

THE DONLEY COUNTY LEADER
J. C. ESTLACK, Editor and Owner

Published on Tuesday of each week.

Entered as second-class matter March 12, 1929, at the post office at Clarendon, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

This paper's first duty is to print all the news that's fit to print honestly and fairly to all unbiased by any consideration even including its own editorial opinion.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm, or corporation which may occur in the columns of THE DONLEY COUNTY LEADER will be gladly corrected upon being brought to the attention of the management.

SERVICE?

The crew of the Bell telephone main line have made it possible for us to reach the outside world by telephone. There never has been much complaint about the main line service. Now if the local telephone company will install modern equipment in the local exchange it will save a lot of "hollering" on the streets by enabling the parties to use a telephone with some degree of satisfaction.

Every day almost, one hears complaints about the rotten service which is due to an antiquated system. One can hear a voice from Los Angeles plainer than a sound coming a block right here in town. In some instances it becomes necessary to hang up the receiver and lose ten minutes time hunting up a party for a conversation when two minutes would suffice over a telephone clear enough to be understood.

GOOD ROADS

Some may have been peeved about the extra amount of rain the past week, but it did some good at that. Several who have heretofore opposed paved roads, are now howling disciples of good roads movements.

One fellow spent more money getting yanked out of a mudhole than his road tax would have amounted to for two years according to the property he owned, and he owns a farm. Not only was he stuck in the mud, but he also had a lot of damage done to his car while the "yanking" process was going on.

Every day more are coming to the point of seeing that a good road is an absolute necessity.

BETTER GARDENS

Never before in the history of Donley county have gardens been so fine as this year. Plenty of green stuff on the market right now. Just the right time for the grocer to make a lot of friends among the farmer folk. The farmer must have a market. If he has no market he can't sell. If he can't sell, he can't buy.

Two weeks past the Leader ran an article about a dandy good garden giving credit to the husband. Right there is where the Apostle pulled a bonehead. The good wife called his hand and arose to state that she owned the garden by right of discovery and labor. Well, anyhow, Donley county has an industrious bunch of gardeners even if the men folks refused to have anything to do with the making.

APPRECIATION.

While the public may be prone to jump on a public service corporation, there has been little or no cause for complaint on the service rendered this town by the West Texas Utilities company for the past several years, or since it came under control of the Insull interests especially.

During the recent stormy nights, the local crew of trouble shooters were on the job night after night to give the public every bit of service they might reasonably expect.

The rates have been reduced without so much as a request from the patrons. During the recent urge in the legislature for more stringent laws governing public service corporations, not a complaint was registered against the actions of the corporation which is serving this town with light and power. This is largely due to the fact that the men and women in the employ of the West Texas Utilities company are competent and well paid. Both begets interest and enthusiasm from the management on down. Nothing is left undone to further the interests of the corporation and we deeply appreciate the prompt service and friendly help and suggestions upon the part of the local employees—every one loyal to both their employer and the public.

Headed For West Texas

We of west Texas possibly do not realize our exact financial status. Our section is known to be prosperous so far east that a yankee is headed this way with a carload of basswood hams. Never a day goes by but what several installment men hit our town with every conceivable form of merchandise. Not that the home merchant can't supply the same article on better terms, but simply because they know that there is a certain element looking for a slick-tongued salesman to sell them something from "back there."

One can't open the door in early morning without being harangued by a peddler. The women folks can't throw out the dish water without having a bunch of it absorbed by a peddler. Personally, the writer has no doubt been saved quite a bit this spring from the fact that we have a yard full of police dogs that are quite unfriendly to a stranger, especially one carrying a "war bag."

Some of our good citizens have been stung by a stranger offering to sell on a small payment down which really represented his commission. The goods usually show up in a different quality, you are out for the c. o. d. package, the peddler cannot be found and the manufacturer is not responsible for what the agent promised. You are simply stung.

After reading the editorial of Albert Cooper in the Shamrock Texan under date of June 5th, we are of the opinion that Edison need not lose any more sleep about finding a bright boy to succeed him. Albert's brains came out for air for once. There is no rebuttal from the Apostle of the Temple of Truth since newspaper men are to be admitted at a reduced—greatly reduced—rate. Here is Cooper's plan:

LET'S CHARGE ADMISSION

"On account of the advantages afforded new-comers by towns and cities of the Texas Panhandle, it seems only right the counties should charge so much a head for everybody moving in. Say make an outsider plank down $500 to open a dry goods store, $250 to open a grocery, $1,000 to farm, depending on how much profit his line of business paid. Charge a person moving in to go to work on a salary of $150 a month about $10, a person running a newspaper $2.50 and so on down. People in East Texas and other hard-hit sections would at once suspect there was something good about the Panhandle since it cost money to move in. They would make a trip out here and investigate and once here they would never go back and live among the Boll Weevils. We could afford to let farmers in at about $100 per family. Have Texas Rangers to patrol the Oklahoma border, south of there to the border of Mexico and to the west and north. Shake down every man, woman and child crossing into West Texas and make them fork over the privilege tax, or rather, give a promissory note. In five years this country would be thicker settled and more prosperous than Southern California. Amarillo and Wichita Falls would be bigger than Los Angeles or Detroit and Shamrock and Memphis would be bigger than Tulsa and Dallas. There would be enough money derived from the tax within five years to erect a 50-foot concrete-and-steel wall around the entire of West Texas and to buy a mammoth electric sign to hang in the center of it reading, "Heaven On Earth." All future revenue could be used in maintaining missionaries in East Texas, trying to save the souls of the few remaining folks who were barred from admission as being undesirable citizens."

And another thing! Bar nagging women, colicky kids, model T Fords and gossiping men.

J. J. Goldston Home Now Ready For Occupancy

The beautiful brick bungalow built by Weatherly & Hunt on the southeast corner of the A. T. Miller block for Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Goldston, is now ready for the proud owners to move in and enjoy the best home they have ever owned, and among the very best homes of the entire town in point of materials used and workmanship.

The paint job is up to standard of first-class jobs laid on by I. B. Pierce who has made this line a specialty for several years. The plumbing job is a typical Dewey Herndon job that satisfies the customer and has few competitors.

The building is of faced brick construction, mingled shade that is in special favor at this time in the better class of homes. The floors are of oak, dressed down and waxed. French doors connect the various rooms. The idea of a cozy breakfast room was not overlooked, neither was the fireplace which is fitted for gas consumption.

No home seems to have too many closets. Three large closets have been provided in this new home, each of copious dimensions. Another feature that means comfort to the occupants, is the metal weather strip feature of both windows and doors rendering the house practically dust proof.

A large basement measuring sixteen by twenty feet provides ample room for storage and laundry fixtures. The floor is so arranged that it may be flooded and drain directly into the sewer line.

The home is elevated some four feet above the street on a terraced lot making a flower garden of greater ornament that houses on a level with the street.

The double garage in the rear is also of mixed color brick matching the main building. A driveway ornamented with shrubbery and flowers will assure the owners of more beauty and increased value in living in a home second to none.

HOW ABOUT NOW?

"The past is all right, my friend," he said, "And the things you have done were fine. But is seems to me you should look ahead, And not the things behind— For it's not how hard you worked last year, Nor even the year before, But it's how will you do the job that's here, Just waiting outside of your door? Are you standing flat on the ground today, All ready to take up the load, Or do you live in yesterday's fray, This is the question that surely will come To all who toil by the way— You can't turn wheels and cause them to hum, With water that passed yesterday."

What We're Doing for M-O-T-H-E-R-S

WE are devoting a large measure of our time and efforts to the Mothers of this great empire of West Texas, always endeavoring to find ways and means of making their lives more pleasant and the duties which they find necessary to perform much easier.
—When we brought electricity into their homes, these Mothers were immediately relieved of oil lamps... one task less! It was made possible for them to enjoy the use of the Electric Refrigerator—the Electric Range and the Iron... all labor-savers for Mothers.
—There are numerous other electrical servants, all of which are skilled helpers on every household task, those tasks when done in the OLD way were genuine hardships, now they can be done easily and quickly, leaving much time for pleasure and recreation.
—Better lighting for homes... comfort appliances such as the heater and fan... floor lamps, bridge and table lamps and convenience outlets, too, are great conveniences... and there are personal appliances that keep Mothers well groomed... All of these we offer to the Mothers of West Texas, those who we are proud indeed to serve.

Mrs. L. S. Bagby Entertains

One of the most delightful social events of the season occurred at the home of Mrs. L. S. Bagby Thursday morning at 7:00 a. m. when she entertained the Needle Club.

The rooms bore a profusion of flowers artistically arranged in which roses and larkspur predominated in various shades.

The guests were asked to the dining room where they found place cards on a table which was profusely decorated with white fern, blue larkspur and Dorothy Perkins roses.

The menu consisted of sliced oranges as a first course followed by a plate of scrambled eggs, breakfast bacon, sliced tomatoes, French fried potatoes, hot biscuits, jelly, doughnuts and coffee. The inclemency of the weather prevented an outdoor breakfast being served as had been planned by the hostess.

Complying with a request of the hostess, the guests brought dainty articles of needle work to which they plied their talent and enjoyed conversation for some two hours.

As a novel method of entertainment, the hostess had written the name of each guest on a slip of paper and in passing this to the individual, a request was made that the guest write a pun to their name. When the hostess collected the slips after due time, and read them to the guests, much merriment was the result, many novel efforts being noted ranging from the sublime to the ridiculous in their efforts to add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The following guests and members of the Needle Club were present to partake of this wonderful breakfast and delightful social gathering: Mmes. R. A. Chamberlain, A. L. Chase, H. Glascoe, B. L. Jenkins, Will Martin, McCreary, R. S. Morris, J. T. Patman, Crockett Taylor, A. A. Mayes. The guests were: Mmes. D. O. and Lloyd Stallings, R. L. Bigger, Odos Caraway, W. T. Hayter, G. L. Boykin, R. S. McKee, Seldon Bagby, J. W. Watts, J. W. Evans, and Misses Lela Clifford and Mary Howren.

The Letter Box

Memphis, Texas
Donley County Leader
Editor—Dear Sir

Have been on a flowery bed of sickness for some time and will sure tell you all about it. A few weeks ago a guy, saying he was from Clarendon came in to this joint for lunch and came to my table. If he was from your city, then my name is Elizabeth Becca Mariah Sofa Pug, a name given to me by my grandma, when she visited us when I was three days old. I do not remember the visit she made, but from the name she gave me I surmise she thought me an ugly young woman. Have never liked her since that visit. Had this snake in the grass said he was from Brice, Ashtola or Jericho, I might have believed him, but I know that Clarendon is not big enough for him to turn 'round in two times. He was a high power talking machine and got his mouth busy right now. "Young lady" he said "why is it that young girls, old girls and flappers have to deck themselves in ribbons, bows fi-me-not and paint their lips, cheeks, powder their nose, curl their hair to look pretty and attract a small desired attention, while men of all shade and kinds, do nothing of the kind and then attract more attention than wanted?" I say that there was blood in the moon and said nothing, as my blood was then boiling hot. "Oh ho" he said "you don't like that question and won't answer. I WILL TELL YOU. It is because you girls and women are so confound ugly, that you have to deck out while WE FOLKS are pretty enough and without fixing up attract more attention than wanted". Hot dogs and little fishes, my eyes shot daggers but I could not throw them swiftly as some female in Clarendon can. He then said: "I see you are mad and would like to kill me" I yelled you are right. Then the fool said: "As I am to die, you will surely give me the choice of deaths, I yelled "YES". Then the darned fool said "Just throw your arms around my neck and choke me to death". Great guns and little fishes, what could I do. Oh had I been a Diana, with bow and quiver full of arrows, Oh had I been a Queen Boadicea, who with sword in one hand and spear in the other, led the English barbarians to victory over the Roman Legions, Oh, had I been a Joan of Arc or Charlotte Corday, who were great because they died for the home land; I just simply fainted, and when I became awake, there were the two handsome young doctors, with dewey tears in their eyes at my bedside. Oh, it was worth three weeks sickness to have their lovely blue eyes gazing into my beautiful orbs, or with their lily white fingers brushing an imaginably speck of dust from my alabaster brow. If ever that snipe comes here again, I will take him by his left hind foot and wear him out on the floor until there is a great big greasy spot on the floor. Then will fumigate that spot with ten bottles of codogene. He was hatched out by the sun from an uzzard egg that had been dropped in a hollow log. Some day he will sink into a mouse hole and draw the hole in after him.

When I was in Clarendon the last time I actually collided with a gay young flapper on the street, as I turned to say "please excuse", she cut the very air with "YOU HAD BETTER LOOK OUT". The words were so sharp that there is not a razor in any barber shop in Clarendon half so sharp. Not even in Mr. Whitlock's shop. I'll never believe this simp (female) lives in Clarendon. I have only this to say, with apologies to no one, "Girl take care what you wear, for goodness knows what you expose."

Mr. Editor—I thank you kindly for the information that two of the handsome men in the cage, have female bosses at home, while the third one is hunting for one for him, with chance of complete success in the near future.

I had a most exciting experience in the Donley county Court house some years ago: Like many a fool young girl of 13 years of age, I thought I was big enough, old enough, smart enough to run off to marry. By some hook or crook, the two by four snipe with me got a license and we went into the room of the marrying parson. Up rose a little man, whom I took at first for a boy, but bless me, before I left the room, he was a man among men. He asked us what he could do for us, when informed, he yelled in a voice of thunder that was heard in every part of that fine Court House, and called: "Sheriff" "Sheriff"; the sheriff came running in with a big gun in each hand, thinking murder was being committed. That little parson said: "Sheriff take this child home—I was took—and thanks to him a thousand times, for doing so. In the making of him, nature using precious material, could not afford very much, so made him small. I am told he is not there now. Donley county people have placed an even smaller parson in that room. Am glad that for I dote on small men and as sure as I ever marry, the one there now will get to say the ceremony, will likely bring along a chair to place on his side of the counter, for him to stand on. Only he must not say, "I make you man and wife, for I want all to understand, the one I lead to the slaughter will be already man." I guess this new marrying parson is made of more precious material than the previous one.

Mr. Editor, I thank you kindly for printing my letter and you will know my words come from the heart, when I tell you that a great daily in Washington, D. C., has read my letter in the Donley County Leader and has sat up and taken notice—and I have a liberal offer to go to Washington as staff correspondent on that big paper. Arn't you glad? I am also.

Should I ever come back to West Texas, you will be the first one to know of it.

Yours lovingly,

Some communities preserve that neighborly feeling by having an

When you find a community that can agree long enough to keep alive a community center at the schoolhouse or church, you will usually find a friendly bunch of folks getting a whole lot out of an every-day life. Most people labor all thru the week and owe it to themselves to get together on one day out of each week and jollify.

Yep, a whole lot of the women are trying out the corn pone recipe with varying degrees of success. The Apostle likes it better with about double the amount of sugar that is called for in the recipe as published.

And another thing! Being an old-fashioned recipe, it also tastes a whole lot better if you can get home ground meal. The steel cut or bolted meal leaves the dough sticky. You can also vary the taste by adding graham flour instead of white flour.

A good cook can make a number of varieties out of nothing, and this pone business is not patented by any means. If you have extra

W. C. Veasey is just back from old Hopkins county, the stamping ground of Cyclone Davis. He reports water standing over the fields, nothing planted and despair written upon the faces of the inhabitants. Arthur Benson states further that it would take a lot of artillery to keep the gnats and flies off man and mule to pitch a crop even if the land dried up. Men are like trees, die at the top first.

Mr. Farmer—A few more cents on each melon would more than offset the advantages derived from specials.

Mr. Laborer—A few more cents per day would offset our advantages on specials.

Mr. Merchant—A few more cents on our commodities and a few more cents on labor will keep more money in circulation and we will all have an easier time.

Why then tolerate specials at all as they are a curse to business and society at large.

1st, they are just a lure and a bait.

2nd, they create distrust between you and your fellow man.

3rd, they have a tendency to make crooks out of your merchants.

Prison League at Huntsville Aids Worthy Prisoners

Thirty convicts who have served their sentences from many Texas counties have been found employment through the Texas Prison Welfare League, an organization that was born within the walls of the state penitentiary. Headquarters of the league are maintained at the prison chapel, surrounded by the high walls. At this place reports are received regularly from the 30 discharged men, from their employers who state that they are making good in their attempt to be law-abiding citizens.

Every officer and member of the organization are inmates of the penitentiary. In August, 1928, a few convicts during a rest period discussed what could be done by the men who had lost their liberty for some other person. They called for Warden E. F. Harrell. The conference which followed resulted in the formation of the league.

Welfare Worker.

Eugene V. Simmons, inmate who had done considerable welfare work in Philadelphia, was chosen president. So successfully has the league operated that Simmons recently was sent from within the walls to the prison farms to form branches of the organization. Other officers are Marshall R. Smith, vice president; Martin V. Fisher, treasurer, and John Stratford, secretary.

"Here in the walls it looked like we were shut off from doing something for others," said Stratford; "but the league has furnished us something to do. When a prisoner is to be discharged we attempt to find a job for him, providing his record in the penitentiary has been clean. We write to factories and shops and explain that the man is to be an ex-convict, but that he wants to make good. We ask for reports from the man after he takes the job and also from the employer.

"As the inmate is about to leave we call him in and talk with him. We tell him that if he violates the faith placed in him by his employer it will hurt the men back in the walls who have hopes of liberty some day and who will want a job when they are released to face the world."

League Statement.

When a man is sent to the penitentiary he is handed a statement from the league. The statement in part follows:

"Now that you are here, you may properly ask yourself this question, 'What am I going to do now?'"

"No matter what the circumstances may be that brought about your presence here—you may feel that you do not deserve, in the first place to be here; that you were not guilty, or that you were unlawfully convicted or you have been convicted on purely circumstantial evidence. But nevertheless you unquestionably must realize that you now are actually here. Remember that the past is a closed book, and not an entry on its pages can be changed or obliterated. You are dealing now with the stern reality of the present, so the question of what you are going to do now is an important one.

"First of all, let us give you a word of advice, and bear in mind that this advice comes from fellow prisoners, who have been thru the mill and speak from experience and is given in a purely friendly spirit. That advice is to urge upon you to keep your record clean.

Record Advantages. "One of the advantages of a clear record is that it makes you eligible for membership in the Texas Prison Welfare League, and if you become a member of the league you will be brought into contact with the better class of prisoners and be entitled to take advantage of the many classes in elementary branches and the commercial, manual training and trade schools conducted by the league under the control and with the co-operation of the prison officials."

About 100 inmates attend the league's classes regularly. Classes are conducted at night in telegraphy, shorthand, tailoring and Spanish. Trade schools also teach other vocations.

When an inmate leaves the penitentiary he is given by the State a suit of clothing, hat, pair of shoes, accessories and $50 in cash. If he has had a clear record and has held membership in the Prison League he now has a chance at obtaining employment as soon as he can get to the city where the job awaits him.

Under the direction of the league, entertainment is provided for men within the walls. Short sermons and addresses by laymen are arranged. Programs are given, sometimes by inmate talent.

Stratford, in addition to being secretary of the league, is editor of The Echo, printed at the penitentiary shop. A subscription price of $1 a year is charged for the publication, which has a circulation outside as well as within the walls. Any person desiring to receive copies of The Echo for one year and at the same time aid the welfare work and the movement to educate and entertain men whose liberty has been taken away, should send $1 to the Texas Prison Welfare League, Huntsville.

All regular writers for The Echo are inmates. The publication prints news items of general interest and gives reports of activities in various departments and branches of the penitentiary work.

Warden Harrell and W. H. Head, general manager of the State Penitentiary System, co-operate with the inmates in the maintenance of the league and the publication of The Echo.

"ORGATONE HAS RELIEVED ME OF NERVOUSNESS AND HAS MADE A NEW WOMAN OF ME"

"Since Orgatone relieved me of my nervousness I just can't help praising it to everybody," said Mrs. A. W. Amick, of 1018 Buchanan Street, Amarillo, Texas.

"For over six months, I suffered from extreme nervousness and loss of appetite. At nights I was unable to get any sound sleep or rest on account of my nervousness, and I got so I could hardly eat anything at all.

"My first dose of Orgatone seemed to hit the spot and I have been getting better ever since. I can eat with a relish and have no trouble with gas. My stomach is toned up and I feel better in every way than I have in a long time. Orgatone has relieved my nervous trouble and at night I can sleep as sound as a dollar and my general health has improved since I began taking Orgatone to the extent that I hardly feel like the same person. Orgatone has certainly been a blessing to me and there is no better Orgatone booster in this town than I am."

For Good Cultivating in Wide or Narrow Rows—

JOHN DEERE NF CULTIVATOR

Because it is simpler to operate; because it does a more thorough job of cultivating, this John Deere Two-Row is the popular favorite among general farmers. The John Deere NF will do good work in your cotton, corn, potato, or cabbage fields, whether you have planted with a one-row or two-row planter.

Some of the advantages that make the NF such an overwhelming favorite are:

1. The easily-operated, conveniently-located spacing lever, which enables you to instantly space gangs in or out as you drive, keeping shovels the desired distance from rows, in all the varying conditions.
2. The tilting lever, which permits changing set and suck of shovels without stopping team.
3. One master lever, which raises or lowers all rigs—no stop necessary at end of rows.

You can get the NF with three-horse or with four-horse hitch with tongue truck. Any style of rigs you require.

Come in and ask to see this famous cultivator.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE AVERAGE MAN TO THE BOY OF HIS COMMUNITY

The boy in any community has certain rights, we have not always recognized them perhaps as we should. He has a right to demand something of you and I—that we be honest, upright and moral, meet our obligations and set an example for him. He has a right to an opportunity to develop character. Character is not inherent, it is built. It is a product of environment and training. A bad boy is the result of mistreatment and mishandling. A boy has the right to an opportunity for the developing and training of character.

The elements of character are:

1. Intelligence.
2. Temperment.
3. Skill.
4. Morality.

We inherit a super-structure of intelligence upon which character is built. You can not develop character in a baboon. But you treat a boy like a baboon and you have just about as much character as a baboon.

Therefore:

1. Intelligence. Every boy has the right to expect of us—it is our responsibility in fact—intellectual training—the training that will enable him to go out and meet life's battles with an equal opportunity with every boy. Our schools are doing a great work here.

2. Temperment—Every boy has the right to expect us to contribute in a way that will develop his temperamental body along with his intellectual body. Many intellectual boy has been ruined by the mistreatment of the individual. The biggest thing that a boy gets out of college is the ability to meet other individuals. The line between intelligence and temperment is marked. Intelligence is the power or ability to learn; to accumulate knowledge; the response to the stimulation of his environment. Temperment is the response to internal stimulation. I may be grouchy because I have indigestion; or the life of my environment may have been disturbed. Here is where a boys camp plays a large part, for it teaches him to live together and get along with his fellowmen.

3. Skill. Skills are those things that we do in life's activities for the purpose of contributing to the social betterment of the world. The boy has the right to expect us to advance his training to make him skillful. Only about one out of four men are satisfied with their chosen life work, therefore if the boy wants to become something his community is responsible in seeing that he has the opportunity to do so; for when he has received his training he will contribute much to the community and will receive himself only a comparatively small return. Through the merit badge work of the Boy Scouts a boy tries out some eighty vocations, and in contact with men who have become successful in these lines he may find his life work. Therefore the boy has the right to expect us to encourage and stimulate in him an interest in some business or profession.

4. Moral. For every character has its moral side. We have certain attitudes toward life and people that is our temperamental attitude. Every boy has a skill in some particular thing but above all is our moral attitude as a element in character development. Boys are here worships. Every man is some boy's ideal. We should set for him and example, that we would not be ashamed to have him follow. Every boy picks out a man he hopes to be like. He has a ideal in mind created by training and is looking around for a body in which he can introduce it.

I am the average citizen. I come into contact with boys and leave traces of things he hopes to be. The boys shapes his ideal and hunts around for a man to shape it around. He puts that ideal into some man and that man becomes his hero.

Any program that fills the boy's spare time with things worthwhile for him to do should be supported by the average citizen. The Boy Scouts of America have such a program and should be supported by individuals and institutions.

South Plains Farmers Will Increase Sunflower Acreage

Farmers in the Lamesa section who tried out sunflower farming the past season will increase their acreage this year. J. R. Weaver, known as the sunflower king, will plant more than three thousand acres alone.

Reports have it that this crop is more remunerative than cotton, more easily grown, has no insect pests and immune from hail damage. An ever ready market at a good price assures the grower against loss.

The seeds alone are used for the present by manufacturers. The oil is extracted and used for many purposes. The pummas or residue from the presses is then sold to chicken feed manufacturers.

Chiropractors in Convention At City Hall Sunday

The Panhandle Chiropractic Association met in a monthly meeting here Sunday with a limited number in attendance.

The main topic before the convention was the relief to be sought of the legislature. The practitioners have for a number of years asked the state to grant them a board on a part with boards governing other legal professions. To date this has not been granted, the forty out of the forty-eight states have passed laws recognizing this method of sick relief.

The next meeting will be held at the Herring hotel in Amarillo July 14th. The Tri-District Association will meet in Lockney June the 16th. The Tri-District Association consists of the Red River, Panhandle and South Plains associations.

Among those present here for Sunday's deliberations was president Dr. L. M. Black of Amarillo. Other Amarillo practitioners were Drs. Armstrong and Bromert, Dr. Jodoin and wife of White Deer, Drs. Roberts and Crail of Borger, Dr. Bryant of Tulla, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. McCullom of Lockney, and Dr. and Mrs. C. W. A small building of mature years, long the home of Aunt Lucy on the north side before it was used for a pest house, went up in smoke Sunday night.

Besides being a disease pest house, it also had a notorious reputation as a "crap emporium" where many game of African golf had been shot according to those who keep up with such exercises. At any rate, the whole shebang is almost ruined. The fire department made a quick run and saved some of the walls, having the fire under control within less than five minutes after the big pumper was connected with the main. This engine puts a two hundred pound pressure behind the water which is plenty of force to knock out windows in the second story according to a statement of one of the fire boys Monday.

The historic relic is no more—merely a matter of history. Those who engage in the questionable sport of seban-come-leben may now return to the box car as of yore.
