Senator Witt Helped West Texas School In Need

Many School of West Texas Are Monument of Efforts of Edgar Witt of Waco

The lad who worked his way through school at Austin way back in 1900 by working in boarding houses and such other jobs as he might get to do in a town overrun with students in a similar financial condition, later studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1906. That boy today is Senator Edgar E. Witt of Waco.

He located in the thriving city of Waco and began the practice of law in a town that has been home to him for the past twenty-four years. He became city attorney and later, when his predecessor died, was elected to the state senate in 1918.

At this time Edgar Witt was serving his country in the World War and was elected while away from home. His name had been placed on the ticket by friends and the election was held before he reached home.

During the past twelve years of public life he has borne a reputation for honesty. More than that. As chairman of the Educational Committee of the Senate, he had much to do with the school law enactment.

It is in this connection that his history in West Texas becomes more interesting. When the drive for a county-wide college was at its height in Donley county Moody told our representatives that "they did not know what was best for the county" and turned our people down.

The next and only recourse left was to appeal to Senator Edgar Witt because of his position on the educational committee at that time. When our school representative began a search for him, it was necessary to phone to Waco. Upon learning the nature of our dilemma, Senator Witt made the trip to Austin and assisted in the passage of a law enabling the establishment of a Junior College at Clarendon.

Without the help of Senator Witt, our boys and girls would be deprived of the advantages of a two year college course at home. The money and effort spent by our home people would have been in vain.

Never did he turn a deaf ear to the cries of help from sparsely settled West Texas in her time of need. No man was more considerate of the rights of the youth of school age from elementary to college grades.

In his home county, in the July primary, Senator Witt received 10,305 votes while all of his opponents received a total of 3,128 in the same county. It is expected that West Texas will give him a much larger support next Saturday than even the excellent showing in the July primary.

Senator Witt is making the race for the office of Lieutenant governor at this time. His opponent in the runoff is Sterling P. Strong of Dallas.

Mrs. Warner in Sterling Speech Saturday

A crowd estimated at one hundred and seventy-five ladies heard Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner speak in the interests of Ross S. Sterling at the Methodist church Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. E. P. Shelton presided and Mrs. Rich Bowlin introduced the speakers.

Mrs. Warner, whose home is at Claude and who, in company with Miss Laura V. Hammer, is making a tour of the Panhandle in the Sterling interests, is nationally known as a club leader.

She is a gifted speaker and presents convincing arguments favoring any subject she may choose to champion. Her talk here was a direct appeal to church women and was in the main well received.

At the close of her address, a Sterling-for-Governor club was organized with a membership estimated at twenty-five or more.

Wellington Celebrate News of Another Rail Line

Citizens of Wellington staged a general celebration in that bustling little city Saturday when news reached there of the permission granted the Fort Worth & Denver to build their line from Childress to Pampa via Wellington.

The Wellington Leader issued an extra edition scooping the dailies in their home territory and spread the good news to hundreds and thousands of citizens.

Childress also put on a show since the permit granted the Rock Island left them 'high and dry' on the rail situation. There will be an era of building take place in each of the towns as a result of this action of the Interstate Commerce Commission to recognize the rights and needs of a section of the Panhandle.

Rural Schools Should Report Matter To County Board

Number of Pupils in Grades Must Be Reported to Get Sufficient Teachers

A number of important matters will come before the County Board of Education in a meeting to be held in the County Judge's office at Clarendon Friday, August 22nd.

This meeting will be held primarily for the purpose of giving proper classification to the rural schools and it is very necessary for the trustees of the rural schools to meet with the Board on that date that they make a report of the number of pupils in the grades above the 7th in order to be sure of teachers for those grades the coming term.

Schools not having sufficient pupils in the grades above the 7th grade, will not be permitted to give the work in those grades as a matter of economy in the handling of school funds.

Such schools not having sufficient pupils will be classed as elementary schools and it is therefore very necessary that all of the rural schools of the county be represented with a report showing the exact number of pupils of each school grade above the 7th.

All other matters pertaining to schools will be discussed at this meeting in preparation for the opening of the schools this fall.

Yard And Garden Contest Closes Here September 8th

Record Breaking Number of Entries Makes Contest More Interesting

The annual Yard Contest conducted in this city each year by the Chamber of Commerce will close on September 8th, instead of August 25th, as first announced. The closing was put off two weeks by the committee handling the event this year after discussion this week and due to the dry condition of the grounds at this time.

Clarendon homes have always shown up as one of the beauty spots of the Panhandle as result of this contest each season, and the committee is hopeful that good rains will fall in this section soon, so as to enable a better showing and one in keeping with former years. The largest number of yards ever to participate in the contest enrolled this year and the committee hopes to hold the contest up to its usual high standard.

Prizes have been selected in each division of the contest. In the old yard class or those yards that have competed in other years, first prize is a Roseville Pottery flower pot, second a porch chair, and third a piece of Indian pottery. In the other class, the first prize is a porch settee; second, porch chair and third, an Indian Pottery flower pot. These prizes will be on display in H. C. Kerbows window some weeks prior to the close of the contest.

Sam. E. Allison Entertains Members Rotary Luncheon

Pastor Methodist Church is Guest Speaking on Many Different Subjects

Paying his respects to almost all professions represented, Rev. Sam E. Allison, pastor of the Methodist church entertained the members of the Rotary club Friday noon at the Clarendon hotel.

Following a lengthy discourse on jokes putting his crowd in a good humor, the minister spoke of the more important duties of members of civic clubs and their relations to the community.

Judge A. T. Cole also addressed the membership in a humorous vein, his profession having been trampled upon by the pastor preceding him in an oratorical flight a few moments previously. His speech hinged on the border line between the sublime and the ridiculous kept the members guessing as to where he would strike.

The talks of the two men consumed the period allotted to that portion of a regular program and gave the membership a diversion that was greatly appreciated.

Again the matter of furnishing a program for the Amarillo Rotary club Thursday of this week came up for discussion and further plans made that there be no hitch in arrangements that might disappoint those who had issued the invitation.

President Jenkins addressed the Club on various matters of importance that affected the Club cutting his remarks short that his guest, Mr. Allison, might have more time to present the matter uppermost in his mind.

Club Room Committee Will Raise Piano Funds

The Club room needs a piano badly. Various plans have been worked out to secure the funds for the purchase of the much needed addition to the completion of the room. The Club Room Committee will serve ice cream and cake Saturday evening in an effort to help along with the treasury.

Arrangements have been made to serve outdoors in front of the McClelland office building in the rear of the First National bank. This will be an excellent opportunity for our folks to help a worthy cause, meet neighbors and enjoy a social hour of refreshments.

Drouth Relief Of Several Million Extended Texas

State Must Match Federal Appropriation With Like Amount Says Hyde

Although Governor Moody refused to meet with the other governors of the drouth stricken area in a conference at Washington Saturday when appropriations were being made to relieve the drouth stricken farmers of Texas, the state of Texas will receive $7,620,230 to be applied on highways.

The state will be required to match that amount dollar for dollar, a requirement placed upon every state, as announced by Secretary Hyde of the Department of Agriculture.

Governors attending this meeting also insisted that all federal highway work contemplated in the near future be immediately started to furnish employment as soon as possible.

Fifty thousand questionnaires are to be mailed out to county agents and crop reporters at once to secure necessary information on drouth conditions that prompt action may be taken before the advent of cold weather.

The doors will be open at eight o'clock Friday morning and the special sale on dresses, hats, etc. especially priced for the opening days of Friday and Saturday will begin.

Missionary Baptist Church Revival at Lelia

Large congregations have been attending the revival and much interest is being manifest. Rev. Dew announces as his subjects to be discussed during the remainder of the revival. Two services are being held daily. The morning service is held at 11 o'clock and the evening service at 8 o'clock. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend any and all services.

Miss Ruth Donnell visited a few days in Amarillo last week.

Panhandle Exhibit Makes Hit in Missouri

Farmers of Missouri cannot quite understand how the Panhandle country can produce the wonderful lot of grains and general crop exhibits now being shown in that state. It is common knowledge that our section has an average of only 24 inches of rainfall.

Missouri is in the throes of a drouth. Her crops are parched and in some instances ruined. Our exhibit is building goodwill among them despite the geographies labeling our good name now used in their schools.

The folks are being "shown" what can be done in the Panhandle and several have already been down to see the country as it is. We have more to show them than any other section. Missouri for the most part has progressive farmers and we need them.

Pastime Will Show Special Picture For Children

District Meeting of Junior Children Will Convene Here August 28th

A district meeting of children under the age of sixteen will be held here on August 28th according to Mrs. John Lofland of Memphis, and district chairman of children's work.

In the afternoon, Mr. Mulkey will show a special picture, "World Friendship" with free admittance to all children of the district under the age of sixteen years. The picture will illustrate much of the missionary life and scenes in foreign lands of China and Japan.

The picture is not a denominational picture in any sense and is shown to the children through the courtesy of Mr. Mulkey at the Pastime. Adults will be charged an admittance fee of only twenty-five cents.

The object of the district meeting is to promote world peace by training the children and the picture to be shown will help them to better understand the people of other lands and their problems.

Baptist Revival Continues With Gain To Membership

Two Services Are Being Held Each Day With Rev. Littleton Preaching

With the Baptist revival in progress only three days, many additions are already noted and predictions for a great revival are being made by church leaders.

Rev. B. N. Shepard filled the pulpit Sunday morning preaching on the subject of the requirements of a God-given revival. At the close of the service, four presented themselves for membership, three by letter and one by profession of faith.

Rev. J. H. Littleton arrived in time to conduct the services Sunday evening. A large audience greeted him on the occasion of his initial sermon, he speaking on the subject of "the biggest task in the world—Soul Winning."

Following the service Monday night, two additional members were added, one on profession of faith and the other by letter. Both services Monday were attended by a large number of interested listeners who appreciated the spirit-filled gospel messages by the evangelist.

Special prayer services were begun Monday night with an attendance of seventy-three. The membership meeting in departmental order from junior to the adult department.

The automobile race sponsored by the juniors is creating special interest. The points for mileage are: attendance, on time, learning

Ferguson Makes Stirring Appeal To Large Audience

Thoroughly Rested From His Long Journey From Dallas, Speaker Hits Hard

Speaking to a crowd variously estimated at upwards of four thousand, James E. Ferguson met the enemy on the field of battle here Tuesday evening with his old-time vigor despite his sixty-seven years.

Hundreds had come from Pampa, Amarillo, Shamrock, Wellington, Memphis and many smaller places to hear how the state's most noted politician would answer his critics and defend his past record. He had been sleeping most of the afternoon, receiving visitors only after five o'clock. He was greeted by farmers, professional men and others.

O. H. Brewer, farmer-orator living near town, made the introductory speech consuming some ten minutes in defense of his candidate. Judge A. T. Cole followed up with an appeal to the crowd to lay prejudice aside and listen with an open mind. He further stated that Ferguson had been forced into a mud-slinging campaign in his own defense after the enemy had first made an attack.

Ferguson's reply to the charge of "proxy governor" was made by saying that "he thought Texas would be better off with a proxy governor and no bonds, than with bonds and no governor."

He outlined the planks of the Ferguson platform proposing an "old age pension law", the passage of a law to require officers to be free from drinking "bootleg" liquor for six months preceding their taking office.

He proposed a law to "keep Texas money in Texas" and a law to permit one to have two years in which to redeem property sold under a mortgage.

The speaker stated that whereas Sterling had advocated a state-wide bond issue of three hundred and fifty million dollars in the first primary, it had been reduced to one hundred and seventy-five million in the second primary, and would possibly be wiped out altogether before August 23rd.

In connection with road bond idea, Ferguson issued a challenge to Sterling asking him to "state whether he had dropped it, if so when, and how long it would stay dropped."

The crowd stood up during the more than two hours and frequently cheered lustily. The speaker was well pleased with the size of his audience and expressed his appreciation of the many kindnesses shown him while in Clarendon. His closing remark was, "that Governor Moody had fought west Texas pioneers on their land bill sponsored by Small, and that Sterling was chief advisor of Moody giving the people a taste of what they might expect should the office be turned over to Sterling."

Clarendon Motor Company Conducts Gas Tests

Saturday was a great day in Chevrolet history in Clarendon when the local distributors offered four prizes for the best mileage on a measured gallon of gas. Fifteen entered the contest.

Elban Naylor won first prize of $45 Kari-Keen trunk on a mileage of 26 and eight tenths. Mrs. Hugh Lusk won second prize of a $15 sport light on a mileage of 25 and eight tenths.

The third prize was won by T. G. Stargel and the fourth by G. C. Moore of Hedley. The contest created quite a bit of interest and furnished amusement for a large crowd that listened to the boasts of proud Chevrolet owners.

With the reduction prices of several models this week, Mr. Naylor run on his cars here.

FIGHTIN' FOLKS.

The Turks shot the whey out of the Kurds in the last battle between these tribesmen in Anatolia last week. In other words they are churning them up.

THE FIVE SENSES.

We have sight and sound in pictures already, and if we may judge from the appearance of some of the characters, odor will be added soon.

THE COTTON QUESTION.

The American people are easily steered into most anything. Why not start a movement to get every one to wear cotton sox, the women to wear cotton dresses. Yes, and go even farther by getting the men lined up to wear cotton pants.

Such movements have been started in some of the cotton states. Why not advocate the same thing in old Donley county and create more demand for cotton? And, besides, it is a good time to economize on the price.

THE STERLING CROWD.

Sterling and his bunch advocate the removal of the penitentiary. That idea never saw birth until after oil was discovered near the Ramsey prison farm. Oil men have proposed to buy that rich agricultural land (with the mineral rights included) for the magnificent sum of $15 per acre. Sterling is against the election of a Highway Commission by the voice of the people. Ferguson is against the removal of the penitentiary and favors the election of the Highway Commission just as any other state officer may be elected. There is something to think about in this campaign besides the old story of prohibition that has already been settled for all time.

SELF DEFENSE VOTERS.

Thousands will cast a vote for the Fergusons August 23rd in self defense. These votes will come largely from the rural districts. They are opposed to the extravagance of "Moodyism". They are paying for five special sessions of the legislature now in a squabble over moving the penitentiary last winter. His burden is growing heavier each year.

The rural voter has heard all about the bond issues and he's full of it. He wants to have a voice in the selection of his Highway Commission and Sterling wants to appoint that bunch for him. Ferguson advocates that protection for the taxpayer and the taxpayer is interested in having a say who shall spend his tax money.

MOODY-STERLING-BOBBITT.

The Moody-Sterling-Bobbitt bunch after mixing prohibition, religion and about everything else into the race have sought out Jimmy Allred in an effort to get him to endorse their enemy that they might rob him of some votes.

Jimmy Allred is in the race for the office of attorney general against Bobbitt—no one else. The other races do not concern him and he has said so several times. Bobbitt is a Moody appointee. He's one of their crowd and that is his privilege.

Jimmy Allred prosecuted the murder charge against Mayor Collier of Wichita Falls. He is alleged to have made the statement during the trial at Haskell "that if Ferguson would stay out of the race he would break Collier's back."

He should not be bought in that case. He has sold out. He has sold his soul for a bunch of Amarillo lawyers who are fighting him, he will easily win August 23rd. The people are back of him and that is what counts. Texas needs more men like Allred.

TEXTBOOK COMPANIES LIED.

Suit is contemplated against a number of textbook manufacturers and authors for libeling the good name of West Texas. More especially does this apply to some of the geographies which describe West Texas as "a semi-arid district sparsely settled because of the difficulty in growing crops with a scant rainfall."

Such descriptions of a section winning first place repeatedly in the agricultural exhibits of the Texas State Fair at Dallas would appear humorous were it not for the damaging prejudicial nature of the effect of such a description since these books are used in a number of states.

Even with a year so trying as this, with the exception of the coast section, West Texas has the best all round crop prospects of any section of the state. We of Donley county boast of our record of "forty years without a crop failure" and can prove it.

Oklahoma Millionaire Falls.

In the race for the Democratic nomination governorship of Oklahoma, Frank Buttram, alleged millionaire oil man was pitted against "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, just a common por devil with an abundance of brains.

Buttram is said to have ridden over the state according to the best methods of transportation while Murray 'hitch-hiked' asking for rides from one speaking place to the next. Buttram is reported to have spoken of Murray's poverty with no little sarcasm.

In fact Buttram hooted at the idea of being matched with a character of Bill Murray's type. The Democratic voters of Oklahoma have spoken. Bill Murray won by over 90,000 majority. Again he takes front rank in the state where he was a leader in the first convention following statehood.

Oklahoma has demonstrated the fact that her highest office is not for sale. The eloquence of Buttram, the raido and his ability to hire help availed him nothing. Will it cause any surprise to wake up in grand old Texas August 24th and find that our own people have the same views?

FERGUSON SPEAKERS.

An exchange states that Ferguson has only four speakers in the field supporting him. These are enumerated as C. C. McDonald, Luther Nichols, Lee P. Pierson and B. Y. Cummins as threatening.

For the information of the brother, we call his attention to daily enumerations as appearing in both the Star-Telegram and the staid old Dallas News announcing speaking dates for the following Ferguson supporters: Judge Reese Tatum of Dalhart, Judge F. W. Fischer of Wichita Falls, Col. Alvin Owsley, former Legion head, R. R. Neyland of Greenville, Judge A. T. Cole of Clarendon.

The following well known speakers are making central Texas now: Judge A. L. Shurtleff, John W. Pope, Mrs. T. B. Ridgell, W. L. Thornton of Dallas who is accompanied by his mother Mrs. Chas. E. Anderson who speaks to the women folks.

Women actively in the campaign are: Mrs. Noah Roark, Mrs. Mamie E. Vaughan, Mrs. T. J. O'Connor, Mrs. Marvin B. Simpson, Mrs. G. W. Morris, Mrs. Jake Newberry, Miss Elizabeth Baker, Mrs. O. M. Morris, Mrs. Mattie Haise who are speaking under the direction of Mrs. Linnie Wright Barret of the women's bureau of Dallas according to reports appearing in the daily press.

Other speakers are V. L. Shurtleff of Breckenridge, T. N. Jones of Tyler, P. P. Ballowe, former asst. district attorney of Dallas, Jake Newberry who held a similar position at Dallas, Maury Hughes of Dallas, H. Kirby of Groesbeck, Noah Roark of Dallas, Judson Francis of Dallas, and many lesser lights over the state.

In this connection in all fairness we wish to say that Sterling is supported by an even 66 speakers over the state, including both men and women.

Temple of Truth

Speaking of 'columnists' in the Panhandle last week, William Russell Clark, who is taking a mail order course from one Lyman E. Robbins, who also is a member of the Memphis Democrat force, and who devised the mail order plan to save time wasted in disputing with a student, Clark accuses all the other column writers of being 'copy cats' with the possible exception of one Deskin Wells who no doubt had him bribed.

This week this said Will Russell, verdant youth basking at the feet and drinking knowledge from the mental fountain of the most astute gentleman of the Panhandle, attempts to describe a trip to El Paso in company with his instructor, the 'class' was taken for a tour of Juarez.

Lyman may be proud of one thing—his student permitted the first lesson to soak in thoroughly. When the verdant student of the gyp water belt stated that he spent hours gazing at Mt. Franklin—the he knew not its name—he is a plain prevaricator. No advanced student would attempt such an allibi even the bearing innumerable scars of connubial bliss, as Lyman will probably include in one of his future lessons.

After parking his student, this same Lyman E. Robbins began a slumming tour of the ancient city and witnessed a battle between a bull and a band of cuspidors. Lyman is not married and never will be since his admission of that flagrant breach of social etiquette.

All either of these gentlemen had to show for the Juarez trip, according to their own statement, was a "bountaniere" which was snatched from their persons and thrown into the creek by a U. S. A. customs officer as they returned to the land of republican prosperity.

The Apostle is always talking too much. Our statement last week that the wife's hair was red is hereby amended to mean auburn. Her weight given as 229 was also overstated. She cannot pull the beam beyond 198. In behalf of domestic tranquility, these admissions are recanted with all the humility known to one who has weathered the storm for over a quarter of a century. She's still for Sterling and I am whipped to a frazzle.

Writing 'pomes' is far less questionable and who ever heard a 'pome' write referred to as a battle-scarred veteran? How's this one?

Here lies the body of Mary Cade. For her, he held no terrors. She lived afraid, she died a maid. No hits, no runs, no errors. This is a great world. Great because of the friends you make. When the folks bring in peas, corn and belons and other stuff and park on the back porch just because thy want to, the old Apostle jut knows there never was a better bunch of folks anywhere thairight in old Donley.

In speaking of folks, the Apostle was the recipient of a gift from Miss Bessie Lee Clayton last week in the form of a great big luscious watermelon.

Saturday Miss Eula Rose Allen brought thold Apostle a great big fine Honell muskmelon.

Now the is no bragging on these two ne young ladies because of a gift and everything said right ere will be verified by any of the neighbors in the Sunnyville commity.

These girls are plain sensible young ladies from sensible families who stof "the salt of the earth" They grew up in the country and were educated here in town. They grew up in a healthy atmosphere under the influence of good environment and two of the best mothers in the state.

While they are not the only ones in Donley county, these girls are not flappers. Just plain sensible young ladies of the kind that make homes happy, help to keep the country on an even keel. They are beautiful in that their lives are pure and sweet and clean.

Miss Allen is a school teacher now and a good one. Miss Clayton is still a school girl, but whatever she undertakes, she will make a success of it. We all appreciate the good women of our country and the Apostle in this column is but voicing the opinion of hundreds of our best citizens.

GREEN FEED BIG WINTER DEMAND

Increases Egg Production and Is Profitable.

Green feed added to the laying hen's ration in winter has increased egg production and has proven profitable wherever used. "When the green feed pasture is exhausted by the coming of frost and cold weather, it is then necessary for the poultryman to provide such feed," recommends C. F. Parrish, poultry extension specialist at the North Carolina State college. "There is a wide variety of feeds that may be used to avoid monotony. Rape, alfalfa, clovers, wheat, rye, barley, mangels and other feeds may be used. Sprouted oats are also used effectively by some growers. The oats are fed when the sprout is about three inches long and make an excellent succulent to supplement the scratch grain and mash."

Mr. Parrish says that it is not difficult to build a home-made oat sprouter. All that is needed is a number of trays with holes punched in the bottom to allow excess water to escape. The seed oats are spread thinly over the trays to prevent the formation of mold growths. Sprouted oats secured in this manner are fed at the rate of from one to two ounces per day per hen. A good producing hen will consume from 25 to 30 pounds of this feed in a winter.

Hanging cabbage about 18 inches from the floor will afford the laying hen needed exercise and will give her the succulent green feed needed. Beets may be used the same way.

When it is impossible to supply green feed, cod-liver oil may be mixed with the mash or grain ration to supply the same food elements. In mixing this oil with the feed, Mr. Parrish suggests that a small amount of the feed be taken and the cod-liver oil worked in thoroughly and this used as a stock-mixture with the remaining feed. One pint of the oil to each 100-pounds of feed is enough to use.

Damp Henhouse Causes Colds and Other Ills

Prof. H. E. Boisford of the poultry department of the New York State college of agriculture at Ithaca, has just written a bulletin on how to ventilate poultry houses. He says all poultry houses should have an air outlet from the highest point in the house, for without this air vent, moisture collects. The fresh air that enters the house becomes warm and rises, and as warm air holds more moisture than cold, it will cause dampness in the poultry house unless it has a chance to go out. If air vents are not used the moisture condenses under the roof and drops, to make the litter moist and to cause a damp hen house. A damp house causes colds and other troubles for the birds, and a loss of money to the owners.

The bulletin also gives facts about poultry houses. It tells how to remodel old buildings—even old barns, and how to construct new houses.

Lack of Water Causes Early Molt by Layers

Water supplies an important and indispensable part of the ration. Hens can go longer without feed than without water and still live.

The hen's body is made up of over one-half water and the eggs which she lays are approximately two-thirds water.

Heavily producing hens which are deprived of water often go into a molt, and that means a marked cutting down in egg production.

Since the fowls in the laying pens drink often, taking small quantities at a time, it is essential that proper provision be made so they may satisfy their thirst at all times.

Practice Culling All Seasons on Any Flock

"Culling should be practiced at all seasons of the year and on all stock when its use is advisable," says the Maryland experiment station. Any bird observed at any time which is sick or unthrifty should be removed from the flock at once. Delay in removing such birds often results in the spread of serious diseases throughout the flock. If such birds are in a serious condition they should be immediately disposed of by burying or burning.

POULTRY NOTES

The logical solution for raising poultry on any farm is a rotation of range area.

The essentials of good winter quarters for poultry are that the three should be clean, dry, well-lighted and free from drafts.

A shutter ventilator, or baffle, may be used in place of one sash of a window to give better ventilation during the winter when the poultry house is closed.

The question of whether or not hens should be confined to the house during the winter is debated by poultrymen and diverse opinions are found among them.

The idea that hens will not lay in winter has been disproved in almost every community by flock-owners who have taken the trouble to keep their hens comfortable and to feed well-balanced rations.

Early History Of Donley County Is Little Known

Known First as Wedgeforth With an Area of Sixty Miles Square

In digging back into the musty pages of history, one is astounded to learn that this section was once included in an area of sixty miles square labeled as "Wedgeforth" on all state maps.

This name was given the area now occupied by Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Donley counties by an Act of the 13th Legislature, being named after C. Wedgeforth who was president of the Texas Emigrant, Aid and Supply Company, then doing a big business with buffalo hunters and settlers farther east.

The 15th Legislature began to take notice of the Panhandle and passed an act dividing the area into counties of the present size. The law creating Wedgeforth county was repealed and this county was named after Hon. Stockton P. Donley, a distinguished judge of the Supreme Court at that time.

Donley county as it was afterwards known, was at this time the home of a band of marauding Comanche Indians roaming over the country stealing and looting. A few buffalo hunters had been known to brave the dangers for their reward was great in these unexplored regions where no white men had before trod except Coronado, a Spanish explorer of the 15th century.

In the year 1878 L. H. Carhart made an expensive effort to settle a colony of farmers in Donley county. The first settlers were extremely religious and fearing Indians settled "Christian Colony" on Carroll Creek near its junction with Salt Fork.

Soon after locating, the lumber for the first building was hauled from Dodge City, Kansas, a distance of about 250 miles. This first building was a combined school and church house. In deference to the wishes of some English colonists, the location was given the name of "Clarendon" in remembrance of Clarendon, England from where some of her people had originally come.

Long after the name of Clarendon was adopted, it continued to be known as "Christian Colony" by the more stable people, and sarcastically referred to as "Saint's Rost" by the wild cowboys and hunters. No lots were sold without a proviso that no liquor should be brought into the colony, a rule in force until the town was moved to its present location in 1888.

As early as 1903, a nursery was conducted eight miles east of Clarendon by W. R. Claunch. It went the way of the Bruce nursery some five miles west of town several years later. Too many black locust propagating insects.

WHO IS EDGAR WITT

Senator Edgar Witt of Waco, a candidate for Lieutenant Governor has been practicing law in the city of Waco for twenty-four years. His firm is one of the leading firms of Central Texas and the citizenship of Waco have practically unanimously endorsed his candidacy, saying to the people of Texas that he is one of Waco's leading citizens and lawyers; that he has represented that district in the State Senate for twelve years; that they vouch for him as a man of integrity and ability and in every way worthy of the office he seeks.

Senator Witt was born in Bell county—the son of a country doctor; he was educated at the University of Texas, graduating from that institution in the year 1900. He made his way through the University working at boarding houses and in the Comptroller's office. He began practicing law in Waco in the year 1906. He was appointed City Attorney of the City of Waco and was serving in that capacity when he resigned his office to enter the army during the World War. The death of his predecessor in the State Senate, Senator A. R. McCollum, created a vacancy and at a special election in December 1918 Witt was elected to the State Senate. His name had been placed on the ticket by friends and election was held before he reached home. He has been re-elected three times. As a member of the State Senate, he has been chairman at various times of its most important committees and has been regarded as one of its most active and influential members.

Senator Witt is a member of the Pottery Club of Waco, the Waco City Club, the American Legion and the Columbus Street Baptist Church.

Domestic Electric Rates Under New Plan

ABILENE, TEXAS, August 18: A new system of domestic electric rates, measuring a 11 service through one meter and affecting a 20 per cent reduction on the second and third blocks, has been announced from the General office of the West Texas Utilities Company at Abilene. The new rate schedule is effective on current billings.

With the object of encouraging a greater use of electric service, the new rate schedule allows a premium of those domestic customers taking fuller advantage of the conveniences of electric service.

The new schedule makes it possible to use all household appliances including electric refrigerators and ranges on a one-meter service. The company has been working the last two years adjusting its rate schedules through the properties so as to be able to perfect a plan allowing one-meter service and at the same time have a rate with a strong incentive for a customer to use several times as much service as under the old rate without maligned policies of the West Texas utility increasing his total bill.

This is in line with long-established policies of the West Texas Utilities Company to lower rates as economies and increased business went.

It was pointed out that "costs are established by the customer's acts; by the amount of electricity he elects to use; by the time and place at which he chooses to use it, and by the duration of his use. The consuming habits of the company's patrons—and principally those patrons who comprise the domestic market—really control the cost of providing electric service."

The Company plans to release, through the local newspapers in the towns served, a series of educational advertisements explaining the new rate schedule and enlarging upon the economical conveniences of increased electric service.

HEAT AND LIGHT MEAN MORE EGGS

Maintain Feed Consumption in Sudden Cold Spells.

Heat and light in the hen house mean more eggs when eggs are high in price. And the purpose of heat and lighting is to keep the laying hen eating as much feed as she can be persuaded to take.

No slump in egg production is likely to accompany a sudden cold snap if the normal feed consumption is maintained, according to the poultry husbandry department of the Ohio State university. One method of controlling the temperature is through insulation of the chicken house. This, however, may nearly double the cost of the structure. Some poultry men are finding that by placing brooder stoves in the laying houses and firing them during the extremely cold weather, they can sufficiently raise the temperature. In case neither insulation nor artificial heat is practicable, the poultry specialists recommend the feeding of small quantities of grain, at frequent intervals during the day.

When artificial lights are used to increase egg production, they should not be used to give more than a total of 14 hours of light a day. Failure to supply lights regularly, or to provide water and feed when the lights go on, also give bad results.

Poultry Tuberculosis

Widespread in Poultry

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Tuberculosis in poultry flocks has been found much more prevalent than was suspected, and in many counties, especially in some of the North Central states, the disease is present to a greater or less extent in about 70 per cent of the flocks, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Tuberculosis birds show loss of vigor and flesh, lameness, swollen joints, drooping, and general unthriftiness. T. B. in poultry can be definitely diagnosed by a post-mortem or by the tuberculin test given by a veterinarian.

If the disease is discovered in the poultry flock, all diseased birds should be immediately killed and burned, and the remaining fowls over one year old should be marked. The chicken house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, and moved to clean ground. Lairs and runways should be plowed up and seeded to some grain crop, and a new start made on clean ground with young, healthy, vigorous birds of good breeding. Avian tuberculosis is doubly harmful in that it affects swine as well as poultry.

Save for Chicks

It is not too early to plan on saving some of the winter egg money to buy early chicks for the replenishment of the farm flock. Money is frequently saved by placing the order early, and the farmer is sure of obtaining the chicks at the right time. Installment buying helps many a man to obtain useful things. A hundred dollars for chicks may be hard to scrape up next spring. But if $20 can be placed in the chick fund every month it is a great help.

Disappointment Sure

Compounding the ration of the laying hen, particular attention should be paid to the inclusion of the necessary vitamins. Yellow corn and green feeds provide much of vitamin A. Vitamin B is carried in wheat, corn, green feeds, alfalfa meal, alfalfa leaf flour and others. Vitamin D, or its equivalent, is supplied by making use of direct sunshine or by resorting to cod liver oil, the latter being an outstanding source of this most essential substance.

POULTRY HINTS

The Bronze and White Holland breeds are popular.

Crowding at the feed hopper stunts the growth of chicks.

Lameness is one of the first symptoms of tuberculosis in poultry.

Keep the nonlayers out of the flock by culling out birds with yellow beaks and shanks.

Arranging roosts that they can be raised will give greater access to the droppings boards for cleaning.

If the hens are kept indoors throughout the winter, they should be given cod liver oil as a substitute for sunshine.

The majority of poultry buyers are now refusing to buy any poultry that is diseased or which is not in condition to be put in fattening pens.

Much of the recent experimental work shows a benefit in the health of the hens, and especially on the hatchability of the eggs, if the birds have free range all winter.

Crowded houses cause many good birds to become pale faced and later join the cull class.

Pullets should be placed in the laying house when they show signs of being nearly ready to lay. The comb and wattles begin to enlarge and take on a bright red color.

It is a Fight Between Capitol, Labor, Farmers, Common Folks and Small Business Men

Sterling, in his opening speech for the Governor's chair, has tried with all his might to hide his Bond Issue under "HONESTY IN GOVERNMENT," and an attack on FERGUSONISM.

Here is a part of the dispatch that clutters the front pages of the daily press:

"Austin, August 1.—(Dispatch by the Associated Press)—Ross S. Sterling, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, opened his campaign here today with an attack upon James E. Ferguson former governor, whose wife, Miriam A. Ferguson, opposing Sterling in the run-off campaign.

"In his statement Sterling relegated his highway bond plan to second place as an issue, declaring the paramount issue now to be 'honesty and efficiency in government.'"

We don't blame Sterling for trying to slide from under the bond issue that has been advocating. Some how or other he seems to have awakened to the fact that bonds are becoming unpopular in Texas, and knows unless he hides it under a bunch of trivials, which in reality have no bearing on the race, or the government that will follow, he will be covered up by a landslide and swept into political oblivion.

He doesn't want that to happen. As to Fergusonism vs. Sterlingism, let us say that Fergusonism promises us relief from taxes for highway purposes, for it is likely that with their election the legislature will be prevailed upon to pass a bill having for its purpose:

"The making of the Highway Department, out of the gasoline tax take up the principle and interest of county bonds issued for the purpose of financing state designated highways through the counties. This is the plan that was sponsored by Small as well as Ferguson, and can be made a reality without a change in the constitution, or without the voting of an extra tax burden on the people, but, will in actuality make the users of the roads pay for them, instead of putting a staggering burden on the people. The supporters of Sterling will tell you that his bond issue will be supported by the gasoline tax, but any man with reasoning power knows that such a plan is impossible for the simple reason that bonds must have real and visible property behind them before they can be floated and sold, hence the plan wanted by Mr. Sterling, who declares himself for honesty in government, would in reality put a staggering debt on Texas, and at the same time if the gas tax was used to pay it it would take millions from the public schools of this state.

In the second place, Fergusonism calls for an elective Highway Commission, which would give the people some say in who was going to administer the money that goes into the highways of this state, and which they do not have under the appointive plan, for the commission is responsible to the governor, and they can (and we are told they have) told the public and their desires to go hang.

It is not the intention of this paper to tell any one how to vote. The voters must decide that for themselves, but its own intentions to present plain facts, and we feel it our duty to tell the truth, and try, if it be possible, to save them from electing to office a man, who, in our opinion, is not capable of giving this state a square deal.

We realize in taking this stand that there are lots of prejudices against Ferguson, but we also realize that Mrs. Ferguson is in reality the best fitted for the office, and will be of greater value to Texas than Sterling, and we believe that the people of Texas realize this and will give her a good majority in the next election.

During the time between now and the 23rd voters should not allow themselves to be blinded, or their judgement sidetracked by some issue that is in reality of no importance in the race.

It might also be well to keep in mind that already the Sterling supporters have spent ten times what the salary of governor pay for newspaper and pamphlet advertising. This money is not coming from the poor people of Texas, but from some other source and leads us to believe there is some motive behind it all that is not apparent on the surface.

Anyway, just why does a million aire oil man want to be governor, and why is he willing to spend thousands to gain that seat?

Better think about this. You are going to hear a lot of stuff, slander and otherwise, and it is a good idea to skim off the top and get down to the core of the thing if that be possible.

The race, is, in reality between Capital and Labor—between the fabulous rich and the poor.

People don't have to be told just how much mercy, consideration and pity for the man who tills the soil, the small business man, and others who live in the smaller places—the money powers have for them—they have experienced the grip of the monster, and have found that behind is a heart of stone. Sterling is rich and powerful—Ferguson springs from the common people, and knows their needs.

Which is the more likely to try to help us, the laboring class, the tiller of the soil, and small business man?—Ropes Hustler.

Is it hot enough for you? Melba and Maon Johnston are visiting this week in the Malone home near Gamage.

Quite a few from this community have heard the recent speeches delivered at Clarendon relative to the Governors race. We doubt very much if any voters changed their views on this important election, after listening to so much oratory we are reminded of the story of an old hard shell Baptist preacher whose church happened to be located near the Mason and Dixon line, a presidential campaign was in full blast, this old devine realized that his was a tremendous task in trying to keep the minds of his flock centered on heavenly instead of national issues, so on Sunday morning preceeding the election the following Tuesday he began to lecture his audience along this line, brethren you are all talking politics entirely too much, it seems to be the main topic morning, noon and night, before the service and after the sermon there seems to be nothing in the air but politics, and now let me admonish you, if you continue, vote the straight democratic ticket and leave politics alone. And now lets all heed the same admonition, let the orators orate, forget the trusts and bond grabbers and just vote for Ma and make her election unanimous.

PREJUDICE

He lived in a rented tenement, Where the wind blew thru the cracks.

His pants were tattered and torn, And his wife wore gunny sacks.

He had been a wanderer all his life, Hither and thither he roamed.

He cursed and raved at "Fergusonism"

Saying it would ruin his home. He never went to church at all.

He looked to ragged and forlorn. He hadn't been in a barber shop.

Since his last twins were born. He said Ma Ferguson bores me and mine.

I'll let well enough alone, For I'm a Democrat of the bolting kind.

Born and trained in a barn. Besides he went on to say,

As his eyes grew bigger and bigger,

If the Fergusons win election day, I'll be bound to love a nigger.

So he plowed away on his landlord's crop.

In order to pay his rent. The chiggers ran up and down his legs.

And fed to their heart's content. —A Ferguson Supporter.

MR. FERGUSON AGAIN

Floyd County citizens have had with them again Mr. Ferguson, whose activities in Texas politics are so well known, and his reception here would indicate that instead of waning his popularity among the people has grown with the years. Time was when Governor Ferguson could hardly muster a hand full of votes in Floyd County. Now, it appears, he will have a majority of the votes when they are counted on August 23. At least, he will have a vote that will symbolize a tremendous following.

The Hesperian feels that the record, public and private, is already too full of Jim Ferguson for there to be any shilly-shallying around on a stand against him. He should not be given the power of the governor's office for another two years. The people who are for him will vote to a man, and those who are opposed to him should not fail to register their opposition in the second primary.—Hesperian.

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT Inspiration

Inspiration, as we find it in the Scriptures, is the influence of God's Holy Spirit in the minds of men, by which they were able to reveal the mysteries of God to their fellow-men. "Men spake from God, being moved by the Holy Spirit" (2 Pet. 1:21). Thus influenced, they were able to reveal the will of God without foreknowledge or premeditation (Matt. 10:19,20). Inspiration included the thought and the word or words that were best suited to express it. The apostle Paul says: "We received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is from God, that we might know the things, that are freely given us of God. Which things also we speak, not in words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Spirit teacheth, comparing Spiritual things with Spiritual words" (1 Cor. 2:12,13). It is evident from this that the very words were inspired. They were God's words, hence the whole is "the word of God." This accounts for life's marvelous power. It gives new life to those who receive it. "Having been begotten again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, through the word of God which liveth and abideth" (1 Pet. 1:23). It also sanctifies the believer in Christ. "Sanctify them in the truth: thy word is truth" (John 17:17). Inspiration, thus viewed, does not necessary deprive the inspired man of free agency or reduce him to a mere machine. He may not limit the power of the Spirit. He could inspire without interfering with the subject's idiosyncrasies, and without his feeling himself fettered or hampered. The fact that different words are used to tell the same thing, as in the synoptic Gospels, is no argument against the verbal theory of inspiration. The Holy Spirit is not restricted to one set of words. It is the only absolute safe view to take of the Holy Scriptures; for unless the very words, as originally spoken or written, were inspired, what assurance can we have that the thoughts of the Holy Spirit have been correctly conveyed to us? David said: "The opening of thy word giveth light" (Psa. 19:130). That is the thought opens out like a rosebud, through the words, giving light to the soul of man.

In our Sunday sermons, "HEARING GOD'S WORD" and "BELIEVING A LIE". We hope to give more information on this important subject, come study with us. W. E. Ferrell, Minister First Christian church, Clarendon, Texas.

FERGUSON'S IMPEACHMENT

Dallas, Texas.
August 16, 1930.

To the Leader:

There is so much being said now about the two candidates for Governor, Sterling and Mrs. Ferguson I can't keep quiet. I don't see how the men who have always stood by the Democratic Party can support Sterling for Governor, when if the information I have is correct, he bolted in 1924 and voted for Butte, the Republican Nominee, and in 1928 he bolted again and voted for Hoover. I just as soon be a bolter as to vote for a bolter for Governor.

Sterling made his $350,000 Road Bond his main issue in his last campaign, but since the election he found out it was not popular and he now wants to side track his bond issue and cry out Fergusonism. But I had rather have Fergusonism than Moodyism. Moody and his followers seeing the people will not go with them in their big bond issue have started a campaign of hate against Ferguson in the name of good government. Sterling backed by the big oil companies and banks of the State, so it is a fight between the rich and poor, and don't every poor man know that a rich man in the Governor's office will not be in sympathy with him and his interest?

They cry about the impeachment of Jim Ferguson, when didn't M. M. Crane, the man who prosecuted Ferguson at the impeachment trial admit while supporting Mrs. Ferguson in 1924, this it was prejudice that caused the impeachment of Ferguson, and didn't V. A. Collins who voted for the impeachment charges admit it was prejudice, and if it was prejudice; and they had no just cause to impeach him (Jim Ferguson) it is now the duty of every one to right the wrong done Ferguson by placing his good wife back in the Governor's office. Some of Ferguson's enemies are making fun of him because the common people follow him, but remember that the common people heard Jesus Christ gladly, and the rich, as a rule turned him down; and while Jim Ferguson is no Christ, he is a friend of the poor, and his good wife is a Christian woman, stands for honest government, and if we want honest government in this State now, let's elect her.

Aged Parents of Local Man Make Farming Pay

In speaking of a trip made recently to Wise county, Supt. H. T. Burton of the Clarendon schools told something of the home life of his parents, not for publication of course, but a part of that information is very interesting and we pass it to you.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burton aged 83 and 73 respectively, have resided on the same farm near Decatur since their marriage and where they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last fall.

The farm was settled by Mr. Burton before his marriage and has been his home for over sixty years.

This aged couple believes in making a farm pay and live at home and board at the same place. Just old style sensible folks who want and do have the best living to be had.

While visiting there H. T. Burton was surprised to learn that no money had been withdrawn from the bank keeping the family funds from the preceding December over a period of several months.

Produce pays the bill and there is no need for actual cash hence the fund remains intact for future needs if they come. All these many years during the period of rearing the family of children, the farm has been made to pay and both parents have bought the groceries with products marketed as they went to town for supplies.

Additions to Local Young Couples Are Noted

Just about the time the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ingram got through congratulating them over the arrival of a beautiful daughter Phyllis Raye born on the 11th, here comes along a similar occasion Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. (Jiggs) Mosley are the proud parents of a son—their first born, he having arrived Friday night. All the folks are getting along nicely except Sheriff M. W. Mosley who is run down, hot and bothered counting his grandchildren.

Coach Stocking Pleased With Showing Famous Bronchos

Will Roundup His Fighters at Training Camp Looking to Many Hot Battles

While Coach Stocking has not given a definite reply to the question of entering his own son in the game this year, he is just as eager to see 'his boys' win every game and will likely have the youngster entered in the 'pep squad.'

With the beginning of school only three weeks away, the Football Stove league is being broken up here and plans for the fall team of the Clarendon Bronchos are being discussed freely. Plans have already been announced by Coach Frank Stockings that the boys are to be taken on a training camp to a nearby ranch and good swimming water for two weeks before the opening of school to put them in shape for the season. Practically the entire squad that placed high in the district race last season will return this year to represent the local high again. Several new men have shown up who are big and husky until material seems to be plentiful. The most severe loss to the team and about the only real ones will be at center where Phifer Estlack is lost through graduation and full, where Bill Dillard goes by the same route. These two men's places will be hotly contested by new men, while in other positions old men will be defending against new material. Nichols Tucker and Hudson, three veteran half, will be back and the line will only lose Estlack, which will be composed of stars from last year, with Watson at end, Helton at guard, Behrens, tackle, together with several new and promising candidates for every position on the team.

Lady's Arm Broken Monday in Serious Accident

Mrs. E. W. Doss, who lives four miles east, was in town trading Monday and in starting home and nearing the railroad crossing the team ran away. The breast yoke came down causing the tongue to stick into the ground turning the hack over.

Mrs. Doss was thrown violently to the ground breaking her arm and spraining her back. Dr. White was called and she was taken into the home of A. W. Bailey nearby. It will be several days before she can be out.

Don't know her? Neither do we but just that accident happened here in 1903 and is given here to remind the reader of the "good old days."

Mrs. Sam H. Hodges and daughter little Miss Katherine of Vashti Texas is a guest of the J. C. Estlack home.

T. W. Welch is taking a vacation. O. Gustinger of Oklahoma arrived today to serve as relief man. Reports that Welch would take the stump for Sterling could not be verified up to the time of going to press.

FIRST TRI-STATE FAIR BUILDING

AMARILLO, TEXAS—Here is an architect's drawing of the first permanent building to be constructed on the Tri-State Fair grounds at Amarillo, the new $25,000 automobile show room which will be ready for the fall exposition, September 22 to 27. The new building is of the Spanish type of architecture, finished in yellow stucco and brick. This style has been adopted for all permanent buildings to be erected in the future. Dimensions of this unit will be 150x140 feet, so constructed that it can be added to at any time. The complete building will be 300x150 feet. There will be 2,300 square feet of floor space, accommodating 100 cars.

time did his audience become demonstrative, only a few 'amens' being heard.

Wichita Falls Lawyer Representing Sterling Crowd

R. E. Taylor is Following Ferguson on Panhandle Tour of West Texas

The crowd of some three hundred people to hear Judge Taylor on the Grammar School grounds Wednesday evening was clearly a mixed crowd, at least a third of them being Ferguson supporters out to hear his reply to their favorite candidates remarks of the preceding evening.

It is said that Judge Taylor was the fairest speaker yet to visit here in that he frankly told his audience that he was receiving a thousand dollars to make the campaign for Sterling.

He commented at length on Ferguson's speech but failed to explain his part in securing pardons for clients as related by Ferguson the evening before. He called attention to the Eastland mob action of some months ago and blamed the Ferguson administration for ever having been lenient to the victim in his first offense.

Judge Taylor is not of the 'fire-eating' type choosing rather to appeal to the emotional makeup of his crowd. He spoke feelingly of scriptural passages and explained their relation to the present campaign, as he saw it.

He made direct appeals to the women to take action for the preservation of the home as outlined in his argument against the past records of the Fergusons. At no time did his audience become demonstrative, only a few 'amens' being heard.

His talk was changed from the impressive toward the closing to one of jokes which he applied to himself. He originated nothing new and dwelt on the accusations that have been appearing in daily papers almost since the campaign began.

Homer Mulkey presided as chairman of the meeting and Sam W. Lowe introduced the speaker. Judge Taylor spoke at Floydada the next evening being a day behind Ferguson on his tour of the middle Plains section.

Miss Jonny Dee Latson returned Saturday after a visit of some length with relatives at Mt. Pleasant.

FRIENDSHIP MEETS WITH MRS. A. T. MILLER

The members and guests of the Friendship Club were entertained by Mrs. A. T. Miller at her home on College Heights Tuesday afternoon. The guests rooms were beautifully decorated with a variety of seasonable garden flowers.

One of the most interesting features of this meeting was an exhibit of a great variety of hand-made quilts of the hostess, some of them dating back to many years ago when a style of art and skill existed little known at the present time.

Mrs. R. L. Bigger and Mrs. G. J. Teel were winners in stitching contest, each receiving a package of embroidery needles.

The hostess deviated somewhat in the refreshment serving much to the delight of those present when it became known that pie a-la-mode would take the place of the more common varieties of refreshments served on such occasions.

Members present: Mesdames C. E. Lindsey, M. E. Thornton, L. Ballew, C. R. Skinner, H. Tyree, R. O. Thomas, G. J. Teel. Guests: Mesdames J. R. Porter, R. L. Bigger, C. W. Taylor.

ELLIOTT-TEER

A wedding of much interest in this community, was solemnized at the First Christian Church on last Sunday evening, at six o'clock, when Miss Mae Nell Elliott became the bride of James Edward Teer, of Clarendon.

The interior of the church made a very appropriate setting with the use of massive ferns and tall white cathedral tapers, "carrying out the bride's selected colors of green and white.

Preceding the ceremony a duet, "O Promise Me," was beautifully sung by Mrs. Heral K. Whaley and Miss Carolyn McNeely, accompanied by Mrs. John M. Elliott, Jr., at the piano.

The choir, in white vestments, was composed of girlhood friends of the bride, and sang, "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. The girls in the choir were: Misses Eloise Norman, Rubye McCanne, Margaret Milam, Mota Maye Shaw, Doris Shaw, Margot Shaw, Carolyn McNeely, Doll Merrick, Maxine Russell, of Ballinger, Jeanette Kinch, of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Heral K. Whaley.

At the appointment hour Rev. H. A. Shaw, pastor of the First Christian Church, of Memphis, entered from the right, followed by the groom and best man, Dr. H. F. Harter, of Clarendon.

Miss Dorothy Elliott, sister of the bride and maid of honor, entered, gowned in pale green organdy, carrying a bouquet of roses and wearing a picture hat. Miss Dorothy was the bride's only attendant. The bride entered with her father, Judge J. M. Elliott, who gave her in marriage. The bride was a picture of loveliness in a gown of white chiffon and lace, made in princess style. She carried a white bound Bible.

The ring ceremony was read by Rev. Shaw, while Mrs. Elliott played softly, "Believe Me if all Those Endearing Young Charms." Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used for the recessional.

The ushers were Jay D. Williams, John Forkner, Willis D. Lemons, Clifford Lemons, Eldon Thompson.

Following immediately after the service, an informal reception was held at the home of the bride on West Main street. Judge and Mrs. Elliott were assisted in receiving by the bridal party. In the dining room the refreshment table was presided over by Misses Eloise Norman, Jeanette Kinch, and Maxine Russell.

Following the reception the newly-weds left for Colorado for a short honeymoon trip. The bride's traveling costume was a dark green wool suit with beige blouse and accessories.

The bride is the charming daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. M. Elliott, well known residents of Memphis. Since graduating from Memphis High School, she has been a student in Texas Christian University, at Fort Worth and for the past two years has taught at Smith School, near Memphis.

Mrs. Teer is highly thought of for her dependable character and charming personality. She is a favorite in both church and social circles in this city.

Mr. Teer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Teer of Belton. He is the manager of Wm. Cameron & Co. of Clarendon, and was formerly employed by the local branch of the same firm. He is a promising young man of sterling character.

Mr. and Mrs. Teer will be at home, after September first, at 502 East First street, Clarendon.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. John M. Elliott and daughter, Louise, of Dallas; Jay D. Williams, of Fort Worth; Miss Maxine Russell, of Ballinger; Miss Jeanette Kinch and Mrs. Kinch of Fort Worth; Miss Leta Verne Martin, Dr. H. F. Harter of Clarendon; Bob Barker, of Fort Worth; John Forkner, Willis D. Lemons, Eldon Thompson, all of Amarillo.

It's Certainly Been a Blessing

ARGOTANE HAS MADE A NEW MAN OF ME AND RELIEVED ME OF MY TROUBLE.

"Since Argotane relieved me of my troubles, I just can't help praising it to everybody," said J. T. South, of Lubbock, Texas. Mr. South is a well known ginnee of this part of the state and owns and operates the J. T. South gin company.

"For several years, he continued, I suffered from stomach disorder and a general run-down condition. I had very little appetite and three or four hours after eating, gas would form and cramp my stomach so that nothing would relieve me of the agony. I was in a very weak condition and was tired and worn out and didn't feel like doing my work. I had a severe case of constipation and had severe headaches."

"My first bottle of Argotane seemed to hit the spot and I have been getting better ever since. I can eat anything and everything I want. I don't have any trouble with gas, my stomach is tuned up and I feel better in every way than I have for a long time. Argotane has saved me a lot of suffering and money and has made a new man of me! I want my many friends to know about it."

Coronado in 1541 Was First White Man to Explore Shamrock Section

SHAMROCK. — Coronado, the great Spanish explorer, in 1540 organized an expedition to retrace the steps and corroborate the reports of Melchior Diaz on the new-found and wealth-famed "Seven Seas" of Mexico. His army, with a great retinue of friendly Indians, Spanish foot-men and more than 200 horsemen captured this "Eldorado," but found the fabled wealth not there.

Scouting parties were sent out in all directions and re-inspired by the sight of great herds of bison on the northeast plains, Coronado, in April, 1541, led his army across the territory now known as Wheeler county. This is the first report of the white man's presence in Wheeler county, of which Shamrock is the county seat.

After Coronado's invasion, the first report of white man activity in the area came from Capt. Ranald Marcy, engineer of the U. S. Army, who, in 1852, while exploring this territory, reported in brief that it was "a vast stretch of territory, treeless, rough and arid, and populated with wild game and Indians."

Reports Would Differ
Such is the colorful and romantic history of the country surrounding Shamrock, but should those early historical figures be permitted to visit that land today their reports would differ greatly to those once made.

Situated in a county created in 1878 from Bexar and Fannin counties, and named in 1879 for Judge Royal S. Wheeler Shamrock stands today one of the greatest towns in the Texas Panhandle, and is one of the thriving centers of West Texas activity. Shamrock, in the midst of a wealth producing section of a rolling surface, which ranges in composition from sandy loam to black loam, has an elevation of 2,330 feet, and is known as a high dry and healthful country. With a mean Summer temperature of 79 degrees, and for Winter 42 degrees, and an average annual rainfall of 21 inches, this area fairly abounds in wealth of agricultural production.

Every variety of crops known to the Southwest are grown in the Shamrock country. Cotton has proven a large producer here, due to the steady climate, altitude and the lack of the boll weevil and other cotton pests. The cotton crop of 30,000 bales per year.

Fruits Grow Abundantly
Corn production averages from 25 to 35 bushels per acre; maize from 1-2 to 2 tons per acre and kaffir oats, wheat and sorghums are prominent on the majority of the farms. Grapes have been known to produce as high as five tons to the acre, and it is estimated that this crop has increased more than 500 per cent within the past five years. According to eminent horticulturists, one of the finest apple orchards in the Southwest is located just east of Shamrock. Peaches and plums all do well with a minimum amount of labor.

Beneath the surface of this fertile territory lies an unestimated amount of natural resources. Gas is found at the very doors of Shamrock, and it has been supplied with an unlimited amount by the Shamrock Gas Company. It is found north of the city at from 1,500 to 1,900 feet. Oil is also found plentifully in this area. On the north and south of Shamrock are to be found vast deposits of both gypsum and gypsite. A core drill test has been made of the gypsum deposits. There are also vast deposits of silica and brick clay near Shamrock, suitable for the manufacture of kitchen cleaning powders and first class brick.

Settled in 1901
Shamrock, first settled in 1901, is one of the most flourishing West Texas towns. Located within its bounds are scores of thriving business enterprises, all co-operating for the advancement of the town. There are more than six cotton gins, a bonded warehouse and a cotton oil mill. A large creamery has been built, which is supplied by thousands of imported pre-bred dairy cows. In addition there are wholesale grocers, a bottling works, carbon black plants, three oil companies, laundries, mattress factories and a score more concerns.

In three years 76 business houses were constructed here, and more than 500 homes. Good schools, good churches and a progressive people make Shamrock a city of homes. It is located on the intersection of two state highways, Nos. 45 and 75. The Rock Island operates trains through the city.

ONLY COWS ARE CONTENTED

Whoever heard of a hustling cow—a cow who was a go-getter, a come-hither, or whatever else has verve and pep?

But then nobody wants that kind of a cow anyway. Lazy, cud-chewing cows are supposed to give the richest milk because they are lazy.

And Mr. W. O. Saunder, editor of Elizabeth City Independent, in an article in Nation's Business gets all "hot under the collar" because we humans can't emulate the contented cow. He doesn't exactly say that—he says: "I'm Getting Tired of Being Made Discontented"—and compalins that it seems to be the "business of Business to keep the consumer discontented." It's the advertisers who are doing it, he says. You no sooner get sold on a highly touted brand of toothpaste, say, than bigger and better advertising makes you dissatisfied with that particular brand and sets you to aching for a different make of molar cleanser.

And so on, ad infinitum, from electric refrigerators, which first appeal by their intrinsic merits and then lure you on to the higher priced kind that specialize in colored ice cubes, to women's wear which reaches the zenith of the modern philosophy of discontent.

Women's styles change every six weeks now. And women like it. Who ever heard of a contented woman, anyway? Did anybody ever see a woman sit in the sun and whittle?

Mr. Saunders' contention seems to be that this perpetual motion business curdles the milk of human endeavor. Our lives would be richer, he thinks, if we were a more contented lot.

In a screen advertisement announcing a new picture coming to a local movie theatre, the announcer wise-cracked thus: "This picture will be shown here soon and we hope you will like it. But whether you like it or not, it's coming anyway."

And that seems to us about sum up the world as it is. Things are coming—going—changing—all the time, and you might as well "take it and like it."

And, after all, though it may be blamed comfortable to jog along in a rut that we've got all smooth and form-fitting to the curves of our lazy carcass, a rut is apt to wear calloused spots on our brain—not to mention bank account.

And this discontented habit of women chasing after new styles is a pretty good tonic for sleepy bank balances in the long run.

Take a little thing like the styles in woman's hosiery. There was a time when newspapers advertised: "Ladies' fine lisle stockings, black or white, 3 pairs for a dollar." Then, just a little while back, no woman would be caught dead in anything but silk hose. And now, they're wearing 'em in cotton meshes for sports—in silk meshes for dress-up—in cobwebby chiffon with a dozen varieties of heel designs, and with clocks in every color under the sun.

And the modern, go-getter merchant appreciates that this discontent which keeps the feminine contingent in a flurry of buying is the very spirit of progress—the hustle and bustle of modern competition which keeps the dollars moving.

Stockings used to be an unimportant part of the feminine ensemble; now, pursuing new styles in smart hosiery is an active sport in which women vie with one another in achieving novel and becoming effects. Needless to comment, it's the merchant who caters to this restless seeking after the new in hose, as well as shoes and hats, et cetera, whose cash register sings a snappy accompaniment to the modern symphony of divine discontent.

Only cows are contented. And it's a darn good thing! Suppose, instead of being stirred to dissatisfaction with your neat white bath room by gorgeous ads extolling the charms of pink and blue and lavender bathrooms, you still had to take your Saturday night bath in a tin wash tub in the kitchen! They really did do that, you know, once upon a time. And there wasn't much singin' in the tub in those days, I bet!

And the moral of this little diatribe is this: If you'll just sign on the dotted line on the back of cover for an order of our smart new mesh hose (illustrated in center spread) there'll be many more women discontented until they get some like them.—Vanities.

Ralp E. Paxson returned Thursday from a business trip to Spearman, Dalhart and other towns where he assisted with the installation of Kelvinator-commercial equipment.

Louis Thompson, the Hedley dealer, also attended, both men being entertained with a luncheon at the Country Club at the close of the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. James Grundy and daughter Peggy Jean and Phifer Estlack returned Friday from a week's vacation in the Wichita Falls country.

Smoke

Chesterfield

MILDER, YES—BUT SOMETHING MORE. Chesterfield offers richness, aroma, satisfying flavor.

BETTER TASTE—that's the answer; and that's what smokers get in Chesterfield in full-measure—the flavor and aroma of mellow tobaccos, exactly blended and cross-blended. Better taste, and milder too!

Perennials Are Recommended Best For West Texas

List Has Been Collected From Successful Flower Growers Past Year

Perennials are plants that come up year after year from crowns and give flower or foliage beauty. No home can have a complete landscape unless perennials are included. They should not be planted in beds that break up the lawn, as nothing adds more to the appearance and beauty of home grounds than well-kept lawns. They fit in nicely among shrub plantings, as border plantings along the lot division line, or in beds by themselves at some suitable spot in the private area or the back yard. Plants of this type should be planted in clusters or groups, rather than in rows. Various color combinations can be worked out, and those that blend or harmonize with each other should be selected. Have the higher growing forms to the rear of the planting, and the low growing ones in the foreground, giving the effect of a bank of flowers. Perennials need a good, rich, firm soil with plenty of moisture. They will not compete with weeds and give the desired bloom beauty. In the fall the old stalks and refuse should be cut and removed from the bed, and a mulch of good manure applied. In an article of this length it is impossible to list and describe very many of the really good perennial flowering plants, but the following are a few of the best. Reference to seed catalogs from reliable houses is suggested for more complete lists and descriptions.

Alyssum, dwarf early spring flowering plants for borders or around rocks; Anemone, yellow flowering, growing on poor soils; columbine, grows to two feet and produces its flowers, prized for cutting, early in the season; asters fill an important place now, growing to various heights, depending upon the variety, but bringing beautiful flowers late in the season; boltonia is an aster-like hardy plant, suitable for cut flowers; buddia is a beautiful shrub-like perennial growing to three feet or higher; campanulas can be had in many varieties, all of which are wonderful plants, growing from two to six feet high, depending upon the variety; carnations are worth trying, but may need some winter protection; the chrysanthemums will speak for themselves, once they are given a trial; shasta daisies are wonderful for border plantings; delphiniums, or perennial larkspurs, are always worthy of a place in every collection; dianthus pinks are excellent border plants; bleeding heart is an old fashioned favorite that is very attractive; digitalis or foxglove is a fine plant growing from three to five feet and adapted to background planting; gaillardias must be included in the garden, as they bloom all summer; sunflowers and hollyhocks, for tall growing background flowers, are hard to beat; salvia is a fall showing plant; phlox is one of the most beautiful and best known of all garden flowering plants; peonies are very attractive early blooming perennials. There are many varieties of each of these plants. We should not forget such plants as iris, tulips, cannas, roses, etc., or such climbing vines as roses, ivies, cardinal climber, maderia vine, vincas, clematis, wisteria, etc., which have their places in home beautifying.

Christian Church Planning Improvements

According to plans now under contemplation, the members of the First Christian church will soon begin a number of improvements to the interior of the church. The rostrum will be raised somewhat to accommodate the seating of the choir to a more advantageous position. An entirely new set of modern chairs for this purpose arrived Saturday. These improvements are said to be a result of increased interest resulting from the renewed interest occasioned by the revival held here this summer.

Sterling Spoke Here Wednesday To A Large Crowd

Pastime Theatre is Packed to Overflowing Little Heckling Being Done

Coming back to Clarendon some two weeks after his first visit before the vote of July 26th, Ross S. Sterling found conditions quite changed. On his first visit only a half dozen or so were on hand to meet him and he tarried only a few minutes.

Wednesday the crowd filled the Pastime to hear the Sterling side of the present controversy in the hottest campaign in years for the governorship of Texas. J. R. Porter presided and introduced Senator Walter C. Woodward who made the opening address.

Senator Woodward is of the "fire-eating" type as it is commonly termed when lawyers take the stump for their favorite candidate. He spared no words in denouncing the Ferguson records of the past as detailed by him.

He especially dwelt at length on the pardoning of prisoners and cited several particular instances wherein harm had resulted according to his statement. In clinching his argument, he stated that as a state senator, he would propose a repeal of the six shooter law permitting the people to carry arms as a means of protection against liberated criminals should Ferguson take over the state's highest office.

Mr. Sterling himself confined his remarks to a denial of several charges made against him alleging that he first inherited the Ferguson enmity when he appeared as a witness against Ferguson when he was charged with the dissipation of some $28,000.00 escrow money placed in the Temple bank, with only $46 left of that amount.

The speaker did not explain why Ferguson was not indicted or why payment of the funds was not made, according to his statement above.

The crowd was the largest assemble to hear a day speaker and many Sterling enthusiasts congratulated him after the close of the meeting. It was plainly seen that Mr. Sterling's plain statements, void of flourish, made pretty much as a father talking to his children, had a telling effect.

Judge Fischer Makes Talk For Ferguson Saturday

Soon after the closing hour of the Sterling talks at the Methodist church Saturday afternoon, Judge F. W. Fischer of Wichita Falls addressed a large sized Saturday crowd on the streets, speaking from a truck.

The speaker confined his remarks principally to a reply to the charges that had been made against Ferguson by Sterling, Woodward and Taylor. His was principally a crowd of rural voters who seemed to be with him, the crowd frequently cheering his remarks.

Shamburger Lumber Co. Adds Windmill Supplies

The Shamburger lumber interests have added a complete line of windmill supplies consisting of casing, piping, sucker rod, etc. in addition to the well known all steel U S Ace brand of windmills.

It has been found in many instances that a mill running in a bath of oil will operate on a light wind enabling the owner to secure a water supply without investing in a gas engine and this stock of windmills and supplies has been added to meet this demand.

Senator Small Has Refused to Make Speeches

Despite the fact that Senator Woodward and others have stated that Senator Clint Small would take the stump for Sterling, he has not done so and will not according to his statement as late as Monday of this week.

Speed Brothers Building $8,000 Home Here

No one has more confidence in the future of Clarendon than those who have lived here longest. At this time Speed brothers are building an $8,000 home of Pueblo Indian design for C. G. Speed on the corner of 5th and Bugbee avenue, two blocks west of the College.

The home will have six rooms with hardwood floors and a bath room with tile floor. The basement will contain a bedroom, flower room and sun parlor of the underground type and quite unlike anything else ever planned here.

The roof will be of fireproof material and walls of stucco and plaster for the interior walls. John M. Bass has charge of the carpenter work.

It is reported that work will begin at an early date in order to relieve unemployment conditions. The new line will be 110 miles in length and is estimated to cost four million dollars.

Farmer Keeps on Terracing Despite Weather

The fact that it is not raining every day does not discourage R. L. Moss, prosperous farmer residing near Ashtola. His terracing works going on just the same that he may be prepared for the big rains that are sure to come.
