It's getting so here in Texas that every time you buy anything from a farmer you have to 'swear' him to keep him from going to jail on the peddler law.

If we eat half the peas being canned in this county this week, every body will have ball bearing joints by spring.

W. H. PATRICK SPEAKS BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

Banker Speaks on Economic Questions And Duties of Average Citizen

W. H. Patrick, president of the First National Bank here, was the principal speaker at the Rotary luncheon Friday noon. Mr. Patrick explained in the beginning of his talk that he was given no time for preparation, and that he would speak on a number of subjects.

He discussed economics in all its phases, and more particularly as affecting the daily lives of the average citizen of this trade territory. He explained the effort being made by the banks to cooperate with the County Agent and County Demonstrator and others in relieving the rural citizens of handicaps from which they have suffered the past several years.

He also mentioned some of the high points on transportation, and closed his talk with his views on "citizenship", what it is and what it means to a community. His talk was well received and highly appreciated.

Miss Anna Moores favored the membership with two select readings, the first being an impersonation of a darky monologue and the second a "lover's song" in entreaty with a decided humorous ending. Miss Moores' pleasing personality and gifted talents in singing and reading finds a ready welcome on all such occasions.

Gus B. Stevenson, director of the Clarendon bands, delighted his hearers with a number of saxophone numbers in which Rotary Ann Rhoda Wiedman played the accompaniment on the piano. Both are skilled musicians in their respective lines and their numbers were greatly appreciated.

Rotarian Robert S. Cope had charge of the program. The program for next Friday will be in charge of the Club Service Committee of which Rotarian B. L. Jenkins is chairman.

Mrs. C. D. McDowell of Clarendon attended the Short Course at College Station as a delegate from the Clarendon H. D. club. She returned home Saturday.

LACK OF MARKET HAS HANDICAPPED MELON GROWERS

Chamber of Commerce Seeks Market For Cantaloupes Appeals For Help

Secretary G. L. Boykin of the local Chamber of Commerce has appealed to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to help find a market for the Donley county cantaloupe crop.

The cantaloupe market is supplied from South Texas as the first melons of the season, later Decatur becomes the shipping point for the second crop and Donley is in line for the third crop just ahead of the Colorado shipments.

Since Donley county is so situated as to supply melons at a time when no other suitable district can meet market demands, it is believed that the industry will grow next season if Chicago buyers enter the field.

A buyer for a Chicago commission house was here last week and in looking over the product, stated that his house could handle all that could be grown here if shipped in car lots. This buyer pronounced the soil and climate ideal for production of super-quality melons.

Plans are being made for an increased acreage next season that growers may not have to depend on local and Plains markets altogether as they have for the past several years.

Several melon growers have stated that they will plant the variety of seed and meet other requirements of the buyers. Visits were made to the fields by the buyer who was shown over the district by G. L. Boykin, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Rain Relieves Acute Grass Shortage in Donley

The heavy rains extending over a wide territory and continuing from Friday to Monday eased up the cow men who have been hard put the past several weeks for grass.

That scope north of the river in which the Blocker and other ranches are located, had no rain for several months. This coupled with the fact that the March blizzard killed most of the native grasses, created a shortage that was at once acute.

John Blocker had twenty-five cars of cattle ready to ship to range near Mt. Dora, New Mexico when the rain came at the last moment. The rains over the week are causing the grass to put up at a rapid rate and it is expected that the season of anxiety is over for the summer.

Goodnight Buffalo Herd May Become State Property

Members of the Game, Fish and Oyster Department of the state are to visit the Goodnight ranch on the 8th of this month for the purpose of inspecting the herd of buffalo with a view of recommending that the state take them over by purchase and maintain them in a state park.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature by state senator Chas. S. Gainer of Bryan asking that the buffalo be purchased, and has included in his bill a suggestion that acreage sufficient for their maintenance be purchased out of the old Goodnight ranch.

Sergeant Ben Tom Prewitt Studies at Ft. Sill

So far as can be learned, Ben Tom Prewitt is the only man from here to take special training this season, he having recently returned from Ft. Sill where he spent a month in the government artillery school.

Having been advanced to the rank of sergeant, he studied all the phases of the artillery subjects of typography, military history, aerial observation, signal communication, etc. He states that West Point men are required to finish in the government school at Ft. Sill.

Ladies of Chamberlain Help Worthy Neighbor

Six canners were used by eleven ladies of the Chamberlain community Monday when they gathered at the H. R. Skinner home to can peas and beans for Mrs. G. G. Reeves who has been ill most of the year.

A total of 108 quarts were canned. The men folks gathered the products and the good women canned them. Thus another example of appieue christianity has come to pass in old Donley.

Dawkins Family is Visited By Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Dawkins and baby Joan, and Miss Grace Alers of DuQueen, Arkansas returned home Saturday after a visit of several days with his brother, R. R. Dawkins and family here.

Mr. Dawkins states that his state is coming with a bumper crop this season, and that the fruit crop was also good from the beginning though the price was exceptionally low. He thinks there will be no necessity for Red Cross aid in his section this winter, though it was welcomed last winter due to crop failure.

Mrs. Rhea Couch Visited in Amarillo Wednesday

Chamberlain's Public School Will Begin Monday

According to an announcement of the Principal, the Chamberlain public school will open for the 1931-32 session next Monday, the 10th.

All the patrons and friends of the school are invited to be present at the opening bringing hoes, rakes and such other tools as may come in handy in cleaning up the grounds.

Jimmie Millisp is principal, Miss Maude Crawford will have charge of the intermediate grades and Miss Bettie Baker the primary department the same as last year.

LARGE CROWD SEES WRESTLING MATCHES HERE

Bouts Friday Night Prove That High Class Athletics Come to Small Town

Those who staid away from the wrestling matches Friday night because it has possibly been a "sell" at some time in the past, missed seeing an athletic contest that would be a credit to any city of any size.

Opening up with five colored boys in a "free-for-all" battle royal with the gloves, the last man up to take the winnings, the crowd was put in a good mood with the humorous tactics of the fellows who had gone in to win, but cared not how so long as it could be done with gloves. The punches were equivalent to the kick of a mule and there will be more of it when the next contest is held.

The next excitement was occasioned in a wrestling match between Charles Davison of Estelline and John McMahan, a local boy. McMahan was outclassed as to size, and was somewhat lacking in experience in a contest with an older fellow. Both boys were game and the effort made by the local boy reflects credit on him from every standpoint.

The big feature of the evening was the match between Roy Welch of Borger and Swede Larson of San Antonio. Welch won over him at Borger two years ago, and lost the first fall to the big Swede Friday night after a hard struggle of 17 minutes with a Sonnenberg special and body crush.

The second fall was a victory for Welch after four minutes when he won with an airplane spin.

Welch won his third in 13 minutes with a flying Dutchman and body scissor. The last five minutes was the most interesting, more science in wrestling was displayed and the crowd went wild in cheering their favorite.

It was a cosmopolitan crowd. Old men, young men and boys and a number of ladies were present. There was nothing to offend the most cultured. Nothing but clean athletic sport with plenty of science not commonly seen in a small town.

T. G. Stargel is due a great deal of credit for his enterprising disposition in bringing a clean bout to this town. He would have no other kind. He will engage no wrestler, but the fellow who believes in playing the game square both to his opponent and to the public.

Denzel Davis acted as referee. All the contestants were satisfied with his decisions, and his earnest desire to be fair with his home people and his wards on the mat, elicited a cheering response that was a decided compliment.

Methodist Pastor Leaves For Outing at Eagle Nest Dam

Rev. and Mrs. Bowen and children left Tuesday for a vacation outing at Eagle Nest dam in New Mexico.

They will be joined by friends from Pampa by previous arrangements. The minister expects to spend ten days of hard work chasing the speckled beauties of the big lake.

Legion Boys to Stage Stag Dance at Bell Ranch

Not that they are selfish at all, but the boys simply want to be "let alone" for once and enjoy a real old time stag dance at the Bell ranch on Thursday night of the 13th of this month.

All the members of the Post are requested to be at the Hall at 5 p. m. on the above date armed with cucumbers, kraut, weiners, chickens, melons or anything else that may be eaten. The drinks will be found in the stock tank at the ranch and will consist of plain ordinary stock water.

The dancing will start from the time they land at the ranch and will last from "can to can" according to announcement. The feed will be served in courses, hunks and buckets. Swimming will not be barred and birthday suits may be used.

LIONS PRESENT VARIED PROGRAM LUNCHEON HOUR

Talks Are Made by a Number of Guests on Humorous And Interesting Subjects

Boss Lion G. L. Boykin took his Club by surprise preceding the "feed" at the luncheon hour at noon Tuesday when he announced a general handshaking stunt in which the lucky member holding the 12th 'shake' of a certain Lion would receive a valuable gift.

The handshaking started with a vim not to say wild enthusiasm except that Lion Mayes refused to get into a suspicious bunco game that could end only in humiliation so far as he could see. The melee continued unabated until Lion Kerlow presented Lion Douglas with a pocket knife after an exhaustive marathon of handshaking of some thirty minutes.

J. H. Gillespie, a ginner at Brice, was a visiting guest and being in a happy mood since the heavy rainfall of the past week, with all thoughts of a drouth banished from his mind, made an excellent talk in humorous strain. The speaker made mention of a marital inventory in which he declared that in his younger days when he made an investment of $6.50 in order to secure a wife, it was the best investment he had ever made.

Mrs. Richmond Bowlin, frequent speaker before the Club, was present as a special guest and delighted the membership with remarks in her usual optimistic mood of cheerfulness and witty remarks.

L. B. Cooper, formerly an instructor in Clarendon College, on his way from Denver to Midland, accepted an invitation to address the Club and gave some insight of the big educational world-wide rally held at Denver the past week.

He also took occasion to say that this section appeared more prosperous than any he had seen in a trip over 2300 miles of the nation since leaving Cincinnati.

Lion T. D. Nored, modern Isaac Walton and whose reputation for his prowess in inveigling from Colorado waters members of the finny tribe of alleged mythical weights and dimensions, was content to assume a Walt Whitman reputation and refused to discuss the subject when force was attempted.

Upon the suggestion of the Boss Lion, several promised to accompany members of the Fish, Game and Oyster Commission from here to Goodnight Sunday.

Miss Fray Stallings presided at the piano in the absence of Miss Dorothy White who is taking a vacation on the Pacific coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cluck and Miss Virginia and Mrs. Reed went to the Cluck ranch near Texline this week where they will remain until school opens.

Wallace Revival At Church of Christ Draws Attendance

Meeting is Scheduled Over The Week With Morning And Evening Sermons

"It has been a long time since so much interest was taken at our church as they are taking in the revival now" is the way R. I. McGowan expressed himself about the meeting being conducted at the Church of Christ by Elder G.K. Wallace.

Interest has spread to the outlying districts and the streets near the church are filled with autos at the hour to begin services.

Elder Wallace is presenting his subjects in plain manner that begets interest and with a telling effect according to those who have been availing themselves of the privilege of hearing him.

Services are being held at 10 in the morning and again at 8:30 each evening. The Church extends an invitation to the general public to share in the good that is being done.

FARMERS ARE FOLLOWING KEY BANKER'S ADVICE

Several Agencies Combine To Assist Farmers With Perplexing Problems

Several months ago when the "key banker" plan was worked out, county agents, county demonstrators and others were sought out to assist in helping growers of agricultural products.

Banks combine their resources and one banker is selected by a district manager to represent that particular section as a "key banker" in working with the county agents and others who wish to help prosecute a worthy plan to a successful finish.

W. H. Patrick, president of the First National Bank, was selected by W. B. Quigley, district manager and Memphis banker, as the most logical man for the position of key banker for this county.

Suggestions have been made by him from time to time as spokesman for the banking interests of our county. He has endeavored to work with both county agents by and through their advice and suggestions.

One of the first plans evolved was to encourage producers to plant plenty of food stuff for canning purposes, most of which is to be consumed at home. Should a visit be made at this time into the homes of Donley county, one could not but admire the wonderful cooperation on the part of the growers.

The stocking of farms with dairy cows, hogs and poultry was advised to the capacity of the particular farm area to be used. Donley county has more of each right now than for several years.

Prices have been disappointing but no lower on the items suggested above than on other commodities. The producer can at least follow out a more rigid program of "live at home" than under the one crop plan into which the county had largely fallen.

In speaking of the matter Tuesday, Mr. Patrick spoke of the necessity of canning every available product now, and the planting of more vegetables to be canned this fall. He enthusiastically emphasized the necessity of planting available space now lying out, to feed stuff.

He spoke of hogs necessary for the home meat supply. He mentioned the fact that bull calves were frequently sold for a song when they should be kept and fattened out for beef and canned. He believes the farmer is entitled to the best living to be had, and that the best is produced right on the farm if properly prepared.

Hedley Golfers Put Kibosh On Wellington 13 to 3

In a sixteen match game between Hedley's golfers and Wellington Sunday afternoon, Hedley won 13 matches and Wellington three.

The contest was played on Hedley's crack course and is one of several games played with the visitors this season in which they have lost.

Donley County is Supplying Vegetables to Plains

Because of her soil advantages, Donley county is again supplying citizens of the plains towns with choice peas, beans, corn, melons and other truck from gardens.

A constant stream of cars and trucks are on the highways headed for market at Amarillo, Pampa and other towns.

The peddlers license law passed by the last legislature has worked an untold hardship on farmers of this section in forcing them to market their products. In former years they sold their products to professional peddlers at their homes but are forced to peddle their products themselves this season as the high license has put the professional peddler out of business.

Edward Newberry of Dallas is visiting his sister, Mrs. Will Lewis.

Lady Merchant of Hedley Dies in Memphis

Miss Laura Brinson, merchant of Hedley and a prominent worker in the Baptist church and Sunday school secretary, passed away Thursday morning in a Memphis hospital.

She had been in failing health for some time, but had been attending to her church work and store duties up to just a few days prior to her death.

Miss Brinson enjoyed the confidence and esteem of a wide circle of friends, took a prominent interest in church work and community development and her passing is a serious loss to her community.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. B. Brooks of Groom at the Baptist church in Hedley Friday afternoon, and interment made in the Rowe cemetery.

Former Teacher of Clarendon Teaching in Cincinnati

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Cooper visited in Clarendon Tuesday, Mr. Cooper paying his respects to the Leader force.

Since leaving here when old Clarendon college was closed, he became a member of the faculty of the University of Cincinnati where he has since resided. He will teach in the University of Florida next term.

Mr. Cooper completed work on his Ph.D. degree this spring. He already had an A. B. and M. A. some years ago. He likes his work there but wants to get farther south on account of health reasons.

Bill Karnes Gets Homestead Near Magdalena

Bill Karnes left here Monday bag and baggage headed for his homestead of a section which is located near Magdalena, New Mexico. He expects to get more grass and try ranching. He has been in the employ of the Rowe Ranch for a number of years.

His claim is located near Joe Beaty's ranch ten miles east of town. Joe was one of our earliest pioneer stockmen having left here some twenty years ago to establish a ranch near the Rio Grande where he is now located.

Pittman Finds Some More Egg Chronology

Another egg with a raised figure "6" on the end was brought to the Leader office Saturday by A. Pittman of Ashtola.

He is unable to interpret the meaning, though it might have meant the breaking up of the six weeks drouth. On the other hand, it might mean that cotton is going to sell for six cents this fall. Hens are rather indefinite with their explanations.

Col. R. S. Kimberlain Here On Annual Visit

Col. Kimberlain, commanding general of all Pacific coast Confederate Veterans, and organizer of Clarendon's camp almost a half century ago, is again visiting friends and relatives in Clarendon.

He also has large farm holdings in the Brice country where he looks after business matters personally, making visits back here from his home in California. Though 88 years of age, he still retains all his faculties and would be taken for a man younger by the casual observer.

Clarence Whitlock Becomes Owner Shaver Plant

Because of failing health, T. M. Shaver sold his cleaning plant to Clarence Whitlock the last of the week.

The new owner has been working at the trade here for the past six years. He expects to continue the same service and retain the name of "Cash Cleaners" as before. His advertisement appears in this issue in which he asks for a share of the cleaning business.

Mrs. Irene Mitchell and son Marvin have returned from Dallas to again make their home in Clarendon. Mrs. Mitchell expects to again enter beauty parlor work just as soon as suitable quarters can be located.

STARGEL GETS DUTCH BECKET TO WRESTLE WELCH

Next Wrestling Match Dated Up For August 14th--Both Plenty Good

The next wrestling match is scheduled to take place here Friday night of the 14th. This is the announcement of promoter T. G. Stargel after a trip to Amarillo where he consulted Cal Farley for a possible man to meet Roy Welch of Borger, and champion in a bout here last Friday night.

Farley recommends Dutch Becket of Plainview as being on of the toughest 158 pounders in the Panhandle, he having only recently located at Plainview after the close of a successful wrestling tour of the east. He is of the opinion that Welch will have his hands full when he meets Becket.

Welch is in daily training and says that he likes the tough boys and the tougher the better. Welch will arrive the last of the week to get into active training for the bout of the 14th.

Preliminaries will likely see a new face in the ring this time. Kid Bailey of Hedley will probably swap holds with some worthy opponent, likely Kid Davison of Estelline who found favor here last week, will take on the Hedley lad.

The fun of the evening will start off when six colored boys enter the ring, three boxing with gloves on and three wrestling. Some doin's to see if the wrestlers can pin shoulders down before being knocked out by the boxers.

And that ain't all. "Freck" Johnson, weight 185, and Dick Nichols, weight 180, will give a three round exhibition of boxing following the "battle royal."

Denzel Davis will referee, and you know it will be fast and fair. Get tickets and reservations by calling 202 at the Pastime Confectionery. This looks like it will be the biggest thing of its kind in Clarendon since the woods burned.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hallmark and little daughter of Shamrock are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Kutch and other relatives here this week.

COPIOUS RAINS FALL OVER BIG FARMING AREA

Movement of Cattle Stopped When Heavy Rains Come At Critical Moment

Showers began falling over Donley as early as Friday. A large area was covered with somewhat of a general rain over the county south of the river Sunday morning with the gauge measuring 1.42 for the twenty-four hours.

A general rain over the entire county including the Brice section Sunday night registered 1.10 at Clarendon. In some places the fall amounted to as much as three inches, this being on the west side of the county.

Some crops north of the river were at a stage when rain was necessary. Crops in Brice flat had reached a critical stage. Stockmen had made arrangements to move cattle to pasturage. McKnight was sorely in need of rain and Hedley had dry territory.

The rainfall of the past week insures some crops and practically insures a good cotton crop. Early feed stuff will make and more has been planted since the rain.

No washes are reported, the rain falling gently with reports of some wind only from southwest of town. The biggest fall was Sunday night when it became general.

Reports from all of the dry sections report plenty of rain and farmers jubilant. Cotton men say that the cotton stunted by drouth will throw off squares and put on a growth that will insure a greater yield. Crop prospects are better here than for several years.

Miss Helen and Thad Rogers are visiting relatives at Mineral Wells.

Woman—Two Kinds.

Women are said to be of two kinds—Those too good for a man and those not good enough.

Satisfaction.

Some people to be satisfied with their lot in life, would have a filling station on it. Also a tire factory.

Big Game Hunters.

The way some Texas editors are lambasting Gov. Murray of Oklahoma reminds one of a bunch of boys hunting wild elephants with a lighting bug on the end of a cob.

Capone's Case.

And now comes Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota wanting to know why Al Capone was promised leniency before being convicted of anything. It begins to look like the "prosecution" will have to come clean with the state or be prosecuted along with the offender.

Discovery.

Some wise head imparts the information that he has discovered that there is a taxing limit in some precincts in Texas for some purposes. This is good news to many who are under the impression that the sky is the limit from the way taxes have increased the past two years.

The Remedy.

Several years ago John D. Rockefeller had a lot of money and stomach trouble. It looked like the jig was up if something wasn't done, and that done quickly.

He took up outdoor golf, began contributing millions of dollars to medical research and other worthy objects. Since that time he has given away over a billion, has good health and is a husky chap at ninety-four.

Judge Wilkerson.

Every citizen should appreciate the stand taken by Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago in refusing to recognize any agreement made between the prosecuting attorney and the attorneys of Capone by which Capone expected to escape severe punishment for his wrongs. He is entitled only to a fair trial regardless of any maudlin sympathy emanating from a soup kitchen feed the past winter.

Wait a Minute!

When that hi-jacker held up two motorcycle cops in Dallas Monday night and stripped them of their guns, it was an insult to the law enforcement body. When he punctured the tires of one motorcycle and rode the other one away, that was an insult to the entire city. There ought to be a law against such discourtesies. Peace officers in the actual discharge of their duties should not be forced to suffer humiliation.

No Doubt Of It.

That district judge under fire allegedly o.k.'d an expense account of a sheriff of his district in which the sheriff allegedly swore that he traveled 18,918 miles in eleven days and subpoenaed 800 witnesses and claimed only $1,705.45 for his trouble.

If the sheriff and the judge both say it is a fact, it is bound to be the champion marathon stunt in all sheriff history of Texas and entitled to one of Col. Bill Easterwood's famous cash prizes for long distance flying.

Athletic Skill Pays.

When J. W. Taylor, aged 23, of 1118 Sixth avenue, Ft. Worth was set upon by three robbers Saturday night, he used a cool head and wrestling skill fighting off two of the robbers, and held the other until he could turn him over to a policeman.

Every boy should have some athletic training. It benefits health and is a wonderful asset as a matter of personal protection. Athletics of the right kind should be taught in our public schools. Some forms of athletic training should be taught our girls as well as the boys.

Gratitude.

Farmers near England, Arkansas who were hard hit by the drouth last season and were forced to accept help from the other parts of the nation, are now paying that debt by sending truck loads of food supplies to idle miners at Henryetta, Oklahoma.

Fifteen trucks loaded with canned goods, vegetables and other gifts were taken to the miners Tuesday of this week. Both whites and negroes gladly accepted gifts of food last winter, and both races drove trucks into the poverty stricken district of Oklahoma where starvation haunts people of all ages. And some folks say the world is getting no better.

It's a Durn Shame.

After a man has spent 25 years of the best part of his life as a county attorney, county and district judge building up an alleged machine, so that with the help of the sheriffs of four counties, they can make some money skinning the taxpayers, along comes a snoop in bunch of investigators and knocks the whole thing in the head. That bunch of squirrel-headed lawyers who are reported to have met and "solemnly protested against any proceeding reflecting in any way upon the personal character or judicial record of the accused" is not doing the profession any good in the way of creating more respect for the few good men who continue to earn their fees honestly.

Banner Crop Year.

It looks like old Donley was coming with the best all-round crop in many, many years. No one has any way of knowing what it will bring, but there will be plenty raised for food and feed and that is more than can be said for last year or the past two years for that matter.

More than three inches of rain fell over the county from Friday to Monday. The corn crop is assured and feed crops and cotton will snap into it from here out.

The women folks are canning as never before. Corn, peas and beans are the principal items now with squash, okra and plenty of pickled cucumbers on the side. This will be needed this winter. While the saving is being made on food items mentioned above, the money otherwise spent for food can be spent for other necessities that some were forced to do without the past two years.

Ginning Season.

Since local managers of gins no more have anything to say about the price to be charged for ginning, and have shown an interest in the welfare of local citizens, it would not be a bad idea for the men higher up to get the information that local farmers are expecting a fair rate this season.

This is a good job for chambers of commerce and other similar bodies to tackle right now that it may not be necessary for a farmer to haul his cotton across a county in order to get a lower rate on cotton ginning.

If farmers are forced to haul their cotton to another town in order to get a better ginning rate, they will likely spend their money in the same town. If this or any other town expects to get the trade of farmers, that town must provide some inducement to get it.

Judging from the prices being quoted on groceries, drygoods, etc. in the Leader each week, some of our merchants are making it interesting to the folks to do their buying in Clarendon. Those merchants who go after the trade should not be made to assume the whole burden.

We need more cooperation between merchants and consumers. We need more merchants who can see that a greater volume of sales with a smaller profit on each individual sale means more profit in the aggregate. Our local merchants lost a lot of good business on account of gin rates in times past, and it is not fair.

Key Banker Suggests.

W. H. Patrick, president of the First National Bank of Clarendon and key banker for this district in talking over local conditions with the editor of this column Tuesday, made a number of sane remarks that should be passed on to those who need them and will heed them.

Among other things, Mr. Patrick thought it would be a fine idea if all our folks would call all the fruit and vegetables possible. In fact he has advocated that since early in the spring when the planting season started.

He believes that one could not possibly go very wrong in planting a fall garden now since the copious rains of the past week. His idea is to have peas, beans and a general variety of turnips and greens of several kinds late in the fall, eat this food and can every bit possible for winter use.

He mentioned another thing. It is a common custom to sell bull calves for most any price. He thinks they should be kept, fattened and the meat canned. His idea of a farmer raising hogs, keeping good dairy cows and plenty of poultry is too well known to require a mention at this time.

As key banker of this district, his selection was made because of the intense interest he has in seeing the people of his section prosper. Our whole conversation was based on how best to get the other fellow to help himself. We simply talked things over and while he never asked me to say anything about it, you have it here just the same, and with his experience and long residence here, he is right in his ideas.

Shame on Texas.

A. B. Tarwater as a member of the Legislature, is making a fight to place a tax on margarine and other butter substitutes. In his to protect the cow milkers of Texas, he is bringing to light some interesting information.

Information had of the Board of Control discloses the fact that margarine as a butter substitute is being fed to the inmates of the state institutions at Austin; to the epileptic inmates of the state hospital at Abilene; to the tubercular patients of the state sanitarium down at Carlsbad near San Angelo to the unfortunate insane hemmed up in the asylums at San Antonio, Terrel and Wichita Falls.

And it does not stop there. The inmates of the penal system of Texas are being fed the blamed stuff along with those, who in the majority, have committed no crime except losing their reasoning powers, and who are forced to remain in an insane asylum.

Information furnished by the Board of Control shows that the state has a contract with Swift & Company to supply the above institutions with "Gem Nut or Premium" oleo at 14.45 cents a pound, and a contract with the Cudahy Packing Company to supply white oleo at 14.01 cents a pound and "Palm Nut" oleo of white color at 12.97 cents per pound.

The Board of Control has not disclosed just what use is made of this "oleo", but the natural inference is that it is being fed to the helpless as a substitute for cow butter.

During an investigation by a Congressional Committee at Washington last winter, Dr. Walter H. Eddy of Columbia University stated that "a person would have to eat 25 or 30 pounds of oleomargarine in order to get the vitamin content of a pound of butter. This statement was made on cross examination while Dr. Eddy was testifying as an expert in behalf of the oleomargarine manufacturers.

Dr. E. V. McCollum of John Hopkins University and readily conceded to be America's leading food expert in testifying before the same Committee said: "I think it would be a step in the wrong direction to displace any dairy product with a substitute from a standpoint of maintaining the nation's health."

Margarine is largely made from oils admitted duty free from the Philippine Islands. Margarine declared unfit for food as a butter substitute benefits no one except a merciless manufacturer.

The tax-paying cow owners of Texas ought to protest. The dairy-men's association ought to protest. Every humanitarian ought to protest. Every member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals should forget dogs and horses long enough to protest in behalf of helpless humanity.

If you are willing to help protect those who cannot protect themselves; if you are willing to help protect the dairy industry; if you are willing to help protect the interests of the taxpayers of Texas, then write a letter today to Hon. A. B. Tarwater, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas and encourage him to continue his efforts to get a law passed taxing butter substitutes.

Needed—Just Horse Sense!

(An Editorial from the Rotarian Magazine)

Every time a newspaper reader encounters the daily record of the havoc wrought by speeding automobiles when they run amuck on crowded streets, the phrase "horse sense" takes on a new significance. The horse which prompted the coining of the words may be a vanishing quadruped—in time, a museum piece—but the qualities it exhibited in the phaeton era of American life are still worth emulating. As some funster facetiously remarks: "Horse sense is always sure to result in a stable government."

The old reliable horse never took a chance with busy traffic, but slowed down to allow vehicles to pass. The horse keeps to his side of the road, and attends strictly to its business, hauling of a wagon or buggy to the destination without mishap. Perhaps the horse's slow progress is not keyed to the tempo of our hurrying days, but safety is the sure reward of a plodding gait, and the occupants of the vehicle thus have a better chance to see the scenery and say "good morning" to pedestrians.

To have "horse sense" is to watch where one is going, to stay out of get-rich-quick speculations, to be abstemious in eating, to go to bed at reasonable hours, to say "neigh" to many golden-voiced invitations to desert the high road for devious by-paths leading to disillusionment and disaster.

Even though the modern man may ride in a highpowered automobile and prefer all the high-gear mechanism of civilization, he will probably do well to hold fast to some of those old-fashioned virtues of foresight, caution, serenity, and concentration to be found in the words "horse sense."

BETTER TIMES COMING!

Never before in Donley County have the people become so enthused with the idea of living at home.

The fact that canning is being done in practically every home at this time means better foods at less expense later.

The fact that poultry and dairy products, while too low in price, are yet being marketed to help out in the family budget, speaks well for the stamnia and confidence of our people to win.

WATTERS & McCRARY

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

At least once in the life of each of us comes a time when we may, if we will, sow the seed of financial success. It is the time when we begin to save and invest.

For most of us, it comes early in life; for others it comes later, after we have gained experience and perhaps suffered reverses.

The man who waits for the opportune time to come to begin saving, never finds that time—the best time is Now.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

Migosh! The rain saved at least one life and maybe several. Here's how it happened!! The professional rain maker of the Chamberlain community where he has been giving them dews, rains and floods all the year, dropped in to the Leader office Saturday afternoon to pay his respects.

Always glad to see that man Millsap though he hasn't been fair with the rest of the folks on the rain question, but about the time he got parked for a conversation, Sam Dale from over north of the river dropped in and Sam had been dry since way back in May.

From the very beginning the old Apostle saw that Sam had blood in his eye and had no doubt tracked the rain maker right into this joint for a show down. "How about our rain" was the first thing that Sam said.

Sam described the way the corn cotton and feed stuffer looked out his way and got ruder in the face and the "rainmaker" squirmed around in his chair and felt guilty as the dickens that he had gobbled all the rain for his bunch and shut out the folks north of the river without so much as a dew.

Sam got down to business and said: "Now we have stood for all this onesided foolishness we expect to put up with and we want a rain and we want it now."

A. L. Millsap may have been in tight places before, but he saw that something had to be done and he got down to business and promised Sam a rain—even a young flood before Monday. He went out and got some "monkeydoodle" oil for the rain machine and came back to see if the coast was clear and Sam was still right here waiting for the clouds to begin to show up.

Well Millsap went right home. He filled that rain machine with "hocuspocus" juice and slammed in a gallon of "monkeydoodle" oil and started the blamed thing at top speed. He kept her going at full speed until long after the rain started. The last gusher caught Sam in the field Monday morning and washed him into a drift against the back fence, but he never complained. He knew Millsap was doing his best to make peace. At last accounts Sam was sitting on his front porch singing the praises of the "rainmaker" and plenty willing to erect a monument to his memory if he should drown. Yes sir, Sam Dale pulled that rain north of the river.

Arthur E. Benson, who has something like a section and a half of wheat up in the Vega country is going to bring the Apostle some more bread stuff. But this is what we are proud of, and that is we found out Benson was from Arkansaw—down in the swamp end of the state.

He described the climate as he knew it back there as a boy when some had day chills, some two day chills and some had "buck-ager and fits." The fifties ones were used during persimmon time. Just tied them to a tree and let them shake 'em off while having the 'jerks' as they had no energy except when having a fit. He said they had hard chills, so hard that they wore out the bed clothing and when one felt a chill coming on he was parked in the yard to save the bed covers.

A jury of twelve men sitting on an important case happened to all have a chill at the same time and shook down the courthouse. That was the year he left for Texas.

W. C. Reeves brought in some dandy cantaloupes and Hawley A. Harrison landed with a sack of fresh corn. The neighbors have had a rest as the neighbors farther out have been keeping the family from starving. Thank you folks.

A local man whose name we are afraid to mention went into a store Saturday and wanted a pair of ladie's stockings. The clerk was right onto his job and asked, "do you want them for your wife or do you want something better?"

Who said that Virgil Johnson started to town with a crate of hens and that they laid so many eggs that he decided to sell the eggs and take the hens back home?

Been reading some California real estate advertising this week. It tells all about an old lady of 84 who went out there dead on her feet and within three weeks had totally recovered to the extent that she had joined the movie colony at Hollywood as a young lady of sixteen. She looked so well and made so much money that she had five different husbands the first year. Some climate!

Speaking of California, since Hoover left that state and got his big job, he has been a booster for California climate as he knows that climate and not brains put the deal through.

Anyway, things got along fine until the 'repression' hit the Republican party full in the face. Hoover got busy appointing some more commissions. Forty nine of these commissions agreed on two things that we had a depression and that it had to be changed to keep the Democrats from entering the commission business next time.

Hoover got the whole bunch together and it was finally agreed that the best thing to be done was to give the whole United States a California climate. Make grape fruit grow on Ozark mountain persimmon trees in other words.

It looked like a big undertaking but Hoover is a big engineer and he got busy with the blue prints and this is what hatched out: Dig a hole at the north pole and a hole at the south pole, fasten them together and squeeze the equator north which would give us a tropical climate.

The boys got busy on the job, dug the tunnels, connected up the machinery and Hoover pressed the button in Washington. What a disappointment! The cogs turned over just far enough to give us heat and no rain.

Another commission was appointed to investigate the trouble and what did they find but a Democratic monkeywrench in the cogs. Johnny Raskob, a half-baked Republican and owner of the Democratic party by a mortgage loan, caught on to the deal and hashed it to keep from losing the next election. There won't be any climatic changes this year.

Chevrolet Will Train Mechanics

Plans for the building and operation of a Chevrolet apprenticeship school of mechanical craftsmanship were announced, yesterday, by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

The school building, which will provide approximately 10,000 sq. feet of floor space, will be erected adjacent to the Chevrolet Detroit Gear and Axle Plant. Work on the proposed building will be started in the near future.

When completed the school will be equipped with every type of machine necessary to all finer mechanical arts and crafts, and the work will be directed by C. E. Wetherald, general manufacturing manager of Chevrolet.

The Chevrolet course will be an exact duplicate of the school operated by Chevrolet, in Flint. While preference will be given to sons of Chevrolet employes, all boys, mechanically inclined, between the ages of 16 and 18 years, will be eligible to enter the Chevrolet school. The normal course will occupy 4 years and the class will be limited to fifty boys.

"However," said Mr. Knudsen, "there will be no hard and fast rules governing the length of time the apprentices will be required to attend the school. Experience has shown that some boys progress much faster than others and these gifted youngsters will be advanced as rapidly as their work justifies."

During the first three months all apprentices entering the school will be placed on probation; if their work justifies the interest shown in them, they will be carried on until they are graduated as skilled craft men.

While attending the school the apprentices will be carried on the payrolls under a graduated pay scale. Upon completion of the course, the graduates will be assigned to skilled work in one of the 53 Chevrolet plants located in various parts of the country.

The course as outlined by Mr. Wetherald includes instruction in tool-making, die-making, pattern-making and general machine shop practice.

MOHAIR NOW CHEMICALLY TREATED TO PREVENT MOTH DAMAGE

U. S. LEADER IN MOHAIR INDUSTRY

First Goats Brought Here in '49; 17,000,000 Lbs. Clipped Yearly.

STYLES may come and styles may go, but in furniture as in everything else, but one kind of upholstery—mohair velvet—remains in constant popularity ever since the invention of power machinery put it within the reach of everyday folks, and not just of kings and nobles, as in previous centuries.

The demand for furniture covered with fabric made from the fleece of the angora goat has increased steadily until now the United States leads the world in angora goat raising and consequently in the production of mohair materials.

Its great durability is undoubtedly the chief reason why mohair velvet is an upholstery perennial. Not even the beauty and luster of its soft texture would suffice to win the housewife's repeated approval if mohair velvet, or velmo as it is often called, did not surpass all other materials in wearing quality. This is partly because the mohair itself is the longest wearing animal fiber known and partly because it is a pile fabric, with the wear coming on the ends of the fiber instead of along the sides. As high as 40,000 of these sturdy fibers are found to the square inch of mohair velvet.

Some knowledge of the physical structure and chemical composition of the mohair fiber is necessary to understand why it makes a superior upholstery fabric. Seen under a microscope the mohair fiber is smooth and shiny, with fewer scales or serrations than on the wool fiber. This means that it does not attract dirt so quickly, that dust tends to slide off the smooth hairs and that actual dirt is easily removed with a swift brushing with soap and water if necessary, without affecting the color.

Then, too, mohair takes a fast acid dye, so that the effects of sun and strong light need not be feared. Like all animal fibers, mohair is normally attractive to the pestiferous house moth, but now science has perfected a means of effect-ally and permanently mothproofing mohair velvet. It has been noticed that moths will actually die in preference to attacking the fabric. When one considers the tremendous amount of damage done annually by this innocent looking little insect, it is obvious that for this feature alone mohair recommends itself as the ideal fabric for fine furniture.

But, though mohair velvet remains popular season after season, its colors, patterns, and weaves change with the current fashion. Beautiful solid colors or two-tone weaves, period designs, modernistic effects or conventional patterns may all be had in mohair velvet. Sometimes the pile is cut to form the pattern, the remaining pile being stamped with a floral or other design. In other places the pattern is formed by cutting certain of the loops and the fabric is then called frieze. If the uncut portion predominates, it is called friezeette. Then again, the material may be hand-blocked in striking designs or woven on a jacquard loom with various colored mohair yarns.

Serve Mankind in Innumerable Ways

WAY back in Old Testament times, when a day of atonement was at hand, the sins of the people were symbolically placed on the head of a goat which was then allowed to escape into the wilderness; hence the word scapegoat, or blame-bearer, which has come down through the ages.

No longer made to endure this, the goat is, however, still serving mankind in a variety of other ways, especially the angora or mohair goat as it is called from its fleeces. All the time they are doing this they are growing a wonderful fleece of long, silky, white mohair which is clipped once or twice a year and sent to the mills for manufacturing into fabrics.

The pile material resulting, known as velmo or mohair velvet, is in great demand as upholstery for automobiles, trains, busses and airplanes, as well as for fine furniture in the home, because it will wear practically forever, and is as easy to keep clean as it is beautiful to look at. It is one of the most satisfactory fibers known for dyeing. Mohair, unlike wool, cannot be felted, but is permanently resilient and springy and therefore cool and comfortable in use.

McKNIGHT

The opening exercises of the McKnight school were held in the Community house Monday morning of the 27th. A number of patrons and the trustees spoke in an interesting manner bespeaking the interest that is taken in school affairs in this enterprising community.

With capable, conscientious teachers and apt pupils and an earnest School Board and the backing of loyal patrons, the school term is bound to be a success.

Teachers who are retained from last term are Messrs. Raymond Grady and Harry Matthews and Miss Winnie Speir. Mrs. L. C. McCrory and E. H. Estlack are new additions to the faculty. School is progressing in a splendid manner and the basketball team has entered into their work with a zeal that bodes well for many victories this season.

Beginning Monday, and for the next ten days, at 8 p. m. each evening a singing school will be conducted for those who may be interested. We are looking forward to a good attendance and much profit and pleasure.

The attendance at Sunday school was cut short due to a rain about that hour. The Christian Sunday school in the afternoon was well attended.

Everyone is rejoicing over the bountiful rain that fell Sunday night. It came just in time to save the parching crops. We have wonderful prospects now.

Mrs. D. L. Walker happened to a serious accident late Saturday afternoon when a can of corn which she had just canned exploded burning her face and arms. Her injuries

Latest reports state that she will be compelled to undergo another operation. Her many friends here learn of her misfortune with much regret.

BANKERS SUGGEST BANKING REFORMS

Economic Policy Commission of American Bankers Association Recommends Aids to Progress in Banking Business.

FOLLOWING a nation-wide survey of banking conditions and opinion among bankers, the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association has made the following recommendations for banking betterment:

"Under the category of improved bank management specific improvements we might summarize are:

"(1) Liquidation or consolidation of banks where changed local economic conditions render this desirable;

"(2) Wider affiliation among state banks with the Federal Reserve System;

"(3) Development of limited branch banking where economic conditions and legal authority make this expedient;

"(4) A more general practice, especially lacking among country banks, to analyze the cost of carrying accounts and other operating details and the establishment of proper service charges to make all classes of function profitable;

"(5) A more general application of the theory and practice of secondary reserves;

"(6) Avoidance by banks of undue borrowing merely to increase their own profits by re-lending at higher rates, or to over-expand credit to local business in order to increase their own business;

"(7) Cooperation among bankers in local communities through city, county or regional clearinghouses so as to promote mutually beneficial conditions and practices;

"(8) The insistence upon higher educational effort and qualifications among employees, especially those to be trusted with executive duties.

Legislative Measures Proposed
"There are some external measures, along moderate legislative and supervisory lines, that we also believe would help strengthen banking. Among these are:

"(1) The broadening in the states of branch banking laws where conditions warrant an extension of this type of banking service to the public;

"(2) The establishment of sound minimum capital funds under which banks will be allowed to operate, which should be materially higher than now prevails in most states; specifically, we believe that the minimum capital with which any new bank shall be chartered, whether state or national, should be at least $50,000;

"(3) The provision of funds and regulations to keep the official staffs of all supervisory departments up to a level of ability and integrity that will universally inspire confidence among bankers whose activities they are empowered to review, and will supply real added defenses to the public interests they are appointed to protect.

"(4) In connection with the policies of bank chartering departments, we would recommend that, even to a greater extent than is now the practice, the greatest care and moderation should be exercised in granting new charters, so as to guard against over-banking or the launching of new banks by unqualified persons, which have doubtless been serious factors in the bank failure situation in the past.

"(5) Also, referring to Federal Reserve practice not requiring legislation, we believe that the Federal Reserve Banks should exercise more freely their rights to examine banks and use their discretionary power to refuse rediscount facilities to banks indulging in objectionable banking methods."

Banker-Farmer Plan

An editorial in Southern Cultivator says: "Favorable comment is being made upon the wisdom and promised results of the farmer-banker agricultural program in Georgia. Industrial leaders and publicists, noting that 115 of the 161 counties in the state have pledged prosecution of the 'live-at-home' farm reform, are regarding the working out of the plan this year as of more interest to American farmers than any developments of the Soviet five-year plan in Russia. Agricultural activities are of the opinion that if Georgia farmers, backed by our co-operating bankers and supply men, demonstrate the expected economies and profits of this home-support plan, it will quickly become a contagious custom all over the agricultural areas of the nation. It will be the writing of a new 'declaration of independence' for the individualist farmers of the country, putting them upon solid terms of credit and prosperity without need of recourse to federal or state financial relief measures. The man of the soil who lives year in and year out on his own will stand up in his community as an economic freeman, making his own terms with the world of finance and trade."

TREASURE HUNT

One of the most interesting parties the Senior B. Y. P. U. has enjoyed was the Treasure Hunt engaged in Friday night. Incidentally, Friday night had been chosen earlier in the week for the moonlight. But nothing like clouds shutting out the moonlight could daunt this crowd, so with the aid of a flash light and the car lights, the hunt continued.

On arrival at the church, the first sealed envelope of directions was found in a prominent place—not so the others, however it required searching to find them. Then when the important sealed directions were found, not just any one could open them. For example, all were momentarily stumped at one place by the requirement that only the person who could stick out their tongue and touch their ear could open the envelope.

After a merry chase, with various experiences, the happy group found themselves back at the church where a search revealed a hint that treasures might sometimes be found in trunks as well as chests. This was all that was needed to cause a stampede to the Goldston car where an abundance of ice-cold cantaloupes were discovered. Some one else found the needed implements, and the pirates made short work of dividing and appropriating the treasure.

Those enjoying the treasure hunt were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldston, Misses Marie Cauthen, Mary Lowe, Agatha Taylor, Ruth Thompson, Sara Thompson, Agnes Oakley, Gertrude Shepherd, Afton Lusk, Messrs. Verna Lusk, Carroll Holtzclaw, J. D. Holtzclaw, U. Z. Fatterson.

More Letters That Entered The Prize Contest

As stated last week, from time to time we will give space to the best letters written in the prize contest on the subject of "Why merchants should advertise in the Leader."

Here is one just a bit different from all others, written by a farmer's wife of the Chamberlain community and a lady who is careful to study advertising looking for bargains as every thrifty housewife should.

The letter: That it pays to advertise is no longer a doubt in the mind of the successful business man. Then where should he advertise for best results? In the Donley County Leader of course.

First: It has a greater circulation than any other paper in the Clarendon trade territory.

Second: It's a common paper read and appreciated in the homes of two thousand common people.

Third: The public approves of the square deal it seeks to give all alike. They like its clean-cut expression of calling a spade a spade.

Fourth: The Leader is a well balanced paper that is read by all the family.

And last but not least, the Leader is humbly working for the up-building of all of Donley county, and merits the support of the business man.

In conclusion I would say—The housewife scans it's pages each week, For specials her daily needs to meet.

Mr. Merchant, if your's isn't there she will wonder why, And scamper away to a store nearby.

The farmer is busy the whole year round, He reads the Leader where bargains are found.

Then put your ad in the Leader and send it away, For surely this paper is taking the day.

—Mrs. W. A. Hughes

Judge and Mrs. J. R. Porter made a business trip over in New Mexico the first of the week.

"Pumpkin, squash and beets may be canned in C enamel if it is desired, but commercially the Sanitary enamel is preferred. Since C enamel cans are lighter in color the pumpkin appears a little darker in them than when packed in Sanitary enamel cans. This is due to the contrast of color. C enamel cans prevent bleaching of beets as well as the Sanitary enamel, but are less desirable because after a considerable length of storage small corroded areas appear in the C enamel cans in which beets are packed. These areas are not noticeable when beets are packed in Sanitary enamel cans.

"Green beans when canned in C enamel or glass do not change in color but retain the uneven coloring normal to them. When canned in plain tin an interaction with the metal makes the color uniform. Green beans have a slightly solvent action on tin but the quantity extracted during normal storage is not harmful. Plain tin is preferred commercially because of the uniform color obtained.

"Spinach should not be canned in C enamel. This enamel contains a zinc oxide which reacts with chlorophyll and causes bleaching where the spinach is in contact with the can. A similar action is thought to take place with other greens, as chard and turnip greens, though it seems this has not been proven experimentally." (Dr. Louise Stanley, Chief, Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. D. A., Washington, D. C.)

"Research and practical experience have demonstrated that non-acid food products, like asparagus, beans, corn, peas, beets, spinach, meats, and fish, cannot be safely canned by processing in boiling water, but must be sterilized under pressure with approved time and temperature." (A. F. Woods, Director of Scientific Work, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.)

LELIA LAKE

Another fine rain Sunday night insures a bumper crop in this community. We never had a better prospect. Canning vegetables seems to be the order of the day.

At last folks have come to the realization that home-canned foods is one good way to head off Old Man hard times. There is plenty of it to can, and besides that, the truck farmers are selling load after load to people who carry it off to other parts and either sell it fresh to the consumer, or store it away in cans for their own use. In our opinion, the canning idea is the finest thing for the people that has happened along in many a year.

If baby has COLIC

At 3 in the night. Colic! No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy. This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never harm. It is the sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's a need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it safe for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than strong medicine meant only for adults.

Finger Prints Reveal American Legion Impostor

The article printed below was taken from the "Finger Print Magazine" loaned to the Leader by E. B. Pierce, local finger print expert, and published for the benefit of the interest Legion boys might have in an article of this kind.

The article is as follows: All people interested in finger print identification work, and especially American Legion men will be interested in reading the report of the splendid finger print work of Lieut. Ira Barend and George Williams of Hanson Post No. 54, Amarillo, Texas. The following is the report as written especially for Finger Print Magazine by Lt. Barend. Read it.

The writer, a student of the Institute of Applied Science, is one of the Assistant Service Officers, Hanson Post No. 54, American Legion, Amarillo, Texas. First, I believe it my duty to set forth a little history of my Post. In 1929, Hanson Post No. 54 was the largest Post in the State of Texas, and considered the most active Post not only in the State but near by states. The primary function of this organization is to help those who cannot help themselves, which is one of the principles of that great document "The Preamble to the American Legion." The relief work of my organization is one of the most active to be found anywhere. It is not only our duty to help our local veterans but those who come to us for assistance.

Being located geographically in approximately the center of the United States between the cities of New York and San Francisco, we are flooded continually with what is known as "floaters," who arrive either via freight, hitch-hiking or touring in a broken-down car. The bulk of these wanderlusts make their stop in Amarillo, the general run being from the coast to Douglas, Arizona, El Paso, Amarillo, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Chicago, and then to New York. The trend of the "Knight of the Road" is, as explained, when spring comes and the reverse when winter comes. They arrive in Amarillo destitute, no funds, no place to sleep nor eat and make their night's lodging and meals by mulching the American Legion on the basis they are ex-service men. This is not a new story to our Post, but it is an indication that hundreds of these men tour the country on the presumption that they are ex-service men, and in many cases the Post Service Officer or Post Adjutant is not sufficiently well posted to cross examine them as to their military status. Although the Post-officials may be men of long years of military service, they can be fooled, as in this case.

On February 21st, Mr. Floyd Sloan, an Adjutant whose work is untiring, phoned me to make an investigation as to the status of a veteran at 414 East 4th St. by the name of Louis Hayden, who claimed to be an ex-service man. I proceeded to the place and learned that the owner of the cot house had been keeping him for about two months; also furnished him his meals. The first question propounded by me was: "Are you an ex-service man?" to which he replied, "Top Kick in— Ammunition Train, enlisted— at — discharged on— He stated he had been on a compensation status and was cut off not knowing the cause, that his case file was in the Regional Office, Des Moines, Iowa. His complaint was that of heart trouble, and, during the conversation, the writer having served in the United States Army for 16 years 5 months and 14 days, spoke to him in plain soldier language, and he convinced me beyond a reasonable doubt that he had seen service in the United States Army.

However, Mr. Sloan, the Post Adjutant, sent a telegram to the Regional Manager United States Veterans' Bureau, Des Moines, Iowa, and received reply from him that no record was on file of Louis Hayden. Another telegram sent to the Central Office, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, furnishing every available data, and the reply was "this office or Adjutant General's office unable to identify Louis Hayden from information given; verify name; furnish finger prints and other identifying data."

In the meantime he became so ill that I spoke with the city health officer to place him in the hospital. The health officer, however, informed me that Hayden had already been in the city hospital on three different occasions and nothing could be done for him, other than have him remain quiet.

However, Mr. Sloan, the Adjutant urged that he place him in the hospital until definite information be received to verify whether he was an ex-service man or not. This our city health officer agreed to do. Hayden's condition was so grave that it was necessary to leave him at the St. Anthony hospital, where every effort was being made to save his life, practically on his death bed.

With another student of the Institute of Applied Science, George Williams, we proceeded to the hospital and under difficulty we took his finger prints. He was still conscious and I asked him again whether he was certain that he served in the Army during the war, to which he replied in the affirmative. We classified the prints and forwarded them to the Central Office in Washington, also to the identification department, and the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Washington.

Prior to receipt of this communication, the alleged ex-service man of the World War died; he was held in the morgue, pending the desired information, and when the definite data was furnished, buried in Potter's Field.

An organization as large and great as the American Legion is utterly helpless in cases of this character, as no method has ever been suggested for adoption to check up on these wanderlusts and until such time the American Legion will be a charitable institution to the "Knights of the Road" who are not ex-service men of the late war. It is evident that Louis Hayden had lived near an army post or had associated with veterans considerably, as he was well posted on the service, and had made it his living to mulch from the American Legion Posts.

MOHAIR ONCE SOLE RIGHT OF KINGS NOW EVERY AMERICAN'S PRIVILEGE

MOHAIR IS CLOTH OF KINGS, PRINCES

Temple of King Solomon Hung With Veils Made From Hair of Goats.

IMAGINE your surprise if you walked into a shop today and asked for a purple dress, hat or tie and were told that it was a color exclusively reserved for the President and his Cabinet? Or wanted to purchase a chair and found that only members in the society Blue Book were entitled to such luxuries. That would have been the case years back, when purple was a color for kings only, and only the nobility were accorded the privilege of chairs.

In the same way, mohair, a material made from the fleece of the angora goat, was once the privilege of royalty and quite unknown to the commoner. Back in 1031 B. C. King Solomon made use of this luxurious material for his royal robes and ordered the veils of the famous Temple to be hung "with cloth from the hair of the goat." And for centuries to come, mohair was used only in the palaces of the rich and mighty, for draperies, hangings and fine upholsteries. Today in 1931, A. D., mohair velvet or velvet is no less cherished but within the reach of every private citizen. The business man commutes to his office in a railway coach whose seats are upholstered in the familiar red or green mohair velvet. At night, he throws himself into an easy chair or day-enport finished with this luxurious pile fabric. He takes his family, driving in a car lined in the same material and throws a lap-rug of luxurious mohair velvet over their knees, taking his right to the best as a matter of course, in true American fashion.

The mohair of long ago, however, prized as it was by kings and potentates, was not the rich, pile fabric that is available today. Science has perfected the means of taking out most of the kemp from the fleece and weaving the silky hair into a fabric whose luster and beauty vie with its durability and comfort. Because of the unique physical structure of the individual fibers, mohair takes a perfect, non-fading dye. As mohair is woven on a cotton warp which takes a different shade of dye and must be dyed separately, most effective two-tone color combinations are obtained. Mohair velvet is also made in a variety of hand-blocked patterns, with a cut-pile or in an interesting loop-and-pile weave that makes for endless variety of patterns and effects.

While the chief application of mohair is for furniture, automobile and railway coach upholstery, it is also used for clothing, draperies, theatre curtains, miniature golf courses, stuffed animals, trimmings and a variety of other uses.

A Forgotten Island

Bali Bali, a south seas islet not far from Java, is one of the few places on the globe where the natives are still natives. Here for centuries the half-clad brown-skinned maidens have trod in stately mile-long processions along country roads, carrying on their heads bulking temple offerings, and the men have regaled themselves with cock-fighting or playing in their village orchestras.

"The Dutch have possessed the island since 1908," notes a recent visitor, Lillian Dow Davidson, in the August Rotarian Magazine, "but so kindly is the guiding hand of this great colonizing nation that you get the impression the Balinese are governing themselves. And to prevent interference in the religion of the people, which envelops them like a cloak, the Dutch have discouraged the establishment of foreign missions here."

Marriage on the isle, like most everything else, is the exact opposite of western customs, the author notes. It consists of a three-day elopement—a sort of trial marriage. After the temple ceremonies have been completed the wife, who is the "business-man" of the house, may find that her husband costs her too much.

"Their frequently," Mrs. Davidson reports "she talks a girl friend into the job of second wife to help in his support. The girl friend, in knowing full well that she must share a man with some one else, consents and anther elopement takes place."

Carrying burdens on their heads gives the Balinese maidens a rare beauty of form. The Balinese pay little attention to the few tourists who have found their island, and happily go on their way not conscious that their western cousins are gauging them by western habits and standards.

But the tourists in increasing numbers is discovering Bali, "Jewel of the South Seas." And, advises Mrs. Davidson, if you would see it with its naturalness yet unspoiled, visit it soon, for "perhaps in a short five years much of the real charm will be gone."

Hedley Mutual Insurance Manager Visits Here

W. C. Bridges, secretary of the Hedley Mutual Protective Association, was here Monday attending to business and talking mutual insurance.

Quite a number of local people have been members of this mutual for a long number of years, and several not so long, and it is considered one of the best in the Panhandle, after an existence of 18 years.

Mr. Bridges reported plenty of rain in his section and a bumper crop in sight though the rain came in the nick of time to save it.

Ancient Hobo Printer Calls At Leader Office

Jack Allen, better known to the printers of the nation as the "Walking Wampus Cat", and one of the three remaining hobo printers who have been on the road since 1880, stopped at the Leader office to pay the usual respects Wednesday.

The writer first met him while an employee of the Bowie Blade in 1897. Despite his 85 years, the old man looks pretty much the same. Born in 1845, he served a year and nine months in Forrest's cavalry during the Civil War. He worked on the Atlanta Constitution when Henry W. Grady was editor in the hand-spike days.

He spent the winter in Mississippi and is headed for "some where" west. Harmless and inoffensive, never married, friend of every one and a professional gladiator. Very few real hobo printers on the road any more, the picking is slim and times have changed. He was given some money and a brand new coat and sent on his way rejoicing.

Interviewing Young Member Rising Generation

You can never tell much about what a boy is thinking about and little more about what he does. J. S. Shadle, Jr. who claims to have rounded out his seventh year on the 16th of July, was in the Leader office Wednesday and kindly consented, after much persuasion to an interview.

As a lad of seven he owns a bulldog. He also goes in for Chinchilla rabbits, owning two of them until recently. Due to a misunderstanding between the bulldog and the rabbit herd, his rabbit crop was damaged fifty percent. In fact the dog killed half of them and he has only one left.

He owns eleven fancy red chickens in his own name. Besides being a poultry raiser, he has a cotton patch all to himself. Pretty good for a youngster who looks forward with pride to starting to school next year. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Shadle are the parents and the home is near Ashtola.

O. E. Harvey is Recovering From Serious Illness

About two o'clock Thursday afternoon, O. E. Harvey, employee of the West Texas Utilities company was stricken down with what is said to be an apoplectic condition caused from a clot of blood on the brain said to have resulted from the pulling of a tooth some days before.

He was rushed to Adair hospital where his wife is a member of the staff of nurses. His condition steadily grew more critical until he is said to have become almost totally paralyzed.

He began to recover the first of the week and was removed to his home Wednesday night of this week where he is rapidly recovering. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harvey of Trenton, Missouri came when notified of his condition and have been with him.

Mr. Harvey's recovery will be source of gratification to his many friends who have learned to appreciate his personal worth and because of his extreme courtesy in representing the company with which he has been associated some time.

Camp Fire Girls Disband Saturday During Rain

The week spent at their beautiful camp ground near the Country Club will ever remain in the minds of the Camp Fire girls. Due to the rain, they also had an excellent opportunity to test out their new building finding it most satisfactory.

A large number of parents and friends were present for the Camp Fire drill and program Thursday night. The rain Friday night and Saturday morning brought thrills instead of discomfort and the more than forty girls were loath to leave for home Saturday.

Billie Laverne Rampey Comes Back Home Saturday

Most every one knows Billie Laverne. She is the girl who has been crippled since an attack of infantile paralysis less than two years ago. She is now twelve.

The members of the local Lions club saw that she was taken to Amarillo for an examination. The encouragement received at that time induced them to pay her expenses to Dallas where she has been treated for some three weeks in the Shriner hospital.

Now Billie Laverne is home again and is lots better. While the greater portion of her body is yet in a cast, she can walk some, and it looks like she will be able to romp and play like normal girls do within a few months.

Cigarette Law Will Become Effective August 22nd

At midnight of August the 21st unstamped cigarette package sales are to stop according to advices received from the State Treasurer's office Wednesday.

Stamps may be purchased of a local bank, or may be had from the office of the State Treasurer if a money order is enclosed with the request. The stamp act imposes extra duties upon the sheriffs of the state in that it is a state and not a federal law in this particular case. Sheriffs are directed to keep a close watch for unstamped packages in order to help the state get out of the red by receipt of stamp purchase money.

Trays for Yuletide Gifts

Trays are registered as especially "smart" Yuletide gifts in current holiday displays. Of the making of attractive trays, there seems to be no end this season. Like everything else in interior decoration trays have gone English to a great extent, depicting quaint stage-coach themes, and colorful hunting scenes. Contrasting these are exquisite effects which are French in their dainty rococo design and antique-lacquered flower colorings.
