LAND DEBTS TO BE DISCUSSED IN MEETING HERE

Mortgage Foreclosures Will Be Discussed by Judge Gough Saturday

Land and home owners of Donley county burdened with mortgages are expected to meet at the courthouse at 2:30 p. m. next Saturday, February 4th for the purpose of affecting some kind of an organization similar to those being organized over the Panhandle in several different counties at this time.

Judge L. Gough of Amarillo who has had years of experience in land problems, and farmer handicaps, will be present to address the meeting. He has been instrumental in effecting organizations in many other sections, several of them the past week.

He comes to Clarendon Saturday after canceling another engagement at the request of a number of farmers and others who feel the need of organization and effective laws protecting those who must have time in which to meet their obligations. Cancellation is not being asked, or even reduction in the amount of the debt, but urgent requests are being made for time by both individuals and organizations of those who are involved.

Business men in most places approve the mortgage moratorium realizing, as they say, that if something is not done now, their turn will come next to be closed out.

Organizations have been perfected and the Legislature petitioned for helpful laws from Floydada, Plainview, Bovina, Wellington, Shamrock, Wheeler, Littlefield and a number of other places in the Panhandle.

This meeting will be open to the

Jitney License Cost Borger Man $15 Here Tuesday

Shortly after six p. m. Tuesday, Ben Buck, employe of the Clifford & Ray grocery, noticed a man in front of the store removing the license tag from the delivery car. He made a rush out the front and the stranger jumped into a truck and beat it down as Borger.

Bill Ray and Ben Buck continued the chase and recovered the tag west of the depot. Returning they met Sheriff Pierce who had been notified in the meantime. Pierce continued after the party and brought him back. The aged man spent the night in jail and plead guilty before Judge Day Wednesday morning. His fine was set at one dollar and costs. Being unable to pay the fine, he was given 60 days in which to pay up. He returned to Borger in his truck immediately upon being released.

Local Pastor Addresses The Memphis Fellowship

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Ferrell and daughter Mamie, attended the monthly Fellowship Services at the First Christian Church in Memphis Wednesday night, and Rev. Ferrell delivered the Fellowship address, his subject being "What is a Christian?"

This meeting was well attended and a fine spirit of fellowship was manifested, and everybody enjoyed the evening.

Rev. Ferrell will exchange pulpits with pastor M. C. Jackson of the Memphis Christian church Sunday, the 12th.

Miss Helen Martin of Pampa visited with home folks over the week end.

Carl Reed, barber of Hedley, had business here Wednesday.

public, it is announced by those who have arranged for a speaker competent to advise those seeking relief from debt foreclosure.

RAPID RECOVERY FROM DISASTER AT CHAMBERLAIN

School Burning Calamity Has Brought Out Fine Spirit Of Cooperation

There is no better test of the mettle of the people of any community than disaster. When the school building at Chamberlain burned before daybreak Wednesday morning, the loss of the community was keenly felt.

Before the close of the day, plans were made to continue the school in a building kindly contributed by Karl Adams on his ranch formerly occupied by Frank Newton. Sloan Baker, county superintendent of schools, was active in making temporary arrangements and showed a fine spirit of cooperation with the citizens.

More than forty of the good citizens met at the building on the Adams ranch Saturday for the purpose of putting the building in shape for school opening Monday of this week.

The building was leveled, steps were built, blackboards were hastily constructed and the walls papered after one partition of the four room house was removed. When the job was completed, three teachers were equipped to continue their work with comfortable rooms for each of the departments.

The younger folks moved their basket ball equipment from the old location and games will continue uninterrupted.

The ladies were out assisting in every manner possible and served a typical picnic dinner at noon inside the building. Chamberlain has every reason to be proud of her class of citizenship, and never before was this fine spirit of cooperation more prominently displayed than Saturday.

Orion Hott, G. G. Reeves and M. C. Rampey composed the school board taking a prominent part in the recovery. The teachers are Clarence Jackson as principal, and Misses Mary Sue Walters and Maude Crawford as assistants.

Mr. and Mrs. McHenry Lane were in Amarillo Saturday.

WEST TEXAS MAY SECEDE IF HER RIGHTS IGNORED

Much Dissatisfaction Caused From Discrimination That Retards Development

That West Texas has developed at a more rapid pace than any other section of the state during the past ten years, is readily admitted by those who have kept up with the progress being made in many avenues of business.

West Texas is awarded first prizes on agricultural exhibits at the Dallas State Fair each year. West Texas markets more cotton, wool and oil than any other section of the United States each year according to statistics.

Her mineral resources with the possible exception of iron exceed those of any other section of the state and the richest quicksilver mine in the nation is located near Alpine.

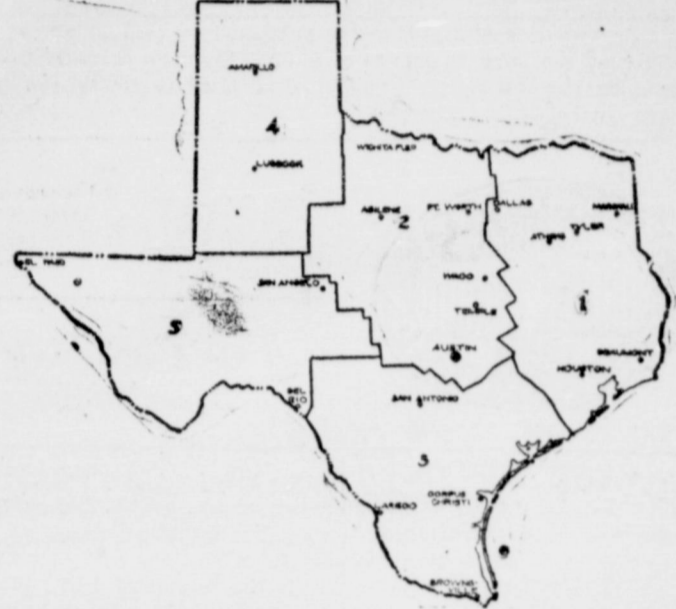

For many years it has been charged that West Texas paid taxes for portions of East Texas. It has also been publicly charged that West Texas is attached to the remainder of the state for "revenue purposes only."

It is now charged that there is a scheme to cripple the higher schools of learning to the extent that West Texas will have nothing higher than a junior college. This attempt to handicap the educational advantages of the youth of West Texas is apparently the proverbial "last straw."

To carve a new state including west Texas area is common talk on the south plains. It is becoming more outspoken in the Panhandle. The metes and bounds have not been mentioned.

When Texas joined the Union, certain reservations were made. It is now declared that Congress alone has the power to grant the west Texas division setting up a new state. Citizens may petition for such action through constitutional conventions, or by simply signing their names to a petition to be presented to the national congress. The action of the Legislature during the next ninety days may tell the story.

Ma Would Divide State for Road Jobs

Reports from Austin disclose that a bill has been drawn up to divide Texas into five highway districts and each district elect a highway commissioner, doing away with the present three-man commission appointed by the governor. This drawing shows how Texas would be divided. The bill was drawn up by Luther Nichols, one of Mrs. Ferguson's attorneys in the recent contest for the governor's chair.

SHERIFF AGAIN DECLARED MOST USEFUL CITIZEN

Four Candidates Take Early Lead in Attracting Many Backers Over County

Do people take an interest in people worth while? They do. When the Leader began the contest asking citizens of Donley county to select by popular vote the "most useful citizen" in Donley county for the year 1932, ballots were taken from the Leader and mailed and brought in person by the dozens.

Right at the beginning, the vote was scattered. By the end of the second week, the vote had centered on four candidates and by the end of the third week, Donley's sheriff, Guy Pierce had taken a decided lead in the race.

This is the second time for the Sheriff to win in such a contest, he having been chosen in a similar contest in 1931. He is too well known to citizens of this county, and over the Panhandle, to require any special write-up at this time. The citizens of this county feel that they have been given that form of protection that they deserve and want, and are willing that the Sheriff should know just

Bill Ray Becomes President Chamber of Commerce

At the first meeting of the new Board of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, Bill Ray was given unanimous choice for the position of president. Joe Goldston was elected vice president and secretary G. L. Boykin was elected to succeed himself.

Members of the Board who will serve with Ray are W. W. Taylor, D. R. Davis, T. D. Nored, H. R. Kerbow, P. B. Gentry and Joe Goldston.

These contests are sponsored every year during the month of January by the Leader to give the people of the entire county an opportunity to express their appreciation. The Sheriff's strongest rival for first honors was Miss Elizabeth Stevens of Clarendon, who has devoted more than thirty years of her life to the profession of teaching in our public schools.

The Leader wishes to thank those who by their votes took an active interest in this campaign. Citizens from practically every school district of the county expressed a choice and we feel that in this one instance alone, we have aroused more interest in the worthiness of our men and women in public affairs.

PIONEER LADY IS LAID TO REST THIS MORNING

Missourian by Birth, Came To Clarendon Forty-Four Years Ago

In the passing of Mrs. Sarah Caroline Taylor early Wednesday morning, another of Clarendon's earliest pioneers and highly respected christian women claimed that reward extended the faithful.

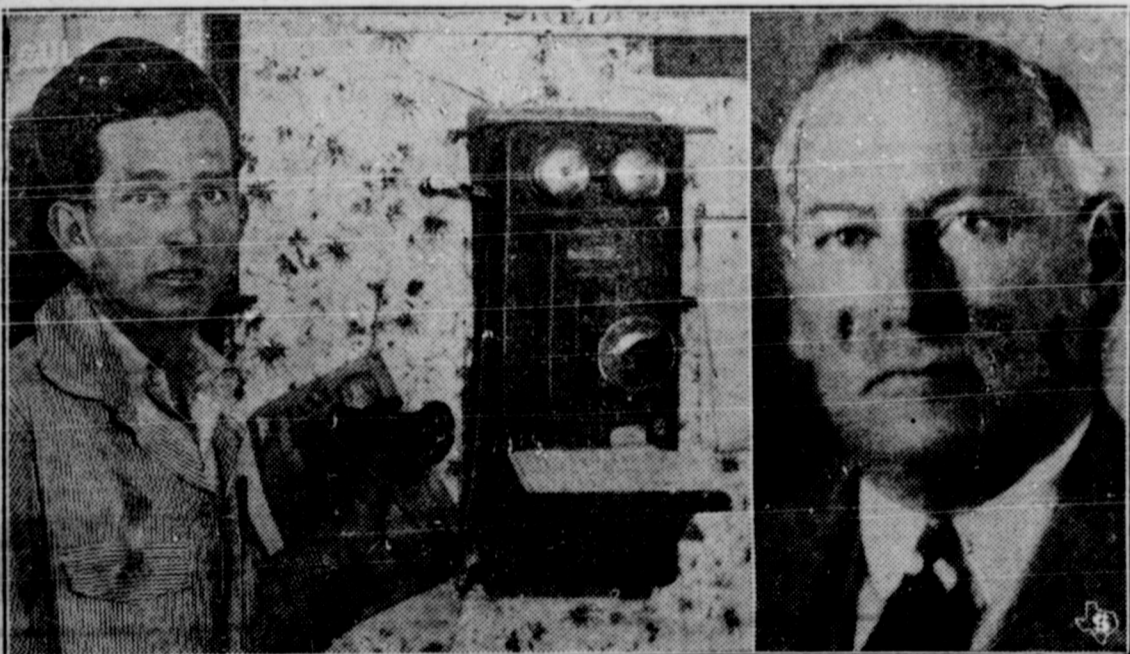

Mrs. Taylor was a native of Macon county Missouri where she was born on February 25, 1859. She became the wife of E. A. Taylor on September 20, 1876. They came to make their home in Clarendon in 1889 where Mr. Taylor passed away in 1926.

Mrs. Taylor was a devoted member of the Primitive Baptist church for a long number of years.

The funeral services were conducted at the family home at 10 a. m. this morning. Rev. R. S. McKee, pastor of the Presbyterian church had charge of the services and was assisted by Rev. L. A. Reavis, friend of the family for many years.

Surviving children are Mrs. Mabel Lee of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Easie Nutt of Portales, N. Mex.; R. E. Taylor of Salem, Oregon; H. G. Taylor, Salt Lake City, C. G. Taylor, Tacoma, Washington A. M. and Homer W. Taylor of Clarendon. She is also survived by a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Scene of Third Sheriff Shooting in Month and Victim

Deputy Sheriff Joe Brown of Wise county who was shot to death in his Rhome barber shop Friday to make the third Texas sheriff to be killed in a month. Others were Sheriff John C. Moseley of Tulla and Deputy Malcolm Davis of Fort Worth. Two men and a woman were arrested for gasoline theft by Brown. He took them into his barber shop. Walter Looney, only witness to the shooting, is pictured left demonstrating how Brown was calling the Decatur sheriff's office when he was shot down. A woman, purported to be the one who drove the killer's car as it left Rhome, was arrested at Childress Sunday night, but said she was forced by two men to drive the car at a gun's point. Brown is pictured right.

MURDERERS OF TULLA SHERIFF ARE NOW KNOWN

Same Parties Implicated in Slaying of Officer At Rhome Friday

It is now definitely known that the car bearing the murderers of Sheriff Moseley of Tulla last week was abandoned near Quitaque, and that at least two of the men in the death car continued to Rhome near Ft. Worth where Deputy Sheriff Joe Brown was slain in an attempt to arrest the parties on a charge of having stolen an oil drum which they are alleged to have picked up on the highway earlier in the day.

The first definite clew was found by prisoners of the Childress jail who saw the auto bearing the hunted license number parked across the street from the jail. Officers were notified and a race west of Childress began. E. C. Hawthorne, Memphis mattress maker, Mrs. Ida Hunsucker, tourist camp operator of Quitaque and Fay Pennington of Dallas were taken in charge. The parties were later photographed by J. R. Bartlett of Clarendon who operates a photo studio at Childress to which place the prisoners were taken.

Mrs. Hunsucker was taken to Dallas for questioning regarding two men who had escaped after the shooting at Rhome. The other two are jointly charged with her own a murder charge pending further developments.

Doyle Meeks, formerly of Hedley and an employe of the Hunsucker camp at Quitaque accompanied Mrs. Hunsucker and the two men implicated in the Tulla murder from Quitaque to Rhome. At the time of the shooting at Rhome, Meeks ran out the back door and

ATTORNEY WARNS AGAINST MIXING WITH POLITICS

RFC Committee Commended By Rotarian Club For Meritorious Work

"The committee handling RFC funds are due a lot of credit and I move that this Club adopt resolutions commending their good work" was the expression of Dr. J. W. Evans in speaking before the Rotary club here Friday. Others were of the same opinion and a committee was directed to complete the request of the Club.

The matter of securing a heater for the improvised school at Chamberlain was brought to the attention of the Club. Dr. Jenkins vouched for the information that the matter had already been properly looked after.

Judge A. T. Cole made an interesting talk in which he confined his remarks to the practice of mixing politics in churches, lodge and civic clubs. "Politics will ruin anything, and should be kept separate and apart from any other organization" was the opinion of the learned attorney.

Mrs. Thada Hough, recently of Clayton, New Mexico provided the interesting features of the program. The young lady is a very talented dramatic artist and impersonator. Her "boy" characterization was the first of its kind to be presented before the Club and met with a high sense of appreciation. A reading of a different type readily placed her in a class with the best talent, and the public will be given an opportunity to enjoy more of her talent during the next few months.

Births Decrease in Donley During Past Year

The total births reported in Donley county during the year 1931 amounted to 238. During 1932 the total was 143. Of this number eight were Mexicans and thirteen colored.

The law requiring the filing of birth certificates is disregarded possibly more than any other on the statute. For instance, Potter reports 11 births in 1931 and 34 in 1932.

Interscholastic League Directors to Meet

A meeting of the Directors of the League is called for 1:30 p. m. at the office of the County Superintendent of Schools.

A definite date for the County Meet will be determined at this meeting, and other matters affecting the efforts of the League.

Pioneer Plant Man Shows Little Improvement

Mr. T. Jones, pioneer plant man of the Panhandle who has been seriously ill at his home north of town for the past two weeks, shows little improvement over the week.

He first suffered from an attack of the flu which has apparently left him in a general run down condition. Reports today would indicate that he has gained some strength over the past two days.

Rev. Ingram Makes Another Ministerial Report

Rev. C. B. Ingram spent the most of the week preaching at Antelope Flat Friday, and at Lott ranch and Brice before returning home.

He reports twenty conversions on this trip, or a total of thirty for January. He reports twenty-five for the month of December.

Deferred Christmas Dinner Held Here Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Pyle planned a Christmas dinner in regular order with certain relatives to be present. Somehow, plans went awry and these relatives could not make it around until this past Sunday. City Marshall T. M. Pyle told the Leader reporter that "we just went ahead with our Christmas dinner like nothing had happened."

Three of Mrs. Pyle's sisters were present, and an uncle of Mr. Pyle. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kercherville and children, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Nelson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burks and children, all of Newlin. Mr. Psalms of Pampa and L. B. Kercherville of Portland, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bryan of Amarillo spent the week end here visiting relatives and friends.

Expert Packing.

If that Arizona "tiger woman" is turned loose after shooting and packing two women in a suitcase, she ought to be able to get a job as instructor in a sardine cannery.

Those Long Boys.

Louisiana has her Huey Long and Texas has her Bob Long. Both are intensely patriotic in considering the welfare of their constituents. We shall hear more of Bob in our State Legislature. He hails from Wichita Falls.

Hobsonized.

President-elect Roosevelt is said to have been kissed by his Jewish stenographer the day he quit the office of governor of New York State. There is more proof that men have been imposed upon throughout the ages.

Delusion.

Possibly if the Dallas News and a few country weekly publishers knew that the election was over, they would give the public a rest so far as condemning Jim Ferguson is concerned. Constructive criticism is based on logical deductions; mudslinging is the product of a perverted mind of one bested in the political arena.

Hidden Mysteries.

The Bureau of Business Research of Austin proclaims to the people of the state that Texas has 29 manufacturers of children's wearing apparel, 47 of women's clothing, and 105 makers of some kind of men's wearing apparel. Outside of a very few merchants and this Bureau, nobody seems to know anything about it because such goods are not advertised.

Sandwich Material.

Frank R. Maxson of Covington, Ohio was awarded damages in the sum of $5,000 on January 25th in a damage suit of $25,000 against the Coca Cola company of Piqua. He alleged that he found two dead mice in a bottle of the Coca Cola. Whether he objected to them leaving out the bread or putting in the mice, the dispatch does not state.

Oh, Piffle.

Not having anything else to think about, Representative W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives that would require all teachers of state schools to "swear allegiance to the State and the United States."

If any of them feel more obligated to the "free state of Hidalgo county," they should be barred by all means. Or, failing in this, why not make them members of the Legislature?

Turn on The Light.

If all officials responsible for public funds, were forced to publish an itemized account of receipts and expenditures every six months in a newspaper of the county where such office is located, there would be far less occasion to wrongly accuse the officer, and still less occasion to prosecute the officer for wrongdoing.

Every taxpayer is a partner in county affairs, and every partner in any business should know what the other partners are doing with the money collected.

In most states, publishers are paid for printing the proceedings of the commissioners' court, for instance. In Donley county, the Leader renders the taxpayers this service without charge because the taxpayers request and appreciate a more intimate knowledge of county affairs than "hearsay" information by word of mouth.

The merchant does not ask the customer to count his change when handed him because of any suspicion that the customer might think the merchant had "short-potted" him, but he merely wants the customer to feel sure that he has been given a square deal. So it is with officials of public trust. The honest ones want the public to know how the duties of the office are being discharged.

The Legislature now in session should by all means pass a law requiring publication of transactions every six months, where an accounting of tax funds is involved.

Debt Foreclosures.

Farm debt foreclosures are in the limelight these days due to the fact that in many places farmers have congregated, protested and ejected from the premises those who would bid in the property of a neighbor being sold under forced sale.

A moratorium has been requested on most occasions where meetings have been held. The meeting to be held here Saturday afternoon will be in line with those of other sections of the Panhandle almost daily and nightly during the past three weeks.

It behooves every citizen to be present and back up the action taken. Business men in most places have taken the same interest as farmers because practically all of them have landed indebtedness. Those who do not, will be forced to suffer the consequences if the land holders are displaced.

New Highway Bill.

We hear much about Ferguson's idea of a five-man highway commission. Enemies of Ferguson tell us that three is a plenty without adding the salaries of two more. If the two added are anything like what we have been having, a one-man commission would be more preferable because one man has practically controlled the entire commission.

Here are the inside facts as taken from the bill proposed by Representative Laird and now pending in the Legislature:

This Elective Highway Bill provides for five commissioners, Texas to be divided into five districts with a commissioner elected by the people from each district, and to remain on the job every week day of the year.

As it is now, we have three men on the job about six days out of the month and people going to Austin several hundred miles often return without any consideration of their affairs because the Commission is not in session.

The three men draw $2,400 a year and ALL expenses. The new bill provides for a salary of $4500 a year each with $5,000 to the chairman no expenses included. This bill provides for five division engineers whereas we now have twenty-five. Cutting off 20 engineers will save about $80,000 a year while we are paying $15,800 more for highway commissioners elected by the people, over what we are now paying.

We now have on the public payroll about 1,300 engineers and assistant engineers drawing down $3,900,000 annually. That is about 1,000 engineers too many. Within recent months a respected and truthful citizen of Clarendon watched an engineer, two assistant engineers and three workmen superintend the placing of about three barrels of caliche in a chug-hole on the highway. One man with a truck could have done the job in thirty minutes, whereas it took six men and two trucks and a state auto three hours.

A SUPPER TO SING FOR!

If the sugar-plum tree should come to life! And honey-dew come from the magic pitcher — wouldn't supper times be jolly for five and seven years olds!

A supper that has all the charm of the sugar-plums and the honey-dew has for dessert a cup of crushed canned pineapple, cool and sweet. Never was anything so good to eat nor so good for growing boys and girls. For nutritional research has recently found canned pineapple to be a valuable source of five minerals, essential to health, as well as a valuable source of vitamins A, B, and C—a discovery that makes the task of mothers much simpler. The delicate flavor and color of pineapple are especially appealing to children. Pineapple is a food which rightly belongs in their own world of magic goodness. When it is served simply—a generous bowlful of crushed pineapple—it is a treat which young Mary and Johnny find suited to the most epicurean tastes. Two slices a day or a cup of crushed fruit is the amount recommended to aid in the maintenance of health and growth.

The new law would eliminate "bureaucrats" and enable the people to have a voice in the selection of the men who are to spend the millions for highway construction and maintenance. Pay all employees a better salary and quit furnishing them "flunkies", autos, hotel accommodations and entertainment, etc. costing the state hundreds of thousands of dollars, besides eliminating temptations of graft.

Some 'Tater, Brother.

In discussing the enormous waste in various departments and bureaus of the national government, Congressman Blanton from Abilene district has left an enlightening record of his discovery on pages 2630 to 2633 of the Congressional Record.

Taking the case of Dr. E. C. Aucher, an employee of the agricultural department for an example, we find that he was employed as a potato expert in 1928 at a salary of $6,000 per year. His salary has been raised during the depression until he now receives from the government direct, a salary of $8,400 per year.

This same man receives $750 per year for lecturing to a Maryland college on government time. There was rented for experimental purposes nine acres of ground at a yearly rental of $900 or $100 per acre although the government owned farm of 350 acres was within a short distance, and was purchased for the same experimental purposes.

The government's object in employing this man was to find a new variety of potato. An appropriation was made from year to year until it reached more than $250,000. Finally the department gave birth to a new variety of "spud" which was promptly christened the "Katadin" potato of the Irish variety.

Although the new "spud" was a failure as compared to the russet and Irish cobbler varieties, 425 acres more were leased for further experiments.

In closing his argument against ruthless waste, we quote Mr. Blanton:

"If we do not wake up and stop spending these millions that are being wasted by these long-haired scientists in the Department of Agriculture in the name of the farmers, from which the farmers do not get a dollar's benefit, we are going to merit the disrespect and contempt of every farmer in the United States."

That is just one little pitiful instance of wanton waste in our governmental affairs. We could call your attention to a number of others, but those in authority know about these crimes against decency and honesty, and we wonder when enough of them will become interested to the extent that it will be stopped.

Rev. L. L. Swan preached at the Episcopal church at Dalhart Sunday.

"ROTARY DAY"

Once a week, the boys assemble, To greet each other with a smile 'Tis Rotary Day, the day of meeting.

When we put aside all form and style, Every one knows every body, And it's a pleasure to gather here,

To talk and plan, to render service, To help man-kind, his burdens bear.

Here the things of common interest, Are discussed both pro and con. Here each member gets acquainted With the work that should be done.

In this group of happy fellows Selfishness is crucified, Self is placed into the background, The art of service is applied.

Of all the arts among the living, The art of serving heads the list, Here you learn the mighty lesson, He profits most who serves the best.

You would like these friendly fellows, You too will like our meeting day, When we try to lift each burden, And help to drive the gloom away.

If your name's not on the roster, Make arrangements, don't delay, Get lined up with the Rotary program, And meet with us next Rotary Day.

There's a host of real "good fellows" That's awaiting your reply, Get lined up with this group of workers, You can make the grade, so why not try.

BUSINESS TRAINING VS COLLEGE TRAINING

"United States Government statistics show that seven out of ten young men and women who enter upon four-year college courses never graduate," comments Mr. W. M. Roberts, President of the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, at Tyler, Texas. "Of course, that is not a criticism of the colleges. It is a reminder to young people not to spend their time trying to do something that they really do not want to do, or are not prepared to do."

Those who investigate business training find that Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration offers more complete training and a wider choice of courses than most schools. They find that Tyler graduates are preferred by business firms everywhere. And they, also, find that they can finish their training course at Tyler in less time and at less expense.

An interesting catalog is offered free by the Tyler school, and all those who must decide the great question of education are urged to write for a copy. Address Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration, Tyler, Texas, and a catalog will be mailed promptly.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

Here we are headed on a fresh errand for the grocery for GW. We have been on the spinach committee for several days on account of GW trying to wean her first grandchild. When I was a baby and they got ready to wean them, they just gave us orders and backed it up with a club. Now they give 'em pulverized spinach that comes in a can and looks like prepared rabbit food. This is a fast old world, and a man must be faster than that to hold his job. After a man gets so old, he is kept around the place to see that the auto is in trim for somebody else to use—nothing else.

I know a woman who has raised 13 kids and now has 67 grandchildren and saw all of 'em weaned and she don't know what spinach is. She really thought it was the name of somebody from some foreign country instead of a weed. Spinach is not so bad except it has to be fed every two hours and that night schedule is something to tell the neighbors about. Spinach was invented by a bolshevik and feeding it to a weanin' baby is the idea of a fanatic.

And another thing, when a baby gets croupy now, the folks have a drug stock of all kinds of fancy bottles with dope for every pore on its body. When I was a baby having the croup was merely an incident of torture brought down from the dark ages. The mother would rub the feet and nose with skunk grease, plaster the breast with fried onions and kerosene, give the victim a dose of sugar with more kerosene on it, and go to bed and forget her troubles—the remedy never failed. I never knew a man to doctor a kid for anything back then, but if he had a sick mule or cow, he would stay up all night and even call in the neighbors. Some times he would so far forget himself as to send for a livery stable graduate to prescribe a remedy that would cost him fifty cents. On the other hand, he would have held back a long time before spending fifty cents on one of his own kids. Even at that, the kids often outlived both the old man and the mule.

At this point we rise to give a vote of thanks to one W. W. Buck from down in the "brakes" who while seized with a missionary spirit, donated hog ribs and backbones to the Apostolic poor farm. And were they good!

Where Tornado Swooped Down on North East Texas

Here is all that is left of the residence of L. I. McMikel, seven miles south of Detroit, Texas, after a disastrous tornado swept through North East Texas. Although house, barns and outbuildings were completely demolished, the McMikel family was unhurt. Thirty were injured in the 45-mile path of the twister, however, and two were killed. I used to believe in insurance but it is all the blink. There is nothing sure about it. For instance, a fellow came out of the hospital with one leg. He paid a nice sum for a fancy wooden leg that would last him the balance of his days. He thought so much of that leg that he took out insurance on it—fire theft and collision insurance. With a policy of that kind he felt snug and secure in the possession of his wooden leg. One day he went to sleep on his car seat with that leg sticking up and what happened? The blame woodpeckers dug it full of holes. He failed to take out woodpecker insurance and lost.

PATHFINDER TEA

A lovely pioneer tea was given by the Pathfinder Club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. R. Porter. The occasion for the affair was the celebration of the 23rd anniversary of the Club.

All clubs that have been federated 20 years or more were honored as pioneer clubs at the federated state meeting at Corpus Christi in November.

It was from that fact that the social committee, of which Mrs. F. W. Rathjen was the very capable chairman, desired the plan of carrying out the pioneer idea in the decorations, program and refreshments.

Stage coaches, spinning wheels and other articles characteristic of the early days were used about the rooms. The tea table was beautiful with a plain hemstitched linen cover and tall tapers in crystal holders at either end of a most interesting centerpiece consisting of a covered wagon and oxen in a sand-filled tray with trees, cactus, and other plants native of our locality artistically arranged about it. Even deer and other wild animals might be seen among the shrubbery.

Four of the pioneer members of the club, Mrs. James Trent, Mrs. W. B. Sims, Mrs. Sella Gentry and Mrs. Dr. Gray poured tea at different intervals during the two hours.

About 100 guests called and placed their names in the lovely guest book which was afterwards presented to Mrs. U. J. Boston, who is president of the Club this year.

Beaten biscuit sandwiches and slices of old-fashioned pound cake on the plates were well in keeping with the pioneer idea as were the tingham slit sunbonnets that were carried in a pretty basket on the arm of Mrs. R. L. Bigger and given to the guests as favors.

The program consisted of a brief resume of the activities of the Club through the years given by Mrs. W. B. Sims, a charter member.

Two musical readings, "An old-fashioned woman" and "Out where the west begins," were given by Rosalyn Bass.

Two violin numbers by Elizabeth Kemp and two vocal numbers by Mrs. O. T. Smith.

Mrs. Simmons Powell and Mrs. Allan J. Bryan gave piano selections at intervals during the afternoon.

WOMAN LOST 10 LBS. IN A WEEK

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

Cow, Sow, and Hen Solve Farm Needs

According to the Extension division of Texas A. and M. college, farmers of Texas are now better off than in the last three years, due to their following the policy of the cow, sow, and hen, along with trucking and gardening, in an effort to work out their own salvation. Living at home will make a farmer more independent than ever in 1933.

BOOK TALK
By Lallah Wright

The impervious Puritans, who thought that anything new was wicked, zealously fought the novel, because they believed it detracted attention from God and the hereafter. This popular fallacy was not entirely crushed until the dawn of the twentieth century, which date marks the beginning of the modern American novel. No longer must novelists limit material to please a king; no longer must they resort to the enigmatical floriated manner of expression; for now, after years of earnest struggling, writers can present the novel in its impeccably true form. The novel, at last, is here! It plays, in its magnificence a giant's part in our civilization. It is a powerful machine expertly engineering the world. It is a moral instructor in disguise. It is a builder of character. It is a reformer.

The modern novel is different from the old in purpose and organization. Now fiction and life are treated together. The writer reaches out and grasps a section of life that is rushing past, shakes his findings up with fiction, and develops with the two a mirror of life and its characters, revealing a comforting similarity between book-characters and life-characters; after all, the river bed in which people flow is rarely changed.

Cyclical variations necessarily exist in literature. For example, authors are influenced by the effervescence or by the sterility of life about them, such as the rise or the fall in business interest, sex interest, marriage, maternity, romantic love, education, war, democracy, and technocracy. But the novelist must be one step ahead so that his art will be up to date by the time it gets into circulation.

An illustration of immediacy in artful writing is in Fannie Hurst's remarkable book, FIVE AND TEN. This book was written probably at the climax of the present business cycle when Uncle Sam was top-heavy in all his wealth and his people were plunging crazily into vain schemes to tap the pecuniary source. Looking ahead Miss Hurst saw a tragical end. The theme of FIVE AND TEN is the influence of money on a typical American family; in short, it shows that money cannot buy happiness, but that it can buy many things with which to make a family miserable.

On the fly-leaf of this book are the words from Matthew, XXIII,

Wild Well

This great sheet of flame, roaring 200 feet in the air, is the Mad-cley No. 1 well in the Conroe field, north of Houston, which has been burning for nearly two weeks. A crater more than 200 feet wide has defied all efforts to check the wild flames.

27, "White sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones." Such were the mansions of the thirteenth richest man in the world, John G. Rarick—rich because his original single five-and-ten-cent store had resulted in universal Rarick Chain Stores. A very rich and a miserable, selfish Mrs. John G. (Jenny) Rarick. A very rich and suffocated son, Avery, and his too-busy-to-be-brilliant sister, Jennifer. The busy business of living robbed this family of life itself.

Grandeur descended mercilessly on this family of Raricks simply because John G. Rarick "asked for bread and got a gold nugget—a man who ordered a ham sandwich and a cup of coffee, and got caviar and diamond-back terrapin instead." Then, because he was "too much an idealist to compromise", he sat on his throne, helplessly watching his family go to the well-known bounds under the avaricious steering of his wife, Jenny. He diligently fed the machine with its money food while Jenny used its products lavishly, too lavishly, on her boy and girl. She smothered them with wealth. She destroyed Avery entirely, and probably would have destroyed Jennifer had she not died before the job was done. From Avery's birth, Jenny saw to it that his every whim was appeased. It was Jenny who kept her son too long under the wing; it was Jenny who hogged her son greedily to herself and prevented her son's intimacy with his father; it was Jenny who turned a square into a curve. Jenny, in her limited wisdom, believed that plenty of money could keep Avery happy. But Avery wanted life. After a few young years of trying to find the real life, he thumped his nose at the world and called it quits, with a note that read, "Dears, it was too much." Too much, indeed! Jennifer thought, "Thank God, one Rarick had dared to be honest about the waste of time so solemnly called life. An Indian philosopher had said it! Time passes. We don't. Avery had turned into Time."

The death of his son solidified Mr. Rarick's conviction that the remaining members of his family must be made safe from his immense fortune after he was gone. His legal document was his philosophy. He was to turn his capital, money from the people, into wealth, money wisely minted and turned back to the people. This document made the story. John G. Rarick would not be responsible for the further ruin of his family by allowing his wealth, drawn from the people, to crash, at his death, upon such incompetent shoulders as his survivors. He was to die a poor man.

So the curious genius of John G. Rarick saved his only survivor, Jennifer, from a ruin like Avery's, saved her face that pretended to look like what it was not, and turned her pursuit from counterfeit things to reaching for the moon. Thusly, he reclaimed a slipping universe.
I wonder how Fannie Hurst knew.....

Herbert "Yam" Sims, amateur flyer of Floydada, Texas, tells this one, and the photograph proves it, although H. M. Mason, of Lockney, ace with Royal British air corps during World War, says it is impossible. Sims took off at Alton, flew 70 miles to Floydada—with a passenger—and on landing discovered that 10 inches of each end of his propeller was missing! Investigation proved that on taking off he had struck a dip, and the propeller hit the ground, breaking exactly the same weight off each end—it had to be the same weight or the variation in balance would have torn the propeller to pieces. Believe this, or not!

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

By Sloan Baker
County Supt. Schools

A TRIBUTE

In the crisis of the seventies, as a boy, I was amazed at the sacrifice made by our pioneer teachers of that day. I could easily see that it was because of their love of children and of teaching. Whether in time of famine or in time of plenty, the teacher lives, not for self, but for the children and the community. I have learned that the selfish man or woman seldom remains long in the work. When the terrible days of the world war were on, who led in food conservation? Who led in the sale of liberty bonds? Who led in collecting clothes, food and funds for the Red Cross? No man dares tell me that this service was rendered for selfish purposes. Only consecrated lives could have accomplished so much.

And what of the teachers today? They are serving in a worse crisis than ever before; their responsibility is greater; parental control has relaxed; environment is more destructive. The teacher's load is almost doubled in spite of all the difficulties, teachers are again leading on the welfare side. They see that the children get food and clothing. They help in community chest drives. There may be a delay of a month or six months in their pay or it may be cut off entirely, yet there is no delay in their teaching or in their efforts to promote the welfare of the children.

Who is it that removes gloom from the lives of the children? Who is it that inspires them with ambition and courage? Who is it that is saving civilization in this dark hour? You are forced to answer—the teacher. Yes, the teacher is meeting these obligations in even a larger way than ever before. All honor therefore to the teachers of today! Their courage and consecration are the hope of our democracy. This is my tribute to the loyalty and devotion of the American teachers of 1933.

—J. W. Crabtree, Secretary of National Education Ass'n.

Shades of Past in Gold Mine Drama

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

W. E. FERRELL
Minister First Christian Church

"EXPRESSIVE RELIGION"
Text: "For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard."

In our last week's "Chat" we had a lesson on "Expressive Religion" based on the text, "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so." (Psa. 107:2.) In this lesson we tried to show the importance of testifying and living right before our loved ones in the home, comrades in business and the world. Today we want to continue our study by giving a New Testament example.

The words of our text today are the words of Peter and John. Note the circumstances. They had wrought a miracle. The news had traveled and the Jews were afraid that Christianity would spread and they had put the apostles in prison. The next day they were brought forth and were amazed at their boldness of speech. They were charged not to speak in the name of Christ any more, but the apostles answered them in the words of our text. It was their duty to speak for Christ and they did so in the face of the punishment that was threatening them. Their action furnishes us some lessons.

I. All of Christ's disciples, can have much to say concerning Him. Much that they have "seen and heard." They can testify to: 1. The freeness of His grace. By this they have been saved. 2. The richness of His love. 3. The reasonableness of His claims. 4. The pleasure of His service.

II. Christ's disciples are constrained to speak for Him. 1. Christ demands it. He must be confessed. It is to be our test. 2. Gratitude and love enforces it. It would be base and wicked not to testify. 3. Christ's ans alone car testify, the enemies of Christ will not. 4. Those around them need the testimony.

III. There are many advantages arising from testifying of Christ. 1. It will please Christ. Honor Him honor His cause. 2. It will be followed with inward peace. Conscience will smile. God will give his favor and joy. 3. It will increase our zeal. Zeal will expire unless stirred up. 4. Trend to our usefulness. May do much good this

by MARJORIE BARROWS
Editor, Child Life Magazine.

One afternoon many years ago a wharf rat on San Francisco Bay wandered into the Oakland Public Library. There, opening a bound volume of a children's magazine, he stumbled upon a story. It was a story about a boy like himself—a run away, a gang leader of wharf rats, who had certain semipractical adventures, but who, after a hard lesson, learned of better ways of living his life.

Marjorie Barrows

Making of Jack London. The dramatic, exciting story awoke in the young reader the uneasy consciousness of his own wrong actions. He walked out of that library resolving to lead just as adventurous a life, but one that carried with it a clear conscience. So he joined the Fish Patrol, cruised about the bay, fought poachers, and before long began to write stories about his adventures.

That boy was Jack London. The experience of this famous writer occurs, in a rather less dramatic fashion, in the life of every boy or girl. Careful investigators have discovered that next to persons, nothing has more influence on children than what they read. If a hero they admire acts under certain circumstances as they themselves would like to act, they'll remember it.

They imitate the Hero. And when the time comes, they'll unconsciously be influenced by that hero's action and try to do likewise. The heroine's kindness, ambition, steadfastness, loyalty, the hero's resourcefulness, quick-wittedness, pains-taking qualities, courage, magnanimity, modesty—all these examples "sink in" and are emulated both now and later. One story with hidden character-building values is worth a dozen sermons from parents or teachers.

Let us try to see that this sort of a story, full of plenty of adventure for the boy, full of interesting plots and characters for the girl, is convenient for them to pick up. Jack London isn't the only one to be tremendously influenced by the printed word.

day if put into practice. Next Sunday morning our subject will be "Social Cannibalism" a sermon on the use of the tongue. Sunday night, "When God Runs the Church."

Lucky Scrap Jelly

Chip up pieces of candied fruit—you must have at least one-half cupful and you can use twice that amount if you like. If no candied fruit is around, use broken nut meats or small bits of candy or raisins or dates stoned and finely cut. Make 2 cupfuls of lemon or orange gelatin. Pour the gelatin into a mold and, when it is cool and begins to "set" add the diced candy. When serving time comes, turn the mold upside down over the serving dish. Wrap it tightly with a cloth wrung out of very hot water and the jelly will fall onto the dish. A garnish of whipped cream or condensed milk, whipped, makes the dish prettier.—Child Life Magazine.

Size of the Stars

How large are the stars? To the average individual their size is hard to comprehend, but Dr. Edwin B. Frost, famous blind astronomer in Child Life Magazine, solves the problem. The sun, he says, is 350,000 times as large as the earth, and yet some huge stars are forty million times larger than the sun.

CATTLE BRANDS OF OLD WEST PRESERVED IN MUSEUM STONE

One of the most romantic portions of the history of the Old West is fittingly preserved in the famous ranch brands which have been figured in stone and placed in the archway over the main entrance to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society building now nearing completion on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College, at Canyon.

The doorway, beautifully executed and rich with the symbolism which will provide a permanent record of the colorful, alphabetic numeral titles under which the great cattle concerns of Texas operated, is but one of the unusual features of the building. The symmetrical lines of the structure represents a modified form of modern architecture and are a perfect example of the beauty that lies in simplicity and balance.

The museum building, long and low in structure, is being built of Texas stone, and its white walls have already reached their maximum height with the steel girders of the roof in place. It is arranged into a large central room, called Pioneer Hall, which opens at one end into the library of the Historical Society and at the other end into a semi-circular art gallery to be called the Mary E. Hudspeth room. The basement will have two divisions, one for the preparation and one for the exhibition of paleontological and archeological materials and relics of pioneer days.

Lions Minstrel Show All Set For Tomorrow Night

Clog dancers, tap dancers, songs and chorus, and jokes and gags will ring out at the Pastime Theatre tomorrow night at 8:15 when the Lions Club Minstrel Show will open in full blast. Henry Wilder, and S. A. Pierce will try to out dance the feminine members of the show represented by Misses Peggy Taylor, and Mary Travis Dyer, the winners will be judged by the ones that get the most applause. If you miss it you miss IT. Willie Hayter, Dude Gentry, Slim Parsons and Slick Nored will crack jokes and gags as long as you want to listen, and they will also do some fancy singing before the show is over.

So many requests for relief of Crippled children have been received by the Lions Club that they are swamped and have run out of funds. The work needs your support. Two children from this county, one from Lelia Lake and the other from Hedley are in casts now. The funds will go for this work.

MURDERERS OF—

Those now in custody deny any part in either shooting scrape, placing all the blame on two men who are being hunted in central Texas, and who have not been seen since they left Rhome directly following the shooting.

Sheriff Guy Pierce returned from Dallas Monday night after spending some time in assisting officers in running down clues as to the whereabouts of the parties guilty of the murders of Moseley and Brown. It was Pierce who first learned of the identity of the guilty men, this fact induced Mrs. Hunsucker to make corroborative statements as was published in the daily papers Wednesday.

A nation-wide hunt is now on in an effort to capture Glenn Hunsucker and Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton, both parties being accused of the crimes, and both men well known in the Panhandle. Their capture is momentarily expected.

MELLOWED 80 MILLION YEARS

While brutes grew coats of mail in OKLAHOMA

MILLIONS of years ago Nature buried in Oklahoma certain priceless complex chemical compounds. Ages went by—long ages which saw the rise and fall of life in strange forms. And little by little, heat and pressure began to have its effect. Cambro-Ordovician crude oil was in the making!

Today the drills of Sinclair oil men have bitten deep into the soil of Oklahoma and tapped this treasure trove. Piped to the great Sinclair refineries and carefully refined and blended, Cambro-Ordovician crude oil becomes Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil, a product resulting from man's exhaustive care and Nature's 80 million years of priceless treatment.

Man's part in producing Opaline is all-important. In order that you shall have full value for your money, Sinclair not only de-waxes Opaline—it goes one step further and removes the non-lubricating petroleum jelly by chilling the oil down to as low as 60° F. below zero. An extra step taken by few refiners besides Sinclair!

Have the nearest Sinclair dealer change your oil to Sinclair Opaline according to the Sinclair Law of Lubrication Index. Notice how quietly your engine runs. Then, at the next draining period examine the used Opaline. Observe how it still holds its rich lubricating body—how little oil has been used up!

REMEMBER: Sinclair offers you your choice—Sinclair Opaline, made from the oldest Mid-continent crudes, or Sinclair Pennsylvania, made from the costliest Pennsylvania grade crude.
