Marvin Jones Explains New Unified Farm Credit Plan Evolved at Houston Meeting

Congressman Marvin Jones, visiting here and at Hedley last week on his way to Houston to attend a "farm credit" convention of officials upon the special request of Morgenthau, is well pleased with the results obtained. "The most far-reaching legislation in history enacted in the interests of agriculture," is the way the congressman of this district expressed himself upon his return. Mr. Jones is chairman of the powerful Agricultural Committee of the national Congress.

As explained by Mr. Jones, all farm agencies were correlated under one head now known as the Farm Credit Administration, and entirely independent of all other governmental branches, bureaus or agencies. Henry L. Morgenthau is governor of the Administration.

The new "set-up" takes the place of six agencies formerly designed for rural credit relief. Regional offices are to be maintained, and local branches will be established, each to be affiliated with the regional office at Houston.

The six agencies merged under this plan are the Federal Land Bank, Intermediate Credit Bank, Farm Board, Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Crop Production Loan Corporation.

"The main benefits are that agriculture now has a complete credit set-up with facilities to care for each and every phase of the industry. It is the first time in history that such facilities have been provided," Mr. Jones said.

Loans on farm land will bear 4 1/2 percent interest. The credit bank will provide the money for the land bank and other agencies. The Production Credit Corporation will handle the direct loans such as live stock and crops. The interest rate on live stock and crops will be 6 to 6 1/2 percent.

High tribute was paid Congressman Jones at the Houston meeting for his efforts in securing legislation making these changes possible. Texas is the third state to get its machinery of operation into action. Because of his long service on the agricultural committee at Washington, and because of his intense interest and knowledge of the needs of agriculture, Mr. Jones' was of valuable service to the officials in formulating the new plans at the Houston meeting.

LELIA LAKE BOX SUPPER BRINGS OUT BIG CROWD

Margaret Gerner is Judged Most Beautiful Girl In Lively Contest

The pie and box supper at the Lelia Lake school was attended by a large crowd Tuesday evening.

Everyone became quite enthusiastic in an effort to decide who was the most beautiful girl and the ugliest boy present. The decision was finally given to Margaret Gerner, as the prettiest girl, and Greer Cottingham as the ugliest boy. Elsie Sisson and Pat Stebbins ran close seconds.

An interesting program of songs, a reading, and a piano solo was enjoyed before the pies and boxes were sold.

Immediately after the pie supper a basketball game was played between the school boys, and a team made up of boys out of school. The school lost to the town by a score of 19-3.

The entire proceeds for the evening were about $35.00, which will be used as a general school fund. It will be spent for play ground equipment, books and other necessary items for the school.

The faculty and student body are very grateful to all participants, and wish to extend to all an invitation to be with them on similar occasions throughout the year.

FATHER-SON GET TOGETHER HERE NOVEMBER 16TH

Lawrence Whitlock Presides At This Eleventh Annual Gathering

Having been selected at the annual affair of a year ago, Lawrence Whitlock is bending every effort to make this Father-Son gathering here on the 16th the best yet. Being a home affair, home talent will be used.

Alternating in the selection from year to year, a father will be selected this time to direct the affair for 1934. A son will be elected vice president, and four board members will be selected Thursday night.

The usual friendly rivalry for honors will be present. Last year J. J. Goldston showed up with the most sons. He is expected there again in the thick of the contest. Then there will be designated the oldest father, the youngest son, oldest father present with his youngest son, and the youngest father with the oldest son. These selections are always accompanied with quite a bit of enthusiasm and humor.

The program will begin at 7:20 in the basement of the Christian church with the singing of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Rev. Robt. S. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will deliver the invocation.

The orchestra will play during this time while the banquet is in progress, or that part in which the fathers and sons make an heroic attempt to appease appetites.

Reading—John M. Bass. Popular Music—Arthur Chase. Address to fathers—O. C. Watson, Jr.

Address to sons—O. C. Watson, Sr. Tap dance—Billie Cooke. Harmonic—Two boys.

Men who have no sons are urged to bring a boy. A number of boys will have no other way to gain admittance. Be a "big brother" and bring him. Every year a number of generous men bring some other fellow's son.

Admittance will be by ticket only. Get your ticket before coming to the church if possible. Otherwise you may get left. The ladies who will serve, must know definitely, as early as possible just how many will be present. Get your tickets early. Some one will be trying to sell you a ticket the first of the week. Date up with some boy today and be ready.

CYCLONES WILL MEET BRONCHOS HERE TOMORROW

Armistice Day And Football Game Combined in One To Draw Crowd

The football game here tomorrow between Memphis and Clarendon brings together rival teams that have had interesting battles through a number of years. In fact the rivalry between these teams exceeds that of possibly any other teams of the Panhandle.

Beginning back in 1929, the first game was a tie and the second went to Memphis by 13 to 7.

In 1930, Memphis went over by a slim 25 to 31 score.

In 1931, Clarendon's Bronchos chalked up a victory of 12 to 0, and the next year did the job over again to the tune of 26 to 2.

Because of the bitter rivalry, the game is expected to bring out a monster crowd from a wide section. The Memphis band will come along to play with the Clarendon band.

Legion boys of Memphis will police their side of the game. The local Legion boys will police the Clarendon crowd.

Clarendon and Memphis Legionists will have an Armistice Day ceremony preceding the game, this to take place at College Park. The ceremonies will begin at 2:20. Business houses will be closed from 2:30 to 5:30.

Kryl Symphony Band to Visit Clarendon On Sunday Evening of November 19th

Local Baptists Attend State Convention at Ft. Worth

Among the Clarendonites attending the State Baptist Convention at Ft. Worth this week are Rev. and Mrs. B. N. Shepherd, Mrs. Mollie E. Gray and Mrs. L. L. Cornelius.

Daily papers state that several thousand are in attendance from several states. The strongest ministers in the denomination will be heard, and leading laymen will discuss the big issues that confront their church efforts in Texas.

One hundred years ago, Texas was part of the Republic of Mexico, therefore under Catholic rule.

It was a violation of the laws of Mexico to organize a church other than a Catholic church, so a little Baptist church was organized in the State of Illinois and moved bodily to Texas. According to the minutes of this church, it held its first meeting in Texas Nov. 9, 1833. At that time there were only 35,000 people in Texas. Not one west of Fort Worth. Today there are 550,000 Baptists alone in Texas.

Hedley Poetess Has Talent Nationally Recognized

To be the only woman from Texas to obtain recognition through her poetry efforts recently by the "Song Service of America", is a distinguished honor coming to Miss Hazel Stewart, aged 19 of Hedley.

Her poem "Daddy" was the product to bring her special mention at this time. Other poems of unusual merit appearing in print during recent months are "Drifting," and "Smoke Rings and Memories."

Minister Pays Respects To Educational Values

Rev. Robert S. McKee was the principal speaker at the Lions club Tuesday noon at the regular luncheon hour. His topic was "Education," in which he classed it as being the most valuable business asset of any nation. His talk was interesting and the speaker brought out many good ideas for the thoughtful.

Guests of the Club were Sid Harris, county commissioner, and Claude B. Douglas, and Rev. Ferrell. The latter distributed "Leographs" complimentary to the membership, in the form of multi-graphed folders with interesting reading matter. J. E. Parker of Wichita Falls was a visitor, he having been called here on a business mission.

"Howling Success" Gets Out Big Crowd Friday Nite

Something different? That's what the members of the audience all said after seeing and hearing "A Howling Success" at the College Auditorium Friday night.

The play was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association and netted the cause a tidy sum. Twenty-five characters contributed of their skill to put the play over in a big way. Every actor deserves credit and we can't mention the full twenty-five.

Football Game to be Policed By Legion Members

County School Meeting Has Been Postponed

A meeting of the directors of the County Trustee-Teachers association scheduled for next Saturday has been postponed indefinitely, according to the secretary, Robert G. Dillard.

G. G. Reeves of Chamberlain is president of the Association.

The visit of the Kryl Symphony Band here will be by far the greatest musical event in the history of Clarendon according to some of our leading musicians who really know music.

Bohumir Kryl, conductor, is pronounced the world's greatest cornetist. With him appearing on the program will be four renowned soloists.

Instruments included in the Kryl band have been so chosen as to retain all the vigor and zest of the brass band, but also to obtain the truly symphonic effects in concert performance. The band has been hailed in all parts of the United States, in cities of all sizes and in leading educational centers, as an outstanding musical organization.

In addition to the 40-piece symphony band, Kryl carries Anna Fitzu, operatic soprano; Marie Kryl, pianist; Beatrice Griffith, harpist, and his own famous cornet for solo performances.

This concert here will be given under the auspices of the Aubyn E. Clark Post of the American Legion. A nominal charge will be made to hear these talented musicians. Music lovers of Clarendon will appreciate the fact that the Legion Post has been enabled to take advantage of this special date which they have secured by mere good fortune as the Kryl band does not visit towns of this size on their regular itinerary.

Upsets Over The Nation In Tuesday Elections

In the repeal elections in six states Tuesday, North and South Carolinas voted dry, the first in the nation of 36 to date. Utah, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Kentucky voted for repeal by big majorities.

Since repeal of the 21st Amendment is certain, President Roosevelt has set the machinery in motion looking to a form of federal liquor control after Dec. 5th.

Florella LaGuardia, former Republican senator, was elected mayor of New York City beating Tammany's democratic chieftain and the fusion candidate by big majorities. In the mayoralty elections in a number of cities, the democrats led.

Minister Speaks Monday To Goldston School

The Minister of the First Christian Church, W. E. Ferrell, preached the Convocation Sermon, at the opening session of school for the Goldston community, Monday morning at ten o'clock. In his sermon Rev. Ferrell, tried to show the importance and value of education, and he gave some good advice to the youngsters about making use of their time. He said that failures on the part of children in making grades could be listed under two classes, "cutting classes and inattention."

DETOUR

It's a short piece of Highway, but it has taken a long time to get it started. When that "de-tour" sign shows up in Donley county, it will be most welcome. Looking at it from another standpoint, there will be mighty few detours made. The new highway upon which work begins about the middle of the month, will be almost wholly on a new route from the one now in use. At any rate, our folks would like to detour for a change from the mudholes of the present highway.

Washington, the father of his country, will long be remembered, but his sober farewell remark as he quit public office was forgotten in 1917, and may be again. He said: "Beware of foreign entanglements."

If the newspapers of Texas will print past records honestly next year rather than flattering photographic likenesses of our candidates, we may be in a position to make better selections.

Since the elections Tuesday, the boys are repeating the famous saying of Capt. Oliver Hazzard Perry: "We have met the enemy and they are ours—two ships, two brigs, one schooner and a sloop."

The "corn pone" tax has been reduced from 28 cents to 5 cents per bushel at the last moment. It was feared that the sudden hike would stop the sale of corn. And it would, or practically so.

"Beware of the Greeks bearing gifts." That warning is not necessary any more. Greece refused to deliver Insull to Uncle Sam because, as his attorney says, Insull has formed a partnership with Sir Basil Zaharahoff, the mysterious war munition manufacturer of Europe.

The Alice News down in Jim Wells county comes out of its corner before the gong sounds, and with an avalanche of swings, slugs, punches, jabs and wallops consigns the NRA to the demnition bow-wows without benefit of clergy.

Several million have been put to work at decent wages, and we would not want to see them turned out on the street again in order to reduce prices. At the same time, we kindly agree with editor Tanner in that "chislers and profiteering high-jackers" are working an undue hardship on all of the working class. It took more than two years to drag us into this mess, and it may take nearly that long for Roosevelt to lift us out by the hair of the head—painful but sure.

ARE WE A NATION OF GUINEA PIGS?

If we are to listen to leaders in humanitarian work, our nation is rapidly being transformed from a nation of inhabitants largely rational, to a nation of people upon whom experiments are to be performed in an effort to restore us to normalcy. We appear to be reaching that status of guinea pigs.

Besieged this week by religionists, both leaders and laity, we shall be reminded of many things. Chiefly that we must again turn to the source of mankind's inspiration and obey God before we shall have accomplished anything worth while toward regaining lost ground.

The revival of religion in England by the Wesleys saved that nation from a French revolution, we are told by historians with whom we can find no quarrel. Will it be necessary for some great leader to again lead us out of darkness?

The old-fashioned conscience needs to be ground and honed once more. The lines of demarcation between right and wrong have been obliterated. Honesty and honor need to be enthroned again. Mere pattering around with penny collections and sewing circles are insufficient, we are told.

Too many young couples, and a few older ones, are racing to the divorce courts as well as to the crossings. Hit-and-run drivers in every day business who care nothing for honor or the condition of a competitor after the run-in, need to have their human understandings and sympathies revamped. The Golden Rule needs to be dusted off and made use of once more. Uncle Sam himself needs to get down on his knees at the mourner's bench. He is showing too much partiality between his children. They are losing faith in him and everything else.

There are revivals and revivals. We are led to believe that we are not getting anywhere with hair splitting and ear splitting revivals of theological discussions of technicalities. They may have had something to do with dulling the conscience. Arguments tend only to stupefy and confuse us all the more as a rule.

There is just one brand of honesty. There can be no different sects of the Golden Rule. Love for God and neighbor cannot be divided into denominations with several grades of rightness or wrongness.

The nudist colonies went too far back for a pattern. The idea is a money-making fad. The fact that they increased in number this season but proves the dangerous condition of the moral status of the nation. The times need more citizens who do not park too near the forbidden zones of morals, or run the stop signs of character.

The times demand great laymen like Moses, to lay down the law; like David, to rule and encourage the downcast; like the Man of Gallilee, to make yokes easy for the faithful and tolerant, but hard on the hypocrites.

A great minister Sunday in the course of his remarks said, "About the only thing that can save America from going the way of Babylon is straightening up in morals and stiffening up in ideals." Many will agree with him.

We are developing travel of body faster than of soul. We are having a hard time keeping pace with our machines. We fly across a continent to a prize fight—not to relieve suffering. We race through space to seek notoriety—not to distribute food to the needy. And nothing but a revival of real religion—not roaring emotionalism—not intellectual puzzles—but plain common-sense, thoughtful service for others can save the day.

When churches cease to perform a duty in a town, lodges or civic clubs spring up to take their place. When the humanitarian principles of Christ are neglected in the church, the church soon becomes handicapped because of a lack of funds while the members pay membership fees of three to five dollars a month to a civic club for the privilege of doing those very things rightfully expected of the church.

We must reach the place where the cry of a child can be heard farther than the jingle of a dollar. We must be sensitized to the point where hunger has a greater moving power than a new model. We need to reach the height where ambition to serve is the only inspiration of the soul. When we have arrived at that point, then there is hope.

Fitzgerald Discusses Pests Of The Orchard

I believe I have found a secret about plant lice or at least it is a scheme that works for me. In this country lice are very bad on melon vines some seasons. If you plant an early patch of melons and the lice get on these early melons you can often plant a later patch about fifty yards from this lice infested patch and raise a fine crop. It seems that in one locality the lice run their course. They are like the rest of Gods creatures they have had their day and then pass into oblivion. Just like men will do some day. Speaking of bugs I recently had occasion to look over some of the famous Japanese beetles. This is the bug that the Department of Agriculture has had a big area quarantined about. They would not let a car drive through the country with out searching it, but all the trains that wanted to could go through. There is little if any difference in the Japanese beetle and the old June bug. The grubs of the beetle are exactly like our common grub worm. The bugs themselves are identical as far as I can tell with the June bug. Their main food seems to be peaches and the main food of the old June bug was peaches.

I remember seeing a hundred June bugs on one peach. Millions of dollars were spent on this quarantine trying to keep a bug that can fly like an aeroplane from going over the country. When the fool killer starts I know of no better place to begin than in Washington D. C. Department of Agriculture.

THE FIRST LIGHTHOUSE IN AMERICA

Lighthouses are of very ancient origin. As early as 660 B. C. we have mention of lighthouses.

The first lighthouse in America was built by the province of Massachusetts in 1715-1716 on an island at the entrance of Boston Harbor. In 1713 a committee reported to the court on the best place for erecting a lighthouse which would protect the people. The court decided in favor of building it on the island. In 1719 the keeper petitioned that a gun be placed on the island to answer ships in fog. The court also voted for the gun and it was probably the earliest fog signal in this country. This lighthouse was an object of attack during the early part of the Revolutionary War, and was burned by the Americans and finally blown up by the British in 1776. In 1783 the present Boston Light was built, and in 1790 was ceded to the United States.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

A mouse is afraid of a man, a man is afraid of a woman, and a woman is afraid of a mouse.

Milton W. Mosley prognosticated a month ago that we would have no frost until November 5th. He missed it—we had a freeze instead of the frost he talked about. He based his conclusions on the number of feathers growing to the square inch on the breast of a wild duck killed out of season early in the fall.

Some cows were put in the pound the last of the week but the wife of the owner said she had nothing to pay them out. It might be a good idea to milk the cows, sell the milk and pay the pound fee in that manner. Any of the city secretaries know how to milk a cow?

As proof that times are getting better, every member of a demonstration club had money to pay their dues this week, and one woman had a $10 bill. The dues are

Have you been reading the personal compositions of some of our little girls that have appeared in the Leader the past two weeks. This week we have a product of Maxine Ellis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Ellis. Only recently we published articles written by Phoebe Ann Buntin and Mildred Atteberry. All of these girls are in the 7th grade, depend upon their own resources to write the articles for their English class work at school. They are pupils of Mrs. Goodner, who is cooperating with us in the publication of those articles deemed most worthy.

"There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,

There are souls that are pure and true; Then give fellow men the best you have, And the best will come to you."

Acid? What kind of acid are the old folks taking to?

We read a headline of a medical advertisement, "if you are past 45 and feel low down and upset, look for acid stomach." Now look what you young folks are driving some of us old folks to drinking. Be more liberal with the drinks and save those past 45.

A lady this week who herself is no spring chicken, says that her first ring came from J. Lynn & Co., that her mother's came from the same place, and that her grandmother got her engagement ring from the same place at 48 Bond street New York City. The rings cost from 8 to 14 cents each, she said. This firm has been selling cheap jewelry for around a hundred years, and no doubt have several customers in this section.

There is a doctor on the south plains who maintains a box of guinea pigs and a pair of sheep in order to make the public think he is experimenting on dumb animals instead of his customers, but he never uses the animals. They are advertisements.

Let us pause in the rush of the day—or night—right here and tell the world that our red-headed son is getting some practical knowledge out of his school studies this year. He has sleeping privileges in G. L. Boykin's aggie class. This honorable son has been going to school for ten years. He has had two outbursts of practical knowledge during that time, both this winter. He sharpened a saw and built a bull a feed trough, and both worked. This is more than we can say for the other four boys of the family who have graduated up there. Neither do we think the son is entitled to all the honors. We'll go even farther and say that G. Lester Boykin is the only school teacher we ever knew personally to have enough practical training to sharpen a saw, much less tell and show a boy how to make a feed trough. Of course there are others, but we haven't had the pleasure of a personal acquaintance. (Alright boys and girls, let's hear from you teachers)

Above all, deliver us from that blot on the jovial face of creation, those pitiful outcasts doomed to abide in darkness, those solemn-faced sons who find life altogether serious—people without a sense of humor.

The young mother who feeds her baby onions to put it to sleep, pepper to wake it up, and gives it a sun bath so that it will 'skin off' and look clean, calls her babe "guinea pig." She says she gave it that name because they experiment on it so much.

A diplomat is one who can remember a woman's birth date and forget her age.

We have often wondered just how a preacher feels who maintains an acquaintance with some of his members through meeting up with them only at a civic club.

A woman has been located down in Briscoe county's roughest section who is so far behind the world that she still sews on buttons.

Marshal Pyle is telling the folks yet how well the youngsters behaved Hallowe'en night. Well he's an appreciative cuss anyhow and that's more than you can say of every one.

Wife—That thief of a washer woman has stolen two towels! Hubby—Which ones? The Baker or the Hiltons?

The sorriest cooking the Apostle ever got mixed up with was at a Texas banquet at the Palmer House at Chicago in June of 1931, and Clyde Warwick of Canyon will agree with us because he sat next to us. A West Texas cowpuncher could run circles around that attempt at roasting beef. But did they have the dishes! And we couldn't eat 'em. That's what a little-wig gets for mixing with big-wigs.

Plenty of fellows are endowed with physical courage, but durn short on moral courage.

Wasn't it Addison who said "we make provisions for this life as if it were never to end, and for the other life as though it were never to have a beginning?"

The only people who seem to enjoy hearing your troubles are lawyers—they get paid for it.

The doctors tell us that lachrymal ducts are necessary. When a woman turns on the faucet, something is about to happen. With some it is a talent, but should be used sparingly and with discretion. There is such a thing as overdoing it. We knew a man who, when his third wife began to cry, bought her a ring. The next time she opened the flow, he got her a box of candy. The next time she engulfed him with salt water, he came dragging in a wash board and a tub. The last time, he just let her bawl.

"Wife Wanted" an ad specifies in an Alabama paper. "Applicant must not smoke, drink, cuss, play bridge, stay at home and positively believe in hell." After working for that kind of a man, no doubt she would.

Here's one to remind you of your younger days. A town girl was spending the holidays with relatives out in the country. A young man took her for a buggy ride in the good old-fashioned way. After a time, she slipped down under the lap robe and in a trembling voice said: "Nobody loves me and my hands are cold." The date peeped under the robe and said: "You needn't feel so bad about it because God loves you, and you can sit on your hands."

Hugh Brown has moved to his place just south of the standpipe under the robe and said: "Possibly he needed the fresh air of winter after residing in the main part of town so long."

The Benefits of School

Education is a continuous process and its horizon ever widens, ever recedes, and its meaning becomes deeper and richer; the visions become clearer, the scenes more beautiful and entrancing, the adventure becomes more enticing and satisfying yet ever urging one on and on.

One does not realize how much enjoyment he can get from having an education unless he has one. One sees beauty in all the things about him. Little things have a new meaning. In Prague, it is said, one has to have an education to be a competent dishwasher.

If one goes to a lecture given by an educated person, one naturally enjoys it more if he knows what the lecturer is talking about. This would be impossible unless one was reared in an educated home. Few of our parents of today had the chance to go to school; therefore it is necessary to have free schools for children to go to.

If one has an education, he may be of more service to the world. He may have the knowledge to invent something which the world is in great need. He would be more able to think of some way to help the poor people.

—oOo—

The pie and box supper at the Lelia Lake school was attended by a large crowd Tuesday evening. Everyone became quite enthusiastic in an effort to decide who was the most beautiful girl and the ugliest boy present.

The decision was finally given to Margaret Gerner, as the prettiest girl, and Greer Cottingham as the ugliest boy. Elsie Sisson and Pat Stebbins ran close seconds.

An interesting program of songs a reading, and a piano solo was enjoyed before the pies and boxes were sold.

Immediately after the pie supper basket ball game was played between the school boys and a team made up of boys out of school. The school lost to the town by a score of 19 to 3.

The entire proceeds for the evening were about $35.00, which will be used as a general school fund. It will be spent for play ground equipment, books and other necessary items for the school.

The faculty and student body are very grateful to all participants, and wish to extend to all an invitation to be with them on similar occasions throughout the year.

Boy's Basketball Report

On September 22, the ball boys journeyed to Martin to play ball. After a hard fought game, Lelia Lake won by one point. The return game was played on our home court on September 29. This time Lelia Lake won by some eight or ten points.

During the month school was turned out, we did not play any match games, but had practice three nights a week. Most of the boys showed up every night and much valuable work was done. One night a week we had a practice game with the town boys.

On Hallowe'en coach Cooper took part of the second team to play Windy Valley. Windy Valley won by one point.

The return game will be played Tuesday night, November 7, by the second team.

We have one new man on our squad, James Wilson Bullard. He promises to make a very good forward.

Our captain, Tommy Allen, left last Wednesday. We ball boys sure do miss our captain, and we are hoping he will soon return.

—oOo—

Girl's Basketball Report

The girls are getting interested in basketball once more, since school has started again. During our cotton picking holiday a few of the girls came down at night to play, but they usually watched the boys as some of the girls were down with cotton picking sickness.

The girls are all enthused over the games with Goodnight, which is to be played November 24. They are all sure of bringing back a victory with them. Of course, we are hoping they will and we are all backing them up.

The girls decided they would make themselves show up this year in more ways than one. Last week they ordered some blue and white head bands so look out for "our girls."

—oOo—

The Juniors

The Juniors have been rather quiet the last week but there has been a good reason for that. This week has been exam week and believe me, we sure have worked! We'll all be glad when this week is over.

The class didn't have a social affair on Hallowe'en but there was a good excuse for that. School started on Monday before Hallowe'en on Tuesday, so we didn't have time to plan anything. We are planning on a very interesting social event Thanksgiving and of course an even bigger one Christmas.

Just look out for us this year. We are going to do big things! You will hear from us again.

Sophomores

We Sophomores don't think that it's fair to have to take exams so soon after re-entering school because our brains aren't functioning just right. We are sure that's the reason we are making F on exams. Of course we couldn't admit that we aren't "smart" so we'll lay the blame on the cotton patch this time.

—oOo—

The Eighth Grade

When we were requested to put a piece in the paper we should have said "No," but we didn't. Why? Because we want our name in the paper. No, we don't have a president. Boss? Oh yes! the smallest one in our class bosses us, too.

All that we can say is that we are a mighty smart class with our six-weeks test. Algebra grades ranging from A minus twenty to A plus sixty. Or maybe not that good, for we didn't have our papers graded yet. We're just guessing and we always guess high. And oh my! that General Science test.

When the teacher put it on the board we all laid our pencils down, said our prayers, and told each other good bye. We haven't had English yet. But you are welcome to pity us before we take it. We'll need it before and after too.

And when our parents see our report cards—well all that we can say is we better put on some more clothes for the paddle will get us if we don't watch out!

Oh yes! we most forgot! We have a new pupil—James Wilson Bullard. Proud of him? Of course we are. Who wouldn't be? At least we would be and are.

We said we didn't have anything to write but by the time you read this mess you'll be tired of us.

But before we go, we want to say that we really are a good class despite our Algebra, Science, History and English grades, and you are welcome to come and see us.

If you will trouble yourself to look on the first line of this you will see "English Grade" and then when you look on the very last line you will see—

The Eighth Grade

The Climbers

The Climbers Club met in regular session November 3, 1933 with president Hardin presiding. The club selected as their name "The Climber", as motto. Carnation for flower, red and white as colors. As there was no other business, the following program was rendered.

Answer roll call with the name of a noted poet.

"Laugh and be Merry"—Margaret Cruse.

Quartet—Ruby Jones, Billie Howard, Margaret Gerner and D. W. Tomlinson.

Life of Samuel Coolidge—Mavis Wiggins.

Poem—Virginia Williams.

Life of Kipling—Moody Aten.

Jokes—Juanita Jones.

Song, class, leader Inez Woods.

Life of Wadsworth—Beatrice Hardin.

As there was a little time left after the program, the club decided to sing the rest of the period.

The Club adjourned hoping and striving to continue to improve their club.

—oOo—

Golden Sandstorm Report

The Golden Sandstorm club met in the English room November 2, 1933 for their regular meeting.

The new business was to hear the report of the flower committee. Several flowers were nominated, the marigold being chosen over a large majority.

The roll call was answered with a state and its capital, then Laura Mae Gerner told us a very humorous story about "Black Leader." Vernelle Leathers read a very interesting poem. Bobbie Leathers entertained with a piano solo. Our new member, Billie Admire, also gave a piano solo. Marie Howard read some humorous jokes taken from the Texas Outlook. The last number of the program was a song by the Club assisted by Bobby Leathers on the piano.

INDIVIDUALS MAKE ORGANIZATIONS

People are interesting. Some large, some small, both physically and mentally—but all different. In fact, there is a great difference that exists not only in individuals but in organizations, in schools, in their faculties and personnels.

You have met people who were pleasant, polished and refined. You enjoyed being around them. Others the exact opposite. You have gone into organizations and business enterprises where the moment you entered their door every employer and employee highly impressed you, both in efficiency and courtesy making you thoroughly enjoy every moment that you spent with them. Others were discourteous and unpleasant—failures.

A business enterprise is only as successful as its personnel is efficient. A school or college and the courses it offers can only be as strong as its faculty. The standard maintained by the Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration is well reflected by the success of the school and its graduates.

The instructors have a long and splendid record of success, many of them having distinguished themselves by outstanding service in their respective field. They are of the pleasant and refined type and will be waiting to welcome you, to make your personal acquaintance and to be your friend, all united in one purpose—to serve you faithfully.

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

Minister First Christian Church

"What Makes a Good Church"

Acts 2:41-47.

I. A GOOD CHURCH IS A FRIENDLY ONE. The First Christian Church was sociable, and so should the last one be. Eating from house to house was a sign of it. The early church compelled their enemies to praise them on account of their mutual love. There was no ice formality there: unaffected friendship prevailed throughout the church.

II. CHARITY IS A MARK OF A GOOD CHURCH. It will permit no suffering which it can prevent. A real Christian will sell part of his goods, if necessary, to be able to relieve the suffering poor; they did so at any rate, when the church was young.

III. THE GOOD CHURCH IS ORTHODOX. It continues in the Apostles doctrine, by carefully studying the Scriptures and doing things as Christ and His apostles set the example. The orthodox church will discard all things not authorized by the Scriptures, and will not make human opinions, creeds or forms, tests of fellowship. If error is discovered it will do all in its power to correct it, using the Bible as the text book. The more sincerely a man believes an error, the worse he is off, and the greater the damage and danger.

IV. A GOOD CHURCH IS A PRAYING CHURCH. A church and its members that are unable to keep up a prayer-meeting is on its way down hill. The church was born in a prayer-meeting, and it is kept alive and moving by the same power. The prayer-meeting is the power plant of the church.

V. THE GOOD CHURCH WILL CONTINUE STEADFASTLY IN THE GOOD WAY. It is not a flash in the pan. It is not obliged to hold revivals in order to show that it is living, it lives and breathes and works all the year round. Blessed is the church that has members that will work and pray as hard in November and December as it does in July and August.

VI. A GOOD CHURCH IS A UNITED CHURCH. If its members hang apart, they will hang separately, as a witty statesman said of another matter. It is enough to make a stone weep to see one half of a church pulling against the other half.

Our pulpit will be filled Sunday by one of the visiting ministers attending the M. E. Conference. Announcements will be made later.

great things this year. The season tickets are now ready for you at reasonable prices. Every one should make an effort to see the games and give the teams and school athletics all the support possible.

Each class in High School has selected a girl to place in the contest for carnival queen. The following have been chosen.

Geraldine Howard—Freshmen
Verdun Johnson—Sophomore
Gwendolyn Gunn—Junior
Joyce Tinsley—Senior

The contest will continue until the carnival when the winner will be crowned queen. It is a penny a vote. One can give as many votes as he does pennies.

After a two weeks vacation in honor of King Cotton, the students resumed last week their school work. Everyone has come back with a happy smile and pocket full of money. Down to work is the slogan. We feel the vacation has been profitable to everyone. It has been rumored that certain members of the faculty again lived over the pleasures of their childhood in the cotton patch.

We are working to make the school year the best in the history of the school and with a little backing this can be done.

Texas Methodists, Preparing for 100th Anniversary, Start Statewide Revival Campaign During Month of November

San Antonio, Texas—Nov. 7th. Texas Methodists are beginning a series of denominational anniversary celebrations which, beginning last week when the West Texas Conference observes its seventy-fifth anniversary, will extend into 1934, when the church will mark the one hundredth anniversary of Methodism in Texas and the sesquicentennial of Methodism in America.

Already Bishop H. A. Boaz of Houston has proposed a joint meeting of all five Methodist Conferences in the State to be held in Dallas next year to pay tribute to the intrepid pioneers who brought the Wesleyan religion to Texas even before it became a Republic.

Although conditions now are vastly different from those early days when missionaries like Henry Stevenson and other Methodist pioneers crossed the Sabine to bring their evangelical messages to the Province of Texas, "never has the church had a greater mission than it has today," former President Herbert Hoover has written the Rev. Olin W. Nail of Elgin, editor of the West Texas Conference Journal.

In a message read at the anniversary service at Travis Park Church here the night of Oct. 26, former President Hoover, voicing his "earnest wishes for an increase in determination to carry forward the work of the church," adds:

"Never have we more needed a strengthening of the moral and spiritual foundations of our people."

Extending his felicitations, President Franklin D. Roosevelt lauds as noteworthy the "record of service in the furtherance of religion and development of character which is written in the history of the West Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South

Bishops A. Frank Smith, Houston, and John M. Moore, Dallas, will speak at the anniversary service, over which Bishop Sam R. Hay, San Antonio, will preside. Another speaker will be Presiding Elder Sterling Fisher, Corpus Christi, whose forty-three years as secretary of the West Texas Conference make him senior secretary in period of service in all Southern Methodism.

This conference—the third organized for Texas—first was known as the Rio Grande Conference, whose initial list of appointments was read at the 1858 session of the Texas Conference at Austin by Bishop George Pierce. (The Texas Conference had been formed in 1840 and the East Texas Conference, second in Texas in 1844). The first actual session of the Rio Grande Conference (renamed West Texas in 1866) was held at Paine Institute, Goliad, on Nov. 9, 1859. Then the church membership in the conference territory numbered 1,830. Last year it was 51,516.

Unquestionably the first Methodist organization in Texas, according to the Rev. Homer S. Thrall ("History of Methodism in Texas") was the class of which a Mr. Tidwell was leader at Jonesboro in 1817. In fact, Thrall said, William Stevenson (no relation of Henry) preached at the home of a Mr. Wright on the Texas side of the Red River as early as 1815.

"In the spring of 1832," to quote from Thrall's history, "Needham J. Alford, a local Methodist preacher, and Sumner Bacon, a Cumberland Presbyterian, held a two-day meeting in Sabine County, near where the town of Milam now stands. The Mexican officer Gaines pronounced against the meeting, and there was other opposition. The preachers went to fill the appointment. Just before the hour of preaching a Mr. Johnson appeared on the ground with a heavy whip, declaring he would horsewhip the first preacher who entered the stand. In the midst of this confusion Alford arrived, to whom some one repeated Johnson's threat. 'Well,' said he, 'I am as able to take a whipping as anybody on this ground.' Alford was a muscular, strongly-built man. Johnson looked for a moment at the brawny arm of the preacher, stretched out at full length over the backboard, and quietly retired. On a Sunday night in September, 1834, holy communion was administered for the first time in the bounds of Austin's Colony. It was during a camp meeting held by Henry Stevenson, John Wesley Kinney and other preachers near Mr. Kinney's home on Caney Creek. When Mr. Kinney opened the doors of the church thirty-eight members were received.

The first effort of the Methodist Church in conjunction with the missionary board in New York toward vigorous prosecution of missionary work in Texas came in 1837, when the Rev. Martin Ruter, D. D., was appointed superintendent of the Texas Mission. Littleton Fowler and Robert Alexander were his assistants. Texas then was a Republic. The missionary work was still through the Mississippi Conference. Mr. Ruter died in 1838 and was succeeded by Mr. Fowler.

The Texas Conference, authorized in 1840, met Christmas day that year at Ruterville, named for the late Dr. Ruter, and site of the early day college also named for him. Its territory embraced all of Texas except a strip on Red River. Church membership then totaled 1,878. (Today there are in Texas about 500,000 members and a constituency of 2,000,000). When in 1844 Texas was divided into two conferences, the new East Texas Conference took in the Red River area previously attached to the Arkansas Conference.

Quail Reservoirs Planned In Oklahoma TO Restore Birds

Mother Nature has been enlisted in a new plan to restore bob-white quail in Oklahoma after the expenditure in that state of millions of dollars and enforcement of restrictive regulations for 24 years in a futile attempt to increase America's most popular game bird, according to the More Game Birds Foundation.

Establishment of a system of 125 state-operated game preserves, where the bountiful old lady would be aided in eventually producing in one year more quail than state game farms turn out in ten, is the plan just inaugurated. The preserves will act as reservoirs, with the natural overflow of birds relied upon to restock instead of promiscuous annual restocking methods employed in other states.

A survey by the Oklahoma game department has revealed that in one hunting season 100,000 sportsmen took approximately 1,500,000 bob-whites. The total output from the state game farm and other sources this year was but 5000 birds. "Obviously the water is running out much faster at the open end of the barrel than we are pouring it in at the bung hole," Roberts P. Chandler, state game warden points out. "But the one state game farm and a score like it cannot hope to produce quail as rapidly as they are annually killed.

"We propose to establish annually a managed game preserve in each of 25 districts throughout the state. These areas will be carefully selected and predatory animals and birds systematically controlled. The department will then plant quail on each managed preserve, hunting will be prohibited there and the birds will be fed during severe blizzards. Such a project will serve not only to increase the quail population of that immediate vicinity but will be an object lesson for those willing to put out a little effort and money each year. A similar area will be added to each district each year for five years.

"Individuals and groups can be encouraged to develop private shooting preserves for the reason that the more who do so will mean taking just that many off the public shooting grounds. The value of private hunting and fishing grounds is already demonstrated by the success of the many private fishing lakes in the state. Those who depend upon public waters for their fishing have enjoyed better sport in recent years because of the fact that thousands of fishermen have built their own fishing ponds."

Windy Valley Celebrates Hallowe'en Night

Hallowe'en Night was a great night for the people of Windy Valley, and surrounding communities. With lights on the ball court, the boys and girls played many games of ball; while an orchestra composed of Bob Ayres, Cleatus Stogner, Sam Roberts and Mrs. Luther Butler made splendid music for the crowd.

Following the music, some thirty one boxes of things good to eat, which were contributed by the people of the community, were auctioned off by Maurice McGowan. After the boxes had been sold, a box of candy was awarded to Miss Jimmie Lee Cole, as the prettiest girl. The boxes and the beauty contest netted $28.84. Tuesday, before Hallowe'en, a pie supper netted $12.65.

Following the exercises in which the contents of the above mentioned boxes were disposed of, the crowd gathered out in the yard for a ball game between Lelia Lake and the boys of Windy Valley. The boys from the Valley were victorious. After a much enjoyed evening, along about one o'clock the boys and girls went home, contented that another Hallowe'en had been well spent.
