

SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN CLOSES IN A BLAZE OF GLORY AT THE PASTIME THEATRE SATURDAY NIGHT

Contestants Are Awarded Handsome Prizes Just As Promised And Are Proud That They Had A Share In Putting It Over Strong

The Pastime Theatre was packed at an early hour Saturday night in anxious anticipation of the public in seeing the Leader's prizes awarded the successful contestants of the biggest subscription campaign conducted by any weekly paper in the Panhandle.

Early in the campaign the contestants had each selected a judge to represent them, and these judges were seated on the rostrum ready to receive their instructions. The list of judges included Holman Kennedy, Roy Clayton, Jack Killough, Fenn Bourland, Homer Mulkey and G. L. Boykin.

An official ballot box was placed on the rostrum before the judges into which was deposited the last week's subscriptions and money by each of the contestants according to the rules of the manager, Mr. Frank Kane. The ballot box was then locked and the judges retired to the Donley County State Bank where the official count was carefully made.

Upon the return of the judges, announcement was made of the successful prize winners as follows: First prize, a Dodge Bros. sedan purchased from Ballew and Noble, won by Mrs. Walter Wilson. Second prize, a RCA radiola retailing at $575.00 purchased from H. C. Kerbow & Sons was awarded to Mrs. Zavella Lynn. Third prize, a handsome $225.00 walnut bedroom suite, purchased from the Amarillo Furniture Co., was awarded Miss Ruby Moffitt of Hedley. Fourth prize, a handsome diamond ring valued at $150.00, purchased from Stocking's Drug Store, was awarded Mrs. Duke Keyes. Fifth prize, a beautiful diamond bar pin valued at $75.00 and purchased from Goldston Brothers, was awarded to Miss Dutch Reese of Albreed.

Mr. Frank Kane of the Kane Circulation Company is due much credit for having successfully built for the Leader a subscription list second to none in west Texas. Backed by a corps of enthusiastic workers whose interest never ceased, he himself imbibed the same degree of enthusiasm and enjoyed the work the full seven weeks starting many times that he was indeed proud of the ladies who had consented to assist him and that they had no equal in all his contest experience covering a period of over a quarter of a century.

The larger subscription lists as a matter of fact came from local sources, Lelia Lake and Hedley. Next to Clarendon, Hedley has the largest list. Brice, Albreed, McLean, Groom, Jericho and Ashtola also show a list in keeping with the population. Many other smaller places in the trade territory are represented. The management is elated over the good will enjoyed by the Leader and the many compliments paid us for having the best county-wide publication of the Panhandle. We shall always strive to merit that confidence and feel assured of the cooperation of our reader public and advertisers in maintaining the present high standard.

Advertisers are already buying space due to the fact that our paper reaches all the trade territory. While we have spent hundreds of dollars in giving this trade territory a first-class publication, we have no regrets with a bright future before us, backed by the best people of the best section of Texas.

In closing this article, the Leader wishes to thank the public for the extreme courtesies shown our contestants at all times. Not a complaint was made during the entire period. To Mr. Mulkey, owner of the Pastime Theatre, we offer our thanks and that of the contestants and Mr. Kane for the kindness shown us in the use of the theatre Saturday night. The judges are assured of the appreciation of all those interested in the contest and their part of the work of deciding the most important problems, met with the approval of all concerned.

Giles Women Practice Real Diversification Canning Fruit in Variety

The Giles section has a reputation for fruit production but it is not generally known that the famed Himalaya berries do well in that section. Mrs. E. H. Watt who resides about a mile northwest of Giles reports the berries as doing well for her.

Mrs. J. A. Lemmon, residing in the edge of town reports that she has been growing the Himalaya berries for two years, and that they do not freeze back in winter.

Mrs. J. D. McCants of the same section makes a good report on the berries. In addition to the berry that is new and better than either dew or black berries, these ladies have access to many varieties of fruit and have been busily engaged the past month canning and preserving fruit along the more modern methods, a knowledge of which has been acquired in the demonstration club work.

Crysler Agency Is Sold To Well Known Local Men

The Chrysler agency operated by the White Motor Co. was taken over by Doss Palmer and Gene Noland, both men connected with the Palmer Motor company, this week.

The car agency will be operated separate from the regular garage business. A complete stock of parts will be kept according to Mr. Palmer, and every effort made to render the service to be expected of an agency of the Chrysler class.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenn Bourland of McLean visited relatives here over the week end. Mr. Bourland represented Miss Dutch Reese of Albreed in the closing of the Leader's contest at the Pastime Saturday night.

Ford Is Wrecked Sunday With No Serious Casualties

While coming towards town driving a truck loaded with about four thousand pounds of wheat Sunday, "Oot" Bell was suddenly faced with a Ford touring and only quick work on his part avoided a possible loss of life on the part of the nine occupants of the Barbee car.

Reports have it that the Barbee car was in the lead followed by the Bell truck and several cars following. The front car suddenly turned to enter a gate and the Bell truck struck the end of the car. The truck was turned over, a wheel and other parts broken but no injury to the driver.

The touring car was knocked into the ditch and the occupants badly shaken up but no serious bodily injuries resulted. M. E. Bell, owner of the truck, is having the touring car repaired and the truck will again be hauling wheat before the end of the week.

Brice Child Badly Injured Saturday Morning

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Halford of near Brice was accidentally run over by a loaded wagon and badly injured Saturday morning. The child was immediately rushed to the Wilder Sanitarium here where an examination revealed the fact that bones of an arm and leg were crushed.

At this time he is resting as well as could be expected and, barring complications, his chances for recovery are good.

Mrs. Della Mahaffey and daughters, Misses Faye and Willie of Santa Anna, California are visiting in the home of their son and brother, Slayton Mahaffey and other relatives and friends in and near Clarendon.

CITY-COUNTY HOSPITAL WORK IS BEING RUSHED

Workmen Have Been Rushing Work On Building For An Early Opening

Interest is increasing as the opening day for the City-County hospital nears. The X-ray equipment contributed by the Drs. Jenkins has been installed and tested out.

Plumbing fixtures have been installed and some of the old repaired and put in condition. The entire inside of the building has been gone over with a new paint job by Homer Taylor, local paint contractor, and the furniture refinished. Cots and beds have been refinished according to hospital standards giving the inside a general air of readiness at this time.

Prominent Contractor Dies on Way Home Thursday

Citizens of this and surrounding territory were suddenly shocked to learn of the death of Frank R. Smith Thursday. Mr. Smith was known over the Panhandle as one of the leading cement men and was seized with a sudden attack of acute indigestion Thursday while working on the new ranch home of Fred Gordon near Miami.

He was immediately rushed home for medical treatment but passed away at a point north of the river before reaching town. The body was taken in charge by the local undertakers and prepared for burial.

His wife and children had been appraised of the serious illness of the husband and father and were eagerly awaiting his coming only to receive the sad news of his death.

Clarendon has been the family home for a number of years and have always been held in high esteem. Mr. Smith and his son Doak have done much of the construction work in their line here, and many buildings bear evidence of the skill of the man whom we now miss as builder, neighbor and friend.

Funeral services were conducted by Revs. S. E. Allison and L. A. Reavis Saturday and a large concourse of friends of the family accompanied the remains to their last resting place in the Citizens Cemetery. The Leader joins with these friends in extending to the bereaved family sincerest sympathy in this dark hour.

CREAM SHIPMENTS ALMOST TREBLED IN SIX MONTHS

Cream Shipment Indicate A Money Making Era For Donley County

Cream marketing was an important item in this section many years ago. In fact there was an effort made here to operate a creamery for the manufacture of cheese. That was many years ago and the idea dwindled down to almost nothing with the coming of high prices for other farm products.

Now that prices are higher on cream than on many other farm products in proportion to cost of production, more attention is being paid to butter fat with a result of trebled production within the last six months.

Cream shipments for January amounted to 210 cans of ten gallons each. February showed an increase of only four cans over the previous month. March receipts amounted to 254 or a gain of forty cans. April showed a decided gain with 304 cans. May showed a gain of sixty cans and a total of 564 ten gallon cans. June was the banner month with 587 cans shipped. These figures are taken from the records of the local express office and are verified by G. L. Greene as being correct. The above amounts do not include any cream shipments that may have been made by truck.

Most of the cream shipped out of Clarendon goes to Elk City, Okla. Other places to which shipments are made in quantity include Centerville, Ia., Trinidad, Colo., and Wichita Falls.

Clarendon Loses Heart Breaker As McLean Ump Goes Blind

The Clarendon ball squad journeyed to McLean Sunday for one of the best ball games of the season. The Clarendon boys out-hit the McLean boys by 7 to 5, although losing by a score of 4 to 3. We enjoyed several fine examples of great lawyer-ship by the McLean twin brother act, of the S. S. and Third base while the umpire went blind in the 8th inning. If the home town could have seen such great fighting spirit the boys put up they would back them to the limit.

Now come on out the next game played in Clarendon and show the baseball team that you are interested and want to see them win.

PRESBYTERIAN CONFERENCE GATHERS HERE TOMORROW

Presbyterian Church Nearing Completion as Main Walls Are Going Up Rapidly

Work on the new Presbyterian church is being rushed with the good weather and the main walls on the sides of the building are almost complete. The building material is kept well ahead of the workmen and no delay is anticipated to complete the structure by the middle of August, if not sooner.

This building with brick of a beautiful color and the new brick residence of W. P. Cagle across the street is already adding much to the general appearance of that section of the city.

Church Benefits From Mile Of Pennies Contributed

Some six months ago the ladies of the Christian church conceived the idea of collecting a mile of pennies to apply on the church debt. Mrs. Eva Humphrey brot to the Leader office Monday a half gallon jar full of pennies. This represents the penny free will offering for the six months for a special purpose.

The jar weighs eighteen pounds. The money contained therein amounts to twenty-eight dollars and eighty-five cents. The following poem written by Alfred Estlack was pasted on the jar in the beginning of the collection: Hark! you people, listen! Lend your hand and smile. Drop in your pennies many. And make them reach a mile.

Now here's the proposition. With those pennies arrayed in style We may lay them side by side And make them reach a mile. Mrs. Humphrey took the money to the bank and the funds collected by this unique method will be immediately applied to the church debt.

Some Cabbage Producers Are Top Knotchers in Donley

In last week's issue appeared an item in the Leader recounting the cabbage produced by Mr. E. L. Lewis of Lelia Lake. Not to be outdone, Mr. J. H. Easterling, an enterprising farmer out west of town, brought in eighteen heads of cabbage for the Lowe grocery having a combined weight of one hundred and six pounds, or an average of almost six pounds to the head.

Eddie Frantz and Jack Jones are scheduled to spend the glorious 4th at Medicine Park.

COUNTY CLUBS ARE ENTERTAINED AT LELIA FRIDAY

Ladies Of the Clubs Give A Practical Demonstration Of Cooking Art

What the crowd lacked for in number was made up in enthusiasm at the meeting of the various Donley County Demonstration clubs at the Cottingham camp ground at Lelia Lake Friday. The morning hours were taken up with the sheer dress contest and a general good time of visiting on the part of the elders while the younger set kept the bathing pool amusement going at top speed.

A most delicious lunch was spread at the noon hour in which all took a decided interest. Many and various foods advertised the fact that Donley county is not lacking in good cooks by any means. After lunch and a period of rest, Miss Harvey Thompson, Donley county's popular Home Demonstration agent, called the gathering to order and proceeded with the program of the afternoon.

H. T. Burton, superintendent of the Clarendon schools was called on for a talk and in an interesting manner explained the many items of thought in connection with the establishment of the county municipal junior college. His remarks met with popular approval and were fully appreciated if one may judge by the actions of his listeners.

R. L. Bigger made a speech that would have made a Joe Bailey blush with shame. Among his pertinent remarks he stated that the sale of poultry and milk products by the women of Donley county stabilized the credit of the husband at the local banks and often enabled the head (?) of the household to borrow money when it would have otherwise been impossible. This is an admitted fact alright but the men present objected to it being rubbed in by a speaker of copious dimensions armed with an auto casing in each hand when the remark was wafted to their unerring ears. While the men sat stupidly dumb the women clapped their hands with glee and extended an urgent invitation to the speaker to attend all future gatherings where food was to be served. Mr. Bigger is a liberal contributor to the prize list and is a big booster for the club work.

G. L. Boykin, graduate of Texas A. & M., a teacher of many years experience and a most successful one at that and now secretary of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, made a plea for the junior college. This speaker seldom looked up while speaking which was a mystery to some of the ladies until one vouchsafed the information that she had seen him hide an apricot pie in his shirt bosom. This statement must have been a joke for the reason that he had eaten all the apricot pies obtainable at the noon hour.

Further merriment was produced when Sam Braswell, R. E. Newman of Hedley and J. C. Estlack made an attempt at imitating the oratory of Mr. Bigger. Each spoke in favor of the club work complimenting the ladies for their accomplishments.

Mr. W. D. Van Eaton made a strong plea for the education of the boys and girls by the establishment of the junior college. Mr. Van Eaton has always been a strong financial supporter of education and his sincerity brot tears to the eyes of many bystanders. If Donley county had more such citizens, our school needs would already have been supplied. The speaker found a tender sympathy in recounting some of his personal hardships and many others that had come under his personal observation.

POPULAR MINISTER BEGINS REVIVAL HERE ON 22ND

One Of South's Most Learned Bible Scholars Will Be Here In Tent Meeting

Announcement is made by local members of the Christian church that a series of meetings in charge of Dr. John W. Tyndall will begin here the twenty-second of this month. A tent will be provided of a capacity to comfortably seat at least fifteen hundred people. It is planned to pitch this tent on the west side of the old Grammar school building so that ample parking space may be had without interfering with the traffic in the least.

Dr. Tyndall is well known to many of this section having been here upon many occasions in the past in revival meetings and debates. At present he is engaged in a revival at Crockett, Texas. His services are in great demand and his schedule of dates are several months in the future.

A professional song leader will be present and first-class music and logical sermons that will appeal are assured those who avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the South's most learned bible student and orator.

Clarendon Will Be Hostess For A Two Day Session Of Many Visitors

The Panhandle Conference of the Dallas Presbytery composed of the ministers of the Panhandle, will meet in Clarendon Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The ministers will be guests of the city that never fails to extend every courtesy to make the visitors feel at home. The conferences will be held in the local Presbyterian church, the new church not being ready for occupancy.

A banquet will be spread at the Hotel Clarendon for the visitors Thursday evening at 7:00 followed by a general discussion of subjects of interest to the church of the Panhandle section.

Reports received by the local pastor, Rev. Robt. S. McKee would indicate a full attendance from the many places where the church is represented. Many noted ministers will be in attendance and the public will be invited to hear some of them.

County Demonstrator Asks Leader's Explanation

In our article of last week regarding the trip taken by our Home Demonstration Agent, we left the inference that all her expenses were paid. Miss Thompson states that such is not the case and that she thought the educational advantage to herself personally, and the information gathered for Donley county women sufficient to justify her in spending some two hundred and fifty dollars of hard earned money in making the West Indies trip.

The A. & M. officials and County Commissioners thought it enough that she be granted official time to make this trip. All of the Demonstration Agents of the state, eight in number, went on the same terms. Again we say that Miss Harvey Thompson is entitled to no little credit for having been selected as one of eight out of the large number of agents of the state to make the trip.

S. T. Teague, chaperone of the A. N. Wood grocery and a mighty good man, has made up his mind to try living in Philadelphia. His son Milton, and wife and little Marguerite and the old gentleman are on their way to the big city.

Marine Oil Test Has Little To Report For Week

Drillers at the Marine oil test are reported to have broken thru the big lime and have encountered a strata of salt water on top of the granite wash. This formation is logging with the Pampa field, so say drillers who have worked in that field.

Some of the best wells of the Panhandle found production after passing through the salt and granite wash structure.

ADVICE

"Advice is cheap" is an old saying and is pretty much true when unsolicited. The old maid and the old bachelor is often free with advice on raising children. That is no more ridiculous than for the financial failure to attempt to suggest to the successful just how the business should be conducted. Very often in employing help, the business man is suddenly confronted with the fact that an inexperienced failure is ready with advice. Free, it is true, but what a joke.

PATRIOTISM

The 152 anniversary on July 4th largely means little more than a holiday. There was a time when it meant much more. People of this day and time are not concerned in war and little attention is paid to instilling patriotism into the young outside of the school room and one or two boys' organizations.

This is an age of development. We need no war neither do we want any more wars. If you are in doubt about the matter, ask some of the physical wrecks who did their duty in the last war.

We hold in sacred memory those who paved the way for us back in '76. No nobler men and women ever lived than they. Those people left to us a heritage uncomparable on the globe. It is ours to make of it what we wish.

CIVILIZATION

We spend thousands of dollars developing live stock. Experts on a high salary paid by both the state and the federal government look after hogs. Should a sick hog of mysterious malady be reported to state headquarters, an expert would be sent forthwith to determine the trouble and remedy the matter if at all possible. The service would be free.

Should your child become afflicted with some malady that was beyond your local physician, you would have to dig up the cash to transfer the patient to some hospital in a larger city. Just what place would be a wide guess. You would be at the mercy of most any one who might offer a suggestion. You are a victim of circumstances simply because you have a child on your hands instead of a "hog". And yet we boast of a civilization without equal.

If one commits murder, they alibi out it thru the insanity channel. One has a large variety of forms from which to make a selection. If you happen to have a nice cash balance, perhaps you could break into the "praeox" list, tho that is admittedly expensive. Expensive because it must be backed up by sanity experts or alienists from some "nut house". The commonest form of high-price insanity is "dementia praeox" which runs around two thousand a case whether you get by the law or not.

An able bodied man is killed by our modern laws for various crimes. The insane, either sham or real, is taken care of at state expense the remainder of that criminal's life. In other words we place a premium on deficiency. Great is our boasted civilization.

GOOD WILL

As another illustration of what might happen when a big corporation does not see fit to cultivate the good will of the public by cooperation, one has only to refer to the Denver and Rock Island roads in their fight for the Shamrock territory.

The Rock Island, Santa Fe and Clinton, Oklahoma & Western are the three roads opposing the Denver road building north from Childress. In addition to these roads, the people of all the towns off the Denver and even the leading men of Amarillo are boosters for the Rock Island. There must be a reason. The public appreciates the fact that the Rock Island spends time and money in developing the territory thru which their roads operate.

The Rock Island has been a big factor in the development of the Shamrock country. That road is a real asset to any section. High salaried men are employed by that road to assist the farmers and stockmen in helping them to make good. If the Denver road has ever done anything to help this section, we would like to know it as the public has often wondered just why the road never did appreciate the business in this section. Some times the people really rule after all.

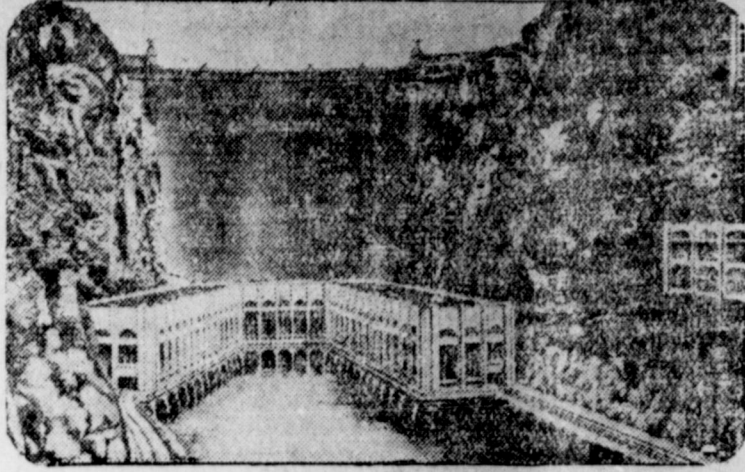

Hot dog! West Texas is coming into its own with one of the swellest assets that was ever assted. Protest as they may, all the doctors, powder manufacturers and violet ray boys cannot meet competition in west Texas since dame fashion has decreed that milady should wear a tan complexion including face, neck, arms and even legs.

We have to admit that we are short on fly dope but we have the natural complexion dope for putting on exactly the right tan. Some judgment may be used in time exposures regulating the desired shade from a tint to a rawhide brown. When the beauty culturists demanded mud, we were blown up. Creams were a decided imported commodity.

Tans in the can are on the market in quantity and powders of dusky hue by the ton. M. D.'s often write prescriptions and the office fitted with an ultra-violet ray is swarmed both day and night. It beats the Yo Yo craze two to one, but listen! brother we have 'em all faded. Since the earliest dawn of the entrance of the whites to the ballies of west Texas, the ladies have labored to retain that delicate complexion so dear to the feminine heart. Now instead of taking her afternoon siesta in darkened room with her face covered with a rubber mask or mud of questionable origin milady's cadual appendage may be suspended out the the window on the south exposed to the health-giving natural ultra-violet rays of old Sol. The reduction in cost of this modern day makeup is plainly apparent.

Not only that, in order to retain the latest acquirement of the beauty fadist, less clothing must be worn making it possible to fashion a dress from a measurement of cloth no larger than a handkerchief. Thus another big saving is effected which means more gas and a bigger demand for more and better roads. In order to keep abreast of the times and maintain their reputations, medical men are resorting to the knife or inoculations in a brave fight to relegate to oblivion troublesome and unsightly varicose veins. Laboratories are running in a twenty-four hour shift in a diligent search for a fly repellent that is at once both odorless and colorless. Safety razor factories are making every effort to provide that article for removing every vestige of a reminder of nature's first garb of a prehistoric ancestor.

Early to recognize the possibilities of this newly discovered wealth, Amarillo's business men immediately flooded the east with literature extolling the wonderful virtues of her climate as a modern beauty builder. As a result of this outburst of business acumen, feminine immigration is headed for the Panhandle in hordes. Some came by airplane, others by auto others are hitch-hiking in a manner that make's Pyle's bunien derby pale into insignificance.

In order to properly take care of this flood of immigration, Old Tack has established a matrimonial bureau headed with a list of crusty old bachelors owning thousands of acres of beauty area. Great is West Texas with the most cosmopolitan complexion of assets on the globe.

Constitutional Amendments Affecting General Welfare

Two more important constitutional amendments, as affecting the general welfare, perhaps could not now be submitted to the people of Texas than the two amendments to be voted upon on July 16th, 1929, to-wit:

1. To increase the number of judges on the Supreme Court of Texas from three to nine, and provide for a continuous session of the court; and,

2. To increase the Governor's salary from $4,000.00 per annum to $10,000.00 per annum.

The Supreme Court Amendment
Our present constitution was adopted Feb. 1876. It provided that the Supreme Court should consist of a Chief Justice and two associate Justices, and should have appellate jurisdiction in all cases of which the district courts had original or appellate jurisdiction.

It was soon recognized that the appellate jurisdiction thus conferred upon the Supreme Court constituted a burden beyond the ability of three judges to discharge. Accordingly in 1891, an amendment to the constitution was adopted creating Courts of Civil Appeals and materially limiting the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, yet allowing the Supreme Court to retain jurisdiction of matters essential to the general welfare.

This amendment provided that "The Legislature shall, as soon as practicable, after the adoption of the amendment, divide the State into not less than two, nor more than three Supreme Judicial districts, and thereafter into such additional districts as the increase of population and business may require, and shall establish a Court of Civil Appeals in each of said districts."

In 1890 Texas ranked 7th in population in the United States. Today she ranks 5th. The population of Texas has increased from 2,235,527 in 1890 to 4,663,288 in 1920 and 5,487,000 in 1929. The business of the courts has increased with the population, and to the normal increase has been added the extraordinary increase of litigation growing out of the oil and gas development in the State.

The Legislature has been compelled to increase the number of Courts of Civil Appeals from two to eleven, and the creation of the twelfth Court of Civil Appeals is now eminent. From each of these existing Courts of Civil Appeals a steady stream of cases has been flowing into the Supreme Court.

For years, under this arrangement, the Supreme Court has been overwhelmed. The Legislature, seeking to give the court relief, has created a Commission of Appeals, consisting of two sections of three judges each, whose duty it is to assist the Supreme Court in considering and preparing opinions in the cases submitted. These opinions of the Commissioners are submitted back to the Supreme Court for approval, and when approved and rendered, become the judgments of the Supreme Court.

This arrangement is most unsatisfactory to the bench and bar of the State. The opinions of the Supreme Court, based on the investigations of others, however eminently qualified the others may be, are not accepted to be as authoritative as the opinions would be if the judges of the Supreme Court had made their own investigations.

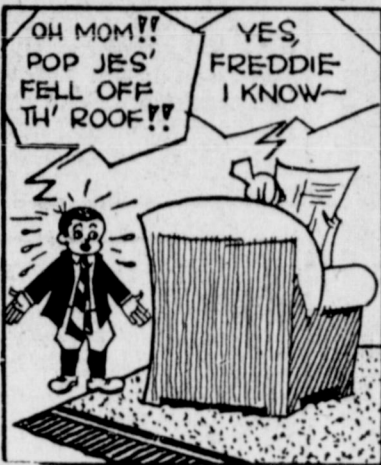

Furthermore, under the present Constitution, the Supreme Court is in session only nine months out of the year. From July 1st to Oct. 1st, the court is closed and the wheels of justice, so far as the court of last resort is concerned, temporarily cease to turn.

The fight of recourse to the court for redress of grievances is one of our boasted liberties, and the right of appeal is one of the cherished privileges of the Anglo-Saxon people. Any system, therefore, that denies that privilege or which, by lack of machinery, retards the right of appeal until it ceased to be effective is obnoxious to the traditions of our race and the fundamentals of our system of government.

The increase of the Supreme Court from three judges to nine judges is absolutely essential to the proper administration of justice in Texas at this time. In no other way, at this time, could the patriotic citizen more effectively promote the general welfare than by voting for this constitutional amendment on July 16th.

The adoption of this amendment will make the court of last resort available to our citizenship at all times without the inevitable delay that obtains under the present system.

Governor's Salary
The office of Chief Executive is the highest official position in importance in our State. The whole structure of our State Government is pivoted around the office of Governor. The responsibility of big business executives is not to be compared with the responsibility resting upon the shoulders of the Governor of Texas.

In 1876, the salary of the Governor was fixed in the Constitution at $4,000.00. It stands today at $4,000.00. Only persons of means, or unscrupulous politicians, can afford to hold the position. Fortunately for Texas, for the most part, patriotic citizens of unquestioned integrity and ability have held the office, but always at great financial sacrifice;—all to the shame of our State, which demands the highest character of executiveship at a grossly inadequate compensation.

On July 16th, the people will have an opportunity to remove this stigma, by voting the Constitutional Amendment to increase the Governor's salary from $4,000.00 to $10,000.00 per annum.

The sum of $10,000.00 is still inadequate to reflect the dignity of the office to which it relates, but it will be, at least, a step in the right direction.

These observations are submitted through the press on the assumption that people generally will be interested in a discussion of a governmental measure, of this character, which will affect vitally the general welfare.

All those not getting their papers, are kindly requested to call at the office or phone 386.

WILD, WILD WOMEN WHOOPEE "WHOOPEE"

"The Wild Party" Sounds Gay
Note of Mad, Merry Youth
At the Rialto

"The Wild Party," a romantic comedy, starring Clara Bow, with Fredric March, Marceline Day, Shirley O'Hara, Joyce Compton, Adrienne Dore, Jack Oakie, Jack Luden and Ben Hendricks, Jr. Directed by Dorothy Arzner. At the Pastime Theatre, July 8th and 9th.

When better whoopee is made, Clara will make it," might well have been the motto of the Paramount sponsors of Miss Bow's latest confection of the screen. "The Wild Party," which will open at the Pastime Theatre, July 8th and 9th.

The story of "The Wild Party" from one written by Warner Fabian, calls for youth's maddest flaunting of the conventions, and the action reaches many a crescendo pitch as Clara and her mates have their wild, unbridled flings in night clubs and at week-end parties.

There is an undercurrent of true romance throughout the play which bubbles to the surface, triumphantly, in the last few scenes. Fredric March furnishes the heroic male appeal in the play, carrying off the role of a college professor with a delightful intelligence. He is dark-haired and handsome, and his directors did well to choose him as the lover.

A dazzling group of "baby stars" supports the inimitable Clara in true "hey-hey" style, furnishing an "It" complement that rounds out the film in the full curves of wholesome femininity.

What Our Contestants Have To Say About It Now

I want to thank the many, many friends and the good people of the general public who so kindly assisted me in winning the Dodge sedan of the Donley County Leader's big prize subscription campaign.

Especially do I thank the manager of the campaign, Mr. Frank Kane, and Mr. Estlack, owner of the Leader, for their fairness and honesty in this the biggest weekly newspaper campaign ever put on in the Panhandle.

Mrs. Walter Wilson.

It is with a deep sense of appreciation that I recall the many kind favors shown me during the recent subscription campaign of the Donley County Leader.

I want to thank Mr. Estlack and Mr. Kane for their utmost fairness and honesty all thru the contest, in enabling me to win the second prize.

These favors shown me will never be forgotten.

Mrs. Zavilla Lynn.

As winner of the bedroom suite in your subscription contest, I want to thank you and Mr. Kane most heartily for the nice gift and for your honest method in a campaign of this kind.

I found no little pleasure in getting subscriptions because the public likes the Leader and I met your friends and my friends at one and the same time. I am glad that I helped with the biggest subscription drive ever put on in the Panhandle by any weekly paper.

Ruby Moffitt.

Although I did not win the first prize, I am proud of the fact that I won 4th place and received a square deal all thru the campaign and possibly would have won first had I not stopped to go so much. The people were all good to me and I had lots of fun.

Mrs. Duke Keys.

I am sure that I would have won a more expensive prize had I not been sick so much during the contest period, but in winning the diamond bar pin, I am certainly proud of it. I want to thank

Mr. Estlack and Mr. Kane for their fair and honest treatment and assure the Donley County Leader of my good will and that of my friends and readers in our section of the country.

Dutch Reese.

Leader Store Has Big Event During Special Sale

According to a statement of Ben Saied, proprietor of the Leader store here, the present sale is going over big. People over a wide range of country have come in for supplies to last them indefinitely. The story of the Leader sale was carried over the entire trade territory by means of the Donley County Leader, which has made a county-wide drive for readers and succeeded beyond all expectations.

The Saieds are progressive business men. The Leader store at Wellington in charge of Mack Saied has recently undergone extensive repairs and changes. A complete modern glass front was added and hardwood floors put in as well as other changes made necessary by a constant increase in business.

Ginners Make Preparations On Present Crop Outlook

Most all ginners make more or less improvements during the summer and plan on a general overhauling job. In addition to the general overhauling at the Fitzgerald gin here, a new burr extractor is being added that will clean the cotton of burrs and other foreign substances where it is hand picked or raked up with a sled. H. Fitzgerald looks after the interests of the farmers at this gin in person and takes a pride in seeing that the sample is capable of bringing the highest price possible.

The Ashtola gin is receiving a brand new outfit including a 4-70 saw equipment, burr extractor and the necessary other machinery that means a first class gin for the community. The cotton prospects at this time of the year were never better and the acreage estimated to be thirty percent above normal.

LONG STRUGGLE NEARING AN END

"A FEW BOTTLES OF ORGATONE HAVE DONE ME MORE GOOD THAN ALL ELSE COMBINED, SAYS AMARILLO MOTHER

"I've had a long hard struggle with ill health, but by the help of Orgatone I have found relief at last," said Mrs. L. M. Hassell, residing 1610 Buchanan St., Amarillo, Texas.

"I had gall bladder trouble and indigestion so bad for two years that my life was miserable, but I'm a whole lot better since I began taking Orgatone, and a medicine that is doing so much for suffering people can't be praised too much, I've spent lots of money trying to get some ease but it's the truth, two bottles of Orgatone has done me more real good than every thing else I ever took combined.

"When I first began taking it I couldn't eat anything without it hurting me. Any of the heavy or nourishing foods would sour on my stomach and I would be very bilious. I was fearfully nervous and when I fell asleep at night the least noise would wake me. My head would get so dizzy at times that I would almost reel.

"What caused me to take Orgatone was reading so many statements about others in the papers and now I'm talking Orgatone every chance I get. I can eat just anything I want and enjoy it and never feel the slightest bad effects from it. I sleep fine every night, and as to my gall bladder trouble it is so much better that I hardly notice it any more. I'm still improving every day and it's a pleasure to tell others about the medicine that has done so much for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Clarendon at the Stockings Drug Store.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—Dissatisfied with the quiet life in his home surroundings, Athol Meldrum, young Scotsman who tells the story, leaves his mother and brother, Garry, to seek his fortune. At first he succeeds, practically penniless, he takes a laborer's job, and meets a fellow adventurer whom he dubs, and who is hereafter known as the Prodigal.

CHAPTER II

ON EITHER side of us were swift hills mottled with green and gold, ahead a curdle of snow-capped mountains, above a sky of robin's-egg blue. The morning was lyric and set our hearts piping as we climbed the canyon. About midday we reached the end. Gangs of men were everywhere, ripping and tearing at the mountainside. Everywhere was the feverish activity of a construction camp.

We sat that night by the crackling blaze of mesquite, sagebrush and live-oak limbs, and he told me many a strange story of his roving life.

"You know, the old man's all broke up at me playing the fool like this. He's got a glue factory in Massachusetts. Guess he stacks up about a million or so. Wanted me to go into the glue factory, begin at the bottom, stay with it. But not little Willie. Life's too interesting a proposition to be turned down like that. I'm not repentant. I know the fatted calf's waiting for me, getting fatter every day. One of these days I'll go back and sample it."

It was he I first heard talk of the Great White Land, and it stirred me strangely.

"Every one's crazy about it. They're rushing now in thousands, to get there before the winter begins. Next spring there will be the biggest stampede the world has ever seen. Say, Scotty, I've got the greatest notion to try it. Let's go, you and I. There's the gold, shining, shining, and it's calling to us. I don't care one rip for the value of it. I can make all I want out of glue. But the adventure, the excitement, it's that that makes me fit for the foolish house."

He was silent a long time while my imagination conjured up terrible, fascinating pictures of the vast, unawakened land, and a longing came over me to dare its shadows.

As we said good night, his last words were:

"Remember, Scotty, we're both going to join the Big Stampede, you and I."

I slept but fitfully, for the night air was nipping, and the bunkhouse high as open as a cage. In the afternoon I was put to work in the gravel pit.

There were four of us. We threw the gravel against a screen where the finer stuff sifted through was used in making concrete.

Heigh-ho! what a life it was. Resting, eating, sleeping; negative pleasures became positive ones. Life's great principle of compensation worked on our behalf, and to lie at ease, reading an old paper, seemed an exquisite enjoyment.

I was much troubled about the Prodigal. He complained of muscular rheumatism, and except to crawl to meals was unable to leave his bunk. Yet he bore his sufferings with great spirit, and, among that nondescript crew, he was a thing of joy and brightness, a link with that other world which was mine own. They nicknamed him "Happy," his cheerfulness was so invincible.

One morning I woke about six, and found pinned to my blanket, a note from my friend:

"Dear Scotty:

"I grieve to leave you thus, but the cruel foreman insists on me working off my ten days' board. Racked with pain as I am, there appears to be no alternative but flight. Accordingly I fade away once more into the unknown. Will write you general delivery, Los Angeles. Good luck and good-by. Yours to a cinder.

"HAPPY."

There was a hue and cry after him, but he was gone, and a sudden disgust for the place came over me. For two days I worked, crushed by a gloom that momentarily intensified. Clamant and imperative in me was the voice of change. I could not become toll-broken, so I saw the foreman.

"Why do you want to go?" he asked reproachfully.

"Well, sir, the work's too monotonous."

"Monotonous! Well, that's the roughest reason I ever heard a man give for quitting. But every man knows his own best."

Los Angeles will always be written in golden letters in the archives of my memory. Crawling, sore and swollen, from the church of toll, I reveled in a lotus life of ease and idleness. Living was incredibly cheap. For seventy-five cents a week I had a little sunlit attic, and for ten cents I could dine abundantly. So, dreaming and roaming the streets, I spent my days in a state of beatitude.

But my small capital could not last forever, and the time came when once more the grim face of toll confronted me, and again I found myself mixing with the spineless residuum of the employment bureau.

I got work as an orange-picker. It was a matter of swinging long ladders into fruit-flaunting trees, of sunny days and fluttering leaves, of golden branches plundered, and boxes filled from sagging sacks. There is no more ideal occupation. I reveled in it. Possibly I would have gone on, contented enough, perched on a ladder, high up in the sunlit sway of treetop, had not the work come to an end. When I counted my savings and found I had four hundred dollars and ninety-five cents, such a feeling of affluence came over me that I resolved to gratify my taste for travel. Accordingly, I purchased a ticket for San Diego, and once more found myself southward bound.

A few days in San Diego reduced my small capital to the vanishing point, yet it was with a light heart I turned north again and took the All-Tie route for Los Angeles. I was absolutely penniless. The Lord looks after His children, said I, and when I became too inexorably hungry I asked for bread, emphasizing my willingness to do a stunt on the woodpile. Perhaps it was because I was young and notably a novice at vagrancy, but people were very good to me.

On arriving in Los Angeles I went to the post office. There was a letter from the Prodigal dated New York, and inclosed fourteen dollars, which he owed me. He said:

"I returned to the paternal roof, weary of my role. The fatted calf awaited me. Nevertheless I am sick again for the unhalloved swine-husks. Meet me in Frisco about the end of February, and I will a glorious proposition unfold. Don't fail. Look for a letter in the General Delivery."

There was no time to lose, as February was nearly over. I took a steamer passage to San Francisco, resolving that I would mend my fortunes. It is so easy to drift. I saw that as long as I remained friendless and unknown nothing but degraded toil was open to me. Surely I could climb up, but was it worth while? A snug farm in the Northwest awaited me. I would work my way back there, and arrive decently clad. Then none would know of my humiliation. I had been wayward and foolish, but I had learned something.

What with steamer fare and a few small debts to settle, I found when I landed in San Francisco that once more I was flatly broke. There was no letter for me, and perhaps it was on account of my disappointment, perhaps on account of my extreme shabbiness, but I found I had quite lost heart. So I tightened my belt and sat in Portsmouth square, cursing myself for the many nickels I had squandered in riotous living.

I was drowsing on my bench when some one addressed me.

"Say, young fellow, you look pretty well used up."

An elderly, gray-haired man came and sat by me.

"Come, buck up, kid, you're pretty near down and out. I've been studyin' you for two days. Let's go and feed."

He took me to a restaurant where he ordered a dinner that made my head swim.

My benefactor was rather under medium height, but so square and solid you felt he was a man to be reckoned with. His mouth was firm and his chin resolute. Altogether his face was a curious blend of benevolence and ruthless determination.

"Feel better, son? Well, go ahead an' tell me as much of your story as you want to."

I gave an account of all that had happened to me since I had set foot on the new land.

"Huh!" he ejaculated when I had finished. "I'm glad by the grace of God I've been the means of givin' you a hand-up. Better come to my room an' stop with me till somethin' turns up. I'm goin' north in three days. I'm goin' to join this crazy rush to the Klondike. I've been main' for twenty years. Arizona, Colorado, all over, an' now I am a-goin' to see if the North hasn't got a stake for me."

In his room he told me of his life.

"I'm saved by the grace of God but I've been a Bad Man. I've been everything from a city marshal to boss gambler. I have gone heeled for two years thinking to get my pass to hell at any moment. It's all over now, an' I've seen the evil of my ways, but I've got to talk once in a while. I'm Jim Hubbard, known as 'Salvation Jim,' an' I know main' from Genesis to Rev-

Advertising Helps Chevrolet Dealers to Break Record

What is believed to be a new record for the sale of used cars in the United States was established in May when the nation-wide Chevrolet dealer organization sold 157,624 used cars. This was in addition to the record volume of new car business which also soared to a new level during the month.

In commenting on the achievement, Chevrolet factory officials point out that it was made possible through the tremendous amount of public confidence that has been built up by Chevrolet dealers through the general policy of offering for sale only dependable merchandise. They explain that through the wide-spread use of the red tag "with an O. K. that counts", prospective used car buyers can be assured that every vital part of the car has been properly reconditioned and put in shape to offer thousands of miles of unused transportation.

Compared with the corresponding month of a year ago, when 118,195 used cars were sold, the May 1929 total showed a gain of more than 33 percent. It also outstripped the April 1929 record of 133,887 used cars.

In accomplishing this feat, the Chevrolet dealer organization sold an average of 6,063 used cars a day during the 26 business days of the month. This was at the rate of more than 600 cars an hour and more than ten cars a minute. The May record demonstrates that it pays to sell only dependable merchandise, officials point out.

relation. Once I used to gamble an' drink the limit, one morning I got up from the card table after sitting there thirty-six hours. I'd lost five thousand dollars. I knew they'd handed me out 'cold turkey,' but I took my medicine.

"Right then I said I'd be a crook, too. I learned to play with marked cards. I could tell every card in the deck. I went after the suckers. There was never a man did me dirt but I paid him with interest. Of course, it's different now. The Good Book says: 'Do good unto them that harm you.' I guess I would, but I wouldn't recommend no one to try and harm me; I might forget."

The heavy, aggressive jaw shot forward; the eyes gleamed with a fearless ferocity, and for a moment the man took on an air that was almost tigerish. I could scarce believe my sight; yet the next instant it was the same cheerful, benevolent face, and I thought my eyes must have played me some trick.

Perhaps it was that sedate Puritan strain in me that appealed to him, for we became great friends. He told me of the girl he married and worshiped, and of the man who broke up his home. Once more I saw that flitting tiger-look appear on his face and vanish immediately. He told me of his wild days.

"I was always a fighter, an' I never knew what fear meant. I never saw the man that could heat me in a rough-an'-tumble scrap. I was uncommon husky an' as quick as a cat, but it was by fierceness that won out for me. I've gone up unarmed to a man I knew was heeled to shoot me on sight, an' I've dared him to do it. Just by the power of the eye I've made him take water. Then, as the drink got hold of me, I got worse and worse. Glory to God! I've seen the evil of my ways."

I wish I could paint or act the man for you. Words cannot express his curious character. I came to have a great fondness for him, and certainly owed him a huge debt of gratitude.

One day I was paying my usual visit to the post office, when some one gripped me by the arm.

"Hullo, Scotty! By all that's wonderful, I was just going to mail you a letter."

It was the Prodigal, very well dressed and spruce-looking.

"Say, I'm so tickled I got you; we're going to start in two days."

"Start! Where?" I asked.

"Why, to the Golden North, for the land of the Midnight Sun, for the treasure-troves of the Klondike Valley."

"You may be," I said soberly; "but I can't."

"Yes you can, and you are, old sport. I fixed all that. Come on. I want to talk to you. I went home and did the returned prodigal stunt. The old man was mighty decent when I told him it was no good. I couldn't go into the glue factory yet awhile. He staked me handsomely and gave me a year to make good. So here I am, and you're in with me. I'm going to grubstake you. Mind, it's a business proposition. I've got to have some one, and when you make the big strike you've got to divvy up. Of course, if you're afraid of hardships and so on—"

"No," I said quickly, "I'll go."

"Ha!" he laughed, "you're too much of a coward to be afraid. Well, we've got to get busy over our outfit. We haven't got any too much time."

I brought me of Salvation Jim, and I told the Prodigal of my new friend.

"Why," said the Prodigal, "that's just the man we want. We'll ask him to join us."

I brought the two together and it was arranged. So it came about that we three left San Francisco on the fourth day of March to seek our fortunes in the Frozen North.

WHY THE CHURCH?

Have you ever paused to think what the Church means to your community? If the church, with all its influences, were removed from our midst, it would be a matter of a very short time until the community would be void of those high ideals and purposes which make life worth living. The Master said to those disciples who were to constitute the nucleus of His church, "Ye are the salt of the earth." The church has one supreme purpose and that is to serve the community in which it is established. The preacher and the faithful Christians are trying to reach the people of the community and acquaint them with Christ's message of salvation. The mission of the church is not to detract or deprive any one of those things that add to human happiness and prosperity. Christ came that men "might have life and have it more abundantly." If you belong to the church you are affiliated with the greatest institution upon earth and you should take advantage of the opportunity it offers you to render the highest form of service of Christ and your fellow man. If you are not a member, that does not mean that you are not a partaker of the elevating moral and spiritual benefits which the church makes possible in the community. God's people extend you a cordial welcome to attend upon the ordinances of religious worship and share in the blessings derived therefrom. It is in the congregational worship that we gather spiritual power and develop stability of character that enables us to meet the issues of every day life on the basis of the Golden Rule. Christian fellowship and brotherly love are the products of the Christian Church. If our citizenship would give the church its proper place in their thinking and in their living life would mean much more to every one.

THE ACME Of the Baking Art

Think of the joy and satisfaction of finding a really wholesome, nourishing satisfying kind of bread.

Uniform in quality day after day, always oven-fresh, always superior in taste, always firm, moist and full-flavored.

As every woman knows, bread-making is an art demanding the most exacting care in preparation, mixing, raising and baking—that is why our bread is baked under the most rigid inspection.

It costs no more than ordinary bread. Why not try it today?

CREAM SHIPMENTS

Among the more quantity butter fat producers to market here are J. P. Parks, formerly in the dairy business and a dandy good judge of a dairy cow. He has some of the best cows in the country selling his butter fat and feeding the skimmed milk to chickens and hogs. His milk fed chickens find ready market at a good price and are of a well known quality among the eating houses of the town.

Z. W. Folkes, a farmer residing east of the Chamberlain school house, and H. A. Harrison of the same community are regular with their cream sales. J. W. Sullivan, who lives near town is also another man who appreciates the regular weekly cream check. G. R. Grant of the Goldston community keeps things moving and finds that the cows help wonderfully on the farm. W. D. Higgins of Pleasant Valley makes his cows pay their way and then some and is numbered among the best farmers of his community. J. A. Meaders also of the same community and owner of one of the largest farms of that section, is also one of the biggest butter fat producers of the county. I. M. Noble of the Windy Valley community is not only a good farmer, but is a good manager and lands with a cream check right along which beats depending on a one crop idea according to his estimation.

Dunn Produce reports the purchase of $296 pounds of butter fat for June from a customer list of $45. That does not mean that 845 different people brot in cream, but does mean that 845 sales were made to this produce house.

In speaking of the creamery business in general Monday, M. S. Parsons of the Parsons Produce is very optimistic about the upward end of butter fat production in Donley and Hall (he has customers who live near Leslie), counties, and notes the general air of satisfaction among folks who have a weekly pay check. He also quotes the butter fat market at forty cents for the day.

Knight's dairy markets a big lot of butter fat at this time of the year. Walter Lowe, farmer and all round man on the job has not overlooked any bets and gets in with his cream while raising lots of chickens at the same time. J. H. Easterling of near Ashtola finds the cows a great help and is a strong believer in making them help pay the bills. M. E. Brogdon of Chamberlain and his neighbor, W. W. Webb also look to the cow end of their farms for a share of the profit. W. H. Morgan of near Goldston is another farmer to do some good management by way of marketing butter fat. L. R. Dean of south of town has his usual quantity each week and M. O. Evans from near Leslie down in Hall county also markets a good lot of the article that means money when he needs it.

It will be noted in looking over the above list that quite a number come from the Chamberlain community. The folks out there have the only bull circle in the county and take an unusual amount of interest in cream production because experience has taught them that it pays.

LITTLE'S ADS ARE REGULAR

While attending a rally of the various county demonstration clubs at Leila the past week, a lady paid her compliments to this paper in a conversation with the Leader man and by way of emphasis stated that she always turned to the back page first that she might see the bargain list of the Little Mercantile Co.

Hundreds are looking at that regular ad space each week and the firm is getting fine results. There is nothing like regularity even in advertising.

Mrs. C. A. Burton left Monday in company with Rev. Smallwood and family of Claude, Texas for Fayetteville, Arkansas. Where she will spend two weeks studying in the Sequoyah Bible school at that place. Returning by the way of Muskogee, Oklahoma, she will spend a time in the home of her sister, Mrs. Will Garrison, returning home about the middle of August.

COUNTY CLUBS

ervation driving home the needs for the college in a plain spoken manner that was at once appreciated by his listeners.

The club women were arrayed in their adopted mode of headress—the blue bonnet—and a blue bonnet parade was staged and a photograph taken of the paraders. The clothing contest was judged by Miss Ruby Adams, home demonstration agent for Hall county. In the women's sheer dress contest Mrs. C. E. Lindsey of the Clarendon club won a year's subscription to the Donley County Leader. Mrs. C. Latimer of Hedley won the Blue Boy picture contributed by Alderson's Art Shop of Clarendon. Those winning in the child's dress contest were Mrs. Clark Latimer of the Hedley Rural Club and Mrs. Roy Beverly of the Chamberlain Club.

Mrs. J. B. Turnbow and Mrs. H. M. Reid were each presented with an auto casing by Mr. R. L. Bigger for having won the highest honors in butter making and judging. Mrs. Swinburne was presented with a waterless cooker by Miss Thompson as third prize in dairy work. Sam Braswell gave Mrs. M. L. Pittman a year's subscription to the Clarendon News for having won in dairy work.

All the girls attending this rally received valuable suggestions as to how their dresses would be judged in the girl's 4-H appropriate dress contest.

The ladies of the Giles club were 100 per cent on first six months of Home Demonstration Club report contests, and a member of that club won second in the sheer dress contest. Mrs. E. H. Watt of that club is the second oldest member of the Donley county clubs, Mrs. Wm. Spitzer of this city being the eldest.

Keith Stegall of Muleshoe is in the city stopping in the home of his sister Mrs. Ira Merchant and visiting among his numerous friends.

John Hutton Coach and teacher in the Junior College left Saturday evening for College Station, where he will do summer work in the second term.

Mary Stocking will look after his school classes during the remainder of the session.

Mr. J. Morton Shaw and Mrs. Nan Huffman were recently married in Canadian, Texas.

Mr. Shaw is the head of a large oil company, while Mrs. Huffman will be remembered as Matron of the girl's dormitory when Clarendon College was a prosperous institution of our city.

While here Mrs. Huffman made many out of town friends who wish the couple much wedded happiness. The newly-weds are spending their honey moon at Excelsior Springs, Arkansas, and touring the State of Alabama, the girl hood home of Mrs. Huffman.
