Sarcasm.

Not a cough in a carload, or a smoke in a boat load.

Similarity.

Just what is the difference between a conference and a rag chewing match, anyhow?

Friends.

Our friends are those who cannot conceal their astonishment when we make good.

Some Relief.

What a relief it will be when the world finally goes to the dogs and we can stop paying high-powered speakers to keep warning us that we are headed that way.

Delusions.

It is pretty generally understood that if a man makes a failure at farming, he can make barrels of money running a filling station.

Exercise.

In the days when a man cut and split up a cord of wood for a dollar, he did not have to play a round of golf to work up an appetite for supper.

Astronomic.

If Adam had sent out an SOS, it would not yet have reached the nearest star. Adam was no wireless operator nohow, which probably saved him more serious trouble.

Sunday Movies.

Our Legislature has enacted a law whereby movies may operate on Sunday. Those who have been in the habit of golfing and picnicking on Sunday may find amusement at home.

Progress.

It is getting so that you can walk into any first-class hotel dining room, smoke black cigars, pipes, tailor-mades or roll-your-owns. Fellows who do not smoke should be permitted to park their feet on the table to even up accommodations.

Wife Spanking.

The fact that an Omaha judge has ruled that a husband has a right to spank his wife with a hairbrush will come as good news to some husbands. But it must be remembered that this judge has no jurisdiction in Texas.

Extravagance.

It never pays a country editor to become extravagant. The editor of a piney woods weekly invested in a $6 suit last week and when he reached home his wife failed to recognize him and he was bitten three times by the family dog while climbing a tree.

Dunking Bread.

The man who sought a divorce in a Mena, Arkansas court complained that he broke a tooth on a biscuit after living with his wife twenty years. The court refused his plea advising him to go home and dunk his bread and stay on the job.

Disgranted.

A man on the street this week was heard to remark that "he used to enjoy the amusement when he went into a barber shop for a shave, but now when he emerges from a beauty-barber shop, he feels like he had been to a church social."

Checking Criminals.

Thanks to Dr. J. T. Gray of defenseless girls, it's going too far to ask us to forgive and forget in the case of a dago or any other kind of a specimen of foreign scum. If foreign nations would keep their natives of brutish instinct at home, there would be no occasion to make unreasonable requests of our nation.

Glass Protection.

All of the manufacturers of glass fruit jars in the state are running full time. The plant at Wichita Falls and at Santa Anna are the largest producers of jars. Many other plants produce bottles, but Texas merchants are placing big orders ahead for jar containers to take care of the home products. Merchants in the grocery line may not sell so much "tined" goods this season, but they can make up for that loss largely by stocking glass fruit jars early. The square jar is being recommended by the C H D agents.

Texas folks will live more at home after the lesson of the past year, and spend their savings for luxuries largely. Some will bank the difference for the rainy day. Fine seasons and a growing determination to eat Texas grown foods is an encouraging factor in this grand old state right now.

Title Purchases.

The latest victim of the title market appears to be Mary McCormick of grand opera fame. Mary has purchased herself a prince with an unpronounceable name. A lot of good American money goes to foreign shores in exchange for titles.

We have titles in America of the home-spun variety but they don't mean anything. These foreign titles come down through the centuries. Mary's prince claims to have inherited his title through a succession of fifteen centuries. A scion of a bunch that has done nothing for fifteen hundred years but loaf is a fine record for sale purposes.

We have men who have done fairly well and who become "captains" because of this fact. We have preachers who are referred to as "doctors." A goatee on a chin in some sections entitles the wearer to be referred to as "colonel." A piano player is often referred to as "professor." None of these titles have any marketable value. No proud daughter of an aspiring mother of means would give fifteen cents for either of them.

Regulating Newspapers.

The West Texas Utility News in their issue of April 17th issue has much to say in the way of a news item about bills likely to be passed "regulating" newspapers.

As a matter of fact no other service rendered the public by private individuals or corporations has been regulated so much or for so long a period as the newspaper. This regulation has its inception in the offices of the various departments of the Postmaster General.

The newspaper owner of the country weekly class, for instance, pays a postage rate according to the amount of advertising he carries, and the distance his papers may travel for delivery. He must accept only certain kinds of advertising, and must carry such advertising on certain pages.

His paper is regulated as to uniform size. He cannot give it away, but on the other hand, he must collect within a limited time from every subscriber. The paper must be prepared for mailing and routed to comply with postal requirements.

The reading matter contained in the paper is closely scrutinized by postal employees or inspectors. The publisher is subject to prosecution if offense is offered, or may be denied mailing privileges for a lesser offense.

After dodging the lottery law, libel laws, state laws, federal laws, postal laws, damage suits and tax laws, the newspaper man is pretty well regulated as it is right now. If there is anything in the new ideas of regulation that guarantees him a profit on his investment on a parity with public service corporations lets have it.

CHURCHES

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Excuses."

One cannot fail to notice that, when asked for reasons why decision for Christ is delayed, or Christian work unattended to, so few make any frank confession of fault. Replies are usually of the nature of the excuse of the man in the parable: "I have bought a field, and I must needs go and see it; I pray thee have me excused;" (Luke 14:18). So, what is optional is raised to the level of positive duty. A man wants to go that way instead of answering the call of Christ, so the wise is the father to the thought, and the excuse is offered, "I must needs go."

It can scarcely be said that by callous wickedness men usually exclude themselves from the Kingdom of Christ, or neglect Christian duties. The more common reason is careless indifference. The affairs of the world are so pressing. Men hear the divine summons, "Go, work in my vineyard," but there are other calls they hear; there is other work to do.

Never yet was a good excuse offered for indifference to the claims of Christ, or the neglect of Christian duty. Men need to realize that to accept Christ and serve Him is the greatest business of life. "Seek ye First His kingdom and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you," (Matt. 6:33).

23). Attention needs diverting from self, one's feelings, business or pleasure, and turned to the consideration of the reasonableness of religious requirements. Men need frequent reminders that with every pulse-beat they are getting worse; every breath is bringing them nearer to life's close. The last call will soon be heard; then, if they still have excuse to offer, they shall be numbered with the rejected. "For I say unto you, that none of these men which were bidden shall taste of my supper," (Luke 14:24). Those without the wedding garment, will be speechless, (Matt. 22:12). Those who reject Christ and His gospel will be without excuse, (Rom. 1:20) when He comes for His bride.

Knowing that that day is coming we plead with men to be ready for it when it dawns. "Our Hope in the Evil Day" will be our subject Sunday morning, we feel sure you will like this one, so don't miss it. "The World Without An Excuse" will be our evening subject, this will be of great interest to every one, especially the 'excuse maker! Come out and see what we have in store for those who make excuses. We want you present.

BUSINESS

IS RUN TO MAKE A PROFIT

PROFIT

Depends on Economy and Efficiency

Business Organizations that are successfully managed keep accurate cost figures and comparative monthly statements to guide them in the administration of their affairs. This enables them to keep a close watch over their expenditures day by day.

Individuals that have a system to keep track of their income and outgo keep a checking account which enables them, too, to watch their expenditures.

There Are Many Advantages in having a checking account, and having it in this bank.

Egypt to Beautify Beaches With Houses Made of American Boards

CHICAGO — Alexandria, Egypt, whose history dates back to the earliest ages of civilization and whose fame as a seaport is world wide, will greet visiting globe trotters with artistic beach houses made of modern American building materials, according to R. G. Wallace, director of sales and advertising of the Masonite Corporation, who recently returned from an extensive trip abroad.

"Prompted by the exceptional possibilities of attracting steamship travelers to Alexandria by enhancing the picturesqueness of its beaches, the Egyptian government recently conducted a contest for modern and artistic bathhouses to be built along the shores of the Mediterranean near that city," said Mr. Wallace. "Hundreds of models were entered in the contest. The two prize-winning designs are shown in the accompanying illustrations. These structures were built almost entirely of preswood, which is made at Laurel, Miss., by exploding chips of waste lumber in saw-mills under terrific steam pressure and then compressing the fibrous mass into thin, strong, smooth boards. This material is extensively used as panelling in homes, counter and table tops, movie sets, poured concrete forms, and for a great many other practical purposes. More than 450 similar bathhouses constructed of the same material will be built along the Alexandria beaches by the Egyptian government in the near future."

The piston pin test—showing one of the many marvelously accurate gauges used to maintain Chevrolet quality

If you could see the new Chevrolet Six being built, you would understand why it performs so well, lasts so long and brings so much satisfaction and pleasure to its owners. The quality of raw materials is held to standards unsurpassed anywhere in the automotive industry. In the manufacture of the engine alone there are hundreds of separate inspections. Pistons are matched in sets to within one-half ounce. Piston pin must be within 1/4 tenths of one one-thousandth of their specified size. Connecting rods are matched to within one-quarter ounce and are individually fitted by hand.

The special alloy steel crankshaft is the subject of truly amazing care and precision in manufacture and cannot vary from perfection in balance more than 1/4 inch-ounce!

These few examples of Chevrolet standards indicate the care used in the manufacture of every part of the car.

Chevrolet precision instruments are regularly checked against master gauges which are accurate to one millionth of an inch Soundly built to serve you long and well! No compromise with quality in manufacture means no compromise with complete satisfaction in ownership.

"On to Alaska With Buchanan," Slogan of Fifty Boys

(INSET) GEORGE E. BUCHANAN BUCHANAN AND HIS BOYS, BANFF

BUCHANAN'S BOYS, VANCOUVER

George E. Buchanan, sponsor and backer of and roofer for the movement of boys to Alaska, is planning to take fifty or more to the great United States possession in July. Buchanan, who is prominent in the Detroit Coal Exchange, president of five coal companies and a bachelor, believes that a trip to Alaska, provided a boy partly earns his way, will be a wonderful formative incident in his life. He has already taken 400 boys to Alaska and this will be his ninth annual personally conducted tour. The boys, ages 9 to 17, must earn one-third of the cost of the trip ($125.00); the parents advance a third and Buchanan loans the boy one-third which is to be repaid later at the boy's leisure, so that other boys may go to Alaska later. Buchanan, who gets letters from all over the United States and Canada addressed "Alaska, Buchanan, Detroit," and "Buchanan, Boy's Friend, Detroit," tells the boy who writes to him direct from anywhere how he can earn his third by selling pencils, kitchen tongs, coal, steel ash baskets, etc. Boys who qualify go westward through Canada and the Canadian Rockies, seeing Banff and Lake Louise, then North to Alaska on the "Princess Louise." They see the wonders of Alaska and return by the "Princess Alice" to Vancouver and homeward through the United States, thus viewing the finest scenery in Canada, Alaska and the States.

The Donley County Leader of Clarendon

J. C. Penny, head of more than a thousand chain stores, in an article in Fourth Estate, says: "We have come to a time when the smallest newspapers are looked upon as necessary in rounding out a newspaper advertising campaign. Newspaper readers have always looked upon the papers as messengers which to carry local facts. Every town with a newspaper affords sufficient local news to make the paper important regardless of overlapping circulation of larger papers in that community. IT GETS A CLOSER READING."

The Donley County Leader

Temple of Truth
By the Apostle

Eggs! Eggs! You tell the world the folks are bringing in the eggs. The last egg day is Saturday, May 2nd. Don't forget it. If you have the money, good and well. We are plum tickled to get it, but if you have more eggs than money, bring in the eggs and get square with the board.

We will continue to pay 20 cents a dozen to apply on subscription. A whole lot of folks appreciate the fact that we can do it, and have told us so. New or renewals at the same price, the more the better.

Not that he had never been around any, and after visiting all the places of importance in the state except Jack county, J. Less Hawkins, county commissioner from Hedley went along with Judge J. J. Alexander to the Judge and Commissioner convention at Abilene.

The Judge wanted to put on some extra dog among strangers and proceeded to park himself at the Hilton hotel. J. Less went along and both men were taken from the front lobby via an elevator 8 stories, turned two blocks west and seven south and were shown a room, among the last rooms that had not already been taken by the mob that was gathering for the big show.

J. Less kicked on the price because he was parked in the country and asked a reduction for street car fare to get back to the main lobby. Some hotel flunkies dressed in liveried green and Less claims that the Judge mistook a brass-buttoned bell hop for the owner. Carpets you bog up in to your knees. Every waiter was a queen, the best looking that could be found. Radio in every room and sometimes two.

A letter from Miss Ettie Kimbriel of Mariarty, New Mexico with a subscription price enclosed states that she is lonesome on a ranch way out in the Estancia valley. The Leader will keep her informed of what is happening in grand old Donley and we wish the young lady all the joys possible in New Mexico's champion bean belt where the air is pure, nearby mountains for trips and a variety of soils that cannot be beaten.

The Estancia valley was once a large lake, in fact the remnant, a salt marsh, yet exists in the lowest part of the valley at this time. This huge lake in prehistoric times broke through the mountains at the northwest corner at the "hog back" ridges and created a canyon. Lots of interesting finds of prehistoric life out there where you can spend weeks learning more of the past history of old mother earth.

Donley county excels California in that they have to grow their grape juice by expensive methods, and we can get ours from the wild vines on the creeks. There is nothing like living in the wild grape belt.

Also the gateway to Palo Duro, Carlsbad Cavern, Hoover Dam and otherwise.

Thanks to the Lelia Lake minister for his kind comments on articles in the Leader of last week. Some preachers stand for what is right regardless of personal feelings or public opinion. This is probably because they believe the Book.

Also some preachers glory in kicking one of their fellow workers clear out of the denomination before any official charges have been made. Hell has been slopping over with that kind for some time.

Anybody remember the old-fashioned camp meetings when they had church all week without taking up a collection?

Many a college graduate will return home soon after a siege of four years, armed with a society membership and a broken nose as his returns on the investment.

A scientist says that if the earth was flattened out, the water would be two miles deep all over the world. If any man is caught flattening out the earth, shoot him on the spot and don't be too particular about the spot. There's a whole lot of folks in the Panhandle who can't swim.

Bill Raines didn't get up for the dog tournament, but claims that he has a water spaniel that has the ordinary bird dog beaten a mile. By tossing a dollar in Medicine Park lake, the spaniel dived in and brought up a three pound catfish and six-bits in change.

The Apostle is beating them to it this time. He got up early Sunday morning and ate a pound package of bird seed that the good woman had left on the table overnight. Thought it was some new kind of breakfast food.

Some years ago when Judge Alexander had occasion to go to town he saw his first electric fan. After viewing the machine for some time he said: "Mister that's sure a fast squirrel in that cage."

Tales of the blizzard from Minot, North Dakota are leaking in, yes leakin' with the rain that lasted most of the week.

One fellow claims that snow began blowing through a nail hole and he emptied a tub twice every fifteen minutes.

Another relates how two girls started to the barn to milk, became lost and spread their shawls over their heads and were buried in the snow. A brother found them the next day none the worse for their experience.

Some of the people burned up their wheat stacks through the cook stoves and having no other fuel, tore up the track and burned cross ties and snow fences to avoid freezing.

Right at this time they are having a dry spell. The snow is gone and no season for planting. We find time to grumble in this section, but not much to grumble about if we would only take time to compare our advantages with those of other sections.

Don't forget about the egg deal. Time limit May 2nd. If there should be any behind with subscription on that date beyond the limit allowed by the postal rules, we will simply have to take them off the list. Don't want to at all, no sir, but we will have it to do and nothing else will satisfy your Uncle Samuel.

Our children love us not so much for what we do for them as what we permit them to do for us. Of all the conglomerated evils running loose, a spoiled kid is the worse. We have some right in this little burg. They have no regard for the rights of others much less respect for their parents.

Oh yes, the Nolan County News, Sweetwater, Texas wants poetry. They want all they can get. It is so seldom that a newspaper asks for this brand of mental production that I am citing all the poets of the Panhandle to headquarters. Send them all you have. It must be original—stuff you have written yourself.

Brace yourselves folks! Brace yourselves! In order to give all the boys a square deal, the Secretary and Board of the Chamber of Commerce have selected the Apostle to supervise an old-time fiddling contest here on the 4th of July.

The Apostle used to fiddle, in fact he fiddled until his wife's folks bent his favorite fiddle over a post. That was a long time ago and since then the Apostle has grown older, wiser and more pious. He's pious like most of folks—until he gets fuddled.

Anhow, there is nothing like regular fiddle music. This high-brow stuff is alright in its place but he never found that place yet.

After the contest, these fiddlers will be hauled to the middle of Second and Kearney streets, right in the middle of the cross roads near the banks. The next thing will be the next thing. You will miss it if you miss it as the darkies say.

Perched on a truck, these fiddlers will fiddle from late in the evening until the last of the main audience quits. The main audience will be the dancers. Dancing right on the pavement. The crowd will be policed and there will be no rough stuff.

All the folks can see it and any one can dance if they like. Crutches will be supplied the cripples and the young will have a nurse. The middle ages will take care of themselves. Not responsible for heart failures.

They can dance Texas fashion, square or round or both. Black-bottom and rattlesnake wobble will not be barred. We intend to have at least one Arkansas set. They will dance barfoot until their heels smell like a scorched cow horn. Dad Anderson will be there to sweep the toenails out of the way.

What this will be no one knows except that it will draw the biggest crowd of any attraction during the two days. We may run it two days if the dancers don't become road foundered on the first 24-hour lap.

Just what the good woman will say about the Apostle taking up fiddling again is about as welcome as a garlic breath. She's going to ask me what her missionary society will think of me and I am going to tell her frankly that I can't even hazard a guess. But if some of them are not there looking on a part of the time, it will be the biggest surprise of my life.

Gangway! Gangway! Here comes the good woman now!

Cimarron's Triumph For Sound Screen

Story Value Heightened By Racing Dialog

By HOWARD ESTABROOK
 (Note: Mr. Estabrook adapted Edna Ferber's novel, "Cimarron," to the screen, a task which occupied almost a year.)

Radio Pictures' "Cimarron" at the Pastime theatre, is a striking example of the superiority of the talkie over the silent drama as a means of transferring a popular novel to the screen. The character of Yancey Cravat, editor and lawyer, has been enjoyed by a million readers, who surely would be disappointed if the brilliant talkative Yancey (played by Richard Dix) suddenly lost his voice and was reduced to dumb pantomime and printed sub-titles. Yancey is fascinating because of what he thinks, says and does on the spur of the moment. It is impossible to predict him.

In "Cimarron," the individual modes of speech, the rich, soft Western drawl, are perfectly recorded by the microphone—another great advantage. The numerous sounds with which the picture is crowded add to reality.

The adaptation of "Cimarron" was complicated by the fact that the story covers a broad sweep of history—from 1889 to 1930, with rapidly changing styles of dress and customs, and the advent of automobiles, oil and other improvements.

It was necessary for our research department to answer such questions as:

What kind of mail boxes were used in 1907? When were bath-tubs first used in the Southwest and what were they like? Were celluloid collars correct for well-dressed men in 1898? When did the "Strike Anywhere" and sulphur matches make their first appearance? Authentic knowledge of vehicles, costumes, furniture and architecture of the periods was necessary. A complete evolution of the last forty years was shown.

The question of length proved to be the greatest problem in the adaptation of "Cimarron." I was permitted to use a method of adaptation never used before. The entire novel was scenarized ready for filming, then necessary condensations were made from the script. This method we have found gave us to adhere more closely to the spirit of the novel.

I believe that material written directly for the screen will steadily increase, but the advent of talking pictures has made available such excellent material which could not have been properly screened under the limitations of silent drama.

ASHTOLA SCHOOL NEWS

"DEACON DUBBS"

The Senior play Friday night was a great success. The audience seemed to appreciate greatly the comedy put on by the Ashtola Seniors. H. N. Lovell as Deacon Dubbs from Sorghum center, state of West Virginia was an exceedingly good uncle. Lu Me Clellan as Amos Coleman played quite well the part of the nephew. The villain, Rawdon Crawley, was very good, played by Tate Poovey. The auctioneer, John Harold Jones and the bashful Deutenonomy, Leo Thomas furnished plenty of fun. The heroine, Rose Raleigh, was played by Helen Parker who certainly did justice to her part. Miss Philippa Popner was played to perfection by Emma Sue Graham. Haughty Emily Dale was played by Merle Harp. Geneva Collier played quite well the part of the mischief-making Trixie Coleman. Yennie Yenson, the Swedish birli, was played by Mary Graham, who was one of the "jolliest characters"

The play was directed by Miss Hukel and Miss Shook. Between acts, Misses McMurtry and Hukel sang and Miss King gave a very enjoyable reading.

Hedley Youth Beautifies His Home Economically

Theodore Swinney, aged 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Swinney of Hedley is an adept with carpenter tools often making useful articles with which the family home is adorned.

Not only are these articles beautiful, but they are useful as well. Among the more recent products of his skill might be included a bookcase, footstool, book shelf, clock shelf and match container.

This boy depends on his natural talent, and what skill he has acquired by actual practice, as he has received no outside instruction. His products are said to be both beautiful, useful and skillfully made say those who have visited the Swinney home.

Mrs. Hood and daughter, Miss Ruth of Amarillo were Sunday guests of Mrs. Cousins and daughter, Miss Lee Christine Cousins.
