CLARENDON, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, MARCH 11, 1930

A Common Paper For Common People

School Trustee Election Should Be Given Attention

Term of President, Secretary and Two Appointees Expire at This Time

The trustee election for the Clarendon schools announced for Saturday, April the 5th should receive the careful consideration of every citizen in the district. The term of F. E. Chamberlain who has filled the post as president of the Board, expires at this time. The term of W. W. Taylor, who has filled the post of secretary for the Board also expires. One appointee, Judge J. R. Porter, appointed to fill the unexpired term of C. C. Powell, expires at this time.

With Clarendon's Junior College interests at a critical stage, we are also faced with the expiration of the terms of three men on the Board. Citizens who have the best interests of the schools at heart, should give this matter more than a cursory notice.

It is not known at this time how many men out of this list of three will care to assume the burden further. It is possible that if the pressure is brought to the center a majority of them home, are to leave from patriotic motives especially at a time when the destiny of the Junior College hangs in a balance.

The holdover members of the Board are O. C. Watson, W. M. Montgomery, J. W. Martin and Odos Caraway.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Tomb and son Henry D. Tomb were Altus visitors during the last of the week. Mrs. Tomb remained with her sister, Mrs. Murray, formerly Miss Ann Mann of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Murray are the proud parents of a girl born last week.

Misses Pauline Shelton, Pauline Sanford and Jonnie D. Latson were guests of Miss Dorothy Headrick of Amarillo over the week end.

Mayor Proclaims Full Week of April Clean-Up Period

Officials Ask Cooperation in Making Clarendon a More Sanitary Town

The clean-up period of April the 7th to 12th designated by Mayor Taylor is designed to serve a three-fold purpose. It will include a war on mosquitos, efforts to improve sanitary conditions and eliminate fly breeding places, and the improvement of the general appearance of the city.

Eradication of breeding places for mosquitos will greatly lessen the nuisance that is with us each year much as we dislike to admit it. Drainage of mudhole places where water collects after rains, the gathering up of tin cans and other receptacles where water collects, will also lessen the mosquito hazard.

While the small gray mosquito nest may hatch from irrigated or sprinkled bermuda grass, they also come from tin cans and thousands of other places. H. J. Edington, ever mindful of civic needs, suggests that refuse oil be saved by several garages and dumped into the lake.

This oil if run through sewer pipes, serves to stop them up and is of no further value as a destroyer of mosquitos after passing through the septic tank. It must be poured directly on the lake waters according to Mr. Edington, who has had quite a bit of experience in combatting the pest in Colorado.

The City will furnish trucks for taking away rubbish during the week. In order to be ready, it has suggested that residents may be collecting trash anytime and take the City Hall. Lists of names will be made and a truck will be sent for the trash any time during the week from April 7th to 12th.

New Buildings Under Construction Is Best Evidence

More Building Contemplated in Near Future Attests Faith of Citizens

The ring of the saw and hammer in Clarendon is the reply to hard times stories brought from many parts of the state. Local men who have withstood the storms of many financial gales continue to "carry on" despite all that can be said about conditions affecting building trades over middle west.

The new mercantile building owned by George Bugbee now nearing completion is built on the faith of a man who has spent forty years in the Panhandle and most of that time in Donley county.

This building has an inside measurement of 25x115 feet, inset front, hardwood floors, modern plumbing and materials of brick and steel making it as near fireproof as possible. The building is located next door to the new Latson two story building on the old Presbyterian church corner. It will be occupied by the Clarendon drug store this week as told in another column.

P. H. Robison, who came here some two years ago investing in the auto tourist park on east First street, is erecting a combination store and residence building. The building will be fitted with shower bath facilities in addition to a stock of tourist necessities, groceries, etc. It is Mr. Robison's idea to have a tourist camp park in keeping with the size and general appearance of the town, and equal to those of most any other town. John Eudy is responsible for most of the carpenter work on this building.

An eight room duplex is being constructed by R. L. Stegall and Homer Gorman in the southwest part of town near the Hubert Zeigler home. Both men are master carpenters and are doing a great deal of their own work consequently the plans are being closely followed insuring one of the nicest buildings in that part of town.

Workmen have removed the old building from the site where a beautiful eight room brick veneer is to be constructed as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holland, Sr. A basement under two rooms, modern plumbing, two porches and plenty of room for yardage will make of this structure all that could be desired in a modern home.

Other buildings are to be constructed soon and plans also include some more business houses according to contractors and carpenters who ever keep an ear to the ground for information in their line of work. Building at present is normal despite financial handicaps. Those who are building here many years. They have faith in the town and in Donley county.

Rev. B. N. Shepherd Will Fill Pulpit at Colored Baptist Church

Rev. B. N. Shepherd, pastor of the First Baptist church will preach for the members of the St. Stephens (colored) Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3:30.

The members of that church especially invite all the white folks to be present as they are making an extra effort to build up their church on the north side. Special seats will be provided for white friends who can make it convenient to be present.

Singers representing this colored church rendered a program of old time melodies and spirituals at the Court House Monday night. The meeting was largely attended by members of both races and these same songs will make up a part of the program that will be rendered at the church Sunday afternoon.

Rev. G. S. Hardy, conference director of superannuate funds, with headquarters at Chillicothe, preached at the local Methodist church Sunday.

Criminal Court Docket Will Be Heavy Here This Term

Eleven Criminal, Fourteen Civil Cases Carried Over From Last Term

With the setting of the March term of District Court here on the 24th of this month, it is the opinion of officials that this will be a very busy session. Eleven criminal cases and fourteen civil suits were carried over from last term. In addition to that number, the diligence of sheriff M. W. Mosley and his deputies has resulted in a number being held to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The jail is pretty well filled. In fact the sheriff would almost be compelled to hang them on the wall if some disposition is not made of some of the prisoners at an early date. The inmates are held on charges ranging from bootlegging to murder. "No, conditions are only normal in Donley county" stated the Sheriff recently. "We are just rounding the boys in and doing our best to protect the public."

Jails at Sweetwater, Pampa, Amarillo and other places are full and each have had escapes recently. Most of the escaped prisoners have been recaptured.

Criminal cases carried over from last term are: State vs Oscar Brown, murder; State vs Bert Hall, burglary; State vs Joe Dunwoody, burglary; State vs J. H. Hicks, rape; State vs Bodie Wells, sale of whiskey; State vs Paul Hudman and J. F. Smith, Jr., sale of liquor; State vs Roy Wilson, arson; State vs Edd Lilly and Paul Kyle, turkey theft; State vs Adam Risley, operating motor car while intoxicated; State vs B. E. Land, transportation of liquor; State vs Adam Risley, transportation of liquor.

Civil cases carried over from last term: J. W. Lyons vs Dr. Wm. Gray, damages; Walter Darlington vs A. J. White, suit on note; International Supply Co. vs A. T. Drilling Co., account; Realty Trust Co. vs Mrs. Sallie Haley, paving lien; G. W. Antrobus vs W. Y. Twyman, suit on note; Farmers State Bank of Newlin vs E. M. Crisler, suit on note; Oil Well Supply Co. vs A. T. Drilling Co., account; Jewell B. Allmond vs F. H. Allmond, injunction; Donley County vs Custis L. Benson, account; State of Texas on relation of Richmond Bowlin and Wife vs J. R. Bain, quowarranto; Realty Trust Co. vs H. Lott, F. C.; Realty Trust Co., W. J. Lewis vs H. Lot Etal, cross action on F. C.; J. B. Reed vs G. H. Perdue et-Al, damages (two cases).

Poison Method Successful In Rodent Riddance

Prairie dog and rodent destruction is going forward in this county with a vim. The first 500 pounds of poison was quickly taken and a new mixture has been prepared for other orders that could not be filled out of the first batch. The largest lot taken was for 200 pounds to the Rowe ranch several other orders have been placed and the Chamber of Commerce urges that any others who wish this poison to see the office at once and make their requisition. The poison will be supplied as long as there is a demand for it at actual cost. Another 500 pound lot was mixed Saturday and some of it remains for which there has been no orders placed to date.

Brice School Announces Another Play

So well has all previous attempts met with success, the school folks of Brice are announcing a play, "Civil Service", for next Friday night to begin at 7:30.

More than a dozen pupils and teachers are included in the cast. The play plot involves a postal theft with plenty of mystery, romance, laughter and tears. Music will be furnished by the Clarendon band boys under the direction of their leader, Gus E. Stephenson.

Mrs. O. T. Smith and son A. J., spent Sunday in Amarillo.

Are Our Young Folks Worth It?

An Editorial

Every year a certain number of young people "go off" to college. Every year there is a certain number of worthy boys and girls left behind because they are the victims of poverty. They have no means and no one to pay their way. If given a chance, they would make a record but the doors of opportunity are closed to them.

In behalf of these boys and girls whose ambitions are stultified by pangs of poverty, I am making this pleading. This appeal is made in behalf of the sons and daughters of toil—both country and town. Several of our most worthy young people cannot raise the present price of tuition of Clarendon Junior College, small as it is, and they are forced to go through life handicapped.

Our first United States attorney general of her sex, as a girl slopped hogs, milked cows and cooked on the farm. She later cooked in a girls' dormitory to pay her way through college. She won and relates how she overcame handicaps with no little pride. All honor to her for having won a victory despite serious handicaps.

Too many boys and girls are now working their way through school. The supply is registered several years ahead at each of our leading educational institutions. That opportunity is denied the boys and girls of this section.

At our very door we have an institution fully accredited. A member of the Association of Junior colleges. An equipment equal to any junior college in the state. Buildings equal to any junior college of towns of five times its size. And it is all paid for with no strings attached to it. It belongs to you and me—all of us. It is dedicated to the betterment of our boys and girls.

Tody those school buildings up on the hill stand as a monument to the big-hearted, sincere, sensible, unselfish citizens who have felt the civilizing influences and value of universal education.

Don't believe in a college education? Do you know that ten years from now, and perhaps in less time than that, our boys and girls of today will be working for corporations and such corporations will demand college credits before employment will be given our present generation? Do you know that this is one of the requirements of several companies at the present time?

Ten years ago first grade school teachers could teach in most any school. Those same schools today require teachers holding college degrees. This is a requirement of the State Board of Education and a matter with which the local school board has no part. Within a few years our boys and girls in any country school will be required to furnish proof of having passed college degree requirements.

It's squarely up to the taxpayers of this school district to decide the matter FOR ALL TIME on April the 5th. It's now or never folks. If you have property to the value of two thousand dollars as rated by state and county valuations, your tax will be increased FOUR dollars. If your valuation is ten thousand, your tax will be increased just TWENTY dollars.

According to a report of the Crime Commission for the year 1929, 78 percent of those sent to the Texas penitentiary had never passed the fifth grade. Forty-seven percent had not passed the eighth grade. Shall we spend our money for education or in sending victims of our neglect to the penitentiary?

Will the Junior College be a permanent asset? Yes, because it belongs to the district and no one will have authority to destroy it save the school board. You and I have a right in selecting the Board.

Again, other districts may vote a similar tax and join this district, a method which if continued, means that we may have a county-wide junior college for the benefit of all the pupils of the county.

I favor the tax issue as a solution of the problems handicapping the Junior College for several reasons. 1st. It will provide equal opportunity by reason of the fact that there will be no tuition charge. 2nd. Will utilize equipment that is not suitable for any other purpose. 3rd. It means a better class of citizens. Schools attract people of the more intelligent, self-respecting class. 4th. Will enhance the value of the property in this district. College towns have few vacant buildings even at this time. 5th. The tax rate is low and we will hardly miss it. I paid taxes to help educate other boys and girls before I had any of my own. I shall continue to do so after my children are through school.

Several graduates of our local high school the past two years did not continue their education because they did not have the price of tuition in the College department. A few borrowed the money and paid it back by working during the summer. The Amarillo school board reduced their junior college tuition from $100 to $65 just this week because the $100 rate was keeping several out of school.

Are our young folks worth it? Yes! A thousand times, yes. Today we hold it within our grasp to make or mar the happiness and future welfare of a countless number of boys and girls who will become the men and women of tomorrow. Shall we slam the door of opportunity in the faces of those whose only crime is that of being born of poor parentage? NEVER! Vote for it! Work for it! On April the 5th we will have the opportunity to acquire ourselves with pride, or bring down upon our fair city the condemnation of all right thinking people. Which shall it be? What are YOU going to do about it?

J. C. Estlack.

New Owners Are Moving Old Business To New Location

March of Progress Calls For New Building in Central Location

Known as the City Drug for many years and later as Clarendon Drug, occupying a location next door to Caraway's cafe for some twenty years, the firm is changing location this week to the new Bugbee building in the Post-office block next door to the Clarendon Furniture company.

The old drug store has had varying degrees of success with several different owners even during the past twelve years, or since the writer has been a resident of Clarendon. Just when it had reached its lowest ebb in February of last year, Jack F. Jones and Jack B. Jones purchased the business and at once began their efforts of building a business on what was generally considered no more than a poor foundation.

These men possibly would not have undertaken the task had they known the history of this store as others did. Be that as it may, they have continually strived by dint of hard work, strict attention to business, courtesy and honesty, regained the prestige the store formerly had and more.

The volume of business has increased to the extent that new quarters has become necessary. No more suitable location could have been found. "We are going to do our level best to give the folks what they want and have a right to expect" is the way the senior member of the firm expressed himself Monday when the moving to the new building had gotten under way.

Much of the credit for the success of this firm is due to the cooperation given the owners by F. O. Wood, pharmacist and all-round drug man of over twenty years experience. Every man, woman and child in Clarendon knows "Doc" Wood. His patience, skill and obliging nature has won for him a place in the estimation of the public seldom attained by one in so short a time.

Mr. Wood is a manufacturing chemist and the originator of Wood's "Mystic Remedies" known over the southwest and for which he has a large mailorder sale. He expects to give this line of production more deserved attention after this date.

The three men named above will be responsible for the success of the firm. Mr. Wood will have direct charge of the prescription work. The general drug line, confections, tobaccos and fountain service will claim a good share of the attention of Messrs. Jones with other help employed as needed.

Petit Jury Panel Third Week District Court

The following men have been drawn for jury service for the third week of the March term of District Court here:

R. W. Moore, L. B. Chunn, E. E. Hooker, Enloe Crist, S. A. Sorrell, T. W. Hester, W. H. Moss, T. C. Johnson, W. P. Howard, D. M. Cook, J. W. Bland, W. C. Hermes-meyer, Neal Bogard, J. N. Riley, L. E. Merrell, Herman Hunt, C. S. Speed, G. A. McCall, Joe Cluck, J. H. Morris, S. T. Clayton, F. B. Thomas, Ira Merchant, Harry E. Blair, R. L. Bigger, Nole Simmons, H. R. Skinner, H. S. Mahaffey, E. L. Lamm, J. D. McAdams, L. E. Thompson, B. F. McCrackin, O. A. Scroggins, G. R. Grant, W. D. Franklin and C. E. Miller.

New Eating House to Open in Latson Building

Mrs. T. R. Crabtree announces through an ad in this issue that she is going to open an eating place next door to the Heath cleaners in the new Latson building Thursday of this week. She formerly operated the dining room at the Clarendon hotel.

She will serve food cooked after the manner that your mother used and she expects the public to appreciate the home cooked style.

Ditch Paving Begins Near Laundry To Help Drainage

Will be Completed Before Spring Rains Begin Say Speed Brothers

With the City paying a third of the expense and property owners adjoining the ditch paying the remainder, a contract has been awarded Speed Brothers, local contractors, for the paving of the ditch from the Holland building to the street intersection at the northeast corner of the laundry lot.

H. C. Brumley, owner of the building occupied by Nobles garage, will do his own paving having had plenty of experience in that line of work. He will also pave the street between his building and that of Holland brothers building. Speed brothers will pave next to the Holland building. Concrete instead of brick will be used on this side street and two twelve foot bridges will permit opening of this street to traffic.

The two bridges were decided on after taking into consideration the large volume of water which that street is forced to carry in flood time. With a thirty foot ditch paved to near the railway property line, it is thought that the Denver railway people will pave the ditch across that property owned by the railroad.

The ditch improvement means the stoppage to a serious damage to Wilson brothers laundry as the last flood began to undermine the building and would in a short time destroy the earthen bank next to the laundry building.

Mrs. P. L. Bourland and daughter, Miss Jene, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dillard of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jiggs Mosley have taken up their residence in Panhandle where "Jiggs" is employed in a drug store.

Parent-Teacher Program Friday Nite At Chamberlain

Large Crowd Appreciates Program Based on Life of Gen. Houston

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Chamberlain community sponsored a special program at the school building Friday night featuring the life of General Sam Houston.

Pupils gave readings descriptive of the life and pioneer conditions surrounding the career of Texas' most illustrious character. A play featuring the school days of that period was especially interesting.

Another play in two acts based on the battle of San Jacinto and the capture of Santa Anna, and the Battle of the Alamo was one of the main features of this program.

The program was continued Saturday morning when the school principal, Jimmie Millsap, members of the school board and other citizens gathered at the school to plant pecans taken from a tree which General Houston had planted in Delta county.

The nuts were received by A. L. Millsap from Mr. Ben Clark of Cooper, Delta county. Mr. Clark, venerable citizen of Delta county and philanthropist of state-wide reputation, distributes nuts each season from the famous Sam Houston pecan tree that they may be planted on school grounds perpetuating the memory of the hero of the battle of San Jacinto.

As these nuts were placed in the ground, a toast was offered for the health and happiness of the Delta county man that he might have health and prosper in his good deeds in behalf of the school children of Texas.

W. H. Youngblood returned Friday from a business trip to Waco, Waxahachie and other black land towns.

DAME FASHION.

A lot of fellows who kick about new fashions are more disgusted with the filler that they are fitted over, but are afraid to tell it.

COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Many college students are more interested in passing the car in front than they are in passing examinations.

BOLSHEVIKS.

A lot of fellows who are continually crying hard times, fussing with their neighbors and cussing the government can trace their troubles back to the beginning when they made a garage out of their smokehouses.

FORDTIS.

Our prediction is that Henry Ford will have commission men selling his cars and other products over the nation within a year. Yes, they will have to operate a filling station owned by Ford, but it will not be publicly known as such.

ROUGH TRAVELING.

A tractor demonstrator has been using the scenic highway (sometimes called a street) in front of our house the past week showing the farmers that it is possible to drive his tractor over mountains, across rivers and leap gulleys. Anybody want to trade a tractor for a good Dodge car?

CITY ELECTION.

Reports have it that neither of the present city commissioners care to serve on feeling that they have rendered their share of service to the city. In this connection it might not be a bad idea for our citizens to begin casting about for suitable men on whom they may wish these important jobs. The election will be held April 1st.

CANNED EDITORIALS.

Canned editorials like any other canned product, should be labeled. We were amused this past week to recognize one of our very own "brain children" parading in the regular column of a "cannist" who sells his stuff to a number of weeklies. Give us credit? Not that boy.

Stealing dope from the other fellow's sheet is equivalent to stealing a suit of clothing or anything else. If a man hasn't brains to write a column, or even make an attempt, he should at least be courteous enough to give proper credit. No reputable newspaper man objects to a reprint of his "thunder" if the user will give the original paper credit.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

According to information, three men are to be elected to the school board April 5th. If you are pleased with the results obtained by the present Board, tell them so and induce them to assume the responsibility for another term.

If you want a change, now is the time to say something about it in order that the names may be placed on a ballot. At any rate, our schools are our most important town asset and every citizen should vote. Vote for the men best fitted according to your judgment and after the election is over, whether you get your choice or not, get in and work for the common good of all. Be a good citizen and sport enough to be a game loser.

Those who grumble most usually never vote. Whether you ever do anything else, vote on every proposition that comes up and have your say as an American citizen.

SOME MILLENNIUM!

The Minute Men are marching. You can hear the tramp of steady feet marching to a goal never before attained. In cleaning up on chain stores, the home merchants are going to buy from each other instead of hiking off to Amarillo for it. Grocers will buy drygoods here and "viceversa".

Not only that, these home merchants are going to employ home labor and buy from farmers of the home county so far as possible. They are going to quit selling imitation butter to farmers and town folks.

Farmers are going to label their stuff and sell it to home folks. They are going to quit the mail order houses and buy at home, sell at home patronizing each other because they are the fellows who build roads, schools and churches. The home bunch! Why heck yes!

The gasoline chain will quit selling at the master's prices and handle a brand that he can sell at any old prices as he pleases. Prices will cease to be fixed in Wall street. The home man will buy everything for the auto in the open market and sell it as an independent merchant.

Here is the best part of it. The home folks (which includes the home merchant), will cease to buy printing out of town from the sweat shop gang and give the business to the home printer who boosts for him, his family, his business, his town, his country 365 days a year. The printers will agree to forget the day when he battled against the out of town print shop that took all the money out of town and gave nothing back. He is going to forgive the merchant who handed in a free space writeup for himself on letterheads printed in San Antonio. He is going to forgive and forget the day his grocer mailed him a statement printed in Dallas enclosed in an envelope printed in Wisconsin.

The trade at home idea is great if it reaches far enough. The more we think about it the less we know. But we DO know this: It should not stop with the retail grocer, he is but an offending minnow in a big ocean of economic troubles.

CRIME NEWS.

In the course of news gathering, newspapers are often confronted with the printing of news matter involving a crime. Not that the editor wants that kind of news, but simply because the subscribers are entitled to that kind of news and want it.

Judge Fires is reported recently to have taken to task the attitude of the Memphis Democrat for having printed stories of Hall county crime before the case came to trial. The venerable judge was of the opinion that such publication made the selection of a jury more difficult and therefore incurred unnecessary expense.

It would appear from a newspaper standpoint, that our judges clean house ridding the legal profession of unethical practitioners before attempting to foist upon the newspaper profession rules of conduct that are plainly impractical, unethical, absurd and contrary to a custom of the centuries.

We are privileged to disregard opinions of judges, but should we dare to criticize the action of a judge on the bench, we at once become amenable to prosecution for contempt, our laws permitting the offended judge to sit in the case as judge, jury and executioner.

Had newspapers the right to point out the wrongs of court procedure, or criticize the action of judges when such actions are questionable and against the best interests of the public, the public at large would have far greater respect for the courts and those connected with them. There would be fewer Hamilton and Brady cases and an entirely different disposition of such characters. There would be fewer "shirttail" lawyers hiving to the seat of trouble to volunteer their services to defend an arch-criminal for the sake of notoriety and to the detriment and shame of a profession from which we get most of our laws' guaranteeing (?) life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

If the mass mind cannot stand the effects of a fair presentation of crime news, there is no hope for civilization. A newspaper man must take the unalterable position that crime is a part of the natural result of human relations. Suppressed publicity has more often encouraged crime rather than assisted the courts in the successful prosecution of malefactors.

Newspaper editors make mistakes, but in making mistakes, they have a right to expect the readers to be as charitable with them as with any other individual. Nothing is so repulsive to the newspaper man as to see his mistakes glaring at him from the printed page after it is too late to make proper corrections.

A gentleman from Gibbon, Minn., sends us a lot of copy designed to further his ambition to become governor of Minnesota. He modestly asks that we print his stuff to the extent of two or three columns, comment favorably upon it in the editorial column, and send him a copy of the paper in which we have done so. He shows some signs of political experience in that he failed to enclose any money for the space he wishes to use, nor did he suggest that we send him a bill. As we have had occasion to say before, the way to get this sort of thing in The Messenger is to buy advertising space.—Isle, Minnesota Messenger.

F. E. McCracken, banker of Alanreed, was here on business Thursday.

MARGARINE IS POOR FOOD

This section of the country has been circled by a manufacturer of oleomargarine at Elgin, Ill., also makers of a product called nut margarine. It claims to be made from the white meat of coconuts,—the same sort of fly-blown rotten coconuts that are tramped into the holds of vessels at East Indian ports by barefooted, half naked natives. The stuff comes to America to have the oil extracted, and that is the oil that "ole" is made of, mixed with peanut oil and enough skimmed milk to hold it up.

In order to make the purchase of margarine more attractive to some people the manufacturers are offering premiums of various kinds of trash from baseball bats to table silver. A coupon is placed in each package of ole, and of course when you get enough coupons you are entitled to a premium.

The sale of margarine as a butter substitute is one of the biggest fakes of modern merchandising. There is a big profit in the manufacture of it, and there ought to be, for as compared to a pound of butter, a pound of margarine, or any other of these nut oil products, is in about the proportion of a sparrow to a turkey, in food value.

Nothing will take the place of good wholesome butter as food for children. In this section of the country where dairying is one of our most stable industries, there is little excuse for using margarine.

Legion Boys Play to Full House Tuesday Night

Local talent again scored with the minstrel show given by the members of Aubyn E. Clark Post of the American Legion Tuesday night in the College Auditorium.

The outstanding number of the entire program was the graceful dancing of Miss Mary Cooke. Her reputation as a "tap" dancer is well known over the Panhandle.

While the program was short, there was not a dull moment and a packed house voiced their approval of the efforts of those who contributed to the humorous program.

Officers of the Legion have received requests to stage the show at nearby towns, which will probably be done in the near future.

rine in place of butter. There is nothing to oleo but oil that makes heat in the body, but nothing else. It probably would do the same thing in your automobile if mixed with a little gas. Some folks say they can't tell the difference between butter and margarine. Maybe their eyes can't, but their stomachs can.—Chamberlain, S. D. Democrat.

Mrs. S. H. Manning and son George of Ralls were guests of the Estlack home the last of the week. Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Estlack are sisters.

GRINDING

Yes sir, we are grinding feed stuff every day making a sack feed out of bundle stuff and ear corn for the farmer folks who want to save on their feed bill during the present high prices.

You will be surprised how much farther you feed will go when the stock eat ALL of it, and besides you can feed it in a box and stop the waste of throwing it on the ground. The cost is a mere trifle and we grind it while you wait.

JAMES W. FANNIN

Mournful interest attaches to the name of Fannin. He was a native of Georgia, and received a military education at West Point. He came to Texas in the fall of 1834, with money furnished partly by friends, to purchase slaves and open a plantation. When the difficulty about the cannon occurred at Gonzales, he raised a company called the "Brazos Guards," and hastened to the West. He continued in the service, and it was Fannin's company that was sent forward from the Espada Mission to select a camping ground nearer San Antonio, and which fought the battle of Concepcion. In that fight Fannin won the admiration of the army, and the title of "The hero of Concepcion." At the reorganization of the army after Austin's resignation, the Executive Council at San Felipe selected Fannin and Rusk as recruiting officers, and agents to collect men and munitions of war. Rusk was sent east and Fannin west of the Trinity.

On the 21st of December, Houston ordered Fannin to establish his headquarters at Velasco. In the meantime, the Council had, without consulting the Commander-in-Chief, greatly enlarged his authority as agent, and had directed him to collect forces at, or near Copano for a descent upon Matamoros.

January 8th, 1836, Fannin, at Velasco, issued an address calling for volunteers. He announced that "an expedition to the West had been ordered by the General Council, and the volunteers from Bexar, Goliad, Velasco, and elsewhere, were ordered to rendezvous at San Patricio, between the 24 and 27th instant, and report to the officer in command. The fleet convoy will sail from Velasco under my charge on or about the eighteenth, and all who feel disposed to join it and aid in keeping the enemy out of Texas, and at same time cripple the enemy in their resources at home, are invited to enter the ranks forthwith." There was at this time an inextricable confusion both in the civil and military affairs of the country. The Governor and Executive Council were at loggerheads. The Governor had been deposed by the Council, but declined to surrender his office. Both Governor Smith and Lieutenant Governor Robinson assumed to exercise Executive functions, and both issued orders to army officers frequently contradictory. General Houston recognized the authority of Smith, and Fannin acted under orders from Robinson and the Council.

Governor Smith had, on the 17th of December, ordered Houston to make a demonstration upon Matamoros, and on the same day Houston ordered Bowie, then at Goliad, to organize a force for this purpose. To add to the confusion, the Executive Council also ordered Colonels F. W. Johnson and James Grant to lead an expedition against the same place. Here then, were three independent commands organizing for the same purpose. Houston arrived at Goliad about the middle of January and proceeded on to Refugio, where he learned, for the first time, of the expeditions of Fannin and Johnson and Grant. He considered that his authority as Commander-in-Chief had been superseded, and he allowed the citizens of Refugio to elect him to the Convention, and immediately returned to the Brazos. Fannin arrived at Goliad about the first of February, and soon afterwards an organization of the volunteers took place. Most of the men were from Georgia, and Fannin was elected Colonel, and Ward Lieutenant-Colonel. Notwithstanding this election and his appointment by the Council, Fannin still doubted his authority to command. In a letter to Governor Robinson, dated February 14th, he says: "I hope soon to receive some intelligence from General Houston, and to see him at the head of the army. I am delicately situated, having received no orders from him, or your Excellency. I am well aware that during the General's furlough the command naturally, and of right, devolves on me, but the fact has not been communicated to me officially, either by the General or the Governor. The steps I have taken are those of prudence and for defense, and would be allowed as Colonel of the volunteers. May I ask for orders, and a regular communication from you, that I may be fully apprised of what is doing for us? I will obey orders, if I am sacrificed in the discharge of them; but if you are unable to afford us reasonable aid, and that in time, it would be best to destroy everything and fall back." On the 16th he wrote again, as follows: "If General Houston does not return to duty on the expiration of his furlough, and it meets your approbation, I shall make headquarters at Bexar, and take with me such of the forces as can be spared." He wrote to Governor Robinson again on the 22nd: "I am critically situated. General Houston is absent on furlough, and neither myself nor army have received any orders as to who should assume command. It is my right, and in many respects I have done so, when I was convinced the public good required it." These extracts prove conclusively and in view of subsequent events, they have a peculiar interest. He has even since his death been accused of acting contrary to the orders of the Commander-in-Chief; and we have thought it necessary to give these facts in vindication of his character. His position was extremely embarrassing. His authority was not recognized by all the officers at Goliad. Captain Dimitt wrote to the Council, suggesting the appointment of General Zavalla to the command. When this appointment was not made, Dimitt and his company retreated to Victoria, in obedience, as he said, to orders from Houston.

Undoubtedly, Fannin's intention was to retreat before the advancing Mexicans, as he had intimated to Governor Robinson; and when he was advised of the advance of Urrea, he ordered San Patricio evacuated. This order was not obeyed, and Yoakum says it was because Colonels Johnson and Grant, who were there, had independent commands, and did not recognize Fannin's authority over them. Besides this question of authority, Fannin had a serious distrust of his own ability; a distrust very remarkable, not to say unparalleled in military men. In one of his letters to Robinson he says: "I am not practically an experienced commander and may, and in all human probability, have erred. I do not desire any command, and particularly that of chief, I feel, I know, if you and the Council do not, that I am incompetent. Fortune and brave soldiers may favor me, and save the State, and establish for me a reputation far beyond my deserts." Again: "I am a better judge of my military abilities than others, and if I am qualified to command an army, I have not found it out. I well know I am a better company officer than most now in Texas, and might do, with regulars, for a regiment, but this does not constitute me a commander."

When, on that fatal Palm Sunday after the battle of Colita, he was marched out with his comrades to slaughter, Fannin was told that if he would kneel his life might be spared. He replied that he had no desire to live after his men had been killed. A soldier attempted to tie a handkerchief over his eyes. He seized the handkerchief and tied it himself. To the officer in command he handed his watch with a request that it might be sent to his family; and he made one further request: that he might be shot in the breast and not in the head; and further, wished to be decently buried. Having made these requests, he deliberately took his position in a chair, and bared his bosom; the signal was given, and the gallant Texan leader was a lifeless corpse! With a perfidy which language in hardly adequate to portray, the officer kept Fannin's watch; had him shot in the head, and left his body unburied!

As a commander, Fannin distrusted himself and made serious mistakes—mistakes for which he paid with his life; still the views he expressed in his correspondence were eminently correct and praiseworthy. To the Georgia volunteers he wrote, advising them to have nothing to do with the political squabbles of Texas until after the war, when they would become peaceful and permanent citizens. He wrote to the Council deploring the fact that there were so few Texans in the army, but requested that those sent might be infantry, and organized before they reached headquarters, as elections in camp were very demoralizing. To Colonel Nail, at Bexar, he wrote suggesting the propriety of withdrawing the cannon from that exposed position. He also suggested to the Council the propriety of evacuating both Goliad and Bexar, and establishing a line of defense on the east side of the Guadalupe river. He further gave it as his opinion that if Santa Anna entered the country with five thousand men, he would penetrate to the interior of the country, and probably cross the Brazos before his progress could be arrested.

The tender solicitude which Fannin expressed for the welfare of his family, shows him to have been a man of strong domestic attachments. He was modest, brave, generous and patriotic. Among the Texas martyrs to liberty, the name of Fannin will occupy a conspicuous place. Texans of future ages will hold it in profound veneration; and his memory will be cherished by all, in every clime, who appreciate soldierly daring and normal worth.

The bodies of the victims of the horrible massacre were left unburied, though partially burned up in a brush fence. Late in the summer, when the Texan army under Rusk occupied Goliad, their bones were collected and buried with proper funeral rites.

Dr. Shackelford, Captain of the Red Rovers, from Alabama, in reviewing the events of this disastrous campaign, says Fannin erred in sending off King and Ward, and thus giving the enemy a chance to cut him up in detail. Fannin erred again in not retreating more rapidly and placing the Guadalupe River between himself and the enemy. The Doctor further states that Fannin, as well as many others in command, had too great a contempt for the prowess of the Mexicans. They did not believe Urrea would venture to follow them. In answer to the question, "Why did they not retreat the night after the battle?" the Doctor said: "Their teams were either killed or scattered, and they could not transport their wounded, and would not leave them; and they still hoped Horton would return from Victoria with reinforcements. They surrendered in good faith. Neither Fannin nor any one of his men would have surrendered except upon the pledge of being treated as prisoners of war in honorable warfare. The Mexicans were alone responsible for the subsequent violation of the terms of surrender and the loody massacre."

As the Texas people of all coming time will feel a profound interest in the bloody holocaust at Goliad, we subjoin Dr. Shackelford's account of the horrible massacre:

"The dawn of day, Palm Sunday, March 27th, we were awakened by a Mexican officer calling us up, and saying he wanted the men to form in line that they might be counted. On hearing this, my impression was that, in all probability, some poor fellows had made their escape during the night. After leaving the church, I was met by Colonel Guerrero, said to be an Adjutant-General of the Mexican army, who requested that I should go to his headquarters, in company with Major Miller and his men (Miller had been taken at Copano, but without arms, hence not put to death), and that I would take my friend and companion, Dr. Joseph H. Banard with me. We accordingly went to his tent, about one hundred yards in a southwest direction. On passing the fort I saw Ward's men in line with knapsacks on. Inquired of them where they were going; some of them said they were to march to Copano, and from thence to be sent home. (The evening before they had been playing the tune, "Home," on their flutes.) After reaching Colonel Guerrero's tent, to attend to some wounded, as we supposed, we sat down and engaged in familiar conversation. In about a half hour we heard the report of a volley of small arms, towards the river and to the east of the fort. I immediately inquired the cause of the firing, and was assured by the officer that he did not know, but expected it was the guard firing off their guns. In fifteen or twenty minutes thereafter, another such volley was fired directly south of us and in front. At the same time I could distinguish the heads of some of the men through the boughs of some peach trees, and could hear their screams. It was then, for the first time, that the awful conviction seized upon our minds, that treachery and murder had begun its work. Shortly afterwards Colonel Guerrero appeared at the mouth of the tent. I asked him if it could be possible they were murdering our men? He replied that it was so but he had not given the order; neither had he executed it. He further said he had done all in his power to save as many as he could; and that if he could have saved more he would have done so. The men were taken out in four divisions, and under different pretenses—such as making room in the fort for the reception of Santa Anna, going out to slaughter beef, and being marched to Copano to be sent home. In about an hour, the closing scene of this base and treacherous tragedy was acted in the fort; and the cold-blooded murder of all the wounded who were unable to be marched out, was its infernal catastrophe. Fannin was the last victim. About eleven o'clock we were marched into the fort and ordered to hospital. We had to pass by our butchered companions, who were stripped of their clothes, and their mangled bodies thrown in a pile. The wounded were all hauled out in carts that evening, and some brush thrown over the different piles, with a view of burning their bodies. A few days afterwards I accompanied Major Miller to the spot where lay those who were dear to me while living; and whose memory will be embalmed in my affection until this poor heart itself shall be cold in death—and oh! what a spectacle! The flesh had been burned from off the bodies; but many hands and feet were yet unscathed. I could recognize no one. The bones were all still knit together, and the vultures were feeding upon those limbs which, one week before, were actively played in battle."

December 10th, 1835, the Council appointed the following as assistants of Colonel Fannin in collecting supplies for the volunteer army: For Cole's settlement, H. Chriesman; Washington, John Lott; New Year's Creek, Philip Coe; Mill Creek, Samuel Pettus; San Felipe, Mosley Baker; Colorado, J. S. Lester and Jesse Burnham; Navidad, William Thompson and Elijah Stapp; Menifee (Egypt), Thomas Rabb; Fort Settlement (Richmond), Randall Jones; East of Brazos, E. Waller; Lake Creek, James J. Foster; Harrisburg, E. Mathieu; Columbia, W. D. C. Hall; Brazoria, J. L. D. Byrom; Bay Prairie, Daniel Rawls and R. H. Williams; Gonzales, William A. GREATEST DEER SEASON 435 BEARS KILLED IN STATE THOUSANDS OF WILD TURKEYS

The deer season of 1929 has been acclaimed the greatest in the history of the Commonwealth and total figures reveal that 22,714 legal male deer were taken. Of this number 3,194 were two-point bucks, 5,721 were three-point, and 13,799 were four-points or over. A great many deer had antlers ranging from six to 12 and 14 points, and some even more. The largeness of the animals, their generally healthy condition, and their extremely large racks was one of the outstanding features of the season, although in sections where does were not killed last year the bucks were not up to par. The illegal deer taken totalled 1,098. Last year during the season on antlerless deer, 25,097 were taken. The kill of legal bears totalled 445 and was larger than that of last year when 427 were taken and, of 1927, when only 221 were killed. Twenty-six illegal bears were taken. Last year only six were killed. A slight decrease was noted in the kill of raccoons over last year, but the figures greatly exceed the kill of 1927. This year 37,690 were taken; in 1928, 41,008, and in 1927, 22,070.

The kill of wild turkeys totalled 3,334 as against 2,362 during 1928. Ringneck pheasants increased more than 63,000 over 1928. This year 206,600 male birds were killed as against 143,239 during 1928.

Quail dropped slightly despite the fact that excellent reports of these birds were noted both prior and during the small game season. 185,268 quail were killed as against 125,110 during 1928.—Dispatch, Mercer, Pa.

WHY PRINT A NEWSPAPER?
The merchant who says that everyone knows his place of business and that he doesn't have to advertise, can be found in Hamburg, and in every other community in the county. This merchant also says that customers come to him when in need of goods, so why should he waste his money advertising. An answer to that question has been made by a newspaper whose advertising man no doubt stumbled into places of business where the owner possessed that frame of mind. This newspaper answered the question, "Why Should I Advertise?" as follows: "Of course the newspaper man might say in rebuttal, 'Everyone in this community knows all that happens here, so what's the use of reporting the news; what's the use of printing a newspaper?' If the community can get along without a newspaper, it can get along without a number of other things which are of value. The adults are educated and can teach the children, thus doing away with the need of schools. The parents, being religious, can train the younger ones in the creeds, thus doing away with ministers and the churches. People can loan their money to one another and thereby eliminate the banks. They can swap their old clothes or learn how to make homespun, thereby greatly reducing expense and actually putting the clothing merchants out of business. All trade is based upon a desire for goods. Necessity is, mostly, an augmented desire. Advertising has the function of reminding the people of their requirements, but its greatest function—a prime factor in all progress and prosperity—is the creating of new desires; thereby stimulating trade and production and making for the greatest possible degree of employment."—Hamburg, Iowa, Reporter.

Temple of Truth By the Apostle

The Honorable Mayor calls our attention to the fact that we should all get busy from April 7th to the 12th and collect the rubbish that we have been dumping for the past year over on our neighbor.

Well the Apostle knew that he would start something last week by mentioning the moon business, but the moon does an important part in the welfare of both plant and animal life on this little planet.

The moon governs the tides on the sea and the largest vessels are timed to reach the west coast of France and Spain in the dark of the moon because the sea is extra rough in that section during the light of the moon.

Despite the cold mornings, spring is on her way. In fact we feel a "pome" coming on.

An Irishman, lately landed, was hunting for two of his brothers whom he had not heard from since leaving the old country.

The "pome" pains just keep a growing and a growin'.

The hot dog merchants of the East are said to have started a magazine, filled it full of doggerel and elected Frank Furter as editor as a starter.

The March winds blow The skirts so high, But it always puts sand In the bad man's eye.

As a "pome" it's a fluke, but it's out of our system anyway.

An inquisitive letter written in a feminine style without any name signed arrived this week. It bore one simple request: "How old a 'moonologist' are you?"

If there is anything about which one should be explicit, it is in giving their age. And that's that.

Harry C. Brumley says that a man's ability is like driving a tack. It will only go so far, and it hit again, the head flies off.

Here's how they carry on back in Carolina. It is being printed here for the benefit of Jim Morris who hails from that section and likely knows the parties involved in the transaction.

He is about 5 feet tall and 8 inches and ancers to the name of lem and has a big skar on his hed where i hit him the night befor he left the next morning oner count of him calling me a little sawed off box anked 2 by 4 polly tishon which had no intrest in nothing except my pay check at the end-of-the month and when he come too, he went on to bed.

he also limps on 1 leg which got hurt when he tried to drive a ford under in fluence of whiskey and over took a cow which was thrown into a ditch and strained her milk and he had to pay $5 for running into her with whiskey in him and they both rolled down the side of a hill and the radium rod got his foot betrix it and the rare axle and the universal jint and when the motor diddnt stop running, his leg popped.

have hm a rested and took to law and notify me for the warrant, there ain't no man bigger nuff to live off of me for might nigh 45 days and nights and then hop up and run off in my dett after a fair and square trade to work part of the jones place which has laid out every since mr. jones did not come back from the mountains where he went with a hikin party and aleck winton's wife went along with them and she looks like she has left aleck a widder also.

i will pay 2$ reward for the return of lem smith ded or a live with my 11$ and force him to finish out his contract which was sined by him and me and the presents of 2 witnesses as required by law, so if yore readers happen to hear of him anny wheres, they can notify you thru the columns of yore paper and i will see the same and save you coming way down here to tell me about it.

CLUB NOTES

Martin club girls met with an attendance of 7 March 3rd. Their demonstration taught the members stitches to use in making the dresser scarf which is one of the required articles to be made by club girls this year. They were also given a Home Orchards demonstration at this meeting.

20 Hedley club girls met at the school Monday afternoon and had the same demonstration as the Martin girls had.

Lelia Lake club girls met Tuesday morning at school and besides having the Orchard demonstration they worked on various articles of club sewing. The 25 present at this meeting are very enthusiastic workers.

Martin, Hedley, Lelia Lake, Windy Valley, Giles and Goldston girls have set out orchards according to the Home Demonstration Agent's instructions this week. Miss Thompson took the fruit trees and vines which the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce furnished the club girls of Donley county to clubs with her, and after her demonstration showing the girls how to set the plants out, girls were asked to sign a card on which was written the following pledge, in order to obtain the plants and become a special orchard demonstrator:

Pledge:—I agree to conduct an Orchard demonstration and follow the methods recommended by the Extension Dept. of A. & M. College as nearly as possible and make such reports and exhibits as are required by my County Home Demonstration Agent. I will also deliver to the County hospital $2.50 worth of fruit within 2 yrs. of the date of this agreement and report it to the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce Secretary. Those signing the pledge and receiving the plants were: Roberta Adkins, Lois LaFon, Tina Pittman, Virginia Harris, Beatrice Bland, Margaret McElyea, Mayme Bowling, Cecil Garner, Pearl Morrison, Margaret Laurence, Helen Hoggard, Verna Hagler, Thelma Adamson, June Taylor, Cleo Usry, Velma Shaw. The Bray and McKnight club girls will get their home orchards demonstration next Tuesday, March 11th.

The Lelia Lake Women's H. D. Club met with Mrs. A. E. Myers Tuesday evening and Miss Thompson gave the demonstration on food which a convalescent on a sick person may have. "Feeding the Family" by M. S. Rose was quoted as authority and typical liquid diets were presented to be followed up by a diet of "semi solids" which are foods such as a one year old child may eat without harm. That this is an intermediate step essential before going back to diet for a well person is realized by the 18 women who attend the demonstration. Diets for the Diabetic, the T. B. patient and for those having Acute Indigestion were studied. Then a tray attractive enough to tempt a sick person to eat was prepared using only foods correct for the sick.

Wednesday the Windy Valley Girls club met at the school house. Eight girls brought sewing boxes and materials to work with. Six had finished club caps except buttonholes and these were given demonstrations on making buttonholes. Two girls cut out gowns. The orchard demonstration was also given at this meeting.

Thursday the Goldston girls' club had a demonstration on Home Orchards. A demonstration on decorative stitches for dresser scarfs was also given. Nine girls did the work of the meeting.

Thursday the Chamberlain Home Demonstration Club women met with Miss Mayme Dingler for an all day meeting and helped her in living room contest work. In the afternoon Miss Thompson came and gave the regular demonstration on "Food for the sick and Convalescent." There were 12 present for the demonstration.

Friday morning the C. H. D. A. gave a beef canning demonstration at Mrs. Frank Hermesmeier's of Jericho.

Friday afternoon the Clarendon Women's H. D. club met at the home of Mrs. S. B. Arnold. 20 women were present when Miss Thompson gave the demonstration on "Diet for the Convalescent."

The Girl's Council met Saturday in the C. H. D. A. office, 12 girls attending. The girls set next Saturday as team demonstration try-out day for the count. Girls come! Bring lunches, meeting will be held in county club room.

Mrs. E. M. Staggs of Yuma Valley, Arizona is visiting her daughter, Mrs. I. O. Nobles and family.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn of Clarendon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Higgins.

We very much regret to hear that Mr. W. K. Davis has heard out. He is one of our near by neighbors and one of Donley county prominent farmers. We hope that we do not lose this fine family from our community.

Mr. and Mrs. John Blevins of Wellington visited the lady's parents Sunday evening.

Mrs. Roy Wilson visited with Mrs. Hugh Riley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goldston and Roy Wilson went to Childress Sunday to attend the funeral of Mr. Jess Kennedy who lived in our community a few years ago. He has lived at Childress since leaving here. He was a prominent cotton farmer of Childress county, while his health had not been good for the last few years, still the news of his death was surprise to his friends here. He died Friday evening of heart trouble at Mineral Wells.

Betty John and Lucille Goldston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Goldston of Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. Longan and children, Miss Dollie Corder and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gathers were dinner guests in the Shelton home Sunday.

D. C. Shelton who stays with his brother Lloyd at Ashtola and goes to school spent Friday and Saturday with homefolks, while Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shelton are attending the Stock Show at Ft. Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Robinson returned with D. C. to Ashtola Sunday to stay until Mr. and Mrs. Shelton returns.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goldston spent Wednesday in Clarendon with Mrs. Goldston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Mrs. Gertrude Wood and daughter, Francis Duella, Mrs. Fannie Rector and son Wilson Herbert of McLean and Mrs. Fannie Degraffenried of Chicago were visiting there also.

Mrs. Bill Gathers of Memphis spent the first of the week with her mother, Mrs. Longan, returning home Wednesday night.

Helen Goldston visited with Ruth Dunn in Clarendon Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Shelton took in the Cattleman's Convention at Amarillo last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Stock Lamberson went with Mr. and Mrs. Marshall to visit relatives at Wellington Sunday.

Mrs. Sam Robinson visited her aunt, Mrs. Brumley Friday and

Wichita Woman Gained 15 Lbs. By Taking Orgatone (Argotane)

HEALTH WAS COMPLETELY SHATTERED WHEN SHE BEGAN TAKING TREATMENT—WELL AND STRONG NOW

"Just give me Orgatone (Argotane) and you may have all the other medicines," said Mrs. L. W. Abbe, residing at 121 Dallas St. Wichita Falls, Texas.

"Those who have not seen me since I began taking Orgatone (Argotane)," continued Mrs. Abbe "would hardly know me on first sight. I have undergone such a change. Why, do you know, I actually gained 15 pounds. It hardly sounds reasonable, but it's true. I suffered from nervousness and frequent dizzy spells for a good many years, and my sleep was so broken and I was so tired that I hardly felt like setting up in the morning. Everything I would eat tasted bad and my stomach was so upset I could not eat more than one meal a day, and that was a very light one. The pains in my stomach were almost unbearable, and I was in dreadful plight. I lost weight until I got down to about 110 pounds—I was hardly more than a frame—and was sometimes confined to my bed for hours at a time.

"Finally I commenced to read about Orgatone (Argotane) and got myself a bottle, and my improvement commenced with the first bottle. I gained in weight and strength until now, my troubles are not only gone, but I feel just as strong and well as I ever did. I eat just anything and enjoy it and nothing hurts me a particle. My nerves are strong and steady, and I sleep so well that I am glad for night to come, and getting up times too early for me in the morning. Orgatone (Argotane) has certainly brought health and happiness to me and I can't say too much in its praise."

Genuine Orgatone (Argotane) may be bought in Clarendon at the Stocking's Drug Store.

"OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT"

"Building up the Church of Jesus Christ or advancing His Cause here on earth is the greatest business in the World. Christ gave His life to establish it and has invited "Whosoever will" to help Him carry to the ends of the earth the "Gospel story." Through Jesus Christ is offered, salvation, soul freedom, immortality, a heavenly home, perpetual peace, and eternal happiness. The Church is the only organization in the world that has for its definite purpose the over-throw of sin, and as a Christian you are a co-laborer in this great task. Your influence is being used for or against Christ and His Church, now where do you stand: The church stands for the best things, so line up with the Church.

Next Lord's Day morning our subject will be, "Border-Land Christians." In this message we will try to show the dangers of trying to remain neutral, in the great war-fare against sin. In the evening message, "The Modern Church", the characteristics of the New Testament Church will be presented and proofs submitted to show that they meet the demands of the "Twentieth Century People. You are invited to attend both services.

MARY'S COLD

Mary had a little cold. It started in her head, and everywhere that Mary went that cold was sure to spread. She took it into school one day, there wasn't any rule. It made the children cough and sneeze. To have that cold in school. The teacher tried to drive it out. She tried hard but—kerchoo—It didn't do a bit of good, 'Cause teacher caught it too.

THE DEVIL'S DEAD!!

That is a sensational statement to be sure, but not any more so than those made by grocers of today who dote so much on catchy words of specials set in box car type.

We make up a list of specials for Saturday because some folks want them. In the main, it's the every day staple grocery prices that count with a fair price and honest weight and a package of honest size.

When we have to be classed as "daylight burglars", we'll quit business because we want our customers to continue as our friends and we can't expect them to be if we rob them every time we get a chance.

BAPTIST SENIORS ENJOY SOCIAL

The members of the Senior Department of the Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a social occasion in the parlors of the First Baptist Church Thursday night. The rooms were festively decorated in green and white, with Shamrock leaves much in evidence.

On arriving, the guests were assigned to an Irish family and given the material with which to make an appropriate insignia to be worn during the party. Through the remainder of the evening, good natured but keen rivalry was manifested by the Mulligans, McCartyes, Murphys, and Maloneys, as they pitted their wits and skill in the various games.

A delicious plate lunch, featuring the color scheme of green and white, was served the sixty-six guests.

The following special numbers added to the enjoyment of the occasion:

Vocal Duet—Miss Anna Moores and Mrs. G. H. McCleskey.

"I never knew real Air-Cushioned riding comfort until I rode on these new-type Federal Tires"

Home McElvany

Free Tubes tomorrow

With every new-type Federal Tire purchased tomorrow—we will give a first-class, perfect inner tube free of charge. Make this saving by seeing us.

THERE'S A LOT OF EXCITEMENT in the air right now about these new-type Federal Tires.

And no wonder! I'm all excited myself. Why? Because I've got an all-round, practical tire for the first time.

This new Federal's 12% larger cushion of air gives you buoyant riding comfort that beats anything I have ever experienced.

But the exciting thing is that this new-type Federal De Luxe also gives you mileage—50,000 miles and more—excess mileage that gives you a new factor of safety as long as you drive on it.

You ride on more air—with more comfort—for more miles than ever before.

And remember this: We back up.

our claims for this startling new tire development with the most amazing "Money-Back" Guaranty ever made. It says:

"If after 30 days' use you are not fully convinced that these new-type Federal Tires give you more luxurious air-cushioned riding comfort, snappier acceleration, easier steering, firmer braking and the assurance of increased mileage, return them. We will replace your old tires free of charge and refund the entire purchase price."

A manufacturer who will make that guaranty has something.

Rotary Club Holds Weekly Luncheon at Antro

The Rotary club had as their guest at the Friday noon luncheon E. C. Throop, a Memphis Rotarian and telephone classification man for this district. Mr. Throop complimented the personnel of the local club and offered timely suggestions that are well worth while to heed.

His remarks on civic improvement as practiced by the organization in other places, gave local members a better insight into what might be accomplished locally in the future.

President E. L. Jenkins, though sorely handicapped by hoarseness, presided in his usual gracious manner and enlivened those much more fortunate from a physical standpoint.

The attendance registered one hundred percent except for those out of town. Rotarian Robert S. Cope, absent at the last luncheon meet, attended a meeting of the Rotary club at Memphis to make up his attendance record.

The lunch served by Ed Carlson, chef in chief of the Antro, came as a pleasant surprise and was highly appreciated.

L. Ballew Celebrates His Seventy-Second Birthday

Mr. L. Ballew, highly respected resident of Donley county for many years, was the recipient of many honors at the hands of his five sons at the home of a son, Earl Ballew, at Amarillo Sunday.

In addition to a number of nice presents, a turkey dinner was prepared with a large cake centerpiece bearing seventy-two candles.

After celebrating the feast, our venerable friend took in the big wrestling match in the evening vouching the fact that he had in nowise lost interest in the stirring events of life.

Those attending this surprise birthday celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. L. Ballew, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ballew, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ballew and children Billie Len and Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ballew and children Alene and Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Elba Ballew and son Jack of Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gilliam of Hereford and Donald Ballew of Clarendon.

The Leader family joins with the many friends of the honored personage in wishing him many, many more such happy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Risley are visiting relatives at Caddo Mills, Texas.

C. R. Mitchell Dies Early This Morning

Death came to the relief of C. R. Mitchell about 6:30 this morning following several days of intense suffering.

The deceased was the owner of the Mitchell Barber and Beauty Shop operated by Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell in the new Latson building to which they had moved a short time back.

Due to the popularity of this couple, their business had continued to increase until it had become well known over a wide section of the Panhandle, patrons coming from as far away as Claude, Alanreed and McLean and other towns outside the trade territory.

Of the immediate family, Mrs. Mitchell and a son, Marvin aged about 11, are left to mourn his passing. Funeral arrangements had not been made at the time of going to press.

Mrs. H. W. Kelly Dies at Memphis Monday

News reached here early Monday morning that Mrs. H. W. Kelly had suddenly passed away at her home in Memphis about 3:30 a. m. No further particulars can be learned up to the time of going to press.

The funeral was held at ten o'clock this morning at the local Baptist church with Rev. B. N. Shepherd in charge of the services. Interment in Citizens cemetery.

Mr. Kelly formerly operated a planing mill here for a number of years and the many friends here regret very much to learn of his misfortune. Mrs. Kelly is a grandmother of Miss Mildred Sparks of this city.
