

Everything Set For Big Crowds At Boat Races

Two-Day Regatta Will Start Saturday Morning; Local Boat Races In Afternoon

Everything is in readiness for the starter's gun Sunday afternoon that will launch the second annual speed boat races, major attraction of the two-day regatta to be held at Lake Brownwood Saturday and Sunday, June 20 and 21. Completed plans call for an elaborate program for the two days, beginning Saturday morning with a bait and fly casting tournament under direction of the Izaak Walton League, in which $60 in prizes are being offered.

Extensively advertised throughout this section of the state, the regatta this year is expected to draw much larger crowds than the 10,000 people who watched the events last year. The program is more varied, and has been designed to be of greater interest to the spectator.

Early arrival of one of the entrants, Manzy Mann of Houston, and receipt of a number of entries, indicates that a classy field will be on hand for the boat races. The earlier date than last year has been a factor in drawing increased interest among race drivers, and predictions are that the largest field entered in Texas this year will be on hand.

Roads Repaired

Both routes to Lake Brownwood have been put in first class shape for Saturday and Sunday travel, and both will be open. Both roads are being paved, and while the topping has not been put on either at this time, they are being rolled and will be in much better shape than last year, when dust was an objectionable feature.

Advance ticket sales have surpassed expectations of the ticket committee. In the contest for selling the largest number of tickets, R. V. Muse won the first prize of $25; Miss Ruth Adams won second prize, $10, and the Brownwood Volunteer Fire Department won third prize, $5.

John Winter of Houston, selected by directors of the regatta association as referee for the boat races, Wednesday wired his acceptance and will be on hand Sunday morning. Mr. Winter is a veteran referee, and has a large following among race drivers and fans.

The bait and fly casting tournament is the only scheduled feature on Saturday morning's program. Prizes are on display at Garner-Alvis Company and anglers are urged to take a look at them.

Saturday afternoon's program will be one of the most entertaining of the two days. Local boat races will be featured, and Brown-

BROWNWOOD PECANS ARE GIVEN ROOSEVELT

Brownwood representatives took a prominent part in Texas' reception of President Roosevelt Friday and Saturday, and the executive family received a box of Brown county pecans as a memento of their visit to the state.

Mayor W. H. Thompson, Senator E. M. Davis and L. D. Hillyer accepted special invitations to sit on the speaker's platform during the President's speech at the Centennial Exposition in Dallas Friday morning.

H. G. Lucas, president of Texas Agricultural Association, presented the box of pecans to Mrs. Roosevelt in Fort Worth Friday afternoon. F. S. Abney, County Agent C. W. Lehmburg and E. E. Baxter and family were among the other Brownwood citizens who were in Fort Worth to see the President Friday.

CAUTION WOULD MEAN SAVINGS TO BUSINESS MEN, SECRETARY SAYS

If people would consult the Chamber of Commerce before taking chances of fly-by-night schemes they would save hundreds of times what the organization is worth. Ray Gill, secretary of the Beaumont chamber of commerce, said last week in a talk on "Sucker Money" before the 30th annual convention of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association at Lubbock. Chester Harrison, secretary of the Brownwood chamber of commerce, and Carl Blasig, assistant director of WPA district 14 and historian of the state organization, attended the Lubbock meeting, returning to Brownwood Saturday.

Mr. Blasig was principal speaker at a luncheon program Friday when he reviewed the history and accomplishments of the association since its inception. He has been a member of the group for 19 years.

Every section of the state was represented by the 85 secretaries who attended the convention. In addition there were a number of out-of-state men in Lubbock for the association's sessions.

100 INVALIDS ARE GIVEN FLOWERS ON SHUT-IN SUNDAY

Approximately 100 invalids and permanently disabled men, women and children of the community received flowers Sunday as the local florists observed National Shut-In Day. The flowers were furnished by the A. M. Davis Floral Company and Brownwood Floral Company and were delivered by members of Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club.

The movement to deliver flowers to permanent shut-ins over the United States is sponsored by the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, and has become an annual affair over the entire country. More than 750,000 shut-ins received flowers in the entire United States.

Hans Schroeder was local Shut-In Day chairman.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS MEET HERE JULY 8TH

Plans are now being made for the next meeting of the Heart of Texas Association of Life Underwriters, to be held at Hotel Brownwood July 8. An out of town speaker will be secured for the program, according to officials of the organization.

New officers were elected at a meeting of the Association Friday night, and delegates to the state life underwriters' convention in Fort Worth June 27 were named. The new officers are:

Jack McClure, Coleman, president; Roy McGuire, Brownwood, vice-president; J. C. Patterson, Brownwood, secretary-treasurer; J. L. Breazeale, Lee Meek and Waldo Carson, all of Brownwood, directors.

Workers Needed In Farm Harvesting

Numerous calls are being received daily at the National Reemployment office at the court house from farmers who are trying to get laborers for work in cotton and grain fields. Persons who want to work are asked to register at the NRS office at once, and those who are already registered are asked to come in and reregister by local NRS officials.

According to the report from the reemployment office there is no reason for any able bodied man being out of work during the next few weeks.

Three famous smiles all in a row. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt enjoying Texas hospitality on their tour of the State last week, with Governor James V. Allred serving as official host. Further evidence of the cordial relations existing between the Texas and National Administrations is the naming of Governor Allred to nominate Vice-President John N. Garner at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

NEED OF APPLICANT WILL GOVERN AMOUNT OF PENSION CHECKS

The size of old age pension checks, the first of which will be sent out July 1, will be determined by the needs of the different applicants, according to Judge H. T. Kimbro of Austin, member of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, who was in Brownwood Monday accompanied by C. A. Triga of Brady, district supervisor for the commission. Judge Kimbro said that the most needy will get full amounts and those whose requirements for assistance are less will be paid in proportion to their needs.

Judge Kimbro, who is making an inspection tour of all districts from Fort Worth west to El Paso, said that the main objective of the tour is to urge that the applicants for Old Age Assistance have patience. Officials are making the required investigations of applications as rapidly as possible, but the detailed investigations consume a great deal of time, and a spirit of cooperation between the applicants and the commission officials is absolutely necessary.

Mr. Triga, whose headquarters are Brady, said that about 5,000 applications for assistance have been made from the 12 counties in his district. J. M. Bowman of Brownwood is investigator for Brown county. He is being assisted in checking the 1,500 or more Brown county applications by Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Goar of the district office.

LIONS CHANGE STATE CONVENTION HERE TO BUSINESS GATHERING

The state convention of Lions Clubs, scheduled to be held in Brownwood Monday and Tuesday, June 22 and 23, will be reduced to a business session, and probably will be held only one day, it was announced by members of the local Lions Club following a conference with C. P. Dodson of Decatur, district governor, at the district meeting in Cisco Tuesday of this week. The business session is expected to attract between 60 and 75 Lions, whereas the state convention would have brought several hundred to Brownwood.

Because of the closeness of the dates for the state convention and the district conventions, five of which have been held in Texas during the past few weeks, it was thought best to have only a statewide business session of representatives of the Lions Clubs at this time.

Extensive plans for entertaining the state convention had been made and preparations were being made for elaborate entertainment of the visitors. It is not known now what entertainment features will be held for the visitors. District Governor Dodson requested that entertainment plans be abandoned and the session be strictly a business meeting.

1500 FARMERS SIGN WORK SHEETS HERE

Approximately 1500 Brown county farmers signed work sheets for participation in the federal soil conservation program by the deadline for signing Tuesday, according to County Agent C. W. Lehmburg. The work sheets are being typed in the county agent's office here and will be sent to the office of the State Agricultural Conservator at College Station.

If any corrections are necessary the sheets will be sent back here for changes before they receive final approval. Many farmers have already started their planting in accordance with the agreements signed in the work sheets, Lehmburg said.

WELFARE BOARD ORGANIZED TO HANDLE RELIEF WORK IN COUNTY AS AID IS STOPPED

ORGANIZATION of the County Board of Public Welfare for Brown county, to take over the relief obligation in this county after the Texas Relief Commission withdraws its assistance July 1, was perfected this week with adoption of a $900 monthly budget and a plan of work. Of the budget, $500 monthly will be paid by Brown county and the city of Brownwood, and $400 is to be raised by public subscription.

Campaign for raising the needed $400, all of which will go to the needy unemployables in this county, will begin within the next few days, it was announced by J. E. Edwards, president of the board of public welfare. The county and city will continue to pay the major portion of the monthly budget, but cannot assume the entire load during the next six months, it was pointed out.

Surplus federal commodities will continue to be distributed to relief cases and WPA workers, but only in event the plan as outlined, or some other suitable plan, is adopted, and in no event unless case workers are employed in this county. The commodities consist of some clothing, made by WPA workers, and a few items of essential food. No provision is made for rent, other items of food, medical care or other necessities, and these must be met by the community.

Careful check of the needs of destitute and helpless people in Brown county indicates that all cases can be taken care of by existing agencies - largely through employment by WPA - except 50 cases, representing some 200 individuals. These 50 cases all are families in which no member is capable of being employed. Histories of these cases are reviewed elsewhere in this issue of The Banner.

In addition to Mr. Johnson, members of the board are: Rev. A. W. Anderson, vice president; Mrs. D.

DESIGNERS TO SUBMIT PLANS FOR EXHIBITS

Secretary Chester Harrison of the Brownwood chamber of commerce was asked to get designers and officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to submit tentative plans for the District 19 exhibit at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial Exhibition, at a meeting of chamber of commerce secretaries of this district in Brownwood Wednesday. The plans are to embody suggestions made at the meeting.

Attending the conference here were Harrison, S. W. Cooper, Coleman; H. M. Everett, Stephenville; and Hilton Burks, Comanche.

JACKSON IS ELECTED HEAD OF PUBLISHERS

H. H. Jackson, publisher of the Coleman Democrat - Voice, was elected president of the Texas Press Association at the convention of the association in Tyler last week. The prominent West Texas publisher had served during the past year as vice president of the state organization. He formerly served as president of the Heart of Texas Press Association and in other associational capacities.

Bob Edwards, publisher of the Denton Record - Chronicle, was elected vice president, and will be advanced to the presidency at the next convention. Sam P. Harben of Richardson, secretary; and Ben F. Harigel, of La Grange, treasurer, were re-elected.

Brownwood was a leading contender for the 1937 convention along San Antonio and Houston. The city will be selected later by the executive committee.

Brownwood people attending the Tyler convention included Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mayes, John Gorman, Otis Stewart, W. M. Hemphill and Wendell Mayes.

CLEAN-UP OF VACANT PREMISES IS URGED

Owners of vacant lots over the city are urged by officials of the Civic Clean-Up and Beautification Campaign to have them cleaned off immediately. Officials said there remains a number of unsightly vacant lots in different sections of town. All owners of such lots are being urged to have the trash removed and weeds cut as soon as possible.

The committee in charge also asks that all home owners have their premises in as good order as possible by the end of the week in preparation for the many Regatta visitors expected. Much work has been done in all districts of the town toward beautification, and it is desired that this work show off to its best advantage while the visitors are in town.

Importance of clean premises to general health conditions was stressed in a statement made by health officials Wednesday. Dr. Roy Hallum, county health officer, and Dr. O. N. Mayo, acting city health officer, pointed out that standing water and stagnant pools are breeding places for mosquitoes while weeds harbor many harmful insects and rodents. Such conditions at this season of the year make for the possibility of typhoid and other diseases, both physicians stressed.

THRASHER EXPLOSION AT COMANCHE FATAL TO TWO; NINE HURT

Funeral services were held Wednesday for George Pate, 32, and John Carroll, 34, victims of a thrasher boiler blast at Comanche Tuesday afternoon which killed them and injured nine other persons. All of the nine persons injured are expected to recover, although several of them are seriously injured, and three are receiving treatment in a Gorman hospital.

Pate was buried in Comanche cemetery Wednesday morning, and Carroll was buried at Goldthwaite Wednesday afternoon. The men were refilling the boiler of a wood-burning thrasher in front of the Clyde Luper and Frank Clark homes in the residential section of Comanche, when it exploded, blowing Pate's body 75 feet from the machine and hurling Carroll's body about 50 feet. Debris from the machine was thrown for several blocks.

All of the other injured, with the exception of members of the Luper family, were children who were following the machine down the street.

Those in the hospital are J. D. Adams, 12, suffering from burns and injury to his eyes; Kenneth Walcott, 13, injury to eyes and burns and lacerations to his face; Charles Filippo, 10, head wound and cuts and bruises. Others injured were Clyde Luper, who was thrown 40 feet by the explosion; Gaston York, 12; John Luper, 12; Pat Luper, 9; Bertie Luper, 14, and Mary Ellen Filippo, 9.

An automobile in front of the Luper home was demolished, and Mrs. Luper was severely shocked but otherwise unharmed.

Pate is survived by his wife, four children and his father, J. W. Pate. Carroll is survived by his wife and two step-daughters.

DOUBLE FUNERAL HELD FOR MOTHER AND SON

A double funeral service was held at Cross Plains Sunday morning for Robert Howard, who died from self-inflicted gunshot wounds Thursday night, and his mother, Mrs. I. M. Howard, who died Friday night after a long illness. Howard, a former Howard Payne student and writer of numerous Western stories for magazines, was found shot through the brain in his automobile near his parents' home Thursday morning a few minutes after a nurse had discouraged his hopes for his mother's recovery.

Mrs. Howard had been critically ill for some time and her son had been almost constantly at her bedside for most of the week, refusing sleep or food.

The funeral was held at the Baptist tabernacle in Cross Plains with Rev. Ben Richburg, Baptist pastor of Big Springs, assisted by Rev. Mr. Mann, Methodist pastor at Cross Plains and Rev. J. E. Tatum, Cross Plains Baptist pastor, officiating. Interment was in Greenleaf Cemetery, Brownwood.

Higginbotham Funeral Home and White & London Funeral Home were in charge of funeral arrangements.

IRRIGATED PECANS TO BE STUDIED AT EXPERIMENT PLANT

The U. S. Pecan Experiment Station here will be the only one in the world at which pecans under irrigation are studied, when the irrigation system to be installed by the city is completed. The City of Brownwood plans to submit an application to the WPA for a project of laying a main from the city pump station to the Pecan station. A pump now in use at the pump station but which will be replaced soon by a pump purchased recently by the city council will possibly be used for the irrigation.

There are 1,100 young pecan trees at the pecan station, which is located on the old Comanche road. Installation of the new pump purchased from the San Antonio Machine & Supply Co. for $1,500, will give a much greater volume of water and assure a steady supply, city officials say. It will be installed within the next 30 days.

COMMITTEE TO TAKE OPTIONS ON SANDY LAND STATION SITES

Members of the locating committee of Texas A. & M. College Extension service, designated to select a site for the sandy land experiment station in this section, will be asked to meet to make a survey of proposed sites. This decision was reached Wednesday when a committee representing the counties designated as possible locations for the station met in Brownwood. The committee will meet again with the locating committee in July. The sandy land experiment station was authorized by the last legislature, largely through efforts of State Senator E. M. Davis and Representative Courtney Gray of Brownwood.

Senator Davis presided at the committee meeting here Wednesday. The committee will obtain options on various proposed sites, and ask the locating committee to inspect these upon their visit. Present at the meeting were Davis, Hilton Burks of Comanche, Conquitt Williams of Rising Star; Jesse Adams, Cross Plains; J. Frank Robertson, Rising Star; Representative Luker, Comanche; Charles F. Hemphill, Cross Plains; M. D. Hood, Rising Star; Ross Jenkins, Cross Plains and Judge H. L. Stewart, Comanche.

Major Wallace and Major H. C. Gamble, district safety director, conferred with State WPA officials in San Antonio Friday regarding the new program.

VETERANS' BONDS ARE BEING CERTIFIED BY LOCAL POST OFFICE

Certification of the veterans bonds, delivery of which started Monday morning, is now being handled in Brownwood at the post office. For the first rush postmaster George Kidd maintained a certification office at Memorial Hall, but the certification can now be handled at the post office, he announced on closing the Memorial Hall office Tuesday afternoon. Bonds have been received for 573 veterans at the Brownwood office, and local officials estimate that not more than 25 others will be received here. It is estimated that the bonds received here will total more than $280,000, the veterans receiving an average of $500 each.

Checks on bonds certified are expected to begin arriving by the end of the week. When bonds are certified the veteran is given a receipt and the bonds are mailed to Dallas, the nearest paying office. U. S. Treasury checks will be written there and mailed directly to the veteran. Veterans who wish to have their bonds certified were instructed not to fill out any part of the bond except in the presence of a certifying officer.

APPOINTED COUNSELLOR

Stuart Painter left this week for Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, to assume his duties as counselor at a Boy Scout camp there. At the camp Painter will have charge of the classes in Indian lore and will direct the night ceremonies of the camp.

WPA Offices To Be Retained In City For Year

Program to Be Continued Through-out Next Year; Details To Be Announced Soon

District Works Progress Administration offices will be retained in Brownwood for at least another year, Major Karl Wallace, district director, has been advised by the state WPA offices in San Antonio. The announcement followed receipt of news here that the WPA program, originally scheduled to end July 1, would be continued when the present period ends.

There will be no reduction in the personnel of the local district offices under the new program. Major Wallace was advised, but it is likely that the number of employees would be increased under the new program.

Definite plans for the WPA work after July 1 will not be known until final action is taken by Congress on the bill now pending, according to Major Wallace. He said that a number of local governmental subdivisions have prepared project applications to be submitted when the new program begins, and that the district 14 office and staff will be ready to handle the new program when it starts.

District 14 is composed of ten counties in this territory. Offices occupy the 8th floor of Hotel Brownwood.

Centennial Hall of Science Dedicated to Better Health

Dr. J. W. Bass, left, director of public health for the City of Dallas Saturday dedicated the Frigidaire Hall of Science at the Texas Centennial Exposition, as Phil M. Bratten, southwestern district manager for Frigidaire, looked on. The Hall of Science, occupying an important section in the General Motors building, interprets in non-scientific fashion the ways in which health and life are endangered by improperly preserved foods and beverages in which harmful bacteria have grown because of too low storage temperature.

Mann Says Races May Set Records

Many Mann of Houston first race driver to arrive for the speed boat races Sunday afternoon, predicts that if water conditions at Lake Brownwood are favorable Sunday, several Texas records will be broken. Mann said all top-notch drivers of the Southwest will be on hand, and greatly improved mechanical features this year serve to increase the speed and hazard of boat racing.

Mann is no novice at the game. He has entered 80 regattas, and in each has won at least one race. His last meet was June 7 at Corpus Christi, when he won first place in Class B, and second in every other race, including the free-for-all.

His new boat, "Electric" which he brought to the Brownwood races, and which is on display at Texas Power & Light Company showrooms, is of his own design and construction. It has never been beaten in any competition.

REGATTA READY-

(Continued from Page 1) wood people are being urged to attend this part of the program and are assured plenty of amusement. Races scheduled include a relay race, a truth race and a numbers race. Each one is designed especially to interest and amuse the spectators. Prizes of $20, $10, and $5 are offered in the relay race, with smaller second and third prizes in the other two.

The annual Regatta Dance will be held Saturday night at Hotel Brownwood roof, with Louis Welk and his 14-piece orchestra furnishing the music. In addition, Welk has arranged a four-act floor show. Tickets for the dance are on sale now at Rentro-McMinn Drug Company.

Sunday's program will start promptly at 2 p. m., when drivers in the N. O. A. races will assemble for final instructions from Referee John Winter. The first race will start at 2:30, and the racing will be continuous until the five ten-mile races have been completed. Each will be held in two heats.

Early entries include: Lawrence Salman, Del Rio; Bill Crist, Dallas; Many Mann, Houston; C. E. Green and J. L. Leverett, of Austin.

Meat Cuts and How to Cook Them BEEF CHART

Every housewife is confronted with the three-day question of variety in the meals she serves. In beef we become addicted to roasts or steaks and forget all about the other good beef cuts which will give pleasing variation and be easy on the pocketbook, too. Perhaps our trouble lies in the fact that we are not as familiar as we should be with many of the possibilities offered by beef. If you are one of those whose use of beef is limited to a roast or a steak, the chart given above will be invaluable in learning to identify and locate the many retail cuts of beef. The chart will show you at a glance just how each one should be cooked. You will want to preserve this chart for ready reference.

STOVER GIVEN ONE YEAR IN JAIL FOR AUTOMOBILE DEATH

John W. Stover, Brown county farm youth on trial for murder of J. Frank Davis, 52, was found guilty of negligent homicide, by a jury in 35th judicial district court Tuesday night, and sentenced to serve one year in Brown county jail. The trial opened Monday morning and the case went to the jury at 9:51 p. m. Tuesday, following arguments by attorneys for the state and defense, and the jury reported to District Judge E. J. Miller after deliberating about one hour.

Davis was killed in a road near his watermelon patch, in the northern part of Brown county, on the night of July 27, last year. He was struck by an automobile driven by Stover, and the defense contended the death was accidental. It was brought out in the evidence that after the car struck Davis, Stover and his companions went for aid. In his testimony Stover said that he saw a "bulk" in the road, but did not know it was a man until he was within 6 or 8 feet of it. He said that he tried to stop the car but could not.

Stover was the only defense witness except five character witnesses all of whom testified that Stover's character and standing in the community were known as good.

The state asked for conviction of murder with malice aforethought. Allen Dabney, Eastland, special prosecutor, opened the argument for the state. He said Stover's acts showed malice because he had run away after the act had been committed and had not stopped to render aid. He recommended that the defendant be given from 10 to 25 years in the penitentiary. Dabney and District Attorney A. O. Newman conducted the prosecution. J. C. Darroch and E. M. Davis were attorneys for the defense.

At the conclusion of the final arguments Judge Miller in his charge to the jury asked that four counts be considered: murder with malice, negligent homicide and aggravated assault. He told the jurors that Stover should be freed if they believed the killing was an accident.

SHELTON JERSEY IS ON EXHIBITION AT DALLAS CENTENNIAL

"Eminence Miss Benedictine" prize Jersey cow from the herd of Shelton Brothers dairy of Brownwood, is entered in the "Model Dairy" exhibit and show at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition at Dallas, and is maintaining a record for the widely known Shelton herd. The cow was taken to Dallas opening day of the Centennial by Joe Shelton and has been on exhibition ever since that time. The Jersey is entered in competition with a number of other milk cows at the exposition, and accurate records will be kept of production throughout the life of the Centennial.

Mr. Shelton also received this week a letter from Lynn Copeland, production testing department, American Jersey Cattle Club, New York, in which the Shelton herd was highly praised. Mr. Copeland particularly praised the herd average of 354.65 pounds of butterfat.

"I think this is certainly a very good average, particularly for a herd as large as yours, and especially for your first year's work of herd testing," Mr. Copeland wrote. With the letter he enclosed the herd test records for the past year.

"We have now completed your past year's records and I am enclosing in this letter the final certificates showing the information on your herd average and also giving the individual records of the cows of the herd. I particularly want to congratulate you on the herd average of 354.65 pounds of butterfat. I think that this is certainly a very good average, particularly for a herd as large as yours and especially for your first year's work of Herd Testing.

"You will note that the average number of cows in the herd during the past year was 71.69, and, of course, the herd average is based on this number. There was an average of 62.24 cows in milk all the time during the year. This gives an average of 9.45 cows which were dry all the time. I have figured from this that the average percentage of dry cows carried during the year was 13.2%. This is a low percentage for we have calculated from all the herds which have completed a year's work of Herd Testing to date that the average percentage of dry cows carried each year in all the herds is 15.39%. In other words, it does indicate that from a breeding standpoint your herd has been operating very well.

"Needless to say, I am especially glad that the herd has been re-entered on test again for the coming year. Obviously with the first lactations from then on will, of course, be published as complete lactations. The individual records on the attached sheets, however, are obviously shown on the basis of calendar years. In publishing the records, they are published on the basis of lactations and individual lactation certificates similar to Register of Merit certificates are available if a breeder wants to purchase them at fifty cents per certificate."

KITCHEN PRAISED BY FELLOW WAR VETERANS

A resolution endorsing the administration of Curtis P. Kitchen of Brownwood as commander of the Department of Texas, Spanish War Veterans was passed at the recent state encampment in San Angelo. Mr. Kitchen's term as commander ended with the meeting. The resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, the Department of Texas, Spanish War Veterans, has been fortunate in the selection of officers during the past year and whereas, the Hon. Curtis P. Kitchen, Commander; John L. Cramer, Senior Vice Commander, and Arnold Deats, Junior Vice Commander, together with all of the staff of officers, have served so faithfully and well, giving unstintingly of their time and talents for the good of the Department;

"Be it resolved, that we, the veterans of the United Spanish War, Department of Texas, do hereby endorse all of the acts of the present Department Administration, that we commend them for the manner in which they have handled the finances of the Department."

Woodland Heights Boys Will Exhibit Calves At Dallas

Among the baby beves exhibited at the Brooksmith Community Day program Thursday were three fed out by George and Billy Allcorn, members of the Woodland Heights 4-H club. The boys have made exceptionally high records in feeding out their calves and plan to show them at the Centennial 4-H show in Dallas next November. The boys are sons of G. L. Allcorn of Woodland Heights.

A 6-months old white faced Hereford gained 130 pounds in the last 30 days or an average of 4 1-3 pounds daily. A 7 months old short-horn Durham gained 110 pounds in the month, or 3 2-3 pounds daily. Another calf, 3 months old, gained 120 pounds, or 3 pounds per day. The calves are being raised with nurse cows and fed balanced rations.

FRANCE PUTS IRON CURB ON ROYALISTS AFTER ATTACK

French government ban on the Action Francaise, militant Royalist organization, after a brutal attack on Leon Blum, Socialist leader, led to raiding of the group's headquarters in Paris, shown upper left, with the crowd attracted by police arrival. At upper right, editors of the publication Action Francaise, official organ of the Royalists, conferred in their Paris office after the suspension edict, with Maurice Pujo, editor-in-chief, left; Charles Maurras, co-editor, center, and M. F. W. Fischer Will Speak Here June 24

F. W. Fischer, of Tyler, candidate for Governor of Texas, will speak in Brownwood in the interest of his candidacy Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to announcement received from his Tyler headquarters. Mr. Fischer, East Texas attorney, is making an active candidacy for the office. His principal plank calls for increased taxation of oil, gas, sulphur and other natural resources, to the relief of real estate.

HENRY WILSON TELLS GROCERS OF FISHING IN LAKE BROWNWOOD

"Brownwood, Texas... Everyone who reads Turnstile sooner or later hears about deer hunting in Texas. Here's pictorial evidence of the fish that abound in the state's largest lake—and of Piggly Wiggly fishermen. Henry Wilson sends this snapshot with explanation and an invitation to Joe Harrison, which he'd like better than anything imaginable to be able to accept."

The foregoing is the introductory remarks of the editor of the Weekly Turnstile to an article sent that paper by Henry Wilson telling about Lake Brownwood and the good fishing. The article appeared on the front page of this magazine June 21st. It is published at Cincinnati, Ohio, and has national circulation.

The story was accompanied by a photograph of Henry Wilson and the employees of the Piggly Wiggly Store holding in front of them a string of twenty good sized fish that were caught when it was opened to the public on May 29th.

Local School Girl Wins Poster Award

Louise Chastain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. On July 1, Brown county will be called upon, together with all counties in Texas, to assume again the relief obligation. There is no turning back, no new avenues that will be opened, no new government agency that can be depended upon to step into the breach. It is the county's obligation to the destitute within the county, and it is an obligation which must be met.

Assuming the Obligation

Relief is no new thing to any county. Although during the past three years, when the government spent vast amounts of money in an effort to solve the problem, we have come to think of relief as a national problem, it always has been and always will be a local matter. The federal government, in the time of greatest stress, only came to the relief of the local government agencies. Now that emergency has passed and the obligation again must be taken up by local governments.

The situation is not so dark as one first would imagine. The enormous scale upon which the federal government operated has put some undue fright into the minds of the public. But fortunately, we have learned many lessons from that period - lessons of waste as well as lessons of economy - and we can learn from both.

The relief load in Brown county at the present time is not greater than it was before the depression. Operation of the WPA, issuance of the soldiers' bonus and prospect of Old Age Assistance from the State have reduced the number of families that must depend for their existence upon some form of charity. Reliable authorities anticipate that the number of families in distress at the present time will not exceed 50 by any great number.

On the other hand, this number cannot be expected to grow smaller. Under normal conditions, Brown county can be expected to have at least 50 families in destitute conditions; 50 or more families who are unable to sustain themselves under any kind of economic conditions, due to physical conditions.

The problem, then, is not a temporary one, and it should not be met with temporary measures. It is a problem that is going to be with us so long as we ourselves exist. The wise plan is to make some sort of arrangements that will continue on year after year.

In formulating this plan, we have the advantage of the three years of research and work of the agencies of the Federal and State government. They have met a problem infinitely worse than ours of today, and from the meeting of those problems should grow a plan which can be utilized by the local authorities.

This obligation does not belong to any individual, or group of individuals. It is a community problem. As such, there is only one equitable way to meet it and that is through the expenditure of community funds. These can be secured either through private subscription or through the use of tax money.

During the remainder of this year, it will not be possible to squeeze from the county or city government sufficient funds to meet the distress needs of these people, in spite of the willingness of representatives of both these governmental agencies to assist so far as possible. Much help will be forthcoming from this source, but not sufficient. The only alternative for the remainder of the year is to rely upon the generosity of individuals to make up the deficit. But this is a stop-gap measure, and one which must be abandoned in the end because of its inequalities, its cost and its inefficiencies.

The only permanent solution to a permanent problem is through a tax-supported budget from the county or city, or, more equitably, from both. In the end, the only way that the needed money can be supplied is through taxation. This is an unpopular method, but the justice of it is apparent, and the inevitableness is inescapable. No doubt this thought is in the minds, not only of those directly charged with carrying any relief plans into operation, but also of those who guide the course of the city and county governments.

Meanwhile, the time is almost upon us when this obligation must be assumed. Brown county must realize the obligation, and must make immediate plans to meet it.

The Texas Centennial Central Exposition, the major observance of Texas' hundredth year of independence, is in operation in Dallas; the Texas Centennial is being observed. Anyone who had any doubt that Dallas would be ready on opening day; anyone who felt the Centennial would be an inadequate expression of the birthday exuberance; anyone who has had any qualms about the Centennial at all, needs only to attend the Dallas exposition only for a few hours to have all this dispelled, and to feel a pride in Texas citizenship.

The Centennial Is Ready

The Centennial is even greater than inspired press agents have led us to believe; for no words could describe the beauty of the grounds and buildings; no description could adequately picture the splendor of the lighting effects, the grandeur and thorough workmanship of the commercial displays, the elaborateness of the exhibits and the shows; the majesty of the entire celebration. It is not only worthy of the Texas of the past, which it commemorates, but of the Texas of the future.

There were many who believed the Dallas exposition would be another Texas State Fair, and that the Centennial would be a disappointment to those who traveled far to visit it. But such is not the case. Many who visited the Century of Progress proclaimed the Centennial a better show, and certainly those less fortunate ones who were visiting their first world's fair were sufficiently impressed.

With all the modernistic settings, the typical Texas atmosphere has been preserved, and there is sufficient reminder of the Lone Star State and its individualism to make any Texan proud of Texas and the Centennial.

Thousands upon thousands of visitors will come to Texas this year to visit the Centennial. We feel sure they will be pleased. Nothing we could say here could increase or decrease that number appreciably. But in order that it be a success, Texans in great numbers must visit Dallas. It will be a disappointment, and a financial loss, to Dallas if they do not. Well, we visited the Centennial for a short time last week, and we can unqualifiedly urge every Texan to attend, not once, but as often as possible. Dallas may lose through your inattentiveness; but the loss to the individual will be infinitely greater.

PEEP SHOW - For Ladies Only -

BY MIGNON

All Over Centennial Briefs Oklahoma Writer So Peggy turns the movies down, You hardly think she can, But yes... she has to help her dad Become the leading man...

The big carpenter's reunion is over, all the planks having been laid safely in the new G. O. P. platform, and our neighbor to the north becomes the leading man in the big show... that is in act one. Act two, scene Philadelphia, promises some glamor, interest plus suspense with the third act closing down with everybody satisfied next November. It's a big show and free to everybody. As for me, I never could stand crowds nor hog calling contests, so I missed the most of the first act.

Campaign speeches always remind one that a poor speaker never drove anything home but the audience.

This is the first June in four years that we have missed the beautiful Ozarks. This year they are celebrating their centennial, too. I was mighty proud of the way our President addressed these people of Arkansas in his recent trip through there. They are as free and easy as their rolling hills and as staunch and true as their mountains.

Speaking of the Centennial. Isn't it marvelous the way those warm hearted Texans are making a whole world welcome? I found this little verse today that hits the spot exactly.

"The biggest handclasp Warm and true; The biggest outdoors Clear and blue; The biggest moments Of dare and do; Texan!"

Ho gals, did you notice that little slim quiet girl, Gwen Hendrickson from up Enid way had copped a first prize with her free verse in a recent contest of the Oklahoma Writers? I am always seeing her poems around and they are as lovely as you would expect from seeing her, she's such a honey.

I have a brand new friend and one I especially fell hard for, for several reasons. In the first place she is one of the "Co-editors" of a weekly newspaper (which means wife do all the work brag on papa, and a general step-and-fetchit for the main boss, who may be postmaster at large, constable, Democratic chairman of the county or adept hole in one-er) in the second place she is a sister-in-love of Florence Hillard, that charming little person I have told you a lot about, but never half what could be said, third place, she is a columnist whose stuff a great many people snatch the paper to read every week. But before I go on, pardon me, Ladies, I want you to meet a very delightful friend of mine, Juanita Staley Thrower of the Hartshorne Sun.

Mrs. Thrower is a brand new member of the Oklahoma Writers and they are all very proud of her accomplishments and talents. Writing has been her life always. Right out of high school she began on the Daily Star-Journal at Warrenburg, Mo. Soon after this she moved with her parents to Oklahoma City and was employed with the Warden Printing Co. She worked on the News as proof reader, church editor, school editor, and rewrite editor until Christmas of 1924 then she gave Elmer Thrower, a very nice young man in the printing game, too, one of the best Christmas presents he ever got, and as Mr. and Mrs. Thrower they have been cornering all the printing business in their neck of the woods ever since.

With three children, a home and all the little duties of being the wife of the newspaper man, Mrs. Thrower makes a regular band at the office. "I'm enjoying life to the utmost. Who wouldn't, having my cake and eating it too," she writes. She has never written any poetry but loves it very much. She writes spot news, features and a clever column which is called "My Diary" which is so chatty and free that I always feel I'd had a nice little intimate visit with the people of Hartshorne when I have read it. Of course, her job keeps her writing "Mr. and Mrs. John Kidd Wednesday in the county seat," and she has to be an adept at describing the candle lighted, lace covered table, to say nothing of using just as many superlatives as little Margie's piano recital as she did on young Henry's declamation.

However she can do all this with gusto and loves it. There's nothing like it, she says. As a real training school in the writing game, the country weekly is the thing. Even Mrs. Walter Ferguson whom we all know is the very tops as a columnist, says she misses the old days when she had to get printer's ink under her nails, and feed the old rickety jobbers while she was keeping her mind busy writing her weekly column which was afterwards to be nationally known and read.

I haven't met Juanita, personally. I know nothing of how she looks on the outside any more than you do. But inside she is lovely, I know that. She is young and full of ambition, and pep. She loves her home, her babies, her husband and her work. Sounds perfect to me. She should go far in the writing world and we'll all feel proud we know such a clever little person.

I'm stepping out with the Librarians from all over the state next week. I should get a great deal of inspiration from these book lovers. But gee... I hope I can remember who wrote which.

A. Brewster, which has a greater area than some of the eastern states.

Q. What states have counties named for General Sam Houston? E. T. R., Buda.

A. Alabama, Georgia, Minnesota, Tennessee and Texas.

Q. What is your estimate of the amount that will be spent by visitors to Texas during the Centennial? D. E. K., Kilgore.

A. Tourists spend an average of $5.87 per day, exposition visitors about double that. The lowest estimate of out-of-state visitors is 5,000,000. On the tourist basis these will spend $29,350,000 each day they are in Texas. The average visit should be five days, and the expenditures on lowest basis $146,750,000, on the highest twice that amount. This does not include expenditures of Texas people in attending Centennial celebrations.

Q. How many motor buses were operated in Texas in 1935? R. E., Velasco.

A. 800.

ON TEXAS FARMS

CARRIZO SPRINGS — "There are some people who think that Sudan grass is only good for cow feed," commented Ben Wheeler of Carrizo Springs, "but I have found it to be exceptionally good as a green manure crop."

"Last fall, I plowed under a crop of Sudan and in November planted onions in the same piece of ground," he said.

As a result, 600 bushels of U. S. No. 1 onions to the acre were produced, according to A. L. Sebasta, Dimmit county agricultural agent.

EASTLAND—Ben F. Wood, farmer in the Kokomo community in Eastland county, recently stated that terracing pays on his farm according to a report of Hugh F. Barnhart, assistant county agricultural agent.

Wood said, "I had a 25-acre field which I terraced several years ago. I farmed this field for five or six years, and then decided that terracing was not doing my land any good, besides the trouble I came up against on the point rows in the field."

"I tore my terraces down, and started running my rows lengthwise of the field. After the first hard rain, I was fully convinced that my terraces had paid on my farm, for this field was washed in at least 15 or 20 small gullies, which increased in size before I could get my 'crop off and run terraces."

"Besides the washing of my land, I found that I had about a 25 per cent less corn yield that year."

"At the present time, I have all my fields terraced with the exception of a 12-acre field, which I intend to terrace this fall."

FLORESVILLE—Jim Marek of the Pecos community of Wilson county marketed 500 gallons of dewberries from a three-quarter acre plot at 30 cents per gallon, realizing a gross income of $150, according to the report of A. A. Storey, Jr., county agricultural agent.

"dayed in the county seat," and she has to be an adept at describing the candle lighted, lace covered table, to say nothing of using just as many superlatives as little Margie's piano recital as she did on young Henry's declamation.

However she can do all this with gusto and loves it. There's nothing like it, she says. As a real training school in the writing game, the country weekly is the thing. Even Mrs. Walter Ferguson whom we all know is the very tops as a columnist, says she misses the old days when she had to get printer's ink under her nails, and feed the old rickety jobbers while she was keeping her mind busy writing her weekly column which was afterwards to be nationally known and read.

I haven't met Juanita, personally. I know nothing of how she looks on the outside any more than you do. But inside she is lovely, I know that. She is young and full of ambition, and pep. She loves her home, her babies, her husband and her work. Sounds perfect to me. She should go far in the writing world and we'll all feel proud we know such a clever little person.

I'm stepping out with the Librarians from all over the state next week. I should get a great deal of inspiration from these book lovers. But gee... I hope I can remember who wrote which.

agent. "I did all the work myself, and that three-quarter acre plot of dewberries more than paid my taxes," Marek stated.

DALLAS — Soil from under and around an old straw stack has been used successfully by Mrs. Walter Merrell, yard improvement demonstrator in Dallas county, for mulching of shrubbery beds, according to a report of Miss Ruth Clark, home demonstration agent.

This soil was put several inches deep early in the spring and Mrs. Merrell explained that she has found that it absorbs and holds all moisture which falls so that her shrubs have continued to grow at a rapid rate through the dry weather.

MCKINNEY—"It is now the right time to prune berry vines," recently stated Helen Coffey, 4-H club girl and farm fruit plot demonstrator in Collin county.

She went on to say that the canes on which the berries grew were beginning to die and should be clipped back to the plant.

"By this means, the growth which is now well started can make a good growth and be ready to bear fruit next year. The next picking of the fruit next year will be easier too, since the old canes with their thorns will be out of the way," this 4-H club girl explained.

SAN AUGUSTINE — "Carrots which are cut in pieces lengthwise have a better flavor than those which are cut in rings," says Mrs. Fred Thompson of the Chapel Hill home demonstration club in San Augustine county.

She said, "In this way, less of the cut surface is exposed to the water and less of the food value and flavor is lost. Carrots should be cooked in a small amount of water in a covered vessel soon after being gathered so as to retain their flavor."

MR. HUNTER STARTS BADLY

(Houston Chronicle) "Even his strongest supporters must be sorely disappointed after reading the three-time candidate's opening speech at Austin."

"That the speech contained nothing constructive—aside from a tax plan which was glibly and evasively stated—was, perhaps to be expected."

"But that it should have contained so much hate, vitriolic denunciation and abuse was surprising."

"Mr. Hunter's lack of poise, lack of regard for facts, would indicate that he is now a 'bad actor' at the post."

"In view of the general tone of his address, his economic points are of distinctly minor importance."

"He says Governor Allred is to blame for not calling the Legislature to pass new tax laws to provide revenue for old age pensions; that funds for not more than one month's payment actually are on hand. His figures are erroneous. It now appears that pensions can be paid for three and possibly four months on revenues now being received, leaving the way open for a special session of the legislature, meeting after the primaries, to provide revenue for future months."

"Mr. Hunter should know that the present Texas pension law is as liberal in principle as the federal authorities will countenance. He

Texas Empire Builders of '36'

Every man, woman and child in Texas should know the principal events of the momentous period of Texas history from March 1 to April 21, 1836 - events that changed the shape and the destiny of the United States.

The facts essential to this understanding are briefly set forth in a 32 page booklet entitled "Texas Empire Builders of '36," telling of the stirring days which all Texans, native and adopted, are celebrating in 1936.

The booklet will be mailed postpaid for 10 cents. Send all orders to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

spokesmen know that the New Deal never visioned pensions as a dividend which the elderly have earned by worthy citizenship - Mr. Hunter's description of it - but as a means of helping destitute people in the degree which they need help.

"He should know that the federal government will not agree to the local control of pensions which he proposes."

"He should know that his criticism of heavy administration expenditures is unjust and beside the mark because the federal government is ready to assume all or nearly all the expense of this administration."

"His treatment of the preliminary costs of establishing the pension system as if they would be permanent and continuing is below the level of serious discussion."

"Mr. Hunter's tax proposal is even more of a sham. His proposal of a 'gross income' tax, at the low rates set forth in his opening speech would hardly begin to provide the huge sums of revenue which he visualizes."

"All in all, Mr. Hunter's first speech disqualifies him for the serious consideration of fair-minded and intelligent Texans."

Stockade Model Is Built By Student

A model of a stockade of the type built by early Texas pioneers was made during the past school term by Wayne Wilson, Blanket High school student, as a Texas history project and is now on display in the office of County Superintendent F. D. Pierce.

Willow limbs, representing logs, were used in construction of the walls, cabin and blockhouse. The cabin has a chimney of small stumps and other features make the miniature stockade complete in every detail.

WELFARE BOARD

L. Connally, secretary; Chas. B. Palmer, T. H. Hart, Dr. D. R. Scott, and a representative of the Parent-Teacher Association, to be selected.

Under the plan of organization, three citizens from each precinct in the county will be appointed, and a similar number from the city of Brownwood, to assist the board.

This week the board issued the following statement regarding the local situation, and plans of the board to offer relief to Brown County's destitute:

"The Texas Relief Commission has been allowing the cases mentioned in this article, an average of $8.00 per month; this is to be discontinued effective July 1, 1936; the last check has been sent. This has to be taken care of by the citizenry of this county.

"The Federal Government has on hand surplus commodities which they will send us from time to time, but the Federal Government requires that case workers be employed to make investigations as to whether the people are deserving of the commodities and to see that they are properly distributed, and that no waste is had. So, if we are to receive the surplus commodities, it is necessary for us to have two case workers. The value of the commodities which we receive amounts to many times more than the salaries paid the case workers. The surplus commodities do not cover everything, and on account thereof, the $8.00 per case which we must raise supplements the commodities given by the Federal Government. The salaries of the case workers are primarily to supervise the distribution of the surplus commodities, and on account thereof, the expenditure of the $400.00 a month by our local agency will cost nothing additional."

Medical Aid

"No medical aid is provided anywhere, and on account thereof, we must have the amount set forth in the budget every month for medical aid. There are many calls for medicine. These must be heeded.

"The County and City governments are going to make a large contribution per month to the budget, and are going to meet all of the overhead expense and the salaries of the case workers, and the contributions given by the citizenry of Brown County will go for food and medicine, and not a cent will be spent for salaries and overhead expenses.

"It is impossible for the City and County to contribute all of the money set up in the budget, in view of the fact that their budgets have been fixed, and cannot be changed until January 1, 1936. The County and City Governments are going to contribute to this budget the sum of $500.00 per month, leaving the sum of $400.00 per month to be raised by the citizenry of Brown County, making a total of $2400.00 to be raised by the citizens for the six months period ending December 31, 1936.

"No salaries are paid to any member of the County Board of Public Welfare; the members are contributing their services to said work.

"Contributions Asked
"It is hoped by the County Board of Public Welfare that this money can be raised by voluntary subscriptions, and commencing Monday, June 22, 1936, there is going to be started in the papers in the county, a list of contributors to the fund. Please make a voluntary donation, so as to save the committee calling on you, for it is a large undertaking, and this money must be available by July 1st, or people will suffer. Please call Telephone No. 339, and your donation will be noted, or enclose your voluntary donation in a letter, addressing the same to Mrs. D. L. Connally, Secretary County Board of Public Welfare, Do this at once. This is a cause worthy of every person's attention and help; be a volunteer.
"It is to be remembered that the people who are in need of this help are incapacitated. Read the case histories in another part of this article. They are not able to work, and they must be cared for, and we feel quite sure that the citizenship of Brown County is desirous of helping their less fortunate brothers. Give till it hurts.
The various newspapers of the county are donating this space free of charge and the County Board of Public Welfare desires to extend to them their heartfelt thanks for their cooperation in this respect.
The fifty cases represent approximately 200 people. They are in our midst and we must care for them. Let us respond to the need like true Americans."

Brown County's Appalling Record of Human Need!

Case 1. This family of six had only one employable member, the mother. She is now in bed with a chronic case of appendicitis and due to malnutrition her resistance is very low. The father was hurt in an automobile accident a year ago, and is totally disabled. The children, from 3 to 15, are doing well on bread made with flour and water, all except the one in bed with a skin infection.
Case 2. It is hard enough to lose one of these-year-old twin boys with infantile paralysis, but now the mother is a thyroid case and the father is totally disabled with swollen feet, legs and abdomen. They can look back on better days before sickness and financial disaster hit them, but the future is not very bright.
Case 3. A mother with a boy 5 and a girl 2 and her own health broken and is not able to work and now the little boy has a fever which cannot be checked. The living conditions, his diet, and the absence of medical care give very little hope for him.
Case 4. Just one of those unfortunate situations where husband thought the best thing was to go on to California and take a job and send for his wife and 4 children. The job did not materialize as expected. The children and mother were left the numps at the same time and outside aid was necessary. Temporary help and transportation aid will put this family back to normal living.
Case 5. Depression and long sickness can get families of high planes to living down to rock bottom. This father had stomach trouble and tuberculosis. After months of no income and continued hospital bills, he was forced to ask for aid so that the man's last days could be at home and he could have the necessary diet. The two school girls were not able to help.

Case 6. If a man is able to work he can not leave a bedridden wife who can not even feed herself to the only other member of the household, a five-year-old child. What is it to be? go off to work and leave his wife to die or stay with her and starve? Nurses can not be had for promises.
Case 7. A man alone, lives in a tent. He is not old enough for Old Age Pension, but is too old to work. He has only one-half sight in one eye and one-fourth of the other, due to a long siege of trachoma. His health is very clear. His greatest assets are three chickens. He has found that eggs cooked in water and with flour stirred in them will substitute for fried eggs.
Case 8. Man is 62 and wife 55. She has been in ill health for years from chronic stomach disorders. If he would call at our door and ask to mow your lawn, you would let him and mow your own lawn. It hurts people to be so.
Case 9. Woman age 59, has worked hard all her life, last September contracted typhoid fever—was ill for months and her savings were soon exhausted. She has never regained her health and without the proper diet and care will not live long.
Case 10. Old colored woman, 62 years of age and blind for 7 years—lives in one room in an old shack where friends take care of her but can not do other than give their services as there is very little income in the family—without the help of friends and the county this

Case 11. This woman's daughter went away leaving a little granddaughter to care for. She is a widow, owns her own shack, has developed angina pectoris and growing worse daily—she suffers acute pain, and is out of her head most of the time. She has not heard from her daughter since she left and has not one dollar to supply their needs for food, much less the medical attention so badly needed.
Case 12. A frail little colored woman whose husband died two years ago. She has 5 children, ages from 2 to 13, the husband had always been a good provider. Worked in one garage for 6 years. He left a small home free of debt. A year ago the mother underwent major surgery and still not able to work. The house is clean, the children are orderly and well mannered. The mother is doing her best to make them good colored citizens.
Case 13. A lone man drifted into town and was taken sick. He was cared for by some people living near the jail. He became partially paralyzed and is a mental case. He does not remember where he lived or anything about his relatives. Can we desert him?
Case 14. Husband deserted, left 4 little girls ages 7 months to 8 years—mother is in good health but there is no one to care for the children. The mother says she will do the work without the aid she has been receiving.
Case 15. In this family of six both the mother and father are tubercular, one son is not quite right mentally. They own nothing in this world, not even the ability to work. Case 16. A man, 59 years of age, is paralyzed—no one to care for her except a young niece who works out when she can obtain work—but then it is not sufficient for the absolute necessities.
Case 17. This man, age 59, was a carpenter making a living until he contracted tuberculosis, he and his wife live in a small tent; he has been in the T. B. Sanatorium and returned hopeless—recently a wife, aged 47, developed a serious condition and is in need of surgery—when help has been extended and then is withdrawn they are indeed helpless.
Case 18. This woman's husband died 5 months ago and left a family of 5 children, ages 2 to 15 years—the woman suffers from obesity—could not do a day's work. They live in an old shack down by the track and have no source of income. Unless food and clothing is made available what will become of these children?

Case 19. A man 61 years—old and quite feeble, cannot earn enough to feed him and his wife. He owns his home but staple commodities have to be supplemented.
Case 20. The young man, his wife and baby, were managing to make ends meet until he was in a car wreck three months ago. After weeks in the hospital he developed a bone infection. His company paid compensation for immediate care, but they have to live until a permanent plan of compensation is established. They lost a month old baby in the winter.
Case 21. Family of seven and father, if he may be called that, goes off and leaves them. The oldest child is a girl 14. The mother wants to work but with five children and a crippled baby of three years, her place is at home.
Case 22. Man 61 and wife is 57. Son is 39 but when he is out from behind the bars, he spends his time getting back. Paralytic stroke left wife helpless and with a vacant mind. Man has a broken thumb but tries to peddle vegetables. Son is in jail at present.
Case 23. History of case 23 runs like this: Man out on suspended sentence, insanity trial pending, convicted of murder. Young wife with syphilis and a young brother with a bad heart.
Case 24. This man has no responsibilities, no family, no money, no health and no mind. He has a brother somewhere. He isn't sure about his name. He "guesses" he was in the World War. He doesn't think he was ever married but who knows?
Case 25. This woman and her 15 year old daughter live rent free in a house that belongs to an estate. They have a nice garden, and flowers around the yard; the house is clean and well kept, the girl is in high school. The woman can not work because of blindness of one eye and a cataract practically covering the other. They are planning all their hope on the daughter's finishing school and getting a job; one more year to go and then they hope to be self supporting. There are no relatives able to help.

Case 26. Man not able to work due to bad heart—no family; lives in an attic room for which he pays 50 cents a week. An adult can get hungry and need shelter.
Case 27. He was a painter and paper hanger when he contracted tuberculosis. A wife who is very frail and could easily develop the disease, two small boys ages 2 and 4, lovely, healthy children and the mother trying to keep them that way. When the man feels well enough he does little odd jobs trying to supplement the aid which has been given them, but with the least exertion he has hemorrhages. He cannot be accepted at the tubercular sanatorium.
Case 28. Young mother, age 26 three small children, one born last December after the father had died with cancer. The mother has pellagra; they live in a little two room shack with the barest necessities for furniture—What chance does she have to supply her children's needs?
Case 29. Deserted by her husband years ago she had always managed to care for her children but seven months ago was stricken with sciatic rheumatism. She has been confined to the bed until recently when she was able to move around a little with the aid of crutches—she may in time recover her health. She is only 41. She has two children in school—one married daughter lives on a farm near town, but she and her young husband are struggling tenant farmers and can not aid financially.
Case 30. Age 64, another year before she will be eligible for Old Age Assistance, has high blood pressure and a bad heart. Owns her little home and rents rooms whenever possible, but the rentals are very small, sometimes they can't pay at all—Grandson 19 years old lives with her to look after her. She has several children but none able to help her—this woman's husband was once a public employe and died while in service.
Case 31. Deserted wife with two small children, ages 2 and 5, whose husband left the state and does nothing to care for his family. They live in a one room apartment in an old dilapidated house—baby is sick most of the time due to malnutrition and unsanitary living conditions. In case the mother could obtain work who would care for sick baby?

Case 32. Man deserted, woman took over burden of supporting 10 small boys, but she was not trained to do any special thing and the hard work broke her health down. Work and worry culminated three months ago in a complete nervous breakdown—she may never be able to work again.
Case 33. Woman age 36 deserted by husband. There are five children, ages 3 to 15 years. The mother is very heavy, suffers from varicose veins, and can not be on her feet and the three older children are trying to go to school.
Case 34. Man, 36, in advanced stages of tuberculosis; has been granted admission to the State Sanatorium and is waiting date of admission. Woman has pellagra, a serious kidney trouble. There are six children, one a baby 16 months old; they live in the back of an old deserted mission building. They have been completely taken care of for some months through State aid.
Case 35. Young man 26 years of age, has tuberculosis, has been granted admission to the State Sanatorium and is waiting date of admission. Woman has pellagra, a serious kidney trouble. There are six children, one a baby 16 months old; they live in the back of an old deserted mission building. They have been completely taken care of for some months through State aid.
Case 36. Young man 26 years of age, has tuberculosis, has been granted admission to the State Sanatorium and is waiting date of admission. Woman has pellagra, a serious kidney trouble. There are six children, one a baby 16 months old; they live in the back of an old deserted mission building. They have been completely taken care of for some months through State aid.
Case 37. Man 37, has tuberculosis. Wife and five children, one a baby five months old. Lives in an old dilapidated house without porches or any protection from the weather. House is surrounded by a few acres of land which he is unable to cultivate, and even if he were able to work it is practically all thickets and sandbar. This man has been a farmer.
Case 38. Family in unspeakable living conditions—house old and dirty. Man 36 has tuberculosis of the bone and has spent some time in the State Sanatorium. Wife and three small children and no one to look for help.
Case 39. Lone man, 64, living on a small tract of land has an acute

TO THE VOTERS OF THE ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT

By A. R. WATSON, Candidate for Representative

Friends and Fellow-Citizens:

In announcing my candidacy for the Office of Representative, permit me to say that I am mindful, in some measure at least, of the importance and responsibility attaching to the place to which I aspire. Notwithstanding the Legislature is often made the butt of ridiculous jokes and the target of the guns of political critics, the fact remains that the office of representative carries responsibilities that are weighty in the extreme. As to whether such responsibilities are duly recognized and faithfully and efficiently met, may be another matter.

My Qualification for the Office

In offering for this office, I do so solely on the ground of my qualification for it, and an unselfish desire to serve in this capacity. I have not been conscripted for the place, neither am I in the race for it because of an irresistible pressure of my friends to enter the race; I am a candidate because I "choose to run" for the reasons already stated. I do not think myself the best qualified man in the district for the position, neither do I think it undue egotism to consider myself as well qualified for it as anyone who is now available for it. I had the privilege and pleasure of serving the 84th District, comprising Hamilton and Mills counties for four years, and have the satisfaction of knowing that my services were satisfactory to the people whom I served. With my general knowledge of the affairs of the State, and my experience and training in Legislative procedure, I feel that I have some qualification for the place, and if elected, I give the unqualified pledge to make for the people of this District the very best, most faithful, and efficient representative I possibly can.

Some of the Things For Which I Stand

In asking for your support I feel it my duty to frankly state my views on some of the many measures with which the Legislature will have to deal. I believe in the principle of local self-government in all matters of local concern. In the nature of things, some laws are general and apply to all the people of the State and others are local and apply to the people of a given county or district. But in legislation affecting the people of a given county or district, the wish of the people directly affected should be kept in mind and faithfully observed by the representative. I also believe in the strictest economy consistent with efficiency in all departments of our State government. In a growing state like Texas, we can not reasonably expect the maintenance and adequate support of the things necessary to good government without the expenditure of much money, but at all times there should be the strictest economy consistent with efficiency in the use of the taxpayer's money. It is at this point that the Legislature may easily abuse its authority, and yield to the entreaties coming from many directions to legalize unwarranted raids on the public treasury. It is not the business of the Legislature to create lucrative jobs for political favorites as a reward for political service.

I adhere unwaveringly to the Constitutional requirement of equality and uniformity in taxation. Perhaps the most difficult and complex problem the Legislature has to deal with is the tax problem. Collecting and spending the taxpayer's money is a problem that calls for the most careful and comprehensive consideration. In trying to solve this vexing problem, I think the Constitution should be intelligently and faithfully followed. This fundamental law unequivocally declares: "Taxation shall be equal and uniform. All property in this State whether owned by natural persons or corporations, shall be taxed in proportion to its value, which shall be ascertained as may be provided by law." The observance of this fundamental principle involves, at least, three things:

- (1) Getting all the taxable property of the State on the tax rolls. There can be no uniformity and equality in taxation unless a large per cent of the taxable property of the State is escaping the tax rolls. From the best information I can gather, it appears that approximately one-third of the taxable property of the State never finds its way to the tax rolls. Much of this property is owned by wealthy individuals and corporations. If all the property illegally escaping the tax rolls were properly assessed and the tax collected there would come from this source alone three or four million dollars annually into the State Treasury. I think this inequality and lack of uniformity in taxation could and should be cured, and all taxable property be made to bear its just proportion of the burden of taxation.
- (2) Uniform percentage of value in tax renditions. Whether the renditions are on a basis of 100% of the value of the property or a lesser per cent, it should be uniform throughout the State. As long as the people of one county render their property, both real and personal, on a basis of one percentage of value and the people of another county on a lower or higher basis, there can be no such thing as equality and uniformity in taxation. For example, when the citizens of one county render their horses and mules at an average value of $40.00 per head, and the citizens of another county render theirs at one-tenth of that amount, there is manifest inequality in taxation. And when the people of a given county are allowed to render their property at such a ridiculously low percentage of its value as to receive more from the State for the education of their children than they pay into the State Treasury for all purposes,

I think it high time to level up and equalize the burden of taxation as the Constitution requires.

(3) Reasonable collection of taxes assessed. In order to attain the equality and uniformity of taxation contemplated by the Constitution, we must not only have uniformity of percentage of value in renditions, and see that all property legally taxable shall find its way to the tax rolls, but we shall have to tighten up and perfect our tax laws so as to make the collection of taxes more uniform. I submit that it is not fair to the taxpayer to allow the privilege of suits and corporations to withhold from the State indefinitely that which is legally and justly due to it. I am told upon what seems to be good authority that some 30 or 40 million dollars are due the State in delinquent taxes, and that a large part of this is owed by individuals and corporations well able to pay. Surely, no one believing in the Constitutional doctrine of equality and uniformity in taxation is willing to allow a condition of this kind to continue indefinitely.

A square deal for the old folks. I wish to say distinctly and emphatically that I am for doing for the elderly people of this State that which was contemplated by the voters when they approved a Constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to grant assistance to a certain class of our citizens. Now, lest we forget, I call your attention to the exact wording of that amendment: "The Legislature shall have the power by general laws to provide, under such limitations and restrictions, and regulations as may be deemed by the Legislature expedient, for old age assistance and for the payment of same not to exceed Fifteen Dollars ($15) per month cash to actual non-fide citizens of Texas who are over sixty-five years of age; provided that no habitual criminal, and no habitual drunkard, while such habitual drunkard, and no inmate of any State supported institution, while such inmate, shall be eligible for such old age assistance; provided further that the requirements for length of time of actual residence in Texas shall never be less than five (5) years during the nine (9) years immediately preceding the application for old age assistance and continuously for one (1) year immediately preceding such application." In pursuance of this amendment the forty-fourth Legislature, near the close of the second extra session of that body, enacted what is known as the Old-Age Assistance Law, the first section of which reads: "Subject to the provisions of this Act every person over the age of sixty-five years residing in the State of Texas, if in need, shall be entitled to aid in old age from the State." Section 2 specifies the several requirements under which one becomes eligible for the proposed assistance. I now raise the question as to whether our elderly people, under the Constitution as approved by the Legislature, have had a square deal. I do not think so. I voice the deep conviction of my soul when I say that if all the members of both houses of the Legislature and the Governor had been as anxious to obey the mandate of the people expressed at the ballot box as they were to get the votes of the people in their campaigns for office, we would have had an old-age assistance law in keeping with the Constitution in successful operation long before now. I cannot escape the conviction that the Legislature, as a body, the Governor, and the Old Age Assistance Commission have all "fumbled the ball," and are blameworthy for the present plight of this proposed assistance.

A Review of the Facts

This proposal did not have its genesis with the elderly people of this State. It had its birth in the minds of the office holders and would-be office holders. It is a matter of common knowledge that the several gubernatorial candidates and candidates for the Legislature two years ago were all eloquent and enthusiastic in their advocacy of this measure. The Democratic Convention following the primaries made it a platform demand of the party; the regular session of the present Legislature passed a resolution submitting it to the people, and they, by an unprecedented majority, placed the stamp of their approval upon it. The last extra session of the Legislature in the dying hours of its existence enacted the Old-Age Assistance Law, but adjourned without providing the revenue with which to pay the proposed assistance. The result is, we are nearing the time for the first payment of this assistance to all entitled to it, and with but little to the credit of this fund—the small amount left of the liquor revenue after paying the expenses of the Old-Age Assistance Commission. Can any one believe that if both houses of the Legislature and the Governor had been as much interested in providing this proposed assistance as they were in the support of the people in their political campaigns, that the situation would not have been materially different from what it is? Why was this mandate of the people shunted about and pigeon-holed through two extra sessions of the Legislature up to the very close of the last session, and then dismissed with nothing more than a sly gesture toward doing that which both the Governor and the Legislature were in honor bound to do? Perhaps future generations will ascertain the reason. I would not be understood as maintaining that all members of the Legislature were opposed to, or indifferent toward, this matter, but it is perfectly apparent that the Legislature as a body was not anxious to do what the people demanded. Neither do I think the Governor entirely excusable for the failure. It is his prerogative and duty to recommend to the Legislature the enactment of such laws as he may deem advisable, and also to suggest ways and means of making effective the desired legislation. But so far as I have been able to ascertain, he made no recommendation as to how the needed revenue could be acquired, and instead of keeping the way clear for the Legislature to do what it was supposed to do, he burdened the legislative calendar with voluminous other measures of minor importance. Furthermore, I do not believe the Old-Age Assistance Commission is administering the small amount that has accrued to the credit of that fund in keeping with the law that was enacted, nor in harmony with the intent of the people when they voted for the amendment that made the creation of the fund possible. The Commission has arrogated to itself the authority never contemplated by the framers of the law in which the phrase appears. The very terms of the law, prescribing the conditions under which one is eligible for the assistance, define the meaning of that phrase, and I submit that for the Commission to place a construction upon it that excludes many thousands of deserving people who are legally eligible, is a gross misrepresentation of the meaning of that phrase, and an unwarranted usurpation of authority. The amendment adopted by the people authorizes the Legislature to enact a law providing assistance for aged people under such limitations, restrictions, and regulations as that body may deem expedient. The law enacted by the Legislature and signed by the Governor prescribes the conditions under which the assistance may be had, and this Commission has no authority to impose regulations not included in the law. I am for a law written in the language of the Constitution, and also a revenue law that will produce the needed revenue with which to pay the assistance contemplated by the Constitution. I am not so much concerned about the source of the revenue as the revenue itself. However, if we can have that equal and uniform taxation required by the Constitution, and a reasonable tax levy on the natural resources of the State, and if necessary, have these supplemented by a selective sales tax, I feel sure that we could have sufficient funds to take care of the old-age assistance proposal without any unjust burden upon any individual or business. At any rate, we have the mandate of the people for it, and if we are to have a government of, by and for the people, then that will must be obeyed.

Objection Answered

It is being said by some that Watson is too old to serve as Representative of the 125th District. My friends, the age question is not the main consideration in determining one's fitness for this office; the ability to do the job is the paramount consideration. As to whether years are a help or a hindrance, an asset or a liability, depends upon the way the years have been used. If they have been so used as to conserve physical strength, and inform the mind as to the essentials of good government, and enrich the heart and soul with the elements necessary to noble character, and quicken the moral sense, then the years are an invaluable asset that can be acquired in no other way. The "Wise Man" has well and wisely said: "The hoary head is a crown of glory if it be found in the way of righteousness." It might be a bit informing to some of the clamorers for young men for the office of representative if they would look through the pages of history and discover some of the things done by men in the evening of life. They might find that a vast amount of the philosophical, legal, scientific, and literary wealth of the world has been contributed by men on the "Western Slope." I have no desire to disparage the importance and service of the young man in the ongoing of our complex civilization. There is a place for him, and my hat is off to the young man imbued with the desire and purpose to make for himself a place of usefulness in the world. But I am quite ready to concede that all the wisdom and ability of our day are to be found in the fledgling fresh from college. Moses was eighty years old when he began his life work. He laid the foundation of one of the greatest civilizations known to history. It is true that he undertook the job before he was ready for it, and God took him and laid him in the cooling trough for forty years until he was properly seasoned and disciplined for his God-given task.

An Unusual Ambition

Now, my friends, you will permit me to say that I have an ambition to crown a somewhat lengthy and strenuous term, though not as useful as it might have been, with a term of service for the State I love beyond all others. I love Texas with an accumulated love of more than sixty years. I love her people and her institutions, and in the bosom of my adopted state my body shall rest when life's race and battles are over. In the evening of life I find myself possessed of an irrepressible desire and ambition to serve in this capacity, and if I did not feel qualified, in a measure at least, for the place, I would not be asking for it. Granting this ambition, and a unqualified pledge of earnestness, honor, and ability I possess to make you the very best, the most faithful, and efficient representative of which I am capable. case of asthma and a bad heart. This man could not possibly do a day's work.

Case 39, in advanced stages of Bright's disease. Live in a little shack on an old oil lease. The man is not violent but is totally incapacitated for work. They have been helped through first one agency and another in this county for years. They will always be somebody's care.

Case 41. The man in this family is 64. He has in his younger days been comfortably fixed. His wife and two young daughters. The man has asthma and serious kidney complications which have caused a leg infection. They live out in the country where the wife can get no work to do.

Case 42. Young woman 30, has gotten in too advanced a stage for an operation. She was deserted by her husband and left with two boys ages 6 and 8 to care for. She has worked until the last year when her condition makes doing work of any kind impossible. She lives in dread of having to be separated from her boys by their placement in a home. She can't live long.

Case 43. Mother in this family is dead. There are five children—the oldest a boy 17 who tries to support the family. The father has heart attacks and a 15 year old daughter has epilepsy. The father of necessity has to spend a great part of his time looking after the children—there is no one else to do it.

Case 44. Man who has never married, age 54, has worked all his life as a ranch hand and is now mentally deficient. He cannot be depended on to do a piece of work.

Case 45. The head of the family broke his leg and hip last October in a truck accident. There are three small children and the mother is needed at home to care for the family. Man also has a very bad rupture. This man was in a cast for several months, is now up on crutches and may in time be able to work again, but at the present time there is no assistance available.

Case 46. Both mother and father are incapacitated. The father, age 47, is crippled from sciatic rheumatism. The mother, age 25, has tuberculosis. There is a seven year old daughter who should be protected and a resistance built up against the disease. The father has been a tenant farmer all his life. None of the relatives can offer assistance as they all are in straightened circumstances.

LOUIS TAKES LICKING!

It was a licking for Joe Louis, but it wasn't Max Schmeling who handed it to him; it was Joe's wife, who is shown above giving the dusky Detroit warrior a lick of an ice cream cone. Joe had a tough workout in a training session in Pompton Lakes, N. J., for his June 18 fight with the German, and his young wife supplied the frozen delicacy to help him cool off.

Case 47. Two in family. Man will get Old Age assistance but he is in bed most of the time, practically blind, has pelagra, and suffers from dizzy spells. Woman has a tumor in her brain which caused her to lose her eyesight four years ago. She is paralyzed in one side and has no bodily control. His pension will have to be supplemented to buy food, clothing, medicine, special diet and pay some one to care for them.

Case 48. This is an old woman who lives in a torn down shack out near the edge of town. She has been deserted by her son, is partially paralyzed and has been "afflictively" insane for ten years. Even though her pension will care for her needs and pay some one to take care of her, the case is a permanent community problem as far as supervision of her needs and getting the proper care for her.

Case 49. Man 38 years old is blind and insane. He lives with distant relatives who are not financially able to care for him without outside assistance.

Case 50. Man and his wife and young sister. Wife is pregnant; man has been in accident and broken his collar bone. They have no resources to fall back on.

Lockwood Is High Concession Bidder

Concessions for the Lake Brownwood Regatta were awarded to C. C. Lockwood when they were sold at auction at the chamber of commerce office last week. The concessions are for sale of food, drinks, confections, cigars, cigarettes and souveniers. The concessions with the bids are:

Concession No. 1, consisting of all the territory east of the permanent concession building, except that it shall not include any part thereof within 90 feet of said building, $48.75.

Concession No. 2, consisting of all the territory west of the permanent concession building, except that it shall not include any part thereof within 90 feet of said building, $31.25.

How are your "SYMPTOMS?"

THERE are still a few of them left—those old-timers who are continually developing new "symptoms" and seeking to placate them with old-fashioned remedies. We modern sophisticates smile tolerantly—and turn to some new health fad. But at least the old-timers' remedies were probably harmless, while some of our new-fashioned "health" fads may be downright dangerous.

Before you take up any diet, exercise or miracle method, consult your Doctor. His promises may not be so alluring—but are a great deal safer.

V. A. Texas Tournament

There was not much room for books in the crowded covered wagons that came into early Texas; but of the few that were brought in, one of the most popular was Scott's Ivanhoe. Small wonder that attempts were made to recapture its spirit of knighthood in flower. Our pioneering ancestors were more romantic than we. They were "dreamers on horseback," and to be their attempts to re-enact the medieval tournaments celebrated so magnificently by Sir Walter seemed particularly fine. Those tournaments persisted up to the beginning of the new century. It was my good fortune once to witness one, and it is the most vivid early recollection I have.

It took place in Limestone County, this Anglo-American interpretation of feudal times. We learned about it in advance and drove far into the hinterland to witness it. The people came from miles around. There was a track about 200 yards long that contained two goal posts about ten feet high, placed on the right side of the track. From the top of each post extended an arm from which hung a wire crook holding a ring about two inches in diameter. Each "knight" carried a ten-foot pole, tapered to a fine point, which was his "lance." Mounted on his fiery charger, he ran the length of the track, the object being to spear as many rings as possible. The runner made three trips at full speed, guiding his steed with the left hand and holding his lance with the right.

The knights were gaily bedecked in tight-fitting trousers, high boots blouses, and sashes. I remember how fascinated I was by their broad-brimmed hats, romantically caubert up at the sides with long ostrich plumes.

As the prizes were announced, the winners rode forward on prancing steeds to receive them; each then turned and presented his gurdion to the lady of his choice. Here a note of practicality entered into the proceedings; for the prizes were not crowns or wreaths, as in the medieval tradition, but new spring millinery! Yes, each knight crowned his lady fair with a new spring hat.

This practice, in fact, accounts for our having knowledge of the event. Were not the hats purchased at my father's general store, and had I not watched Miss Sasie, the milliner, as her deft fingers fashioned the delectable head-dresses? It was not necessary in those days for a woman's hat to be individual or becoming, but it had to be elaborate. And these crowns for the tournament were truly marvelous concoctions, each bearing about a pound of flora and fauna, not to speak of ribbons, furbelows and lace.

EVATT—Martha Ellen Evatt, 73, widow of the late J. J. Evatt of May, Texas, died early Monday at her home. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at the residence with Rev. Roy Crawford officiating. Interment was in the May cemetery with Mitcham Funeral Home in charge of burial arrangements.

Mrs. Evatt was born in Alabama October 10, 1863. She came to Texas in 1886. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and prominent in the civic and social life of her community.

Survivors include the following children: Mrs. W. L. Allen, Rotan; Carl Evatt, Brownwood; Carl Evatt, May; Mrs. C. S. Horne, Cisco; Buck

Evatt, May; Mrs. L. Miller, Floydada; and Mrs. R. Thompson, Plainview. Thirty-five grandchildren and three great grandchildren also survive.

RUSSELL—Benjamin H. Russell, 84, resident of Brownwood from 1908 until 1933, died Saturday at his home in Catarina, Texas, where he made his home with a daughter. Funeral services were held there Sunday afternoon and interment was in the Catarina Cemetery.

Mr. Russell was born April 15, 1852, in Columbus, Alabama. He was engaged in the cafe business here for a number of years.

He is survived by four sons, Frank and Ed of Brownwood, Jim and Bill of Austin, two daughters, Mrs. W. A. Stewart, Catarina, and Mrs. C. C. Yarbrough, Brownwood.

WILLIAMSON—Irvin Williamson, 45, prominent citizen of Santa Anna, died at his home there Wednesday morning. Funeral services were held at Santa Anna Wednesday afternoon with interment following in the Santa Anna cemetery. Mitcham Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Williamson was well known as a druggist throughout the state and was active in the State Druggists' Association until his retirement in 1930. He was married to Miss Jessie Boozeman of Fort Worth in 1924, and they had lived in Santa Anna since 1924. He was a member of the Methodist church, of the American Legion and the Santa Anna Lions Club.

Survivors include his wife and one son, William Roy Williamson.

ROBERTS—Mrs. T. A. Roberts, 83, pioneer resident of Brown county, died at the home of her son, Ed Roberts of the Indian Creek Community, Thursday, June 11. Funeral services were held at Trickham Friday afternoon and interment was there. White and London Funeral Home was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Roberts was born Feb. 9, 1853. She was married to T. A. Roberts in 1872. He died about 10 years ago.

They were the parents of eight children, two of whom died in infancy. Surviving children include: Mrs. Sam Carpenter, Mrs. Belle Allen, Brownwood; Mrs. Will Estes, Brooksmith; Mrs. Alec McGary of San Sabá; Lee Roberts of Brooksmith; Edd Roberts of Indian Creek. Another son, Henry Jeffers, by a previous marriage, also survives.

REMINGTON—Clarence Remington, 64, peace officer of Brownwood for more than thirty years, died early Thursday morning, June 11, at his home here. He had been ill for more than one year. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at White & London Funeral Chapel with interment in Greenleaf Cemetery.

Mr. Remington was born Sept. 11, 1872, in Cythianna, Kentucky. He came to Brownwood in 1891, making his home here since that time. He was married to Miss

CLIFF DAY

Cliff Day, 47, Hale county farmer, has announced candidacy for office of Texas Commissioner of Agriculture. A native Texan, Day has farmed for 25 years. He is married and has six children. A year ago he sprang into national prominence when he led 4,500 farmers in an orderly visit to Washington in interest of national farm program. He was chairman last year of state cotton advisory board, chosen by farmers of the state.

Blanche Wilson December 16, 1894. He was a member of the Christian and was an honorary member of the Fire Department.

Survivors include his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Annie Pirtle, Mrs. E. P. Bellamy, and Miss Mary Remington, all of Brownwood; two brothers, and one sister, J. W. Remington, Brownwood; Ernest Remington, Cythianna, Ky., and Mrs. Ida Musselman, Cythianna, Ky.; and one nephew, Eugene Wells of Lexington, Ky.

TERRELL—Thomas E. Terrell, 35, former resident of Brownwood, was killed Saturday afternoon in an automobile accident near Lawn, Texas. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Austin-Morris Funeral Home and interment was in Greenleaf Cemetery. Rev. J. M. Bradford, pastor of Coggin Ave. Baptist Church, officiated at the services which were directed by Grand Master W. Marcus Weatherred and members of the Masonic lodge.

Thomas E. Terrell was born in Brownwood July 10, 1900. He was married to Miss Ethel Hodges March 22, 1922. He lived in Brownwood until about a month ago when he moved to Lawn. He was a member of the Baptist church and an active member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, their one son, Thos. E. Terrell, Jr., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T. Terrell, of Brownwood.

FIRST CHECK MADE ON HOMES ENTERED IN CIVIC CONTEST

Checking committees for the civic clean-up and beautification campaign this week started their first round of inspecting trips to homes entered in the contest. The entries are to be checked each month from now until the final judging in October and will be graded each time on the points listed on the pledge cards. The final scoring will be based largely on the total of points scored in the districts each month.

Mrs. Carl Blasig, general chairman of the campaign emphasized in an announcement this week.

The districts were given a preliminary inspection by out-of-town judges Wednesday. The judges, all of whom are from Brady, were Mrs. Sam Hughes, third vice-president of the State Federation of Garden Clubs; Mrs. A. W. Hinchman, first vice-president of the Brady Garden Club, and Mrs. H. M. Deaton, official of the Brady Garden Club.

Trash wagons started hauling trash in Ward Two, which extends from the Santa Fe railway lines north, Monday morning. All residents were urged to have their trash piled in containers in the alleys to facilitate the trash hauler's work. The city workmen were pledged to take all trash placed out by the residents of the area.

In the downtown area great progress in the clean-up work is being made under the direction of Dr. Nellie Armstrong, chairman of the campaign in the business section of the Business and Professional Women's Club, sponsors of the campaign. The alleys and streets are being cleaned regularly, and an effort is being made to secure enforcement of the ordinance which prohibits all-night parking of cars in the city fire limits. The parked cars make it impossible to do a good job of cleaning the streets.

In the Coggia School district a great deal of work has been done under the direction of Mrs. John Blake, chairman for that district. Grass has been planted on the Coggia school grounds by the Schubert Music Club and other improvement work has been done throughout the district. Chairmen of the other districts report excellent progress on the campaign in all parts of the city.

TWO LAKE ROUTES BEING PREPARED FOR CELEBRATION

Efforts are being made to speed work on the two routes to Lake Brownwood, the old Brownwood-Lake Brownwood road and the Brownwood-Cross Cut road, to have them in good shape in time for the second annual Lake Brownwood Regatta, and Regatta officials have been told that they will be ready to open by June 29 unless work is delayed by rain. Caliche topping is being placed on both roads, and drainage structures will be completed in time for the Regatta, according to officials.

It is thought that two routes to the lake, making one-way traffic, possible, will be used again this year. The plan was tried out for the 1935 Regatta and proved an effective way of handling the heavy traffic to and from the lake.

Commissioner Chas. Palmer said this week that he would grade the Flat Rock road and have it in good condition, and the contractors on the Brownwood-Cross Cut road are trying to get caliche laid on the road as far as the Flat Rock road.

Traffic at the lake will be handled so that parking space will be provided for all cars. There has been a persistent rumor that there will be a charge for parking space, officials of the Regatta Association said this week. The rumor is unfounded they say, and no charge will be made at the lake except for the general admission fee, charged at the gate.

Death Ship for Last of South's Famed Air Trio

The uprooted tree and the smashed fuselage testifying to the tremendous force of the crash, the plane which carried to his death Harry P. Williams, the last member of the south's famed Wedell Brothers-Williams speedplane-building trio, is pictured above in woods near Hareston, La. With Williams, 46, member of one of the richest families in the south and husband of Marguerite Clark, star of the silent films, died his pilot, John D. Worthen, 25. In the last two years, plane crashes also took the lives of Jimmy Wedell and his brother, Walter, associates in the Wedell-Williams Air Service Corporation, of which Harry Williams was president. At the time of the crash, Williams and Worthen were en route to Patterson, La., where Williams had a summer home and his airplane factory.

FREQUENT REPAIRS NEEDED FOR PROPER MAINTENANCE OF TERRACE STRUCTURES

TERRACES, like farm machinery and automobiles, require good care if they are to give good service. Unless the terraces are in grass, the channels should be plowed out at least once or twice a year to maintain effectiveness, says T. B. Chambers, erosion control engineer of the Soil Conservation Service.

With careful plowing and a little regular repair work by hand or with scraper or shovel after rains, terraces will remain effective for years, he says. The life of an average terrace, however, depends on the kind of soil, the slope of the field and the rainfall.

Under normal cropping conditions, it is often impractical to plow out terrace channels during the growing season, Mr. Chambers points out, and as a result, the necessary maintenance work must be done by hand. But, as a rule not much of this work is necessary, since the crops help prevent soil from washing into the terrace channels and also hold down the flow of water.

The time between harvesting and planting is the danger period for terraces, he says, because fields are often left bare and heavy rains wash considerable quantities of soil into the terrace channels, reducing their carrying capacity and thus increasing the chance that runoff water may overflow and break the terraces.

Another danger period in terrace maintenance is in spring, immediately after the ground has been plowed and planted. "Farmers should give particular attention to their terraces at this time," Chambers says, "because the ground that has been broken by plows and pulverized by discs and harrows, is easily washed by rains."

"When a terrace channel fills up with this soil material, the runoff from the next rain is likely to wash right across the top of the terrace and concentrate in a single, fast flow." The protection against this possibility, according to Chambers, is an inspection of terraces after every rain, followed by prompt maintenance work.

May Checker Team To Enter Tourney

Brown county will be represented in the State Checker Tournament to be held the first week in July on the Centennial grounds in Dallas, by three of May's most expert checker players. School Superintendent H. E. White, Dr. A. M. Bowden and Mark Robason, the team, are all seasoned checker players, and are expected to bring home a fair share of the honors.

Winners in the state tournament will be eligible for entry in the national checker meet.

KITCHEN CONCLUDES YEAR AS COMMANDER

C. P. Kitchen of Brownwood, retiring state commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, was presented with several valuable gifts upon his retirement at the annual encampment of the organization at San Angelo this week. Mr. Kitchen, who has been quite active as commander for the past year, is succeeded by John L. Cramer of Dallas. The department presented him with a past commander's jewel, the state auxiliary presented him a beautifully engraved Bible and Company D gave him a 10-gallon Centennial hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Kitchen and a number of other members of the local camp attended the encampment. Mr. Kitchen presided at the sessions and delivered the commander's address.

Austin was selected as the next meeting place.

CAFES INSPECTED BY CITY OFFICIALS

All cafes and other places which handle food were inspected this week by City Sanitary Inspector John H. McGhee and Dr. O. N. Mayo, city health officer, and at each place where all conditions did not comply with state and city health ordinances, the operator was warned to correct the defects. Follow-up inspections are to be made within the next ten days, according to McGhee.

After the second inspection court action will be taken against those places which are still operating their places in violation of the food handling regulations, if the present plans of the city council are carried out.

McGhee said this week that final tests had been made at all dairies which furnish the city's milk supply. With few exceptions the milk dealers are complying with the state regulations which prohibit the selling of ungraded milk and are changing their equipment and handling methods to bring their products up to the state standard. A representative of the State Health Department will be here within the next week to assist city officials in final checking of the dairies, he said.

BROWNWOOD BOY WINS DESIGN COMPETITION

Cadet J. F. Doyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Doyle, former residents of Brownwood, was successful competitor in a contest for designing a memorial plate for A. & M. College. Doyle's design, one of the many submitted from students in the Department of Architecture and Landscape Arts of the College is for a border which depicts each branch of the College. In the center of each plate is a view of one of the College's buildings.

The plates are being made by Wedgwood in England and are produced in sets of 12. Authorities who have seen the designs say that they will be the most beautiful college plates ever made by the famous Wedgwood firm.

Candidate

Carl Hardin, Stephenville, former State Senator, opened his campaign before a home-coming crowd of 5,000 people Saturday. It was the largest public gathering in Erath county in several years.

In response to an invitation from his friends and neighbors of 30 years standing, Senator Carl C. Hardin opened his campaign for the office of railroad commissioner in Stephenville Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. There were 5,000 people in the audience to hear him, most of them coming from all parts of Erath county, but there were others from adjoining counties. He spoke for 45 minutes and following that a citizens' committee served a barbecue lunch to one of the largest public gatherings here in years.

Senator Hardin has been in public service for the past 12 years, two years in the legislature and eight years in the senate, and since the day he graduated from John Tarleton College has been active in business and civic circles. He has the reputation in his home city of rendering more assistance to the people than any other one individual citizen.

During his last term in the senate Hardin introduced and successfully passed the homestead tax exemption, relieving homesteads from taxation up to and including $3,000.00.

Changes he proposes in the operation of the Texas Railroad Commission in the event of his election were discussed freely in the opening address, among them being a policy of attending to the duties every day in the year. He likewise urged that the major companies be gauged by the same yardstick that measures the small independent operator. He also favors a vigorous and uninterrupted program of development in every county in Texas as where oil possibilities exist, rather than curtailing such development. As a whole Senator Hardin emphasized the point that he would at all times aid in administering the duties of the railroad commission in a fair and constructive manner.

A citizens committee organized in Stephenville the past week contains the names of more than 50 Erath county people who propose to carry the campaign of Carl C. Hardin into every county in Texas, and in every way possible to recommend him for earnest consideration at the hands of the voters.
