Gala Opening of San Angelo Bank

Here's the lobby of the San Angelo National bank, constructed after closing several months ago, and opened again last Monday. Large crowds prevailed all day, with business and pleasure alike attending the opening. The first depositor was L. E. Stewart, who placed $100 in gold in the bank.

OLD TACK WILL BE EXHIBITED AT BANQUET TONIGHT

Henry Ansley Will Become Side-Show Feature With Both Men on Program

Every request of "Old Tack" the Panhandle's celebrated columnist, will be complied with, as to the organization of a "pop squad" to do the clearing up to be done what he claims to be the masterpiece of showmanship. Tack is requested the crowd tonight to cheer at every pause in his speech, which means that the crowd will be deluged with a mighty outburst of cheering every time the famous weather prognosticator draws a breath.

As another feature of the evening, Henry Ansley, old-time cowboy and author of the "Far North" ranch and known in agricultural literary circles as the "Bard of the Great Basin of America," will deliver an address that, he assures, the public will be more spectacular than any other delivered here in the past.

Henry will be furnished to cheer leader or pep squad. It is not necessary and he does not request these auxiliaries of attraction. He will also refrain from stating that "Old Tack is half raked when he removes his hat and other remarks that more appropriately come within the scope of a medical convention.

More tickets have already been sold for this coming out or community party than was expected by far. At this time some hours in advance of the big event, it looks like a success in spite of the program.

The program as announced in the Leader last week will be followed out without a hitch. It is also understood that some addition will be made by the C. H. D. lady who will stage a tableau, pageant or something picturing the results of the H. D. club instruction in the home will, nothing but the "family rackets" left out. This feature is supposed to be a secret among the women folks and the reader is requested to refrain from telling even the most intimate friend.

The banquet begins promptly at 7:30 and will be served by the ladies of the First Christian church in the basement. The price is fifty cents and no one barred. Plenty of speaking, music and the election of the additional members to the board of the Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the event.

Not a Donley County Man In Jail For Crime

Nine men are being held in the county jail at this time, but not a citizen of the county in the lot with a criminal charge against him.

Of the nine, three are charged with murder, one bank robbery, one charged with car theft, two colored men held on burglary charges, one will answer to a forgery charge, and one is being held on a lunacy conviction awaiting removal to the asylum.

MORE HIGHWAY REGULATIONS ARE NOT WELL KNOWN

Most Law Violations In State To Ignorance, And Public Should Be Informed

The average citizen who has not been accustomed to driving on city streets and driving to town when he has work, had better start to find out what has been going on down at Austin in the way of new regulations. This article is to enlighten the average citizen, and ignorance of the new laws may get his owner in hot water.

The law regarding the vehicle driven by anyone other than the owner shall carry lights or lanterns, or instead of such lights must have reflective apparatus by the Department. Such lights or lanterns must be placed at the front and rear of the vehicle.

No motor vehicle shall exceed a height of 12 feet and 4 inches. Neither shall such vehicle including a trailer, exceed a length of 45 feet. Drivers of such vehicles must carry registration papers with them constantly while on road. Trucks are limited to one trailer and that trailer must carry a red light at night.

All persons operating commercial motor vehicles of over one ton capacity must have a chauffeur's license.

Every motor vehicle except road machinery and farm tractors, having a greater width in any part than 70 inches, shall carry two clearance lanterns on the side. A white one on the left front side and a red one on the left rear side. This provision was made to avoid "side-swiping" in passing on the highways, but it doesn't, and yet it helps by saving a number of lives each year.

Every motor driven vehicle must have two methods of applying brakes, and must be able to stop within a distance of 45 feet while going at a 20 mile speed.

Failure to stop and render aid after becoming involved in an auto or truck accident, entails a penitentiary sentence. Your victim may crawl out of the wreck shooting, but it is cheaper to take a chance on that, than to face the pen a little later.

The above information is given by the Leader that it may be the means of saving the innocent trouble and expense. Highway patrolmen G. A. Freese and E. C. White of Memphis with jurisdiction over this district, are charged with enforcing these laws. Know the law and obey it. We can't whip the state of Texas.

TREES TO BECOME WASHINGTON MEMORIAL

Tree planting in Donley county has never received the attention it deserves, or that conditions justify. At this time, our county has begun a program of tree planting in cooperation with the George Washington Bi-Centennial, a movement that is rapidly going forward all over the nation.

One hundred and sixty individuals in Berks county, Pennsylvania have already planted 1,232,543 trees, easily heading the list of Washington tree memorials.

As chairman of the Donley County Conservation Association of the Bi-Centennial observance this season, I am particularly anxious to have every organization in the county represented in this Association by two representatives.

Every church, lodge, civic club or other organization in Donley county is urged to elect or appoint two members to serve on the county association in furthering the purchase of trees. These representatives should be selected at once that they may attend a meeting to be held at the City Hall in Clarendon on Tuesday, January 19th at 3 p. m.

Plans will be completed at this meeting for the sale and planting of trees suitable to this climate. In the years to come Donley county will have a Washington memorial that may not be duplicated anywhere in the Panhandle.

This is the one big opportunity for the people of this county to purchase trees at far below the usual retail price. The list will include several varieties of shade trees, and if possible, cherry trees.

Remember the date and the meeting place. See that your organization is represented. This arrangement will give every one a share in the management of the tree planting movement through their representatives, and must include the entire county.

Discovery.

Texas never knew she had a perfect son until John Nance Garner was elected Speaker.

Custom.

Publishers are never privileged to state a woman's age except in her obituary.

Information.

During 1931, hearse drivers are said to have experienced less back seat driving than any other class of motorists.

Military.

That American consul may have been impolite, in a way, according to the Jap soldiers, but they will have to give him credit for not making an attack until he had at least three of them cornered.

Quakers.

Some of the exchange publications coming to our desk appear to be afflicted with the tactics of the merchant who makes no attempt to get business until the spirit moves him.

Confidence.

When you receive a bill, don't get sore. It merely means that there is one left who still has faith in your integrity. Just how long that confidence exists, depends upon your action after you receive the bill.

Why Holler?

So long as people of the cotton belt continue to wear silk, and those of the dairy belt continue to buy butter substitute, it will take just that much longer to instill in both the fundamental idea of self-preservation.

Resolutions.

So far, Thos. T. Waggoner of the Claude News is the only publisher to announce New Year resolutions. Tom has resolved—that he will make a better husband, father, brother, friend, neighbor and editor and attend church and Sunday school every Sunday during 1932. He didn't say anything about "cussin'" and we naturally presume that he is above the use of offending vocabulary. If he can resolve himself into a higher sphere above the average man, and maintain that standard for a full year, perhaps other publishers will feel encouraged to do likewise before the millennium swipes them off the map.

What About Texas?

In order to protect the dairy industry of Wisconsin, that state imposes a tax of 6 cents a pound on oleo or other butter substitutes. The dealer must also pay a yearly license of $1000 and the wholesaler must pay a yearly license of $500. That is some better than the protection afforded cow owners in Texas. But they did not go strong enough. Any individual, firm or corporation offering butter substitutes for sale as food should be prosecuted, and the individuals who are responsible sent to the pen, and the purchaser should be fined. The innocent should be protected at all costs.

Civilization.

Farmers who cannot pay their taxes off the products of 160 acres are assured a living from what their wives canned off a half acre garden supplemented with a few chickens. Probably this means smaller farms unless science discovers a method by which we can digest cotton and feed stuff.

The speculator gets the profit on farm products and the producer gets the experience. The producer goes ragged for having produced too much cotton. He also goes hungry for having produced too much meat. He asks "what will you take" when he buys, and "what will you give" when he sells. He pays taxes to be taught how to produce "more", but not a penny is spent to find him a market after he produces.

An Honest Editor.

Some men proclaim their honesty and it is taken for granted that he is telling the truth. But when it comes to editors, they simply have to prove it.

Last week Edgar Edmiston of the Bowie Enterprise picked up a wad of greenbacks on the street and forthwith beat it for the Enterprise office and advertised the fact. A reader several miles from town was overjoyed to see that advertisement, went to the Enterprise office in all due haste, identified and received his money back.

Moral: Edmiston knows the value of advertising in the Enterprise. He has offered ample proof that his conclusions are a fact. If the Enterprise can find the owner of money lost on the streets of Bowie, the Enterprise can by the same method acquaint the readers with what the Bowie merchants have to offer without the Enterprise readers being forced to the necessity of having to resort to the pages of a mailorder catalog to find commodities for which the readers are willing to pay hard-earned cash.

Dirty Shame!

Those who do business in a town naturally expect to help support the reasonable expenses of that town. A fair-minded business man pays taxes in support of the schools and for the enforcement of law and order protecting life and property.

That business man sells his wares and stands back of the quality. Disgruntled customers, if any, may return for an adjustment, if necessary, most any time. That business man supports churches either directly or indirectly. He rears a family in most instances and is your neighbor.

Your home business man has dozens of opportunities to contribute to needy causes during the year, and meets the request with a willingness that arouses a keen sense of appreciation even to the extent of a "letter of thanks" in the local paper.

Your home business man not only contributes of his money and wares to the community pie supper and candy auction without number, but he also serves on various committees in person and gives liberally of his time.

He is a citizen and deserves the respect and consideration of those in need of his wares. Occasionally there bobs up in a town a merchant from no one knows where. He lights when the picking is best and displays his goods bought at forced sales and bolsters up his show windows with an exaggerated claim of great quality bought at a sacrifice price that enables him to sell below the merchant described above.

This "fly-by-night" fellow dodged the issue until fall. While the farmer was making a crop and the local merchant was helping his neighbor get by, this "slicker" was taking a vacation waiting for the season to get ripe.

As fall comes on, this "slicker" lands with odds and ends which he sells at fabulous prices in proportion to what he paid for them. In addition to that line of odds and ends and broken lots, he often displays a line of men's suits.

This fall just such a fellow less than a thousand miles of Clarendon displayed, offered for sale and actually sold suits that were second hand. His stock in part at least came from the clothing junk dealer of a large city no doubt. He also displayed a line of women's dresses and coats that were "slightly worn" and offered at a price below the hoxie merchant who was offering honest goods at a fair price.

In addition to skinning his customers, this class of fakir decamps just before January 1st. You don't catch that kind of a daylight high-jacker being caught by the tax assessor. He dodges taxes with the same measure of skill that he skins his individual customer.

These kind of fellows have operated in Donley county in times past, and in one instance it was known that one of these fellows loaded his goods on a truck on the night of December 29th and had the whole "capoodle" in the state of Oklahoma on January 1st. After January 1st, the period at which assessment values are taken for the purposes of tax collections, this fellow returned his goods to Donley county. His stock was "owned" by three different men during the year, never got out of the family, and so far as the public was concerned, no one knew who owned the stock in the store at any time.

The public should be protected against this class. If a fellow can drop into a town at leisure during the rush season, there should be some means provided by which he could be made to bear his just share of the corporate expense of that town. The innocent purchasers should be protected to the extent that they should not be made to pay a full price for "new" suits, coats and dresses fresh from a junk dealer in cast off clothing.

"Boots" Gets Message From Cora Lee Through Leader

What can a little girl do when her bull pup goes on an unannounced visit to parts unknown. She used woman's favorite weapon and just cried. "Boots" is a dignified specimen of dog aristocracy of the screw tail bull variety. Cora Lee Muse, little tot of five, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Muse who are proprietors of Lee's Cafe here, is the owner of Boots.

Boots went A. W. O. L., haywire, or happened to think of some unfinished business down the country or something else some days ago, and Lee Muse asked the Leader's classified column to help him pacify the little lady, queen and boss of his household by locating Boots at the earliest possible moment.

When the next issue of the Leader came out, hundreds of papers drifted down across that Lelia country as it does every week, and one in particular going every week into the W. M. Mace home, carried Cora Lee's message right to Boots.

Boots was out doing nothing but see the world, and Alvin Mace, son of W. M. Mace, picked him up as a dog sowing wild oats and took him home with him. When Alvin saw that request in the Leader's classified column, he got in touch with Lee Muse and the dog incident rapidly became a matter of history, and Cora Lee and Boots once again happy companions.

Denver Mint Coins Millions Of Pennies During 1931

During the year just passed, the government mint at Denver coined only three kinds of money, pennies, dimes and $20 gold pieces. According to a report issued this week.

Pennies coined totaled 4,480,000. The total number of dimes stamped out amounted to 1,260,000. The number of $20 gold pieces amounted to 106,500 and were worth $2,130,000.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and snaky and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just dumps in the bowels. One visit up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your health is lost. This often breaks out in hives. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't substitute liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Demand a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931, C. M. Co.

USEFUL CITIZEN BALLOT The most useful citizen in Donley county during 1931 was My Name Route No. P. O. Bring or send this ballot to the office of the Donley County Leader at Clarendon.

C. J. Talley Announces For Precinct Number One

Mr. Talley authorizes the Leader to announce his name as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner from Precinct No. 1, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary in July.

He has been a resident of the county during the past 18 years and is too well known to the citizens of his precinct to require any special mention. At the same time he wants it to be known that as a farmer for these 18 years, he realizes the condition of the farmer at this time. Knowing these facts, he states that he is opposed to squandering the taxpayer's money, and that he will not be in favor of any measure that requires funds paid in by his neighbors, unless that item of expense is absolutely necessary. He further states that if elected, he will look upon the county's business as he has his own private affairs, and be just as economical and careful in making any county investments. The consideration of every voter in Precinct One will be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith announce the recent arrival of a second daughter in the person of little Miss Alice Margaret.

West Texans. FORWARD! It has been the history of West Texas that after every national depression, this "Land of Opportunity" returns to normal—and marches ahead to greater prosperity—more rapidly than any other section of the country. Recognizing this, can you doubt the brilliant future ahead of West Texas? Can you remain depressed when you're living in this land of vast and valuable resources? Can you allow a temporary period of adjustment to blind you to the immense possibilities just around the corner? Of course you can't—neither can other thousands of loyal and enthusiastic West Texans! That's why the rapid development of our land has astounded the world—we have a boundless, and justified, faith in West Texas! This company, rendering dependable and efficient electric service to 125 prosperous cities and towns, has displayed its confidence in this territory's future by the investment of approximately fifty millions of dollars and the creation of an annual payroll that has averaged over $2,000,000.00 for the past three years. Our firm faith further is exemplified by the reduction of electric rates for service to the home to the low average of only 6.3 cents per kilowatt-hour... by the construction of three major generating stations, nineteen auxiliary plants, and more than 2,500 miles of transmission lines... through the building of fifty-five local office buildings and warehouses, and the erection of the many additional permanent facilities necessary so that West Texas can offer to industries and home-makers that dependable and inexpensive power supply available only from a widespread transmission line electric system. The future of West Texas is assured! Present fundamental conditions are sound, and West Texas' wealth of natural resources—unsurpassed by any other section of the country—give every indication of progress that will dwarf in magnitude that sensational development which a few short years ago riveted on us the attention of the entire nation! Let us take advantage of this encouraging situation—and march through to a greater prosperity than ever before! Let us assume our rightful eminence in the great Southwest! WEST TEXANS—FORWARD! TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

These singers who try to imitate an Arkansas bull frog put our radio out of commission this week. This picture was taken on our way home just before the last family racket started. Tune in, folks, get an ear full of real life!

A lady called up Christmas week and said: "Do you - - ah-um-ah have any Christmas cards that are ah-ah- different?" That was enough. We knew she had been stung by a-ah-ah-um. Well you know!

A down state school announces that the football team will be weakened by graduation this year. But then they may get fooled.

Two headlines on a Kentucky front page this week reads: "1374 Couples Wed Last Year" and "Scores Jam Police Council."

A young lady in Tarrant county suffered the loss of a pink thing-umbob stolen off the clothes line and weeps at the thought of having lost a safety pin given her as a keepsake by her grandmother.

And the Apostle is due a lot of embarrassment and the ladies of the Home Demonstration Club who have asked him to speak to the Club next Friday afternoon are due a lot of disappointment. It has always been our ambition for the GW to keep on until she can learn enough in the club work to make us a good living when we can sit around, look dignified and disgruntled and boss the whole works.

We have another gnawing or craving ambition, and that is to have a handle to our name like these dignified bozos who come here to talk to public gatherings. Most all of them are "doctor" sound-so or something as any one can get up to the point of being called "doctor" as we knew a lively stable janitor one time who gave a mule a dose of ipecac and he was called doctor for 32 years, or until a mule finally put a stop to that doctor's career by kicking him through a barn door.

Our idea is to get along with the women until we can assume the degree of D. H. D. which means Doctor of Demonstration Clubs. What's the difference since we never expect to use that handle to our name except when we get away from home like a lot of other fellows.

We knew a preacher here at one time who had seven converts in a year and was called "doctor" which made him assume dignity as rigid as a wooden leg. At the same time another preacher had over a hundred converts during the year and was referred to as that old "cloud-busting" parson. All of which goes to show that titles, degrees and handles to a name don't mean a blame thing except to add dignity. If the GW ever hears of this, she will be wanting to add D. A. S. to her name because she won a prize on "apple sass" at the Tri-State Fair. Alright, Doctor of Apple Sass, here goes!

A man whose wife had died was asked to ride on the hearse with his mother-in-law. After they started to the cemetery, he looked the old girl over and told the hearse driver that having to ride with his mother-in-law robbed him of all the pleasure of the funeral.

Speaking of doctors, hearses and other cheerful subjects, we are reminded of the dignified high-sound phrases broadcast by a certain "doctor" who specializes on a remedy that he emphasizes as being a "clean-up, clean-out" process that no doubt includes a "clean-down" to the last cent the victim may have if he fools with that bird very much.

This bull-shooter from Bulford, Kansas reaches for a letter as he begins a broadcast and says: "H. K. O. of Fakum, Arkansas. My dear, dear sir, from a reading of your letter you are suffering from epilepsy, myocarditis, brontosaurus, quovadis and may have the itch by spring. You need our woman's regulator, liver, kidney, heart, back and leg stimulator each of which may be procured from the Bulford drug company."

above. Take a bottle of each and you should be able to throw a man through the roof as easily as out of the ring.

Mrs. D. A. M. of Lambast, Tennessee. This lady is suffering from a "re-possessed soninlaw" and ought to take the above remedies—say a half dozen bottles of each. You will be surprised what you can do to that soninlaw at the end of a week after you have taken the medicine as recommended.

J. M. R. of Hocholler, Tennessee—Your letter indicates that you are suffering from the depression. You have what we "doctors" call jabberendi and ought to take the brain treatment which can only be obtained in person at our hospital. This is a stunt picked up from Doctor Markowski while we were taking a special course in veterinary science at a dairy farm in Clekovicia last year. Don't forget to bring the money, just $750. If you are henpecked and have to bring your wife along, make it a thousand.

There's a way to find the good in everything. For instance everybody is getting a large number of duns most of which are written with ink. Why not make a collection of these duns, throw them in the ocean and then sell the ocean to the laundries for blueing water. A candidate was all put out because he dipped snuff until he found out that his opponent drank bootleg likker. Yep—both are men. Speaking of candidates, how do you like the sudden wave of friendly feeling that is going over the old home county? We ought to have a campaign in progress every day in the year.

Who ever heard of "ponhorse?" You might have called it scapple which amounts to the same thing. It is made by cutting up a variety of meats such as heart, liver, kidneys, etc which are put into a pot and boiled until thoroughly done. Then sift in enough corn meal to make a mush. Add salt to season. Allow the mixture to cool and slice and fry. This is no joke. Try it, and remember that it will keep indefinitely in a cool place. We learned to make this while cooking for the Sodbusters on the Bar-Nothin' ranch.

During the oil boom a man walked up to the cashier girl in an Amarillo hotel and asked what that blue strip was around her neck. "Why, that's a ribbon, silly." "Well, he replied, everything else is so high around here that I thought it might be your garter." (P. S. hotel prices have gone down there lately. Advt.)

A man called up today and asked if the Pope was the captain of the St. Louis Cardinals.

A business man being sued was forced to go East as the case came to trial and instructed his attorney to wire him the results. Two days later he received a wire "Justice has triumphed." The business man immediately wired back "Appeal immediately."

Son: Mommer, popper wouldn't kill anybody would he?

Mommer: Certainly not. Why do you ask?

Son: Well, I heard him in the cellar just now and he said "George, let's kill the other two."

A very stingy man of this town who was in Amarillo recently passed down the street and squawked "What a dandy advertising scheme" as he helped himself to a handful of the blind man's pencils.

Jack and Jill

And hit a curve quite sharp;
The car turr-d turtle,
Jack's wreath was Myrtle,

This may not be a depression,
but it is the smallest boom we have ever been mixed up with and no mistake.
The hardest job we ever had was to praise poor cooking. How will it ever improve if we just keep on lying about it?

Son's Statement Implicates Father

Rudolph Matthews, Jr., 9

The statement of a 9-year-old San Antonio boy may convict his father of the murder of the boy's mother. Rudolph Matthews was charged with the murder of his wife recently after the boy told officers of seeing his father drag his mother into the bedroom of their home, and hearing a shot immediately thereafter. Matthews says it was an accidental shooting. According to Rudolph, Jr., his mother had previously engaged in an argument with a woman named Della, saying, "Leave my husband alone."

Here's Amarillo After 15.4 Inches of Snow Last Week
Panhandle road traffic, telephone and telegraph communication were all seriously hampered last week, and train service was slightly impaired, when snow ranging from 10 to 15 inches in depth covered the whole area. Farmers believe the snow will be of unlimited benefit to wheat, however, and stock was all in good shape, it was reported. Picture is a street scene in Amarillo after the big snow.

active practice of the law for the past three years. While serving as county attorney he was always found just, vigorous, active and aggressive in the discharge of his duties of said office, and in assisting the district attorney of said county. He fully demonstrated the fact that he is an able and fearless prosecutor.

In addition to his excellent qualifications for the office as a lawyer, he has always been found ready and willing to stand for the right at all times and places. He is honest and conscientious and is a thorough gentleman.

It is our judgement that he will make a district attorney far above the average in point of ability, and vigorous prosecution.

IMPRESSIONS

From Revival at Christian Church

Editors note: (The following impressions are from sermons and things said by L. O. Byerly, of Borger, Texas, who is holding a meeting at the Christian Church. Services each evening at 7:00 p.m.)

"I'm here to do all the good I can, if I can serve you in any way, call upon me," said Brother Byerly in his opening sermon on Monday evening. He talked about "flat tires" and most of the folks attending found out that in the common expression and meaning of the day "they were in some respects flat tires."

No preaching can be bigger neither can it lift people higher than the life lived by the average Christian. God wants folks to live for him and not be so concerned about "what we believe" or the "doctrines". My mother's religion needs no proof and it is something you cannot successfully deny.

There are a lot of fellows who are "not bad" and they are "not good" either—not worth ten cents a dozen in any market of the world Tramps, going no place, just traveling. Not in Clarendon, no, of course not.

Any man who will live before his children and eat before his children and not acknowledge God as his bountiful giver of all good things is about nine-tenths hog.

The skeptic and the doubter have deep tap roots and they are by the waters of willful sin that they are unwilling to give up. To be a Christian they would have to give up sin—so they go around exploding their doubts and showing their ignorance.

Clarendon is a fine town, I like it here very much. I believe that I can do a great deal of good here—I believe you need some help. I would like to be helped. Lets cooperate.

1932 A. D. meaning After the Depression. There is no depression to the Christian. Even death does not depress for he lives forever on the riches that God has promised to provide—eternal food for the soul—fearing him who can kill both body and soul.

I despise to talk about "my theology" but folks I love to talk about Christianity. I despise to study "botany" in school or anywhere else but I love beautiful flowers. Forget your "knotty questions" and just live for Jesus and look up and laugh and lift.

The devil is on my trail—when you hear some things being said, just remember what I said—the devil is trying to kill my influence and the influence of my meetings. I love the children and I want the house to be filled with them. I can work with them—I have two of my own—I can help them grow to be useful men and women—but you old hard headed "old folks"—boy howdy—nothing short of an explosion of dynamite could move you. If your old and hardheaded and want to live for the devil and receive the devils wages—eternal life in hell-go ahead, I won't stop you, but I'm not wanting that life for mine.

Norman Daniel Hudson

Mr. Hudson passed away at Adair hospital Monday, January 11th following a serious illness of several days, and declining health over several months.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 2 p. m. Tuesday with the pastor, Rev. E. B. Bowen in charge assisted by Rev. L. A. Reavis.

Born in Hopkins county, Texas February 20, 1866 Mr. Hudson continued to make that his home and was married to Miss Mattie Horn at Neita December 30, 1888. The family home was moved to Hall county in January of 1909, where Brice was home until 1920 when the family moved to near Clarendon.

He became a member of the Methodist church at an early age and remained a faithful communicant of that church until his death.

Besides Mrs. Hudson, the following children survive: Mrs. C. L. Benson of Clarendon; Mrs. C. R. Cross of Brice; Major B., N. F., Clyde W. and Zora who reside in or near Clarendon.

Sisters surviving are Mrs. W. C. Veazey of near Goldston; Mrs. W. C. Wyatt of Lakeview; Mrs. H. W. France of Dike; Mrs. C. W. Alverton of Childress and Miss Mavis Hudson also of Childress. The brothers are E. B. Hudson of Wel-ington and M. L. Hudson of Dike, Texas.

All of the above named relatives attended the funeral services here Tuesday.

The following neighbors and friends of many years were pallbearers: H. M. Stewart, J. R. Dale, G. R. Grant, Watt Hardin, Tom Scerly, J. R. Bulls.

Mr. Hudson was of a kindly disposition, easily made friends and those friends were retained through life. As an outstanding citizen standing for that which was right under all circumstances, no man ever remained more steadfast than he. Donley county has lost one of her best citizens and those who know him best feel that the loss sustained here is his gain.

SWEET PONE CORNBREAD

To 3 qts. of boiling water stir in 1½ pts. of sifted meal, make a smooth mush. Add a tablespoonful of salt, remove from fire. Add 2 qts. of meal, beat well. Then add 1 cup of sugar, 1 cup of lard and last add 1½ pts. of flour; beat until small bubbles form on mixture. If too thick add some cold water and beat well. The mixing and beating has a great deal to do with the success. Let stand over night, or make early in morning and keep in warm place and bake in late afternoon.

Why Every Student Should Take Part in Interscholastic League Contests

I think that all students should enter some Interscholastic League contest because they would get more training on certain subjects than they can get in classes at school.

The literary events give the pupils more self-confidence and a better standing for themselves. They help the students to overcome excitement when speaking or writing.

The one-act plays that are put on fascinate both children and grown-ups. They are also helpful to the students who take part in them.

For physical training, students should enter the athletic contests. They can get more training than they would get if they did not enter the contest.

When a pupil enters an Interscholastic League contest, he not only shows that he wants to gain a better standing for himself but for his school as well.

Some students do not want to enter Interscholastic contests because they think they can not win. But do not some have to be defeated?

Although you may not win in the contest you enter, you will gain valuable information while training for the event.

My Favorite Character in Fiction

I think that my favorite character in fiction, or at least in any fiction I have read this year, is Alice in "Alice for Short" by De Morgan. Alice was of the sort that we see in everyday life. She was not of the beautiful doll-types that are found in some books. Who wants to read of a beautiful old fashioned girl who is to meek and timid to assert herself? I am sure I do not. Most everyone loves a character that acts natural.

Alice learned to take care of herself at an early age. She was shy to a certain extent, but she was independent enough to assert herself when necessary. Alice was not nearly perfect. She had the faults that are found in every day people. If she had been a perfect person, I would not have been interested in her, because I want to read of people that I can feel that I would love if I should meet them in everyday life. I actually could not love a perfect person.

The sixth grade made a booklet on Lincoln this week. The backs were made out of construction paper with letters cut of contrasting colors. We will try to give you a picture of these booklets.

Life of Lincoln
 Laura Mae Gerner
 Abraham Lincoln was born in a hut February 12, 1809 in what is now La Rue county but was then Hardin county, Kentucky. He began life in a so-called camp. When he was four years old he moved 15 miles distant, and in 1816, at the age of seven moved to Spencer county Indiana to a new farm, where they lived in a half faced shed. Here in 1818, his mother died. She did not have a proper funeral and a few weeks later Abraham took a clergyman and had him to repeat the proper services over her grave. His father then moved back to Kentucky where he married a very industrious woman, Sarah Bush Johnson by name. She made her lazy husband fix the cabin better so that "Abe" as Abraham was often called, had something that resembled a home. Lincoln read the Bible and his favorite story books were Fables, The Pilgrims Progress Robinson Crusoe, and The Life of Washington. He did not get much education but read all the books he could get hold of. While in Congress he was asked to give the facts of his life, he dismissed his early life by saying "Education defective."

When Lincoln was fourteen he could read and write with ease. Lincoln moved to Illinois at the age of eighteen. A year later he announced his candidacy for Illinois legislature. Before the election time came the Black Hawk Indian War threatened Illinois. Lincoln enlisted as a volunteer but was made captain of his company. Without having seen any fighting the volunteers were mustered out in May. Lincoln at once reenlisted as a private. He then returned to the election and was elected. A little later he was made postmaster at New Salem. This did not pay enough money and he was obliged to split rails and work at the sawmill to make a living. In 1834 he was elected to Illinois house of representatives. He held this office until 1842 while holding these different offices he had studied law continuously and in 1837 he was allowed to practice. In 1840 he was offered the government of Oregon but refused to take it.

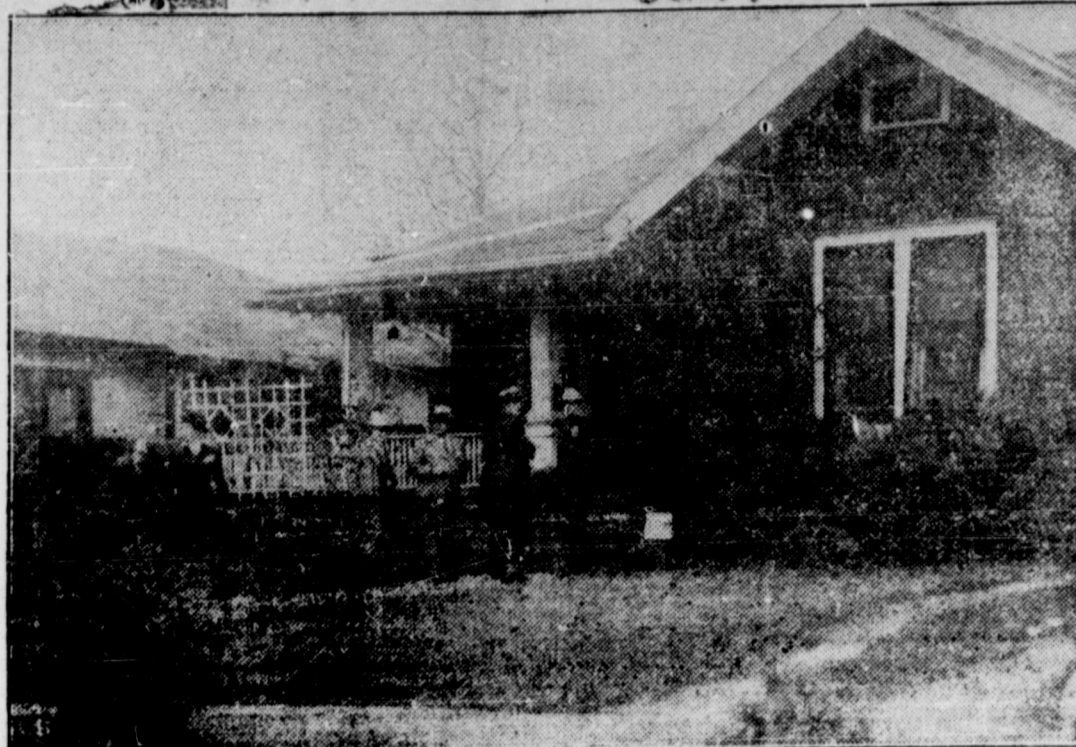

In 1860 he was elected sixteenth president of the United States. The slavery question had been in American politics for some years and resulted in the outbreak of the Civil War during Lincoln's first year as president. In 1864 while this bloody war was raging, Lincoln was reelected president of the North. In 1865, a few days after the close of the Civil War, Lincoln was shot while attending the Fords Theatre, Washington, on April 14, 1865 by John Wilkes Booth and died the following morning. He was buried on the nineteenth at Springfield, Illinois.

Character of Lincoln

Millard Cruse
 The greatest men are those whose fame cannot be wholly accounted for by their public acts. What Lincoln was, is incomparably greater than anything he did. Preeminent as is his place in history, he conveys the idea of duty rather than of glory. In moral height and in human service he measures up to the immortal of all ages, as he looms in larger perspective of time, we constantly marvel and rejoice that he does not recede to a dim legendary figure but grows clearer in outline and closer in human sympathy. His simple goodness, his honest, kindest, courage severe that we may emulate.

House Where Slayers Made Last Stand

Here is the home of J. F. Tomlinson, Houston carpenter, where Harry and Jennings Young, slayers of six officers in a pitched battle near Springfield, Mo., Saturday night, either shot each other or themselves rather than give up to Houston and Harris county officers who surrounded the house Tuesday. Tomlinson rented the fugitives a room Monday, and after seeing Harry's picture in a Houston paper Monday night, took his family elsewhere for the night and reported his suspicions to police. The photo above was taken just as officers entered the house with machine and riot guns.

have all been made acquainted with Lincoln's tall, spare figure, strong features, black hair and gray eyes. We are equally familiar with his simple friendly manner, his humor, his illumination, anecdotes, his tolerance and the expression he often wore if he had missed his meed of happiness. In speech he was plain and forcible, often drastic. In mind he had quick perception.

A Story of Lincoln
 Lincoln at one time kept a country store for a man. As with everything that he undertook for others, Lincoln did his best with the store to make it a success. He was honest, civil, and ready to do anything that would encourage customers to come to the place. He was patient, alert, and full of pleasantries.

One afternoon he weighed and had given the woman too little tea for her money. He weighed out what was due, and carried it to her. After closing the store one night Abraham Lincoln sat up late counting his money. As he counted he found a mistake had been made. He thought a minute then made up his mind that he must have given a customer the wrong change. He took from the money drawer the few cents due the customer, and put the rest of the money away. He then put on his coat and hat and after locking the door behind him walked a long distance to return the customer his money.

The Gettysburg Address

By Abraham Lincoln
 Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this; but in larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion for that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation under God, shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Words of Lincoln

Laura Mae
 "I am nothing, but truth is everything."
 "Give us a little more light, and a little less noise."
 "He sticks through thick and thin, I admire such a man."
 "Success does not so much depend on external help as self reliance."
 "It is better only sometimes to be right than at all times to be wrong

 "The face of an old friend is like a ray of sunshine through dark clouds."

Captain! My Captain!
 O Captain! My Captain! Our fearful trip is done,
 The ship has weather'd every rack,
 The prize we sought is won,
 The port is near, the bells I hear,
 The people all exulting,
 While follow eyes the steady keel,
 The vessel grim and daring;
 But O heart! heart! heart!
 Of bleeding drops of red,
 Where on the deck my Captain lies,
 Fallen cold and dead.

O Captain! My Captain! rise up and hear the bells,
 Rise up—for you the flag is flung—
 For you the bugle trills,
 For you the bouquets and ribbon'd wreaths—
 For you the shores a-crowding,
 For you they call, the surging mass,
 Their eager faces turning;
 Here Captain! dear father!
 This arm beneath you head!
 It is some dream that on the deck
 You've fallen cold and dead.

My captain does not answer; his lips are pale and still;
 My father does not feel my arms; he has no plus nor will;
 The ship has anchored safe and sound,
 Its voyage closed and done,
 From fearful trip the victory ships come with object won
 Exult, O shores, and ring,
 O bells!
 But I with mournful tread
 Walk the deck my Captain lies,
 Fallen cold and dead.

 Text: "Be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." Josh. 1:9.
 The promise of Divine presence to the Children of Israel was fulfilled and they were victorious in their conquest of Canaan because they honored God and obeyed Him.

Saturday Jan. 16th
 Text: "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believed in Him should not perish but have everlasting life" John 3:16. (Golden text for Sunday Jan. 17th.)
 This text has been well called the Golden Text of the Bible. It reveals one of the greatest truth or fact of all times. God's great love for mankind is manifested in the giving of His Son, and man is promised everlasting life for accepting and believing in that Son and His program.

Sunday Jan. 17th
 JESUS AND NICODEMUS. Lesson John 3:1-16.
 A ruler and teacher of Israel comes to the Master for information on a vital subject and receives instructions. Christ teaches the ruler the necessity of regeneration and outlines the terms upon which one submit to inherit eternal life. The same conditions and terms are binding today.

Monday an. 18th
 Text: "Be ye therefore very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law." Josh. 23:6.
 Knowing God's commandments and laws is not enough to insure the eternal blessing that God has in store for His people. The Apostle James tells us that we must also be workers or 'doers' (James 1:22-24). Again we are told that faith without works is dead.

 Text: "The Lord seeth not as man seeth: for man looketh upon outward appearance, but the Lord looketh upon the heart." I Sam. 16:17.
 It is not the spectacular stunt before the grandstand that brings divine approval but the daily martyrdom and life of service, of which the world know little and cares less. God expects us to do our best and He knows when we have done that, and will be satisfied with nothing less. Please God, not men.

Wednesday Jan. 20th
 Text: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." Matt. 6:33.
 With many people, it is just fret, fret, fret, all the time; not over actual but anticipated troubles, worrying over imaginary items. God's claims come first and when they are paid promptly God promises blessings and protection.

Thursday Jan. 21st
 Text: "Thou are Great, O Lord God: for there is none like Thee, neither is there any God beside Thee." II Sam. 7:22.
 David, the shepherd-poet-king, was acquainted with God and sang of His greatness and oneness. The highways of reason, intuition, history and life all lead to the great conclusion: that God is omnipresent, omniscient and omnipotent, and that we should love and serve Him daily.

AN EMOTIONAL HEART

A destitute, strapping young man, hopelessly yearning for work to earn his daily bread is a sad sight. (All of us common folk see them daily, and know of many others.)

A destitute husband with a wife and children, in want of the bare necessities of life, anxiously and hopelessly searching for a job that he may clothe and feed his patient wife and hungry little ones, is a sadder sight. (And these we common folk all know and it touches our coarse hearts.)

A destitute mother, without a roof, light, fuel, food or clothes for her ragged barefooted little ones, with a mother's anguish crying for a roof and laundry or other drudgery that she may supply the life necessities to the babes of her womb is the saddest of thought—that is, to us common folk of calloused feelings.

But consider the oppressed heart of our noble engineer president. Think of the multitude of pitiful plights in this great nation that come under his wide seeing eye! Such conceptions are too appalling and too great for our imagination. We may not enter the White House, and may not for ourselves in imagination, select the objects that appeal to the presidential soul. We must let his jovian lips and facel pen tell that story. However, it is not our young man, nor our destitute husband, nor our wanting widow, nor body of his re-possessed people to which his heart and sympathy turn. It is to those whose conditions are harder, far harder indeed than any of these, for whom the depths of his great heart swell up, and for whom he is asking Congress to assist him in extending the helping hand of the long arm of eMilon. The distressed he sees deserving of national relief are these and these only:

First, those who have deposited their funds in banks that are busted, and who are unable to withdraw their cash except in dribs! (Mark, gentle reader. Many of these distressed depositors may be encumbered with expensive homes and fine automobiles, and some of them even rich. Weep with our great president.)

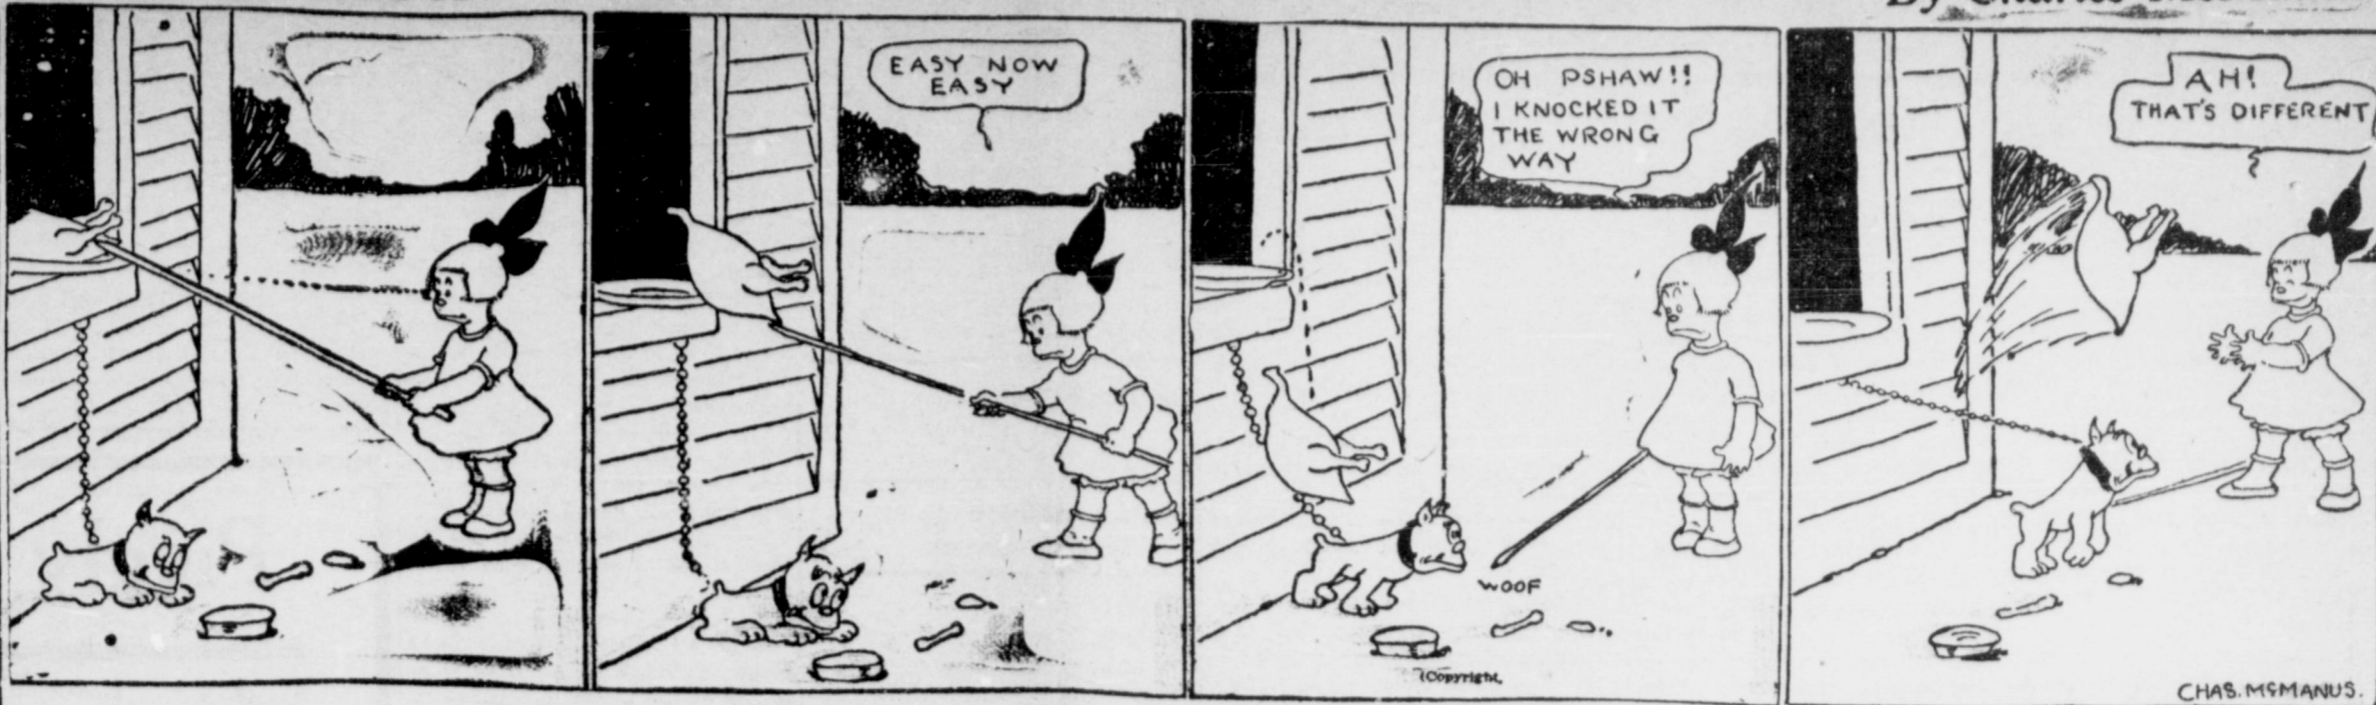

Second, the president says that there are many banks holding frozen assets and other uncollectable paper! Sadder, oh much sadder, than anything that touch the common heart. These frozen assets he desiresto buy with tax money yet to be levied and collected of the people.

Third, in his mind's eye he sees, and he says that many, many people who have invested funds in railroad bonds, some of which are about to default in an installment of annual interest!!!

He deems it necessary to inquire whether banks possession frozen assets are about to bring distress upon any persons. He knows that all these folk and corporations, mostly corporations, are entitled to relief, at the government's expense, and out of tax money, for the mistakes they have made. He knows that all banks would prefer cash lie of frizen assets—uncollectable paper. He does not inquire, and deems it unnecessary to inquire whether the holders of railroad bonds—principally corporations, are in any distress. His great soul knows and feels assured that they are entitled to relief out of our tax money.

He is opposed to helping our young man, our young husband, or our widow, by any appropriation from the national government. He says that would be a dole. Is it because they have souls that would make relief a dole? Does he believe that they have souls, or does he consider them merely negligible trash, not worthy of governmental recognition? It is the money lender, and the money lender only, whom the presidential mind so desires to relieve, for a depositor in a bank is a mere lender of money without interest, and among these depositors there are, of necessity, a few who may be embarrassed by their inability to withdraw at once their funds. But it is to be presumed, and the president is bound to presume, that most of such depositors are persons of resource. Of course many of such depositors are corporations, and the corporation is the one to be considered. Then, of higher consideration still, are the banking corporation that hold frozen assets or uncollectable paper. These appeal more keenly to the presidential mind, because they are wholly corporate. And as the climax, of those he would relieve are the holders of railroad bonds. The individuals who hold them, of course, are rich, but ninety per cent, perhaps, of the holders are corporations, and all these are entitled to relief at the hands of the government, and entitled to an appropriation of at least five hundred million dollars now for their relief, with the presidential authority to issue and sell fifteen hundred million in bonds, the proceeds whereof to be applied to the same purpose. That is not dole, as our noble engineering president sees it. It is buying prosperity—for the wealthy money lenders, both persons and corporations.

DOROTHY DARNIT

By Charles McManus

No, the writer does not believe in Congressional appropriations to feed the poor. Such is a dole. Private donations and municipal governments can and should do that. Neither does he believe in Congressional appropriations to make good the business mistakes of money lenders, rich or poor, corporate or personal. That is also a dole.

Those who in charity give for the relief of the poor must have an additional percentage of the money that they give for that relief taken to pay the taxes for the dole which he proposes to give to the money lenders, to banking corporations and to the rich corporations holding railroad bonds.

For just that, he degrades the greatest office in the land, and by his occupancy and his presence pollutes the sanctity of the White House. Such a proposition is a shame to America and a disgrace to humanity. If this is not the truth, why isn't it? If a president who refuses to help the starving out of national treasury, yet out of the national treasury proposes to give five hundred million to two billion dollars to those who have made mistakes in business, without even an inquiry as to whether they have physical necessity, or without regard to whether it will better business conditions, and to pay interest which is about to default to the rich, who are owners of railroad bonds, is not a disgrace to the presidential office of the United States, why isn't he?

If his incumbance, the presidency and occupancy of the White House, so long tenanted by honorable men, is not a pollution to it, why isn't it? If one who will turn a deaf ear to the cry of the poor, and tax the poor earnings of the poor for a direct gift to the wealthy and the opulent is not a shame to American manhood, why isn't it? If such a man is not a disgrace to humanity, why isn't he?

He makes this request upon the pretext that it will bring back prosperity. The pretext is so flimsy that it is ridiculous. He does not propose to put one cent into any business enterprise, or into the hand of any person or concern which will increase employment, or where it will increase trade or commodity prices. The whole five hundred millions, or two billion, is for the benefit of the lender. And this at a time when there was never in the history of the country so much money for loan, at rates of interest so low.

May Keep Goodnight Herd in Texas

Here's a portion of the buffalo herd at the famous Goodnight ranch, near Palo Duro canyon in Texas' Panhandle. This last herd of buffalo on the open range in Texas may leave the state, because the Goodnight ranch was sold last week under foreclosure proceedings. No disposition has yet been made of the buffalo, but a Wichita Falls bank, which holds the mortgage on the animals, has indicated that foreclosure may be postponed to see if some state organization will buy the herd.

"A COMMON PAPER FOR COMMON PEOPLE"

R. H. CARVER MAKES LIONS TALK ON MANCHURIA

Several Visitors Make Talks
On a Program Arranged
By O. C. Watson

R. H. Carver, who has charge of the Commercial Department of the Clarendon High School, was the principal speaker at the Lions luncheon hour Tuesday.

Mr. Carver spent more than a year soldiering for Uncle Sam in Siberia during the World War and is conversant with the conditions and circumstances and the customs of the people now involved in the unpleasant guerilla war in Manchuria.

He described the Japs as being an aggressive, intelligent people with a strong desire to find by capture if necessary, more territory for the over-crowded population of the Mikado's kingdom. He paid no compliment to the climate as a winter resort by stating that the temperature ran from 20 to 60 degrees below zero.

Mr. Carver prefaced his talk with a request that the business men of the town give the pupils of his department an opportunity to get actual practice in typewriting work of a general nature as well as mimeograph practice.

Rev. L. O. Byerly, pastor of the Christian church at Borger, and who is conducting a meeting at the First Christian church here at this time, was a guest of the Club and made a short talk in which he stated that he "revoluted" the first of the year against making long-winded talks at civic club gatherings. He is a member of the Lions club at Borger.

J. C. Estlack, chairman of the tree committee of the Washington Bi-Centennial celebration to begin February 22nd, outlined his plans for tree planting in Donley county and asked the Club to appoint two members to serve on the committee.

Miss Dorothy White's presence again at the Club as pianist following an illness of some two weeks, was hailed with delight.

Mrs. Richmond Bowlin was a guest of the Club but refrained from speech-making due to the limited time left after the speakers had concluded their talks.

Hugh Brown Announces For County Treasurer

Living in a county for forty years and never asking for any office of any kind is quite a record, but that is the record of Hugh Brown who announced this week for the office of county treasurer.

During all these years as a resident of the county, and during his thirty years as a resident in Clarendon, it is said that no man is better known for his energy, honesty and ability to attend to his own affairs than is Hugh Brown.

He asks that the voters who do not know him, that they look up his record. To these and those who have known him a long time, he asks that they give him their support if they think he deserves it. He states that he has only one promise to make, and that is that he will discharge the duties of the office faithfully if elected.

T. Jones returned from Glen Rose the first of the week where he went for eye treatment.

ROTARIANS HAVE VARIETY SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION

No Set Program Giving Any One a Chance to Air His Personal Views

Unforeseen circumstances prevented the members of the Community Service Committee from bringing up their usual interesting program, but the time was well taken up with a general discussion of various topics of direct concern to the public as well as the members of the Club at the Rotary luncheon at the Clarendon hotel Friday noon.

Dr. B. L. Jenkins started an animated discussion taking for his subject an article appearing in the Star-Telegram in which reference was made to the school teacher situation in Texas. This article stated that if laid side by side, the teachers would cover a distance of 87 miles, and that the first eight miles would be teachers of the one-teacher schools who had not even graduated from a high school. Other astounding facts were presented for the consideration of his hearers.

F. E. Chamberlain mentioned the fact that the Denver railroad has complied with a request of the School Board to pay all school taxes at once as a special favor to the people of this district. He expressed his personal appreciation of the attitude of the Denver and stated that he "was a friend of the railroad." This last expression brought forth a number of "amens" from the other Rotarians.

Carl Throop of the Memphis club spoke of the pleasant relations existing in his club and explained how some of the local problems were overcome. His talk was strictly a goodwill builder in the Rotary organization and was highly appreciated.

J. C. Estlack called attention to the fact that every organization of the town and county was being asked to furnish two members to work as members of the George Washington Bi-Centennial tree planting committee.

He asked the Rotary members to elect two that were to serve on this committee and C. C. Powell and R. E. Drennon were elected. Claver Browder, prominent cattleman of the Amarillo country was introduced as a guest of F. E. Chamberlain. He expressed pleasure at meeting with the Club and was cordially invited to return again at a convenient time.

Denzel Davis reported on the matter of arrangement on the part of the Rotary club in connection with the Annual Banquet the 14th, he being a special committee of one to meet with members of other civic clubs of the town.

HIGAMI DEFEATS PANHANDLE ARTIST IN FAST BATTLE

Referee Dutch Mantell Keeps
Crowd in Excellent Humor
With Clown Antics

Home fans in great numbers were supplemented by visiting athletic enthusiasts from over the Panhandle around the mat here Friday night in two of the best wrestling bouts ever to be seen in Clarendon and equal to any in the state according to those who have had occasion to see a number of the best bouts in much larger places.

Those laboring under the delusion that such a card as was announced for Friday night would be a "flop", had their misapprehensions quickly dispersed soon after the semi-finals started, with a real battle of skill and strength between Otis Clinghman of Amarillo and Swede Larson of San Antonio.

This bout had a thirty minute time limit in which Otis was victor over the wily Swede in the first and only fall in exactly sixteen minutes. The bout was continued with plenty of excitement up to the limit without either man gaining any advantage.

The big feature of the evening was the match between Prof. Tetura Higami, jiu jitsu instructor of Tokio, Japan and Rob Roy, young athletic mat artist of Amarillo and a Panhandle boy of promise and winner in his class.

This Jap has not met his master since coming to America some two years ago, so long as the boys wrestle according to Jap ethics. He has defeated everything in and around Amarillo and elsewhere when the "kimonos" were donned, that being the favorite garb for jiu jitsu wrestlers of the Flowery Kingdom.

Both American and Japanese tactics were used Friday night in which Rob Roy got the first fall in 23 minutes with a leg split, and the Jap took the next with a reverse head lock in 19 minutes and the next in 11 minutes with a body slam.

In this match Rob Roy is given credit for having held the Jap longer than any other wrestler after giving the Jap odds. In fact Rob left it up to the Jap to do as he pleased about the matter against the advice of that old mat artist, Dutch Mantell who had been defeated by the Jap the night before in the Armory at Amarillo.

The crowd, tho large, was orderly and the entire affair went off in great shape from the battle royal, between five colored boys to the final exhibition of the Jap handing Rob the finishing touches.

Clarendon fans express their highest appreciation to Dutch Mantell and these mat artists for coming down to give them a real treat in athletic sports.

Credit for the success of this excellent program is largely due to Tren G. Stargel and Barcus C. Antrobus, two local fans who made the arrangements and then saw it go over in a manner that is pronounced a success from every angle. A large number of local people have asked them to repeat the program in the near future, and this will likely be done as a matter of accommodation because there is nothing in the deal from a financial standpoint after the wrestlers and the state license is paid.

Judge Fires Will Announce For Re-election Soon

In a letter to the Leader, Judge A. J. Fires announces that he will be a candidate to succeed himself as district judge of this district. He states that he will make formal announcement soon, and that he has not fully decided as yet just what he wants to say in connection with such announcement. The Judge has many friends in this section who will be glad to know that he has decided to again offer his services for their consideration.

Perry Cruse is planting out a new vineyard that will require several hundred grape vines. This vineyard is to supplement the old one on the Reynolds-Cruse truck farm.

S. G. Adamson of Hedley and Judge L. Gough of Amarillo were callers at the Leader office Friday afternoon. The Judge spoke to the farmers at Hedley Thursday night, and to the school Friday morning.

Why not cash in on your farm tools or old furniture that you do not need. A thirty-cent ad in the classified column will bring you the money.

Now that you have read down to here, suppose you turn to the second page and fill out the ballot and bring or send it to the Leader office. We will tell you our object in this voting test after the next issue.

Denver is Rendering Real Service to Patrons

Unable to secure building material in Clarendon to meet his needs, Dr. J. W. Evans made several purchases in Amarillo Tuesday. After visiting a number of business houses, he found that the day had slipped away and 5:15 p. m. precluded any possibility of his purchases being shipped on that day.

He asked that shipment be made as soon as possible, and returned home. Can you imagine his surprise Wednesday morning, the next day and less than 24 hours, when the local agent informed him that his supplies were here and would be delivered to his home at once.

The Denver picked up the goods at Amarillo, brought them down over night, and delivered them early the next morning. The doctor is so well pleased with this excellent service that he could not refrain from telling the folks about it.
