THE LOST.

W. K. Henderson is continually calling for "Clarence" Saunders over the radio. If he will spend a little money with the weekly newspapers, he can locate him at once.

FIRST PRIZE.

Any golfer who can close his store these evenings, go home and help the good wife with her garden or flower bed is entitled to the chromo as a first prize.

OUR CONVICTS.

A Donley county official liked the suggestion of a ship purchase to care for the convicts as published last week and further suggests that they be allowed to tour the world since they can't break out or escape as they have been doing down on the farm.

PATENT STUFF.

Just about the time we got to thinking that Aubrey Dobbs could write an editorial that hit the spot, here he ups and shoots at us with "patent leather" stuff that sounds foreign to Collingsworth county, the Panhandle and even the state.

PARKING SPACE.

Yep, parking space is scarce and getting scarcer. When you deduct for the filling stations, fire hydrants, clerk and store owners and confectioners, there is only about five percent space left for the rural customer. It looks like the Legion might have to back up their request with a machine gun to get any results.

ANGELIC RELIEF.

If there is anything that will take a man's mind off prohibition politics and poverty, it's to go into a restaurant and have a pretty waitress come up and ask what you want to eat, with a voice like a foghorn.

HIGHWAY CONVENIENCE.

After waiting on highway paving for several years, the editor of this paper yesterday had the pleasure of seeing a state surveying crew mark the metes and bounds of Highway 55 right in front of our door not fifteen feet from our editorial sanctum. We have always wanted paved roads, or at least a reasonable amount, but this is likely the first time in the history of the state of Texas when the highway was brought to the door of a weekly newspaper.

THE LIMIT.

After being in business in Gurnsey, Dakota for several years without having bought any space in the local paper, the editor was surprised last week when this merchant handed him a slip with instructions to "run it as cheap as possible." That slip read: "Will go out on confinement cases or other illness."

MECHANICALLY BORN.

If more of our young folks don't get to buying more homes and less cars the next generation will be living in tents. Young folks continue to marry at a rapid rate and some are multiplying in large quantities bordering near to the time when children will be ushered into this old U. S. A. between four wheel brakes.

THEN WHAT HAPPENED?

A Dakota paper ran the following church notice in a conspicuous position last week: "The ladies of this church have cast off clothing of all kinds and they may be seen in the basement any day this week cheap." That editor is no doubt doing "penance in durance vile" for having left out the hyphen between "cast" and "off".

FINANCIAL HIATUS!

Ford agents over west Texas are quitting the game. Uncle Henry evidently promised Hoover more than he can put over without leaning on the boys in the field. At any rate, the next move of Uncle Henry will be watched with interest since his agents are quitting and the possible successors welcome the idea about as much as a picnicker would poison ivy.

HAT, COAT AND BROGANS!

Farmer Jim has thrown his hat into the ring in the governor's race. Yes and more, he has thrown the whole works into an uproar because the other boys fear him and his following.

Farmer Jim outlined his policies and made quite a lengthy statement. There is only one statement about which we have any doubt. He said he had made his peace with God and would not become engaged in any controversy. The first bird that pecks on Jim's family tree, or scratches in his political nest is going to hub something just as long as Jim Ferguson is alive and we don't mean maybe.

THE NEW BIRTH.

And now comes the information that J. D. Sugg, publisher of the Pampa Times, is to begin the publication of a daily just as soon as the machinery arrives, a part of which has already been installed.

If J. D. follows the usual pattern of the small daily, he will find it much easier than getting out his weekly since it consists principally of press work. A few hot shots on the front page, the remainder filled up with boiler plate and ads, makes life one glad sweet song provided one gets the ads, and we hope he does.

CRUELTY OF PROHIBITION.

A Chicago paper complains of the cruelties of prohibition and on the same page carries a news account of seven men, three women and four children having been killed in one day by gun men gangsters.

Citizens in some part of the city hire special guards to conduct their children to and from school. Remember this is in Chicago where politics instead of the governmental authorities rule.

A prohi agent killed a rum runner on the lake last fall and the papers are still howling about the one death whereas gangsters have been the cause of 183 deaths since that date.

THAT ANTI-CANDIDATE.

"Certainly I am in the race for attorney general: I never have quit running since I was nosed out by a bare four thousand votes in 1926." That's what Jimmy Allred told a crowd at Dallas the past week. It's just like Jimmy.

He told the cock-eyed world that he was anti-chain, anti-merger, anti-monopoly, and anti-Wall street too. That is Jimmy all over.

The writer lived at Bowie years ago when "little Jimmy" was a common every day kid possessed of an unusual amount of pep selling papers on the streets. Jimmy Allred was a hum dinger for going after what he wanted in an honorable way and he hasn't changed a bit.

His father, Rene Allred, carried the mail and conducted a realty business. He was a trusted citizen of the highest type and what he lacked in monetary assets, was made up for in friends. The boys have followed in his footsteps and then some. All the boys have made good, have held a number of offices and never has the finger of scorn been pointed at the actions of either.

THE EDITOR'S BIRTHDAY.

"A friend is one who knows your every fault, and loves you just the same." Eighteen farmers, business and professional men measuring up to the above quotation surprised the editor of this paper Tuesday evening with a surprise birthday party. Four more sent their regrets and many others would have been present had they known about it. These good friends con-nived with the good wife to sweep this scribe off his feet and they swept him.

When this humble keeper of an editorial sanctum reached the door way and cast a glance over that crowd of men with whom I have lived and labored for near twelve years, and realized that they appreciated me to the extent of adding to my sum of human happiness upon the occasion of a birthday, the tears came. I almost choked.

In looking over the crowd of loyal friends, one could not help but realize the great responsibility of assets. Assets that money cannot buy. The priceless heritage of every man that comes into this possession by only one means—unselfishness. I looked into the smiling faces of men whose lives have been an inspiration to tote four-square and to give to the world the very best that is in me. Men with whom I have counseled. Men who have rejoiced with me in prosperity and lent me sympathy when sad. Men of the kind I choose to live with and just such men as I want around me when the crunching of hears wheels are heard and words of sympathy for loved ones come in husband tones and footsteps are soft and low.

Friends who do not wait until too late to hand me the flowers while I can appreciate them and need them most. Friends who have no desire to live apart from others, to live beyond those who need their aid or so far away that mute appeals for sympathy cannot be heard.

The one great thought that ran through my mind was this: Can I measure up to the unselfish expectations of those with whom I am fortunately associated? There is no such thing in this world as independent action because it is economically, morally and spiritually true that we are each our brother's keeper so far as our influence may be felt. The wonderful and awful thought about influence is that we may make it what we may and there is no way to escape its results be that good or bad.

Our responsibility is measured by duty, capacity and opportunity. Man may deny his responsibilities, but that does not in the least relieve him of them. Man's greatest responsibility is influence in being a human broadcasting station with much or little power without which he would cease to exist.

Fred E. Lynn Dies At Pampa Thursday

Following an attack of appendicitis, Fred E. Lynn aged 34, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lynn of the Goldston community north of town, passed away in a hospital at Pampa Thursday.

The deceased came to this section some ten years ago. He was engaged in farming a part of the time and was later identified with the Wilson Brothers laundry going from here to Pampa a few years ago where he was again engaged in the same line of work.

The remains were laid to rest in the local cemetery Thursday afternoon with Rev. Sam E. Allison officiating.

He is survived by his parents, a sister, Mrs. J. W. Walker of Amarillo, also five brothers, Earl, Walter, Al, Murie and Haskell Lynn.

The Leader joins with the many friends in expressions of sympathy to the bereaved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Edwards of Hedley were Clarendon shoppers Saturday.

GRINDING

Yes sir, we are grinding feed stuff every day making a sack feed out of bundle stuff and ear corn for the farmer folks who want to save on their feed bill during the present high prices.

You will be surprised how much farther you feed will go when the stock eat ALL of it, and besides you can feed it in a box and stop the waste of throwing it on the ground. The cost is a mere trifle and we grind it while you wait.

A WOMAN'S QUESTION

You now ask for the costliest thing Ever made by the Hand above— A woman's heart and woman's life. And a woman's wonderful love? You have asked for these priceless things As a child might have asked for a toy, Demanding what some have died to win,

With the reckless dash of a boy? You have written my lessons of duty down, And demanded that I be true, Now stand at the bar of a woman's soul

Until I can question you. I am fair and young, but the rose will fade From my soft young cheek one day.

Will you love me then when I am changed, As today in life's sweet May, Is your heart an ocean so strong and deep

I may launch my all on its tide? A trusting woman finds heaven or hell On the day she is made a bride. Will you respect the friends I've made, And my memory when I'm dead?

Will you respect the rights of my child, And love them in my stead? Will you strive to maintain intact, The home as it used to be?

Will you consult the rights of my child That means more than life to me? I require all things that are good and true, All things that a man should be. If you give me your all, I will stake my life To be all you demand of me.

If you can not do this, a laundress, a cook, You can hire with a little pay: But a woman's heart and a woman's life Are not to be won that way.

—The Apostle.

L. A. Hatley returned from a business trip to Lefors Friday.

Amarillo Carpenter Talks

TROUBLES OVER COME SINCE TAKING ORGATONE (ARGOTANE)

Orgatone (argontane) certainly done me a lot of good and I am glad to make this statement said J. J. Hanson of 607 North Johnson Amarillo, Texas. Mr. Hanson is a well known citizen here and is employed as a carpenter.

"I suffered terribly from stomach and kidney trouble" he continued "I had pains in my back that would go distracted and my kidneys gave me a great deal of trouble all of the time: I had a bad case of puerisy and that pains would hurt me so at times I could hardly stand it. I suffered greatly from headaches and would get so dizzy I would almost fall.

"I read so much about Orgatone I decided to try it, and it has helped me so much that I shall take the entire treatment. I began to improve right from the start, my stomach and kidney trouble does not bother me as it did, my kidney operate with regularly I don't have any headaches or dizzy spells now at all. My entire system is in better shape now than it has been for a long time. I am going to continue Orgatone (Agotane) until it completely restores and I know it will help anyone suffering as I did."

Genuine Orgatone (Argotane) may be bought in Clarendon at the Stockings Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tucker, long residents of Donley county who have been making their home near Turkey the past three years, are here for a visit with their daughters, Mmes. John Moffitt and A. B. Lankford and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davis are rejoicing over the arrival of a son born Friday. The Leader joins with their many friends in offering congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Waggoner and family of Claude spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Behrens and family.

Mrs. S. T. Clayton visited with Mrs. Nelson Riley Monday afternoon.

Miss Nannie Mae Behrens and little nephew, Charles Behrens, Jr. and small niece Marylyn of San Antonio arrived here Friday morning for a few weeks visit. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Behrens lost their home (a boarding house) by fire and will be back in business in a few weeks in San Antonio.

Mr. Hutton the agriculture teacher and his class came out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Clayton Monday morning and called her flock of White Leghorns.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stoyer of Amarillo visited Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Riley Sunday on their way to Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roberts and Mrs. Floyd Parker and baby spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Milard Starks.

Mrs. Bill Knowles of Lelia Lake who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Palmer of Al-anreed, visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Riley and family Thursday on her way to her home at Lelia Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bogard and children spent Sunday afternoon in Clarendon with Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bogard.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKee of Ashtola spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Behrens.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lanham drove to Hereford Sunday and spent the day and night with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Lanham. This was their first trip to Hereford and they were very much impressed with the beautiful level country. While there they met quite a few old time residents who say times were never better financially.

Mr. Lanham talked with one banker who said their deposits were large and but very little going out on loans. There also seems to be a building boom and we never saw or met more friendly people and also the sand doesn't blow so much there. Wheat look good.

HOOVERIZING THE WEATHER

President Hoover will soon be the most comfortable White House Executive that the country has ever had. Neither the damp chill of Washington winters or the intense heat of Washington summers shall penetrate the interior of the White House office building, now being restored after the Christmas fire. It's simpler than it sounds. An air conditioning system, similar to that already installed in both Houses of Congress, will manufacture weather of exactly the right temperature and relative humidity for Presidential comfort.

Not only for the sake of the Hoover efficiency, but for that of his expending office force and the visitors who wait to see the President or his Secretaries, is this health giving system being adopted. Through the several offices of the executive suite will be circulated at all times of the year the atmosphere of balmy spring with relative humidity around fifty percent, which is regarded around as ideal. It will even be possible to keep the windows closed and shut out all noise without having to worry about the ventilation.

During the Taft administration, a supposedly brilliant scheme was tried with the view of cooling and dehumidifying the stifling summer atmosphere. Air was blown through racks holding big cakes of ice and then passed across trays of chloride of lime which theoretically should have removed excess humidity but actually did not. President Wilson and President Coolidge suffered without relief during hot days in Washington. So did Mr. Hoover last summer. It is good to know that we now have an added inducement to every American boy who wants to be President when he grows up. President are more comfortable.

Postmaster Chas. H. Bugbee was an Amarillo visitor Monday.

Miss Thelma Youngblood spent the week end with friends in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dubbs visited in Canyon Sunday.

HEDLEY

We are in sympathy with Mrs. Charles M. Lowry who lost her father, Mr. S. A. Cousins of McLean Monday night, February 17. He was up in his seventies and to know him was to love, and he will be missed greatly by all his many friends and relatives.

T. D. Nored of Clarendon was down Tuesday attending to business in the local West Texas Utilities office.

Rev. E. D. Landreth returned from Abilene Wednesday after a few days visit there.

Mrs. R. B. Adams and Mrs. E. D. Landreth motored over to McLean Wednesday to attend the funeral services of Mr. S. A. Cousins.

The Junior Study clubs met with their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Masterson with Dannie Battle as hostess and Gladys Ewen as leader. The business part of the meeting was taken over in discussion of a play that is to be sponsored by the P.-T. A. which will be given at the auditorium in the near future. The following program was given:

Roll call—Musical News.
Piano Solo—Otey Watkins.
One Act Comedy—Director—Jewell McCaskill.
Play—That Awful Letter.
Casts—Norma, maid—Mildred Aulfil.
Magurat Neilson, uppish—Gladys Ewen.
Elizabeth Norton, country girl—Dannie Battle.
Helen Montgomery, friend—Opal Adamson.
Edith Browning, friend—Melba Johnson.

The program was well given and enjoyed by all, it seems that we had over looked some real talent that was brought out in the play. The home and dainty salad course was all carried out in the colorful scheme of our father, George Washington, and was enjoyed by the following members and guests: Mmes. Elsie Loman, Lola Dishman, Lorene Blankenship, Vera Hickey, Gladys Ewen, Jewell McCaskill, Opal Adamson, Misses Mary Harris, Cloteal Moreman, Gladys Simpson, Otey Watkins, Allie Mae Caldwell, Melba Johnson. Guests: Mmes. John Moreman, E. D. Landreth, J. J. Johnson and the hostess Mrs. J. B. Masterson and Dannie Battle. The next meeting will be with Miss Gladys Simpson at the regular time.

Mr. Ted Adamson motored over to Altus Oklahoma Thursday, returning Saturday afternoon with his wife and family for a few days visit here.

Mrs. Willie Kittenger and Mrs. Luther Grundy of Memphis motored on Tuesday for a short visit with friends.

Kermit Johnson was here for the week end with his parents.

Reid Chilcoat is again in our midst attending to business, glad to have him.

Ray Moreman of Estelline is here for the past few days attending to business, Ray has quite a bit of territory to cover.

Grandmother Barnett passed away quietly Sunday night about ten o'clock. Grandmother had been real low for the past several days. She was laid to rest in the Rowe cemetery Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. D. Landreth held the services at her home west of town.

Mrs. Z. T. Beaty, Irene and Jack motored over to Memphis Friday afternoon to visit with relatives there.

Monday was a big day for the school in Hedley. The entire day was turned out for celebration. It was started off with a big parade of decorated cars, and followed by the school children. It was a nicely arranged parade and all enjoyed seeing the cars, the Seniors, Home Demonstration club, Study Club, and several others, it was not thought that there were so many children here in school unless one saw them all out in a long line, and it looks like many. All returned to the school grounds where the grounds were beautified by our clubs and classes of the school, and then came an old fashioned dinner on the ground with well filled baskets. After a well enjoyed meal, and promptly at 2 o'clock the program of the afternoon was given by the grades, and the little fellows showed that they were worthy of taking this old world over when it came their day to do so. The Junior Study Club put on a little one act play, as it was impossible to enter a float in the parade. The P.-T. A. after the program held a business meeting with a lady from Austin to give them a lecture on things in general. It was a big day and was enjoyed by the large crowd that were present. Miss Cleo Maxwell spent the

SETTING A COMMUNITY BACK
Nothing retards a community like pettiness among its business men or people.

Yet how many towns and small cities are free from its influence? It is related that not so long ago, in a certain city of about 5,000 inhabitants, the merchants on one side of the court house square banded together to hold a special sale.

They secretly organized their advertising campaign and expected to take their competitors by surprise and net a big profit for themselves.

As they should have had judgment enough to know, the sale was a big failure in not coming up to their expectations and was harmful to the town because of the bad feeling it engendered among the other merchants.

Nothing is ever accomplished when the vision of a community's business men and its people is so narrow that everything done is only for personal gain.

Helpful cooperation is the only key to community success, and until this lesson is learned, no community is going to progress very far.—Warrensburg N. Y. News.

week end with relatives in Childress.

Mr. Dick Marrick of Childress spent the week end with friends.

In regard to sports, the Hedley Owls had a wonderful trip to Canyon when it was made possible for them to be the champions of Donley county only after Clarendon had been disqualified from the game. The boys went with that determined to win and bring big headlines for the home folks, but the boys did their best, and that is all that any person can do, and it does not matter how good we are, there are always others that are better, so the boys played that much talked of place Borger on Friday, it was not Friday the 13th, but it was unlucky al all the news paper reports came to the boys about bad men being over in Borger, so they could not get on the ball as good as they could other wise, any way they played a good game and were defeated by a score of 37 to 17. The boys played a real game the last half when all the scores were made. All that went were glad they went and want to thank the business men and all others that made it possible for them to go by financing the trip for them, and it takes some time to make a record but just keek backing the Owls and they will get there.

Mr. J. B. Masterson is home again after a months absence from home. He has been several places as well as market, and reports that he had almost forgotten about the sand storms, but I am thinking that if he stays here for a few days he will well remember them.

SOCIETY
BAPTIST CHURCH ITEMS

The revival spirit generated during the recent series of services in the local Baptist Church is continuing to operate. Evidences of this were noticeable throughout the services Sunday. There were four additions to the church membership, two by letter and two by profession of faith. New members were reported in both the Sunday school and in the B. Y. P. U.

Representatives of the Baptist Churches of Donley and Hall Counties met at Memphis Friday night in a Budget Rally. Rev. E. N. Shepherd, Mr. Sam Lowe, and Mr. W. R. Moore went from Clarendon. The various reports, and discussions strengthened the belief that the Budget, with the Sunday school as the enlisting agency, is the most effective method of financing the Kingdom Enterprises, both local and co-operative.

George Collins Favors Plan of Ford to Give France Higher Wages

Former Traer Man Evolves Some New Economic Theories While Touring in Europe

(By George P. Collins)
Paris—Living costs here are quite cheap to an American. For around a dollar you can get a good room without a bath—in many French hotels you couldn't get a room with bath for a million dollars. Meals come to as much as you wish to pay and it depends entirely on the class of restaurant you patronize. You pay for everything ordered; that is, there is a charge for bread and another for butter, etc. A desirable cut of meat can be had for about fifteen cents a portion, and the other trimmings for a meal may bring it up to thirty-five cents or double that. The French are great for roast veal and you see very little beef ordered. They eat sparingly of potatoes but are strong for peas, string beans and spinach (petit pois, haricot and epinard are the French words for these vegetables. I have never eaten these vegetables prepared as tastily as the French get them up. It would be easy to go on a vegetarian diet in France. Asparagus is popular but is served cold as a salad. The stalks are huge, eight or so inches long and an inch in diameter.

If you order wine with your meal, a decanter of plain water is served with it and the French nearly always dilute the wine with an equal portion of water. The usual table wine is but little stronger than our grape juice. Unless wine is ordered you generally have a hard time to get any drinking water.

Fresh and canned fruits, ices similar to our ice cream, fancy pastries, rich puddings or cheese are the popular desserts in cafes patronized by the French themselves.

When in Paris four years ago we failed to get time to go up to the top of the Eiffel tower, the tallest structure in the world built by man and just short of 1,000 feet above the ground. It is built entirely of steel beams and the top is reached by three stages of elevators. Each cage holds twenty or more people and goes up slowly, depositing its cargo on floors at the different heights. There are restaurants, cafes, curio stores, photo shops and dancing pavilions on these floors.

From the top you can get a view of all of Paris as well as the woods and farm lands surrounding it for many miles out. While not comparable to many other famous views over the world, it is a sight well worth while and especially does it help you to locate the various regions of Paris. These sections of the city become a mere haze in your mind if you never leave the pavement as the streets are nearly all diagonal and you lose all sense of direction before you have gone a couple of blocks.

Early one Sunday afternoon we taxied to the Seine river to take a fast boat up the stream to Suresnes (pronounced Sur-en), where an American cemetery is located and which contains the grave of John Raymond O'Hara, of Carrington, N. D., my home town. Some years before I had visited four American cemeteries in the Belleau Woods region on this same mission, not knowing in which cemetery he was buried.

I was doomed to disappointment again. Arriving at Suresnes just before 5 o'clock, we found that the cemetery was closed to the public promptly at 5 so we did not have time for even a rush visit.

The river ride up the Seine proves very interesting, giving you glimpses of Paris and its environs that you get in no other way. You go past the Bieriort and other airplane devoted to the manufacture of automobiles.

Not knowing my stuff any too well, one of the surprises of the trip was to find the original of our own Statue of Liberty in Paris. It is located in the Seine river, abutting one of the fine bridges that cross that stream. It is built out from the bridge a rod or so on a stone foundation. It is a colossal statue but many times smaller than the Statue of Liberty presented by the French people to America and which now graces New York harbor.

On one bank of the Seine is the Longchamps race course, well-known in America because it is here that Paris counterers often display their new models on mannikins. Racing was in progress this Sunday afternoon and so many Parisians had hired taxicabs for their trip that uptown there was a scarcity. The parked autos took up miles of space all around the race course.

Disembarking at Suresnes we found a scene of great activity. It was a beautiful warm spring day and the young people were all dancing. Although the pavilions were in buildings the floors were packed to the very limit and resembled very much the scene of a bowery dance in the states on a 4th of July evening.

It is hilly and beautifully wooded around Suresnes and while I did not get to see the cemetery where many American boys are buried I am certain that its setting is majestic and that our government keeps it up in that same beautiful way that the other American cemeteries in France are kept.

The American movie is cussed and discussed all over the world. Today it is enjoying a virtual world monopoly. French, English and German film firms fight the American movies at every turn and are doing their best to keep them from their home markets. The Europeans insist that for every certain number of American films allowed to be imported into their country, the Americans must agree to buy a lesser number of foreign made films.

The question is deeper by far than a mere matter of film rentals. The moving picture is Americanizing the world. What a star wears in Hollywood comes nearer to setting the style for women all over the globe than does even Paris. When a film shows an American business man in his office, the foreigner becomes convinced that American office equipment is the best in the world and unconsciously a market is created for this line of American products. The movies are today selling the world on American products, ideas and ideals. Statesmen of all countries are deeply concerned over this peaceful invasion that is upsetting old ideas and submitting the younger and fresher American ones.

These two letters are by no means comprehensive ones nor were they intended to be. Four years ago a much more detailed story of Paris was published in these columns and if you happen to have those papers handy you can read about the Louvre, the greatest art palace in the world; of the Place de la Concorde, finest square in the world; of the Champs Elysees, finest street in the world; Arc de Triomphe, largest and most dignified triumphal arch in the world, and the canopy for the Unknown soldier's grave; Hotel des Invalides, stately domed structure containing the tomb of Napoleon; Pantheon de Guerre, elaborate panoramic painting containing over 6,000 recognizable portraits of men and women famous during the late World War; Notre Dame, the great cathedral of Paris; the grand and petit palaces now used for art and other exhibitions; and a host of other historical and interesting things such as only Paris affords.

The association declared itself in favor of a safe and sane dairy program leading to development of improved dairy herds through intelligent feeding, breeding and weeding, of slaughtering all low-producing cows, and a program to call attention of the consuming public to the value of dairy products as a health food.

The association further endorsed the recommendations of the National Dairy Council in carrying out this program. It was brought out that the per capita consumption of butter in Texas is lower than any other state in the union.

J. W. Ridgeway of Fort Worth was elected chairman of the general committee to prepare working plans. Others on the general committee are: A. L. Ward, Dallas; C. M. Evans, Marshall; Mrs. C. W. Martin, Dallas; C. N. Sheppardson, College Station; head of the dairy department of A and M College; Miss Mildred Horton, College Station, head of the home demonstration department of A and M College; E. M. Ehlers, Austin, State Public Health department; C. L. Davis, Austin, head of the vocational Agricultural education; C. E. E. Holand, Houston, Chairman of the State Bankers Agricultural association; K. V. Lipscomb, Dallas, president of the Dairyman's Association of Dallas, and R. William Langley, Dallas.

District committees to carry on the work outlined were appointed as follows: W. L. Stengel, Lubbock; Henry Ansley, Amarillo; George Maggart, Amarillo, and Bruce Oats, Wichita Falls for West Texas; Bryan Blalock Marshall; Roger Davis, Longview; Russell Rhodes, Tyler; Paul Walser, Tyler and R. L. Hargrove, Texarkana, for East Texas; and J. I. McGregor, Houston; E. C. Lasater, Fairburn; A. J. White, San Antonio and E. L. Laubscher, San Antonio for South Texas.

Miss Carrie Davis spent the week end with her brother at Quitaque.

Slaughter Cows Not Producing Advise Experts

Dairy Association Makes Plans to Absorb Texas Butter Fat Surplus

Dallas, Texas, Feb. — Slaughtering of all cows in Texas whose productivity is not profitable to farmers and dairymen was advocated at a called meeting of the Southwest Dairy Association here this week.

This recommendation was included among other major proposals accepted at the session as measures to create finer dairy herds in the state and to encourage the consumption of more milk and butter in Texas. The meeting was called by Frank Briggs, president of the association, to discuss methods of establishing a thoroughly organized industry and absorb Texas' portion of the country's surplus of 50,000,000 pounds of butterfat.

A general committee composed of men and women well known in the dairy industry was appointed to work out a program and report later to the main body.

These columns and if you happen to have those papers handy you can read about the Louvre, the greatest art palace in the world; of the Place de la Concorde, finest square in the world; of the Champs Elysees, finest street in the world; Arc de Triomphe, largest and most dignified triumphal arch in the world, and the canopy for the Unknown soldier's grave; Hotel des Invalides, stately domed structure containing the tomb of Napoleon; Pantheon de Guerre, elaborate panoramic painting containing over 6,000 recognizable portraits of men and women famous during the late World War; Notre Dame, the great cathedral of Paris; the grand and petit palaces now used for art and other exhibitions; and a host of other historical and interesting things such as only Paris affords.

The association further endorsed the recommendations of the National Dairy Council in carrying out this program. It was brought out that the per capita consumption of butter in Texas is lower than any other state in the union.

J. W. Ridgeway of Fort Worth was elected chairman of the general committee to prepare working plans. Others on the general committee are: A. L. Ward, Dallas; C. M. Evans, Marshall; Mrs. C. W. Martin, Dallas; C. N. Sheppardson, College Station; head of the dairy department of A and M College; Miss Mildred Horton, College Station, head of the home demonstration department of A and M College; E. M. Ehlers, Austin, State Public Health department; C. L. Davis, Austin, head of the vocational Agricultural education; C. E. E. Holand, Houston, Chairman of the State Bankers Agricultural association; K. V. Lipscomb, Dallas, president of the Dairyman's Association of Dallas, and R. William Langley, Dallas.

We Will Demonstrate the McCormick-Deering Farmall
at Clarence Peden's farm 2 miles west of town Thursday 27

The Key to Horseless Farming

WE will gladly demonstrate the Farmall on any farm power job to show that it is a real all-purpose tractor adaptable to a long list of drawbar, belt, and power take-off jobs. Plowing, tilling, seeding, haying, harvesting, threshing, baling, silo filling, grinding, sawing, road work, hauling and others—all these are simplified and made easier by the advanced design of the Farmall.

Corn and cotton farmers call the Farmall the row-crop tractor because for the first time they now have tractor power for the complete handling of these great staple crops. Yet it does more and is responsible for the ever-growing term "Farmall Farming."

We Will Demonstrate

We have completed plans so all farmers may see and operate the Farmall. Ask for a demonstration and satisfy yourself that there is the key to horseless farming. It cuts corners off expenses and puts more profit in your pocket.

J. R. Lafon Announces For Public Weigher

We are authorized to make the announcement of J. R. Lafon as a candidate for the office of Public Weigher in the Clarendon or Precinct No. 2.

Mr. Lafon has been a resident of Donley county eighteen years, the greater portion of that time has been spent on the farm. He has always supported all moves for the benefit of the community where he has lived and has always taken an interest in our public schools where five of his children have received their education, or are in school at this time.

He has never asked for public office before, and if elected in this race, promises to faithfully serve the entire public to the utmost of his ability.

SOCIETY
PALO DURO-ALPHA DELTA
PSI BANQUET

Last Friday night the members of the Palo Duro and Alpha Delta Psi Literary Societies together with their respective sponsors, Miss Headrick, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark met at the Clarendon hotel to hold the usual inter-society banquet. A few old members of the societies were present — our only regret is that more of them could not come. We were also glad to have several other visitors.

All rivalry—except that between appetites—was laid aside in a common enjoyment of the evening, in fun, and in wonderful honest-to-goodness fellowship. Billy Dillard's wit helped him greatly in his position as "toastmaster—Udt position as "toastless" toast master. It's queer, but it's true that eating with persons gives one an insight into his likes and dislikes. For example, Mr. Clark "dislikes" whipped cream, Jo Brazil likes two pieces of cherry pie better than one, and Bill Wilder likes all he can get.

An interesting varied program gave the following information: Cecil Hukel makes a canary ashamed of itself and a nightingale sit up and take much notice when she sings; Gladys Noble weighs one hundred and thirty pounds — or very close to it; Agatha Taylor has a future as a violinist; Wilma King can make you laugh even if you are sober.

It was as follows:
College Types—Ruth Dunn.
Silent Moon — Augustus C. Knight, Cecil Hukel, Helen Riley, Archie Poole, Bill Wilder, Miss Ineva Headrick, accompanied.

Spreading the News—Wilma King.
Asra, (Violin)—Hoesche, Agatha Taylor, Zell Rodgers, accompanist.
After Dinner Speech—Rev. R. S. McKee.
Billy Dillard, Toastmaster.

We were very lucky and very glad to secure Rev. McKee as the speaker of the evening for his visit, store of fun, and speaking ability lent even more zest to the occasion.

Later in the evening, a party at Bill Wilder's home where dancing, bridge, and forty-two "capped the climax", so to speak. We really believe that we put over the biggest and best society banquet in the history of Clarendon Junior College.

1926 BOOK CLUB MEETS AT STALLINGS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Stallings entertained the 1926 Book Club at their beautiful home on West Third street Tuesday evening with six tables of "42" and five tables of bridge.

B. L. Jenkins, Jr. was winner of the prize for men and Mrs. W. L. Ball drew prize for women in the bridge games. Loyd Stallings was high score holder for men and Miss Vada Waldren held high score for women in the forty-two games.

Guests chose partners for the two course dinner by matching two piece hatches. Those present were: Messrs. and Mmes. Elba Ballew, W. A. Clark, Jr., Chas. Bairfield, B. L. Jenkins, Jr., Allen J. Bryan, Fred Buntin, Joe Goldston, H. D. Tomb, I. O. Noble, Frank A. Stocking, Rolle Brumley, Rayburn Smith, Manly Ozier, L. B. Chunn, Loyd Stallings, Misses Rheda Wiedman, Temple Harris, Helen Beck, Lotta Bourland, Mabel and Edgar Mae Mongole, Vada Waldren, Elon Aiken, Lille Dell Slover, Mae Lumpkin, Fray Stallings, Mmes. W. L. Ball, L. B. Cousins, R. W. Wilkerson, Chas. B. Trent, Lillian Brady, Messrs. Roy Wells, Sam Braswell, Sr., Ben Tom Pruitt.

CHRISTIAN LADIES AID

Ladies Aid was entertained in the home of Mrs. Ed Carlson, Wednesday 19th. Mrs. O. D. Liesberg, President, called the house to order at 2:30. Prayer by Mrs. G. A. Anderson. All business attended to then Mrs. Jim Casey led the Devotional, 14th chapter of Luke, Little Betty Blanche Baker favored the ladies with a song.

Mrs. Carlson assisted by Mrs. Chas. Carlson served delicious refreshments to the 12 members and two visitors present, the next meeting will be with Mrs. F. C. Johnson Feb. 26th. Mrs. Carlson devotional leader, 15th chapter Luke. All members urged to be present.

F. C. JOHNSON'S BIRTHDAY ALSO 22nd FEB.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Johnson at a 6 o'clock dinner given by Mrs. Johnson in honor of Mr. Johnson's birthday. A large Angel food cake decorated with one candle and a big question mark formed the table center piece. A bountiful feast was enjoyed by all. Mr. Johnson was the recipient of many nice and useful gifts and like "George Washington" He said, "He could not tell a lie", he wished this would happen again. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were then asked to join Mr. and Mrs. Bryan in a radio program at their home and a very pleasant evening was passed.

1930 NEEDLE CLUB

REX RAY CIRCLE MEETS

The Rex Ray Circle entertained with a George Washington party Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Joe Goldston.

The house had been gaily decorated with red, white and blue streamers. Various games and contests were enjoyed until a late hour when dainty refreshments were served to the following:

EDITOR HONORED WITH STAG DINNER

Mrs. J. C. Estlack assisted by Mrs. James Grundy, and eighteen of his friends honored him with a stag turkey dinner at his home Tuesday evening in the form of a surprise party.

During the serving, a repulsive present in the form of a pair of overalls was presented to the honoree strongly suggestive of a period when he might engage in manual labor. Having escaped such humblity for a period of 48 years, the recipient refused to break the record that had become second nature, despite the oratorical efforts of F. O. Wood, who made a presentation speech that was strongly impregnated with intimations that the editor had sailed through life on flowery beds of ease.

Following the dinner, Hon. W. T. Link, in behalf of seventeen other real benefactors, presented the honoree with a handsomely upholstered chair that is said to have cost more money than the recipient had honestly earned during his lifetime up to date. The gift was accepted without undue pressure being brought to bear upon him and he sank into the cushioned seat from which he refused to budge during the remainder of the evening.

Those present were: A. H. Baker, G. L. Boykin, Lee Holland, W. H. Youngblood, G. G. Kemp, M. W. Mosley, Rev. Robt. S. McKee, A. N. Wood, C. E. Killough, Dr. C. W. Galloway, Hon. W. T. Link, Fred W. Rathjen, Roy Clayton, H. T. Burton, T. D. Nored, Jack B. Jones, F. O. Wood, James Grundy and the honoree.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE 90 DAYS MAKE!
TODAY A TODDLING CHICK . . . in 90 days a proud pullet about to lay. There's something to think about! Tiny bones and little muscles have grown several times in size . . . a delicate fuzz has sprouted into hundreds of feathers . . . a chick weighing grams has grown into a pullet weighing pounds . . . all in 90 short days!
A wonderful change . . . and only one thing can do it . . . good feed! This year consider Purina Startena Chow (mash) and Purina Chick Chow (scratch) or All-Mash Startena Chow for the first six weeks . . . and then Purina Growena and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow until your pullets are laying at 16 weeks.
Put these Chows before your chicks. You will see pullets that are built right . . . pullets that will lay eggs aplenty in fall and winter when eggs are always worth good money.
