Old Clothing Drive Meets With Success

The drive for used clothing, shoes and bedding which was carried on through the month of April, resulted in the collection of a large quantity of those items. Headquarters for this part of the County was the Red Cross room at the City Hall, where the contributions were assembled, sorted into six types, and packed for shipment. Another collecting depot was maintained at Hedley, and this activity was sponsored in Donley County by the Hedley and Clarendon Lions Clubs.

The clothing was sorted, as it was brought in, by the ladies who volunteered to stay at the Red Cross room and keep it open for the convenience of the public. Then at the close of the campaign, a number of ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Millard Word, took care of the very important job of packing the entire accumulation.

The committee and entire membership of the Lions Club want to take this means of thanking everyone who had any part in making this drive a success, and especially do they appreciate the ladies who helped so graciously.

The final job of weighing and shipping will be completed some time this week, and announcement will be made in next week's Leader as to the total amount collected.

HITLER AND GOEBBELS REPORTED SUICIDES

Adolph Hitler and Paul Joseph Goebbels committed suicide as Berlin fell in ruins about them, the Soviet communique said Thursday, quoting Dr. Hans Fritzsche, the propaganda minister's lieutenant.

The Russians said Fritzsche was captured as Berlin finally fell to the overwhelming Red Army and that he told his captors that a General Krebs also took his life with the two high Nazis.

The communique, issued past midnight and following Premier Stalin's order of the day announcing the fall of Berlin, was the first Soviet confirmation that Hitler was actually dead.

POPPY DAY MAY 26th

Poppies to honor America's dead warriors of two World Wars will be worn in Clarendon on Saturday, May 26th. Mrs. Lea, President of Aubyn E. Clark 126 Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today.

The little red flowers will pay tribute both to those men who have died for their country in the present war and to those who fell 27 years ago in France and Belgium among the swaying poppies. The money that is received for the flowers will be used to aid the afflicted veterans of both wars and their families.

Extensive preparations for the observance of Poppy Day are being made by the Aubyn E. Clark Unit of the Auxiliary here under the leadership of Mrs. Lea. Everyone in the city will be able to buy the flowers of remembrance from the many volunteer workers from the Auxiliary who will be on the streets that day.

The flowers are made of crepe paper on the pattern of the wild poppy of Flanders. They have been ordered from Legion, Texas, where disabled veterans made them under the direction of the State Department of the Auxiliary. Making the poppies has helped these veterans keep their minds and fingers occupied, causing the otherwise tedious months to pass quickly and at the same time furnishing the men with a means of livelihood.

This year it is expected that more Americans than ever before will wish to wear the poppies as a salute to the dead soldiers and their bereaved families, and as a financial aid to the living but disabled soldiers and their needy families.

Over three hundred people participated in Donley County's first Dairy Tour, Friday, April 27th. The tour was highly successful from every view point and many prospective dairy farmers were shown fully the promise that dairying holds in this county. The tour was sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Clarendon Lions Club and Borden Milk Co.

Starting at 10:30 a. m. at the dairy farm of Ross Darby, the group inspected this plant and those belonging to F. G. Crofford, Dick Cannon, and J. D. Wood before noon. At 1 p. m. the group was served a lunch by members of the Clarendon Lions Club. The Clarendon Band under the direction of J. G. Stanley furnished music during the noon period and for the program in the auditorium of the Martin School immediately following the luncheon.

G. G. Gibson, Extension Service Dairy Specialist, spoke to the group on the feeding and care of dairy cattle and especially stressed the importance of pastures and good roughages and encouraged the use of silage as a substitute for pasture when it was not available. Miss Gladys Martin, Extension Service Home Dairy Specialist, spoke to the group on the care of milking utensils and the importance of sanitation. C. O. Reed, County Farm Agent, explained the grass re-seeding program now in operation in the county and its importance. Knox Parr, District Extension Service Agent, Bill Gallemore, "Pinky" Vineyard, Howard Ferguson, John Maggard, and Lester Jackson represented Borden Milk Company in the program and tour.

A group of approximately 20 farmers from Friona, Texas, headed by J. T. Gee, Friona Vocational Agriculture Instructor, attended the tour. Superintendent Mosely of the Goodnight School, C. M. Hudson, and a group of the Goodnight students also participated in the event.

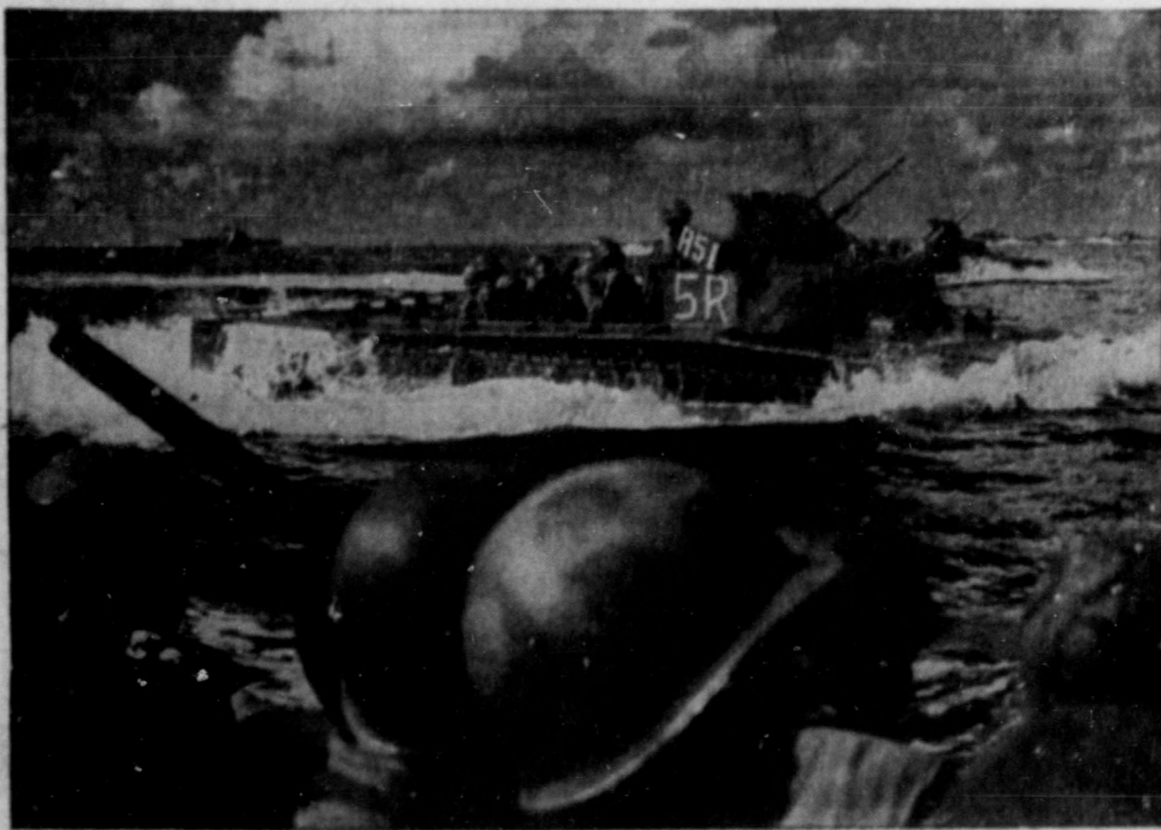

At each of the stops on the tour, an inspection was made of the plants, and the cost of building each, the cost of production, receipts, and net profit of each plant for a two week period was given. A demonstration in use of machines in milking, and cooling of milk was given at the plant of Herman Patterson.

J. R. Gillham, local Vocational Agriculture instructor, and Secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, acted as program director at the tour stops and also at the program at the Martin School.

Child Health Stressed

Asking the cooperation of all Texas parents in a campaign to stamp out preventable diseases and insure the highest possible health levels among the children of this State, Dr. Geo. W. Cox today expressed his deep appreciation of the President's proclamation May 1st as Child Health Day.

Urging state-wide cooperation in this campaign for child health promotion, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today, "There is no more important phase of national health than that of child health and the tragic annual death rate from diphtheria and smallpox is indeed hard to understand when we remember that science has long since produced a successful and safe immunization against both these diseases."

Dr. Cox pointed out the vital importance of child health to the total strength of our nation, and urged all Texans to exert every effort to conserve and protect child health not only through the application of positive health measures but also by reducing the incidence of the more devastating childhood illnesses.

"Young children who are taught personal hygiene, who live in clean homes, whose diets are carefully supervised and whose young bodies have been made immune to the ravages of such diseases as diphtheria, smallpox, and typhoid fever stand an excellent chance of growing into strong, healthy, useful citizens," Dr. Cox said. "It is these boys and girls whose strength and health we are safeguarding by the observance of Child Health Day, who will be the leaders of that victorious and peaceful era which we are fighting to bring about today."

"I drive the car in our family"

"Ours is an old car, and I'm taking the best care of it I know how."

"Goodness knows, we won't get a new car for 2 or 3 years after V-Day. And with my Jim away, the car is my problem."

"My Gulf man has been a big help. Regularly he gives the car Gulfpride* and Gulflex. He says that'll keep it running a long time yet."

"I may be a woman. But I do know that a car needs the finest lubrication available. Well, I'm seeing to it that our car gets it! It's got to be running when Jim comes home!"

OPPORTUNITY

They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in
For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake, and rise, to fight and win.
Wail not for precious chances passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane,
Each night I burn the records of the day,
At sunrise every soul is born again.
Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To vanished joys be blind and deaf and dumb,
My judgments seal the dead past with its dead
But never bind a moment yet to come
The deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep.
I lend my arm to all who say "I Can",
No shame faced outcast ever sank so deep,
But he might rise and be again a Man.

THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH

By the Apostle

By this time the "superman" myth in Germany has been exploded, and they have changed the "I" in Hell to an "I".

Many a man has quit calling his wife "the little woman" after he saw her in slacks.

The human animal is a curious creature. For instance, when a fellow has his appendix removed, a simple affair and painless, the folks make a fuss over him, bring him flowers and keep up with his improving condition to the minute. When a fellow suffers the torment of the damned by having his teeth pulled a few at a time, extending over a period of days and perhaps weeks, no one says a thing about it. The only fellows who take any interest in the affairs of the victim is the fellow who asks him to open his mouth, looks in and laughs at the vacant clabber storage space.

WEAKLY POME.

The bachelor is a crazy guy who has a lot of fun; He sizes the cuties up And never Mrs. one.

A young couple asked the parson to marry them immediately after the morning service. When the time came, the minister arose and said: "Will those wishing to be united in the bonds of matrimony please come forward?" There was a great stir as thirteen women and one man made a stampede for the altar.

Local Boy Enjoys Reading Leader In Philippines

EDITORS NOTE—The Leader received the following letter from our young friend, Sgt. Howell W. Lovell, Jr., who is now serving in the Philippine campaign. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lovell of Ashtola. And we say, thank you, Sgt. Lovell, for those words of appreciation for our efforts.

17 April 1945

Philippine Islands

Dear Mr. Estlack:

I have just finished reading a column entitled "Your Leader Has Anniversary". I enjoyed reading it very much. I don't get the whole paper weekly but my relatives keep me well posted on events of our thriving town. Clippings from The Leader each week are a great morale booster.

Having spent over twenty-three months "abroad", I have had opportunity to read papers from Australia, the "Guinea Gold," "Yank," the Propaganda sheet of the Japanese which was printed in Manila and the American-Filipino paper which took over when the Japanese decided the weather was a little too warm. Of course all have been interesting, entertaining, etc., but none have been able to give quite the newsworthy aspect of events as our own Leader. I am about to begin, or should I say I am beginning my second rainy season in the Philippines. New Guinea nor the Admiralty Islands could stay in the race with this group of islands when it begins to rain. The great difference is the Monsoon season. Monsoons, in my opinion are huge sandstorms in reverse. The sun is setting behind the mountains and coconut trees, so will say farewell in the Philippine manner — "Malwhay from the Philippine Island Paradise."

Sincerely,
Sgt. Howell W. Lovell, Jr.

Mrs. N. S. Percival returned home Saturday from Amarillo where she was called to be with her daughter Norma who underwent a serious operation at the Northwest Texas Hospital April 21. She is doing nicely at the present time.

DETECTS CRACKS IN GLASS

Among the many new and interesting applications of photoelectric control produced by General Electric is one to detect cracks in glass food containers. Inspectors sometimes overlook radial cracks occasionally present in the lip of such containers. They usually cause food spoilage. A photoelectric crack detector in combination with a special handling machine replaced the inspector and increased both the accuracy and speed of inspection.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Fletcher and family of Richmond, Calif. returned home Tuesday night after a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dodson.

HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE ENJOY ANNUAL PICNIC AT LAKE McCLELLAN

The student bodies of Clarendon High School and Clarendon Jr. College went on their annual spring picnic excursion Monday to Lake McClellan where they had an exciting day of boat-riding, hiking and eating. The Senior Class of CHS and the College classes went over in the morning and spent the entire day there; the other high school classes came over in the afternoon.

The groups left the Lake about 7 p. m. tired, blistered, and homesick, yet the swell time everyone had was worth these discomforting factors.

Shooting Star

America has a new jet-propelled fighter plane. It's the Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star, the fastest airplane in the skies today (including the German ME-153 for which claims of 600 miles an hour speed and 10,000 feet a minute rate of climb have been made).

The engine that gives the Shooting Star its amazing speed—a new jet propulsion engine designed and built by General Electric—is the most powerful aircraft engine now in existence. It produces more than twice the power of the earlier jet engines built by General Electric for the Army Air Forces and is far more powerful than any conventional reciprocating engine for aircraft.

The new jet makes virtually no vibration, lessening fatigue for the pilot. It functions smoothly and powerfully at extremely high altitudes, making possible high-altitude plane maneuverability, and it requires no warm-up time, developing power for a take-off in less than a minute.

This new engine was developed at the Lyman/River Works of G. E. where the first jet engine for the Army Air Forces was produced in the United States from original designs developed by the British.

KRAFT CHEESE PLANTS RECEIVE AWARDS

Three major Kraft Cheese Co. plants, at Decatur, Ind., Freeport, Ill., and Green Bay, Wis., have received their fifth Army-Navy production award as a result of continued excellence in the manufacture of necessary war materials, John H. Kraft, president, announced today.

The plants, each of which received the original "E" award in October, 1942, were the first in the food industry to receive such recognition. Since that time, four stars have been added to the original awards.

In a letter addressed to employees of the three plants, Under-secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said:

"You have maintained the fine record which brought you distinction more than six months ago and your standard of practical patriotism is one of which you may well be proud.

"This fourth renewal is a symbol of high achievement over a long period and you may now fly the Army-Navy production award flag, with its four white stars, for a full year before being considered again by the Army-Navy boards for production awards."

Mrs. Thelma Holcomb left Tuesday for North Carolina to visit with her husband. Margaret Kidd went as far as Dallas with her and returned home Wed.

Woman At Work

They all laughed when Selma May of the Tool Service Division got out her mirror—and tried to tell her co-workers at General Electric's Pittsfield Works that it was useful for more than putting on lipstick and powder smoothly.

But in this case, the woman got the last word, the last laugh, and in addition, a substantial suggestion award.

For Selma put her mirror to work on a war job. She suggested placing it on a die chaser grinding machine. Before mirrors were put into use, the machine operator would have to remove the chaser to check the process of the grind. Now, with a mirror in a metal holder attached to the cover of the cup grinding wheel opposite the chaser, the operator can watch the progress of his work.

The mirror idea saves one minute per chaser in grinding, and what's more, it helps operators obtain the correct angle of grind easily.

J. C. Butler was in Amarillo Monday on business.

FRONTLINE STORIES OF TEXAS MEN WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY

Pfc. Gilbert F. Nauert, Austin, Texas, a member of the 36th "Texas" Division's Quartermaster Company, saved an eleven-year-old girl's life when strafing planes hit her in the leg with machine gun fire.

Pfc. Nauert was working at the gasoline dump when a burst of machine gun fire drove him behind a small clump of grass and a mound of earth. Then four German planes roared across the area.

The planes turned to come over again when Pfc. Nauert noticed a little girl lying in the path of the enemy fire. Leaving his place of cover, he raced out, scooped up the child, and dashed back to his position. "She was crying and screaming and whimpering something awful," he said. "One leg had been torn off."

Pfc. Nauert waited until the planes had finished their run. Then, with the girl in his arms, he raced across the open field again, to a stone house where it was possible to give her some treatment. "Luck was with me," he said later. "They had three chances and they missed me every time."

A member of the 36th Quartermaster Company since 1940, Pfc. Nauert has seen action in North Africa, Italy and France. He also participated in the Salerno and Riviera invasions.

THE DIARY OF MASTER WILLIAM ALLEN PATMAN

(In imitation of Samuel Pepys)

By Ruth Patman
 April 14, 1945. Up betimes, and had a fine hour of playing with my toes, of which I have made recent discovery with some surprise, before the household awakened. I did suffer the indignity of a bottle in my mouth to the extent of six ounces for the sake of my grandfather, who gave me much encouragement with his words of, "That's a nice boy, Grandfather's sweet little angel." A number of people having arrived during the afternoon, I was made to take an excursion to the living room. I was greatly amused at the ensuing conversation concerning my features, which diversely were said to resemble my father's, my mother's, and those of a second cousin. I did pucker my lower lip in brief warring and gave a fine exhibition of my temper, arching my back and making my face red with my best shrieks, but this aspect of temperament was also attributed to an uncle and an aunt.
 April 15, 1945. This day, by God's mercy, I am four and a half months old and have attained the wisdom and a degree of self control which my parents considered necessary to my christening. Amid much confusion, I was made ready to go to the church for this occasion, and I did greatly enliven the moment of being dressed by screaming loudly and swinging my arms and legs in large circles. I wore a handsome knitted suit of white wool which, as I have put on a little weight in recent days, fit snugly, at which one of my uncles remarked that the christening could not have been delayed another week. It was my first occasion to be in a church, and I was interested to see that there were a number of people present, mostly of whom were relatives. My father took me up to the front, so that I could get a good view, and the Rev. H. W. Hanks did come down to pronounce the sacred words, to which I listened carefully to get the full import. Afterward my father beamed with a countenance of pride to carry me back up the aisle, and my mother smiled with a sweet relief because I did not cry. I know not the reason she thought I would. There were many callers in the afternoon, and I had hope of overthrowing my schedule this day, but my mother, with a great firmness, did stuff me with a strained green vegetable, followed by the usual six ounces of milk, and I cried to no avail. An uncle did wait me around until I closed my eyes in sleep, and so ended another day.

 April 16, 1945. My esteemed parents this day made an excursion to Dallas, and I have spent a quiet day in the company of my grandmothers, an aunt, and an uncle. I have won this group of my relatives to my decisions as to when I will take a bottle and when I will not eat. My mother will of a certainty return this night, and I do resolve to return to the dull routine of schedule of the morrow.

STUDENTS ATTEND PRAYER PROGRAM

The students of C.H.S. and C.J.C. attended the prayer services at the Methodist Church Wednesday, April 25th. There was a splendid program of song and prayer. The program opened with the hymn, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." This was followed by a scripture reading by Mrs. Allensworth. Then followed a prayer by Rev. Hanks. Claude Hearn gave "The Oath of a Free Man". Next after this was a prayer led by Rev. Manchester. Mr. Chas. M. Lowry led the pledge to the flag. "The American Creed" was splendidly given by Johnnie Johnson. Mrs. Gunter read a passage of scripture. Following the scripture reading, Rev. Upchurch led in prayer. Billie Jean Knox gave part of Thomas Jefferson's inaugural speech. Rev. Ament next gave prayer. Then followed quotations of great men given by Millard Word, Patsy Pittman, Miss Tankersley, Sybil Head and Dick Kennedy. Mr. W. D. Kidd led in a responsive reading on love. Then the Lord's Prayer was given in unison. Last on the program the National Anthem was sung by everyone. The song leader was Mr. Drennan and the master of ceremonies was Mrs. Millard Word.

We wish to thank the student body and all who were present and all who took part in the program.

BAND CLINIC

Mr. Truax of West Texas State Teachers College came over Friday to help the Clarendon Band. He picked out many numbers for the band to work on. They also did some sight reading for him. After a morning of work, the band members went out to Martin to play for the dairy show. Everyone enjoyed the dinner that was served.

A TEXAN IN ENGLAND

"A Texan In England" by J. Frank Dobie, is a forthcoming book which will be published in May by Little, Brown & Co. It is based on Mr. Dobie's experiences in Cambridge University as visiting professor last year, and is destined to become a best-seller.

Mr. Dobie writes: "If in a blacked-out night you hear lolly voices singing anywhere in England, nine chances to ten they are American. A cultivated lady told me that two years ago she would have been shocked to hear such voices, now heard nightly on the streets of London, Manchester, and other cities. I should add that many citizens have come to delight in them and to wish that more of them were native."

"The Lords in Parliament assembled sit on benches that not even a legislature from Arkansas would look at—unless he were electioneering among farmers. The Capital at Washington has more luxuries, paid for by the government, than any other statehouse in the world."

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gill of Hico are visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Smith.

PROSPECTIVE CLAIMANTS URGED TO CALL THE SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE

Survivor's monthly benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance system are frequently lost to the beneficiary through delay in filing a claim, according to a statement by James L. Farmer, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Board field office. Many widows, he said, who have reached the age of 65 some months after the death of their husbands have not filed promptly for monthly benefits due them. This also applies to widows who have not attained age 65 but who are the mother of children of the deceased wage earner. They may also be entitled to monthly payments.

According to the Social Security Board representative, the relatives of every deceased wage earner who had a social security number should contact the nearest Social Security Board office to learn if there are any benefits payable. Likewise every wage earner on reaching age 65 should contact the nearest Social Security Board office even though he does not plan to retire. The manager will tell him whether or not it is to his immediate interest to file. He will also explain many other details connected with the filing of claims. The Social Security Board office is located at 324 New Post Office Building, Amarillo, Texas.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE
HOME SERVICE
 By Mrs. C. A. Burton

"Carry n"—and that is what the Red Cross is trying to do—both over there and at home.

Never a returning soldier, never a letter from over there but sounds the praises of the Red Cross—telling how timely has been the help given. We of the home front are finding increasing demands as we try to help families keep contact under such difficulties—as we try to help meet needs, not only financially but in many ways.

Constantly we listen for reports of the release of our thousands from prison camps, wondering always if our own may be among the number—but the Red Cross stands by, ready to help provide as long as a single boy needs help. Food parcels and necessities have gone steadily from homefolks, but the last bulletin says, "Immediately upon cessation of hostilities in Europe, this program will be discontinued. Chapters will not accept orders for prisoners held by Germany from that date."

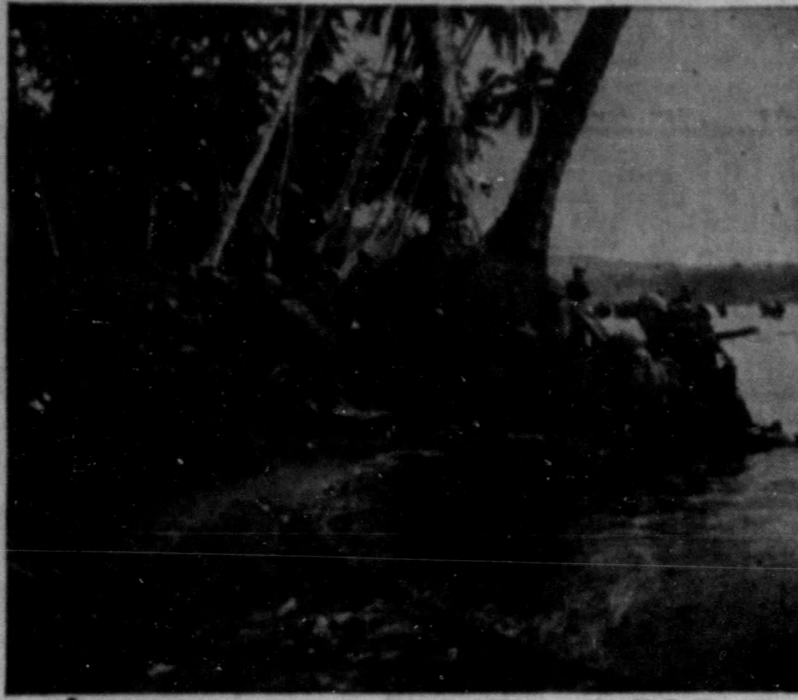

Regulations requiring members of the Navy Nurse Corps or Naval Reserve Nurse Corps to resign upon marriage have been suspended for the duration but the requirement that a nurse be unmarried to enter the service remains unchanged.

All personal effects, including valuables of deceased and missing naval personnel are now forwarded to the Personal Effects Distribution Centers and from there to next of kin. Personal effects consisting of money, articles of value, papers and keepsakes are no longer held at the Bureau of Naval Personnel until claimed.

The Purple Heart was originally established by Gen. George Washington in 1782—was reestablished in 1932.

De Luxe Fighter

Piloting a fast fighter plane under enemy fire is a hard job. Shooting down enemy planes is another hard job. Doing either is too complicated for most of us to imagine, to say nothing of trying to do both at once.

Yet there is only one kind of fighter plane where the two jobs are done by more than one man. That is the new P-61 Northrop Black Widow, a powerful night fighter which is named after the black camouflage paint which it sports.

On the P-61, the pilot flies the plane, and two gunners, one fore and one aft, share control of the .50 calibre machine guns mounted in the turret. The guns are remotely controlled, with primary control of the guns resting with the forward gunner.

The gunnery system for the P-61 is very similar to the one originally developed for the B-29. Shifting control of the guns is an important feature of each. Electrical and mechanical parts automatically compare the line of sight with the line of fire on the P-61, bringing the guns into alignment with the sights whenever a difference exists between the two.

The mechanism is so sensitive that when a change in sighting occurs, the turret moves similarly, as though the two were connected by a rigid shaft. The guns respond to changes in sighting so rapidly that they can be raised from a level position to an elevation of 60 degrees in a little more than a second.

Firing the guns is easy. All the gunner does is use a trigger switch. The Northrop sight used on the P-61 also contains an action switch. As soon as this special switch is release, the aft gunner, who is also the radio man, can take control of the turret. The turret can also be stowed with guns in a forward position and the plane used as a fixed-gun fighter. This feature is useful when the plane is in a dive and the pilot is strafing targets on the ground.

The Black Widow has seen action in both the Pacific and the European theatres of war. It was used to track down and destroy robot bombs as well as slower enemy planes. From all reports the Black Widow is as deadly as its name would indicate. But the GI's in the Pacific have another name for it. They call it the "Sai-pan Sandman" because by keeping enemy planes at bay, it permits the weary GI's to sleep through the nights.

SUGAR USERS MUST LOOK TO OTHER SWEETENING

"The civilian will have to depend more and more on molasses, honey, maple sugar, and corn syrup for sweetening this year," Dr. Jet Winters, president of the Texas Nutrition Council, with headquarters on the University of Texas campus, reports.

There will be less sugar available, according to reports from the War Food Administration, Dr. Winters said, and the home-maker will have to "juggle" recipes to use half sugar and half syrup sweetening, she suggested.

Sugar savers, she said, are: serve cooked foods hot to enjoy their fullest flavor and sweetness; save syrup from canned fruit to sweeten other fruit, pudding sauces, or beverages; a pinch of salt envelops flavor and makes food seem sweeter; be sure all sugar is completely dissolved to get its full sweetness.

RATIONING AT A GLANCE

Phoebe Ann Buntin

It has been announced by the Office of Price Administration that canning sugar allotments have been cut. Under the new ruling, each person may get fifteen pounds of sugar instead of twenty and the maximum amount of sugar each family unit may obtain is one hundred and twenty pounds instead of one hundred and eighty. Each local Office of Price Administration can issue only seventy per cent of the sugar it issued last year. In order that late applicants may get their fair share, this will be divided over the entire period ending October 31st, during which canning sugar may be issued. This reduction in canning sugar allotment is due to the decreased supply available this year and the increased demand for sugar.

Starting this week, all applicants for sugar, gasoline, tires, etc. will be required to fill out their own applications. These forms may be obtained at the Local War Price and Rationing Board.

CORRECTING FAULTS IN FROZEN POULTRY

Proper preparation and care of home-makers and locker managers can eliminate the five most common troubles in frozen poultry products—discoloration, off-flavors, drying out, excess "drip" or "sooze" and rancidity, according to Winfred J. Levensenz, specialist in food preservation for the A&M College Extension Service.

Discoloration, or dark color in frozen poultry meat, usually is a result of insufficient bleeding, she says. Off-flavors usually are caused by not chilling the meat quickly enough. She attributes drying out of the meat to a poor wrap. Poor wrapping also will cause discoloration. Tests by many research workers have shown that cellophane currently is the most ideal wrapping material for meat, and poultry especially.

Mrs. Levensenz says many home makers have found that in frying chicken previously frozen often the crust will flake off the pieces.

This is the result of a drip or sooze. Sharp freezing at 20 degrees F. below zero and keeping the product at zero without fluctuation in temperature will prevent this difficulty. Too high temperatures or fluctuation in storage will cause crystals in the product to enlarge, break down more quickly and release juices, she explains. Constant low temperatures also will prevent the fifth common difficulty, rancidity.

The specialist also recommends that poultry meats be thawed almost completely at room temperature or in a refrigerator so that the meat will retain most of this moisture during the cooking process.

With these various factors controlled, frozen poultry products have been kept in locker boxes for a year and a half without loss of quality. However, most home-makers will find it more economical and practical to use frozen poultry meats within a year, adding new supplies to their lockers as another crop of fryers is available.

R. L. Barns Writes Home From Pacific

EDITORS NOTE—The following letter was written by SK 2/c Robert L. Barns to his mother here, Mrs. Lola Barns. We are printing part of the letter for its news value to the people back home who have no way of knowing just what Uncle Sam is doing on the islands being retaken from the Japanese.

"Nine months ago, Manus, in the Admiralty Islands, was a mangrove swamp infested with Japanese. Today—by virtue of the fighting spirit of the First Cavalry Division and the incredible ingenuity of the Seabees—it is one of the most powerful naval bases in the world. Nowhere in the Pacific, with the possible exception of Guam, is the fantastic power which the United States Navy is marshaling to crush Japan so astoundingly exemplified.

Get out your map. If it is a fairly recent one you will see a few little dots in the Bismarck Sea, about half-way between Dutch New Guinea and the upper end of

New Ireland Island just south of the Equator. That's Manus.

Properly speaking "Manus" is Navy terminology for vast Seeadler Harbor, encircled by Manus and Los Negros Islands, sheltered to windward by a chain of palm-fringed atolls.

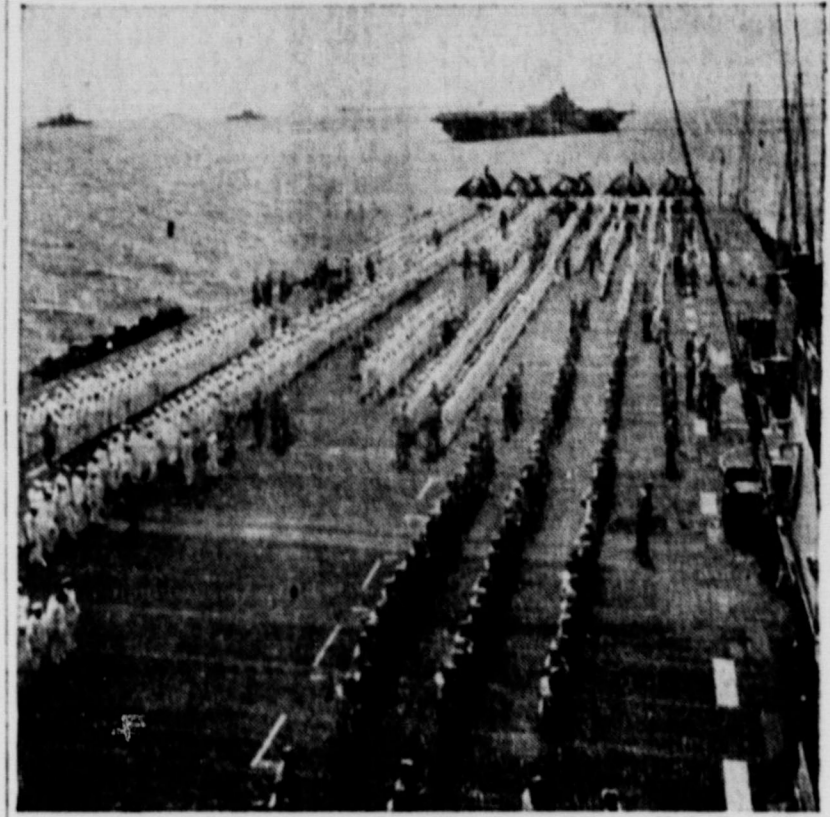

Aside from Momote air-strip on Los Negros—taken last March by the First Cavalry and by whose coral sweep the First buried its dead—the Japanese did very little to develop Manus-Los Negros as a fleet anchorage. They had an embarrassment of naval riches, anyway. But some shrewd eye in the United States Navy—we were told here it was Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., fusty-eyed Nemesis of Nippon—spotted Manus, placed a peremptory forefinger upon it and said: "That's the place."

On June 8, there was not a single American-erected building of any kind on Manus or Los Negros Islands. By September 15, there were 3100 quonset huts spread across the sloping hills for miles, and 960 supply warehouses crowded the busy harbor ledge.

The same Seabee battalions which created a great shore establishment on Espiritu Santo, one of the bases which supported the invasion of the Solomons, moved up to Manus.

In those five months they built

All Out for Inspection

well over 450 miles of three-lane coral highways which would not suffer by comparison with Pennsylvania's super-highway or New York's Merrett Parkway.

A story in itself is the construction of a high-lift water-pumping station delivering 4,000,000 gallons of pure water a day—pure, cold water, incredible in the Pacific's forward areas.

None of the pumping equipment was delivered earmarked as such. Water storage tanks were constructed out of gasoline tanks. Pumps were filched from wrecked naval craft. A river—the Lotengau—was dammed. A complete aeration, sedimentation, filtration and chlorination system was installed.

The water system, down to spigots in the Officer's mess, was completed in 58 days.

The coastal area of Manus was one continuous mangrove swamp—the toughest, densest, most suffocating jungle growth in the world. So dense was it that survey parties hacking their way with machetes, walked on an almost solid jungle matting 15 feet above ground.

Bull-dozers, the Seabees' good right hand, poured ashore, rumbled deep in their steel chest, and waded into the jungle. Vines as tough as steel cables snapped; palms, mangrove, pandanus and mahogany went down under their bull-like rush.

TNT charged rumbled and roared and geysered in the harbor, blasting loose live coral from the harbor ledges. Hydraulic pumps spewed it upon the shore. Trucks by the hundreds picked up dry loads. In three months, miles of swamp—and that is literal, not figurative—were buried to an average depth of five feet under concrete-like coral upon which were erected the seemingly endless supply warehouses.

This is Uncle Sam rolling up his sleeves. This is Uncle Sam, mad as a hornet getting down to business. This is Uncle Sam tussling a sarcastic "The hell you say!" at the doubting Thomases who said it couldn't be done. It is one of the greatest and most speedy jobs of construction and base organization in world naval history."

When you want to get next to something there's real money in, go over and lean on the bank.

WE WILL REMEMBER
... as long as we live!

Back on the job, in white collars or work-stained khakis, the returning ex-servicemen of our organization hardly look like heroes of the Tunisia campaign or the battle of France. Some have scars to show for it... many have foreign service and valor ribbons.

We are glad to have them back. They endured much to safeguard the security of our nation. Keeping their jobs for them was the least that we could do. But more than that, we will never forget what they did for us. As long as we live, we will remember.

To our members who have made pledges to the Crusade and have not yet paid, if you can pay now please do so. We are anxious to have as much of this money in hand as possible when our district conference meets May 7 to 8th. So if you can do so, please see brother Jim Patman and pay all or as much on your pledge as you can. Let each of our members ask himself this question, what kind of a church would my church be if every member was just like me? O Son of God incarnate, O son of man divine, In whom God's glory dwelleth, In whom man's virtues shine, God's light to earth thou bringest, To drive sins night away. And through thy life so radiant, Earths darkness turns to day. O mind of God incarnate, O thought in flesh in shined, In human form thou speakest, That men in thee may see. The man who succeeds may take his hat off to the past, but he takes his coat off to the future.

MOBILE POWER PLANTS

Since the beginning of the war, General Electric has delivered or is delivering practically 300,000 kilowatts of mobile power plants. Some are for use abroad in rehabilitating bombed areas; others for service in this country where increased war production has resulted in emergency power shortages. Some have been mounted on barges, some on railroad cars, and others on truck trailers.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB
of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

No matter how good a big, thick, juicy steak may be or how hungry you are for such a treat, you still want some side dishes of vegetables, a glass or two of milk and a chunk of apple pie or a dish of ice cream.

So, too, regardless of how hungry your cows are for fresh green forage, they want some side dishes also, consisting of grain supplement. They need grain for two reasons—to keep them in top condition and to maintain milk production at high levels.

The amount of grain a cow should get while on pasture depends largely on the amount of milk produced. Each cow should be fed on a basis of its production. Grain feeding is particularly important in late summer, when pastures may go down.

A good guide on this subject is publication B-69, Extension Service, Texas A. & M. College, College Station, Tex. It says a good cow should get about three pounds of grain daily per gallon of milk produced while the cow is on good pasture, and offers some suggestions for grain mixtures.

The information in this bulletin will help you figure out how much of each kind of grain you'll need to carry your herd through the summer at highest production level.

You know, I've been under the impression for quite a number of years that milk comes from cows. Now I get a USDA leaflet which figures out how much milk is produced by an acre of pasture!

This USDA leaflet discusses a program set up by the Bureau of Dairy Industry. Twelve pasture plots were planted with various grasses and clovers, each plot getting a different seeding. The amount of milk given by cows pastured on each of the plots was recorded daily.

Using the milk price in that region, it was easy to figure how many dollars worth of milk was produced on each type of mixture. Some very sharp differences were found.

A mix seeded to orchard grass and Ladino clover proved the best in that region. It produced 5,996 lbs. of milk per acre, with a production value of $142 per acre, after deducting cost of fertilizer, grain supplement, mowing cost, etc.

The point is simply this—maybe there is a better mixture of grasses than the one now in your permanent pasture, which will bring more milk per acre. I suggest you look into this, by a visit with your county agent. He can tell you what mixtures have proved best in your county.

The best way to handle an accident or a fire or something of the sort, is to prevent it before it happens. And the best way to control flies is not after they start pestering, but before they hatch.

Sprays may make more comfort for you and the cows at milking time, but Wisconsin points out in Extension Folder 88 that most sprays have very little to do with actual control of the number of flies around the barn.

Fly control starts in the places where flies breed. Houseflies and stable flies breed in manure and moist, rotting bedding material. The best thing to do, particularly at this time of year and on through summer, is to get manure applied to your land as soon and as often as possible.

Some new sprays may be available to farmers soon, using DDT, which will be a big help in controlling flies. Meantime, I know you'll find some interesting ideas in Folder 88, which you can get by writing the Extension Service, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.*

As the number of Texas service men in the overseas combat theatres increases, so grows another kind of army which supports those fighting men—an army which fights their fatigue and sense of peril with quips and laughter and song.

USO-Camp Shows, one agency of the National War Fund to which Texans will be asked to again contribute through their county war chests in October, now has 198 units with 1007 entertainers in the combat zones. Deep in Germany, in Italy, the Philippines, the CBI theater and the Pacific areas, these entertainers are bringing blessed relief from the grimness of war to the men almost within sound of the guns and to those who lie wounded in the base hospitals.

Outstanding in industrial x-rays built during 1944 was construction of the first 2,000,000-volt-x-ray unit, a more flexible and powerful tube for the speedy radiographic examination of castings and metal structures. Sgt. Gervis R. Dickerson, Pelly, is safely back with American forces in Germany, the central character in a story that pales the most lurid fiction.

He and three buddies, captured by the Germans, were "framed" when guards planted a pistol in Dickerson's bed roll and propaganda papers in the others'. For 93 days they were under sentence of death, expecting execution daily.

All four were taken to Hannover and sentenced after a perfunctory trial in which they were "represented" by counsel with whom they were unable to talk.

They were held near Brunawick in solitary confinement and denied all packages and books and even watched the Germans setting posts in the prison yard for the execution which never came off.

One day the Germans went away, leaving the Americans locked in their cells. Two days later, Dickerson and his friends heard the most welcome sound of their lives, the gruff voice of an American soldier saying:

"I guess we'd better shoot the damn locks off."

More good news of much the same kind came last week: that American forces had returned 81 Texas soldiers from slow death in a German prison camp captured near Badorb. The camp held 3,400 Americans, all of whom were given food and medical aid and will be returned to their homes as
