Amarillo Club Members on Program Luncheon Here

George S. Vineyard Principal Speaker on Program Furnished by Visitors

At the close of the regular order of business of the Rotary club Friday at their noon luncheon at the Hotel Clarendon, President Jenkins turned the matter of entertainment over to Rotarian Norris Ewing of the Amarillo club.

Rotarian Allen Early, past president of the Amarillo club responded to a request by speaking several minutes on his views of Rotary and what it meant to the individual member.

Rotarian Harry A. Marr, for eighteen months president of the Denver Rotary club was called to the floor and gave an interesting talk on his impressions of the Panhandle and its citizenship as he had learned of their values since becoming a resident of Amarillo.

Rotarian Geo. S. Vineyard consumed the remainder of the luncheon period in a high-class talk along lines of community service, individual service and illustrated the personal sacrifice that is expected of a Rotarian in behalf of his community.

Other members from the Amarillo club were Rotarians Col. C. T. Herring, H. A. Nobles, J. L. McCormick, Arthur Osgood, George Stapleton, John Gillian, C. T. Crow, Jim Williams. Ben Hearne came as a guest of the visitors and of the local club.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldston are spending the week in Amarillo. Mrs. Goldston is attending the Baptist convention and Mr. Goldston is serving on the Federal Grand Jury.

C. M. Peabody is Elected Constable Tuesday

About a hundred friends of Mr. Peabody wrote his name on their tickets Tuesday and elected him constable. It is understood that he will accept.

This action is said to be based on the excellent record made by him as a deputy sheriff under M. W. Mosley, and Clarendon people felt that they needed a man acquainted with the situation, and whom they knew would cooperate with the county officials.

S. B. Kutch received five votes and Mr. Cornelius one vote. Neither of the men were candidates for the office.

Mrs. Archie Hallmark and daughter Nancy Beth of Shamrock are visiting the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kutch and other relatives here this week.

Broncho-Cyclone Championship Game at Memphis Friday

The championship of this district will be decided in a game between the Clarendon Bronchos and Memphis Cyclones at Memphis Friday afternoon of this week.

A large number of Clarendon fans will make the game and back up both the players and the pep squad. Football fans from other towns have also announced that they will be present for the game.

Rev. and Mrs. Ferrell Are Attending Convention

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Ferrell are attending the Southwestern Convention of the Christian churches now in session at Clovis, New Mexico. The sessions will continue until Sunday night of this week.

From there they will visit a sister of Mrs. Ferrell in El Paso expecting to be away from the city for a week or more.

Armistice Day Services Methodist Church Sunday

Sermon Preached by Pastor B. N. Shepherd of First Baptist Church

The large auditorium of the Methodist church was well filled Sunday evening to properly observe Armistice Day. H. T. Burton, historian of the local Post being in charge of the program. Invocation by Rev. R. S. McKee, pastor Presbyterian church.

The High School band directed by the leader, Gus B. Stevenson, played two numbers. America was sung by the congregation.

"Lest We Forget" was sung by the choir. One of the most beautiful numbers of the entire program is said to have been the saxophone number, "Keep the Home Fires Burning", as played by Gus B. Stevenson with Miss Fray Stallings at the organ.

Rev. B. N. Shepherd, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city was the principal speaker and chose to preach a wonderful sermon on "The Prince of Peace."

Those who were privileged to hear this sermon by the pastor are of one accord in declaring it his best sermon since coming to the city. "Those who missed this opportunity, missed a rare treat" is the opinion expressed by a pastor of another church.

This program was said to have been arranged due to the fact that both Memphis and Amarillo are observing Armistice Day with special programs and the program here will be held at the Legion Hall this evening and is limited to members of the Legion Auxiliary.

The Armistice

Twelve years ago today, there flashed from out of the midst of that awful turmoil of human carnage four words which sped their way to the four corners of the globe—resounded and echoed into every country, city and home. Men with iron nerves went mad with joy—cried and shook each other in strong embrace. Women and little children wept with thankfulness, while men with flushed faces heaved deep sighs of relief. A deafening clamor of turbulent voices and steam whistles giving salute to the glad tidings, continued throughout the day and far into the night.

"The War is Over" was like a boomerang of magic tonic thrown into the midst of a nerve-tensed people. It promised once more the return of peace and tranquility. It started the home-coming of thousands of weary and war-worn men. It meant the reuniting of loved ones, and yet, above all this happiness, hovered the awful realization that many faces would be missing.

And then for days the home-coming continued. Mothers waited for the return of their boys, and mothers waited for boys who would never return. There was gladness over the land—there was sorrow over the land. Men who once were strong were now crippled and maimed for life. Men marched home with war-torn bodies—memories lost in the awful horrors of war. There were men with gas-torn lungs—men whose once bright promises of the future, now lay crushed beneath the mocking greed of war.

The Armistice brought to a close a war that was unprecedented—a war that ushered into its terrible abyss the flower of manhood. To some, this war of nerve trying confusion will remain in memory as a terrible nightmare of actuality. The mother who watched for her boy that never returned is the one who suffered most. For her and for the boys now sleeping beneath hallowed mounds, may we hold a moments reverence for the cause which halts the day, and further offer up a prayer of thankfulness to the Great Commander of all—the Master of all things—who through his love for mankind will bring about an understanding of peace between all nations—A Peace that will remain incessant throughout the corridors of posterity.

Several Cases Keep Jurymen Busy District Court

Convictions Have Resulted in Every Case Except One Instructed Verdict

During the present session of the District Court, again many are complimenting District Attorney, James C. Mahan upon his ability to secure convictions since his record is far ahead of that of any other man in a similar position in the state according to what a local lawyer is reported to have announced in a trial Thursday.

Dean Dalton of Hall county tried here the past week on a statutory charge, was acquitted on instructions of Judge A. J. Fires after the state had failed to produce sufficient evidence to secure conviction.

Taft Clemmens, colored, charged with burglarizing the filling station of Rayburn Smith just northwest of the depot last summer, was convicted and given a five year suspended sentence.

Pedro Truhilli was given a five year suspended sentence on a charge of transportation of intoxicants. This Mexican was found to be a native of old Mexico and is likely back there by this time. He is also the party whom the officers chased from the Antro back alley to the underpass west of the depot before capture late in the summer.

E. A. Blatchley, formerly manager of the Antro, was tried the last of the week on a pandering charge and given a five year term. It is understood that his attorney has appealed the case.

A civil case was called for trial Friday morning wherein the Panhandle Construction company was suing the estate of the late Mrs. Ellen Andrews on a paying lien. Verdict for the plaintiffs.

Court recessed from Friday noon to Monday morning. Court officials and attorneys spent the Sabbath at their respective homes.

The case of the State vs. E. H. Edwards was tried Monday resulting in a verdict of guilty and a sentence of two years. Edwards is the elder of two men captured here recently by Guy Pierce and Bill Robinson at night with a truck load of hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Latson visited his brother Dr. Latson of Amarillo Sunday.

Gun Exhibit Attracts Many at Clarendon Drug

A crowd is continually looking into the show window of the Clarendon Drug Store where there is on display many relics of the World War including German helmets, cartridge containers, guns of most all sizes including a machine gun.

Local parties lent their collection of "hoss" pistols and sixshooters used in frontier days making up an interesting exhibit of "weepens" of this and days of long ago. It is well worth making a special effort to see it.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Galloway attended the Panhandle Chiropactic association meet at Borger Sunday. They were accompanied by Miss Opal Pyle.

Miss Mildred Stewart, who is teaching in the Pampa schools, is spending Armistice holiday with homefolks.

Mrs. W. A. Massie, Mrs. J. H. Headrick, Mrs. Cousins and daughter Lee Christine and Miss Pauline Clark were Amarillo shoppers Saturday.

Tri-District Chiropactors To Meet Here Sunday

A meeting of the three districts of Chiropactic associations will meet here in a Tri-District convention next Sunday.

The meeting will be held at the Antro hotel beginning at eleven o'clock. Following the luncheon at the noon hour, sessions will be held during the afternoon.

Dr. C. W. Galloway states that he is expecting upwards of eighty practitioners to be present at this meeting.

Hot Car Race Results in Capture Alleged Thief

Car Occupied by Officers Turns Over in Effort to Capture Suspect

Going out to a house in the eastern part of town Saturday on other business, Deputy Sheriff Guy Pierce was accompanied by his brother I. B. Pierce. Upon reaching the house, the officers were informed that the men for whom they were looking had gone to a filling station.

Noting a new car parked in the yard answering to the description of one stolen at Amarillo only recently, I. B. Pierce remained to keep an eye on the car while Guy took a look for the men.

Soon after Guy Pierce left, I. B. was surprised to see a man rush out of the house and beat it in the car that was evidently equipped with racing gears from the speed made in a get away.

When the brothers met soon after, a hot chase began on the highway toward Lella in an effort to capture the suspect whom they now felt sure had the stolen car. The suspect played along in front until officers had attained a speed of 65 miles and then ran off and left them.

It was while going at this high rate of speed that the Pierce brothers turned over in a ditch on a side road leading south from the main highway which had become the source of escape for the man in the car under suspicion.

Righting the car and finding little damage to it and nothing wrong with either occupant, the brothers returned to town. After waiting a short time, the suspect again was sighted and in his attempt to out speed them again, Guy Pierce suggested that I. B. shoot off the casings.

At the first shot, one hind and a front casing went down. The second shot lowered the other hind casing and the suspect stopped. He was ordered out of the car and arrested and brought to the jail.

The suspect gave his name as "Sleepy" McDaniel and it is alleged that he made the statement that he had stolen the car in Amarillo. Sheriff M. W. Mosley had gone toward Hedley shortly before the car race started in an effort to locate the car which is a 1930 Chevrolet Sport model coup.

Two Ranchers Charged With Murder of Crabtree

Emmet Thompson and Carl Hefner of Gray county were arrested Wednesday charged with the murder of Homer Crabtree, father of Mrs. Bunk Ozier well known in Clarendon.

The mutilated body was found Wednesday in a pasture near Leffors with Hefner standing guard over it according to reports. Thompson is said to have gone to Pampa for an offer soon after the murder was committed.

The murder is claimed to be the culmination of hard feelings of long standing, the men being partners on a bunch of cattle amounting to over 500 head. The accused were confined in the Pampa jail. Thompson employed W. M. Lewright of Pampa at the law firm of Underwood, Doley and Simpson of Amarillo to defend him.

The accused met were arraigned at Pampa Monday entered pleas of not guilty, asked for no bond to be set and none was granted. The case is set for Nov. 24th, and a special venire of 200 has been issued.

Senator Clint C. Small has been employed to assist the prosecution by Mrs. W. R. Orrof Wellington, sister of Crabtree. Senator Small was at the hearing given the accused Monday.

Chinese Elm Shade Trees Growing in Favor

A number of citizens of Clarendon have decided to plant out Chinese elm to displace locust since they have looked at those beautiful elm on the Courthouse lawn.

Those in authority state that the trees should be set out now as the roots will grow most of the winter out.

Annual Banquet Of Fathers and Sons Monday Evening

J. M. Crawford of Childress Will Deliver The Principal Address on Program

The annual celebration of the get-together of father and sons round the banquet table is scheduled for next Monday evening, November 17th. The affair is to again be held in the basement of the Christian church with the ladies serving as has been the custom for several years.

To Dr. E. L. Jenkins goes the principal honor for having started this movement here several years ago. He will be present on this occasion having never missed a meeting to date.

Members of the Lions and Rotary clubs as well as others will have charge of ticket sales. Tickets this year have been placed with in the reach of most anyone, the price being only fifty cents.

This is an affair to which any father or son in the county will find a royal welcome. Men who have no sons to accompany them, are kindly requested to see one of the committeemen. Sons who have no father and who wish to attend, are also asked to see either of the men serving on the committee.

The men who compose the committee having the matter in charge are T. E. Trostle, O. W. Latson, G. L. Boykin, Phifer Estlack, Dr. H. L. Wilder and Henry Wilder.

Dr. Wilder was elected president and Phifer Estlack vice president at the banquet last year. Three sons and two fathers will be elected to the new committee at this banquet to take the places of those whose terms are expiring.

Banquet Article

The program has not been fully completed, but will be substantially as follows:

Toastmaster—Rev. R. S. McKee
Invocation.
Song—Led by R. S. Cope
Riding the Herd—J. C. Estlack
Just Beginning—Frank A. Stocking
My Dad—Fred Bourland
Speaker of Evening—J. M. Crawford
Orchestra Number.
The toastmaster will introduce the oldest father, youngest son, and largest family group of father and sons represented. The program will close by singing "America."

Mrs. Nora McMurtry Gets Superintendent's Job

At a sitting of the Commissioner's Court held here Monday, the matter of appointing a county superintendent of schools came up for consideration and the appointment was given Mrs. Nora McMurtry.

Mrs. McMurtry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Talley of this city. She spent her life in Donley county and has had something like twenty years experience teaching in the public schools which gave her the preference over a large number of applicants for the position.

She has also been employed in the office of the County Judge for some time looking after school matters. Her term will begin January 1st.

Mrs. Geo. Slover of Amarillo is a guest of Mrs. H. T. Burton this week while Dr. Slover is attending the Methodist conference at Sweetwater.

Rev. and Mrs. Murrell are attending the Methodist conference at Sweetwater this week.

Ashtola Box Supper Friday Night is Big Success

The patrons, pupils, teachers and friends of the Ashtola school community combined in making a big success of the box supper held at the school house Friday night.

This event was for the purpose of raising funds to pay on the excellent lighting equipment of the building. The sum of $51.47 was realized from the sale of boxes which those interested appreciate very much. The plant is now paid out.

Death of W. E. Christie Saddens Community

The relatives and many friends of W. E. Christie of the Hudgins community realize the loss of one of their best citizens in his death which occurred there Monday.

Mr. Christie had been a resident of that section twenty-one years and took an active part in all community affairs for the upbuilding of his home section. A more complete account of his life is given in another column.

Red Cross to Start Drive Wednesday Morning

County chairman Homer Mulkey is authority for the statement that the drive for Red Cross funds will start in this county Wednesday morning and will continue with the close of Thanksgiving Day.

Light Rains Fall Over Donley County Late Monday Night

Most of Cotton Out of Field Resulting Only in Benefit to Grain Pastures

Happening just at the right time to benefit the late sown grain, a general rain of near a half inch fell over most of Donley county after midnight and up until daylight Monday night.

Cotton growers as a rule are well up with gathering and very little damage resulted to that crop according to advices today.

Not more than half of the row feed crops have been cut due to the warm weather, growers preferring to let it grow to the last minute. Late cane and hedges is said to be showing up well.

Grain sown for winter pasture is up to a good stand and this moisture insures a good winter pasture cutting down the feed bill. Fall gardens are above the average though few were planted.

Farmers are preparing to list and flat break their fields to be planted to row crops next season while they have a season. The custom has been to wait until spring or late winter, but dry spring weather the past two year's has taught them to prepare land early. Some claim it makes a better yield when plowed in the fall, and especially the tight land.

Dr. Spencer of Grandville, Ohio is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Sam Braswell, Sr.

Mrs. George Reed of Stratford spent the past week here visiting relatives and friends.

To Which Crowd Do You Belong?

In every town and in every community there is always two elements. One element stands four-square for law, order and system. They believe in the inalienable right of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

They also believe that human life as well as property should be safeguarded as the most sacred asset of that town or community. They also believe that property should at all times be vested in the owner—both day and night.

They believe in schools, churches and other public necessities. They believe that as American citizens, and as citizens of the greatest state in the Union, they should be privileged to travel the highways, streets and even the alleys without being hi-jacked.

They are willing to do good honest jury service, back up the peace officers and contribute to hiring peace officers that their rights be protected. They believe that the officer who lives "on the end of a gun barrel" should be paid as much for the job as a mechanic, and more especially when he spends the dark hours of the night on the job while the others sleep in security.

The other element of people believe in letting the old world wag so long as "they ain't done nothin' to me." They believe that laws interfering with their ideas should be trampled under foot.

They believe that "might makes right" and take hard earned money off innocent victims in the dead hours of midnight. They often maim their victims and even commit murder for a few dollars. To them, life is cheap.

They believe that they should be privileged to steal cars, peddle booze, hi-jack, gamble, beat honest debts, pander, destroy property and shoot at peace officers when occasion suits their needs.

Clarendon has both elements just as any other town. The first mentioned element is far in the majority. Shall they back law enforcement and continue to see that Clarendon is a fit place to live and rear families?

This town must have two officers on duty at night. Unfortunately one of these men must be paid by popular subscription. If at all possible pay something. If you have no means, back the peace officers just the same. Tell them that you are with them. Funds are being raised and monthly pledges secured to see that sheriff elect Guy Pierce stays on the job at night. The better element expects every law abiding man to help somehow, somewhere. What can you do?

Modern Surgery.

The farm blocs have apparently succeeded in blocking Uncle Sam's nerve if one may judge from the present wheat prices.

Pampa Efficiency.

Citizens of Pampa and Gray county are said to demand efficiency to the extent of drafting a citizen of Dallas county for the office of county judge.

Maternal President.

Dr. Lillian Moller Gilbreth of New Jersey, mother of eleven and grandmother of two, is given credit for being the champion job finder for the unemployed in her state.

Any one know of a mother of forty whom we might persuade to succeed Hoover?

Seeking Trouble.

A New Orleans minister recently remarked during the course of his sermon that the clothing worn by the modern day flapper resembled disdrags.

He'd better come west before some flapper finds out just what a disdrag looks like.

Criticism.

Since some criticize the Bible, to publish a newspaper above criticism, one would have to be possessed of more wisdom than the Almighty. That's why so many publishers do not try to please everyone.

The Acid Test.

The twenty-one year old woman in jail at Quanah who has three husbands in the penitentiary, and a paramour in jail with a five year stretch chalked up against him, has evidently changed her tactics of applying an acid test to husbands choosing rather to try them out before marriage.

Modern Cave Man.

There are times when a gentleman may be acclaimed a hero for striking a lady, even to knocking her unconscious.

While flying over Sydney, Australia recently at a height of several hundred feet, a lady passenger attempted to jump out. The pilot hit her on the chin, knocked her unconscious, landed safely and saved her life.

McLean Economizes.

Citizens of McLean have dispensed with the services of the city health officer, city attorney and day marshal it is said as a matter of economy.

Two night watchmen thoroughly experienced will take care of the situation while the other folks sleep. McLean has been bothered very little by night marauders which is said to be due to the work of the officers on duty at that time of the night.

No Hick Town.

Time was when we 'poked' letters through the small opening of the postoffice door. That time has passed with the installation of a large regulation mail box on the outside by the esteemed postmaster, Chas. H. Bugbee who has provided many conveniences for the benefit of the patrons.

Gradually 'hick' towns come to put on 'airs' to the extent of conveniences of public necessity, comfort and safety and the large iron mailbox guarded by the minions of the federal government is one of the least of them though one of the most important.

Cotton Goods.

There is a movement on foot to persuade both men and women to wear cotton hosiery. It has even gone so far as to suggest cotton suits for men and dresses for women made from the same material.

There was a time when a two-bit cotton sock lasted a long time and the purchaser felt that he had gotten full value. Today we wear imitation silk, pay three times as much and get less wear than from the cotton sock.

When the demand justifies, merchants will stock up with cotton goods and not before. Why should not the people of the cotton belt create a demand for their own product?

Progressive Bankers.

As a boy some thirty years ago, a banker was doing business in a faded old building, dressed shabbily and used a sock for a purse. He preached and practiced economy.

Today he continues to do business in the same old barn, dividends are practically nothing and a share of his bank stock could not be exchanged for a dogey calf.

As a rule bankers are the most progressive men in any town. The bankers of the Panhandle are due more credit for her development than any other class of business men. Their business is conducted according to modern methods. Safety is a watchword, and yet this means progress to a man of vision.

European Trip.

Miss Mary H. Howren's articles descriptive of her trip to Europe the past summer close with this issue, this being the third article written on the impressions of the trip.

Many compliments have been paid Miss Howren for the manner in which she described the many scenes of her travels. The articles were most interesting and were widely read.

The author is one of the gifted teachers of the Junior College and a teacher in all that the word implies. In behalf of all those who enjoyed reading these articles, we wish to thank Miss Howren, and that includes the Leader force as well as hundreds of its readers.

Home Criticism.

When a neighbor lady dropped in for a chat and found occasion to criticize the appearance of the home, the mother said: "The mark of the little muddy feet upon the floor can be easier removed than the stains where the little feet go into the highways of sin. The prints of the little fingers upon the window panes cannot shut out the sunshine half so much as the shadow that darkens the mother's heart over the one who will be but a name in the coming years. And if my John finds home a refuge from care, and his greatest happiness within its four walls, he can put his boots in the rocking chair and hang his coat on the floor any day in the week. And if I can stand it, and he enjoys it, I cannot see that it is anybody's business."

Armistice Day.

Twelve years ago today glad tidings came from the front lines of battle. On the eleventh month, at eleven minutes past eleven on the eleventh day of November men ceased to battle.

Many changes have taken place during those twelve years but the scars remain as a reminder of the barbarous deeds that are committed when men are forced to kill human beings.

Armistice Day is a reminder to many, but that day is ever fresh in the memory of mothers and wives who lost—who have paid the supreme sacrifice a thousand times over.

Those who were actively engaged in the hot battles on the front lines are reluctant to speak of the matter, preferring to forget so far as possible. To them today it is a hideous nightmare.

Back in 1917 and early part of 1918 we heard the message, "there is nothing to good for our boys." Today we are asked to contribute cast off clothing to ex-soldiers, human derelicts and the fruits of war, now doing time in a hospital near Kerrville.

In this late day let us remember that those who declare war do no fighting. Let us also remember that property should be confiscated the same as human flesh should war arise. Let us above all remember that the most tragic sufferer of war is innocent womanhood. Let us also remember that war is inhuman and an insult to intelligence and God.

Everlasting peace is the greatest monument that can be erected to the memory of those brave men who fell on the line of duty. Perhaps today an all-wise Providence is haunting us with hundreds of sick and disabled as a reminder that man may not break His commandments and go unscathed.

Old-Fashioned Quilting.

Quiltings were common in our grandmother's day but not so now. Possibly one of the most interesting in Donley county during the past quarter of a century was that "held" at the W. B. Holtzclaw home north of town Thursday.

When the women folks get together, we understand that the "visiting" privilege is the principal object. At any rate, the combined ages of six of the ladies totaled 500 years.

Can you picture a more hallowed scene than six saintly grandmothers together at one time. Hair snow white—perhaps a crown designed by nature signifying the purity of the lives lived by these dear old grandmothers.

The frost of many winters may be upon the head. The plowshare of time may have carved furrows of care in a face once fair. But the cheering smile breaks through and the stamnia of mother's character carries a load of care secretly known only to herself while she lends encouragement bearing the burden of double duty.

What an interesting story either of them could tell of hardships, joys, disappointments and anxious moments. No doubt each of them could relate anxious moments spent walking the floor awaiting the crisis, hoping with all the power of her inner being, breathing a fervent prayer while some loved one lay near death's door on a bed of pain.

What a volume the history of sacrifices she has made would make! Think of the millions of steps she has taken—most of them in a labor of love for others. Think of the years of toil she has gladly contributed that others might get more out of life.

Aged and gray, serene and calm, just a few short years and her heavenly features will be but a sweet memory. How grateful we should be for this association, and how thankful we should be for the kindly beneficence of our Creator in lending to the human family jewels of rarest value who have given their all to a world and only ask for love in return. God bless our sainted old mothers.

THE EDITOR AS SEEN BY A SCHOOL BOY

From a school boy's essay on "the Editor:" "I don't know how newspapers got into the world, and I don't think God does, for he ain't got nothing to say about them in the Bible. I think the editor is the missing link we read of, and that he stayed in the business until after the flood came up and wrote the thing up, and has been busy ever since.

"If an editor makes a mistake folks say he ought to be hung; but if the doctor makes a mistake he buries it, and people don't say nothing, because they can't read Latin. When the editor makes mistakes there is a big lawsuit and swearing, and a big fuss; but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral with flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or anyone else knowing what it means, but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit, but if the editor goes he gets a charge of buckshot. Any college can make doctors to order, but have to be born."— Ex.

The Job Is Too High Mack

The job is too high Mack. That's what the fellow said when we made him a price of $30.00 on a piece of job work. Yes, it was as high as the devil and Tom Walker—But he it said that we are not responsible for high prices. On this particular job, the compositors labor on it was $20.00. Two days work, and away into the night to get the job out on time. That left us a ten dollar margin for paper, electric juice gas and ink, house rent, fire insurance, taxes, water bill—contribution to Chamber of Commerce, church donations, sanitary fees, night watch, charity organizations luncheon club, grocery bill of some thirty or forty dollars, upkeep of automobile, some twenty-five or thirty dollars. Now if all this was figured in, and it goes in whether we figure it or not, that job really cost us fifty dollars or more. Now we suspect that you are wondering how in the devil we make a living, and so are we. The cheap John we suspect would have figured it down to twenty dollars, maybe less. Not one darn cent does he contribute to the upkeep of the things enumerated. Possibly buys a plate of chili if he happens to stay in town over meal time. Now you fall to the cheap John and congratulate yourself that you have saved money. Whereas, in fact in so far as the twenty dollars paid that fellow, you had just as well gone down in your money drawer and pulled out a twenty dollar crisp bill and pitched it in the stove. It's gone to hell to a glimmering, in so far as going into the profits and resources of your old home town. The average town goes into fits about chain stores, well be it said, they are evangelists of commerce, beside the fellow who gives his work to out-of-town job jumpers. The chain stores pay house rents, store and dwelling, pay clerk hire, contribute to the chamber of commerce, pay taxes, fire insurance, and buy big fat ads in the old home paper. And we just dare you to point out one cent that the job jumpers spend in your town—Except, maybe, a plate of chili for a dime, and most of 'em raise hell about the price.—Albany News.

W. E. CHRISTIE

Mr. W. E. Christie passed away at his home in the Hudgins community Monday night following a lengthy illness. His legion of friends are grieved at the passing of this noble character, faithful christian, husband, father and faithful friend at the age of 61 years.

The deceased had resided in the Hudgins community for a period of twenty-one years where he enjoyed the respect and esteem of all those who knew him.

The funeral services were conducted at the family home Tuesday afternoon with Rev. J. L. King of Wellington conducting assisted by Rev. J. H. Treadwell, pastor of the Windy Valley Baptist church of which Mr. Christie had been a member since 1916.

Following these services a large number of sorrowing relatives and good friends of this noble character er and his esteemed family accompanied the remains to Clarendon where they were laid to rest in the Citizens cemetery.

Born in Kentucky in 1864, Mr. Christie spent 43 years of his life in the Master's service as a devoted christian. United in marriage with Miss Martha C. Curry, three daughters and eight sons blessed their home of which the wife, two daughters and six sons remain to mourn the passing of their beloved husband and father.

The children are Emmett, Burgess and Lesker of the Hudgins community; Howell of Lelia Lake; Voyd of Sunnyview; Floyd of Temple; Mrs. Kay Smith of Hall county; Pearl who remains at home.

The good christian lives of the parents resulted in the early conversion of their children, all of them being members of the Baptist church at this time.

The many friends of these bereaved relatives express to them their sincere sympathy believing that their loss is Heaven's gain in the passing of their loved one from earth's toil to a heavenly home where sorrow is unknown.

Two Farmers

—own farms identical in size and soil. One operates at a profit—the other at a loss. One produces his own feed, has a good garden every year, and realizes many dollars annually from the sale of vegetables. Butter and eggs also bring in a few dollars from time to time. He produces his own meat, and a little to sell annually at hog killing time, and ships cream regularly, from which he realizes many dollars each year. The other has no time to "fool away" bringing butter and eggs to town, and has been seen buying meat and even vegetables from the grocers. He contends that he can make more money raising cotton and buying feed. Can you pick the winner and loser?

Poultry People Make Announcement Of Slaton Show

Fifty-Four West Texas Counties Will Exhibit Their During Month of December

The largest and best array of poultry ever assembled in the northwestern section of Texas is expected to be seen here when the first annual Texas Panhandle-Plains Poultry Show is held in Slaton on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, Dec. 10, 11 and 12, says Taylor White, of Tahoka, president of the regional poultry association which will sponsor the show. Slaton has been selected as the show's permanent home.

Poultry leaders of 54 Northwest Texas counties joined hands last August in planning the regional show for the Panhandle-Plains area, believing that climatic conditions, economy of feed production and other natural advantages of the region are such as to justify the belief that the Panhandle-Plains section should become nationally known as "Uncle Sam's Egg Basket".

These poultrymen also were convinced that a regional poultry show for Northwest Texas would prove to be a highly beneficial factor in hastening the development of the poultry industry in the Panhandle-Plains territory. Poultry-raising already has a strong foothold in the region, but its further advancement and improvement is much to be desired.

After the formation of the regional poultry association, detailed plans for the first show were made by officers and committees. A catalog and premium list was prepared, offering liberal cash awards to poultry exhibitors at the first annual show, and hundreds of these catalogs have been mailed during the past week to prospective exhibitors located throughout the area included.

Separate premium lists are provided for fowls to be shown in breed types and those to be shown in flocks, upon which the judging will be based exclusively upon external production characteristics. D. H. Reid, of the extension department, Texas A. & M. College, will judge the flocks, while I. L. Bandy, a licensed American poultry association judge, of Godley Texas, will make awards in breed types. These birds will be shown as pens or singles, and will be judged by the American standard of perfection. A flock will consist of eight females and one male bird, and flocks will not compete with pens and singles for premiums.

A large display of turkeys is expected for the show, also and the egg will be a feature, too.

An attractive educational program during the exhibitions has been arranged. This will be held on the second day of the show, Thursday, Dec. 11. The detailed program for that day follows:

10:30 a. m. "Sanation and Equipment", by R. B. Galloway, of Amarillo.

11 a. m. "Selection of Breeding Pens, Mating; Standardization of Flocks", by D. H. Reid, extension department, Texas A. & M. College.

2 p. m. "Choosing and Fitting Birds for Show Purposes", by I. L. Bandy, Godley, Texas.

2:30 p. m. "Care and Feeding", by R. C. Mowrey, of the animal husbandry department, Texas Tech College, Lubbock.

3 p. m. "Standardization of Poultry and Eggs", by D. H. Reid, of Texas A. & M. College, College Station.

On the first day of the show, the annual meeting of the association, including all exhibitors, will be held at 7 p. m., Dec. 10. This meeting will be in the form of a banquet, and officers for the succeeding year will be elected.

On the closing day of the show, the vocational agriculture teachers of the Panhandle-Plains region will have luncheon session at noon, the meeting continuing into the afternoon.

Boys and girls who are members of clubs in the area will have an entire division of the show all to themselves. No entry fees for their birds are required, and liberal cash awards are offered.

The total of all awards for the show exceeds $1,000, and it is possible for the total to reach as much as $1,500.

Temporary quarters for the poultry show have been arranged for. A building 50 by 140 feet is to be used. It is a brick structure and though weather conditions might be severe, all birds will be well protected.

D. F. Eaton, Lubbock County agricultural agent, and E. L. Hicks Slaton poultryman, will be the show superintendents. They predict that the number of entries will exceed 1,000 birds.

Special sweepstake premiums on singles and pens are offered, and a cash sweepstake award has been posted for the best flock.

This premium is $10.00. Also, two loving cups are offered for chickens and turkeys in the breed type division.

Cash awards of $20, $10 and $5 are included for the four best county displays of flocks, each display to consist of five flocks or 45 birds. As many as three counties must compete if these prizes are to be awarded.

First, second, third and fourth cash prizes for singles in breed types are $2.50, $1.50, $1.00 and $1.00; for pens, $5.00, $3.00, $2.00 and $1.00; for flocks (judged on production) $8.00, $6.00, $4.00 and $2.00; for turkeys, $2.50, $1.50 and $1.00; boys and girls club division $2.00, $1.00 and $1.00. Entry fees are: singles, $50; pens, $1.00; flocks, $2.00; egg display, $5.00.

Many visitors are expected here from all parts of the Panhandle-Plains area to see the show during the three days it will be in progress.

Counties included in the show's territory are: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stone-wall, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan.

Competitive exhibits will not be accepted from outside these counties, it has been announced.

Mrs. Matt Bennett is again at home after spending several days in the home of her sister, Mrs. Forbin of Quanah.

Mrs. Bessie Rolf and son Jack returned to their home in Little Rock after spending the summer here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sloan.

Miss Evelyn Nix of Amarillo is a guest of Miss Mary Naylor this week.

Dr. J. W. Evans, who has been seriously ill for the past three weeks or more, is slowly recovering having shown a decided improvement the past week.

Student Activity Club

The Student Activity Club met on November 5th with fourteen members present. The vice president, Ima Poovey, had charge of the meeting. The old business was attended to, and some new brought up.

An amendment to the Constitution was made by which the Program Committee is to be composed of five members instead of three. Two of these are to be students and three teachers.

A report was made by Mr. Howard, chairman of the program committee. The Committee has selected a play which is to be put on soon.

Chapel Program

Miss Maxwell's and Miss Shook's rooms put on the chapel program Thursday morning. The program was opened by two patriotic songs.

A play entitled "Poly, put the Kettle On" was given by Pauline Johnson, Margaret Hill, Charles Fifer, Curta Jones, Woodie Eddleman, Maurine Haney and Arlene Bellamy.

That selection was followed by a solo by Miss Shook which was enjoyed by every one. Arlene Bellamy gave a reading which represented an old maid giving warning to the young girls not to be too particular about their beaus.

The last was a very good piano solo by Maurine Harvey.

Sincerity

Successful achievement in any line of endeavor engaging the human mind seems to be the goal of most people. Men earnestly strive for success and make many sacrifices for it. Various systems of education and training are designed to show individuals in every walk of life, in home, business, or profession, how to succeed; yet failure seems to be a large factor in the affairs of men.

One may look with envy upon another individual, endowed with peculiar talent or unusual genius, as if these qualities gave undue advantages to their possessor. Or one may consider them inimical to the success of those not so endowed. The fallacy of these beliefs is shown by Mrs. Eddy's statement in her Message to The Mother Church for 1900, where she says, "Sincerity is more successful than genius or talent." Again, in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist and Miscellany", she writes, "A deep sincerity is sure of success, for God takes care of it."

It is obvious, then, that genuine success is within reach of all, for sincerity is a quality of thought that all may attain, both rich and poor, learned and unlearned. From its inception every great reform, including the temperance movement, has been sponsored by men and women distinguished for their sincerity and integrity of purpose. Sincerity being inherent in little children, it would seem to be one of the attributes requisite for gaining entrance to the kingdom of heaven.

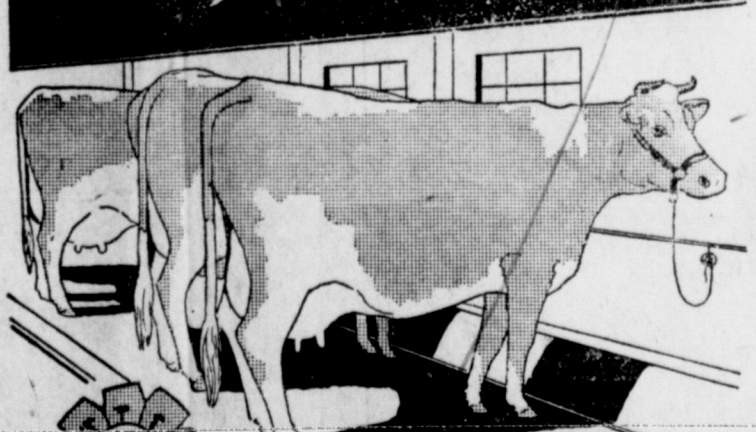

Sincerity makes no compromise with evil or wrongdoing in thought, word, or deed; it can have no traffic with questionable enterprises or unlawful purposes. If a sincere person ignorantly becomes involved in a wrong activity or an unsound project, however plausible its claims, he is grateful when failure opens his eyes to his lack of wisdom in supporting such a scheme, for he is made to realize the truth of Mrs. Eddy's assertion in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", "Let it be understood that success in error is defeat in Truth."

Jesus' life is the perfect model in sincerity. And the life and achievement of Mary Baker Eddy also afford a striking example of the success attained in modern times and under modern conditions through the exercise of spiritually directed sincerity.

To the one whose whole life has seemed to be fraught with failure until discouragement has stripped him of almost every vestige of ambition, Christian Science comes with a message of hope and encouragement. Awakening to the fact that man's true being is spiritual and perfect, as the image and likeness of his Father-Mother God, perfect divine Mind, one discovers and demonstrates his spiritual freedom thus disproving the mesmeric illusion of failure. Sincerity, being a quality of Mind, is manifest in intelligent action such as is indicated in Paul's admonition to Titus "In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity."

The one who cultivates this sincerity is building character on a solid foundation. His daily life is one of honesty, gentleness, kindness, faith, hope, love. He is upright, honorable, obedient to divine Principle, and expectant of good. He is a dutiful and loving member of his family, a loyal citizen, a good neighbor, and a staunch friend. Such a one will always be enlisted on the side of progress; he will support right and justice in the community; he will stand for law and order in government, and for all that is best in society. His manner of living will be clean, wholesome, and aboveboard; his counsel will be wise, and his opinion will carry weight. He will be of worth in any institution or movement to which he lends his support. Such sincerity, reflecting divine Mind, has been beautifully described by the Psalmist as follows: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night—And whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."

Lovely Hawaii, Land of the Ukelele and Hula Dancer, Now Nearer Than Ever Via New Empress of Japan

One of the most appealing places visited by the travel-wise during the fall and winter months is enchanting Hawaii, that group of islands situated in the South Pacific Ocean, the home of the undulating dance known as the hula-hula, and of the ukelele, sweet-toned instrument known the world over. This island paradise is now more accessible than ever, for recently the new 26,000-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, speed queen of the Pacific and the largest and finest liner plying that ocean, cut 22 hours from the usual running time from Vancouver to Honolulu, Hawaii's chief port. Hawaii-bound travelers can now make splendid time from North America to these sun-drenched isles, as well as visit the famous resorts of Banff and Lake Louise en route, from any point in Canada, or via Chicago, the Soo Line and North Portal, Sask. Since the White Empress of the Pacific, plying from Vancouver to Yokohama and other points in the Orient, have included Hawaii in their westbound itineraries, this route through the majestic Canadian Rockies to Vancouver and the Hawaiian Islands has captured the imagination of the traveler. Hawaii is noted for its beautiful, sandy beaches, its luscious pineapples and its native dancers. The natives, ardent music-lovers, gather on the sands and disport themselves to the lilting strains of the ukelele and guitar, sometimes dancing the hula-hula, sometimes crooning in harmony their weird, plaintive songs. Waikiki Beach, Honolulu, is one of the most fashionable resorts of the Pacific. Hawaii's highlights include Kilauea Volcano—dark, sinister and brooding—one of the largest and most active craters in the world. Nearby is a fiery lake of molten lava, an awe-inspiring sight. Kilauea, supposedly the home of the fire-goddess Pele, is the big attraction of Hawaii National Park. Hunting, surf-riding, big game fishing, tennis and other pastimes make the visitor reluctant to leave.

J. A. Stewart home Sunday.
J. A. Stewart entertained his Sunday school class with a party at his home Saturday night. At the close of the entertainment, fruit salad and cake were served. TEXAS AT THE COMING WORLD'S FAIR

In addition to Texas, nine states announced this week that plans for their representation at the Chicago World's Fair with state buildings and extensive exhibits were rapidly maturing. These include Louisiana, Iowa, Oklahoma, Illinois, Indiana, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio.

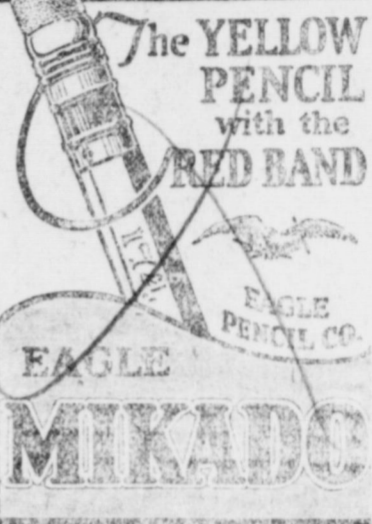

The Texas World's Fair Commission, appointed by the Governor to insure Texas participation in the Fair, will hold a special meeting at Austin, November 7th, when definite plans for exhibits and for financing will be made.

Other great national fairs in which Texas has been represented include the New Orleans Exposition in 1894; Columbia World's Fair at Chicago, 1893; Transmississippi Exposition at Omaha, 1898; World Fair at St. Louis in 1904. The Texas exhibit at New Orleans was small but very creditable. Unfortunately the state exhibit at the first great World's Fair at Chicago in 1893 was never completed and was disappointing. At Omaha in 1898, however the State had a wonderful exhibit and won first prize for the best display. Texas had a fine building at St. Louis in 1904. John H.

Kirby of Houston was president of the state commission and L. J. Wortham general manager.

MRS. H. C. BRUMLEY ENTERTAINS

The members of the Kill Kare Kneede Klub were entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. H. C. Brumley at her beautiful home. A unique and most beautiful decorative scheme greeted the guests. Bronze chrysanthemums in number were used throughout the guest suite being greatly admired by the ladies.

Dainty needle work and conversation occupied the time of the busy members after which a lovely salad course was served and a thimble given each guest as a souvenir.

Guests to enjoy this meeting were Mesdames Henry Williams, H. Mulkey, G. G. Kemp, C. D. Murphy, Macie, Rolia Brumley.

Members present: Mesdames W. B. Sims, Eva Draffin, W. A. Land, Buel Sanford, F. L. Goldston, G. H. McCleskey, F. O. Wood, Bill Greene, W. A. Massie, Van Kennedy, Ben Hill and the hostess, Mrs. H. C. Brumley.

TWO CLUBS COMBINE PROGRAM

A joint meeting of the Pathfinder and Les Beaux Art club was held Saturday afternoon in the Club Room of the Municipal building. An interesting program was rendered based on the "Passion Play" of Oberammergau.

Mrs. Fred W. Rathjen gave a history of the play explaining its origin over three hundred years ago in the little village of Oberammergau, and following the performance of it through the years to the present time.

Mrs. Sella Gentry and Miss Mary H. Howren, who had the privilege of visiting the little city of Oberammergau and seeing the play this year, gave a very interesting description of it.

They also showed slide pictures of the theatre and characters and some of the scenes.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. T. Patman, Mrs. O. T. Smith, Mrs. L. S. Bagby and Miss Helen Beck.

LEAGUE SOCIAL

The Senior League was entertained Saturday night at the home of Miss Pauline Roach, who realizing that the usual social games and refreshments were about worn out with constant use, had arranged an entirely different scheme of amusement, thus insuring the complete satisfaction and keen enjoyment of everyone present.

Disclosing a talent that was undreamed of by most, the hostess had drawn silhouette portraits of several members of the League, representing them in characteristic or suggestive poses. The object of the game was to see who could guess the greatest number correctly. Other games were "Left Hand" "Over the Head" "Animal Imitations" and "Chase the Squirrel". The latter was the cause of a deal of amusement and pains in the side when Charles Summers stopped suddenly and seated himself on the floor.

This misfortune resulted in the decision that more room was needed. Coats were donned and the Leaguers adjourned to the lawn where a bonfire was built to serve the dual purpose of warming cold hands and feet, and frying the bacon and eggs, which were served with delectable muffins and hot coffee in quite an informal and campfire style to Elma Smith, Helen Smith, Marue Trostle, Fannie Perry, Carrie Davis, Bessie Lee Clayton, Zell Rodgers, Helen Rodgers, Irene McCormick, Allene Parks Maude Bledsoe, the hostess, Pauline Roach, Messrs. Irl Smith, Eugene Estlack and Charles Summers.

Whale Skeletons Found in Michigan

Prof. Russell C. Hussey, University of Michigan geologist, announced Oct. 29 that the skeletons of two whales have been found in Michigan.

One is in swamp 10 miles south of Ann Arbor and another in the northern part of the State near Alpena. Professor Hussey estimates the age of the specimens at 20,000 to 30,000 years. He believes that the whales reached this region through the valleys of the St. Lawrence or Hudson Rivers, at a time when a sea covered the region of the present Great Lakes.

Clarendon Will Benefit From Power Line Extension

Line Will Extend Northwest to Jericho Say Utilities Officials

Abilene, Texas, November 10—The purchase of a new town and preliminary plans for a proposed interconnection which will improve service throughout the northern section of the company properties, featured construction and development work of the West Texas Utilities Company during the past two weeks, as reported from the construction department of the company here.

A three-phase, 2300 volt primary line will be built from the Estelline sub-station to Newlin, a distance of approximately four miles, where it will connect with the Newlin distribution system. Newlin is a town recently purchased by the West Texas Utilities Company, and it is expected that service will be tied in within the week.

An appropriation has been made to cover the cost of preparing a survey and plans for a proposed twenty-mile 66 kv H-Frame line from Clarendon to a point two miles northwest of Jericho, Texas. This line will make possible a contemplated interconnection with the Southwestern Public Service Company of Amarillo, which will strengthen and improve service throughout the northern section of the company properties. The survey is being made now in order that there will be ample time to determine the best and most economical location for the proposed interconnecting transmission line.

Now is the time for all good men Now is the time for all good men Now is the time for all good men

At Benjamin, eight and one-half blocks of primary distribution line will be moved and rebuilt to make room for the new Highway No. 28.

A rural extension will be made in Reagan County, near McCamey, serve customers with residential light, heat and power.

Repair work on furnaces at the Concho Generating Station, San Angelo, is scheduled to go forward this week.

Considerable work on the water systems at Stratford and Texline has been planned. 25,000 gallon elevated water tanks in both cities will be painted, and suitable signs installed. At Stratford, 1780 feet of six inch mains will be laid, and two six inch fire hydrants installed. This work is to improve water distribution service and to provide fire protection service as requested by the city council. At Texline, the water system will be equipped with an eight inch master meter.

The usual maintenance work will keep crews busy throughout the properties.

An Out-of-Doors Man

Perhaps the weight and power of Webster's character were due as much to the hours he spent in the woods and fields and on the ocean, chatting with farmers or sailors—as to the hours he spent in study. He was essentially an out-of-doors man, devoting a full third of the year to the pursuits or sports of a country gentleman; often, indeed, following out the trains of a logical argument while he was tramping along through muddy forests—or framing sonorous periods as his boat swayed up and down on the waves of the Atlantic—Now, such communion with nature, both passive and active, gave to Webster's logic and eloquence an objective character. The breath of the pine-woods of New England, the exhilarating ocean breeze, in some mysterious way stole into his profoundest arguments addressed to the Senate or the Supreme Court, while his intimate knowledge of ordinary men in their ordinary occupations recommended what he said as conformable to the plain good sense of average mankind. "He is one of our folks," was the general judgment pronounced at thousands of New England village fireades when one of his great speeches in the Senate was read aloud to the assembled family; and they thoughtfully pondered on it the next day, when they were urging reluctant oxen through rainy roads, or were ploughing their fields.

HOLIDAY, TEXAS WOMAN FINDS RELIEF FROM LONG SUFFERING BY TAKING ARGOTANE

"I suffered so long that I thought my troubles would never come to an end, but Argotane has brought relief at last and I have gained wonderfully in weight and strength declared Mrs. C. W. Mitchell, of Holliday, Texas, while in Allison's Drug Store, Wichita Falls, for more Argotane recently.

"Four years ago," she continued, "when I started down hill my appetite failed and the little-I forced down soured on my stomach and seemed to clog up my whole system. The gas that rose from my undigested food pressed on my heart so I could hardly breathe, and my head ached like it would burst, and I had such awful dizzy spells I would sometimes almost smother to death. I was tired and worn out at times. I would just give up and go to bed for hours at a time. I took so much medicine my home looked like a young drug store, but nothing seemed to reach my trouble.

"When I started on Argotane I began improving right away, my appetite picked up so I could eat and enjoy all my meals and now my troubles are a thing of the past. My headaches are all gone, I sleep like a child and wake up feeling fine. I have my strength back so I can do all my housework without getting tired. I am gaining in weight and strength every day and feel better than I have in many years. I don't believe there is another medicine on earth like Argotane."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Clarendon at the Stocking's Drug Store.

Baseball Overhead

The major leagues in the United States spend approximately $160,000 for baseballs every season.

U. S. Has World Monopoly

Helium was a strange gas that cost $17,000 a cubic foot about 15 years ago. Now the United States Government manufactures it for two and one half cents per cubic foot.

Depression?

More Americans visited Great Britain the first half of this year than in the same period last year. Department of Commerce statistics show.

Amazon Valley

The largest heavily forested area in the world is considered to be in the Amazon Valley of Brazil.

Doubled-Barreled Cannon

A double-barreled cannon, invented as a Confederate weapon in the Civil War, is a relic at Athens, Ga. It was a failure in battle.

Mississippi Barges

New barges of the Mississippi-Warrior line will be given names of famous river characters such as "Mark Twain," "Huckleberry Finn," "Tom Sawyer," "Prairie Belle" and "Jim Biudsoe."

Mrs. Bob Lynch of McLean visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Liesberg here Wednesday.

Boyd Meador of McLean was a Clarendon visitor Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beach returned home Tuesday after a visit with relatives and friends at Sadler Wichita Falls.

"This Rate Makes Possible an Abundance of Hot Water--Economically"

"Now you can have all the hot water you want—when you want it—for with the adoption of the new Home Comfort rate, the West Texas Utilities Company has put the comforts and advantages of the dependable electric water heater within reach of all. You simply connect it to the lighting circuit and use the one meter, for;

"The new rates are scheduled in three parts, and the normal use of service will consume most of the first 45 kilowatt-hours (total for first two rates in average five-room house) of the initial and second rates, after which all additional service, used for any purpose, will cost but 3c per kilowatt-hour, when you have an electric water heater—4c when service does not include heating or cooking.

"This Home Comfort rate program is designed to give you the greatest possible benefits, without material increase in your bill. Next week I will present some additional features of this new rate schedule."

Well the democrats got busy taking advantage of the depression. Until some of the democratic speakers spilled the beans, very few knew that Hoover had enough influence to cause a depression all over the world. Anyway, the democrats pulled plums instead of pulling boneheads and now they are it.

If the democrats can do something, or are fortunate enough for this financial mess to slip by before the next presidential election, the republicans won't get enough votes to count.

One county in Kentucky had three different sheriffs and killed two niggers during election day. The last sheriff was probably a democrat.

The Lions have appointed Homer Mulkey to scare up the fixings for a possum feed. As a possum hunter, Homer graded A-plus around Ardmore in the Washita bottoms. He caught 'em in a different manner to anyone else.

This Homer Mulkey fellow would slip up and stare the 'possum right in the face and the old possum became paralyzed after the first look and Homer would grab that possum's tail and it was just too bad for the possum.

He claims he can't hunt possums without a dog, in fact several of them. He wants pooch hounds and will appreciate as many as he can get. All of you boys who own pooch hounds, or have dogs that are trained to tree possums, see Homer Mulkey right now, as it is understood that he will only accept fifteen head of dogs.

Conditions make a lot of difference in folks. About 1914 a fellow by the name of Coleman arrived on a homestead near Eunice, New Mexico. His capital was a woman, a bunch of kids, a burro team hung to a ramshackle wagon.

Coleman wanted a home but the big ranchmen refused to employ a homesteader, or "nestor" as they termed them. Not to be starved out, Coleman trapped every winter and worked at odd jobs during the summer.

Finally the government learned of his skill as a trapper and bargained with him to join a crew to exterminate the wolves of that state. Coleman refused to longer be known as a trapper for was he not a member of the "biological survey?"

As a "biological-surveyest" he cleaned up the wolves out there and was turned loose on Texas prairiedogs. He visited Clarendon some two years ago. All during this time he had steadfastly hung on to his homestead.

At this time three oil wells are flowing on that homestead. Coleman is rated as a millionaire and then some. His principal enjoyment is to push his Lincoln over to ranch homes of former enemies and talk about his money. One particular ranch owner who had advised Coleman to leave the country is now a broke man. Coleman saw him last week and remarked "Fred, every dog has his day and it is my time to howl now." The fellow spoken to was Fred Nymeyer, for many years one of the big ranchmen of southeast New Mexico and whose land is now owned by a cattle loan bank.

You never can tell what will happen. That is the reason I am trying to be friendly with everybody. Take for instance Homer Mulkey. If I can rake up fifteen pooch hounds for him, and he should happen to strike oil, and I can see him before he spends it, I might—oh well we have to get the hounds first.

That Carl Throop fellow must be seen. No less than a dozen refuse to believe that he ever told me that the phone conditions would improve here. He said it as sure as Homer Mulkey is a possum hunter, and Carl will have to make good or it will end his visits up here.

The Apostle was in three different homes the past week where the women folks were cutting up big patches making little britches. If the depression has done nothing else, it has taught some of our women folks how to sew.

Don't forget to tie up your papers and leave them on the front porch. The Parent-Teacher women folks can sell the papers and help the school and by doing this we get rid of a lot of junk and get real money back here where it never should have left.

Unique Grave Stone is Placed Over Printer's Grave

A grave stone of unusual design has been placed in the Ross Cemetery, at the grave of the late W. E. Gilliland, who founded the Baird Star near 43 years ago and edited the paper up to the time of his death some two years ago.

Two imposing stones, from the Star office were used in the grave stone, one a large stone of native limestone which was made for Rust and Lotz, when they established the Callahan County Clarendon, at Belle Plains, where was secured all the stone used to build the rock building of that little western town which at that time was the county seat of Callahan County. The stone was cut and polished by Tom Russell, the stone mason, who did much of the rock work in Belle Plains at that time.

This stone was with printing equipment which Mr. Gilliland secured when he bought the plant of the Callahan County Clarendon in Nov., 1887, at which time he established the Baird Star, the stone has been used as an imposing stone for fifty years.

This stonet was embedded in a base of concrete which covers the grave. On top of this stone was placed a smaller imposing stone of marble which was a part of the equipment bought by Mr. Gilliland when he established the Tecumseh Banner, in September 1886, at Tecumseh, where he lived for four years, manager of the general mercantile establishment of J. D. Winham and Sons, at that place. On this stone is engraved the following:

William Eli Gilliland, born in Washington County, Texas, November 28, 1848.

Established the Tecumseh Banner September 4, 1886.

Established the Baird Star, December 8, 1887.

"He served his day and generation well and now rests from his labors."

On the west side of this stone is placed a marker of Texas granite, on which is engraved the name dates and the Masonic emblem.

To reinforce the concrete base of this marker iron bars—roller cores and frame from the old Prototyping press on which the Baird Star was printed for thirty-nine years, were used. The old press was replaced by a modern press in 1927, the old press being broken up and put into the concrete foundation on which the new press was placed.

As we think back over the years gone by and think of the countless millions of lines of type that have been made into forms on these imposing stones to be printed into the pages of the old Callahan County Clarendon, The Tecumseh Banner and later the Baird Star, it brings to mind many interesting events in the history of Callahan County in the past fifty years, which as news items were "made up" on these stones.

This grave marker was made by Sam L. Dryden and Son, monument dealers of Abilene, the work being personally supervised by Mr. Sam L. Dryden, and the Gilliland family are well pleased with the work. Dryden and Son have placed many of the beautiful memorials in Ross Cemetery. Among those more recently placed is the beautiful memorials at the graves of J. H. Terrell, Judge and Mrs. J. T. Hammons and Otho B. Lidia.

European Trip Graphically Told By Local Teacher

(Mary H. Howren)

From Florence to Naples is a step from magnificent art to wonderful nature. The Bay of Naples in the moonlight, the Blue Grotto of Capri with its waters of liquid turquoise, the high cliff of Sorrento with smoking Vesuvius in the foreground, all formed a picture painted by the hand of the greatest Master Painters of all. Leaving Sorrento, we drove along the high cliffs above the bay of Salerno behind Vesuvius which puffed out trails of smoke, to the ruins of Pompeii. Here we passed an interesting afternoon wandering along narrow streets by crumbled walls and broken Columns, viewing the remains of an ancient civilization.

Then we turned back, going to Rome, "the Eternal City", a name that is verified by its catacombs, its Appian Way, its stupendous St. Peter's, and its carefully cherished ruins of Imperial days. Never shall some of us forget a visit to the Colosseum in the moonlight, when in the dim shadows we crossed the arena where gladiators once fought, and peeped over into caverns beneath the walls where wild animals were kept to prey upon Christian martyrs. Almost we could feel the presence of slinking tigers and lions ready to spring upon us in the semi-darkness.

Next we fared to the Riviera, breaking the journey by a night in Genoa. We stopped for a short time in the little kingdom of Monaco and visited the famed Casino of Monte Carlo. A few of our party fished for a thrill by risking a dollar on the wheel of chance—and lost. Between Monte Carlo and Nice is the Grand Corniche Drive which we took, a drive of magnificent views of mountain scenery and of the blue Mediterranean.

From Nice we went by train to Milan to see the most noble Gothic cathedral of the world, and also to see Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper", unfortunately almost faded from the wall. And after Milan came Switzerland. The first stop was Interlaken, a little village "between the lakes", at the foot of the snow covered Jungfrau. A night was spent here, and then we took a bus for a drive up to the top of the Rhone glacier. Rain was falling as we started, and as we climbed higher and higher on the hair-pin curves, the rain changed to snow. By the time we had eaten lunch in a heated dining hall at the edge of the glacier, the snow had so blocked the pass that we were delayed quite a while before the way was opened for descent. But the falling snow did not prevent a view of the glacier, an immense mass of crumpled ice on a steep mountain side.

Brunnen, our next stop, is a Swiss village at one end of Lake Lucerne, not far from the historic spot where William Tell escaped his captors. At the other end of the long, curving lake is the city of Lucerne, to which we went by lake steamer to see the Lion of Lucerne, a monument carved in the side of a cliff to the memory of the Swiss guard protecting Marie Antoinette, and to see the old covered bridges with their rafters painted in scenes of the Plague, and to shop in some of the most attractive little shops in the world.

And finally, our last long train trip was taken, and we arrived in Paris, the city of our long expectations. Here we spent a week, enjoying especially the Louvre, where we saw, in the real, friends of our lifetime, the Venus de Milo, Millet's "Gleaner", Corot's many landscapes, the enigmatic "Mona Lisa", and a host of others. We gave a day to Fontainebleau, another to Versailles and Marie Antoinette's little dairy village in the woods. We saw Napoleon's tomb, austere and imposing. We visited the Pantheon, Montmartre Hill, and many other places too numerous to mention. We heard some beautiful peras, in one of which, "Madame Butterfly", our own Mary McCormick took the leading role. We enjoyed Paris, and were loath to leave, but the time came to take the boat train to Le Havre.

Now our part began to break up, one remaining in Paris for a while, and another taking a different route home, while the others returned by Spain and Havana to New Orleans and Galveston. The voyage back here was more or less stormy, as tropical hurricanes were sweeping the Atlantic. At last we all landed on our native soil with the feeling to do as did Will Rogers in a recent "talkie", to burst into song, if not tuneful, song—"My county, 'tis of thee!"

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Armistice Day"

In the great city of Paris, in front of the famous Hotel des Invalides, stands a big railroad car. Across its broad side are the words "The car in which the armistice was signed, November 11th, 1918. This car is the most historic railroad car in the world. For in it, around a big table by men seated in those strong chairs, was signed the significant document which ended the most terrific combat recorded in the history of mankind. The story of Armistice Day began when those men, these mighty war leaders, grave and worn, and holding the happiness of humanity in their hands, signed that memorable compact. The thrill of relief which went around the world has never died out. Troths of joy and happiness and thankfulness fill every heart on the anniversary of that great day. Armistice Day began spontaneously. Nobody waited for a decree or proclamation. The news that the war was over flashed around the globe and a new holiday was born. Armistice Day was born in joy and gladness. There have been other days of thanksgiving and festivity at the ending of big wars, but never one like Armistice Day. For never before in human history has practically the whole world been involved in war.

The first Armistice Day celebration set the pace for those which have followed. The second and the third were repetitions of the various features of festivity, with parades, patriotic exercises, and devotional services of prayer and praise. The movement to make Armistice Day a legal holiday in the United States has sprung up as spontaneously as the birth of the day itself. Legislators in the United States Congress and in state legislatures have introduced bills to this effect. And the day has been recognized as one deserving of a permanent place as a national holiday here as well as in European lands.

The American Legion and the British, French, Italian and the Belgian veterans have naturally assumed the chief charge of Armistice Day. Schools and churches in various lands use it impressively in their efforts to combat the war spirit, and to promote brotherhood and good will among all the people. Now is the time for all good men Now is the time for all good men

A modern battleship costs $20,000,000. It lasts for twenty years at the most, and during that time its upkeep costs $16,000,000 or $36,000,000 in all. A first class battleship costs as much as all the hundred buildings of Harvard University. There is a great cry, "Turn the warships into colleges." "The United States is in the best position to imitate the movement to abolish war. Let America go after world peace and world peace can be achieved. Let us mobilize for peace. Let us make up our minds to do sane world thinking."—(Major General John F. O'Rygan.)

Away up in the Andes Mountains on the boundary line between Argentine and Chili stands a statue of the Christ. It was made from an old melted cannon and erected at the beginning of what is hoped to be lasting peace between two nations. The inscription on it reads: "Sooner shall these mountains crumble into dust than the people of Argentine and Chili break the peace which they have sworn at the feet of Christ the Redeemer."

"Christ of the Andes," Christ of Everywhere, Great lover of the hill, the open air, And patient lover of impatient men Who strive and sin and strive again. Thou living Word, larger than any creed, Thou Love Divine, uttered in human need— Oh, teach the world, warring and wandering still, The way of Peace, the footpath of Good Will! —Van Dyke.

"And they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nations shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." (Isa. 2:4). Nearly three thousand years ago the prophet Isaiah had a vision. It was of the ideal civilization that is coming—that is to be some day. God hasten the day! May we all pray? O God, we praise Thee for the dream of the golden city of peace and righteousness which has ever haunted the prophets of humanity, and we rejoice with joy unspeakable that at last the people have conquered the freedom and knowledge and power which may avail to turn into reality the vision that so long beckoned in vain. May we who now live see the oncoming of the great day of God, when all men shall stand side by side in equal worth and real freedom, all toiling and all reaping, masters of nature, but brothers of men, exultant in the tide of the common life and jubilant in the adoration of Thee, the source of their blessings and the Father of All, Amen. W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Tex.

NEW FLEXIBLE RECORD, SOLD LIKE MAGAZINE, BRINGS PHONOGRAPH BACK INTO PUBLIC FAVOR

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA.—The phonograph is not yet due for the limbo of forgotten things. Vacationists at this resort have wholeheartedly embraced a recently-introduced development in the phonograph field that has the faintest resemblance to the talking machine of its former eminence.

While music on outings has been considered almost a necessity, radio has not yet perfected an inexpensive and acceptable portable set, and phonograph records have been too fragile and too heavy to be easily transported. Consequently when a feather weight phonograph record that is practically shatterproof made its bow here, it was enthusiastically received by music-loving beach parties. Now small children make sand castles of phonograph records while big elders hum to their scintillating melodies. And the phonograph industry feels better about its future dividends.

The new record is the result of the discovery by research chemists of durium, a synthetic resin which is heat-resistant, acid-proof, flexible and extremely tough. It will lower production costs in a score of industries; already it makes possible the sale of these records at one-fifth the established price.

Various extraordinary qualities of the record due to its manufacture from durium make it instantly popular. It can be bent almost double and it can be dropped from any height. Scratches across the face of the record have no effect on the music. Six of them weigh no more than a single old-style record.

To get it on the market the clever scheme of selling the record on the newsstands like a popular magazine or newspaper was utilized. One each week some well-known orchestra records the dance hit of the week, selected by a music jury of three prominent Broadway figures: Flo Ziegfeld, Eddie Cantor and Vincent Lopez. Their decisions are based on a check of the most popular dance tunes played over the radio and in New York hotels and ballrooms.

When the record was first put on the market, only 500 a week were produced. As it became better known, factory officials were forced to increase their production to the present point of 153,000 weekly.

It is estimated that this production will increase steadily every week as the records are introduced in new territories. As a result, the total sales of phonograph records throughout the country for 1930 will be increased by several millions.

Several million more records in the homes of America indicate the continued popularity of the phonograph, which has been temporarily eclipsed by the radio. Consequently, radio manufacturers, looking forward to a rejuvenation of the talking machine, are one by one adding combination phonograph-radio sets to their line. Phonograph manufacturers are once more optimistic.

Meanwhile the ultimate consumer, unconscious of the stimulating effect of his new fad on a great industry, blithely buys his weekly fifteen-cent record for party and home use.

Soon other industries will be similarly benefited as the new substance is adapted to their uses. It is estimated that eventually millions of dollars annually will be saved to the consumer through the discovery of durium.
