last of the 2-cent bank check tax—for the present at least.

It is said that two and a half billion checks were taxed this year, bringing the government $45,000,000.

PROPOSED LAW WOULD LIMIT TAX ON REAL ESTATE

Houston, Dec. 26.—The campaign by the Texas Real Estate Tax Limitation League for a law and constitutional amendment to "hold real estate taxes down to one per cent for all purposes" promises to become a major drive for tax reduction in Texas, owners of real estate in Houston declare. The league was recently chartered at the instance of the Houston Real Estate Board, whose tax committee was headed by W. L. Edmundson, president of the league, and whose secretary was W. T. Millis, secretary-manager of the tax limitation organization.

Realtors claim that property is rapidly being confiscated by the taxing powers, and that the only hope for the home-owners to save their property is to place a limit above which the taxing governments cannot go.

For instance, the tax rate in the Houston area is $4.71 1/2 on the $100 valuation, with a 50 per cent assessment. Under the proposed plan, a property now assessed at $500 would be on the rolls at $1,000. On the same property the taxes now would be $21.30 and under the new schedule with a one per cent rate it would be $10, a saving of $13.51 to the taxpayer. San Antonio's present rate is $4.26, and in that city $21.30 is the tax on a $1000 property assessed at $500, thus the saving would be $11.30.

Ohio last year adopted an amendment for a one per cent limitation by a vote of 900,000 to 60,000. Adam Schantz III of Dayton, O., credited with causing Ohio to take that action, will be in Houston January 24 to speak before the National Association of Real Estate Boards at its national convention in Houston. His subject will be the "One Per Cent Limitation." He headed the committee that obtained 250,000 signatures in Ohio to get the amendment submitted and waged the campaign for its passage.

West Virginia adopted a constitutional amendment for a graduated limit ranging from 1/2 to 2 per cent on different classes of property. By statute, Indiana limited the tax rate for all purposes to 1 per cent on farm property and 1 1/2 per cent of city property. The assessment cannot be more than the fair value.

Michigan adopted a 1.5 per cent limitation on all property. Oklahoma adopted the 1.5 per cent limit. New Mexico thought the limit should be 2 per cent and put such a provision in its constitution. Even with a two per cent limitation, most Texas areas would get a substantial reduction.

Washington fixed the limit at 2 per cent.

What is known as an "over-all tax limitation" is the limit placed on the total of all taxes which may be levied in any one year against a piece of real estate by all the units of government within the state. The Texas constitutions amendment will probably read about as follows: "The total taxes levied in one year against a piece of real estate by state, county, municipal and other sub-division taxing units cannot exceed 1% of the true value of the property."

States where campaigns are now being waged for the over-all limitation are Pennsylvania, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Colorado, Utah, Oregon and Texas. Other states are expected to start such campaigns.

"Real Estate owners are the recipients of only 8 per cent of the total income of the nation," declared Mr. Edmundson, president of the Texas Real Estate Tax Limitation League, "yet out of this relatively small part of the income, 64.2 per cent of the total of all state and local taxes levied must be paid. By no stretch of the imagination is it fair. Limitation of one per cent is economically sound. Property cannot afford to pay a tax bill of more than one per cent of its true value. Suppose your real estate is earning six per cent on your investment in it. A tax of one per cent is one-sixth of the earnings of that property—or 16 2/3 per cent tax on the income. Yet most states are taking twice or three times or even ten times that much in taxes. Home owners and possessors of other real estate everywhere should rally to the efforts to iron out this injustice."

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Walker and daughter Ann Marie of Amarillo visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sims and other relatives here Tuesday.

Sam G. Evans of Ashtola was in town today saying that he had a good Christmas at home this time when his son Major and family, and Jim Parker and his folks dropped over to spend the day.
