Goldston People Turn Out In Number Thursday Night

Other Communities Expecting Visits With Dates Set For Meetings

The ladies at the Goldston meeting Thursday night enriched their club treasury by $12.82 in the sale of sweet meats to the crowd out for the program of the Trade Trippers. Mrs. J. E. Ware and Miss Martha Buttrill had charge of the sales.

In proportion to the population of the community, Goldston turned out nicely and contributed of their local talent towards a good program.

J. E. Ware handed them a bunch of good old-time numbers on the violin along with a variety of musical numbers by others and the band music. Mr. Ware also played the "accompaniment" to Loyd Stallings' tap dance act.

The next trip will be made to Martin community next Tuesday night, the 9th. The folks up there turned out in a big crowd last summer and they are expecting to beat the record this time. The ladies will have plenty of cold drinks, cream, cake and other dainties to see that no one suffers from the heat.

Brice has invited the Trade Trippers down there. The date for this meeting has been set for Friday of next week—June 12th. The Brice folks never disappoint and there will be plenty of amusement and entertainment when this trip is made.

G. L. Boykin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, announces that these meetings are intended to cultivate a more neighborly spirit, get better acquainted and to advertise the big two-day event in Clarendon on July 3-4th.

Old Fiddlers Are Getting Busy For Big Show On Fourth

Meeting is Called Here June 12th to Make Final Rules and Arrangements

As the time draws near for the 4th of July blowout, more and more fiddlers are handing in their names to compete for the prize money and the honors of winning.

Those who have "enrolled" at the Leader office so far are F. L. Behrens, W. E. Walling, J. E. Ware, W. C. Reeves and Q. W. Walling.

These men will play old favorites that will bring back memories of forty or more years ago. Turkey in the straw, Billy in the low ground, Hell among the yearlings, 8th of January, Nigger in the woodpile and dozens of others will be played on the evening of the contest at the College Auditorium.

The minimum age limit is 40 years. You can enter if you are over that age and up to 160, which will probably be about as old as one would care to come out. Leave your name here at the Leader office or with T. D. Nored at the office of the West Texas Utilities Company.

In addition to the above, Babe Barker of Claude, Dave Spears and Jess Stiles of Hedley, T. A. Landers of McLean, T. L. Clark of Clarendon and others are expected to show the other boys a few things about fiddling.

Quite a number are advocating no age limit making a free for all. If that should be the case, Joe David and Reed Aycock of Clarendon and a number of others will climb into the ring.

All fiddlers who want to have a say in the formulation of the rules of the prize fiddling contest are requested to meet at the office of the Donley County Leader in Clarendon on Friday, June 12th at 2 p. m.

This meeting was definitely determined after a number of contestants had expressed a desire to have a word in the rule making. The matter of an age limit will also be decided at this meeting.

Clarendon Motor Company Gets Cars and Trucks

Employees of the Clarendon Motor Company unloaded a shipment of Chevrolet cars and trucks Tuesday. Sales over the past two months have depleted the stock to the extent that show room material was scarce.

It is noted that the five window coupe has a number of new features and is a trim car painted in a beautiful blue.

The sport coupes also have a number of new features, spares on the fenders 'neverthin' and all done up in a maroon color that incites an idea of possession.

Mr. Kemp is expecting business to continue to pick up with the harvest just ahead and feels like a whole lot of the public favors the celebrated Chevrolet that is out-selling all makes this season.

Slight Accident Becomes More Serious

While visiting at Crowell with his parents last week, Darrell, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meaders ran a siver in his leg while sliding down a chute. A local doctor examined the wound and thought he had removed all the splinter.

Upon returning to their home in the Pleasant Valley community Sunday, the lad began to suffer intense pain from the splinter wound. A local surgeon examined the injury and removed more of the splinter.

It was feared for several hours that blood poison had set up, but the lad is now improving nicely.

Negro Steals Rifle Getting Twenty-Seven Days

The war evidently was not so near at hand as Fred Jones thought for he is now peacefully doing labor on the courthouse lawn and other odd jobs around the jail.

This ducky was convicted by a jury in Judge J. J. Alexander's court the past week on a charge of having broken into the home of Doc Shoffitt and stealing the rifle. He later took the rifle to a second hand store for repairs and was arrested.

Boykins to Begin Vacation Trip Next Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Boykin and sons Ben and Jim, will leave here Saturday morning on a vacation trip of some three weeks.

Mrs. Boykin will remain at Ft. Worth visiting her mother and the parents of Mr. Boykin. After a short stop there, Mr. Boykin will continue on to College Station where he will do some reviewing preparatory to teaching the agricultural classes in the local high school next term.

R. S. Cope is Advanced By Utilities Company

It became known here Monday that R. S. Cope, salesman of the West Texas Utilities company, had received an advancement in position, and that he would likely make Childress his headquarters in making the change.

In the event of a change, he would represent his company in Memphis, Clarendon and Childress. Citizens of this town rejoice at a proper recognition of his ability, but the fact that he may move from Clarendon is looked upon with universal regret.

Elbert Bowen, son of Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Bowen, pastor of the Methodist church, is taking a vacation with his parents following a term at McMurry College at Abilene.

Taking Vacation Through Black Land Section

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. (Leck) Goldston and Misses Margaret Goldston and Margie Robinson left here Sunday for Waco, the home of Miss Robinson who has been teaching with Miss Margaret in the Amarillo public schools.

A communication from Leck states they are having plenty of rain down there, crops look fine and the chigger crop already matured. They expect to be away several days.

Ladies Night Is Observed By Banquet By Rotary Club

Judge A. T. Cole is Principal Speaker of The Evening; Quartette Numbers

Rotarians observed Ladies Night with a banquet Friday evening at Hotel Clarendon, the first event of the kind in the history of the Club. Quartette numbers were a special feature in which Rotarians R. E. Cope, Densil Davis, Jack Jones and R. E. Drennon shared a part. Rotary Ann Rhoda Weidman accompanied on the piano.

Rotarian Cole chose as his subject as speaker of the evening, a subject that is given much study by a few, and little thought by the many. He spoke on the subject of "Criminology" covering the subject pretty well in an hour and a half.

This is said to have been one of the most forceful, interesting and surprising talks that has ever been made before the club. Surprising because of the volume of bold facts brought to the attention of his hearers.

The speaker spoke boldly, dealing in cold facts, was frank to acknowledge his own short-comings and just as readily pointed out the faults of other parents. His declaration that children of christian parents were often bad, "true because it was not true", elicited surprise until he further explained his position.

He stated that christian parents with bad children were not christians in every sense, but were often hypocrites. That it was this lying hypocrisy that caused their children to lose confidence in them, and thus become really bad.

The talk was more in the nature of a lecture. The speaker's keen wit and homely every day illustrations pleased his audience. The members paid rapt attention throughout the talk that was rather lengthy for a gathering of the kind. Members feel that they have learned much, are thinking more along better avenues and expect to profit from the suggestions offered.

Rotarian J. C. Estlack made a special request of the members that they write letters to Governor Sterling asking him to not veto the bill appropriating $25,000 for the museum building at Canyon.

President Jenkins was elected to the next meeting of Rotary International at Vienna, Austria. M. W. Brown of Pampa, who expects to attend the meeting, was voted to represent the proxy of the Clarendon Rotary club.

With remarks from President Jenkins covering several subjects, the forty-three members and wives and guests of members felt that the evening had been well and profitably spent.

Mother Provides For Eight Operating Cream Station

Very often it falls to the lot of a woman to carry the big end of the load when times are distressing. It is she who must worry and continue to "carry on" maintaining an outward appearance of good cheer and hopefulness.

Just such a woman is Mrs. H. J. Wardlow of Clarendon. Eight dependents upon her for the necessities of life. She operates a cream station first door north of the Clarendon Hatchery.

Having formerly lived in the country for some five years, her acquaintance and pleasing personality mean much to her now. Friends of former days are now her customers. Their influence is being used in behalf of the brave little mother who must continue to "carry on" no matter what comes.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther W. Smith of Dillon, Montana announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, weight 8 pounds on May 20th Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Jessie Williams while living here.

Misses Elgin Patrick, Latrice Benson and Lois Alexander returned home from Kidd-Key at Sherman Saturday night where they attended school the past term. They returned here with Mrs. W. H. Patrick and Bill Carroll who have been visiting in Sherman.

Local Merchants Feature Cotton Goods Here This Week

National Cotton Week Being Observed by Merchants Of Entire Nation

In looking over the advertisements in this issue of the Leader, it will be noted that cotton goods is being emphasized. The prices and quality are such as will encourage the use of cotton materials. Cotton goods of all kinds offer exceptional values for consumers. Cotton is selling at the lowest price now in fifteen years. This is reflected in the prices asked for the manufactured goods.

Cotton goods has a greater fashion prestige now than ever before. It is being used in a wider range of clothing than ever before. Twenty-two articles used by women every day are being offered in cotton. Nineteen articles used by men ranging from socks to suits are being offered in cotton.

Readers of the Leader this week will do well to look over the offerings of merchants who are advocating the use of more and better cotton goods, most of which is manufactured in Texas.

Second round in matched play will be continued through this week with the finals in all flights to be played off Sunday.

Farm Conditions Continue To Hold Up; Harvest Begins

Planting Practically Completed and Stand Satisfactory Over Entire County

Wheat and oat harvest was begun in Donley county this week. Some of the wheat men are baling their wheat rather than risk a low price if allowed to mature and threshed.

Early feed is scarce and baled wheat will be fed in making a crop of later maturing varieties. Some who have had experience feeding wheat baled advise grinding before feeding as the beads some times cause mouth trouble in stock.

Cotton, corn and row crops are up to a good stand. Truck crops are also showing up nicely. No hail or beating rains to date has helped wonderfully.

Rains Friday night cover the west and east side of the county pretty well and no rain is needed in these parts. The middle portion of the county could use a rain to advantage at this time.

Brother of Chamberlain School Teacher Dies

Wayne Baker, aged 14, fatally wounded himself near Browder Springs six miles north of Memphis Tuesday morning. In company with three other boys, the lads were camping and started out on a jaunt when young Baker's target was accidentally discharged, the ball entering near the right eye and penetrating the brain.

Two lads carried him for more than a half mile while the other went to find a phone to secure a physician. The boy died before reaching Memphis. Funeral services will be held at Memphis Friday.

Wayne wore with honor a Scout badge of the first class and a medal for perfect Sunday school attendance over a period of three years. He was also the brother of Miss Betty Baker, popular school teacher of the Chamberlain school.

The Antro hotel is again under new management. Mr. and Mrs. J. Clyde Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Taylor have taken a lease on the hotel for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clyde Taylor have already taken charge and are this week renovating and making necessary changes that will mean more comfort for the guests and more convenience for the management.

They formerly operated the Desoto Hotel at Dalhart for four years, and the Hotel Tullia for a like period. J. M. Clayton will perform the duties of night clerk.

Within the next three weeks when he shall have reduced his stock, A. N. Wood will discontinue his grocery business in Clarendon where he has enjoyed a big trade for the past several years.

After the stock is reduced, S. W. Lowe will buy the remainder and it is understood that he will move his location to that now occupied by the Wood grocery.

Mr. Wood has not announced his future plans, but will continue to make his home in Clarendon.

Home Burns Early Tuesday Morning—Is Vacant

The three room home of Lester Day on East 4th street was discovered to be on fire about 2:30 Tuesday morning. The fire had gained too much headway before the alarm was turned in to save it.

The building had been vacant about a week before the fire occurred. Surrounding buildings were saved through the excellent service rendered by the fire boys who made a quick run when the alarm was turned in.

Local Lady's Butter Claims Wide Reputation

After making butter of the best grade for a number of years, Mrs. J. B. Turnbow began selling her butter in a paraffine wrapper a few years with her name printed on the wrapper.

Buyers of her butter were so well pleased that she readily found a market for her product and does this date. Her product is advertised in a grocery list this week as "Mrs. Turnbow's Best Butter" and it is all that is claimed for it. Her butter sells at a premium and is worth every cent of the cost price.

Mrs. B. D. Dawkins and daughter Joan left Tuesday for their home at De Queen, Ark. after a visit with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Dawkins.

Clarendon Women Attend Missionary Meeting

Quite a number of local ladies attended the zone meeting of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church at Claude Tuesday.

The list includes Mesdames Bourland, Trostle, Burton, Steagall, Ozier, Nathan Cox, Hurn, Gnom, B. C. Antrobus, Dave Johnson, Blanton, Shelton, O. T. Smith, Latson, Bowen, Dillard, Roach, Miss Susie Dillard and Miss Pauline Roach.

Trade Trippers Greeted By Big Crowd At Lelia Lake

Over Eighteen Dollars Made by 4-H Club Girls Sale Of Delicacies

The crowd greeting the Trade Trippers at Lelia Tuesday night was the largest so far this season. Lelia furnished the largest crowd last season. Elmer Palmer was master of ceremonies and did a good job of it.

Local talent showed a neighborly spirit and contributed much to the program in a musical way. If Lelia Lake has anything, it has musicians. Will Walling and W. C. Reeves came out strong with the violin music accompanied by Sam Roberts on the guitar.

Gus B. Stevenson, band director, offered a few specialty numbers. Mrs. G. L. Boykin acquitted herself nobly with violin solos accompanied on the piano by Miss Delphia Bones. The band played several numbers that started the crowd off in good humor.

Miss Eunice Johnson gave a reading meeting with the usual appreciation wherever her talents are enlisted. Loyd Stallings and Miss Mary Cooke each gave an exhibition of tap dancing and different places on the program.

G. L. Boykin explained the technicalities of the 4th of July celebration outlining the various events of the two-day period.

Homer Mulkey assumed the airs of a colonel in auctioning off a cake with an appearance that needed no recommendation to the bidder. In the final showdown, W. A. Armstrong bid in the cake at three dollars.

The 4-H club girls had charge of the sale of the cream, cake and other eatables bringing in over eighteen dollars to the treasury of these industrious young ladies.

Wild West Stuff For Rodeo Contracted From Local Men

All The Material Necessary For Roping, Riding And Milking is Assured

The Chamber of Commerce through the secretary, G. L. Boykin, closed a deal the past week assuring plenty of material for the rodeo stunts.

This material will be furnished by Fontayne Elmore of the Goldston community and C. H. Huff of McLean. It consists of sixty head of cattle and ten head of goats.

In the list of cattle, there will be a bunch of milkers for the milking race. Not guaranteed to be first-class dairy stuff at all, but the boys doing the milking will not be looking for that kind. Jerk it from her into a bottle and beat it back to the dead line.

Then there will be some big robust steers. The kind that can out buck Texas Bay or Chained Lightning and other famous buckers. The boys propose to ride 'em with nothing but a rope around the -- ah -- the steer's waist.

Roping: Sure there will be roping. Some of the stuff will have been practiced on several times and they darn sure learn to get their heads to the ground when the loop gets into the air. There will be a bunch of ropers worth while, and what's more, they'll get 'em.

Goats! If there is anything harder to rope than a hog, it is a goat. They soon learn to both dodge and stick their heads between their fore legs when the rope pops into the air. Anyhow, a bunch of the boys will stake their entrance fee that they can rope a goat and it will be done.

"It looks like a plum good rodeo in sight" was the opinion of a bow-legged brother who looked over the list in the Leader office Tuesday. You can always tell a roper and rider by the way he handles his legs. They are bowed from long years in the saddle until you can't tell whether he's goin' or comin'.

Fountain of Youth.

The nearest thing to a fountain of youth is a beauty parlor.

Decisions.

When better golf clubs are built, gamblers wont use them. Gamblers merely decide championships.

Failure.

Some folks appear to have been weaned on a pickle and spend their life time trying to hate others to death.

Family Racket Records.

In tracing the cause and history of family rackets, it has been discovered that the first one occurred in the Garden of Eden when Eve made a salad out of Adam's dress suit.

To the Rescue.

The latest help to come from the Farm Board is the announcement that with twenty cent wheat, enough farmers will go broke, become disgusted and quit the game, that there will be very few left to produce any crop at all next year.

Frozen Loans.

It is reported that a customer in conversation with a bank official in Dakota died from exposure. He contracted pneumonia without having said a word, within less than five minutes after the conversation was begun.

Governor Sterling.

Whatever may be claimed for the new governor, be it said to his credit that he knew enough to avoid a collision with his legislature. He worked with them in a manner that should beget the admiration of all Texans.

The state-wide bond issue is and has been for years his pet hobby. His legislative co-workers saw differently. They knew more about politics than he, but were not more sincere.

Chicago's Mayor.

Mayor Cermac of Chicago is no shrinking violet if anything when it comes to telling professional politicians and racketeers just where to get off. He formerly practiced law in the capitol of that state.

Despite the fact that he is of Bohemian birth, he has a son-in-law by the name of Marshall. He is also a fluent orator and speaks masterful American English. He is being given credit for chasing racketeers out of the United States Berlin, Germany claims to have inherited these self-same fellows and proposes to make quick work of them.

Vacation Time.

Happy days are here again! You tell the world! Gas at 11½ some places and 12 cents a gallon a whole lot of places, and good tires and oil being sold at the lowest prices in the history of autoing, means that most any one can take some kind of a trip.

These prices will enable a whole lot of folks to take a trip just when they thought it impossible.

Hotel rates are lower. Camp ground rates are lower. Food prices are lower if you want to camp out and have a real picnic. Camp equipment of all kinds is lower. Well, it just looks like a lot of trips will have to be made. Start now and beat the mother-in-law to it.

Politics.

Leave it to the United States Chamber of Commerce to straighten things out. The boys met in Atlantic City, New Jersey this month and between yacht races and fishing spears, decided that the tariff was just to darned high for any use, and too much of it scattered over and affecting too many articles of commerce.

Well, after they have resolved quite a bit, the status of the tariff remains the same. The wiser heads at the top end of the organization are content to wait until the Republican party pulls its vote getting stunt next year. They seem to think something must be done to fool the voters, and that thing may ease financial matters up a bit. Good work but it costs like the dickens.

Dedications.

General John A. Hulen, head of the Burlington system of railways, in a recent visit over the proposed route of the new Denver road from Childress to Pampa grew enthusiastic when he viewed so many cows, hogs and chickens in the territory through which his new road is to operate.

In time the road will be constructed. Work is to begin within the next few days. Then will come the dedicatory ceremonies when it is completed. It bodes well for the Panhandle. It is an omen of better transportation for marketing the products of one of the most resourceful sections of the state.

Before the completion or after, if some farmer should become progressive to the point of erecting a smokehouse, may we not suggest that the smokehouse be dedicated. A section of farming country, however resourceful, is better off with smokehouses. It should have as many smokehouses as garages.

Breaking Images.

The iconoclastic statements of Judge A. T. Cole before the Rotary club in this city Friday night are worthy of more than passing attention. Images of past and present conditions were shattered in his discussion of "criminology."

"Why are the children of christian parents often bad?" is the query shot at his audience in the course of his remarks. "True because it is not true" was the speaker's answer to his own question.

"Children of supposed christian parents are often bad because of the fact that the parents are not christian, but merely hypocrites, and their children are bad as a result of lying hypocrisy."

The speaker recognizes the fact that children have a keener percept for passing accurate judgment upon the merit of character than their elders. This is a fact that is often left out of the consideration that parents have for the welfare of their youngsters.

Hunting Trouble.

Except on the Isthmus to the south of us, this nation cannot rightfully be accused of hunting trouble in a religious dispute where no financial returns are involved.

Recently an Italian, who had taken out American citizenship, saw fit to meddle with Italian state affairs. He was shot in the back by a government firing squad. As an American, he had no business over there meddling in their affairs. As an Italian, he was a traitor to their nation for having become an American citizen.

In the disorder over the past ten days, Papal Count Edward Hearn in Rome has asked American Ambassador John W. Garrett to start a protest that would no doubt end in this nation becoming embroiled in a foreign religious war.

American citizens should not be interested in foreign troubles. This matter is purely domestic. If the Italians want to fall out and fight, that is their misfortune—not ours. They termed a pre-war treaty a "scrap of paper" and later refused to pay war debts to their newly aligned friends.

If America has any funds with which to prosecute a foreign war at this time, she should attend strictly to her own business and use the war funds in feeding her own hungry millions regardless of race, color or creed.

A Closing Chapter.

The birthday of Jefferson Davis Wednesday of this week is a reminder that the convention of Confederate Veterans at Montgomery, Alabama closing Friday of this week, will be their last.

The thinning gray lines prompts them to declare their 41st meeting the last. The Grim Reaper has played havoc with the South's greatest men the past ten years.

General L. W. Stephens, one of the few remaining generals of the Confederacy will have charge of the convention, having been elected commander-in-chief of the veterans at their reunion at Biloxi, Miss. last year. Music will be furnished by the U. S. Military Band.

With a comradeship unsurpassed in all the world's history, these venerable warriors will meet at the capitol of the Confederacy.

Meet where the redoubtable Jefferson Davis took the oath of office and where the Confederate congress met to decide the policies of the new republic.

Friday at Montgomery will be enacted one of the saddest and most pathetic scenes of the Southland. On that day grizzled veterans of the lost cause will have their last "good-byes" and feel the touch of comrade hands for the last time this side of the judgment bar of the Great Peacemaker.

Cold Facts.

T. E. Johnson in "Plain Speaking" in Sunday's Amarillo News says, "The Panhandle pays too little attention to politics for its own good. It permits the Legislature to cheat it out of its moral and legal rights and never raises a protest."

He is right. He goes on to say that protesting bodies of Panhandlers at Austin saved the day for land owners in West Texas last session in the fight led by Senator Clint C. Small. He calls attention to the gas tax episode in which a fair compromise was effected by the protest from a large number of Panhandlers that saved the gas industry.

In this regard we are often brought to wonder about the value of Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies that are supposed to guard our interests in the Panhandle. In some instances it is noted that leaders—one or more—in some of these civic bodies get busy to hush up a protest lest it "hurt business" or our reputation for being a peaceful bunch of people.

Just the past week Representative Clyde Warwick sent out a s. o. s. call for help to insure the safety of the museum appropriation for Canyon. Did any civic bodies get busy with a protest against a veto of the measure when it reached the Governor's office? None so far as we can ascertain.

If the people of the Panhandle are so narrow as to envy Canyon the museum building—a building that will benefit the entire section—then our case is hopeless the protests of friend Johnson notwithstanding.

Saving the World.

Our nation is generally given credit for "saving the democracy" of the world in the recent misunderstanding that cost millions of lives and no end of money.

At a meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce at Washington in which each of the so-called civilized nations had representation, all the foreign boys wanted this nation to lower tariffs and permit them to continue theirs which with the exception of England, are the highest ever known. Falling in this proposal, their next move was to ask this nation to cancel all war debts. Since our tariffs are as high as theirs, they claim to be unable to pay the war debt unless we permit them to skin us out of the money with which to do the job.

It must be remembered that our nation long ago cancelled all war debts of all nations owing us where such debts were made before the Armistice was signed. The present debts were made when money was borrowed to "rehabilitate" the war torn nations.

Each of the nations with the exception of Germany, spent the big end of the borrowed money getting ready for another war by building ships, airplanes, forts and manufacturing thousands of machine guns, etc.

Our loans up to date, and our share in the World War may have saved the world to democracy, but what have we really got to show for it?

We have with us today Salin of Russia; Mussolini of Italy; Kemal Pasha of Turkey; Horthy of Hungary; Pilsudski of Poland and like dictatorships and denials of democracy elsewhere.

Since we saved the world, there has been thirteen wars. Today three revolutions and a world-wide panic continue to hamper the peace and prosperity of the Globe.

GOVERNOR STERLING

Former Clarendonite Wins Honors in Rodeo

Jerome D. Humphrey, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Joe Humphrey of Clarendon, and who grew to manhood here, was among those to win honors at the American Legion rodeo meet at Brawley, California recently.

Jerome Humphrey with Jim Bain won second in the team roping contest. Humphrey took first place in the calf-tieing with Jim Bain second.

Humphrey has for many years had the position or job of managing a large cattle and fruit ranch near Brawley to which place he emigrated from Arizona after thoroughly learning the game.

No other institution doing business with the public is so dependent upon the general prosperity of the people as the bank serving that section.

Banking affairs are affected by moods of the people, the weather, insect pests and even hail storms.

That is the reason banks take so much interest in the personal suggestions offered customers through prosperity and trial. Bankers study conditions and means and methods of helping their customers more than any other one thing.

Temple of Truth
By the Apostle

And here is Shamrock trying to draw the Fourth of July crowd with a terrapin derby. They don't know what a blow out is. If they want to travel and see things, they can come over here the Fourth and see old Donley strut her stuff.

A. N. Wood is expected to sign up to become a star in the picture show. He will be disguised as a hippo in "Trader Horn." He made it real well in his tryout until he opened his mouth. Hippos don't chew tobacco, you know.

A fellow by the name of Gill, and whose given name is "Buster", claims to know a mechanic at Walters, Oklahoma who welded two cats tails together. This has been respectfully referred to the committee on public information and morals.

It must be a special kind of cats. Several local garage mechanics have been trying the stunt here this week and not a one could get it to hold. I mean no one was able to hold the cats while the welding stunt was going on. It is confidently believed that our mechanics are as good as any in Oklahoma, and they will do or die this week.

Only the folks with false teeth were able to bite the chili on that Mexico trip. It was made out of Mexican hairless rubber dogs. The Mayor didn't tell me that, but he thinks it and some one ought to get his opinion on the matter.

Preacher Ferrell mailed a shipment of horned toads to his brother in North Carolina recently. The box was labeled "Ferocious Biting Animals." Now his brother has asked him to make the trip to Carolina to release them from the box. The preacher will go up that way some time during June. In the meantime he has corrected the reflection that he has cast on harmless reptiles. They don't and won't bite.

Mrs. J. T. L. Warner called up to say they appreciated the paper and were glad of the change to a Thursday publication. A lot of folks have called in person or have visited at the office and said a lot of nice things about the paper. It takes these kind of things to make life worth while and we appreciate them all so much. We would be glad to return the favor any time.

Yes, and Mrs. H. J. Wardlow was in and we got to talking about ups and downs—mostly downs. She is responsible for eight. They look to her success as a cream station operator to supply them with their needs. Of course any one knows they help her all they can, but is the one woman whom the public holds responsible. She is the one to whom every one looks to pay bills.

It looks like a job for the Almighty. It looks like too big a job for a man much less a woman. Talk about starry crowns and all that—and there may be some—but heaven no doubt is filled up with mothers who have worked and saved to provide for dependent children and grandchildren.

They fill the column of "God's Whose Who." They are the uncrowned queens and the backbone of the nation. Mingled with their tears of disappointments one can hear angelic music and their very form takes on a hallowed reverence not the privilege of any other human being. They wait on you when sick, sing hymns when you die and place the last flowers on your grave. Yes, and they bring more comfort to the bereaved through their words and sympathy than any one else.

Associating with those who have felt the heart throbs of humanity softens one and makes one feel less bitter and hard against the distressing circumstances that have come to us so much the past year. A shrewd lawyer visited me recently. A veteran of many legal battles. The profession has not hardened him in the least. Rather, he has a keen sense of justice and a strong sympathy for the oppressed.

I know that he has defended the penniless without price time and again. When all other friends fail the victim, this man volunteers his services that justice may be done. He gives to the needy. His charity is measured only by his means. He gives till it hurts. He is honest, ethical and knows more about human nature than a dozen other men in the profession in the state. The world is richer that he lives. Did I know that he would suffer no humiliation, his name would be gladly given to the public.

Let's get away from these sadder things for a while and start a wrangle about which we can get some enjoyment and no one's feelings get hurt.

A certain banker in this town made a fine talk about cars and gasoline before a credit men's club. What he did to the auto industry and the gasoline trade was a plenty. It looked like cold facts and he meant it.

An auto distributor who happened to be present, at the meeting hung his head and felt like he had been ruining the country every time he sold a car. He went home down-hearted and whipped to a standstill.

Customers of the banker felt like after hearing that talk that they ought to go home and take an ax to the old family chariot and make kindling wood out of the blame thing.

The Apostle heard about the affair and wrote up a long piece and said the banker was dead right. Now what happens? Also!!!

That banker proceeds to buy one of the finest cars on the market. He could not have bought a more expensive car in town than the one he bought. It is a dandy and will give him and his family a lot of pleasure. How did it happen?

Anyway, the auto distributor has gone to selling more cars than ever. The Apostle tore up the article and she won't be printed. The customers are happy because they did not take the ax to the old family chariot. All is well once more and we are going right along just as we will be twenty years from now.

If there is anything that I know something about, it is family rackets. In an effort to see how far back they had been running, I traced back to the fig leaf days in the Garden of Eden.

Adam yells out! "Eve, what in thunder have you build a salad out of my new Sunday suit?" That was the beginning of the first family racket and they have been going at a steady clip ever since.

A local young man in attending the recent rail celebration in Moore county was unable to get a room for the night. Finally he found a man who told him that he could have a room, but explained that a woman was occupying the other half that was screened off.

Thirty minutes after retiring, the young man ran out wild-eyed and said: "That woman on the other side of the screen is dead. I knew it," said the undertaker, but how did you find it out?"

Fiddlers are foolin' around here a whole lot now. There will be some doin's when the boys put on their contest around the 4th of July. More are lining up and we want every man in Donley county and adjoining counties to get in on the prize money. He must be 40 years old before he can get his name on the list. Come on with your name.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rinin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It first decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware a substitute.

Rockdale Reporter.
The Reporter is published by John Esten Cook at Rockdale, way down in Milam county where they have a county agent for the whites and a colored agent for the other folks.

John Esten—he always signs both names—formerly published a paper in Clarendon. He left his "foot prints on the sands of time" here. We often hear our best people speak kindly of him many years after he turned his back on the sand storms and sought the mosquito belt as a better place in which to dispense his wares.

Is it possible that John Esten, the erudite dispenser of knowledge and honored member of the Fourth Estate, is becoming or senile? In his issue of last week space in his estimable sheet is given to a story about a "one-eyed catfish" taken from the San Gabriel river near Rockdale.

San Gabriel means St. Gabriel in Spanish. Since Gabriel has not yet seen fit to toot his own horn, John Esten is tooting the horn for his name sake. We don't doubt the story for a moment. In fact John Esten Cooke is a sticker for facts and old Milam county has simply bested anything the rest of the state has to offer in the fish line.

Albany News.
There is not now and never was another paper like the Albany News, owned and edited by Richard H. (Colonel Dick) McCarty. The paper itself is the breathing image of the man who is responsible for its issue.

One can read the paper and sense the mood of the writer. He inculcates into the blank pages joys and sorrows, congratulations and expressions of sympathy. He deals with the sublime and the beautiful, painting word pictures in nature's most joyous colors.

No man in Texas today is more attuned to the heart throbs of humanity than is Colonel Dick. No man has more genuine honest-to-God friends and admirers. No man has the ability to live in the lives of his people, and no man is more beloved by all newspaperdom than our old friend seventy four years young down in old Shackelford.

Wolf City Sun.
Published down in Hunt county by J. W. Gay and A. G. Kirby. Dandy good eight pager and one of the best run of editorials of any weekly in the state. They are usually written in a constructive mood in happy vein.

Speaking of being happy, how Messrs. Gay and Kirby can be happy in the "red bug" belt, no one can understand. Of course Mr. Gay is happy by name, nature and intent of record—just Gay all day long and night time too.

The paper is well gotten up, the make-up is first class and the ad patronage good considering Hunt county when they don't expect much except when the cotton is being marketed. Some time they will learn to diversify more, and both proprietors and merchants will prosper.

BAPTIST W. M. S. NOTES
 The Baptist W. M. S. met in a business meeting at the church Monday afternoon at 3:00. It was decided to have the meetings at 3:30 instead of 3:00 during the summer months.
 This coming Monday the West Circle will meet with Mrs. T. J. Mann, the Rex Ray with Mrs. Joe Goldston, the South and East at the church.

Panhandle Associational S. S. and B. Y. P. U. Convention
 The Panhandle Associational S. S. and B. Y. P. U. Convention met with the First Baptist Church of Clarendon in a social business meeting, Friday night May 29th.
 Members of the welcome committee met the guests at each entrance and conducted them to the rooms where the socials were held by departments, Beginners, Primaries, Juniors, Intermediates, and Senior-Adults. There the social committees led in a program of real fun. At 9:15, light refreshments were served to 223. Representatives were present from Lelia Lake, McKnight, Estelline, Memphis and Clarendon.
 By 9:30 all were in the auditorium for the business meeting. The nominating committees presented the names of Miss Jessie Cook, Lelia Lake, for president and Miss Ruth Thompson, Clarendon for secretary-treasurer, and they were elected. It was decided that these officers should serve only till the general meeting of the Association in the fall. Thus all the officers for the various organizations in the association would be elected at the same time.
 The attendance banner was won by McKnight. The basis for award now is the number of people present in the business meeting in proportion to the church membership in the church from which they come. This new method equalizes the chances of each church winning the banner.
 The next meeting of the convention will be at 2:00, Sunday, August 30th, at Estelline.

WIN ONE S. S. CLASS
 Mrs. J. T. Patman and Mrs. A. A. Mayes were joint hostesses in entertaining the members of the Win One Class at the home of Mrs. Patman Monday afternoon.

BLOW OUT FATAL ON GOOD ROAD

 TIRE blow-outs kill motorists driving under the most favorable conditions. They are especially dangerous, of course, when they occur in crowded traffic, on slippery pavements or when descending steep grades. Even when none of these conditions prevail, they are often fatal.
 Above is pictured the wreck of a car in which one man was killed and three others injured when a tire blow-out caused the car to turn over four times until it stopped in a ditch, near Spirit Lake, Minn.
 The road was perfectly level, there was plenty of traction on the hard dirt road-bed and no other cars were near—but, a man died when a tire blew out.
 "There is no such thing as too much safety," says William O'Neil, president of the General Tire and Rubber Company, which recently announced a blow-out proof tire.
 Reports received by the safety division of this company indicate that the above accident has been duplicated, in its essential features, hundreds of times throughout the country.

CHAPTER II

Part V

"I thought you were up to something, I noticed that you have been getting your traveling gear and harness together."

"Yes I must run over to Beaver Creek for a few supplies and more dogs. My dogs are old and will not stand the long trip that is ahead of us."

"But why must you take a long trip, the trapping season is not up."

"I am going to fulfill my promise to you. I am going to take you home."

"O I don't want - - - er I don't want you to leave me and make this long trip. I have been so much trouble to you already. It will be so lonesome without you."

"I will not be gone over four days on this trip as it is just a little over forty miles to the trading post. I must make this trip before we can make the trip to Dawson."

"Well if you must go, please hurry back, I will miss you so much, hurry back I will be waiting and watching for you."

Doris crossed the room and looked out across the white field of snow. I was walking up and down the floor like a caged animal. I knew well enough that she would be waiting for me to return from this trip, and I was also thinking about what I would find waiting for me when I returned from Dawson. I would not find her, with the smiles, the girlish laughter, the bright sparkling and twinkling eyes that flashed like tiny stars in the heavens high above, would be gone. Every thing would speak of her, yet she would not be here. Several times I started to throw myself at her feet and declare my love for her, but each time something would hold me back and I could not find courage to carry out my thought and ideas.

Finally I crossed the room and stood by her side and for several minutes we both gazed at the snow drifts that piled up here and there far away towards the flashing northern lights.

Taking her hand in mine I pressed it gently and whispered into her ear, "Little Girlie, may be gone in the morning, when you wake up I expect I will be on my way to the trading post, but I will hurry back to you."

I gave her hand a squeeze and turned and left the room. I could say no more. I knew that I would not be able to find sleep if I went to bed so I began to make preparation for an early start to Beaver Creek.

Shortly after mid-night, every thing was ready and the dogs waiting for the word to start. I stole softly into the room and crossed over to her bed and watched her for a moment. She was traveling through dreamland, now and then a smile would flit across her face, surely she was enjoying this refreshing sleep of the innocent. Hardly knowing what I was doing I stooped over and placed a kiss upon her brow. The next moment I was on my way to the door, I could feel a hot flush that had crossed my face and the cool air from across the snow did not cool that burning. In a moment I was ashamed of my actions and I felt like the whole world was watching and mocking me because I had stole a kiss from a sleeping damsel.

With a crack of the whip and a shout, the dogs started off down the trail, and I was on my way.

CHAPTER III

I guiding the sled at the geepole finally reached the top of the hill. Here I stopped to give my dogs a resting spell. By traveling day and night with but little rest, I had managed to cover nearly eighty miles in about sixty five hours. Twenty miles a day was about as good as one could expect to make at this season of the year when there was so much new fallen snow. I was in a hurry to reach home. She had said for me to 'hurry back' and I was spending the most of my time in hurrying. The hard strain was telling on my dogs. I knew that they could not hold out much longer, but we did not have very far to go now. At the foot of the hill, just a short distant away lay Scottie Creek and about three miles up this creek was my shanty. This hut was worth more to me now than ever before, inside that lonely cabin, was a girl that had said that she would be waiting and watching for me.

In that hut was a girl that had caused me to hit the white trail in the dead of winter, but I knew that I had some news that would make her happy, some news that would make her eyes sparkle like they had never sparkled for me before.

For ten minutes or more I let the dogs rest, then with a snap of the whip which broke the stillness of the night, the dogs tightened their harness, there was a snapping and the sled was broke loose again and we were on our way. The sled was soon moving faster, we were going down the hill now, the dogs seemed to know that we were nearing home, and they were anxious to reach their journeys end. At the end of an hour, a large dark object loomed up before us across the vast whiteness of snow and ice. Slowly the object began to shapen itself into the form of a building. We were nearly home.

I wanted to shout for joy, I knew that in a few moments I would be looking into the eyes that I love to see sparkle. I began to whistle a joyous little tune as I drove the dogs up the narrow path that led to the shed. I was beginning to wonder, as I was putting the dogs away, if I would be able to see her tonight. Would she be as pleased to see me as I was to see her?

Before I had finished my task in the shed, I had my questions answered. I could see a bright light burning and the glare from the fire told me that she was up and that she had rekindled the fire and that she was waiting. I almost ran up the path towards the door, I could not walk fast enough. I heard her voice, she was crying out a name, madly, hysterically, and it was my name.

Chevrolet Sales Reach Almost to Outer Ends of the Earth

Two Chevrolet agencies are maintained at almost opposite ends of the earth, one in the shadow of the north pole, the other in the distant region of the Antarctic.

Up in the sub-Arctic, 69 parallels of latitude remote from the equator, where daylight is hardly more than imaginary and the reindeer is still the chief means of transportation, A-S Anco sells Chevrolets, in Horstad, Norway. It is almost the outpost of civilization. Fewer than six hamlets are nearer than Horstad to the North Pole.

More than 8500 miles to the south, practically at the tip of South America, V. Camello operates the southernmost automobile dealership, at Porvenir, in what has been called the bleakest spot on the globe, the eternally gale-lashed island of Terra del Fuego. Porvenir rests on the 57th parallel of latitude and is practically within the Antarctic circle. With a single exception it is the most southerly town in the world. Camello operates another automobile agency across the stormy Straights of Magellan, at Magallanes, formerly Punta Arenas, famed in maritime tales and history and a veritable haven to sailors navigating the nearby seas, the stormiest known anywhere.

Thus, points out M. D. Douglas, general parts and service manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, the automobile has circled the earth with a band more than 8500 miles wide, and adds: "The automobile in a generation has penetrated and gone beyond the regions of the reindeer on the north and the llama on the south, the hardest beasts existing. It would be interesting to know how many cars operate in these remote sections. We would like to know their period of usefulness each year and something of the vicissitudes of automobile ownership and driving at the top and bottom of the globe."

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Rightly Dividing the Word of Truth."

These words are quoted from 11. Tim. 2:15. The revised version gives a different translation. The whole passage reads thus: Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed handling aright the word of truth." In the margin there is still a different rendering: "Holding a straight course in the word of truth." The meaning is clearly this: In order for the minister of the gospel to obtain God's approval and have no reason to be ashamed of his work, he must be most careful in expounding the Word to give the sense according to the mind of God. Discriminating or distinguishing things that differ and pointing out their true position is in the Word rendered, "dividing." Unless this is done, the reader or expounder becomes hopelessly confused.

A few points will be sufficient to illustrate this: 1. It is of first importance to get to know whether any given scriptures belongs to the covenant which God made with the Jews, or to us who live in the gospel age. 2. It is also important that we distinguish between those Scriptures which apply to God's faithful people and those that apply to the world. 3. It is also of great advantage to know whether any given Scripture was meant for particular persons, in special circumstances, or whether it is of general application.

In the reading of the Scriptures it is necessary to ask, Who Speaks The Bible is the word of God, but not all of its words are the words of God. In this book there are words of the devil, false prophets and sinners. In it may be found the opinions and decrees of men, as well as the counsel and commands of God. Again inquire, "To Whom Spoken?" Is the message to a patriarch, a Jew, an apostle, a Christian, or a sinner? Does it belong to you, or only to the one to whom it was especially addressed? A third question will be helpful, "Under What Dispensation?" Does the teaching belong to the patriarchal, Jewish or Christian age? Just as we study the literature of the world with reference to, and in the light of, the time in which it was written, so must we do in our meditation on the Book of books.

The fourth question is this: "What Purpose?" There is no pointless argument or message in the teaching of the word of God. Each writer or speaker had a definite purpose before him. We can scarcely hope to understand the Scriptures unless we know what the purpose was. The purpose makes the teaching plain. The application of these four questions in our study of the oracles of God will solve many problems, answer many questions, explain many difficulties, fathom many mysteries, and throw a flood of light upon every page of the inspired book.

At our Sunday morning service we will present a special "Children's Day" program. The children will have charge of the song service and will present several new numbers. The sermon for the occasion will be one of interest to all. "Rhoda, of the successful church." Using the method outline above, we hope to present a sermon on the important subject of "Heart-Felt Religion." We have heard much on the subject and now we want to see what the Bible has to say on this point. We will try to give you a lesson that you will appreciate and remember. Come worship with us.

Old-Fashioned "Ironing Day" Has Been Eliminated

The back-breaking, time-consuming agony of old-fashioned "ironing day"—made more intense by a frantic desire to get through—is but an unhappy memory to progressive Home-managers who have profited by the purchase of a modern and efficient Electric Ironer.

Comfortably seated before a table-height ironer, merely guiding the pieces through smooth-running rollers, these wise housewives complete their ironing in but one-third the time and with but a fraction of the work and nervous strain required by old-fashioned methods. Offering these important time and labor-saving advantages, don't you think a modern Fedelco Ironer a wise investment—especially when the finished work is far superior?

Ask a salesman to arrange a demonstration for you in your own home. The purchase price is unusually low, and operating costs amount to but a few pennies a week! Call him today!

Starting The Day Right

The good housewife using Kansas Cream flour is enabled to start the day off with a cheerful breakfast of hot, fluffy biscuits done to a nice strawberry brown.

The man of the house always appreciates hot biscuits for breakfast. Or perhaps crisp toast made from home made light bread that carries all the qualities of wholesome food when made from the Kansas Cream Flour.
