How Roosevelt's Proposed "New Deal" Will Affect Cotton Farmers And Production

Vocational Agriculture Teacher Of Clarendon High School Is Appointed Investigator For Donley And Other Counties Of Panhandle. Work In Progress

A meeting of cotton farmers was called at the courthouse at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of explaining the "new deal" in harvesting money from a cotton crop without making the crop. Quite a number were present and no dissenting opinion was heard.

G. L. Boykin, investigator and head of the movement in this county will also do similar work in nearby counties. He explained fully the aims and objects of the plan at this meeting.

The Federal Farm Relief Administration plan for aiding cotton growers is to remove 3,000,000 bales of this year's cotton production through agreements by farmers to plow up 25 to 40 per cent of the cotton now growing. The industry, it is claimed, is faced with a 13 million bale surplus, and to reduce production now may prevent future complications.

Land taken out of cotton production may be used for the production of soil improvement or erosion preventing crops or food and feed crops for home use but cannot be used for the growing of cash crops.

County farm agents and vocational agriculture teachers in Texas Monday will begin a series of meetings throughout the cotton producing communities of the state to determine if the growers wish to participate in the movement.

If a sufficient number of offers to reduce the present acreage are received to insure effective reduction of production, the growers will be given the choice of two plans for receiving the benefits of the Farm Relief Act as applied to cotton. By contracting with the government to retire not less than 25 per cent or more than 40 per cent of the cotton now planted, the farmer may participate in either of the following plans.

Two Plans Given

Plan No. 1—Receive in cash this summer from $6 to $12 per acre for the land retired from cotton, the exact amount, depending on former average yields per acre, and an option at six cents a pound on as many bales of government owned cotton as the acreage retired would yield as determined by former average yields. This cotton may be sold by the government some time during the year and the difference between the selling price and option price paid the farmer.

The cash payments on this plan are to be paid according to the following scale:

Land yielding 100 to 124 pounds lint per acre, $6; 125 to 149 pounds, $7; 150 to 174 pounds, $8; 175 to 224 pounds, $10; 225 to 274 pounds, $11; 275 pounds and more per acre, $12.

Example of how Plan No. 1 would apply:

A man has 100 acres planted to cotton. He retires 30 per cent, or 30 acres. It is determined that his average yields have been one-quarter or bale per acre (125 pounds lint). He would be paid this summer $7 per acre for the 30 acres retired or $210. He would also be given an option at six cents a pound on seven and one-half bales (the amount 30 acres would produce according to the former average yields). If sold when and if cotton goes to 10 cents per pound he would be paid the difference between what seven and one-half bales brought at 10 cents and the six cents a pound option price, a difference of 4 cents a pound or 20 a bale. He would receive from this $150. His total payments from having co-operated in this plan would be, in this case, $360.

The Second Plan

Plan No. 2 is outlined below: The cash payments on Plan No. 2 are made according to this production table, yields to be determined on the basis of former average yields per acre—

Land yielding 100 to 124 pounds of lint per acre, $7; 125 to 149 pounds, $9; 150 to 174, $11; 175 to 224 pounds, $14; 225 to 274 pounds, $17; all over 275 pounds lint per acre $20.

Taking the same case of a man who retired 30 acres out of 100

LEGISLATOR OF TIOGA IS MAKING A FINE RECORD

Brother of Local Woman Won Suit For Local Bank Two Years Ago

Being blind since the age of nine has been no handicap for Hon. Olan R. Van Zandt of Tioga who has represented his district in the Legislature the past three terms. He is credited with being the ablest constitutional lawyer in that body. He is one of three blind men serving in the Legislature at this time.

Local interest in this man is found in the fact that he is a brother of Mrs. Meredith Gentry of this city. He is also one of nine children and has beaten his three brothers in winning laurels in a profession.

Some two years ago he and his wife and three children visited here. It was about this time that he represented the Donley County

OLAN R. VAN ZANDT

State Bank in addition to a number of other banks in a suit down state in which he came out victor saving his clients several thousand dollars.

Mrs. Van Zandt is his "eyes" and constant companion or secretary. In addition to a large law practice, he has made an enviable record in the Legislature. He gives his wife credit for his accomplishments and modestly admits that, without her, he might have been a complete failure.

At the age of nine the sight of one eye was destroyed when he broke a stick, the splinter puncturing the eye ball. He was taken to Dallas where the eye was removed to save the sight of the other eye. The following Christmas the rubber on a "nigger shooter" snapped and destroyed the remaining eye.

He passed the grades of the blind school at Austin and later graduated with honors from the law department of the State University. Three other blind men graduated at the same time.

acres planted in cotton, and whose former average yields are determined to have been one-quarter bale per acre, he would be paid this summer $9 per acre for 30 acres or a total of $270.

The amount of acreage to be retired from production throughout the country will not be determined until after a check has been made on the number of applicants. At this time, it is said, the Department of Agriculture will retire an amount as will effectively eliminate a substantial portion of this year's crop and reduce excessive supplies.

The number of farmers wishing to participate in the retirement plan and the number of acres contracted will be wired to Washington by the various county agents and vocational teachers after the community meetings.

A processing tax, in the event the project is carried out as now planned must be in effect as of the beginning of the marketing year, which for cotton is about August 1.

Four Reform School Youths Held After Blacksmith Slain

CLARENCE RAINES WILLARD SCOTT

GRADY APPLIGATE JAMES ANDERSON

G. W. DAGLEY who found Leonard's body

Four youths who escaped from the state reformatory at Gatesville, Texas, after allegedly slaying W. J. Leonard, aged and beloved reformatory blacksmith, with a sledge hammer and an axe, are in jail in Gatesville awaiting further action on charges of murder filed against them. Appligate and Scott were captured near Morgan, Texas, when bloodhounds picked up the scent from a bloody handkerchief used to bind Scott's hand, wounded by a pursuing constable. Anderson and Raines were tracked down near Meridian, Texas. G. W. Dagley, state employ, who found Leonard's body is shown at the right with the weapons used to kill the aged blacksmith. Officials think the boys killed Leonard to get his car keys, so that they might escape in his car.

W. D. JORDAN GIVES PICTURE CANYON MUSEUM

Picture of Pat Dooling Is To Grace Collection Of Historical Relics

W. D. Jordan, ranchman of near Ashtola, a brand reader for many years and identified with the cattle business of west Texas for almost half a century, has kindly contributed to the Panhandle-Plains Museum a picture of Pat Dooling. Pat was a colorful character typical of the old west. He will be remembered by many of the older residents of this section since his official position brought him to Clarendon on frequent occasions.

Mr. Dooling, famous scout and Indian fighter, died in Quanah a few years ago to end a colorful career. It is said that he, wishing to attend the republican convention in St. Louis in 1888, "held a convention" with himself and his horse team and elected himself a delegate, there being no other inhabitants in that county at the time. He subsequently caused quite a stir in St. Louis with his bulking 6 feet 2 inches, big hat, and western ways.

While associated with General Burney in the construction of the Texas Pacific railroad in the wild country west of Fort Worth, they made an agreement that the one first to die either should— the living one would take the remains of the other "back to civilization" for a decent burial. Shortly thereafter, while Mr. Dooling was away from his friend, Indians ambushed and killed General Burney. Keeping his promise, Dooling bore the remains alone back "to civilization."

Complaints were made to Mr. Dooling that too much was being paid per meal. He talked to his superior about it, was given this famous order: "Eat more meals but pay less for them."

Later, Mr. Dooling was for years a claim agent for the Fort Worth & Denver railroad. The picture shows him rolling a cigaret, which Hobart, who met him first about 1886, said was a very characteristic posture.

Mrs. W. C. Jones and daughter Althea spent the week end in Canyon with her son Earl and his wife. Althea had some very beneficial dental work done at Amarillo in which she was found to be suffering from an infected tooth

PRICE ADVANCES GREAT BOON TO TEXAS FARMERS

Purchasing Power Thousands Enhanced Over Period Of Only Few Months

So far as Texas is concerned, the greatest achievement of the Roosevelt administration to date is the unexpected rise effected in prices of farm products. Since the greater population of this state is directly dependent upon agriculture, the rise in prices means a greatly enhanced purchasing power.

The following encouraging advances are noticed:

Cotton.—June 1932, all-time low of 4.5 a pound is now around 10.3c

Corn.—January, 1932, 23c a bushel, now above 60c.

Wheat.—January, 1932, 25c per bushel, now around 78c and selling above a dollar on the Ft. Worth market Monday.

Wool.—June, 1932, 5c a pound, now 26 to 32c.

Hogs.—June, 1932, 2.6c a pound, now 4.50 and better.

Cattle.—February, 1932, 2.75c a pound, now 5 to 7c.

Butterfat.—June, 1932, 10c per pound, now 17 to 23c.

In addition to the above, the cotton "eradication" plan beginning here this week means that most of the farmers will be able to realize on a part of his present crop right now rather than wait for fall opening while running risks of weather and insects in the meantime.

Just how the cotton market will react to the Roosevelt-Wallace cotton plan, remains to be seen. The buyers in greatest quantity fought the plan. That is one indication that it will result in gain to the consumer according to the reckoning of those who wish to pull the producer out of the mire and make a cash buying consumer out of him.

There will be debts to pay, to be sure, that have been amassed the past three years, but there will also be means with which to buy large quantities of necessities, and a few of the luxuries. Farmers are free spenders as a rule. That is evidently the reason his condition is receiving the attention it deserves at this time. When he spends, the nation prospers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore and babe, Barbara Jean of Amarillo spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Warren and family.

DR. J. W. EVANS BECOMES ROTARY CLUB PRESIDENT

Program Mapped In Coming Year Indicates a Lively Civic Interest

President O. L. Jenkins made a very feeling and effective talk to his fellow Rotarians Wednesday when time came for him to relinquish leadership of the Club to Dr. J. W. Evans. His administration has been one of deep interest and concern, and much has been accomplished considering the depressing influence of general conditions of the nation. Within the Club, all has been serene and calm, each member working in harmony for the best interests of the community. Dr. Jenkins proved himself a natural leader because he was pleasant to follow even though he was at all times a stickler for thoroughness.

Coming to the helm, "Jimmy" shoulders the burden with that characteristic poise of gentlemanly demeanor and courteous firmness that bodes well for the success of the Club the ensuing term. Faithful in every sense backed by a spirit of fairness he has the unqualified endorsement of the members who drafted him into leadership over his sincere protests.

Rev. W. E. Ferrell, editor of the "Donzel" and ardent civic worker, becomes vice president of the Club. Much responsibility devolves upon the shoulders of the secretary. The Club has never had a more competent secretary than Arch Dyer who relinquished the mantle, toga or what-have-you, to Derzil R. Davis Wednesday. The new secretary has already entered upon the duties of the office with a zest to beat the unbeatable record of every predecessor.

The new Board of Directors are Dr. O. L. Jenkins, Judge A. T. Cole, Dr. J. W. Evans, J. C. Estlack, D. R. Davis, R. E. Drennon, F. E. Chamberlain.

Miss Rhoda Wiedman continues as pianist for the Club. Without her kindly assistance, far less would have been accomplished. Her attendance record is 100 percent.

THIRD ANNUAL GOLF TOURNEY HERE NEXT WEEK

Hundreds of Invitations Are Being Mailed To Golfers Of The Panhandle

The following invitation form is being mailed by letter to all those interested in golf over this section in an effort to secure a record-breaking attendance here this season:

"The directors of the Hillcroft Golf Club take great pleasure in announcing their Third Annual Invitation Tournament to be held here July 4-5th. The annual event has grown in popularity each succeeding year and last year attracted 87 of the section's choicest golfers from 14 Panhandle towns. The tournament was declared to be one of the best ever held in the Panhandle and we have planned and hope for an even greater success this year.

We invite you to qualify over the Hillcroft course, but if it is not convenient you will be allowed to qualify over your home course. Your 18 hole qualifying score, together with the $1.00 entry fee, must reach the Secretary, W. S. Bagby, before 7:00 p. m., July 3rd. Match play will begin Tuesday morning, July 4th and there will be as many 16 player flights as will be required to place every player. Attractive prizes will be awarded to the winner, runner-up, and winner of consolation in each flight.

The Hillcroft course, one of the sportiest in the Panhandle and always well kept, is in the best condition of its history. The fairways are well sodded and kept freshly mowed; the greens have been re-sanded and are in ideal condition. More than 100 trees have been set out about the course to add to the general appearance and make play more inviting. No effort or expense will be spared to keep the course in perfect playing condition during the tournament. The course is now open for practice and qualifying rounds.

Clarendon is always proud to be host to the citizenship that makes up the golfing fraternity in the Panhandle. We hope the visiting players receive as much genuine pleasure from being here as we receive from having them here and we look forward, with pleasure, to their return. We invite you to join your friends in this annual event. Come and bring someone with you."

Graduated at 77

Here is Sam P. Cochran of Dallas, second ranking Scottish Rite Mason in America, and the only man known to have a statue erected to his honor while still living. Cochran was admitted to the bar and graduated from law school last week at the age of 77. He was valedictorian of his class, just 60 years after he was valedictorian of his high school class June 20, 1873. The statue of Cochran stands on the lawn of the Dallas Masonic temple. He has received 96 degrees in Masonry.

"Is Donley county the burial place of an ancient Spanish Explorer of the Coronado period?" That is the question uppermost in the minds of those who delight in ancient lore and museum material in this section right now.

Many years ago—well in 1896 to be more exact—the small sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Taylor who resided on the Heart ranch on Carroll creek at that time, located by mere accident a spot of ground ornamented with swords which were sticking in the ground. These boys, Crockett, June and Walter Taylor, mere lads 37 years ago, were accompanied by "Nigger Bob" the ranch cook.

The boys were headed across the country from Carroll creek to Acock Springs which are now included in the pasture of Mrs. E. W. Bromley. On a mesquite flat south of Salt Fork, the swords were found. In attempting to remove the first, the blade was broken. Water was carried in hats, the ground softened and the next blade was removed intact.

The sword was taken back to the ranch and laid above the doorway. Some of the "boys" today are quite sure that the handle was intact, others are of the opinion that the handle was missing as it is today.

At the time the Heart ranch ceased to be the home of the Taylor family, Mr. W. H. Patrick became the owner of the sword which was used as a fire poker for several years in the bank offices of the First National. Later Mr. Patrick took the sword home where it may be seen at this time.

The sword is void of any inscription with the exception of one word. The word "Insulingo" appears about midway on the pitted blade. Miss Katherine Patrick very ingeniously traced the word back to the name of a town in Germany where a noted sword blade manufacturer plied his trade in the 16th century.

Interest in the matter was renewed Sunday when Dr. Purviance and Ed Stinson of Pampa came down to attempt to locate the swords sticking in the ground outlining a grave. Mr. Stinson, somewhat of an oil geologist, brought along a "doodlebug" that is accredited with possessing the powers of locating metal under ground. In company with Mr. Patrick, an all-day hunt was made without results.

Several years ago Mr. Patrick states that some thirty days was spent in an attempt to locate the supposed grave that is expected to reveal some of the history of early Spanish explorations. Other relics found in the Panhandle the past twenty years is conclusive proof that the Spanish explorers visited much in this section. Donley county may hold the secret key that will unlock a volume of ancient Spanish trials and tribulations of savage Indian days. Quien sabe?

Miss Johnnie D. Latson is spending a two weeks vacation with home folks. She is a student of nursing in Baylor University hospital training department at Dallas

Martin Ladies To Serve Home Made Ice Cream

Ice cream made from milk taken from "contented cows" is promised all who can make it possible to be at the Martin school house Friday night of this week.

In addition to the refreshments, that inimitable producer of comic through song, one L. H. Earthman of the Goldston community, will be there with a batch of brand new fun makers. He knows how to get over with it in a big way, too.

A few speakers will be allowed to tell their troubles, if they have any. This part of the program will be limited as to time without getting boring.

Funds from the ice cream sales will go to paying on the piano, and for the purchase of song books.

GUNNERS GET GAWKERS.

The innocent bystander who gets injured in the street fight is not so innocent after all, according to a Georgia editor, who sums it all up by saying that he ought to attend to his own business and not be gawking around on the streets. A lot of folks are afraid something might happen without their hearing about it. This natural inclination to "but in" has gotten a many a man into serious trouble.

AND CHARLEY WEPT.

After a trial of six weeks in a New York court on a charge of income tax evasion, all they got out of banker C. E. Mitchell was a few tears. When J. P. Morgan was being investigated for a similar reason at Washington, they provided him with a midget lady to toddle on his knee to keep him from crying. The courts are prone to show far too much partiality. Every big gun brought to bat ought to be provided with midget service.

WIFE CORRECTION.

Until recent years, wives were shown very little consideration—that is politically and officially. Her economical status had long been established. If hardships were to be borne, she instantly became the victim.

We read of where some absent-minded brother down in Dallas evolved a new plan of wife correction or subjugation. He threw a blanket over her head while she was asleep, dragged her to the back yard and is said to have choked her into insensibility with his belt. She was barely alive when hauled to the hospital for repairs.

The official family of that staid city of blueless laws took the matter in hand as they sometimes do, investigated the matter and placed the reckless husband where he could not continue any further experiments of a nonchalant nature. There is always some drawback to every method and every new idea. The plan might work out admirably on husbands as well, since the method is the chief point of discussion.

SUPERNATURAL.

Down at Burkburnett last week, a man was fined $1 and costs for an alleged offense of "burning up a mattress and valuable copper wire" while he was a guest of the city jail.

Burning a mattress is nothing to worry about since the process is often indulged in by the unthoughtful. We might say further that it is a trivial affair and of little consequence since mattresses of various sizes and of a wide range of quality are manufactured in most every hamlet not to mention the city of Burk.

But burning copper wire! Hah, that's where the rub came in. It was not the loss of the copper wire by burning that occasioned so much humiliation, but the fact that the honorable court was not aware up to that time that copper wire was inflammable. It is. And what's more, it is also volatile. Now that both physiological chemical statements have been let out of the bag, the sudden and mysterious loss of large quantities of "valuable copper wire" throughout the ages is fully explained. We hope the Court's dignity has been fully restored.

THE CHANGING ORDER.

Those who shuddered at the thoughts of a bloody revolution three years ago, are today surprised to find themselves in the throes of a revolution of far greater magnitude and of far-reaching effect. Today America exists by and through a social revolution that threatens to change the mannerisms of the nation for more than a century—possibly for all time.

Emerging from a needless war, an alleged peace, and an economic calamity such as was never dreamed of before, we are learning new ideas. Paternalism is advocated by those who rebelled at the idea six months ago. Humanity today is tired of a world-wide upheaval. Any plan promulgated by those in authority no matter how radical is readily accepted. We have lived under historic traditions that have falsified hope. The new day is dawning. Millions are to become a peace time army of builders rather than of destroyers. Millions of dollars are to be spent by the government for the benefit of the public rather than private individuals.

With implicit faith in her leaders, America faces the most important epoch in her history during the next twelve months.

HOW FREE ARE WE?

It has always been the pride and boast of America that it is the "home of the free." But just how free are we? With our hundreds of thousands of federal and state laws, to say nothing of city ordinances, what citizen can go through a day of twenty-four hours without consciously or unconsciously violating one or more of these laws?

Yet, ignorance of the law "excuses no man" or woman either. And yet, again, not one official in a hundred is familiar with all the laws and ordinances which he is sworn to enforce.

It is true, of course, that the ever-increasing complexity of our civilization,—or is it civilization?—appears to make new laws from time to time. But is there any justification for the orgy of law-making, with its inevitable accompaniment of law-breaking, which this country has witnessed in recent years? It is this factor that will be most vividly displayed before Texans when the liquor vote is tabulated following the special election on August 26th.

The most disturbing result of all this is that those committing really serious crimes, such as murder, burglary, kidnapping, arson and the like, are seldom punished because of their ability to escape, and if brought to trial escape punishment through legal technicalities. At the same time, the ordinary decent citizen is harassed in his business and in his private life by a maze of laws and bureaucratic regulations which require an army of officials to enforce. And at that they are not enforced except in a few instances.

It looks like we are paying a tremendous price for government, the principal object of which appears to be the destruction of those fundamental rights for which our forefathers fought and died.

OUR BANDIT POPULATION.

Years ago a lady missionary was kidnapped in China, carried away to the hills and held for ransom money. The whole civilized world was shocked. Demands were made upon China in no uncertain terms to secure her safe return. She was later returned safely.

Today in this land of ours bandits operate day and night in some section or other along the same principle. Men and women are kidnapped one at a time. Children are snatched from the street and carried away for a price. The practice is growing. No respect for human rights is considered. On the other hand, every law of God and man has been violated. Churches and schools have been made the scene of desecration from which helpless humanity has become the tool with which bandits wring from grief-stricken parents exorbitant sums in return for the restoration and life of innocent children.

Ours has become a land harassed by machine gun bandits who shoot to kill for both profit and revenge. Gang warfare in the larger cities has made life unsafe for those who would be decent citizens.

Peace officers are few in number as compared to the need. They are poorly paid though in no instance is there a dereliction of duty. Forty dollar a month men have given their lives in defense of their sworn duty just as readily as if paid a living wage.

The President and his advisors have pretty well taken care of every other need so far as getting action to relieve distress with the exception of the actual protection of human life. No one need be surprised to learn that thousands of special officers, or even an army of men have taken the field to stamp from the face of America the most heinous criminals that ever infested any land in any age.

Modern Electric Service . . . a Partner of Industry

Modern transmission line electric service has played an important and vital part in the progress and development of West Texas. With a new period of expansion awaiting this territory during the next few years—this dependable, economical and elastic power supply is destined to play an even greater role in the industrial drama to be enacted here.

Electricity has been the equalizing force that has enabled progressive small towns to compete on an industrial basis with large centers of population. Because of the adequate, inexpensive power supply furnished to this territory by the West Texas Utilities Company, it is possible for West Texas cities to go after, and secure, the valuable payrolls of industrial establishments. Much progress has been made during the past ten years—and considerably greater advances will be made during the coming decade.

The West Texas Utilities Company, serving 161 progressive cities, towns and communities in this "Land of Opportunity," will continue to work for the development of West Texas. With three major generating stations, nineteen auxiliary plants, more than 2,600 miles of transmission lines and scores of office buildings and warehouses throughout the 250,000 square miles it serves—this company's future and yours are inseparably linked. Working together we will accomplish marvels of progress during the next few years.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

THE DEATH ROLL
JOHN GLUTTEN DIED YESTERDAY AFTER EATING A HALF DOZEN HOME MADE BISCUITS.

We know a certain young man in this town who gave his best girl moth balls for her 'hope chest'. If he does not bring around a batch of cigars, we'll print his name next week.

A banker is authority for the suggestion that vacations may be taken at home. His advice is to sit around the yard in the nude until a sunburn is accomplished, rub dirt in the hair and get back on the job.

Coach Burton says he always dreads to visit his folks down east because he bumps his head so much gathering up the implements under the table that he dropped while eating.

In giving Huey Long's new weekly a "boost" this week, another Louisiana paper describes Senator Editor Huey as a man "who will pat you on the back before your face and hit you in the face before your back", whatever that means.

At this time of the year, a man can't make up his mind whether the inventor of a lawn mower was a great genius or just one of these interfering busy-bodies who are always trying to think up something to make life harder.

This This column has been asked to print the "Ten Commandments" for the benefit of the general public. Please be more specific. Which ten? That found in Exodus Chapter 20, or Chapter 34 same book, or those found in Deuteronomy, Chapter 5?

Looking over a Dakota exchange this week we find where Dr. R. C. Letherer of Aberdeen still remembers his patients after death. He published the following advertisement: "In Memoriam. Of the following deceased patients that I have served during my practice in Aberdeen, I dedicate this space on Memorial Day."

She: "Doctor, shall I stick out my tongue?"
Doctor: "Naw, moss never grows on a race track."

Its getting tougher every year for the moths that live on bathing suits.

Robert (Doc) Hurn of near Henrietta in speaking of the extreme heat there this week enlightened us with the fact that it costs just half as much to fry eggs down there now since they are half cooked when gathered from the nests. Congratulations on the high grades old man.

Its getting so that about the only difference between a school teacher and the christian martyrs is the date and the absence of a bonfire.

The Apostle feels snubbed, if anything. He has not been invited to the "Gossard style show" at Dallas this week.

Just a deed of kindness, Just a thought of good-- He'll be sure to meet you, Anybody would.

Thanks a lot folks for the Father's Day suit, shirts, ties and sox. We are all dressed up and no place to go. Anyhow, its great just to be remembered.

Because of the similarity of the tube, Ed I. Fox has been shaving with tooth paste for the past month and didn't know it.

When irrigating a garden this hot weather, run the water in shallow ditches about 8 inches from the plants. Thoroughly soak the ground. Before the heat of the next day, cover the ditch with dry dirt to prevent scalding. If you don't think this will work, you have a chance to see a good garden where it has worked fine.

She: "I've never kissed but two parties."
He: "And who were they?"
She: "Democrats and republicans."

The reason why drinking out of saucers became unpopular was because the beauty parlor operators said it made wrinkles on the forehead.

It's early, perhaps, to be gathering cat-tails-but here's one that blossomed Wednesday. A well known local woman, carrying a paper bag which rustled noisily, walked toward the library. From the front door of a feed-store about 60-feet ahead she saw a mother cat come racing toward her at full speed, flanked and trailed by four kittens also laying it down in nothing flat. Executing a Maypole dance around the woman, whom they had halted, the enthusiastic felines purred and mewed with obvious delight--and one ambitious kitten began his ascent toward the paper-bag via the silk-stocking route. By this time, an embarrassed proprietor of the store arrived, apologetically explaining that the cats usually received their meat at that hour--and that when they heard the rustling of package paper--well, they played a hunch.
Mr. Kutch has detailed Toad Summers to teach the firm's cats better manners.

Among the large number of folks to visit the office Saturday was Miss Velma Lemons of Brice, and about whom we had something to say some time back. She sends in the news items from down there and takes a prominent part in the community activities. She attended the state blind school at Austin and has all the polish of the modern student. My, how that young lady can tell you what she thinks about public affairs! It would be a great thing if all young ladies kept up with world affairs as she does.

Just about the time we settle down to have some peace of mind and enjoy life, up bobs Ed Bulls of Jack county who always takes a side-swipe at us by questioning our veracity. Several years ago Ed and his nine sons operated a dairy. The dairy slogan was nation-wide in one respect, and that was publicity. This came about because of the slogan used. Above the gate appeared an arched sign bearing the slogan: "The only dairy in the world operated by Bulls."

That's off the subject. Below is the last dirty dig Ed took at us. We knew a long time ago what he is just finding out. If Ed had a profession at which he could make a hand, we'd try to get him "paroled," but his case is hopeless. Lying out of Jack county is better than living in it. Here's the article and his attempt at reply, confession, hat, coat and brogans where he left them. Durn, but its sad, sad, sad.

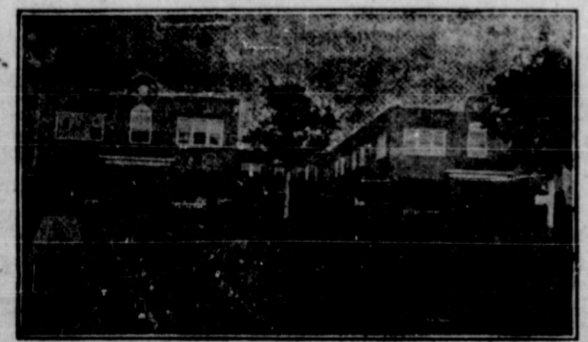

"Tom Mabry out west of town gave us eprmission last week to tell the folks that he was formerly from Jack county. In fact he kinda boasted of the affair. Tom was one of the bunch that dug u pa snake down there that had a knot in it. It was a chicken snake and Ed Bulls had tied a knot in it just like he would a string, to keep it from sucking eggs. It worked so well that all the folks got to knotting snakes, that is the reason that all Jack county snakes have a knot in them about six inches back of the head.--'Apostle' in Donley County Leader.

Yes, that is the reason we don't let 'em eat up our chickens and eggs down here, but it is not fair to give the writer all the credit for this wonderful discovery. This unique idea of "knotting" the snakes originated in the fertile brain of "Apostle," back yonder when he lived in Jack, and we are not going to rob him of the credit. Apostle was born and "partly" raised in Jack but was "paroled" on condition that he would never come back again. He left out and for a long time nothing more was heard from him until lately when he showed up in Donley, and now seems to be mouth, speech and wisdom in that land where the sand storms howleth and where they have to wear wet cloths over their mouths to keep from smothering to death. How tha' dickens he manages to "pound" the gospel with a wet tow sack over his "speaker" is more than we can understand. May be he carries along a fog-horn or sump'n.
We've been trying for 5 long years to beat him lying, but now will absolutely shell down the corn and say it can't be done. We're doing our very best, but doggone it, he has us bested a thousand miles. He's the undefeated champion of liars."

Taxes, we are told, are the price we pay for government. There is no quarrel about that. But surely, when the costs of government mount to such heights as to confiscate property and the very patience of men is taxed, it is time for those who foot the government bills to give a thought to the plucking process. And it becomes exceedingly apropos to inquire in to what uses are made of so many feathers.
Questions like these are not to be deferred. We can decide when we want to how far Jupiter is from the moon; but let's give these matters attention now. They confront us every time we send son or daughter to school or buy gasoline or post a letter. Let the cynic's definition stand. WE-you and I-are the goose he was talking about. The feathers come from our backs. And what are we going to do about it?
We can, of course, leave the whole thing to George. We have done it; we can do it again. But if we do, let's not snap at George's heels. If we let him call the game, common sportsmanship demands that we abide by his method and decisions.
The other alternative, is to find out things for ourselves, to study taxing methods, to learn whether we are getting a dollar's worth of government for the dollar we spend for it. Many Rotary clubs have sponsored enlightening forums and discussions; more are going to do it.
Agreed, not every man can be a member of a school board or of a legislature, but it stands to reason that those who are will be far more likely to be wise and courageous leaders if they know that behind them stand well-informed and very much in earnest followers.

TIME TO SQUAWK
(From an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine)
"Taxation," a French cynic once observed, "is the art of plucking the goose to get the most feathers with the least squawking." To the farmer who has seen his acres go under the hammer, to the apartment-house owner who has turned his property over to the bondholder that definition is more painful than whimsical. These men from their own experience know that the power to tax carries the power to destroy.

Miss Lucille was a guest in the Mayo home at Springdale while on her trip.

COLLEGE DAYS

College? It is to laugh! The poor boy or girl has a hard time adjusting themselves to their environment. The rich with less mental aptitude get the "breaks" from the spineless professors.

One thing they do learn—slang. Here is a sample of the patter to be heard on the college campus:

The young gentleman said:
"What do you say we pour some honey?"

The young woman said:
"What makes you think I want to snoodle with you?"

"What's wrong with me?" he growled. "I suppose if I was Paul Tierney it would be okay".

"Paul Tierney is very nice."
"Ha, so that's the pay—off. That paper leg. No wonder he shines at the witch kitties—all he does is play the weasel among the tomes."

"Please," she said, "control your self. What kind of a frat dance is this? Are you wooly, or have you tied one on?"

"So now I will Scram," he said bitterly, "as I do not wish to cop a phinney."

The foregoing remarks are samples of the college education enjoyed today.

The hottest collegiate patter is being collected in a nation-wide survey among 100 universities and colleges by Wilfred J. Funk, publisher and poet.

"More slang is being coined on college campuses now than ever before, according to my survey," Funk said. Collegiate and co-ed, existing on vocabularies of 125 or 200 words, have reduced life to a few brief but potent mutterings carefully chosen from the 3000 to 5000 new words which Funk says are coined annually.

Poure honey? It means to make love; snoodle is petting; a paper leg (or P. L.) is a teacher's pet. Witch kitty, a difficult final examination; weasel, a bright student; wooly, mental unbalance; tie one on, to be intoxicated; cop a phinney, steal another man's girl.

From Harvard, Funk learned that the favorite word in Cambridge of late is zilch. Zilch is the bunk uttered by a lecturing professor. To, zilch, however, is to throw a monkey wrench.

At Coruella a doose is a very fast driver; in fact a very anything, and so is a weezer. Beaning is a pastime among oil magnate's sons at the University of Oklahoma. It means foaming.

Mr. and Mrs. Isham and Oneta were called to Lakeview Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Tom Isham who was drowned the day before.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hott spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Townsend of Clarendon.

Jimmie eJan and Bess Baldwin of Lamesa are visiting their grandfather, M. L. Bourland and family here this week.

Mr. Condor Kirtley of Hubbard and his sister, Mrs. W. M. Gibson of Beaumont who have been visiting their brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kirtley, left Tuesday morning for Sweetwater.

HUMAN BLOSSOMS

Flowers! I love flowers, and I'll say that they are sweet,
But no flower has got pink toes on a pair of rose leaf feet,
And no flower has got arms that go up 'round a fellow's neck,
And no flower ever tells you that it loves you most a peck.

And no flower is so weary when the long play day is by
That it snuggles to your bosom almost ready for a cry
Till you 'gin to count its piggies.

I love flowers—They are fine,
But it's little human blossoms that have got this heart of mine.

It is little human blossoms that can holler and can run
With their arms stretched out to meet you when your working day is done.

That your eyes begin to look for when you turn into your street;
That your ears begin to listen for the patter of their feet;
That makes your arms stretch out to hold them,
And your face breaks into smiles.

It's life's little human blossoms that make glad life's weary smiles.
And the bluest morning glory, its rare blossoms gemmed with dew,
Ain't as pretty as a baby with its face turned up to you.

I know lots of millionaires—know them anyhow;
I know how their very presence makes men 'gin to scrape an bow
But I don't envy them none. They ain't got the things I seek.
Dollars can't climb into your arms and hold their cheeks again your cheek

Like a baby can and love you. Dollars seem plum cheap and cold
When they're put besides a baby that your arms can lift and hold.
Millions are not necessary, roses may not climb your wall,
But life without human blossoms ain't worth anything at all.

SPORTS
By Hack

Guess work is as good as any when it hits. We guessed the Chamberlain club would start their winning ways and they did to the tune of 6 to 5 over the Tulia, Tex team.

This was one of the best games here this year. The Tulia boys were fine sports and there was no arguing of any kind over the decision of the umpire. Nothing mars a game more than wrangling over the decision made by an umpire.

Roy Blackman after pitching relief in several games started the game and did a fine job of pitching. All sports in Clarendon seem to be coming in for their share of attention. The soft ball league winds up their first half this week with there being a possibility of a tie, for first place between the Oilers and the Rexall Club.

Even the motorists of Donley co. have their sport. Driving on the highway or byways there are hundreds of cows to dodge. Some drivers being better (or worse) than others occasionally run one down and the price of beef immediately goes up. She was always a four gallon cow or more.

The Houston Buffs seem to be coasting along very easily now since they have about an eight game lead over their closest rival in the Texas League.

The Washington Senators are again in the lead in the American loop but only a small margin separates them and the Yankees. However, Washington has won 15 of their last 16 games, besting the Yanks there by quite a bit.

The National Loop is somewhat tighter with 5 teams within striking distance of the league lead.

The Chamberlain team journeys to Tulia, Tex July 2nd to return their recent game here. Why couldn't several cars of the fans here go along and root for the boys? Talk it up boys and help put Clarendon in the eyes of other towns in the sporting field.

Miss Maxine Fletcher, who has been visiting Misses Vera and Eugenia Noland, returned to her home in Amarillo Friday.

Miss Helen Martin is at home after her visit to the world fair at Chicago.

Gamblin's Next Auction Sale Will Be July 22nd

"Every big thing has a small beginning" is an old saying that might be applied to the auction sale here Saturday held on the lot north of the offices of the Panhandle Refining Company.

C. R. Gamblin, local agent of the refinery cried the sale free just as announced. He proposes to do the same thing again the fourth Saturday in July. A "swap" feature will be added at that time when men may exchange horses and cows or any other thing that can be brought to the sale on legs, wheels or by dragging.

To Pop for Exposition Purchasers College Boys Buy 500 Tons of Corn

Chicago—Many queer bits of information may be picked up on a stroll around the grounds and offices of a Century of Progress.

Here are a few of them:
The pop corn concession is in the hands of two University of Illinois graduates. They have contracted for 1,000,000 pounds of pop corn, enough to fill 28 freight cars. The corn was obtained from Mr. Chas. E. Douglas, Oklahoma's 'pop-corn' king.

To view every exhibit at the exposition, a person would have to walk 83 miles.
For those who prefer to take their world's fair sitting down, there are 900 roller chairs and jinrikishas, with college students ready to push or pull, as the case may be.

How to make the prehistoric animals in an exhibit of mechanical monsters grunt and snort as prehistoric animals should was a problem until a public address company devised a system of loudspeakers to fit inside the beasts.

Public personages are losing their prestige as button-pushers at opening ceremonies. Following the example set by the exposition in having star Arcturus open the fair by touching off a switch, the General Motors Corporation has called in the cosmic rays to start the machinery of its automobile assembly plant. Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Nobel Prize winner, and authority on cosmic rays, is in charge of the demonstration.

A single phonograph record can supply music for the entire 424 acres of the exposition grounds, thanks to a giant public address system which has been set up, but the area has been zoned into different districts, so five different kinds of music can be sent simultaneously from a central studio. Jazz for the amusement zone, foreign airs for the various national exhibits, nursery airs for the Enchanted Island—all at one time are possibilities.

No one should go hungry at the fair. There are 17 restaurants and about 600 refreshment stands. A Chicago packer has the "hot dog" concession.

Famed Flyer Is Appointed Manager Aviation Sales

Noted aviator, winner of many world's speed records, and holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, Captain Al J. Williams has accepted the position of a Manager of Aviation Sales with the Gulf Refining Company. He takes over this responsibility to devote his wide flying experience to industrial progress. He will assume his post immediately.

This announcement has particular importance not only because Captain Williams is one of America's foremost exponents of aviation but also because his experience as businessman, writer, lecturer, and lawyer fits him for his duties.

His career has been featured by many outstanding acknowledgments of his prowess as an ace flyer. In addition to winning the Distinguished Flying Cross, Capt. Williams was one of the twelve men selected in the United States "in recognition of service rendered to aeronautics" by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. For eight consecutive years he held the American speed record for airplanes.

Captain Williams enlisted in the Navy for the duration of the war as naval aviator. He specialized in testing airplanes for the Navy Department and developing aerial aeronautics for purpose of fighting in the air. From 1926 until 1930, when he resigned from the Navy, he specialized in high speed research.

At the time that he received the Distinguished Flying Cross, Capt. Williams also received a citation from the Secretary of the Navy. This stated, in part: that he had many times undergone risk of his life for the benefit of the service—that, up to 1925, he had performed this duty with aid of parachute where a serious crash was expected—that he flew one plane to complete destruction to elicit information on the vital subject of flat spinning of service aircraft—that his constant association with test and development work had been occasioned by the desire of the chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics to continue him in a position where the Navy could get the most benefit of his experience and ability—that the standard combat type of plane reflects many of the improvements pioneered in racing by him—that from 1922 on he played a major part in keeping the Navy to the fore in heavier-than-air development—that in articles written to the public he had shown himself to be a scholar as well as a master pilot.

Today Captain Williams' busy life supplies him with a diversity of interests and makes him doubly valuable as Manager of Aviation Sales for the Gulf Refining Company. He is one of the officers of the Delaware Chemical Engineering Company, a steady contributor to the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Liberty, and aeronautical journals on aviation subjects, lecturer of note, a lawyer in the State of New York, and a graduate from Fordham University, received a Bachelor of Laws degree from Georgetown University Evening Law School, and pitched for the New York Giants for two years under John J. McGraw.

Mrs. Claudine Ratcliff was an Amarillo visitor Saturday.

PRESENT TIRE PRICES STILL BELOW 1926

Local Dealer Believes Rise in Cotton and Rubber Will Mean Added Rise

"Since 1926 the trend of tire prices has been steadily downward and they are still 55 per cent below the point at which they were nine years ago, even with two recent increases this year," said Joe Holland, local Goodyear dealer.

"But with the upward movement of general commodity prices, raw material prices, especially cotton and crude rubber which have shown sharp increases since April, tires may go higher.

"At any rate, tire prices are about at the same level as they were a year ago, and my advice to those who are in the market is to buy now before prices go up again, since it is a foregone conclusion, in my opinion, that the present low point of 55 per cent below 1926 figures will not continue long on a steadily rising commodity price market."

Further explaining his contention, Mr. Holland said that crude rubber selling at three cents per pound in April, while early in June it reached six and a quarter cents per pound, or more than double.

Cotton, on the other hand, has climbed from seven and a half cents per pound to nearly eleven cents early in June, an increase of 46 per cent.

"I give you these figures," Mr. Holland told the Leader "not because I want to scare people into buying tires, but because I see the possibility of increased prices as a natural sequence of what will certainly follow with the return of better business conditions.

Tire business at the Holland Bros. store has shown a steady improvement in the past several weeks, reflecting the effect of the national administration New Deal."

C. E. Griggs attended the funeral of J. E. Chamberlain, manager of the school furniture supply house at Waco which he has long represented, this week.

CRIME NEWS

A newspaper is in a peculiar position in regard to the publication of crime news. The editor gets no pleasure out of the publication of the same, and the innocent families always have his sympathy. But a newspaper is in reality a public utility, and must give the news regardless of whom it affects.

It would be much more pleasant if there were no news of crime to publish, but by suppressing such news a paper is doing an injustice to its readers and society in general.

It can show no partiality in such news, but must go on serving society fairly and impartially.

The state's contribution to the relief fund, if the bonds are voted and sold, will be about 10 per cent of Texas' tentative share of the federal funds. # Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

Minister First Christian Church

"A GOOD FIGHT"
As the Apostle Paul faced death at the hands of the enemies of Christ and the church, he wrote to Timothy and told him, "I have fought a good fight."

To fight a good fight, we must first of all be good. Good is the only power with which we can combat evil. Evil cannot successfully stand up before good. As the warm rays of the morning sun melts away the dew-drops, evil flees when good appears.

To fight a good fight, we must have courage. Courage to do right, regardless of cost. Many times it costs quite a bit to stand up for the right, it takes courage, but the reward is worth working for.

To fight a good fight, we must fight in the spirit of Christ. A good fight cannot have for its motive a desire to harm any one. It is fight against sin and evil, that ruins the lives and souls of men.

A good fight, is a fight of love. Paul loved his fellow man. He loved as God had loved him. To fight a good fight against sin, we must love men. Sin seeks to destroy our fellow men. We must fight sin for the love we have for men, that we may save them from the "wages of sin, death." You may not be an intellectual giant. There may be many questions that you cannot solve, but you can always love. You may have large hope and a boundless faith, but greater than either of these, is love. Service performed under the inspiration of love is always effective. Love never fails. (1) If you fail to win men to Christ it is because you do not love them as you ought. (2) If you fail to inspire your church to give to missions it is because you do not love the missionary cause as you should. (3) If you fail to inspire your church members, to love God's cause more, it is because you need to love God more. Do everything in love, and let love be the master principle of your life. "People will not quarrel with you if you love them." You can tell them of their sins and shortcomings, if you love them they can see it is sin you are fighting with and not them. Our Sunday subjects are: "THE CHRISTIAN RACE," and "BRINGING BACK THE KING."

DOROTHY DARNIT

By Charles McManus

Second Largest Telescope Will be Built in Texas

A telescope nearly seven feet in diameter, the second largest in the world, is to start sweeping the Southern skies from a mountain more than a mile above the Texas plains some time within the next five years.

The instrument will be located at the new MacDonald Observatory to be established on Mount Locke, 6,790 feet high, in the Davis Mountains of Southwest Texas as a cooperative enterprise of the University of Chicago and the University of Texas. The former institution will provide the staff for the observatory, while the latter will build the telescope and buildings from a bequest of the late W. J. MacDonald, of Paris Texas.

The Mount Locke site is believed to offer the best conditions for observations by astronomers in the United States, says Dr. Otto Struve director of Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, at Williams Bay, Wis. The farther south an observatory is located, the better the observing conditions, because more than nine-tenths of the stars and great nebulae or star-clouds interesting to astronomers are south of the Equator.

Atmospheric conditions are much better in the Davis Mountains than in Northern latitudes. The nights are uniformly clear and the stars twice as bright as when seen from Chicago for example. Mount Locke is higher than Mount Wilson, Cal., where is located the 100-inch telescope of Carnegie Institution of Washington, the world's largest. It is not quite as high as the Lowell Observatory near Flagstaff, Ariz., but will have a much larger instrument.

The telescope at the MacDonald Observatory will have a concave mirror 80 inches in diameter and will be 27 feet long. This type of instrument will be especially well suited for photographing faint stars and analyzing the spectra or different wave lengths of the light of stars. Most of the knowledge that astronomers gather about stars is obtained by analyzing their light.

Mrs. T. R. Gamblin is visiting her son C. R. Gamblin and family.

Two Systems for Chick Feeding Success

Either Method May Be Followed.

Management and care have been separately treated. Now how to feed the baby chicks?

Baby chicks can be grown successfully by either the all-mash or the mash-and-grain system if the method chosen is properly followed out, so poultry experts of Purina Mills Experiment Farm declare. Each poultryman should adopt the system which suits him best.

Based on extensive tests over a period of years on their own 330 acre farms, the research workers of Purina Experiment Farm at Grays Summit, Missouri, advocate definite rules to be followed in feeding and care under each system. Where the all-mash system is followed:

1st and 2nd day—Hatchery chicks are ready for feed on arrival. Chicks hatched at home may be fed when 48 hours old. After giving water with chill removed, give first feeding of an all-mash starting feed. The maximum rate of growth can be obtained only with a ration which is properly blended or balanced, especially with reference to proteins, minerals and vitamins.

Keep it before them in hoppers or low troughs, or feed 5 times a day as much as they will clean up in 15 minutes at each feeding.

3rd day to 6th week, inclusive—Feed nothing but all-mash starting feed, keeping it before them all the time. If you prefer the stop and go system, feed starting mash five times a day. At beginning of the 6th week, gradually add suitable scratch feed to the feed for the pullets to be kept for layers.

Chicks to be marketed as broilers should receive nothing but all-mash starting feed until sold.

7th week to maturity—Replace all-mash starting feed with properly blended growing mash and continue scratch grain.

Keep a liberal supply of fresh water before chicks during entire starting and growing period. With young chicks, the chill should be removed.

DISILLUSIONED TOURIST

Clarksville Times: An Oklahoma citizen drove down into Louisiana to try a sample of the new 3.2 beer. He landed in jail because his car didn't bear a 1933 license tag, put up a $20 cash bond, paid a lawyer $10$10 to get his bond money back after he had paid 18.75 for a 1933 Louisiana license tag, and felt like heck about it all until he landed back in Oklahoma and drank a couple of bottles of 12 percent home brew.

The outraged Oklahoman should never have strayed from the local certainty in search of the Louisiana ignis fatus. The 3.2 of Louisiana is said to have a beautiful amber color, as against the muddy cast of the Oklahoma native brew. But what has color got to do with it? Pink soda pop is beautiful to the eye, but no Oklahoman would drive to Shreveport without a license tag merely in order to look upon the soda pop when it was red. An Oklahoman accustomed to the potent but not pretty 12 percent tippie would regard the Louisiana 3.2 as something to wean babies in. An Oklahoman, exhilarated by the domestic exhilarator, can raise to such heights of exuberance as to start a new war on the Indians. The Indians themselves know how it is. They have experienced the spirituous quality of the white man's homely beverage and started green-corn dances in December, or new year's ceremonies in June. When an Indian takes a long swig of liquid tomahawk he blesses the day when his pale-face neighbors introduced him to the wonders of science worked out in stone crocks. Our intention is not to divert Oklahoma travel from Louisiana.

Our effort is only to remind and convince the Oklahomans that it is poor policy to swap 12 percent strength for 3.2 percent weakness. The broth of invalids does not intrigue an appetite habituated to aqua fortis.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Brooks returned home the last of the week after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Matt Bennett.
