AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH J. Perry King, Pastor

This is going to be a great year. Things are already happening unprecedented. Breath taking Court decisions and New Deals and Old Deals being contrasted by new and old foes. It looks now as if there will not be a dull moment in 1936. We are going to be kept on our toes or swept into oblivion. We must be alert if we expect to live. The time demands sane, sound, sensible, serious thinking. This is exactly the time for Christian people to let their lights so shine that men may see the good we do and be constrained to glorify God. Church going will mean more perhaps this year than any other time in the history of the world. We have big, serious, perplexing problems confronting us on every hand which calls for our diligent attention, and challenges the best there is in us. This is the Centennial Year in Texas, commemorating 100 years of the Independence of our great State. Every law abiding and patriotic citizen in Texas will want to enter wholeheartedly and enthusiastically into this celebration. Every Christian will want to make this the greatest year in Christian history in Texas. To do so we must put on the whole Armour of God and be ready for every challenging moment. This can best be done by a close allegiance to our church life in supreme devotion to Christ.

Regular services at the Baptist Church Sunday. We will be happy to have you worship with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Goodson of Wellington attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Hugh Brown here Sunday.

DESCRIBES DAIRY PLAN TO STEP UP COW NET PROFITS

"Cow owners are rapidly recognizing that calving difficulties, retained afterbirth, breeding failures, congested udders, lost quarters—are public enemies numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4 to profitable dairying," says W. R. Arends, well-known Purina authority on dairying. "It is easy to see why they cause such losses, too. Let's take, for example, retained afterbirth—and see how it affects the condition and producing ability of a cow.

"The energy a cow expends at the time of calving," says Arends, "is energy that is entirely wasted as far as milk production in her lactation period is concerned. If she retains her afterbirth and has to be cleaned, she is off from 30% to 35% in her milk production. That cuts into the profits. As another example, there is udder congestion. Every time a cow has trouble with her udder a pronounced falling off in milk results. That's another loss.

"An unfortunate thing about cow troubles is that always it is the better cows which are afflicted—always the best and highest producers. The reason for this is that the loafers or boarders in the herd are not working hard enough to be afflicted with such disturbances. It's the best milkers that fall prey to them.

Inside Tear-down Is Cause.

"The underlying cause of these cow troubles can be summed up in two words—'inside tear-down'—an unprofitable condition which is due to lack of proper handling of the cow throughout the whole cycle of production and reproduction. In every year of a cow's life, there are three distinct periods—the eight weeks just before calving, the four weeks of adjustment after calving, and the forty weeks of maximum milking. It is now known by experience and experiment that in each of these periods cows require different handling and feeding.

"But why a different plan for each of these periods in the year's production cycle, is the question frequently asked. The answer is simple, once the problem is stated. First of all, what must now do during the eight weeks just before freshening? She must build the unborn calf—over 62% of the calf is developed in those eight weeks just before freshening. Then she must get herself in condition for normal calving. And finally, she must develop a reserve on which she can draw during her following milking period. These are all big jobs that must be provided for in the feeding of the cow.

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING TEXAS HISTORY IN AN EARLY EXCITING EPOCH

From the letters of Lizzie Neblett, of Anderson, Texas, whose husband was stationed in Galveston with the Confederate army during the Civil war, may be gained a conception of the tasks and responsibilities that fell upon the shoulders of the Southern "women-folk" who maintained the planted family debts while their life, managed the negro slaves, independence.

Mrs. Neblett's letters, frank and mates were fighting for Southern educated their children and collect-outspoken but written in an easy flowing style that makes them fascinating reading, are now deposited in the archives of the University of Texas Library with other papers of the Neblett family.

From one of her letters, written February 12, 1864, the following excerpts intimately reveal the struggles she had in "Keeping the home fires burning".

"Dear Will,
"I write a few days in advance of my usual time because I will have a chance of sending this up to the office tomorrow. You have, no doubt, read my letter to Oliver enclosing one to Magruder, making an effort to get you a furlough. Altho I don't allow myself to hope much from that yet, I can't banish all hope, and find myself continually whispering of myself what I will do and say "when Will comes home," and to the children I say "when your Pa comes home." I have thought many times that I should never see you again; now I can't help indulging in a little hope, guard against it as I will. I know if you don't come it will not be your fault, and that you will be the sufferer also, which knowledge (tho to say so betrays a selfish feeling) gives me some consolation. 'Tis now night, and while writing the above doz. lines, I was interrupted three times, once to attend to the baby, once by the tanner Terrell, coming in, of whose business more anon, and last by the children en masse, calling on me to redeem a promise made a month ago to make them sweet cakes out of some of the flour that Ma sent them. So I put by the writing and have just finished baking the cakes and eating my supper. It has been so long since I have baked any cakes for them that I could not help smiling at their chat about it. Bob and Billy said it seemed like we were going to move, and I was making cake to eat on the road. Mary felt like she was going to hear good news, which remark made Bob think that Mr. Terrell's question "if you were not coming home soon?" an ominous one. He wondered why Mr. Terrell asked such a question. Bob is the only one into the secret of my writing Gen. Magruder. Walter said nothing but made the cakes disappear rapidly, and little sister wamunching away on hers like a little squirrel. They all had quite a jubilee over her at dinner, it was just discovered that she had a tooth. 'Tis an under tooth, and I think all of the others cut their upper teeth first. She is a perfect little rowdy, and is a very good child during the day, but when night comes on, no one can do any thing with her but me. This little negro is not half as good a nurse as Polly. I never "hated" to give up a negro so much in my life as I did to see Polly go.

Hens in Winter Quarters Need Special Care

"Hens should have a comfortable house to live in," says C. S. Johnson, Manager of the Poultry Department of the Purina Mills. "This doesn't mean expensive quarters but a place that is clean, dry, well insulated, free from drafts, and well ventilated.

"In accomplishing these features the first important step is cleanliness and sanitation. The house should be scrubbed and disinfected regularly with a Cre-so-fec solution at the rate of one pint to six gallons of water. To avoid crowding, at least 3 1/2 to 4 square feet of floor space should be allowed per bird. Plenty of ventilation, too, is important because in a 24-hour period 200 hens will throw off 28 quarts of water in the air they breathe out, and through their droppings.

"Roosts," Johnson says, "should be 12 to 14 inches apart, allowing 6 to 9 inches space per bird, with the perch poles running from the rear of the house toward the front, not from side to side. It is best to provide drooping boards, using poultry wire under the roosts and over the top of the boards for proper sanitation. A nest for each 6 to 8 birds is recommended. If space permits, Nests for light breeds should be 12x12 inches and for heavy breeds 14x14 inches. "A good clean litter is essential. Wheat straw, oat straw, wood shavings, or peat moss will serve the purpose. When necessary, the litter should be changed and the floor thoroughly cleaned. The house itself should be dry at all times and everything kept clean and sanitary both inside and outside the house.

"The care of the flock during these months of confinement is just as important as keeping the house in shape for the flock," says Johnson. "The owner should cull his laying stock as early in the fall as possible, replacing them with pullets. Doing this will insure a steady year-round supply of eggs.

"Worming is Easy.

"If the birds show symptoms of worms, they should be wormed before going into winter quarters, and as often after as indicated. Worming is made easy by the use of Roundworm Tsetsules to get rid of large round worms and Tapeworm Kerneles to prevent damage from tapeworms. Both of these products were developed in the Purina Research Laboratories.

"Making sure that the layers get in their feed the elements needed for health and egg production, is more good common sense that counts for a lot in keeping chickens on a profitable basis during the winter months, according to Johnson.

YOUR DOG COUNTS ON YOU TO KEEP THE PESTS AWAY

"Your dog—he's a trusting companion, a willing helper, a best friend. His life is in your hands and he looks to you to take care of him—to furnish the things so necessary for his health and comfort. He can't tell you with words what he wants," says A. H. Leonard of the Purina Dog Department. "but trusts you to provide protection against disease and parasites, which so frequently make a dog's life everything the term implies."

Some of the things, Leonard calls attention to, are keeping the dog free from fleas and worms and keeping his living quarters clean. He advises the disinfecting of living quarters with Cre-so-fec to kill disease germs, fleas, and worm eggs. For controlling roundworms and hookworms, he advises treatment with Roundworm Tsetsules. Dusting with a high grade of flea powder, he advises, kills the fleas on the dog's body. Cre-so-fec, Roundworm Tsetsules, and high grade flea powder are kept at every store, mill and elevator where Checkerboard feeds are sold. They help to provide dog health and dog comfort.

I SHALL NOT PASS AGAIN THIS WAY

The water pure that bids the thirsty live;
I want to help the fainting day by day,
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.
"I want to give the oil of joy for tears,
The faith to conquer crowding doubts and fears—
Beauty for ashes may I give away;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.
"I want to give good measure running o'er,
And into angry hearts I want to pour
The answer soft that turneth wrath away;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.
"I want to give to others hope and faith;
I want to do all that my master saith;
I want to live aright from day to day;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way."

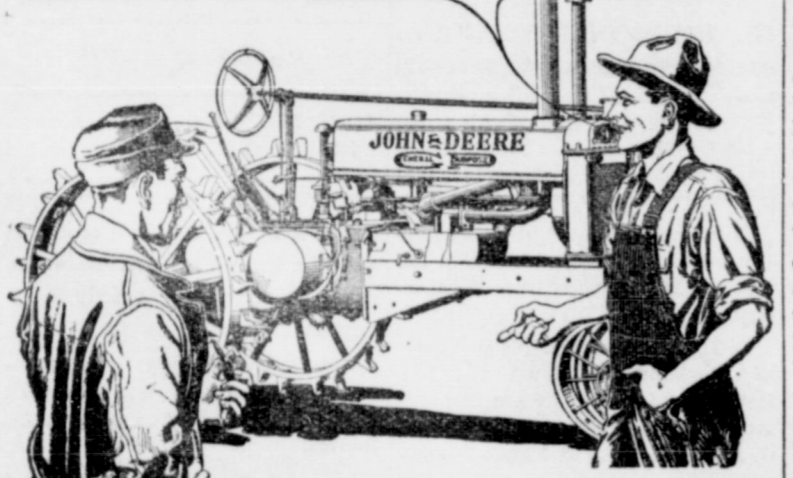

mare and colt. I believe that was all. He took my corn and fodder tithes, and says I am to deliver it in 60 days, or pay a forfeit, but don't suppose they will compel me to haul it until a depot is established. I expect Joe's mule will eat about half of it up by that time. He keeps the mule in Bro Jim's field, near the brickyard. I don't think I can stand his mule much longer. I asked Myers to shoot the mule, but he doesn't want to do it and I don't know how I'll get it done unless I get Myers to load the gun and I will make Thornton do the shooting. He told me he wanted to keep the mule to go to see his wife at Corsicana Christmas."

"Mr. Terrell called by this evening to see if I would let him have some red oak timber to get bark for tanning. I would give him no answer till I hear from you. He is to get some from Dr. Foster who lets him take the bark off the rail trees, for cutting the timber ready to split the rails. He proposes to do the same here if we want the rails. We are too busy now to think of doing anything about the pasture, and will be for some time to come unless it rains, so they can't plow. Myers says Joe told him that that little lake you spoke of fencing in will be dry in ten days if it don't rain before that time. Terrell says he is willing to do any thing almost to get bark when it can be peeled. He will let me know when he is ready to lime my hides, and I am to let him know about the bark, when I hear from you. Myers will commence planting the first of next week, two weeks earlier than we planted last year. This negro Joe has not sold his mule yet; it runs at the back of our field and I expect will eat a big hole in the ear corn, which the squirrels will have to answer for. Says he can't sell him. I told him I would have him killed if he did not sell him out of the neighborhood and now I will not give him much longer to get rid of him.

"I am fleshier than I ever was before in my life—weighed at the depot, 108-105 is the biggest I ever weighed before. Nella was amased to see me looking so fleshy. I am going to send up to mother's tomorrow to get that ox of ours that is up there. Can't do without him, or some other one. I think Myers ought to have broken some young oxen, but he did not want to hinder them with them if it could be avoided, but the heaviest of the plowing is now over.

"Mrs. Buckley proposes in her article of agreement to commence her school next Monday. I fear she has failed. She wanted 20 or 25 pupils.

"I read a letter this morning from Dr. W. Sanders, inquiring about some notes, and he talks like he wants to pay for them if Confederate money will be taken. I don't know any thing about the notes, but have this plea to make, if the notes are not for too large a sum, and they are yours, take Confederate money, for though it is worth nothing, I have never had too much of it, yet. This cotton debt I owe Susan troubles me, and I really haven't enough money to spare to pay the debt, and I can't never made a living since we had them. If their meat, clothes and any doctor bill had to be paid out of what they made they would not be able to do it, and have never done it since we had them, and I am awful tired of them. Ten thousand times I have wished you had listened to me—sold them all but what we wanted to wait on us, years ago. I don't say much about them, but they are a great trouble to me—a perfect vexation. I am going to buy another wheel, and make Kate spin. Uncle Mc is going to make a loom, and aunt Cinda will help me, and I will do her weaving. I will have to do this or let the black devils go naked. FILM DUPLICATES

STAR'S OWN LIFE

"So Red the Rose" Paramount's stirring adaptation of Stark Young's novel of the same name, opens at the Pastime Theatre, Sunday, January 12th. Margaret Sullivan is the star, and the supporting cast includes such well known names as Walter Connolly, Randolph Scott, Janet Beecher, Elizabeth Patterson, Harry Ellerbe, and the child actor, Dickie Moore.

"So Red the Rose" is a story of our South, a romantic and poignant account of those turbulent days of the War between the States. More than that, it reveals the ideals and hopes and bravery of a gentle Southern family when the clarion call of strife made men and women array themselves on the side of duty, sure of the righteousness of their cause.

It is the story of a young girl's love for a man, a man who hesitates to answer the fighting call of his people, and who, in his efforts to do what he believes is right, is even willing to sacrifice love on the altar of his beliefs.

Margaret Sullivan is the girl, Vallette, a pretty, vivacious belle of the South. It is a role delicately in tune with Miss Sullivan's subtle gifts as an actress and she brings to her portrayal the artistry that has distinguished her work on stage and screen.

The boy, Duncan, is portrayed by Randolph Scott, a handsome and talented actor who in "So Red the Rose" forsakes his "western" characterizations which have won him fame and proves his versatility as an actor.

Walter Connolly, one of the foremost character actors of our day, is splendid as Vallette's father, and Janet Beecher, Harry Ellerbe and Elizabeth Patterson (in one of her biting roles) do well in parts that give background and authenticity to the story.

The direction of King Vidor ranks high among his many works remembered by picture audiences. For "So Red the Rose" gives forth the full flavor of Stark Young's nostalgic and romantic spirit, capturing completely the spirit, movement and feeling that made "So Red the Rose" one of last year's most important contributions to American fiction.

The word church is often found in the N. T. occurring 110 times. The word is not used at all in the Old Testament, to designate any kind of an institution. So, whatever it is, it is solely of New Testament origin, and cannot be older than Jesus Christ; nor can it be younger than the days of the Apostles, since it is referred to as a reality by those whom we know as Apostles.

The New Testament was written in the Greek language and for our word "church" the writers used the corresponding greek word "ekklesia", which means an assembly of called out people. When referring to the "Church", then, we do not mean the building with its sign over the door, but to the band of people who meet in the building to carry on their religious ceremonies. The term can have reference to a local or a general assembly; in the local sense it refers only to a certain part of the general called out people, restricted to a certain habitation; while of course the word applied in its general sense would include all the called out, of which the local assemblies are a part. It is thus used in the New Testament, and regardless of what sense in which it is used it always refers to that body of people who have been called by the gospel, out of the world, and have taken their stand for God. I Pet. 2:9, 10.

"And the Lord added to the church" daily such as should be saved" Acts. 2:47 A. V. If that be true, then not a saved person is left outside the New Testament Church. Every saved person is a Christian; therefore, the church is made up of Christians. No person is a Christian who has not been saved, and no one can be a member of the church unless he is saved; therefore if he is not a member of the Church he is neither a Christian nor a saved person, for the Lord adds the saved to the church.

TELLS OF THINGS TO DO FOR HENS

"Sound judgment counts for a whole lot in poultry raising," says C. S. Johnson, Manager of the Poultry Department of the Purina Mills. "Any way you look at it," he says, "the business of raising chickens calls for a lot of good, common sense. Some make a go of it with Leghorns, others with Plymouth Rocks, and others with Rhode Island Reds. There are successes in New England as well as in the South and West. There are failures, too. No matter what the breed or the section of the country, the difference is usually in the common sense of the man behind the hens."

Outlines 8-Point Plan.

In getting the most from hens through the winter, Johnson calls attention to what he terms the 8-point common sense plan of making hens pay. Every flock owner will do well to question himself on each of Johnson's eight points to see if his flock is getting a chance to lay winter eggs. Poultry raisers need not go to any great expense in making the necessary changes that will bring about the desired conditions for health in the flock and extra eggs in the nest all through the winter. Sometimes just a little remodeling or just a change of ration is all that's required:

- (1) Give hens a warm, dry, comfortable, well-ventilated place to live.
- (2) Don't overcrowd—allow 3 1/2 to 4 square feet of floor space per bird.
- (3) See that birds have plenty of hopper and water fountain space.
- (4) Provide 12 to 15 nests for each 100 hens—gather eggs 3 times daily.
- (5) Keep things clean.
- (6) Cull out diseased, weak, or poorly developed birds; also birds that persist in laying eggs of inferior quality.
- (7) Use artificial lights to lengthen the feeding period in winter.
- (8) Be sure that the laying mash contains purtene (Pro-vitamin A) so that the layers in winter will get enough Vitamin A for springtime health and springtime production.

"Identity of the N. T. Church"

Article I.

There are many details challenging attention, before we can come to the subject proper, that of identifying the New Testament Church. We might wisely consider first of all, "what is the New Testament Church?"

And the Lord added to the church" daily such as should be saved" Acts. 2:47 A. V. If that be true, then not a saved person is left outside the New Testament Church. Every saved person is a Christian; therefore, the church is made up of Christians. No person is a Christian who has not been saved, and no one can be a member of the church unless he is saved; therefore if he is not a member of the Church he is neither a Christian nor a saved person, for the Lord adds the saved to the church.

ASTOUNDING "LIFT"
IN SINCLAIR H-C,
Local Motorists Tell Sinclair Dealers

When you buy gasoline you buy liquid power. And power is measured by engineers in terms of lifting. A single gallon of Sinclair H-C Gasoline has the potential energy to lift 99 million pounds one foot. Putting that into a power picture we say one gallon of H-C could lift a 40-ton Brontosaurus 1/4 mile.

In automobile road tests Sinclair H-C Gasoline gave 15% to 20% more smooth power and from 1 to 3 more miles per gallon—compared to 12 other well-known gasolines!

Your neighborhood Sinclair dealer will tell you what local motorists are saying about H-C's astounding "lift"—what it means in extra power for their cars. Ask him!

WHAT IS LIFE?

To the preacher, life's a sermon,
To the Joker, it's a jest;
To the miser, life is money,
To the loafer, life is rest.

To the lawyer, life's a trial,
To the poet, life's a song;
To the doctor, life's a patient
Who needs treatment right along.

To the soldier, life's a battle,
To the teacher, life's a school;
Life's a "good thing" to the grafter;
It's a failure to the fool.

To the man upon the engine,
Life's a long and heavy grade;
It's a gamble to the gambler,
To the merchant life's a trade.

Life is but a long vacation,
To the man who loves his work;
Life's an everlasting effort
To shun duty, to the shirk.

Life is useful or unuseful,
Life is false or life is true;
Life is what we try to make it—
Brother, what is life to you?

Clarendon Grain Company Is Advertising Tractors

Taking time by the forelock, the Clarendon Grain Company this week begins advertising their celebrated John Deere tractors that their customers may take advantage of the season.

A number of farmers are already listing their land. The local firm sold a large number of tractors here last season and expect to sell many more this season due to the reputation already established.

The many advantages of the rubber-tired tractor with all improvements will be told the large number of farmer readers through the Leader. Of course the local dealers will have more than one model, and will be able to satisfy any customer, but the rubber tire on a tractor has come to stay, so say those who have used them. And they have four forward speeds.

The local dealers have attractive offers to make on these tractors that includes all the necessary attachments to work any crop.

G. W. Antrobus spent Sunday and Monday in Wichita Falls visiting old trail-blazers and found very few of them left.

Kavanaugh Asks For Office Superintendent of Schools

George W. Kavanaugh, an outstanding principal in the donley county rural schools, has announced his candidacy for county superintendent subject to action of the voters in the Democratic Primary, July 25, 1936.

Mr. Kavanaugh has taught in Donley county for the last six consecutive years and has established the reputation of being an efficient school official. He has always upheld the cause of education and has given his most sincere and conscientious effort to maintain and raise the standards of instruction where he has taught. He has kept himself in line with modern educational theories and practices by attending summer school and by taking extension courses. It is his belief that the children of Donley County deserve the best instruction that it is possible to offer, and he has prepared himself to render such a service.

Mr. Kavanaugh is a graduate of a Junior College at Greenville, Texas, and is a student at the East Texas State Teachers' College, Commerce. His grades show him to be above the average in scholastic ability, and he has demonstrated leadership in many instances in his school work.

After teaching two years at Windy Valley, Mr. Kavanaugh moved to Martin where he has taught for the last four years. His work has been very successful and he is highly commended for his moral influence and his efforts to give the pupils of his school the best advantages possible.

Since his service at Martin there has been a new brick school building erected which contains the very best equipment that could be purchased. The playground equipment that Mr. Kavanaugh constructed without cost to his district shows good evidence that he is interested in his work.

Mr. Kavanaugh's school will be standardized this year for which he is given much credit due to his untiring effort and willing service to help make it possible. If elected he promises to do all in his power to bring about a more perfect school system in Donley County. All support and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Judge Penn Johnson and C. L. Kinsey of Hedley had business here Tuesday.

Miss Shirley Brumley of Memphis is visiting here this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brumley, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldston.
