Relatives Help Celebrate Natal Day Venerable Citizen

Has Witnessed Development in Donley County Over a Period of 27 Years

Possibly the most interesting homecoming in years in this community was in the home of F. M. Robinson Sunday when his kin and near kin gathered to help him celebrate his 79th birthday. A bountiful feast was spread in plenty to appease the appetites of the sixty in number who came for the occasion.

Greetings consumed the morning hour, and following the dinner fit for a king, the afternoon was spent in reminiscences of former days and the renewal of friendships of long ago. The parting came at a late hour at which time the guests expressed a fervent wish that many such occasions are in the future for his host.

Colonel Robinson is a pioneer of Donley county having lived at his present home for twenty-seven years. He is held in high esteem and he and his good wife are valued as the most highly respected citizens of that community.

Those present were the three sons living, Roy of Clarendon, Thomas of Amarillo, Walter of Quitaque were present of the immediate relatives.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Pence White of Quitaque; Mr. and Mrs. L. Allent and family of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Pettet and children of McLean; Mr. Mathes and daughter of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Noid of Silvertown; J. L. Smith of Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Smith and children of Clarendon; Houston Allen and family of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hott and family of Chamberlain; Mrs. Alice Townsend of Clarendon; Mrs. Maggie Peterson and daughter Mary Alice of Clarendon; Mrs. Wilson of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Hogen and children of Amarillo; Mrs. D. Lakeview Ball Players Win Over Local Team

The fastest ball game of the season was played here Wednesday afternoon between the local team and Lakeview, the visitor winning by 6 to 2.

Gus Stevenson and C. Jackson pitched for the local team with Earnest Fitzgerald behind the bat. H. A. Blanton as short stop and Bennett as first baseman, showed up to good form.

Goldston Players Beat Antelope Flat Ten To Nothing

Will Meet Tullia's Players At Silvertown in Fast Go Next Sunday

After cleaning up on all the baseball teams in this section, Goldston tackled Antelope flat on their home ground Sunday afternoon.

Vodie Clemmons, aged 16, pitched all the innings for Goldston scoring a victory by ten to nothing. He struck ten out and allowed but two hits. Antelope Flat used four pitchers during the contest.

The game with Tullia next Sunday afternoon beginning at 2:30 will be the hottest contest of the season. The match was made by E. O. Hutton in an effort to show the plains fellows how a real ball game should be played.

Clemmons will be relieved in pitching a part of the time by Buck Parker in the go with Tullia. Goldston has played ten games this season losing one game only. Lella tripped them but got licked on a return game. Baseball fans from over this section will be ready to accompany Donley's best team regardless of location. There will be plenty of excitement and backing for the home bunch.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans made a business trip to Gainesville the last of the week.

Rain Monday Nite Covers Practically All West Texas

Three Children Are Drowned In Cloud Burst On Kemp Creek Near Quitaque

Rains Monday night covered West Texas and the Panhandle with little damage reports. The amounts varied from a half inch in a few places to ten inches near Quitaque where three children were drowned.

The only damage reported was in the area covering the Sam Lowe farm south of Chamberlain where the rain assumed the proportions of a cloudburst washing and covering up crops necessitating replanting.

The rain in Clarendon gauged seven-tenths of an inch. The soil was dry and most of the moisture falling was taken up.

A cloud burst on Kemp creek near Quitaque resulted in the drowning of Reon, aged 9, Kelsey, 13, and Cleone, aged 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fuston. The mother was at home alone with the children and the home was caught in a wall of water at it came down Kemp Creek.

The father and another son were in Turkey when the rain came which prevented their returning home until the next morning. The mother spent several hours in a tree to escape the high waters, being rescued Tuesday morning.

A number of other families lost their homes, feed and live stock. It is estimated that some seventy thousand acres of crops will have to be replanted. Appeals have been made for aid to the Red Cross. Most of the damage occurred in Briscoe county.

Those visiting the flooded area reporting here Wednesday state that more than two miles of the railroad was washed away and thousands of acres of farm land washed off as deep as it had been plowed.

Since this is the only time that all of the club members may get together for the annual meet and lunch period for the year, Miss Buttrill urges that all members be present at this gathering.

Miss Sara Thompson, who is a music teacher in the Fort Worth Public Schools, returned Friday to spend the vacation at home.

Big Crowd Enjoys Martin Trade Trippers Program Tuesday

4-H Club Enriches Treasury $25.85 in Sale of Cream And Other Dainties

The cake auction at the trade trip gathering at Martin Tuesday night created no little enthusiasm. W. C. Stewart bid the cake at $8.25. He then gave it to the 4-H club when it was again knocked down to Holman Kennedy for $2.

The sale of cream and cake totaled $15.60 making a grand total of $25.85. This beats the record on this score on any such occasion this season.

The Clarendon band was present with a number of popular airs that always please.

W. H. Patrick was speaker of the evening. Local talent also contributed to the program, the singing of Miss Kittle Ruth Bailey being an especially pleasing number.

Other numbers were a trombone solo by Charles Walker accompanied by Miss Delphia Bones. Miss Ruth Price gave a reading. Miss Helen Bailey accompanied her sister Kittle Ruth, when she sang two numbers.

Rotarians Hear Mayor Relate Mexican Trip Incidents

Details of Habits, Customs And Sights of Ancient Buildings Related

As chief entertainer for the luncheon hour of the Rotary club at Hotel Clarendon Friday noon, Mayor Cagle was in his best humor relating incidents of his Globe-News trip from the time the party left Amarillo until they returned.

His talk was pretty much along the line of the interview published in the Leader immediately upon his return. It was generally agreed that he was a good tripper by having seen and heard everything worth while on the rounds.

Rotarian W. R. Cabness of the Memphis club was up to make up his attendance and addressed the members on interesting topics. Rotarian Carl Throop of the same Club was also in attendance but prefers to do most of his talking over the "phone" rather than orate directly.

Rotarian T. L. Lewis, dentist of Memphis and a leading member of that Club, made a fine talk bringing up a number of good subjects for future discussion.

Fred Russell, he of butcher shop and meat market fame, was present as a special guest. Fred being better versed in meats than oratory, limited his remarks to an expression of thanks for the privilege of meeting with the Club.

The one regrettable incident of this meeting was the fact that Rotarian Ferrell was so busy getting ready for his North Carolina trip that he forgot all about the meeting and missed it entirely, the first in his experience.

Beatrice Drew O'Neal is spending the week with her brother, C. D. Drew and Mrs. Drew of Pampa. She will return to her home here the latter part of the week.

Miss Dorothy McCanne Has Returned to Clarendon

After spending some time in Europe where she attended school in France last year, Miss Dorothy McCanne returned with her mother and sisters to the States. She matriculated in Goucher College at Baltimore where she attended school the past term.

It will be recalled that this young lady received $500 as a prize recently for having written the best thesis on chemistry, in a contest open to students of the entire United States.

She arrived in Clarendon Sunday evening and will spend her vacation here with her mother, Mrs. Charlotte McCanne and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Ozier spent Sunday in Amarillo with their daughter and husband.

Student Award Is Received By Teacher Clarendon Schools

Makes Highest Average Over All Students in College For This Term

Friends of Mrs. Brice M. Kennedy will be pleased to know that she has been awarded the faculty member scholarship award of $100 of the West Texas State Teachers College for the year 1931.

Mrs. Kennedy made 18 A's during the regular session closing this month. This means that she took six subjects each quarter and made an "A" in every subject she took during the year.

Not only is her average the highest for this term just closing, but it is as high as any average ever made by any student during the history of the school.

Mrs. Kennedy was a popular member of the faculty of the Clarendon schools beginning with the terms of 1929 and '30. She will continue her work in the Canyon school through the summer, and possibly the coming winter.

George Stocking to Study European Conditions

Mr. and Mrs. George Stocking and two sons visited his mother, Mrs. J. D. Stocking and other relatives here the past week on their way to New York City.

Mr. Stocking, member of the faculty of the State University, is on a year's leave of absence. Mrs. Stocking and the boys will visit in New York while Mr. Stocking continues to Europe where he will make a survey of economic conditions. His itinerary includes visits to Paris, Berlin, Warsaw, Prague, Budapest, Vienna, and a number of other larger cities of those nations.

He will also be present at the meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva this fall. After a year or more in Europe, he will return to make a study of conditions in Old Mexico. He will return to New York about September 21st.

Ed Wheeler Has Threshed His Turnip Crop

He means just that. His turnips sowed last fall went through the winter in good shape. They put out tops early and seed stems shot up in February.

When the blizzard hit that turnip patch March 4th, the plants were in blossom. "It looked like my turnip seed crop was ruined," said Wheeler Tuesday when in to pay his respects to the Leader force.

Soon after the freeze, the turnips again stemmed up and made a bumper seed crop. Mr. Wheeler threshed out seventeen pounds of seed last week. A few years ago he marketed near a hundred pound of okra seed in Clarendon and Memphis.

He has a planting of sugar beets this year in which he is taking special pains to grow a beet that will beat the one grown by Film E. Caraway here in town last year, or any he may grow this year, he says. Besides the crop makes good cow feed.

Brice Will Entertain Our Trade Trippers Friday

Due to the fact that a program has not been completed, we are unable to announce it in full at this time, but the evening will be filled with pleasure and interest at Brice Friday when the Trade Trippers visit there.

The Band under the direction of Gus B. Stevenson will be on hand. Other numbers will be supplied and local talent of which they have a plenty, will also appear on the program.

A large crowd is expected to go from Clarendon for this gathering. Brice entertained in a fine manner last summer and will attempt to beat the record this year.

T. C. Gardner Will Speak At Baptist Church

T. C. Gardner, State B. Y. P. U. Secretary will speak at the Baptist church Sunday morning, at the eleven o'clock hour. Mr. Gardner is recognized as the leader of B. Y. P. U. work not only in Texas but in the South. From his creative brain have come some of the most outstanding new ideas that have contributed to the rapid advancement of the Training Service.

Dick Bell is recuperating at the Judge Cole home after having been injured by a horse a few days ago.

Cup Is Awarded Clarendon District Epworth League

Much Credit is Given The District Secretary For Excellent Work Done

Joe Everett of Hedley, Texas and James Smith and Phifer Estlack of this city, have returned from Abilene where they have been attending the Epworth League Conference held at McMurry College for the past week.

The assembly opened Monday, May 1, which was the day set aside for the registration of the delegates, and lasted throughout the afternoon.

Beginning Tuesday morning, the classes were started at 8:15 and ended at 12:15, thus leaving the delegates free for the afternoon. With the exception of the committee meetings, the recreation period was the only thing held in the afternoon.

At 7:30 each evening, Vesper Services were held on the lawn of the campus of McMurry, after which Platform was held in the auditorium of the school. Many prominent speakers such as Rev. J. E. Shewbert, Jr., of Abilene, Miss Ina C. Brown of Nashville, Tenn., and Rev. C. A. Bickley of Lubbock, Texas were heard during the Platform hours.

Somewhere between 250 and 300 delegates were enrolled in this assembly, and as many as 500 units were issued. During the recreational periods, sports such as baseball, swimming, kodaking, and tennis were enjoyed by the delegates. Probably the most enjoyable event of the recreational periods was the picnic held at Buffalo Gap on Thursday afternoon.

At the closing program of the Assembly on Friday evening, the Loving Cup was again awarded to the Clarendon District. To the disappointment of the other eight districts of the Northwest Texas Epworth League Assembly, and to the joy of the Clarendon District, Mr. Harlan Hugg, of Shamrock, District Secretary, received the cup for the District.

Goldston School Closed Seven Month Term Wednesday

Most Successful Session Has Met With Approval; Same Faculty Next Year

The most successful term of the Goldston school closed Wednesday. More medals were awarded in Interscholastic League contest than ever before. Patrons, teachers and pupils have practiced a closer cooperation.

A play, "A Wild Flower of the Hill", was presented by the pupils of Mr. Gatewood's room Saturday night to a packed auditorium. Rehearsals by pupils interested in pleasing the friends of the school made the play a success from every standpoint.

The pupils of rooms in charge of Mrs. Gatewood, Miss Noble and Miss Maness, presented the final play for the term Tuesday night. These pupils showed careful training and exhibited skill in the parts taken that reflected credit upon themselves and their teachers.

Patrons of the school consider themselves fortunate that the same faculty members have accepted positions in the school for the next term. Goldston has won an enviable reputation in school affairs because of the united interest taken by the citizens of that community.

Yes, Where is It?

It is heartening to learn in these times of economic stress that 86 cents has an equivalent purchasing power of a full dollar a year ago. But who in thunder has the 86 cents?

Zoological.

The small town merchant who said he did not need to advertise when times were good, now claims that he cannot afford it. He also belongs to that class of small merchants that are passing out of the picture and we often wonder how he staid as long as he did.

Compensation.

A woman employee of a Dayton biscuit factory was seized by a male employee and hugged until a rib cracked.

The State Industrial Commission granted her compensation, ruling that the hug was one of the "hazards" of her employment.

What a Life!

Dr. Helen Lee Bossieux of Richmond, Virginia had her husband arrested for desertion when she found out he was not killed in a hurricane as was supposed. He left two hours before the hurricane struck in 1926 and was jailed one hour after his wife "struck" in 1931.

Can Canners Can?

You tell the world they can can in Donley county. Already evidences of supplying the home larder are in evidence. Early vegetables are being canned in dozens of homes. The variety of canned foods already put up covers a wide range from poke root to bull yearlings and the season has just started.

Lamesa's Publicity.

In order to attract attention, the enthusiastic publicity agents of Lamesa call attention to the fact that they have "treed" a reptilian animal that is neither.

It is said to resemble both a fish and an animal. It has been classified as an Eumeces Obsoletus Sonoro Sking. They are better known as plain "water dogs" over that section where publicity is not craved.

Changed Routes.

When Governor Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma started to California recently, he came through Texas paying his respects to Amarillo. He took particular pride in displaying a neat garb of cotton including a spotless suit with an "ensemble" replete.

On account of the disheveled appearance of this garb on his return trip, he is said to have been forced to avoid Texas, detouring by way of Denver.

Fair Coliseum.

Panhandle enthusiasts propose to erect a giant coliseum at the Tri-State fair grounds at Amarillo. The expense of building is largely to be gotten out of the sale of fair tickets to be paid in advance. In fact these tickets are already finding ready purchasers.

The proposed building will be the largest of its kind in the entire southwest when completed. It is planned to have the building ready for use by opening day of the Tri-State fair this fall.

Serving—Saving.

"Serve the farmer instead of save him" was the slogan of the bankers in convention at Amarillo this week.

We infer that the "saving" process is often expensive. "Serving" may be limited or discontinued at will. In serving, servants also belong to that class expecting prompt payments for services rendered.

After all is said and done, it will be the farmers "served" who will "save" the bankers in the final windup.

Hitting in High.

Farmers of this section are running in high hitting on all six since the generous rains over the week. The first general rain for some weeks fell Monday night. It came at a time when all the crop plantings were up and most of them worked out for the first time. No hail damage. Just a nice gentle rain that soaked right in. Crops never looked better and never before has the stand been so uniform. It looks like the folks will be able to live at home another year.

Voting Bonds.

As a "suggestion," instead of voting state bonds of two hundred and fifty million to use in building roads, why not vote them, pay off all our personal debts, buy each one a new car and then declare the bonds void?

There's a suggestion that a $10 a day Legislature never dreamed about. It is the only thing to do and risk a chance of pleasing every one. It might also be well to further suggest that all those not voting for this arrangement, be lined up and shot.

Accusations.

Leading Democrats of Texas are accusing Republican strategists of attempting to hoist Al Smith upon them by giving him a great deal of publicity in the dailies. On the other hand, Republicans of the north take pride in claiming that the Pope's encyclical embodied recommendations to the laboring class thoroughly in keeping with their views.

It might be left to Jim Ferguson to untangle this mess in which enthusiastic politicians have become enmeshed. When it comes to separating religion from politics, Farmer Jim was and no doubt is, a past master.

Personal Operations.

Miss Jo Cummins, nurse in the hospital at Teague who removed her own appendix recently, has possibly started a new fad unthoughtfully. More especially since her personal operation was a success.

Caution and some semblance of judgment should be used in a case of this kind. It will be noted that she was in a hospital. Not only that, she was surrounded by a bevy, flock or herd of surgeons.

It might be possible to get reduced rates since the surgeon's expenditure of energy is purely optical and not muscular. He is also more apt to register 100 percent of success under this new rule.

We had been under the impression that the name of the surgeon and hospital as well as the scar had much to do with the social advancement of one who sought popularity along this route. But what will happen to those who "enjoy ill health" under the new regime?

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Christian Unity."

Why should all the disciples of Christ be united in one body? Chiefly because Christ Jesus desired and prayed for it, (John 17). This should be, to all who love the Lord, an all sufficient reason in itself. But other reasons are given in the Scriptures, which deserve devout attention. It is the teaching of the New Testament throughout. It is impossible to read the New Testament without seeing this tendency. The loving unity of the church is the potent force in winning the world to Christ. A divided church is the greatest hindrance to the conversion of mankind.

What is the nature of this unity? It is the oneness of mind and judgement (1Cor.1:10); of doctrine (1Cor.1:10); of heart and of soul (Acts 4:32). It is undivided fellowship in Christ.

"Names of sects and parties fall, and Jesus Christ is all in all." "What is the basis of this unity?" It is the divine basis which the Holy Spirit of God has defined and declared. No human basis, however plausible, is permissible. This basis is found in Eph.4:1-6. "The unity of the Spirit;" that is, the unity which the holy Spirit has declared is made up of seven units—the perfect number. This unity is perfect. We may use this homely illustration of a carriage wheel, with seven sections. All of the sections together make a perfect circle—a perfect wheel. Remove any one of them and the wheel is destroyed, the perfect circle is broken. The wheel is bound and kept intact by a strong iron band. Remove the band and the wheel soon falls to pieces. So is the unity of the Spirit. It is perfect. It has seven parts. "One body, one Spirit, one hope, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father." The seven sections are perfectly joined together, forming a complete circle. They are kept together by the bond of love. Remove any one section and the circle is broken. Remove the band of love and the whole falls to pieces. Kept intact, it works harmoniously, smoothly, and accomplishes the divine purpose.

Let all believers pledge themselves to hold fast to the unity of the Spirit as set in Eph.4:3, and follow the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the inspired writings of the New Testament in His exposition of the seven fundamental units, and nothing will stand in the way of their fellowship and unity.

LONELINESS INSURANCE

(An Editorial from The Rotarian Magazine)

We can buy insurance policies to protect ourselves against loss by fire, theft, tornado and most other causes of human distress, but money will not buy an escape from that most poignant of all miseries, a lonely old age. Friendship is the one and only insurance in the world against the tragedy of loneliness.

Loneliness is terrible. If you want to see how terrible loneliness can be, walk down a forgotten city street and look into the swimming eyes of the gray old men as they go from door to door seeking employment. Visit a dowdy park at twilight or any of the rendezvous of desolate men whose feet have slipped. If you think they aren't lonely, win their confidence with a good cigar and talk to them of "home."

Wise old Sam Johnson was never wiser than when he told Boswell: "If a man does not make new acquaintances as he passes through life he will soon find himself alone. A man should keep his friendships in constant repair."

Napoleon did not follow Johnson's advice. The secret of his life is not in his utterances or great occasions nor in his studied letters. It is found in a chance remark, made when for a moment his cloak of glamor slipped from him.

"After all," he said, "I care only for people who are useful to me, and so long as they are useful." And again, "I have made courtiers,

I have never pretended to make friends."

If Napoleon had so cared, he might have made many friends and had he kept his friendships in repair he would not have died in a crazy old shanty, alone.

One does not purchase devotion except with the stuff of fellowship—that extra word of appreciation, a visit to the hospital, the assurance of loyalty when the horizon is overcast.

It pays to keep friendships in repair. And the only way ever discovered to have a friend is to be one.

THE GARDEN CURE

(An Editorial from The Rotarian Magazine)

Rotarians at Muncie, Indiana, are lending a hand to a project which, though it will not solve the unemployment problem of that community, will, nevertheless, keep some of the idle hands busy and later will ease the pantry problem in several indigent homes.

Five hundred vacant lots, provided by the local real estate board, have been turned over to needy families for gardening. Seed, fertilizer and expert instruction were furnished through a public-spirited woman, who believes in matching her good wishes with dollars.

A local industry was persuaded to lend a forty-acre tract for a community garden. Here may labor the unemployed men of the city, with an allowance of fifty cents an hour, payable in food or fuel through the social-service bureau. Food produced will be stored for later distribution to needy families.

This is not a panacea for unemployment ills of Muncie. But it doubtless helps.

Mrs. E. A. Sloan returned home Tuesday after spending several days on the ranch with Mrs. Monica Harvey south of Alanreed.

Mrs. E. R. Tatum and Miss Frances and Benton Tatum of Wichita Falls, spent the past week visiting relatives and friends in Clarendon.

Miss Loraine Patrick returned home Sunday after a delightful visit with friends at Sayre, Okla.

Sam and Billie Calloway of Ft. Worth are visiting their cousin, Bobbie Boston and other relatives here this week.

Miss Verna Latson, student of Tech at Lubbock the past winter, returned home for the summer vacation period Friday.

Lessons In Finance

Conditions affecting us the past several months has taught us many things. We have learned to work more, save more and to think more about things worth while.

We are learning more about buying. We are becoming better judges of values in food, clothing, machinery, stock and numerous other things.

When we shall have lived through to the starting of another upgrade of prices, may we carry these lessons with us to a more prosperous era and escape the difficulties of the next depression. We have had them, have one now, and will have more in the future.

Temple of Truth
By the Apostle

Migosh! There is a lot of difference in people. During the same day recently, one woman came in and thanked me for the nice things I had said about some of her family, another told me I was making a big mistake saying nice things about any one.

At any rate, these two women do not think alike. And the old fossilized Apostle will go right on doing as he pleases about it so long as he can say good things about folks.

I've been telling the good woman for some time something was going with our children. Here I found out that another one of the boys was married. Never said anything about it and I never knew it until we mssed him on the count at roll call.

If any one wants to shower any one over this last affair, let it be the old Apostle himself—he has suffered most. As a suggestion, it could be corn salve, poke salad material or chigger remedies for a vacation trip that may happen along in the summer.

The Apostle is more interested in other troubles.

The Apostle and the good woman went out looking for cow pasture late Sunday afternoon. We thought times were so hard that we would be finding all the folks at home and visit as we went.

We passed five houses and not a soul in sight. We stopped at fourteen places and found one family at home. That fellow was best able to be out with his folks burning joy juice, but for some reason he elected to stay at home. Must have had some breechy cows—or perhaps he is saving for a summer trip. Hard times? No sir!

Wellington bank is requiring the chuck money borrowers to deposit their auto casings at the bank, visiting there Saturday, we saw a large warehouse filled with casings of all sizes.

Coming west to Buck Creek, we hailed a model G tin lizzie with 18 abroad to enquire the way to Quail Curiosity got the best of the good woman who kept nudging me to ask why so many men, women and children were stacked up in a decrepid old chariot.

Well, just to please her I asked where they had started. "This is the only car shod all round in our neighborhood", he said, "and we all use it to haul auto casings into the bank, do our visiting, fishing and tourist trips."

He went on to say that every neighborhood had a "community car" and that a man operating a 1929 Chevy equipped with puncture proof tubes and fairly good casings was ignored by the common herd as a millionaire.

Some of the folk over there are trading their milk cows for burros that will carry "6 on" and I predict that August will see big shipments of these dumb animals direct from old Mexico where they are trained to carry as high as "20 on" without spilling.

The Apostle has taken out more life insurance. George Bagby rung me down for a $2500 policy. It looks like if these family rackets are to keep up, and any one gets killed, it will be the old Apostle. It takes life insurance to keep from getting killed.

Speaking of insurance, you can buy all forms of protection against calamities except one—lonliness. There is no greater calamity in life than lonliness, and more especially in old age.

Speaking of lonliness, there was was a time when fishing was good down on Cow Skin river in Arkansas. I used to fish with a rope tied to a jug for a float. The hook weighed a half pound. Durn me, we went after the biguns back there One morning I went down to see about my jug affair and what do you think I found?

A muskrat had chewed the rope off the jug, was perched out on a limb roping turtles as they swam under the limb. He caught several while I was watching him. In fact he was putting on a turtle rodeo.

Speaking of fishing, the best fishing I ever did was goose fishing. Did you ever goose a fish?

Well I tied a fish line to each of the feet of the goose and started her out. I selected a goose because they are dumber than a gander and I never saw an intelligent person of any kind who was a good fisher.

This goose had been trained to honk shorts and longs like we ring a phone on a rural system.

If a perch got on a hook, she would honk a short like this - If a sucker got on, she ate it up—that's how she collected her pay. If a catfish got on she stretched her head and honked out ---. A bass called for three loud honks.

All went well until hearing a pitiful squaking early one morning. The old girl had hooked a large turtle. He was swimming down stream dragging her off. On the turtle's back was a dozen bullfrogs squaking like a band armed with saxes and trombones.

The whole mess was headed for the turtle rodeo on Cow Skin and I never heard of them any more.

(That's why I moved to a farm.)

Well, well. Had an attack of ancestors the past week. A bunch of cousins arrived and we went over to Wellington and pestered more cousins. Had a great time eating, gossiping and listening to the women folks. Three talked at the same time in order to keep the men folks tangled up to where nothing could be repeated.

Mrs. Olive Curley of Bridgeport, Mrs. Callie Wooten of Shamrock and the good woman and I went to Mrs. Belle Sorter's over on the Oklahoma line after picking up Dan Miller near Wellington. All cousins, had a great visit and this annual affair is always looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure.

Times surely do change. People change with the times. A prominent citizen speaking of his mother years ago said:

"All that I am today, I owe to my mother. She was a dear, home loving woman whose sole interest was her family. She was the mother of eleven children and not a one knew what it meant to be without her loving care. She made all our clothing, did all her housework, helped with the chores and worked in the field. She was a devout church member but had little time outside her home duties."

"Yes", said Curley Cootz, while seated in a beauty parlor, "I remember my mother quite clearly. I was her only child and used to see her at the athletic meets. As a girl she was captain of the basketball crew and organized the first bridge club in our town that got the preacher fired."

"When I was an infant she had taken to swimming and boat races as a side line. She won three cups in one season despite the fact that she took time to visit my father once at the busiest season."

"She got to be state champion in tennis and was a wonderful golf champion. I seldom saw her of course, but my father often spoke of her. He would often watch her perform at water carnivals and she never failed to waive at him when not too busy."

"After I grew up, I saw much of her and we became fast friends. She had given up athletics and had gone in for politics. We often stood side by side with wine glasses raised drinking toasts to leading politicians at conventions."

"My mother held a number of offices in our town and was finally elected to the Legislature where she became floor leader. We seldom saw her after that though I remember her quite well. Yes, sir, all that I am today I owe to my mother, but the next question is, what in the h--- am I anyhow?"

The fellow who is satisfied is rich regardless of how much money he has or how many people he owes, but I am not satisfied. But this is all for this week.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Repeat a substitute.

McLean News.

T. A. Landers is the man responsible for the copy that enters the News. He is practical and plain spoken. His readers never have to wonder what stand will be taken by the News on questions affecting the morals or well-being of his people.

He is somewhat of a crusader. The News reflects a man of strong moral character. One can readily sense family ties and family pride from the character of subject matter entering the paper.

As a builder in his home town, T. A. ranks among the foremost. He has a message worth while every week, is held in high esteem by the better element, and is giving his town a real weekly newspaper.

Wellington Leader.

Though comparatively young, Deskin Wells has a wonderful fund of information that stands him in good stead in publishing one of the best papers of the state in the weekly class.

Facetious, brilliant, a fighter for a square deal and a pleasing personality has won for him a respected position of leadership in his community. "Deck" Wells is a good fellow at press conventions taking an active part in the programs and an active interest in matters that mean for progress in the newspaper field.

In his home town, his people can and do depend upon him to assume more than his share of the burdens of building a better place in which to live. His training, natural disposition and serene home life has entitled him to a place among the stars of the profession of the state.

Dalhart Texan.

The destiny of this publication is in the hands of one John McCarty. John's financial ability might class him as a Jew, but John's blarney as a welcome sign on his "front door" and the name he bears, easily recognizes him as a member of the big-hearted fighting fellows of a well-known tribe.

John is a "country boy come to town." Growing up on the south plains, this country lad had a yearning to learn something of the bright lights on Main street, pink soda pop and boarding house menus.

He liked the town life and staid. He brought with him honesty, robust health and a strong penchant to "find out what it was all about." It is said that John liked printer's ink so well that he used it for shoe polish that he might continually enjoy the entrancing odor from which so many find escape impossible.

The Texan is one of the modern weeklies of the better class taking first rank. "Mack", as he is affectionally known to his many friends, gives the boys working with him the big end of the credit for getting out a real weekly newspaper that is making good in the heart of the Panhandle. He is just that fair.

Mack and the good woman and the two little kiddies moved into their new home Monday of this week. It is theirs to enjoy. Could one visit this shrine of happiness and see the three sources of inspiration from which John has to draw, one could better estimate the amount of success that is bound to come to the big country boy who came to town a few years ago looking for an outlet for enthusiastic talent and who found it.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

What is the effect of modern Ultra Violet Rays upon tobacco? Dr. E. E. Free, one of America's well-known scientists, who was retained by us to study Lucky Strike's manufacturing process, addressing the Illuminating Engineering Society, said:

"The essential effect of the Ultra Violet is the production of better tobacco and of cigarettes regarded by virtually all smokers who have tested them as milder and with a lesser tendency to cause throat irritation."

Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette that employs Ultra Violet Rays in connection with its exclusive "TOASTING" Process—the only cigarette that brings you the benefits of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos.

FUNDS FOR HOMES SUPPLIED BY BANKS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON
President American Bankers Association

A LARGE portion of the funds required in home building at ways has been furnished by banks.

They have shown constantly a deep interest in the performance of this feature of national development. Upon it rests much of our country's future stability, and any contribution to its advancement redounds to the advantage of all. So banking has never lessened its co-operative attitude toward home building.

Practically all banks now accept savings deposits which can well be turned to the advantage of the home builders. The construction of individual dwellings requires a large amount of financing and is a thoroughly commendable enterprise. Necessarily, the aid given to home builders is governed by the sound banking rules which have grown out of the years of experience and constant studies.

All of the efforts made to secure broader real estate loan privileges, to adjust resources to make it possible to lend larger sums for longer terms, the standardization of mortgage loan formulas, and the actual lending of vast sums on mortgage notes evidence the desire of banks to contribute a full measure of support of the home-building movement. This is true of all classes of banks, but even in a more marked degree of those whose deposits are largely in the form of savings.

Both Sides Protected
The process through which bank loans are made on real estate is as simple as the nature of such an important transaction will permit. When money is advanced the lender must know that repayment will be made the specified time. Likewise the borrower wants to be assured that, after he has figured the loan on the basis of his conservatively anticipated ability to pay, he will not be required to do more, that he will not be disturbed in his efforts to work out of his obligations under those terms.

There is no mystery about any of the details, and when the negotiations are complete the borrower knows just what he may expect and what he will be required to do to meet his obligations. Loans made to persons who wish to acquire homes are not necessarily building loans. One may wish to purchase a home already constructed. In this form of transaction bank loans are used very freely because it is the only kind of a real estate loan some classes of banks may make. Others, of course, may lend upon real estate with improvements uncompleted and advance funds as the construction progresses. Different styles in home financing have developed in the various states, and banks have adapted their facilities to all needs.

Among banks and borrowers for home acquisition purposes a long established and thoroughly tested relationship exists. Banks are not the only agencies through which such funds are available; they do not embody all the spirit of helpfulness which abounds. However, through the years of their co-operation their aid has been of unquestioned value to the home builders whose efforts to establish a permanence for themselves have received constant encouragement. Bankers everywhere are ready to counsel with their customers about their home-building plans and to assist to the extent of their ability. This is being done constantly and the many advantages of it are not without recognition.

Farm Service by a Bank
A farm service department was inaugurated a year ago by a bank in Olympia, Washington, and a farm advisor appointed. Close cooperation has been maintained with the state college extension service. Work in dairying is carried on in conjunction with the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Also a pasture contest was held in cooperation with the four banks in the county which offered prizes amounting to $100. Work in poultry was carried on in cooperation with the Co-operative Poultry Association and assistance was given in organizing an economic conference for the benefit of berry growers. The farm advisor of the bank is active in the Agricultural Council of the county composed of farm and other organizations interested in agricultural development, and also in the Farmers' Market. Six hundred farm business analysis blanks were distributed while farm account books and poultry record books were also provided to farmers and have been helpful in starting many farmers in keeping business records.

Simple, Old-Time Diet Best for Health, Energy and Pocketbook, Uncle Sam's Experts Announce

Bread and meat are good to eat. Potatoes are not bad. But bread and milk is the best food for any lass or lad.

This old-time rhyme, extolling the merits of the simple diet, is no less true today, according to Uncle Sam's food experts, than it was two generations ago when it was first coined. And even prior to that, for countless centuries, these two food fundamentals had been the mainstay of nutrition for the more hardy and healthy peoples of the earth.

Perhaps the ancients may not have known that, scientifically, a more wholesome and more correct balance of body-building elements was present in these two foods than in any other simple diet combination they could have found. But they knew that on these foods their appetites were appeased and their bodies were sturdy and strong.

Now, however, our nutrition experts attest the scientific correctness of the bread and milk foundation for our food habits. Not only do these provide the most wholesome and substantial basis for our diet, they find, but they give us more food per unit of cost than any other generally available foodstuffs.

Hazel E. Stiebeling, senior food economist of the United States Bureau of Home Economics, in a study of foods that contribute most to the nation's health with the least strain on family pocketbooks, gives first place in importance to bread and milk. Bread should be eaten by all members of the family, at every meal, she states, while milk should be available for all the children and—if possible—for the grownups, too.

Milk, Miss Stiebeling points out, supplements the nutritive qualities of grain at more points than does any other food, and does this effectively and at very small expense. Hence, when there is little money to be spent for food, or when economy in the family budget is desired, the diet will be most satisfactory for good nutrition if built around bread and milk.

Baking Bread in Uncle Sam's Food Laboratory.

"Although some forms of fat and sugar are cheap sources of energy also," she says, "they contribute relatively less to the diet as a whole than do the grain products and the effect of increased amounts upon appetite and digestion is probably less favorable."

"Vegetables and fruits are, on the whole, expensive sources of energy."

Meat, fish, poultry and eggs are also relatively expensive.

As a family food guide, offering a wholesome combination and variety of food elements at a reasonable cost, this government expert suggests the following:

EVERY MEAL: Bread for all, milk for children.

EVERY DAY: Cereal in porridge or puddings.
Potatoes.
Tomatoes (or oranges) for children.
A green or yellow vegetable.
A fruit or additional vegetable.

TWICE OR MORE OFTEN WEEKLY: Tomatoes for all.
Dried beans, peas or peanuts.
Eggs (especially for children).
Lean meat, fish, poultry or cheese.

Chevrolet Production Grows With Demand For Cars

Chevrolet production during the month of May exceeded every month of 1930 and was the largest single month's output since July, 1929. W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, said in announcing the May total production of 113,852 cars and trucks.

The May figure, representing world production, compares with 113,187 last May and with 106,096 in April this year. While the increase over last May is slight, Mr. Knudsen pointed out that dealer stocks of both new and used cars are now in far better shape than a year ago.

An interesting angle of the May output, Mr. Knudsen said, was a heavy increase in the number of cars built for export. This trend was also pronounced in April this year, and in May the export requirements were nearly five times as heavy as in the corresponding month last year.

The heavy May output was the direct result of a decided pickup in sales in certain sections of the country, notably the area along the North Atlantic seaboard, Mr. Knudsen said. He pointed out that this section was the first hit by the industrial slump which followed the stock market crash, and it appears to be, appropriately, the first to recover. Certain other sections are also showing signs of recovery in Chevrolet business, the president said.

During May Chevrolet plants operated at a normal average of five and one-half days a week, and employment went above 31,000 men, the company's normal payroll, Mr. Knudsen declared.

Conditions Show General Improvement Over West Texas

Ablene, Texas, June 2—Generally improved business conditions and encouraging crop prospects are in store for West Texas, according to the monthly business conditions survey of the West Texas Utilities Company, made available from the offices of the company here yesterday. The report covers forty-eight West Texas and Panhandle counties served by the company.

Crop and business conditions in the Panhandle region continue better than those reported from other sections of the company's properties, although considerable improvement has been noted in the territories adjacent to San Angelo and El Paso.

The report shows a satisfactory condition of wheat and feed crops throughout the territory, and points out that much cotton has already been planted and is doing well in the southeastern portion of the territory served by the company—in the neighborhood of Lawa, Coleman and Santa Anna—cotton farmers report a good "stand", with every indication of a crop far above normal.

Although trade and collection are considerably below normal, optimism regarding future prospects has stimulated general business to a considerable degree. Wide spread improvement is expected within the next ninety days.

Conservative estimates place the feed and grain yield at from twenty to twenty-five per cent above normal, although the cut-over has been noted at various points throughout the properties.

The report concludes with the observation that "as harvest time approaches, and increasing numbers of men find employment, a general improvement in business of all kinds is expected."

The monthly business conditions survey made available through the West Texas Utilities Company is made up from reports submitted by each of the nine district operating superintendents of the company, who gain first-hand information in covering the widespread properties of the company.

During the long period that V. V. Johnston taught school played baseball and farmed, he had quietly observed the human race until he thought he had seen the best and worst in all humanity.

But recently he says he has met the meanest man living, and this is the way it all came about.

Among Virgil's herd of Jersey cows there developed one of those selfmilking bovines, and after trying various contrivances to keep her from robbing him of this liquid gold, a fellow came along and suggested that he split her tongue and the trick would be turned, this he did, and he now declares the pesky critter sucks two teats at once instead of one. V. V. is now gunning for his man. Here is hoping.

The Spoiled Child

Grownups are a great deal like spoiled children who crave articles only to lose interest in them within a short time.

How many people do you know who use excellent judgment in the selection of clothing—often expensive—but soon lose interest and neglect their care?

It is not the first cost that counts—it is the care and the amount of wear that one may get out of the purchase that counts for most.

Hot, dusty weather wears and fades the best fabrics. It is necessary to keep them clean. To look their best and to reflect credit upon the owner, they must be pressed often to maintain proper shape.

May we assume the burden of caring for your summer clothing troubles?

CHAPTER II

PART VI

"Alfred, O Alfred I am so glad to see you. So glad you have returned in another moment I was in the room holding both her hands, 'Yes, Doris, I hurried back to you. I knew that you would be lonesome. Girlie I traveled day and night to get back to you, I hated for you to be out here alone.'"

"I - - I have been mighty lonesome without you, and you don't know how happy it made me feel to hear you whistling. I don't see how you stand it to stay here alone."

"Miss Spencer, it is pretty hard at times, it will be harder now, after you leave. I wish it was possible to keep you here with me always. I don't think I will stay here much longer, unless you promise--that is unless you will - - er, that is - - say I am as hungry as a bear, was there any thing left from supper?"

Doris turned away to get the food and I warmed my hands by the glowing fire. I was mad with myself. Why did I make that blunder. Why should I even think that this woman, this beautiful creature, that fate had directed to my cabin, would even listen to my appeals, even though they might be coming from the very depths of my burning heart? I had nothing but this simple love to offer to this woman, that I had snatched from the jaws of death, the blizzard and the cold. Had I not worked and fought against terrible odds to keep alive that small spark of life that was burning within her breast. That spark had been fanned into a blaze, and now that blaze was fire that was casting off a heat that was eating at my very vitals. Had I not nursed her for weeks when she could not help herself. By the laws of nature, was she not mine? Had I not snatched her from the jaws of death and restored her to a living beauty? Could any decree of the nuptial nymphs or goddess of nature make her any more my own? Yet had I done any more than my duty, any more than one human should do for another. Had not we given the same care and attention to the birds of the air and the beasts of the fields, when ever we have them in distress or trouble, we have bound up their broken pinions, or legs, and watched over them until they were able to return to their natural haunts. Then with a good wish, we would free them and send them on their way, and watch them as they disappeared in the clouds or bushes. Was not this child of misfortune entitled to as much consideration as the birds of the air and beasts of the field? Why should I even dream of keeping this girl caged or cooped up here in this lonely cabin if she should even consent to stay.

"On the spur of the moment she might agree to stay, thinking that it was not any more than her duty. But if given time to consider this question, while at home among friends, she would laugh over my proposal and my attempts at love making would be the talk of the fire side for weeks to come. I would have to be more careful in the future, when talking to her. I was aroused from my meditations by a hand being placed upon my shoulder. "Come, your tea is piping hot, there is not much cooked, because I was not expecting you until tomorrow." "I guess I might as well tell you the good news as I drink my tea."

"When I reached the post at Beaver Creek, I found every body very much excited. Every thing was in a whirl, men were going and coming by the dozen, the streets were filled with dogs and loaded sleds, and it seemed as if every body were trying to get ahead of the other fellow."

"I soon learned that gold had been discovered in the Chisana district of Alaska in the spring of last year. Miners and prospectors from all over the country were making a rush for the new gold field. Several hundred men and women, rushed into Chisana before the freeze up and staked claims. Some returned to Whitehorse and others to Dawson and other towns to get supplies and they were now hurrying back to get ready for work by the time spring opens up."

Your father, was among the first to enter the new field, he was spending the season in Canyon City when the news began to spread about the James and Neilson discovery on Bonanza Creek. He left Canyon City, and went to the Chisana district, thinking that perhaps he might get a glimpse of Jensen, your late captor. A few days after arriving there he staked a claim on Little Eldorado Creek, and this claim has turned out to be one of the best mines in the whole district. Spencer sent men back to Whitehorse and Dawson for more supplies and mining implements. I happened to meet one of your father's men at the trading post, he was returning from Dawson with supplies. I sent a message to your father by this man. I sent him word that you were getting along fine and that if nothing happened you would be back with him in a few days."

"It was lucky for me that I met this man, because I could not buy a dog for love nor money, and we would never have been able to reach Dawson with my old team. If we had succeeded in reaching there, we would not have found your family, as they are in Chisana. It was lucky for us that I met this man. It is not over sixty or seventy miles from here to Chisana and we can make the trip in three or four days."

Doris was very excited and for over an hour I answered questions and talked over the plans for our trip. At last we decided that we would start the first of next week. This would give my dogs time to rest up a little, their feet were in awful condition and I doubted very much if they would be able to travel by that time. Three or four days would also give me time to run over my trap lines and to collect my traps and pelts and to store them away. I did not know how long I would be gone and I did not think that I would do very much more trapping this season.

"Now Miss Spencer, I have one more surprise for you--"

The March of Progress

WEST TEXAS' phenomenal progress during the past decade has been equalled only by the steady expansion of its West Texas Utilities Company, for while West Texas has been carving industrial history, this company—to aid and foster that growth—has kept its far-flung facilities always in advance of immediate needs.

Today, a 2,500 mile network of Transmission lines—energized from three large, strategically-located main generating stations and strengthened by 19 auxiliary or stand-by plants—has replaced the precarious and costly part-time "lighting" plant of yesteryear. This new-day Transmission Line System insures a supply of flexible, elastic electric power sufficient to meet any conceivable development.

—And since the organization of the West Texas Utilities Company, the consumer has benefited by total average rate REDUCTIONS amounting to OVER SIXTY PER CENT—an impossible accomplishment in the days of isolated plants! Thus, Electric Power, aptly termed the "Life-Blood of Industry," has been a large factor in bringing prosperity to small cities.

As this company looks back over its brief but colorful history, it feels a justifiable pride in the knowledge that its progressive policies and the pioneering investment of many millions of dollars—to provide this ample service—have been large contributors to West Texas' nationally-acclaimed "March of Progress."

Kiddies' Evening Story

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Happy Playing

"I care about sleep no matter where I am," said one of the prairie dogs in the zoo.

"I like to sleep myself," said the bear nearby, "but somehow in the zoo I can't think of going to sleep for the whole winter.

"I keep getting regular meals and I just take naps and doze. But I don't go off for a long, long sleep as I would if I were in the woods."

"It doesn't make any difference to me where I am," said the prairie dog.

"No, it makes not the least bit of difference," said several other prairie dogs who had come to listen to the talk.

"How do you manage it?" asked the bear. "You see, we can't get enough ahead the way we do when we are in the forests.

"Here, there is just enough but not too much, and we don't get so very, very sleepy.

"Don't you eat all winter?"

"Sometimes," said the prairie dogs together.

"Tell me all about it," growled the bear softly.

"You see," said one of the prairie dogs who had been listening up to

"You have such funny tails," said the bear.

"We build holes right in this yard of ours.

"We go into the ground and sleep in our holes until the warm weather or spring comes along.

"The keeper brushes the snow off our holes, so we have been told. We have been too sound asleep to notice.

"And then we haven't awakened until the warm days have come. They are here now—or rather, it is warm enough for us to awaken.

"We are awake ahead of time because we've been having such warm weather.

"Ah, but we've had splendid sleeps! Winter and sleep we adore. And hidden food, too."

"Oh, you have hidden food, have you?" asked the bear.

"Of course," said the prairie dog. And they all danced and played about, for they were very happy.

The prairie dogs are extremely happy animals, and they are always cheerful and pleasant.

Some farmers do not like them because of the many holes they make, but they really do no harm.

"You have such funny tails," said the bear.

"Yes," said the prairie dog, "we have. They were given to us so as to let people know we always felt like laughing.

"They are such absurd tails, and they make everyone feel jolly and amused."

Just then all the prairie dogs began to bark and their barking sounded as if they were laughing at some huge joke.

"What is it?" growled the bear.

"We were thinking of our tails," they barked. "We know how to smile and laugh with our tails—don't we?"

And from the looks of the funny little tails, the bear certainly thought they looked as though they were always laughing.

Queer Kind of Monkey

There is a monkey which is worth more than its weight in gold, although it has a body 30 inches long and a tail nearly as long, says a writer in My Magazine. It begins its career with a nose tip-tilted like a petal, but the nose increases in bulk and volume till mere weight converts the "snub" into the pendulous. The swelling organ, fattening and flourishing with age, hangs over the mouth of its possessor and completely hides the lower jaw.

Any naturalist would go far to see a proboscis monkey. The London zoo cannot get one. No zoo can. It is not that proboscis monkeys cannot be caught, for practically all animals can be caught when they are young. The difficulty is that, having caught it, we do not know how to keep it alive. Either the food supplied to it or the intense melancholy induced by captivity causes swift and certain death. We can bring the fragile humming bird across the seas, teach it to eat its fill from artificial sources early enough in the day to preserve its life, and so to live in the zoo, but the big-nosed monkey is beyond all our art and care.

DUAL BANK SYSTEM FAVORED BY BANKER

State and National Institutions Supplement Each Other in Serving Financial Needs

RECENT suggestions that all banks in the United States be under Federal jurisdiction, doing away with the chartering of banks by the various states recalls the opposition to this plan presented at the recent convention of the American Bankers Association by R. S. Hecht of New Orleans, Chairman of its Economic Policy Commission. Mr. Hecht said:

"There are just as good reasons why there should be state as well as national banks, as that there should be state as well as a national government. I do not think that analogy is far-fetched. The states should not surrender all political jurisdiction to the central government, and the local business life of the states should not be made to surrender all control over financial functions to national financial instrumentalities. There are many variations of business conditions from state to state and there are special fiscal requirements of the various states.

"It is entirely logical, therefore, that the states should retain the right to charter banks so as to mold and direct their affairs in accordance with the states' governmental and business requirements and keep them adapted to localized sentiment and conditions.

Federal Reserve System

"The argument is sometimes advanced that the dual system jeopardizes the life of the Federal Reserve System because under it there is a large group of banks that are free to remain out of or to withdraw from the system. Facts and figures prove that this is a specious argument.

"It is true that there has been some shifting from national to state charters especially in cases of mergers of large national banks with banks operating under state charters. However, the Federal Reserve System was not weakened in this process because the merged institutions almost universally retained their membership in the system on a voluntary basis. Moreover, the records show that state bank members are just as good members of the system as national banks and the ratio of state bank resources in the Federal Reserve System is constantly growing. In 1922, national banks held about 65 per cent, of the resources of reserve members and state banks about 35 per cent, while in 1929, the nationals held only 60 per cent and state banks 40 per cent.

"Reciprocally the state and national banks systems have helped each other. If the national banking law has served in some respects as something of a model code toward which state banking laws more and more have approached year by year, so have the state codes developed valuable reforms which have suggested improvements for the national laws. A great many undesirable competitive inequalities have been wiped out by this mutual evolutionary process and further progress along the line of uniformity so far as is desirable is anticipated.

Two Systems Desirable

"However, I do not believe that it is a disadvantage to have two banking codes that differ in some respects. It is quite probable that the state banking code in many instances represents a closer adjustment to local conditions than could be had under the national banking laws, and this is a situation that should be retained. There should, however, be competition between the two banking codes. Competition should be between banks themselves and not between the laws under which they operate. The effort to offer too great allurements in one code as against the other could lead only to weak banking laws. But I do think that there should be the alternative opportunities that now exist which banking institutions and local business interests may choose, so that they can function or conduct their business relationships under that banking code which best meets the conditions of the times and of the place as they see them.

"This has been illustrated in both directions. In states where such unsound measures as the guarantee of deposits were operative state banks had the opportunity to escape the baleful effect of such laws. On the other hand, when a court decision was handed down in Worcester, Massachusetts, which rendered uncertain the position of trust assets acquired by a national bank through a merger with a state bank, it was a real advantage for national banks affected to take out and operate under a state charter, either on a temporary or a permanent basis, as circumstances make expedient.

"In my opinion, bankers, national as well as state, should combat the thought that conceives of depriving us of the vitalizing benefits of our dual system."

Winners Named In Living Room Contest Over The State

Miss Katie Meader Winner First Place, Class Two Panhandle District

College Station, Texas, June 10.—District winners in the fourth state wide improved living room contest have been announced by Mrs. Bernice Clayton, home improvement specialist in the Extension Service, Texas A&M College and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The contest is conducted annually by the home demonstration agents of Texas in cooperation with farm publication, the Semi-Weekly Farm News, of Dallas. The contest this year involved 873 farm women in 86 counties. At least ten times that number of neighbors made partial improvements. Judging was by district home demonstration agents who exchanged districts for the judging.

The contest was divided into two classes. Class one included those making improvements that cost less than $50; class two, in excess of that amount. First place district winners in each class will be judged during the next few weeks by Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent, for announcement of State winners at the Farmers Short Course at Texas A&M College, July 27 to Aug. 1. District and State prizes are given by the farm publication. District winners were as follows:

District 1 (Extreme Panhandle) Class 1—First, Miss Mae Paul, Parrell, Hall county; second, Mrs. Luther Hill, Gem, Hemphill county; third, Mrs. Jake Black, Wellington, Collingsworth county; fourth, Mrs. J. T. Blakeney, Alanreed, Gray county.

Class 2—First Miss Katie Meader, Clarendon, Donley county; second, Mrs. H. M. Butts, Amarillo, Potter county; third, Mrs. J.M. Porter, Wheeler, Wheeler county.

Mrs. J. B. McClelland is receiving treatment in Rochester, Minn. while resting from her recent illness.

Scenic Beauty in Art Plaques

For those who appreciate the finer things, yet must "count the pennies" in Christmas giving, the problem is happily solved in the exquisitely artistic plaques which about in the holiday displays this season. Many of these are of rare scenic beauty as will be seen by the two lovely types pictured. The one at the top is called "The Half-Way Change," and the other "The Roadside Mill." Being of plaster of paris done in relief work with old ivory finish, these bits of art are most inexpensive. Other subjects in this series of four are "A New England Home" and "Edinburgh Coach."

Ira Merchant Wins Honors In City Tournament

Ira Merchant defending champion retained his title against W. A. Wilson who went up 38 holes. The game was originally set for 36, but when a tie resulted, two more holes were necessary to decide the championship.

This is said to have been the best match ever played on the local course attracting enthusiasts from outside points as well as locally. Both men shot near par golf throughout the day.

The champion was forced to extend himself in his effort to defeat the hard fighting laundryman, both men playing a fair, square game. Absence of protests were a conspicuous element entering into this contest.

Meredith Gentry defeated A. N. Wood for consolation in the first flight.

Holman Kennedy defeated Wesley Knorpp for winner of the second flight, and H. B. Kerbow defeated Lee Casey for consolation of this flight.

Carl Parsons defeated T. M. Shaver for winner of the third flight, and J. T. Patman defeated Frank Whitlock for consolation.

Dick Allen defeated Dr. Harter for winner of the fourth flight, and Ralph Kerbow defeated Meade Haile for consolation.

There was not a hitch in the game, no ruffled feathers, every player remaining serene and calm doing his dead level best to win on his merits only.
