Liquidly Speaking.

The dry weather cut the late corn crop down to about a pint to the acre.

The Grumblers.

After listening to a number of knockers before the rain, it is a good thing the Lord's term does not expire this year for he could not be re-elected.

The Social Elite.

Tramp printers report social conditions on the road this year as being greatly improved. All railroads let 'em ride now to keep them from tearing up the track.

Too Late! Too Late!

It's a cinch that if the financiers and politicians of Europe had known in 1914 what they now know, the World War would have been a small affair if at all.

Funny Thing.

Lotteries may be carried on without any kick in most any community, but if the local paper tells who won the prize, his paper is barred from the mails, he's thrown in jail and fined on top of it all.

And it Rained.

Up until Sunday night there was two places badly in need of rain. It rained in one of them and Donley county is ready to go ahead with the winter pasture planting and fall garden idea.

Calamitous Age.

If conditions continue into the winter, we may expect a lot of folks in the cities who are hungry, cold and broke, to break out when they get to the stage that six shooters are used for baby rattles and butcherknives for toothpicks.

Sow Turnip Patch.

The recent rain makes it possible for a turnip patch to be started. With the turnips sow rape, spinach, mustard, kale and lettuce. Green foods are most in demand during colder weather, and these varieties will last well into the winter.

That Cotton Plan.

Now that our state has a brand new 30% cotton growing plan, whether it is constitutional or not, the bankers will have to get busy and put it over by withholding loans from those who would overcrop.

The bankers have put over a gigantic canning and feed growing program all over the south. They can remedy the cotton situation better than any law enforcement body if it takes cotton reduction to accomplish the desired results.

The Roundup.

Several west Texas towns are this week rounding up the vagrant class and giving them their choice of either becoming self-supporting or moving on.

No town has a right to shove this nuisance on to the next town. Every town should "clean house" and force the vagrants to hit the cotton patch if nothing else suits their fancy. There is plenty of cotton picking in this section now, and certainly no reason for one to accept charity if able-bodied.

Tax Problems.

Taxpayers this winter will get a better idea of the great need for tax reform. Taxes are as high as last year in most places, and in some localities, taxes will be higher than last year.

Most everything else is down or coming down. The commodities from which means are secured with which to pay taxes, are way down. Our officials should use every method possible to reduce taxes accordingly.

"get by" rather than "earn" and return full measure for the earnings with which to accomplish greater things without depending upon some one else.

Honesty in Office.

During the recent cotton controversy at Austin, A. A. Allison, a Navarro county farmer addressed the State Senate in behalf of the cotton growers in which he said:

"I exhort the members to a faithful acceptance of their responsibility to be loyal and prevent further loss of confidence in the Senate as a representative body."

Senator Joe Moore arose and stoutly resented the remarks of Allison and asked that he be stopped.

Senator Woodward gained the floor and said: "I thank God we live under a government where all people can cuss it when they please and if more of them did it on the stump and in the newspaper, we would be better off and solve our problems faster."

In other words, Senator Woodward did not exactly favor the idea of Senator Joe Moore in an attempt to quench the farmer speaking, by making it appear that the said farmer was insulting the dignity of the Senate when he asked members to maintain its respectability.

The great mass of farmers over the state of Texas should remember their friends in this battle for right when they come up for reelection next year. They will likely remember their enemies—and should.

Poverty And Progress.

Just what the County Commissioners will do about the cut-off on Highway 88 from the corner of the Dave Johnson farm to Highway 5 west of the Fitzgerald Gin in the northwest part of Clarendon, is yet to be seen. They have taken no action on the matter.

It is said that the State Highway Department proposes to grade the roadbed if the county will buy the right-of-way. The reasons advanced for the change are that it will shorten the highway somewhat, and will also steer the traveler away from the City's dump ground where it is said the stench has become obnoxious.

We favor progress and we are not altogether enthusiastic about stenches. But at this time when the County Board must transfer funds from other accounts to replenish the General Fund, and the taxpayers have all the burden necessary to make life miserable, it looks to one on the side lines as being wholly unnecessary at this time.

The bridge idea north of Hedley was said to have been dropped because of taxpayers making a kick. What will the same taxpayers think of changing a highway that is in first-class condition to a new roadbed that must be constructed over a bunch of sandhills merely that the time of the speed demon be shortened in making his required mileage?

So far as grading the roadbed of the proposed route is concerned, that may be done within a few days by using the county machinery. We are not opposed to this or any other highway improvement, but we do think that the interests of the taxpayers should be protected at this particular time.

G. G. Kemp had business in Amarillo Monday.

ESSAY ON HABIT

A story is told of an English school master who offered a prize to the boy who should write the best composition in five minutes, on "how to Overcome Habit." At the expiration of the five minutes, the compositions were read: The prize went to a lad of nine years. Following is his essay: "Well, sir, habit is hard to overcome. If you take off the first letter, it does not change it 'abit.' If you take off another that you still have a 'bit' left. If you take off still another, the whole of 'it' remains. If you take off another it is not wholly used up: all of which goes to show that if you want to get rid of a habit you must it off altogether."

A gentleman slipped on the stair of the subway and started gliding to the bottom. Half way down he collided with a lady, knocking her off her feet, and the two continued the journey together. After they had reached the bottom, the lady, still dazed, continued to sit on the gentleman's chest. Looking up at her politely, he finally said: "Madam, I'm sorry, but this is as far as I go."

Miss Clarice Quattlebaum of Ralls is spending the week end with relatives in Clarendon. "When in Rome did you do as the Romans do?" "No—my wife was with me."

PLANT FOOD AND FEED

The recent rain makes it possible to plant winter pasture. Seed is cheap and a green pasture means much to the dairy industry with cream advancing in price.

Plant a fall garden. Keep the canning season going. Plenty of feed and food means more money to the grower in the saving effected.

While fearful monsters sported on the shores of PENNSYLVANIA

A HUNDRED MILLION years ago—millions of years before even these strange monsters sported in the seas—nature formed the Bradford-Allegany oil pool.

That was in the Devonian Age. In this age the conditions of heat, pressure and raw materials in the Bradford-Allegany District were most favorable to forming high grade crude for lubricating oil—so favorable that today Bradford-Allegany crude commands the highest price per barrel of all Pennsylvania grade crudes. Just note the prices in any petroleum journal.

When you buy the new, improved Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil for your car you get a pure Pennsylvania grade oil that is made 100% from Bradford-

Allegany crude. You get an oil that has gone through the most up-to-date refining processes in the biggest single refinery using Pennsylvania grade crude exclusively—an oil that is triple-filtered, de-waxed at as low as 60° F. below zero—and guaranteed to flow at zero.

Have us change your oil to Sinclair Pennsylvania according to the Sinclair Law of Lubrication. Then examine this oil after long, hard driving. Note how it stands up—how it comes out of the crankcase almost as good as it went in. Note, especially, how little has been used up—positive, visible proof that this rich, Pennsylvania oil protects the last mile as well as the first!

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
 By the Apostle

Migosh! The old Apostle has been trying to save the cotton farmer. No one else would. Look at that picture. Our sweat is falling off in gobs while the poor cotton farmer is going down for the final count of three.

Right when you thought the boys down at Austin were going to do something, the most of them got sore and put in their time 'cussin' Louisiana instead of trying to stabilize the cotton industry and relieve the tired men, women and children in the cotton patch.

Every one of that bunch that refused to do anything, or even try, ought to be taken to west Texas, made to drink hot gyp water and pick cotton on a cornbread diet.

Just had a wire from Wolfe City down in Hunt county where they have a skeeter epidemic. They put cow bells on some of them so they will scare the rest of them off. They claim that some of the skeeters look like airplanes, only larger.

The Apostle hung his head out the car window Tuesday night to get a good look at a petting party on the highway and his whiskers got caught in the wheel and what happened to his whiskers was something awful. The girl staging the petting party came in Wednesday and offered to put a finger wave in what we had left, provided the Good Woman won't object. Well, there won't be any finger waving of whiskers right now.

Well, sir, the Apostle has figured out perpetual motion. The power to run the machine comes from a round wheel with a 9 on one side and a 6 on the other. The 9 at the top of the wheel is more than the 6 and its weight turns the wheel until the 6 gets to the top. Then the 6 turns to a nine and pulls the 9 that has turned to a 6 back to the top again. The wheel has been running several days without a stop and the mystery is solved. The power runs the churn and the washing machine and has about run the inventor crazy.

It's the little things that hurt us most. You can sit on a mountain, but how about a tack?

A lady was in this week to ask what rule we used for punctuating. That's easy, she was told as the old Apostle wisely rolled his eyes to the ceiling for any kind of an idea that might break loose hoping his brains would come out for air.

We told her we took a chaw and when we held our breath as long as we could, we slammed in a comma. When we had to spit, we put in a semicolon. When we spat out the chaw, we stuck in a period. When we took another chaw, we made a new paragraph. She understood perfectly and apologized for being so ignorant.

Well Jim Pharr has been up from that Brice country again. He is the only competitor the Apostle has in the line of brains. Jim is eating pea hulls for breakfast food and says they have less jute and rubber in 'em than the kind he has been buying. He took home a sausage mill and expects to make breakfast food out of corn shucks. He explains that with the addition of a little glue, corn shucks make a better breakfast mess than that we have been buying of the goober hull varieties all these years.

The College Hill Widow says it is just as dangerous for a married woman to come home without rouge on her lips as it is for the married man to be caught with it on.

Mrs. F. C. Johnson has been having her men folks shell peas with a clothes wringer. The small end of the pod is inserted first. The process is said to work perfectly. She has canned more this year than for several years put together.

Was talking with a farmer friend Saturday when he mentioned the fact that he had to raise about $70 to make the federal farm loan payment on his farm. Why, durn me, the school tax alone is more than that on my home. Some folks don't know when they are well off.

R. W. Moore walked into the Leader office Saturday armed with some of that good brand of John Thomas syrup. R. W. came in to see if 'lick' was just as acceptable as canned goods. And it was. R. W. is one of the best farmers in his section using the tractor method and his crops are in good condition except for one thing--the price.

Our idea of a smart woman is one who looks over the Leader advertisements every week to find where she can get the best bargains. The saving on one grocery bill alone is often worth the price of a year's subscription.

Just about the time the Apostle gets his mind made up that he knows it all, along comes something that knocks it all out of him. After eating every kind of meat from skunks to grizzly bears, he thinks he savvies meats. He has eaten about everything that grows in the line of fruits and vegetables even to bear grass.

But he learned something more this past week. He found out that a sweet pickle can be made from cucumbers, flavored with seeds and leaves and it just about beats anything the old Apostle ever tasted in the line of women-fixings. This sample was one jar of a lot from Mrs. Tom Naylor, and we sure thank her.

Yes, and there's something else. Col. Millsap, the weather bureau, brought in a head of "Maco", which is a kind of maize, that measured 17 inches in length and weighed over seven pounds. Who can beat it? The fellow who beats that will have to break the record.

Oh yes, Mrs. E. P. Hahn who lives in the Goldston community exchanged a fine assortment of pickles for the Leader. A jar of sweet pickles tempted the Apostle and if she can cook and fix other things like she does pickles, there's another fine cook in old Donley. Thank you, Mrs. Hahn.

1931 market report: Cotton "snappy" but disappointing; eggs quiet but expected to open soon; cream too fresh to associate with coconut oil; onions, strong; yeast rising but badly jarred; whiskey going down; hats inclined to be derbyish and slipping to the side; purses flat and somewhat neglected. Live stock more in demand. Young men unsteady; girls lively; papas firm but declining; mamas unsettled and waiting for higher bids.

Look who's come! A jellybean writes in from Sponge Squirts and suggests that the Apostle use hair oil on his whiskers so that they won't look so ragged in a picture. Our boys use cup grease on their hair, but the Apostle never felt like he needed anything to keep him going, but he has needed something to stop him several times.

The fellow who had to tie knots in his horses' tails last spring to keep them from pulling through the collar will have plenty of feed this winter. Rye and wheat make good winter pasture. The Apostle is having some wheat sowed for cow pasture this week. Green pasture is more than a joke when snow flies.

An eating house proprietor up on the plains must have been stung about as often as Lee Muse judging from the reading on signs in his cafe. One reads: "Go ahead and ask for credit. We will refuse gracefully." Another sign reads: "We will crank your Ford or hold your baby, but we'll see you in h - - - before we will cash a check for a stranger."

Helping people to help themselves is the best form of practical christianity. No institution in the nation is doing more real good right now than the Shriner Hospital at Dallas. The good done there is traceable into every community almost in the state.

Some months ago Billie Laverne Rampey was a little crippled girl unknown to even some of her neighbors. Her case was called to the attention of the surgeons of the Shriner Institute, friends and practical christians made it possible to help her parents take her to Dallas and to the Shriner hospital.

Today Billie Laverne can walk, go places and see things. A new world has been opened to her again and she takes up tasks left off two years ago when she fell a victim of infantile paralysis following an appendix operation.

Her father, M. C. Rampey, will take her to Dallas soon for the final operation that will enable her to again be practically normal. What a wonderful thought to be of some help to the helpless. What a wonderful thought it must be for those who have helped to realize that they have rescued a life that was blasted, to have taken a pain-stricken body doomed to a life of invalidism and brought it out into God's bright sunshine and the great out of doors to become useful—a living monument to the fact that practical christianity still lives.

This has been a busy week. The daughters-in-law have been around most all the time. In every argument they side with the Good Woman. Next to a mother-in-law, a daughter-in-law is the worst, if not the worstest. They had the Apostle peel apples, thresh out peas, beat the rugs, run errands but everything is done now except the washin' and ironing. Next to being henpecked, there is only one thing worse—having a woman who won't stay at home.

Well I'll be durned! Here some folks are wanting to change the highway going out of town on the north side just because the city dump ground stinks. It has been stinking for twelve years to my certain knowledge, so why holler now when the tax payers are least able to stand the strain.

The taxpayers of Donley county can better afford to make other arrangements to get the over-fastidious by the dump grounds rather than change the highway. Buy 'em gas masks until the financial squall is over. Good lord, Maggie, hold our heads—we're about to vomit. High taxes is the cause, not the dump pile.

Model—"I'm vaccinated where it doesn't show."
 Artist—"Did you take it in a capsule, baby?"

"Hey, Percy, you took the wrong medicine—you drank the horse liniment."
 "Oh, deah me, what an ass I am!"

FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE

MYSTERY of the "HIDDEN QUART"

AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its first fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and is driven 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing . . . but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles, and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

The above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive.

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the things that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple—no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember—The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage . . . does not burn up, wear out nor evaporate. It is "present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this.

After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give.

Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free Entry Blank which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest.

Brice Gets Second Big Rain Over The Week Wednesday

What amounted to a young flood was the local rain covering several sections that fell on Brice Flat Wednesday afternoon.

This follows the near two-inch rain of Sunday night and affords plenty of moisture for late feed and winter pasture sowings. Cotton has been damaged considerably by the high wind Sunday night and the rains following.

Robert Patton Is Improving From Recent Injury

Information received by Mr. A. H. Baker Wednesday is to the effect that Robert Patton is slowly improving from a recent injury in a gasoline plant explosion that nearly cost his life, as stated in the Leader last week.

His hearing has improved somewhat but his eyesight is badly injured, the sight in one eye possibly destroyed. Severe injuries to his hip the extent of which has not been determined due to the fact that he is not able to stand an X-ray examination as yet.

HEDLEY SCHOOL NEWS

The Parent Teacher Association met Thursday September 17 with about forty-five members present. The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. A. Pirtle after which Mrs. Vineyard took charge of the program. By laws and constitution were read by Mrs. Masterson.

Mr. Payne gave a splendid address on the lesson subject "know your school". In which he states that "our school is a credit to the dynamic personality and aggressiveness of the people of this community." He gave a review of the work of each department.

In Mrs. Thompson's address the fact was stressed that "the school cannot assume responsibility of child's success". Work thru P. T. A. she stated is the best way by which we may know our school.

Star Spangled Banner sung by audience after which a short business meeting was held.

Joan Thompson, fifth grade pupil suffered a very painful accident Tuesday when she fell and broke a wrist while playing at school.

Miss Mabel Howell, home economic teacher visited in Amarillo last week end.

The Senior class of H. H. S. enjoyed their first social get-together Thursday evening with a hayride to Spalding's Ranch where a watermelon feast was held. They were accompanied by their sponsor Mrs. Elvia Davenport. The Senior class this year, consisting of thirty two members is the largest in the history of the school. As this is a very enthusiastic group a great time was reported by all. Many such happy occasions are anticipated for the term 1931-32.

The Hedley Owls and Estelline Cubs played a close football game Friday afternoon at Estelline. At the close of the second quarter, neither side had scored. Estelline made a touchdown in the third quarter and Hedley made a touchdown in the fourth quarter. The final score was 7-7.

The student body met Tuesday morning in chapel and elected officers for this term. Officers elected are as follows: president, Blaine Doherty; vice president, George Gordon; second vice president, Gene Youree; secretary, Lucile Carter; Sergt.-at-arms, Maxie Shaw; Parliamentarian, Pauline Boliver; reporter, Hazel Stewart.

Mrs. J. B. Masterson entertained the members of the Junior class with a party at her home Friday night. A good time was reported by all present.

Several Hedley people attended the ball game at Estelline Friday. Among those to attend was a group of very "peppy" girls. Members of the H. H. S. pep squad.

Weekly Poem

THE OCEAN WOODS

We wandered to the Pine Forest
That skirts the Ocean's foam
The lightest wind was in its nest
The tempest in its home
The whispering waves were half asleep
The clouds were gone to play
And on the bosom of the deep
The smile of Heaven lay;
It seemed as if the hour were one
Sent from beyond the skies
Which scattered from above the sun
A light of Paradise.
We paused amid the pines that stood
The giants of the waste
Tortured by storms to shape as rude
As serpents interlaced
And soothed by every azure breath
That under heaven is blown
To harmonies and hues beneath
As tender as its own
Now all the treetops lay asleep
Like green waves on the sea
As still as in the silent deep
The ocean woods may be.
—Percy Bysshe Shelley.

Women Rule and Make the Laws, Men Wear the Veils, Among the Tuaregs

A world upside-down—from the masculine point of view, at least—is that in which live the Tuaregs, a roving nation of pillagers to be found in the Sahara wastes of southern French West Africa. For among the Tuaregs—

THE WOMEN: Make the laws. Make war or peace. Lay down the terms of matrimony. Turn their husbands out if they flirt. Leave their husbands for other men when angry.

THE MEN: Own no property. Wear the veils. Eat at the second table, if any. Act as nurses to the male children. Lose their camels if they are disobedient.

Life in this topsy-turvy environment, where the women are an Amazonian race of Gargantuan proportions, is pictured in the October Cosmopolitan magazine by Eugene Wright, who joined a dale caravan at a little oasis half way across the Sahara on his journey eight hundred miles farther southward, toward Lake Chad, to the land of the Tuaregs.

To approach any understanding of the old state of affairs among the Tuaregs," explains Wright, "one must bear in mind that until their subjection to French rule they gained their livelihood by looting caravans all the way from Agades to Timbuktu."

It seems reasonable to suspect that since the men were obliged to be away from their camps for long periods of time, command and authority were developed in the women. Such a situation, dating from the time of the Arab invasion of the eighth and ninth centuries, might easily have produced the present social phenomena.

Away from the women—out on the desert—the Tuareg man comes into his own with a vengeance, says Wright.

"He goes toward you straight in the saddle, his chin up, his veil drawn tightly across the bridge of his nose, his lance in the hollow of his arm and a huge white shield affixed to his saddle. You envy him his amazing physical endurance and his unparalleled knowledge of the desert and the camel.

"But follow him to his camp! Just before he comes in view of the tents, you will see him stop his camel and go into a huddle over his saddlebags. An hour or so later you can't recognize him. He is roped and braided like an admiral, his clothes are heavily perfumed, his face and arms are stained blue and his eyes are darkened with kohl. Then he prances into the camp."

The days of domination by the female Tuareg, however, are near an end, the author predicts.

"It can't go on forever," he states. "Far removed in the Sahara as they are, civilization is fast encroaching upon them. Close contact with the Arabs and particularly with the French military authorities is strengthening masculine authority and power. Sometime in the future the order will definitely change. Then the story of the Tuaregs, like that of the Amazons, will be only a myth."

says "this rag thinks we ought to report their games, etc." Well, the Lubbock chamber of commerce thinks the Herald ought to tell about the fair up there and the many conventions and other gatherings that happen in Lubbock many times during the year, two or three of which we get weekly. We think so too, and use hundreds of inches of space annually to help our neighboring cities. We hope we never get so damned narrow that we would do otherwise. But, we aired our object and got a little attention on the part. Ho! hum! How many prairie chickens did you get, Cholley? —Brownfield Herald.

Milt Allen Exhibits Large Melons at Amarillo

The exhibit of G. Milt Allen of the Sunnyview community at the Tri-State fair at Amarillo this week is topped with an eighty pound watermelon. He has a number that will weigh from sixty to seventy pounds in an exhibit.

FLAGGED THE TRAIN

Dr. Johnson, a friend of mine, Hung three red shirts upon a line. Now, what else do you think our doctor did, But buy a goat for his only kid? One day this goat, while roaming 'round, Spied those red shirts and ate them down. The doctor was mad, and cursed and swore, That he would have the old goat's gore. So he led him to the railroad track And tied him there upon his back, Leaving him in his sorry plight, Just as a freight train hove in sight.

"Say au revoir, but not good-bye!" This goat was far too cute to die. He strove with all his might and main— Coughed up those shirts and flagged the train!

J. O. Quattlebaum visited his son, Rev. J. Olin Quattlebaum at Ralls over the week end.

Chester Williams left Wednesday to visit the Tri-State fair and relatives in Amarillo before entering Texas Tech for the winter term.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931, C. M. Co.

Cotton Reduction Law Over Two Year Period Is Passed

Limits Cotton Land Acreage To Thirty Percent of The Land Cultivated in 1931

A cotton reduction bill covering the years of 1932 and 1933 was passed by both chambers of the Legislature late Monday and received the Governor's signature Tuesday morning.

The cotton acreage during the next two years will be limited to 30 percent of the area cultivated in all crops this year. The bill also makes it the duty of the district attorney to prosecute any violator.

Penalties for violation of the law range from a $25 to $100 per acre, such fines collected to go to the county road and bridge funds. Those favoring this bill claim that it will actually reduce the cotton acreage fifty percent by reason of the fact that an excessive amount of cultivated lands were planted to cotton this season.

Billie Laverne Rampey To Undergo Operation

M. C. Rampey has received notice that his daughter, Billie Laverne, is to return to the Shriner Hospital at Dallas for her final operation October 7th.

This young lady was stricken with infantile paralysis some two years ago leaving her practically helpless. Surgeons at the Shriner Hospital have enabled her to walk and enjoy herself pretty much as other children. This final operation if one should be found necessary, will restore her to almost normal health.

The railroads of Texas furnish free transportation to patients going to and from the Shriner Hospital. They even furnish passes for one attendant with each patient.

Worrying About Agitators

Many people are worrying about communist agitators. Most of that anxiety is felt by a section of our people who should be devoting it to the removal of conditions which give these agitators a chance. When agricultural communities are going along in a normal way, or industrial centers are active, there isn't a chance in the world for these soap-box agitators. Most people stop for a moment to laugh and pass on with the remark, "that bum gives me the earache."

However, under conditions which have obtained throughout the entire country for the past few years with agriculture and industry demoralized, and here and there a bitter and contentious strike, the agitator certainly makes converts. The logical way to fight communism is to remove these conditions under which communistic agitation flourishes.

A FARMER'S PRAYER OF THANKSGIVING

"O Lord; I am thankful I am not like other folks; and yet, I am no Pharisee. I am thankful I am not the owner of city real estate. I am thankful that I own no stocks and bonds which were bought at peak prices. I am grateful for guidance that kept me out of the speculative grain markets. I have not drilled an oil well and I am thankful for that. It is a relief not to have to read the stock market quotations each morning before breakfast to learn how much poorer I am than I was the day before. I am pleased that I am not a retail merchant with a ledger of unpaid bills.

"I thank thee, O Lord, that I am not a laboring man without a job or in danger of losing it. I wear no white collar to the office, wondering whether I am to remain until night. I surely am fortunate that I am not a coal or oil operator nor steel manufacturer nor a railroad official hunting trade where there is no trade.

"Give me, O Lord, my dairy cows, hogs and chickens, my alfalfa, corn and soy beans; my health and my strength and my faith. I am not making money but I am not losing so much that I face disaster and hunger. I have three good meals a day. A lovely country home and beautiful surroundings with every necessary convenience. These, thou hast provided me, whatsoever happens.

DEFINITION OF HOME

Home—a small part of the world which "all the world" could not buy.

Home—the anti-room of heaven. It should be antitrust, anti-monopoly, anti-license and anti-all other forms of evil.

The golden setting, in which the brightest jewels is "mother."

Home is the blossom, of which heaven is the fruit.

The only spot on earth where the faults and failings are hidden under the mantle of charity.

The place where the great are sometimes small and the small are often great.

The father's kingdom, the children's paradise, the mother's world.

The jewel casket containing the most precious of all jewels—domestic happiness.

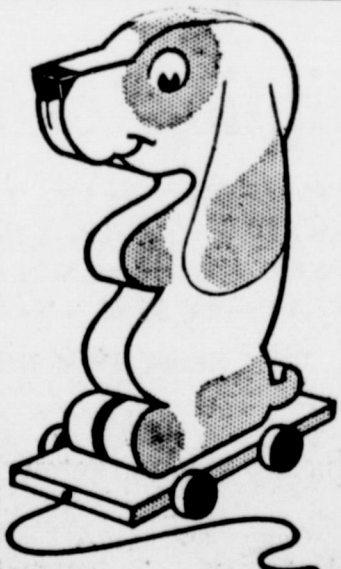

Where you are treated best and you grumble most.

Home is the central telegraph office of human love, into which run innumerable wires of affection, many of which, though extending thousands of miles, are never discontinued from the one great terminus.

The center of our affections, around which our heart's best wishes twine.

The little hollow scooped out of the windy hill of the world, where we can be shielded from our cares and annoyances.

WHEN BABIES FRET

THERE are times when a baby is too fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's quick comfort in Castoria!

For diarrhea, and other infantile ills, give this pure vegetable preparation. Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness. Castoria has a good taste; children love to take it. Buy the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.
