A Common Paper For Common People

66 HIGHWAY NOW GRADED UP TO DONLEY LINE

Highway Will Soon Be Paved From Donley Line East To New York City

Work on 66 Highway, a survey of which crosses the north end of Donley county for a distance of eleven miles, has progressed to the stage of completion of the grading. The north side of the Rock Island tracks was followed from McLean west to where the grading ends. Many fills were made and the roadbed will be practically as level as the rail bed when completed. This highway presents to Donley county her greatest problem in road construction because of the fact that few of her citizens live in the north end of the county or would have access to the highway, and further, the cost of construction to meet the requirements of the "Broadway of America", is far beyond that of ordinary road construction due to more expensive materials to insure long life, and the extra width of the road bed. Grading on the highway from the Donley county line to Amarillo has been completed and materials for paving are being unloaded there. The work of paving will begin within the next week. With the exception of this county, the paving will reach from Amarillo to New York City.

CARLSBAD CAVERN CLAIMS FIRST VICTIM MON.

Death Claims Mayor of Hubbard City After Thousands Had Visited Noted Place

The first death to occur in the well known Carlsbad Caverns occurred there the first of last week. W. G. Bowman, retired capitalist and present mayor of Hubbard City, in company with several others had made the trip thru the cave and was on the return within a thousand feet of the entrance when they stopped to rest. Shortly after stopping, the mayor was seized with a heart attack and suddenly expired. He had not complained of even feeling badly before death claimed him. The body was accompanied home by his wife and daughter. This is the first death to occur after over a hundred and forty thousand had passed thru the cave.

The number of visitors to the Cavern during the first seventeen days of August comes up to the expectation of those who are in charge of this wonderful cave. Last year's figures have been more than doubled, as will be seen from the figures given below:

The total for the first 16 days in August 1928 was 6,694 or 21 per cent of this month's total for the first sixteen days, as taken from the official records of the National Park Service, Carlsbad Cave National Monument, Thomas Boles, Superintendent, Carlsbad, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chunn and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Chunn of Amarillo and Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Chunn of Oglesby, Texas took dinner with their mother, Mrs. R. A. Chunn in this city Sunday in what might be termed a family reunion.

No Jelly Bean—Old Time Texan Returns Home To Enjoy Texas Hospitality

Several days ago, S. T. Teague, old time Texan and a typical whole souled man you just have to like, accompanied his son and wife to Philadelphia, Penn. where he was supposed to spend his last days. At the close of the war, this son had married up there and naturally had to take his wife back to her native state. The many friends of Mr. Teague felt no uneasiness at his going, feeling sure that he would soon be back at his accustomed place in the A. N. Wood grocery. Leaving here the third of July, Mr. Teague made the trip in good shape to the "City of Brotherly Love", (it's a wonder to him how they got that name), also saw sights in Jersey City and a number of other places. After the visiting was over, the old man just began to pine away with his mind ever on old scenes way down in Texas. The fact that wops, bohunks and niggers were on a par with the rest of them eating and sleeping with all the privileges of a white native Texan did not help him to form any great liking for the big town. He yearned for his native language, the free easy Texas spirit of hospitality. The people were off. The climate excessively hot. He was lonesome among millions. There was nothing left to do but hit the trail for Texas, and hit it he did. He is here to stay and his many friends laugh at him and rejoice that he is back.

Local Merchant Reads News In Home Paper Published In Assyrian Tongue

Ben Saied, a citizen of this country for more than twenty years and a native of Assyria, reads his "home town paper" just as we might were the conditions reversed. This paper is published in the Arabian language, for that is the language used in Assyria. The hieroglyphics are a puzzle to those not acquainted with the language. It appears to have been a plate from a photograph of a section scratched up by an industrious turkey. One item appearing in that paper relates an instance where a 252 pound snake in the field of an Italian caused them much concern. The snake having been fed daily by the man, the wife, husband and four children worked in the field with safety. The item recites the fact that this snake was catered to for the reason that had luck would accrue to one who might kill it. During the absence of the husband, the wife either forgot to feed the snake or was afraid to fool with it and the snake killed all the chickens the second day and the hogs the third day. There was much lamenting among the neighbors and in the Italian household, but it fails to state just what was done about the snake. The paper is published in Judida, Libnon and the above account would appeal to us as a fairy story, tho people over there must like such stories and of course the paper man must give them what they demand.

Legion And Auxiliary Celebrating At Country Club Today

Members of the American Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary are today celebrating at the Country Club with a big feast and swimming. The only requirement made was that each visitor should ride to the Club on a truck. Ralph Andis, as master of truck arrangements, is apparently making good from the number taking advantage of the opportunity to take an outing. The purpose of the entertainment today is to create enthusiasm for the state meet at Port Arthur the 26, 27 and 28th of this month.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL OPEN HERE SEPTEMBER 4TH

Indications Point To Largest Enrollment in Both Public Schools and College

According to announcement of the school board, everything is in readiness for Clarendon's largest enrollment in her school history. Changes have been made where most needed in the faculty of last season and equipment added that nothing be left undone that will enhance the interests of pupils. Clarendon Municipal Junior College succeeded to the field when the old Methodist college was discontinued. This matter was finally determined by an overwhelming vote of the taxpayers of this district in May of 1927, when they gave the school board authority to purchase the Administration and Woman's Dormitory buildings together with all grounds and equipment of the old senior college. From the very beginning this nonsectarian college has offered two years college work in english, mathematics, natural and social science, foreign language, education and commerce. This meeting the needs of students who wish to enter a senior college, professional schools, or take up any of the many trades or semi-skilled professions open to the young people of a rapidly developing section. The college is recognized by the State Department of Education, and the Texas Association of Colleges as a class A Junior College, hence the credits made here will be recognized by the state department on certificate work, and the credits will be recognized by any college in Texas.

Clarendon High School

Clarendon High School is one of the best standardized institutions of its kind in Texas. A curriculum is maintained assuring students 30 1/2 units of work affiliated with the State University of Texas, or in any school of the state recognized by the State Department of Education. The following courses are offered: English, history, mathematics, home economics, Latin, Spanish, vocational agriculture, science, home nursing, physiology, commerce. Where necessary, equipment equal to that of any high school of the state, is used for the proper instruction in that particular subject. Chapel is held daily where the pupils may hear the addresses of ministers, business men and well known educators. An organized band, orchestra, choral and glee clubs, and all forms of Interscholastic League work and literary societies are maintained for the personal benefit of the pupil, and each is encouraged to take a part in these activities. The pupils of the high school also have access to the library of seven thousand volumes, in charge of a full time librarian. Those contemplating entering any department of the public school system or Junior College department should see Superintendent H. T. Burton or W. W. Taylor, secretary of the School Board at once and make the necessary arrangements.

Taylor and Mosley Buy Plumbing Business of Dewey Herndon

The plumbing business conducted by Dewey Herndon for the past few years was sold by him the past week to Lindsey Taylor and Raymond (Jiggs) Mosley. Mr. Taylor has been in the employ of other plumbing firms here for the past several years and is considered among the leading mechanics in this line. Mr. Mosley has been employed at Borger until recently. For the present, headquarters of the firm will be maintained and stock kept first door south of the Sims Motor Company at the shop conducted by L. L. Taylor, father of Lindsey Taylor. Both members of the new firm are enterprising young men, well known locally for their skill and square dealing, and will make a success of the new venture. Mr. Herndon will visit near Ft. Collins, Colorado where he has irrigated farming interests, later returning to Clarendon where he owns his home and which will continue to be his headquarters.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

The prison locating committee is now said to be seeing the East having missed both Huntsville and Rusk by several hundred miles. It is now claimed that the Donley county junior college proposition fell down thru a failure of the backers to prove to Governor Moody that Donley county was in Texas. The "dickering committee", to visit Oklahoma as often as possible, also make side trips to see if the boundary line has been monkey with since they were appointed to look after it, are covering too much ground in cars. It is suggested that airplanes be provided for them. The crop of candidates who suddenly got interested in the governor's race when the proposed raise of salary was in full swing, are now hanging around the capitol building waiting for another special session of the legislature hoping to get on some of the committee jobs. An east Texas bootlegger arrested recently claimed exemption on the score that his thorough had not yet expired.

LOCAL HATCHERY WILL SET FIRST EGGS SATURDAY

Complying With Many Requests Of Poultry Raisers Of Big Trade Territory

The fact that the local hatchery will make their first fall setting Saturday is due to the big demand of poultry producers of the wide trade territory established by successful hatches made in the winter and spring. Space in the incubators began to be taken readily upon the first announcement and sales and contracts for the chicks are being booked daily. When one stops to think that the local hatchery covers not only the Panhandle, but also branches out into Oklahoma and New Mexico, it is not at all astonishing that the capacity of the big machines will be taxed. The last batch of eggs will be put into the machines the 21st of September, and then a skip until the winter hatch begins in December. Fall hatches are quite common in the older districts and have a distinct advantage over early spring hatches in many ways. Chicks hatched here during the early spring already paid handsomely in egg production, some beginning to lay as early as four months from date of hatching. The management of the machines is left to Mr. Mears largely, Mr. White attending to the outside work, advertising, etc. as well as assisting with machines at such times as is convenient. There is nothing left undone to make the investment pay the customer and bring more business from his community.

Conway Girl Bitten by Mad Dog Dies After Several Mos.

Dorothy Elizabeth, fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Mitchell of near Conway passed away at the family home Thursday about four p. m. after a critical illness of several days. Some months ago an immigrant car was being unloaded at Conway and the family dog was tied near the car with a long rope. The young lady was attacked by the dog when passing and was finally rescued by a passerby only after her leg had been badly lacerated. The dog was afflicted with rabies and serum was administered the young lady. From that time until her death she slowly declined in health with additional complications which made her suffering intense. E. S. Mitchell is a brother of our fellow townsman and proprietor of the Mitchell barber shop here. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Merchant of Hereford are visiting in the Cal Merchant home.

BOY SCOUTS WILL BREAK CAMP ON WEDNESDAY

Six Towns Are Represented In Jolly Meet Where Youngsters Have Jolly Good Time

On a visit to Camp Warner Sunday, the editor of the Leader was impressed with the jolly good time the boys were having. In fact every one was having a jolly time except Scout Executive Jolly. If one gets the idea that a man in charge of a scout camp has an easy time, he should visit a camp and make some closeup observations. Mr. Jolly was being assisted by Messrs. Dan Filcher of Housbruck Heights, N. J. who happened to be visiting here at present, also Ward Hicks and Wendell Harris of Memphis. Wednesday of this week will see the closing of the camp so far as the present squads are concerned. A jam up good chicken barbecue at noon followed by a Court of Honor to which the general public and all civic bodies are invited, is to be the biggest things for that day. The boys took a sixteen mile hike to Harrold tank Friday, most of them keeping on their feet all the way. Some few became "road-foudered" and were picked up by the truck that accompanied them for this purpose. Mr. Jolly has managed to keep the boys busy with games and the making of Scout craft work such as Indian bead work, boomerang and bow and arrow making, when not on regular set Boy Scout program work. Tent No. 7 in command of Scout Orville Sawyer of Memphis won first in tent inspection for seven consecutive days, receiving as a grand prize seconds in ice cream Sunday. The outstanding camp fire stunt of the week was the view given Sonny Sigler and Eugene McCormick of the dipper and milky way thru the coat sleeve of Scout Executive Jolly. Dr. E. W. Jones, J. B. Castleberry and Joe Hardy of Wellington visited the Camp during the week at which time Mr. Hardy took the boys by surprise by presenting them with an elaborate array of fire works. James Smith seemed to get most out of the fire works when a boy set off a skyrocket James had secreted in his overalls. Messrs. Hatcher and Jackson of Shamrock visited the Camp Friday leaving a load of watermelons and a basket of grapes for the boys. The lecture on "sex education" by Scout Executive Jolly was considered the best talk of the week, he using the camp fire method of illustration which made the subject more readily understood by the boys. The boys are a unit in declaring this to be the most interesting gathering in their history of Scout work in the Panhandle. This is due in a great measure by reason of more modern improvements at the Camp and the skill of their Scout Executive whose enthusiasm never wanes.

Increased Business Demands Installation Of More Modern Bakery Machinery

Being situated near the edge of "the bread basket of America" as the Panhandle is now known, bakeries are fortunate in being able to secure the cream of the wheat for their products. Since coming here some four months ago, Mr. C. Huffman, owner of the Home Bakery, states that his business has doubled. The greater part of his product is consumed right here in town, tho all the surrounding towns are supplied from this point. With the increased business demands, Mr. Huffman is increasing production capacity to the extent that the trade shall be taken care of in a most efficient manner. Just this week an electric machine was installed that takes the place of both the old mixer and dough breaker. Instead of thirty revolutions per minute this machine makes eighty. The bread made with the new machine has a better texture and a better flavor. The work is more quickly and efficiently turned out which insures bread on short notice. The bakery is electrically equipped throughout including the mixer and breaker, wrapping machine, etc. Steel dough troughs and bread racks have taken the place of the old style and less sanitary methods. Most of the present equipment has been installed since Mr. Huffman took charge of the plant. The revolving oven is heated with natural gas. About a thousand loaves of bread are turned out each day along with a hundred pies and a hundred cakes and numerous smaller lots of cookies, rolls and a general line of pastries. Mr. Huffman is a baker of many years experience having been engaged in the same line of business at Spur before coming here. He is deeply appreciative of the fact that Clarendon people have enabled him to build up a plant the equal to any in the Panhandle. Not only have Clarendon people been loyal in the purchase of the Home Bakery products, but Jericho, Alanreed, Goodnight, Ashtola, Hedley and other nearby towns have increased their demands for the product of a bakery that is a credit to any town.

State Tax Board has Squabble Over School Rate Saturday And Raise Ad Valorem

The reader will likely recall an old saying of Mark Twain many years ago when tax rates were even much lower than now that "there is nothing more repulsive than a garlic breath unless it is taxes." During the sitting of the automatic state tax board at Austin Saturday the ad valorem of 22c for last year was hiked up to 30c, the constitutional limit being 35 cents. The pension allotment was raised to 7c. If the school rate should be left at 35c as last year, the rate this year for state purposes will be 72c instead of 64c as during the past year. It is reported that Governor Moody contended for a lowering of the school rate stating that the balance left over from last year would be more than enough with the 35c levy, to provide an apportionment of $17.50 for each pupil of the public schools. The Governor further stated that with all of his vetoing, a higher rate than 30c for school purposes was not justified and passed the buck to the legislature for any raise in taxes. The county rate will remain at 75c for general county purposes. This rate was determined at a sitting of the County Commissioners the first of last week. The action of the County Commissioners came as distinct surprise because of the fact that with the incoming of a new set of officials, there is usually an extra amount of supplies to be purchased which amounts to quite an item. To add further to an apparent increase in taxes, the county property has been well cared for even to the courthouse yard receiving the necessary attention it deserves. Purchases of machinery and supplies in general ad much to the sum total and that the rate has not been increased with these expenditures, speaks volumes for the economic administration given the people of Donley county. Ordinarily there is an increase each year in expenditures, and this fact alone would justify the assumption that we might expect at least a slight raise. Mr. and Mrs. Powell Jacks of Wichita Falls, and daughter Peggie Jean, visited in the John Clark home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Latson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bently and Johnny Beville spent Sunday visiting in McLean. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lennox and children, Martha and Bagby, spent the week end with Mrs. L. S. Bagby.

BAPTIST REVIVAL BEGAN TWO WEEK SESSION SUNDAY

All Services Are Being Held In Church Auditorium Made Comfortable With Fans

Neither hot weather nor the absence of the revivalist has dampened the ardor of the Baptist people who began a revival Sunday which they hope to continue for the next two weeks. At the last moment, Rev. D. H. Heard of Big Springs, who had been engaged to hold the revival, found it impossible to be here at the beginning of the revival due to the serious illness of Mrs. Heard. Rev. S. R. McClung, pastor of the church and one of the most popular and most talented ministers of the Panhandle, is conducting the services for the present. The song service is being conducted by Mr. John C. Marshall, talented musician and experienced church worker of Huston. Mr. Marshall has organized the junior Sunday school folks into booster bands and is doing a good work. Enthusiasm is growing daily and there is every indication that the revival will result in great good. Services are being conducted twice daily, at 10:30 a. m. and in the evening at 8:15. The general public is invited to attend these services. The auditorium is comfortable at all times being provided with plenty of electric fans.

THE MIND

The world to the observer is a comedy; to the thinker, a tragedy.

BUILDERS

What a man does for himself dies with him. What he does for humanity, lives forever.

OLD TIMERS

Many a man misses the associations of two old timers—I. W. Harper and Old Crow.

COMPLEXES

"To be virtuous is to be lonesome; to be honest is to be considered a crank."

TRAGEDY

Fred Erb, aged 75, of Lawrence, Kansas last week shot and killed his 75-year-old wife after a marriage lasting 58 years. He was prevented from committing suicide by a son-in-law. A jury decides that the husband shall spend the remainder of his life in prison. His only alibi was that his wife had been sick for two years and he hoped to put her out of her misery, then follow her into eternity by way of the suicide route.

Self destruction is unnatural. Murder is unnatural. Either is a sin of greatest magnitude, and then there is eternity to reckon with after this life. Many old couples would welcome death because of poverty or disease or both. Perhaps we shall become civilized some day to the extent of caring for the aged and helpless in a manner that partakes of the nature of an obligation rather than charity that is so repulsive to many of today.

Aged Indians and Mexicans are cared for by their own people. The aged of these races do not rely upon the charity of relatives—they simply live with ALL the others, and yet we speak of them as being uncivilized.

INDIFFERENCE

Hall county has many miles of paved roads and voted bonds Saturday to pave more. Another bond issue is on foot to pave the second highway across the south and southwest portion of the county. They have found that it pays to pave.

Donley county has no paving. It will be passed up by the traveling public next summer as one would a pest house. Our reputation is already known far into the east—much farther than one would suspect. That reputation is anything but good so far as our roads are concerned.

Donley county people may not feel under obligations to pave for the benefit of the tourist. Perhaps not, but we need the money that the tourist would spend with us. A paved highway from east to west thru this county would open a market for fruit, melons and truck and many other products of our farms not dreamed of by the inhabitants. It is true in other sections where such highways have been improved and would be just as true of the wonderfully productive belt of the eastern part of the county.

We are paying for paved highways in the lack of a tourist market, wear and depreciation of our autos, loss of time and convenience, and yet wade through the mud or wait for the roads to clear up.

If the people of Donley county do not wake up to the importance of paved roads within the next few months, we shall find our selves relegated to the scrap heap.

Ancient Flappers and Jelly's

In delving among the effects of ancient Egyptians, various ornaments and face dope is found which proves that those old timers knew their stuff when it came to improving on nature.

Furthermore, if any of our modern "flappers" or "jelly-beans" think they are pulling anything new, let them turn to Bible history and read from the third chapter of Isaiah, sixteenth to the twenty-fourth verses which reads thusly:

Moreover the Lord said, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched forth necks and wanton eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet: (17) Therefore the Lord will smite with a scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion. . . . (18) In that day the Lord will take away the bravery of their tinkling ornaments about their feet, and their cauls, and their round tires like the moon. (19) The chains, and the bracelets, and the mufflers, (20) The bonnets, and the ornaments of the legs, and the head bands, and the tablets, and the earrings. (21) The rings and the nose jewels, (22) The changeable suits of apparel, and the mantles, and the wimples, and the crisping pins, (23) The glasses, and the fine linen, and the hoods, and the veils. (24) And it shall come to pass that instead of a . . . girdle a rent; and instead of well set hair baldness; and instead of a stomacher a girding of sackcloth; and burning instead of beauty.

Not only were those girls cutting up something awful way back there, but the boys also gave the old folks something to think about. Some rich "jelly-bean" history is recorded in Proverbs as follows: "A naughty person, a wicked man, walketh with a forward mouth. He winketh with his eyes, he speaketh with his feet, he teacheth with his fingers; Forwardness is in his heart, he deviseth mischief continually; he soweth discord. Therefore shall his calamity come suddenly; suddenly shall he be broken without remedy."

Can you picture in your mind the picture that young man made as he pranced along with eyes, feet and hands doing gyrations that would instantly put his modern brother to shame? Dusky of hue, mother Hubbard garbed and cutting up like that just for nothing except the sight of a female of also dusky hue, rings in her ears and nose, clothed in a muffler, leg ornaments, and lest she fail to attract, bells were worn.

Can you imagine the consternation and picture of horrified anger that appeared on the faces of sleeping parents when the young scion of the family heard the tinkling bells in the dark hours of midnight and make a wild scramble for the window knocking over vases and other bric-a-bac. As that fastidious youngster peered into the moonlight, do you wonder that the "gay young thing" caused his eyes to wobble, feet to misbehave, and fingers to get busy making signs lest the old folks hear what was going on.

From reading biblical history, it is apparent that the youngsters had gotten away from the old folks and all that was left to them was to suggest what the good Lord would do. At any rate, human nature was, is and always will be pretty much the same history repeating itself throughout the ages.

One does not have to wait for eternity to measure out the reward for false pride, vanity and licentiousness. The age-old statement that "your sins shall find you out", is just as true today as ever.

Tourists Camps Have Every Convenience

Early this summer the manager of a telegraph office in the Adirondacks received a telegram, containing the name of the addressee but only the words "Tourist Camp", as the address. The message was from a mother worried at not having heard from her son. The manager wanted to deliver the telegram but he was confronted with a rather perplexing problem, as Tourist Camps in the Adirondacks are as numerous as apartment houses in the Bronx.

The manager knew the telegram was important to the mother and he appreciated what an answer would mean to her. Consequently he determined to deliver that telegram regardless of how much time or effort it took. He finally found "Sonny", but only after pedaling a bicycle over six miles of road and hoofing it through a three mile trail which was too rough for bicycling.

The telegraph plays an important part in the summer camp program of the nation. Scattered from Maine to Oregon and from Canada to Mexico are thousands of summer camps to which the youth of the country make their way each year. In most cases these camps are isolated, set back in the woods or up on a mountain, and communication with the outside world and the home folks is usually difficult through the ordinary means.

The Western Union makes every attempt to provide adequate telegraph facilities for these camps and often goes out of its way that the youngsters in camp may be given every assistance to telegraph their folks that they are well and happy and that the parents may be in touch with their children.

Directors of children's camps throughout the country are authority for the statement that their institutions would not be so well populated were it not for the fact that the telegraph enables the parents to keep in touch with their children. Usually the first thing a contingent of youngsters does when it reaches camp is to wire the folks that they arrived safely and are in good health.

To be sure that these messages are expedited the Western Union (frequently stations representatives at the junction points at which the campers arrive and picks up the messages, passing them along to the nearest operating center and sending them on their way.

Sometimes the campers arrive at an early morning hour at a little, out of the way railroad station and the representative of the telegraph company has to spend weary hours waiting for their arrival. In other cases the representative rides the train the campers take and once they are safely ensconced in camp he dispatches the messages he has gathered.

The nature of the telegrams the young campers send and receive vary from the conventional greeting and "am well love to all," to requests for money and permission to participate in hikes or sporting events. Some of the younger campers on occasion are not allowed to take part in the hikes without parental permission. Frequently these boys wire their parents for permission to join the hiking contingent.

One youngster in a New England camp wired his father: "Please send me that ten dollars you owe me." It developed that the father had promised the boy an allowance of a dollar a week and had forgotten to send it to him for ten weeks. The boy felt that telegraphing for it would produce the most effective results, and he was correct, as the father sent the money by return telegraph money order.

The volume of telegrams handled to and from the summer camps is tremendous, though difficult accurately to estimate.

In one district in New England alone the Western Union estimates that it handles in a single summer close to 15,000 messages to and from summer camps.

My Vacation Trip

My mother, daddy, brother and I started from home on July 20, at 8 a. m., bound for Springdale, Arkansas. We ate dinner at Sayre, Oklahoma, at the Twin A Cafe.

There are very many creeks in Oklahoma, for between Weatherford and Oklahoma City we crossed 32 bridges. At Bethany there is a large lake. When we passed there were 1 houseboat, 1 motor boat and several canoes on the water. We spent the night in Oklahoma City.

Sunday we went to church at Drumwright, Oklahoma, and then drove on. At Guthrie I took a picture of the Masonic Temple. It is very beautiful.

Monday, at Fayetteville, Ark., we went fishing but had no luck. At Springdale there is a very steep hill covered with grass and wild flowers and shaded with trees. On the top there is a tourist park.

Below it there is a clear running stream.

Tuesday morning we went fishing again. Went bathing in a place near Pitkin, Ark. We went over a mountain that was 8 miles down one side, (this was claimed.)

Wednesday morning we drove to Fulton where mother's sister and family live on the way back of Red river. It was very hot there, but in the afternoon it came a rain, which cooled the climate.

Thursday we went fishing in the Little River. I caught 1 perch.

Then we went rowing. It was a thrill for me for it was my first occurrence in a rowboat.

Friday we were at my aunt's who lives in the country near Detroit, Texas. My cousins and I went hiking through a woods. We found a natural grapevine swing in the heart of the woods.

Saturday morning I read some magazines, then in the afternoon we went to Blossom, shopping. Later we went to see daddy's three old-maid aunt's, then to see my great grandfather who is very aged.

Sunday we went to church at Nocona. Near Wichita Falls we struck a heavy shower. We arrived at 12:15 a. m. Wanda Mayfield.

WESTERN STAR IN ZANE GREY STORY

Famous Author and Star Reunited by Paramount in Western Film

Jack Holt is back again in Zane Grey productions. This news will be greeted by popular acclaim by fans of both author and star. Paramount has brought them back together in "The Vanishing Pioneer" which will be shown at the Pastime next Monday and Tuesday August, 26th and 27th.

Fans will remember Jack Holt in such successes from the pen of Zane Grey including, "Light of The Western Stars," "The Thundering Herd," "Born to the West," and others. All these, of course, were produced by Paramount, and in reuniting Zane Grey and Jack Holt, Paramount has, and will gladden the heart of many a movie fan.

"The Vanishing Pioneer" is the latest Zane Grey production starring Jack Holt. Fans also will be glad to have the opportunity of witnessing a father and son both in the same production. We refer to young Tim Holt, son of the star, and who is 7 years old. For the time he is privileged to act with his illustrious father, he does very well.

The supporting cast is excellent. William Powell, the suave villain, has a leading and important part.

Also Fred Kohler, the sneering one, who has brought fame to himself with George Bancroft, does an effective piece of work. Sally Blane, one of the prettiest feminine actresses on the screen plays opposite Jack Holt. Others in the cast are Guy Oliver, Roscoe Karns and Marcia Mannon.

NEW ROAD LAWS IN EFFECT NOW

Hereafter the law on the road in Texas is going to mean something. In the past, every man has been more or less, a law unto himself on the highway due to inadequate motor traffic regulation and lack of facilities for enforcing existing laws. Consequently there have been accidents and tragedies which might have been averted by more careful legislative attention to the problems created by the revolutionary new mode of transportation. Highways have been ruined by improper and illegal loads.

Governor Dan Moody now has signed the bill passed by the legislature several days ago, setting up a new code of motor traffic regulations.

From now on you'd better be careful on roaring over the state highways at 60 to 70 miles per hour. There's going to be something more than a buccolic constable at this town or that to stop you.

This act raises the speed limit from 35 to 45 miles per hour, lesser rates for busses and trucks but violation may land you in court with a $100 fine, or in jail. There are going to be fifty state patrolmen to enforce the law, and maybe more later.

If you must clog up traffic with a horse and buggy or wagon at night, you'd better carry lamps fore and aft, or at least the glass reflectors that look like lamps when the headlights shine against them. Hereafter it will be strictly against the law to menace life and property with those darkened vehicles of destruction.

Indeed, it's now against the law to travel in any sort of vehicle after dark without front and rear lights, or to park on the highway without them, or to park on the paved or unpaved part of the road at all if there's room to pull over to the side or to park on the highway day or night without leaving 15 feet clearance.

And this is a law that is going to be enforced if the state highway department keeps its good health.

Hereafter, one could take a day's drive overland during the cotton ginning season and see trucks loaded with tons and tons above the legal weight with bales of staple crushing and grinding the roads to pieces. You could see trucks overloaded with other kinds of cargo, doing the same thing. Many of them have been caught and made to pay the excess load penalties, but the 20 license and weight inspectors could not cover 17,000 miles or highways.

Now there will be a highway patrol of 50 men to watch loads, check up on motor licenses and enforce the other provisions of the new act. And they are going to be the most efficient patrolmen that the highway department can get.

Traffic control has lagged far behind the amazing growth of motor transportation in Texas; much farther behind than in other states. As a result, there has been a terrible needless toll of life and property. Those interested in the subjects now hope that the Lone Star state has taken the initial step of a program that will soon guarantee its highways as courses of safe and sane motor traffic.

BY E. W. HOWE
"The Sage of Potato Hill"

THE SAME OLD WORLD—A WONDERFUL STORY OF PROGRESS—RURAL EXTRAVAGANCE

A recent magazine writer contends that friendship is passing. . . It is the same old world—so far as friendship is concerned, and in nearly everything else, except that we have more toys to play with. . . The modern man, when time hangs heavily, turns on the radio, to see what sort of development is going on in other parts of the world; in an older generation, a bored man shouldered his rifle, and went out to shoot an Indian.

I have observed that literature is unfriendly to men. Yet, in all fairness, and justice, the most marvelous thing is the progress men have made. Tell me, if you can, a tale as wonderful as the growth of man from barbarism or worse to his present state.

A writer in a farm publication says: "No century has ever seen such a thing as rural extravagance." . . . Extravagance is as common in the country as in the towns. When a farmer buys more machinery than he needs, and lets it stand out in the weather when not in use, what is that but extravagance?

When he over-borrows at the bank, that is extravagance. When he spends more time in town than is necessary or profitable that is another exhibition of it. Farmers live too economically so far as food and housing go, and are too extravagant with agents, and in the use of their working hours. We sympathize with farmers because their calling is not very profitable. This is true of many others. Teachers and preachers are worse paid than farmers. There are millions of clerks not so well paid as farmers, and factory employes everywhere are appealing to the government and public for help. And in all the hullabaloo the fact remains that citizens of all classes may do pretty well in this fat country if they accept generous opportunities, and handle them with reasonable intelligence and efficiency. And the fact remains that those who chose to appeal for aid cannot be much helped by public appropriations or tears.

We can no more make everybody prosperous than we can make everybody healthy; there are elements entering into the problem going back to heredity, individualism; general preaching, general prayers, bulk sympathy will not do; life is a problem to each individual, and we can only treat him as well as he treats us.

I lately heard a woman talk of a male relative who had been a drunkard all his adult life, and she made one statement that interested me. She said all the man's relatives, friends, and acquaintances were in league to keep him away from whiskey but that he could go into any strange company anywhere on earth without funds, and within a few hours secure all the whiskey he wanted, and be howling drunk. . . Often the needful things may not be had for love or money, but whiskey and pistols seem to be within reach of anyone wishing to use them.

I often hear of what mothers should "tell" young daughters. The first should be the agony and danger of the best of wives suffer, the second, the inevitable disposition of men to be less thoughtful as husbands than as lovers. Such information is gross and material, but young girls are entitled to know what they are stepping into when they put on wedding dresses.

Donley County Citizen Observes Crops in Black Belt

Returning Friday from a black belt trip accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Margaret, Leck Goldston made some close observations regarding crop conditions over a wide section.

The family visited relatives in and near Dallas, Waco, Hillsboro and Kaufman. Leck is familiar with that section having once lived there and knows what might be expected of high-priced land.

The early corn is good having matured before the drouth started in. Cotton will make a fourth of a bale to the acre on the favored river bottom spots and about a bale to ten acres on the other land according to Mr. Goldston after looking over the situation and talking with the farmers of that section.

Feed crops are not planted to any great extent and only early feed made anything. Most all of the farmers will be forced to buy all or a part of their feed, and especially those who did not plant corn.

Sandstorms in the early spring threw the crops late forcing them into the most disastrous drouth since '86. In fact Mr. Goldston stated that men of his age had never before seen anything like it. He further states that old Donley has a fine crop prospect and better than anything he saw on the trip with the exception of a small spot near Newlin.

The story would not be complete without relating a fish story, the truthfulness of which is vouched for by Leck Goldston who further states that his brother-in-law, Mr. T. A. Burt of China Springs, who helped him land it—a thirty-one pound yellow catfish out of the Bosque river. The river is standing in holes and the fish are easily caught so states our informant who had no time for the size usually caught near here.

In summing up his experiences and observations, Mr. Goldston is of the opinion that a fellow is foolish to stay down in that section with west Texas offering all kinds of opportunities.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. L. Morgan made a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Shelton Tuesday. Dr. Morgan is pastor of the largest Methodist church in Ardmore, Okla. no.

Mrs. Fred Madison and two sons of Ploverview, Mrs. Ray Bush and daughter, Miss Dorothy Joe of Amarillo, spent the week end with their father, Mr. Hugh Brown.

CAPITAL WEEKLY PRESS

Vann M. Kennedy

You are going to pay more taxes next year! This developed at a meeting Saturday afternoon of the State Automatic Tax Board, which convenes annually to fix the ad valorem, or general property tax rate.

Ad valorem taxes have three classifications: for general revenue purposes; for Confederate pensions; and for education.

The Board decided that a 30 cent rate (on the $100 property valuation) would meet the purposes of general revenue, although it was admitted by Governor Moody that a "paper deficit" might result. The present general revenue rate is 22 cents. The increase is expected to produce $2,400,000 more revenue on current valuations.

The Confederate pensions levy will remain at seven cents. However, this has proved inadequate for present needs because of the increase of the pension list by the 41st Legislature.

No School Levy Made
The school tax levy was not fixed at the Saturday meeting. The present school rate is 35 cents, which is the Constitutional limit. The members of the Board, Governor Moody, State Comptroller Sam Houston Terrell, and W. Gregory Hatcher, State Treasurer, have indicated that they will try to reduce the school levy—fixed at the maximum limit for many years.

The fixing of the school tax was depending somewhat on the action of the State Board of Education, scheduled to meet Saturday but failing to do so, in regard to fixing the scholastic apportionment for next year.

Governor Moody has declared his belief that it will not require the 35 cent tax rate to meet a $17 per scholastic apportionment, strongly recommended.

Total
The present total tax rate is 64 cents. Should the school levy continue at 35 cents, there will be a total for next year of 72 cents. However, should the rate be cut to 30 cents, as is predicted by various Capital optimists, the total rate will be only 67 cents.

Another meeting of the Tax Board is scheduled for this week.

Gas Tax Hearing
A public hearing to discuss proposed enforcement regulations, for the new four-cent gasoline tax law was held in the office of Sam Houston Terrell, State Comptroller of Public Accounts, Saturday. The meeting was largely attended by wholesalers, dealers, carriers and consumers of gasoline who are directly affected by the tax. Comptroller Terrell has drawn up 23 tentative regulations for the administration of the tax. Benefiting from the opinions of those taxed, he will promulgate official regulations, which will become a part of the new law.

Confederate Session
A fourth extraordinary session of the 41st Legislature loomed when Governor Moody announced that he would give "serious consideration" to requests made by legislators that he call a special session to remedy Confederate pension laws.

A recent session of the Legislature amended the pension laws in a manner which resulted in eliminating some 3,500 widows of Confederate veterans from pension lists; Widows under the age of 75 years were taken off the lists of preferred pensioners.

All pensioners over 75 years old are on the preferred list, and are taken care of first from available funds; then those under 75 receive attention. As it is now, there is not enough money to take care of both preferred and unpreferred. The older pensioners, on pro rata apportionment, are now receiving only $67, the normal pension being $75.

The amended law took in approximately 1,200 more veterans and widows on the preferred list. This was done by easing up on residence requirements; marriage dates (widows must have married veterans prior to 1912); and minimum birth dates.

There are approximately 13,000 Confederate veterans and widows on the pension lists at present. The pension fund is administered by the Comptroller's Department. Incidentally, Governor Moody made a deep slash in appropriations for the Confederate Pension Division of the Comptroller's Department. Also, the Confederate Men's and Women's Homes suffered much from the Governor's pruning knife.

Mrs. Womack, Misses Lela Lamons and Eunice Johnson are vacationing in and near Denver.

GRAPE RECIPES

For Home Demonstration Projects Contributed by Miss Harvey Thompson

GRAPE JUICE

3 gallons grape juice (strained)
4 quarts sugar
Pick and wash fresh grapes, place in a large enameled kettle and just cover with water. Cook until the grapes are tender and the skins broken. Strain through a heavy flannel bag. Combine sugar and grape juice and boil 20 to 25 minutes. Seal while juice is boiling hot in glass bottles, jars or earthen jugs which have been thoroughly sterilized.

Clean the outside of the containers and use small green label, placing same 1-4 of an inch from bottom of the jar and on the side if earthen jugs are used. Cork the jugs and use green sealing wax for sealing cork and screw top containers.

RIPE GRAPE MARMALADE

(To utilize pulp left over from grape juice)

3 quarts strained grape pulp
1 quart sugar
After the juice has been strained from the grapes, force the pulp through a colander—using a wooden potato masher. A potato ricer is also excellent for this purpose. An even mixture is desired. Combine sugar and grape pulp. Place in an enameled kettle and cook until thick. Fill sterilized 2, 5 or 8 ounce glass standard containers or 1-2 pint glass jars. Seal, clean and label jars before storing in a cool, dark place.

GREEN GRAPE MARMALADE

5 pounds green wild grapes (seeded)
1-2 cup water. 3 3-4 pounds sugar

Select only the fresh, crisp wild grapes which are fully grown and yet green. If they have begun to soften or color, it is too late. Have and seed the grapes using a silver fruit knife or skinning knife. Weigh grapes and sugar and place in an enameled lined kettle. Add the water to start steam, and boil covered about one half hour. Heat rather slowly at first, until the juice flows freely. Stir frequently. When about the thickness of preserves pour into sterilized containers. This product may jelly and the little globules retain their shape. Standard 5 and 8 ounce containers may be used for this purpose. Seal, clean and label jars before storing in a cool, dark place. Place the small green label 1-4 inch from the bottom of the jar. This is a mixture between a jelly and a jam. It is especially good as a meat accompaniment.

"SAGE OF POTATO HILL"

For Thirty Years Howe Edited The Most Famous Country Weekly

The late Dr. Frank Crane once designated Edgar Watson Howe "The Sage of Potato Hill". This was a tribute to the wisdom and common sense of Ed Howe, whose weekly column, "Here's Howe", starts in the Donley County Leader this week.

Born at Treaty, Ind., in 1854, Ed Howe has been in and around printing offices since the age of 12, and has always lived in small towns. At 12 he was already an accomplished typesetter, and after several newspaper jobs and ventures he became in 1877 editor and proprietor of the Atchison, Kan., Globe, which he made the most famous weekly newspapers in the United States by filling its pages with his clever observations on life. He retired over thirty years later, after becoming world-famous and writing several important books, among them "The Story of a Country Town."

Ed Howe has the most thorough insight into small town American life of any present-day writer. His work has a deep human appeal, and is presented in a simple, homely style—his articles have all the qualities of good conversation between plain people. "Plain People", by the way, is what he named his autobiography.

Miss Wilette Cole returned to her work at Pampa Monday after a vacation week spent here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cole.

Miss Kathryn Cole returned Saturday from Cleburne where she attended the wedding of Frank A. Stockings and Miss Rita Foster.

Floyd Shannon of the Goldston community reports the sale of apples, peaches and pears to parties from the plains. He has also found a good market in and near Amarillo.

Don't fail to read the ads in the Leader and profit thereby.

OH! THOSE STENOS

"Yes, Sir", said Miss Ball, meekly, as she entered the office. "I fired three stenogs," bellowed the Boss, "for revising my letters, se!" "Yes, sir", bleated Miss Ball. "All right—take a letter, and take it the way I tell yuh, see! The way I tell yuh."

And a few days later Mr. O. J. Squizz, of Squizz printing Company, received the following letter:

Mr. O. K. or A. J. Squizz, President of the Squizz what a name Printing Company, Detroit, that's in Michigan, isn't it?

Dear Mr. Squizz—Hmm—You're a hell of a business man. No, start over. He's a crook, but I can't insult him or the bum'll sue me. The last shipment of literature you sent us was of inferior quality and I want you to understand, no scratch out I want you to understand. Hmm—unless you can ship—furnish—ship, no, furnish us with a better grade of work you needn't ship us no more period or whatever the grammar is and pull down your skirt. This dam cigar is out again where was I? paragraph, your grade of work wasn't what you said I should say it wasn't, them bums tried to put a lot of hoocy on us. Whadda you flappers want to paint yer faces up for like Indians on the war path. We're scolding back your last shipment of literature tomorrow sure we're sending it back I'd like to feed it to 'em and make the dirty bums eat it like goats. Now read the letter over, no don't read it over, we've wasted enough time on them crooks, fix it up an' sign my name. What do you say we go out to lunch?

AMARILLO MAN

DOING HIS PART

HELPS SUFFERING PEOPLE BY TELLING HIS EXPERIENCE WITH ORGATONE WHILE RECOVERING FROM FLU

"It didn't take many doses of Orgatone to satisfy me that I had found the right medicine for my case at last, said P. B. Goodvin, residing at 313 N. E. Ninth St., Amarillo, Texas.

"For two years my stomach was in such a terrible condition that I lost thirty pounds in weight and everything I would eat bloated me up with gas till I was miserable most all the time. My nerves were in such a wretched state that I couldn't half sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling so fagged out that I couldn't do anything like I wanted. I was weak and run down and this was just the condition I was in a few weeks ago when I took the flu and anyone knows what that is, who has had it.

"I got me a bottle of Orgatone and began to pick up right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy everything set before me and to give you some ideas that my food is doing me some good and how fast I am recuperating from the flu the scales show that I am now gaining in weight at the rate of a pound a day which I think is pretty strong evidence for Orgatone. I am stronger and have more energy than before and I can go about my work with more satisfaction than in a long time, and I'm doing my part to help suffering people by telling what Orgatone did for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Clarendon at the Stockings Drug Store.

Newspaper Changes Are Numerous In the Panhandle

Fred Story is no longer with the Childress Index having disposed of his interest to the Nunn-Warren company and is now looking over South Texas where he expects to enter business with his father. The Bones brothers have sold the Shamrock Texan to the Nunn-Warren interests and purchased the papers at Wheeler and Mo-beetie.

A new semi-weekly is to be started at Childress September 1st by J. A. Hilburn and L. E. Haskett. Mr. Hilburn at one time owned the Shamrock paper and Mr. Haskett was principal owner of the Childress Index for over twenty years.

Several west Texas newspaper men are arranging to form a new company that will include a number of papers already owned by them. They expect to operate on a co-operative basis. If the deal goes thru, it will include papers from Clarendon to Dublin.

Miss Lottie E. Lane, ex-county clerk of this county, attended the gathering of the County Clerk's Association at Amarillo the last of the week.

Peas in a Pod

By Albert T. Reid

buquerque where they looked over New Mexico's richest agricultural section. Albuquerque has more orchards and vineyards with greater variety than any section of the United States. The town is, like many other towns of the southwest, divided into two sections—the old Spanish and the American.

The next stop was at Hot Springs where so many of our local citizens find it convenient to go for the baths health restoration. Several days was spent at the Springs and at Elephant Butte dam some seven miles distant.

Ben gave a vivid description of the flood conditions around San Marcial of which we read in the papers. His party was right in the big middle of the rains and in one place was caught between two mountain streams where they were help up for several hours. A careful watch was kept on the clouds in the mountains and streams leading down to the valley as they become raging torrents in just a few minutes.

On reaching San Marcial, the water was so deep that the cars were put out of commission on the level roads. Ben states that Elephant Butte dam backed the water up the river beyond the town causing it to flood San Marcial, something never happening before since the dam was constructed.

After a delay of several hours, the water ran down until a detour could be made in reaching Las Cruces where a flooding rain overtook them again. The trip on to El Paso was made over a paved highway which added much to the enthusiasm of the travelers on road ideas, especially during wet weather.

While at El Paso, a trip to Jaurez proved interesting when the old jail was visited along with the other ancient structures appealing to the tourist. Ben describes the "beds" in the jail as being boxing plank and the bed clothing consisting of one blanket—no pillows. The inhabitants consisted of drunks, dope fiends and murderers, etc. most of whom held out a hand from between the bars begging. The ladies of the party refused to go farther and curio shops were then visited to settle their nerves.

The market place of Jaurez was visited where vegetables, butter and meats were on display. The whole works was covered with flies and presented a filthy sight according to Ben's estimation. Carlsbad Cavern was visited on the way home, each visitor telling the same old story—nothing like it and no words to describe it. Roswell could not be passed up for that town has the reputation of being the most beautiful next to Salt Lake City. The trip was made without mishap and the folks were all glad to see old Clarendon and 'home, sweet home' once more.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Griswold and son Jack and Miss Bettie, of Sham rock, visited with the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Martin the last of the week.

J. H. Morris and C. W. Bennett made a business trip to Corpus Christi over the week end.

T. E. L. CLASS MET TUESDAY

Mrs. Cap Lane, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Turnbow, entertained the T. E. L. Class in her home here at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon.

The session was opened with prayer and lesson from the 14th chapter of John read by Mrs. Lane.

The prayer service was led by Mrs. W. B. Sims who read the 8th chapter of Romans.

Ten members were present. Punch made according to Mrs. Turnbow's celebrated recipe was served which met with popular favor. Those present were Meses. M. C. Reid, Lonnie Woods, A. G. Lane, Frank Brown, R. R. Dawkins, E. L. Lovelady, W. B. Sims, E. Dunn and the hostesses, Mrs. Cap Lane and Mrs. J. B. Turnbow.

O. L. Smith and daughters Helen and Joyce visited Joe Smith and family near Dalhart the last of the week while O. L. looked after cattle interests.

Mrs. Ed Barnes and children of Floydada spent the week here with her daughter, Mrs. Don Martin and family and her many old friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Hillyer and Miss Earl Hillyer of Memphis, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. A. Hillyer of Houston, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Arch Couch and children of this city, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Edgington Friday. Mrs. Walt Hillyer and Mrs. Edgington were school girl friends in Ellis county many years ago.

J.-W. Owens and family recently returned from a visit to Corpus Christi and old Mexico reporting a delightful vacation trip. J. W. states that "personal liberty" is scattered all over what he saw of Old Mexico.

A. Thompson home Thursday. Miss Lillian, formerly a teacher in our local schools, has been attending school at Norman, Okla. the past summer and will return there this fall to receive her M. A. degree.

Misses Lillian and Agnes Abbott of McLean visited in the E.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Chamberlain and Miss Maye Bennett were shopping in Amarillo Friday.

Perryton has recently completed a modern three-story hotel of 41 rooms, and a modern moving picture theater costing $50,000 and equipped with Vitaphone and all up-to-date appliances. The paving of 14 blocks in the business district is nearing completion.

During the first four days of August, the Farmers Creamery, at Hereford, churned 5,242 pounds of butter. Each week, states N. O. Benderson, manager, new customers come from near-by points and from points 50 and 60 miles distant, bringing in cream and the new industry is bringing trade to the city that formerly went elsewhere.

Borger, the world's largest carbon black manufacturing center, has ten plants now operating with 63 units, consuming 315,000,000 cubic feet of residue gas daily. Four hundred and seventy-five thousand pounds of carbon black are made every day.

Mrs. George Parr and Joe Parr of Amarillo, have completed preliminary plans for the immediate construction of a two-story brick business building at Pampa. When completed, the building will be occupied by Montgomery Ward Company, which has signed a 15-year lease and will establish a retail store. The structure will be erected on a 50x140 lot recently bought from the Panhandle Lumber company by Mrs. George Parr and Joe Parr, and is located in the commercial center of the city. The new business building will cost about $50,000 and is to be completed in the earliest possible time.

Capt. C. S. Nusbaum will conduct a series of lectures on community building at Claude, Texas from August 26th to Sept. 1st. These lectures delivered in many west Texas towns the past summer are said to excel any Lyceum or Chautauqua courses according to those who have heard both.

Amarillo will try to outdo all past fair history at the Tri-State fair to be held there from Sept. 23rd to 29th. Exhibits from three states are already being collected. Those desiring a catalog should write the secretary of the Tri-State Fair Association at Amarillo. The catalog is free.

Rev. George W. McCall will begin his second revival at Hedley Sunday at the Baptist church.

Citizens of Childress have finally persuaded the Highway Department to route Highway No. 4 directly thru the city.

Frank Kane of the Kane Circulation Company of Ft. Morgan, Colo. is meeting with great success in his circulation drive for the Snyder Times-Signal at Snyder, Texas according to reports of citizens of that town who are visiting in Clarendon. Mr. Kane conducted the record-breaking subscription campaign for the Donley County Leader in June, said by newspaper men to have been the most successful campaign ever put on in the Panhandle.

The largest single wheat field under one fence is the 6,000 acre field near Hereford, Texas.

The Postal Department is asking for bids on a federal postoffice building for Lockney, Texas.

Ben Andis Relates Interesting Features of Vacation Trip Over Southwest Section

After making a vacation trip over the southwest visiting many of the places of interest, Ben Andis, like many others, is convinced that the Southwest is rapidly becoming the nation's leading playground and sight-seeing section.

The Andis party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Andis and children, Wilfred and Lucile and a nephew, Tom Tinkle, Jr. Their first stop was at Buchanan, N. Mexico where they visited a brother-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fronabarger. A sister, Miss Bernice Andis joined them there also for the trip coming by rail to Ft. Sumner.

Ben took in his first Mexican baile at Ft. Sumner, the occasion being a double wedding of Mexicans who always celebrate with an all night dance or baile. From there the party and relatives drove to Santa Fe and spent some time in the Southwest's most noted museum, the Palace of Governors.

In speaking of the Palace of Governors, it will be remembered that books of more than one volume have been written on the exhibits and their history which will give our readers some idea of the magnitude of what may be seen at this one place.

The party of vacationists made their way west and south to Al-

Don't Let 'em Fool You!

That bumper crop the government predicted was based on an early estimate—if taken today, it would be a few million less. Hold to it—don't sell a pound of cotton this fall until you hear more about it.

It's the same way about groceries. Don't let 'em fool you with specials and boastful claims. You are buying staple groceries and not knick-knacks. In that case we always meet competition and then some. Try us out.

BABY AUTOMOBILE TO BE BUILT SOON

The New York Times has announced that negotiations are under way for the large scale production of a new "baby" automobile which will be sold through a mail order house for $200.

The car is the invention of James B. Martin of the Martin Airplane Factory, Garden City, N. Y., where the models were built.

A feature of the car is that it has no axles in the usual sense of the word, each wheel being independently mounted in the reinforced body. "Aviator cord" is used in the suspension of each wheel instead of a spring.

Three models of the car have been built and were recently demonstrated.

The new car has a wheel base of 60 inches, compared with the 103 1/2 inch wheelbase of the smallest car now being produced in the United States.

Mr. Martin asserted his method of wheel suspension eliminates rebound when the car travels over an uneven surface.

He said his invention will do 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

He declares he planned to have it shipped in a weather-proof packing case with hinged door, which may be used as a garage.

Fred Ballew of the Ballew & Noble garage firm, made a quick trip to Amarillo Friday in order to maintain the "dependable ser-

Greatest Trade-in offer we ever made

WE HAVE made trade-in offers before, but never one like this. The Miller Rubber Company has just announced a new-type tire of giant strength for extra service. A tire that's built to stand all the abuse you can ever give it—one we believe that will last as long as you drive your car—and give you care-free service.

We want to get this tire on a lot of cars quickly—so we want it piling up new mileage records right here in town. So we are making this remarkable offer.

Bring your old tires—we will make you a very liberal allowance for them—on a set of New Miller Deluxe Balloons. No matter what condition they are in we'll allow you every dollar we can possibly figure.

Miller Deluxe Balloon

Thus you get the world's highest quality tire at a big saving.

Our allotment of these new tires for this purpose is a large one—but they will go fast. Be among the fortunate motor car owners to get a set in exchange for your old tires. Act quickly.

Col. Dick is back. Five months ago Dick McCarty, who had published the Albany News for more than thirty years, decided the time had come for him to retire and enjoy life.

Yes, Colonel Dick is back in the harness again. The profession missed the product of his facile pen, his wit and his timely suggestions.

JUST THEIR LUCK

Editor Evans of the Bonham Favorite tells us that "the element of luck enters largely into the success of the ablest of our largest money makers."

Listening to the advice of these leaches on society is the least of it. In fact there is only one character to equal him, and that is the financial accident.

Though we have sounded the warning often and nobody paid the least attention, we once again call attention to the deadliness of the modern bath tub.

You are dead right. This editor uses the utmost caution in taking his semi-annual baths even to the extent of discarding soap, for it is told in newspaper history many times where serious accidents have occurred by the accidentee stepping upon a cake of soap which usually induces a rotating motion something akin to the peeling of that delectable tropical fruit.

CHAPTER IX

IT WAS about two months later when I returned from a flying visit to Dawson.

of the last few hours. Once more I had seen Berna, spent moments with her of perfect bliss, left her with my mind full of exaltation and bewildered gratitude.

"Oh, say, boys, I forgot to tell you. I met McCrimmon down the creek. You remember him on the trail, the halfbreed. He said he wanted to see us on important business.

"I've had a letter that's upset me. I'm in a terrible position. If ever I wanted strength and guidance, I want it now."

"Oh, you don't know how I worshiped that woman, trusted her, would have banked my life on her; and when I was away making money for her she ups and goes away with that silly reptile."

"I was at a loss how to comfort him, and it was while I was waiting there that suddenly we saw the halfbreed coming up the trail."

"That'll get us kodaked," said the Prodigal. "We're that sort, and if the proposition looks good to us we're with you. Anyway, we're clamoring at keeping our food traps tight."

"All right; listen. You know the Arctic Transportation company have claims on the upper Bonanza—well, a month back I was working for them. Well, one morning I went down and cleaned away the ash of my fire. The first stroke of my pick on the thawed face made me jump, stare, stand stock still, thinking hard."

"Good Lord! What did you do?" "What did I do? I just stepped back and picked wherever the dirt seemed loose all the way down the hole. Great heaps of dirt caved in on me. I was stunned, nearly buried, but I did the trick. There were tons of dirt between me and my find."

"The rest was easy. I went up the shaft, grooming and cursing. I pretended to faint. I told them the roof of the drift had fallen in on me. It was rotten stuff, anyway, and they knew it. The manager was disgusted, he went down and took a look at things; declared he would throw up the work at that place. The ground was no good. He made that report to the company."

"Now, here's the point. We can get a lay on that land. One of you boys must apply for it. They must know I'm in with you, or they would suspect right away. We'll make a big clean-up by spring. I'll take you right to the gold. There's thousands and thousands lying snug in the ground just waiting for us. It's right in our mit. Oh, it's a cinch, a cinch! If you boys are willing, we'll just draw up papers and sign an agreement right away. Is it a go?"

"We nodded, so he got ink and paper and drew up a form of partnership. "Now," said he, his eyes dancing, "now to secure that lay before anyone else cuts in on us. Gee! out it's getting dark and cold outdoors these days. Snow falling; well, I must wish to Dawson tonight."

It was late next night when he returned, tired, wet, dirty, but irrepressibly jubilant.

"Hurray, boys!" he cried. "I've clinched it. I saw Mister Manager of the big company. He was very busy, very important, very patronizing. We sparred round a bit like two fake fighters. Finally he agreed to let me have it on a 50 per cent basis. Don't faint, boys. Fifty per cent, I said. I'm sorry. It was the best I could do, and you know I'm not slow. That means they get half of all we take out. We signed the lay agreement, and everything's in shape. We've got the ground cinched, so get action on yourselves. Here's where we make our first real stab at fortune. Here's where we even up on the hard jobs she's handed us in the past; here's where we score a bull's-eye, or I miss my guess. We're going to work for all we're worth—and then some. Are you there, boys, are you there?"

"We are," we shouted with one accord. "There was no time to lose. Every hour for us meant so much more of that precious pay-dirt that lay under the frozen surface. We ran up a little cabin and banked it nearly to the low eaves with snow. By and by more fell on the roof to the depth of three feet, so that the place seemed like a huge white hummock. In this little box of a home we were to put in many weary months."

Not that the time seemed long to us; we were too busy for that. Indeed, often we wished it were twice as long. We didn't talk much in those days. We just worked, worked, worked, and when we did talk it was of our cold, our ceaseless work.

Neither our work, fatigue could keep us away from the shaft and the drift. We had gone down to bed-rock, and were tunneling in to meet the hole the halfbreed had covered up. So far we had found nothing.

"We were working two men to a shaft, burning our rations overnight. Our meals were hurriedly cooked and bolted. We grudged every moment of our respite from toil. Surely we would strike it soon. Then one afternoon, the Something happened. It was Jim who was the chosen one. About three o'clock he signaled to be hoisted up, and when he appeared he was carrying a pan of dirt. "Call the others," he said.

"All together in the little cabin we stood round, while Jim washed out the pan in snow water melted over our stove. We could see gleams of yellow in the muddy water. We had got the thing, the big thing, at last. "Hurry, Jim," I said, "or I'll die of suspense."

"Patience! We went on. There it was at last in the bottom of the pan, glittering gold, fine gold, coarse gold, nuggety gold. "Now boys, you can whip it up," said Jim quietly; "for there's many and many a pan like it down there in the drift."

Solemnly we shook hands all round. It was the night of the discovery when the Prodigal made us an address. "Look here, boys; do you know what this means? It means victory; it means freedom, happiness, the things we want, the life we love. We're going to get every cent of it. Look, there's a little over three months to do it in, leaving about a month to make stuf boxes and clean up the drift. We've got to work like men at a burning barn. For my part, I'm willing to do stunts that will make my previous record look like a plugged dime. I guess you boys all feel the same way."

"You bet we do," "Nuf sed; let's get busy." So once more, with redoubled energy, we resumed our tense, unremitting round of toil. It proved a most erratic and puzzling pay-streak—one day rich beyond our dreams, another too poor to pay for the panning. We swung on a pendulum of hope and despair. Looking back, there will always seem to be something weird and incomprehensible in those twilight days, an unreality, a vagueness like some dreary, feverish dream. For three months I did not see my face in a mirror. Not that I wanted to, but I mention this just to show how little we thought of ourselves.

It was mid-March when we finished working out our ground. We had done well. Not so well, perhaps, as we had hoped for, but still magnificently well. There were our two dumps, pyramids of gold-permeated dirt at whose value we could only guess. We had wrested our treasure from the icy grip of the eternal frost. Now it remained—and Oh, the sweetness of it—to glean the harvest of our toil.

We were working at the mouth of a creek down which ran a copious little stream all through the springtime. We tapped it some distance above us, and ran part of it along our line of sluice-boxes. I remember how I threw in the first shovelful of dirt, and how good it was to see the bright stream dis-color as our friend the water began his magic work. For three days we shoveled in, and on the fourth we made a clean-up.

"The boxes. We were terribly afraid of the water falling us, and worked harder than ever. One afternoon I was working on the dump, intent on shoveling in as much dirt as possible before supper, when, on looking up, who should greet me but Locasto. He held out his great hand to me, and as I had no desire to antagonize him, I gave him my own.

"I've just been visiting some of my creek properties," he said. "I heard you fellows had made a good strike, and I thought I'd come down and congratulate you. It is pretty good, isn't it?"

"Yes," I said; "not quite so good as we expected, but we'll have a tidy sum." "I'm glad."

He was turning to go, when suddenly he stopped. "Oh, by the way, I saw a friend of yours before I left. No need to mention names, you lucky dog. When's the big thing coming off? Well, I must congratulate you again. She looks sweeter than ever."

He was off, leaving a very sinister impression on my mind. In his parting smile there was a trace of mockery that gravely disquieted me. I had thought much of Berna during the past few months, but as the gold fever took hold of me I put her more and more from my mind. I told myself that all this struggle was for her. In the thought that she was safe I calmed all anxious fear. Yet at Locasto's words all my old longing and heart-ache vehemently resurged.

In spite of myself I was the prey of a growing uneasiness. I began to worry, so that I knew only a trip into Dawson would satisfy me. Accordingly, I hired a big Swede to take my place at the shovel, and set out at once on the trail for town.

"My strange, formless fears for Berna were soon set at rest. She was awaiting me. She looked better than I had ever seen her, and she welcomed me with an eager delight that kindled me to rapture. We crossed the Yukon to the green glades of North Dawson, and there, on a little rise, we sat down, side by side. Never was I so happy as I. I spoke but little, for love's silences are sweeter than all words. From time to time she would give me a glance so full of trust and love that my heart would leap to her, and wave on wave of passionate tenderness come sweeping over me.

"Yes," she was saying, "doesn't it seem as if we were dreaming? You know, I always thought it was a dream, and now it's coming true. You'll take me away from this place, won't you, boy?—far, far away. I'll tell you now, dear, I've borne it all for your sake, but I don't think I could bear it any longer. I don't know what I'd have done if it hadn't been for the rough miners. They've been so kind to me. When they saw I was straight and honest they couldn't be good enough."

She looked at him archly. "And you know, I've had ever so many offers of marriage, from honest, rough, kindly men—and I've refused them ever so gracefully." "Has Locasto ever made any more overtures?"

"Yes, about a month ago he besieged me, gave me no rest, made all kinds of proposals and promises. He wanted to divorce his 'outside' wife and marry me. He wanted to settle a hundred thousand dollars on me. Then, when he saw I was no use, he turned and begged me to let him be my friend. He spoke so nicely of you. He said he would help us in any way he could. He's everything that's kind to me now. He can't do enough for me. Yet, somehow, I don't trust him."

"Well, my precious," I assured her, "all danger, doubt, despair, will soon be over. I'll take you away from it all soon. We'll go to my home, to Garry, to mother. They will love you as I love you." "I'm sure I will love them. What you have told me of them makes them seem very real to me. Will you not be ashamed of me?"

"I will be proud, proud of you, my girl. On the first day of June, beloved, I will come to you, and we will be made man and wife. You will be waiting for me, will you not?" "Yes, yes, waiting ever so eagerly, my lover."

I kissed her passionately, and we held each other tightly for a moment. I saw some into her eyes that look which comes but once that look of ineffable self-surrender, of passionate abandonment. She rested her head on my shoulder; her lips lay on mine, and they moved faintly.

"Yes, lover, yes, the first day of June. Don't fail me, honey, don't fail me." We started, buoyant with hope. In an ecstasy of joy. I got back to the claim. Everything was going merrily, but I felt little desire to resume my toil. I was strangely wearied, worn out somehow. Yet I took up my shovel again with a body that rebelled in every issue. Never had I felt like this before. Something was wrong with me. I was weak. At night I sweated greatly. I cared not to eat.

"Well," said the Prodigal one day, "it's all over but the shouting. From my calculations we've cleaned up two hundred and six thousand dollars. That's a hundred and three between us. It's cost us about three to get out the stuff; so there will be roughly speaking about twenty-five thousand for each of us."

How jubilant every one was looking—every one but me. Somehow I felt as if money didn't matter just then, for what's the matter?" said the Prodigal, staring at me curiously. "You look like a ghost."

"I feel like one, too," I answered. "I'm afraid I'm in for a bad spell. I want to lie down awhile, boys. . . . I'm tired. . . . The first of June. I've got a date on the first of June. I must keep it, I must. . . . Don't let me sleep too long, boys. I mustn't fail. It's a matter of life and death. The first of June. . . .

Alas, on the first of June I lay in the hospital, raving and tossing in the clutches of typhoid fever.

Ed Carlon, an old foggy who doesn't know the difference between a paved highway and a pig trail, and who rode into this section on a horse and has never been out to civilization for a ride on a paved road, cornered the Apostle this week to inform him in forcible language that Donley county roads were a darn sight better rough, rustic and scenic as it is, than if they were paved.

Ed clinched his argument by relating a recent incident where the child of a family in the south end of the county swallowed a wrist watch. The horrified parents piled the youngster into the lizzie and drove pell mell toward Clarendon. After using the Donley county road for some three miles, the watch was coughed up by the kid and also a five dollar gold piece that had been missing for over a year.

Ed is firmly of the opinion that if this party had been traveling over a paved road, he would have been out a surgeon's fee, and the entire loss of the gold piece as that article would have been overlooked entirely.

R. (Domestic Regulator—the wife), asked us to milk the cows and help her with the housework. What a life!

The Apostle rebelled, threw off the toils of henpeckedness, declared himself emancipated and beat it for town. D. R., retaliated by working up our wine grapes into jelly. What a calamity!!! (P. S. Our ten gallon Cokey-Coley keg is for sale.)

The Apostle rejoices in the satisfaction of recalling to mind a neighbor of many years ago who received the contents of a kettle of hot water on his bald pate and broke a leg climbing a windmill tower to escape further damage. MERCHANTS MAKE READY FOR BIG FALL BUSINESS

Merchants Feel Justified In Stocking Heavily After A Careful Crop Survey

Banking on their judgment of an assured crop well in, keeping with that record of past seasons, merchants are already stocking up with a big line of seasonable goods.

The Bryan-Miller firm has already announced the arrival of a complete line of goods for their firm, much of which is now on display and is being added to daily.

The Harned Sisters of that well known millinery firm, have just returned from the markets and are in a position to show their customers a stock that is a credit to any town the size of Clarendon.

Bill Greene of the "big daylight store", is now visiting eastern markets and will have goods coming this way within a short time. He anticipates a stock well in keeping with the general policy of the Greene chain of stores and promises the people of this trade territory that no one will be disappointed in either quality or price. He expects to return within the week.

Ben Saled of the Leader Store, one of a chain which includes Hedley, Wellington and Sweetwater, will be in the market by the last of the week and, according to his statement, will stock up with a lot of bargains that will astound the natives. He will enlarge on his present stock by adding other lines until they reach the ceiling. This is the latest drygoods house here and the owner reports that his sales so far have far exceeded his expectations.

Ernest Pope of the Hanna-Pope store is all set for the fall rush having made purchases early to insure prompt arrival. These goods have already begun to arrive and the main bulk of arrivals will be in by the first of the month. The Pope brothers expect this to be a banner fall.

The Little Mercantile company advertises their faith in the crops of northwest Texas by continually establishing new branches of their business. The company now has houses at Wellington, Memphis, Mangum, Okla. in addition to the store here.

All of the smaller stores are stocking up with seasonable goods. With the opening of schools less than a month away, several of the stores are advertising school supplies in this issue.

Rathjen's shoe store, the only exclusive shoe store in town, has undergone several improving changes during the summer and the stock is being added to constantly. In fact it is Mr. Rathjen's policy to keep a good stock of the latest styles on his shelves the year round. It is generally understood that the Rathjen store has the most complete stock of correct footwear in the Panhandle and equal to any store in Amarillo as to variety.

Clarendon is rapidly becoming a furniture distributing point. The Amarillo Furniture company having a well stocked branch here in charge of Mr. Frank Heath. This company is an extensive advertiser and the people of the trade territory get a message almost weekly telling them of the new lines as well as general bargains in up-to-date furniture.

H. C. Kerbo & Sons, are stocking more furniture from month to month and are today carrying more of a general line than ever before. This firm plans to stock up for the fall trade to the capacity of their space.

Laziness Of Officials Often Leads To Embarrassment

Within a few hours after the robberies here the latter part of Wednesday night, officers of Claude had the two men. Due to a mistake in the description of the car in which they were riding helped the burglars to convince the officers that they had picked up the wrong men.

Upon searching the car of the men, ammunition was found matching the gun used here to intimidate an employe of the Bigger service station. After the men drove on, a gun using this ammunition was found by the roadside where the supposed burglars had thrown it when first apprehended.

Officers at Estelline held the two men charged with the Willow, Okla. bank robbery for a short time on the day following the robbery. The satchel containing the money was innocently resting in the front end of the garage and the two suspects were sipping up at the barber shop.

These same men are now held in an Oklahoma jail after being identified as the bank robbers and the lenient officers have no reward—just regret.

Donley county officers have been criticised to some extent for holding suspects twenty-four hours, but they have never turned any guilty parties loose upon the strength of a sob story or weak alibi, and never will.

Dewey White Is Wounded By Officers of Amarillo

Local friends of Dewey White learned Friday that he had received a painful wound in the right leg that afternoon while in a friendly scuffle with C. T. Vanderpool, deputy sheriff.

No charges have been filed against the officer as both men and bystanders state that it was purely an accident, the pistol being discharged while the two men wrestled in a joking way when the officer came to the garage where White was working in order to get his car.

Vanderpool immediately rushed White to the hospital where an x-ray examination disclosed the fact that no bones were broken. White has been in the employ of the Oldsmobile company for over a year and a car salesman there since leaving here several years ago.

Reunion At Harvey Home

The children of Mrs. Monica Harvey grew up here. The family was among the first to settle in this section and the father was for many years engaged in the saddle and harness business here until his death many years ago.

This week the boys are gathering home for their first family reunion bringing their families.

Bernard W. Harvey, wife and daughter of Houston were the first arrivals. The next day Wayland Harvey of Auburn, Nebraska arrived with his wife and three boys.

O. L. Smith, a son-in-law of Mrs. Harvey and his daughters Helen and Joyce and O. L. Jr. are residents here and are taking a part in the celebration. Jesse (Jay) Harvey, wife and two girls and five boys are expected in today from Plemons. Robert Harvey lives here with his mother.

Extra arrangements have been made to insure comfort and convenience for all those who are in attendance and the mother is proud to have all her living children again under the parental roof.

Noted Wrestler Dies Thursday In Battle Creek Hospital

Matty Matsuda, Japanese wrestler well known to fans of the Panhandle, died in a Battle Creek sanitarium Thursday from injuries received in a wrestling bout with Basanta Singh, an East Indian wrestler three weeks ago at Cincinnati.

Many local fans have made it convenient to see the bouts put on by Matsuda at Amarillo and will regret to hear of his passing. He has been in failing health for almost a year but would not give up the game.

Waco Man Dodging Trouble For Eighty-One Years Faces Serious Murder Charge

Pleasant Vessles, aged 81, Saturday shot and killed Joe Brown, aged 45 after Brown had threatened to stomp his liver out, according to his statement when being placed in jail.

Vessles, now penniless, came to Texas in an ox wagon in 1868 and stated that he had worked hard all his life avoiding trouble but could not stand being accused of poisoning a dog, therefore used a shotgun on his accuser resulting in the murder charge being placed against him.

Lockney Will Have Two Papers

Announcement is made in the last issue of the Sterley Post, a crack weekly that has been guided by the unerring hand of A. M. Adams, that he will henceforth issue the paper from Lockney under a new name.

For some time the greater part of the advertising patronage of the Post came from Lockney and Mr. Adams will not feel in the least abashed to see that Lockney merchants have a chance to tell the folks about their stocks thru the new paper.

The Lockney Beacon is the name of the paper that has been published in Lockney for some time and is also said to be owned by one H. B. Adams. Just what relation the two editors are to each other, is yet to be determined after a trial as competitors. Here's luck to the fraternity in general and may they always conduct themselves in a manner that will reflect credit upon the profession.

Lovell Family Have Reunion At Ashtola Home

An interesting family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lovell near Ashtola Sunday, the 18th.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Will Reeves and daughter of Chickasha, Okla.; Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Lovell and family of Trenton; J. W. Lovell of Ft. Worth; Hubert Lovell, Honey Grove; Mr. Willie and Leslie Pater of White Deer; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shafer of Jericho; Mr. Pink Collett of Floydsada; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lovell and children of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lovell of Clarendon; Rev. and Mrs. Van Pelt of Goodnight; Rev. L. A. Reavis of Clarendon.

As is the usual custom, the good women saw to it that every one had plenty to eat of the best that the country and market afforded. This is said to have been the largest reunion of any family of the same name in this section in many years.

Alleged Bank Robbers Arrested On Denver Train Thurs.

Two men giving their names as G. T. James and Paul Brooks were taken from the Denver passenger near Wichita Falls Thursday by Wichita police officers after receiving a tip from a train employe whose suspicions had become aroused following the actions of the men.

The bank at Willow, Oklahoma had been robbed the day before and the robbers had been chased to near Childress when the officers lost sight of them. The satchel carried by the men contained about three thousand dollars, most of which was in the original wrappers. The two men were identified by J. H. Ford, cashier of the robbed bank and who was kidnapped and forced to accompany them out of town. The two men were also identified by Childress parties as being men well known around there, one of whom had served as a peace officer.

The officers receiving them for Oklahoma were S. H. Title, sheriff of Greer county, John K. Ford, chief of police of Altus, and A. B. Williams, chief of police at Granite, Okla.

It is understood that Oklahoma offers a big reward for the capture of bank robbers which probably accounts for the fact that Wichita officials made a twelve mile run in eleven minutes to intercept the passenger before its arrival in town.

Mrs. W. R. Pool and granddaughters, Phyllis and Juanita of Amarillo, spent the week end in the E. Price and Cal Merchant homes here.

Lella Lake Will Have New Tile Grocery Building

A tile business building is being constructed at Lella Lake by J. K. Morton measuring twenty-four by fifty feet.

This building will be occupied by the owner's grocery business formerly of the firm of Morton & Chenault, he having purchased the Chenault interest recently.

The business will be managed by Claude Morton, a son of J. K. Morton, who has been manager of the local lumber yard there for the past twelve years.

Roy Clayton assistant cashier of the Donley County State Bank, made a business and sight seeing trip to McLean Thursday and gave the new wildcat well on the Lewis ranch the once over.

Reece Barton, the world's oldest cowboy of Childress county is to break into the movies, having made a contract with the Pathe people.
