COOKING SCHOOL TO BE CONDUCTED HERE THREE DAYS

Miss Zella Allen Food Expert Will Hold Cooking School In Basement Christian Church

Miss Zella Allen, well-known food expert and home economist, will be in Clarendon May 30, 31, and June 1st for the three-day free cooking school sponsored by the West Texas Utilities company here.

Sessions of the school will be held each afternoon on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 2 o'clock.

The women of Clarendon and surrounding territory will enjoy treats throughout the three days' program.

The demonstrations will be practical and helpful in every day food problems, Miss Allen stated, and the recipes are so easily understood that housewives can prepare them at home without trouble.

Economy will be stressed throughout the school. Dishes costing only a few cents will be demonstrated.

Those desiring to keep a permanent record of Miss Allen's recipes are requested to bring a pencil and notebook.

The school will be conducted at the basement of the First Christian Church.

Every woman and girl in Clarendon and vicinity is extended a cordial invitation to attend each session of the school.

EQUALIZATION BOARD TO MEET HERE IN JUNE

Few Property Valuations Got Raised Here in Meeting Monday Morning

The County Commissioners will sit as a Board of Equalization June 4 and 5th to consider and hear complaints relative to county property valuations, this action being determined at the meeting Monday.

Judge Lowe states that the commissioners reduced valuations during 1933 about one and a fourth million dollars, and that the valuations as set at the meeting Monday were the same as the preceding year in about ninety percent of the cases that were considered.

The county clerk has been instructed to notify those whose property valuations have been changed from the figure rendered to the assessor, that they may meet with the Board of Equalization on June 4-5th. The postal cards of notice will be mailed out this week, it is said.

Soldier Graves of All Wars Will Be Decorated

A memorial service will be conducted by the local American Legion Post next Wednesday, May 30th. The committee members in charge are Joe Holland, R. Y. King and T. R. Brown.

A joint service with the Auxiliary will be held at Legion Hall at 10:30 and a march to the cemetery will be made from that point.

The graves of soldiers of all wars, of which there is said to be 136 in the local cemetery, will be appropriately decorated.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Visitors See Relatives Here Graduate Friday Night

Quite a number of relatives from a distance were here for the week end graduation exercises. G. R. Underwood of Dallas made the trip to see his daughter, Miss Marie Underwood receive her high school diploma Friday night. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Pernie Underwood, both spending a delightful visit with their sister, Mrs. J. M. Camp as well as in the G. E. Norwood home where Miss Marie makes her home.

Miss Elizabeth Stevens is visiting in Amarillo this week.

Grandmother Enjoys Thrills Of Grandsons Graduation

Not the least pleased Friday night was Mrs. J. M. Winston of Weatherford who came expressly for the graduation exercises incident to school closing. Two grandsons received diplomas—David McCleskey from high school and George McCleskey from junior college, over the week end.

Mrs. Winston is the mother of Mrs. G. H. McCleskey and a pioneer of Weatherford where her husband was identified with business interests for years and was president of a bank at the time of his death. She is also a sister of Rev. Frank Neal who recently conducted a revival at the local Methodist church.

BACK IS BROKEN IN AUTO SPILL SUNDAY NIGHT

Kennedy Davis Dangerously Injured When Ford Turns Several Flips

While driving toward Clarendon Sunday night on the highway west of Jericho, the Ford roadster failed to make the railway crossing turn and flipped over several times. Paul Green is said to have been driving the car with Kennedy Davis in the middle and Johnny Blocker on the right side of the seat.

Both Blocker and Davis were said to have been thrown from the car and Greene remained with the steering wheel through the several flips. Neither Greene nor Blocker received serious injuries.

Young Davis was thrown out and his back twisted in such a manner as to paralyze him from the waist down. He is also said to have a broken rib which punctured his lung.

Earl (Shug) Ryan happened along soon after the accident and rushed the boys to Adair hospital.

Greene and Blocker were found to have sustained no serious injuries but Davis was in a critical condition. A specialist was called after local surgeons had given aid but found that he could do no more for the injured lad than had already been done to relieve him by local surgeons.

Kennedy Davis is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Davis and graduated from the local high school this term. The injured lad and his relatives have the profound sympathy of their wide circle of friends who regret extremely the unfortunate accident.

Latest reports up to noon Thursday was to the effect that Kennedy Davis is said to be some better, although his condition is still in the critical stage.

NO HELP WANTED

Poppies To Bloom Again Saturday In Honor of War Dead

Purchasers of Poppies Will Aid Helpless Veterans And His Children

Citizens here will be given an opportunity to share in a good work Saturday in the purchase of poppies according to Mrs. James Trent, president of the local Auxiliary Unit. Mrs. B. C. Antrobus will have charge of sales as chairman of the Auxiliary's "Poppy Day" committee.

They will also be offered an opportunity to contribute to the welfare of the war's living victims. All day Saturday members of the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets with baskets of the poppies and with coin boxes to receive contributions in exchange for the memorial flowers.

The custom of wearing poppies in memory of the war dead is 15 years old this year, and is generally observed throughout the English speaking world. In the United States the women of the American Legion auxiliary have developed it into a great national program for commemorating the services of those who died and for bringing aid to those who sacrificed health and strength in the nation's service.

Nearly 10,000,000 Americans wear the American Legion and American auxiliary poppy each year on "Poppy Day," the Saturday before Memorial day, and contribute nearly one million dollars for the relief of the war disabled, the widows and fatherless children. All of the poppies are made by disabled veterans, as the label on each poppy shows.

Early in the winter the making of the poppies which will be worn the following May, begins in government hospitals and in special workrooms maintained by the auxiliary throughout the country. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, are given employment shaping the little paper flowers. Discouraged men whose spirits have sunk to despair from months and years of unemployment are given the reviving experience of again earning money.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
Methodist	5	0	1000
Baptist No. 7	1	0	1000
Highway	2	1	666
Presbyterian	3	2	600
Christian	1	3	250
Baptist No. 6	0	3	000
Legion	0	3	000

Last Friday afternoon the Highway and Legion boys met on the old diamond to entertain a large crowd of fans. The Legion boys started off fine but soon dropped out of the race, and the Highway boys walked off with the big end of the score. Final results were Highway 15 runs and 22 hits, the Legion 3 runs and 8 hits.

Monday the fans witnessed a snappy game between the Baptist No. 6 boys and the leaders of the league. The Baptist started the fire works in the first inning by running in 6 scores, but the Methodist tightened up and did not permit them to cross the plate again. The score ended as follows: Baptist 6 run 9 hits; Methodist, 11 runs, 16 hits.

Tuesday the Presbyterians took an easy game from the Christians. The game was very tight in the beginning and for several innings the Christians kept on run in the lead, but the Pres. boys made a rally in the fourth inning and from then on it was their game. The final score: Pres. 19 runs, 31 hits; Christians 3 runs, 10 hits.

All other games of the week were postponed because of wet ground.

"Wimpy" to Open Hamburger Stand Here Soon

Most every one has heard of the notorious hamburger fiend, Mr. Wimpy. Few have had the pleasure of eating a hamburger of the celebrated Wimpy make and flavor. That privilege is soon to come to hungry folks of this section.

The stand is being remodeled and decorated with Wimpy's picture near the McElvany store. It will be operated by "Heavy" Whitlock and O. C. Watson Jr. The boys hasten to assure the public that Wimpy has passed judgment on their skill, and think that they can please most any one. Homer Taylor is the artist to make Wimpy famous locally.

Mrs. A. M. Lanham Dies Tuesday After Illness of Months

Was Ministering Angel To Neighbors When Distress Overtook Them

Funeral services were conducted for Mrs. Lanham who died at 5 p. m. Tuesday, at the First Baptist church here by Rev. Allen, pastor of the Baptist church at Lela Lake at 3 p. m. Wednesday. The Rebekahs had charge of the services at the cemetery, and the Buntin mortuary had charge of funeral arrangements.

She is survived by her husband, two married daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Bonnie Scott and Mrs. Ethel Tooley, both of whom reside at Chillicothe. Her only son is Delbert Lanham who makes his headquarters at Plainview. Also ten grandchildren. All of her immediate family were here before her death.

Mrs. Lanham was a native of Tennessee where she was married to A. M. Lanham. They came to Texas several years before coming to Donley county in 1917. She was a faithful member of the Baptist church and prominent in the Rebekah lodge of which she was secretary for many years.

She was a strong believer in the practical side of christianity and, though in poor health for years, had that God-given determination and fortitude to visit the sick and distressed. When visiting the sick room her presence was as a ray of sunshine, and her cheerful disposition a messenger of encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanham found much pleasure in life despite their hardships and their greatest happiness has been in helping others. This naturally attracted a legion of loyal friends who today mourn at the passing of this noble christian character, and mingle their tears with those of the distressed relatives.

Pallbearers were Roy Clappitt, Lee Holland, W. F. Tooley, L. E., Orville and Earl Scott.

Mrs. L. D. Perry has returned home from a 4 months visit with her children at Corsicana, Texas, Altas and Mangum, Okla.

Rainfall Plentiful Over The Week

The rainfall around midnight to near daylight Tuesday morning amounted to one and three-fourths inches according to government gauge kept by Joe Goldston. The fall during Tuesday night until after daylight Wednesday was six-tenths.

Two bridges were washed out Tuesday morning before day on the Silverton highway this side of the Cap Rock mail carrier C. W. Wilkerson stated Tuesday afternoon forcing him to take through the mesquites.

From all reports the entire county has received a plentiful supply of rain.

Talley Opens Grocery And Filling Station

Taking advantage of latest improvements in the way of highway development, C. J. Talley of the Martin community, whose land adjoins the new highway, has opened a grocery store and filling station.

In speaking of the new venture Wednesday, he stated that he was stocking a full line of grocery needs and had installed his own pumps and would handle an independent line of gas, oils, greases of that quality that would satisfy his customers. The air and water is free.

McElvany Auto Company Receives Cars

Recently contracting an agency for the Dodge and Plymouth as announced through the Leader, the McElvany Motor company this week received both Dodges and Plymouths and a Dodge commercial truck.

Room will be made in the front for display. The large stock of Federal tires will be arranged to make suitable show room space for cars. Mr. McElvany stated Tuesday. He plans to keep a stock of cars on hand at any and all times to meet the demands of the purchasing public.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Betts of Amarillo visited his sister, Mrs. C. A. Burton Sunday. Their children, Pauline and Glenwood, who have spent the school term with Mrs. Burton, returned home with them.

THREE EVENTS ARE CELEBRATED ALL DAY SUNDAY

Wedding Anniversary And Two Birthdays Celebrated With Picnic Dinner

Way back yonder in 1892 when his father built a three room 'dobie' for the family when the home was first established in Donley county, little did Charley Crowe think at that time that he would be there celebrating his 59th birthday 42 years later. But such was the case, and the big event was Sunday, the 20th.

To add further to the historical interest, the elder Mr. Crowe reared his family there, then Charley Crowe reared his family there and each of Charley's grandchildren have been born there—three generations.

The picnic dinner was arranged under the spreading limbs of pecan and walnut trees, the pecans having been planted out thirty-five years ago, and bear abundantly, being loaded with small nuts at this time.

A celebration of this kind would not be complete without inviting neighbors to share in the anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Johnson of Giles were present to celebrate their 42nd wedding anniversary at the Crowe ranch three miles southeast of Giles. Mrs. B. F. Kelly, who broke all records of her sex in stating her exact age as being 57, and named Sunday as her natal day.

S. J. Ayers was orator of the occasion in which he gave bits of interesting history relative to the lives of some of the celebrants.

Those present: the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Johnson, Mrs. B. F. Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Crowe of Giles and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kelly, Miss Alice Jones, Miss Myrtle Lee Hunt, Barney Johnson, Buddy Lemmons, Jerry Statts, Mrs. Mae Hoggard, Miss Rachel Crowe, Willie Hoggard, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blackman, Mrs. Faye Smithson all of Giles.

Clarendon: Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Mosley, Memphis: Mrs. Lizzie Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott, Miss Lorena Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Youree, Mr. and Mrs. Howard West, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Pullen, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bowden, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Boaz, Miss Alpha Youree, Miss Lucile Bowden.

Hedley: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ayers Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bowden, Mrs. Nora Fowler, Smith: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hankins, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mabry, Mrs. Paul King, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jackson, Mrs. Lula Edwards of Childress and Mrs. Lucy Gray of Killeen, Texas.

LONG ON ONE-SIDED ADVICE.

An exchange states that "many papers have been very liberal with advice to their readers on how to handle the liquor problem—but short on hints for handling the liquor."

FREE SPACE GRAFTERS.

Millions are being spent to print and mail free space grafting copy to the publishers of the nation at this time. Every mail is cluttered up with a plea for free space, each expecting the publishers to pay what it costs to get the advertising to the public.

THAT HOME TOWN MERCHANT.

Many times the home town merchant has been given to discrediting the value of advertising simply because he was overlooking his best bet. If the home town merchant will advertise what the people really want instead of what the merchant wants to sell, he will soon realize that advertising is a real investment.

ECHO FROM THE GRAVE.

A Bath, New York weekly has in the person of Henry O. Elkins a very able editor. Not only is he an editor but also an iconoclast when it comes to breaking images of greatness. Recently when the Courier printed the eulogy of a well known local orator in a memorial service to a councilman of that city, the article was headed on front page top "The Deadly Parallel."

The local orator had no better sense than to supply the editor with a copy of his speech. The editor instantly recognized the fact that it was nothing more than "Ingersoll's eulogy at his brother's grave."

PUBLISHERS OBLIGATIONS.

How many times a weekly publisher receives mats for a schedule only to find out at the last moment that the mats are of a poor quality, and a clear printing cast impossible. The mat board is of the cheapest grade. Blisters are too numerous to secure a presentable print. Don't think that it makes no difference, or that the agency will take all the blame.

The weekly publishers of the nation take the blame. Poorly printed advertisements reflect and handicap. When a poorly printed copy goes into the agency, it is audited by an employee of the firm paying for the advertising. The average agency offers no excuse except to say that the equipment of the weekly is of a very obsolete type, etc.

Weekly publishers owe it to the profession to print clear copy. Demand and get materials with which to get the job done in a presentable manner that will insure you further business. Too long have weekly publishers "put up with any old thing," and it is not too late to begin protecting your profession now by first protecting yourself.

THE BIG LITTLE TOWN WEEKLY.

Publishers in many small towns could get a better slant on their surroundings by securing a copy of the Briscoe County News, the big little town weekly, published at Silverton, Texas, R. B. Boyle editor and publisher.

Published in a town of 873 inhabitants with only 5,590 in the county, editor Boyle figures that he must have every family on his list. He could find only one way to accomplish that purpose and that was to make his paper so interesting that no family would do without it. In this respect he has eminently succeeded. His advertising volume is right up to par. His paper is brim full of live news matter, editorials with a snap and believe it or not, he also runs a "column" with the usual matter.

Be fair with editor Boyle when writing him for a copy and don't forget to enclose a stamp. The chances are that a postal would be ignored because he is a business man and believes in collecting and paying with a just return for every effort.

DO A NEIGHBORLY TURN.

The enterprising weekly publisher, with all good intentions, visits his merchants one or more times each week in an earnest endeavor to assist his merchant neighbor in getting more business. Hours of study and planning based on the best "cut and copy" service is at the command of the merchant without price—yea handed to him with a smile.

Suppose the merchants return the neighborly act just one week. Let him study the trials and handicaps of his publisher, go to the printing plant and point out how he may cooperate with him in increasing his volume of business. Let every merchant in town make the same kind of a visit taking a plan based on the same technical skill as is used by the publisher when he visits the merchant, or at least suggest something worth while within the scope of his judgment.

If the city is besought by any calamity, the merchant loses no time in calling upon the defender of public rights, the exponent of progress, the herald of glad tidings in soliciting his support because the merchant knows the publisher has the medium through which any message may be spread before the eyes of the public in short order.

It is time for the merchants and publishers to get closer together and talk trade—the exchange of ideas which always develop a more neighborly spirit in any town. You can't get along without your neighbor, but one-sided visits get tiresome. It's the merchant's move next.

"TIME" IS BEST LAWYER.

Like a great many other things, changes in legal procedure will be brought about by an aroused public sentiment. There is no better agency to arouse public sentiment for any good cause than the weekly press, and no other public obligation more neglected.

That "time" is the best lawyer in a case, is generally understood. Very few reforms are more necessary in this time of banditry than the complete reformation of the state's legal system. The trial of brutal criminals in recent months, weeks and even days witness the truthfulness of this statement. At the same time one must realize that the task would early assume overwhelming proportions.

During ancient Rome's palmiest days, Justinian upon coming to the throne called together a small body of scholars and authorities versed in legal lore and instructed them to revise the accumulation of laws since the time of Hadrian as found in the Gregorian, Hermogenian and Theodosian codes. Justinian instructed his committee purge the massive legal evidence of laws of all contradictions and errors, delete it of obsolete and superfluous technicalities, making a new start that was best suited to the time and conditions of the nation and best suited to the use and well-being of his subjects.

There has been no legal reformation of any note since. Nations have copied one from the other, much of our laws being taken from England. We need a Justinian to rise up and sweep the cobwebs from our laws and codes, and take a crack at wooden heads and addled brains that pile, Osis on Pellion, law upon law, irrespective of fit or texture, or the good or evil to follow. On the whole, we are burdened with salaries of executives and handicapped by a tribe of incompetent judiciary, both the outgrowth of incompetent legislative machinery playing politics without regard to the best interests of the people of a sorely tried nation.

Health Suggestions From State Department

Diabetics should not die, and yet they do and more of them most every year, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, while speaking of the disease that is known as diabetes. The reason for most of these deaths is that the patient has not studied his disease. Acid poisoning—diabetic coma—has been the diabetic's greatest danger, but with the use of insulin it should now no longer occur. Coma comes because patients overeat and break their diet, and thus neglect to keep their urines free from sugar. Coma comes during acute infections, whether general, like pneumonia, tonsillitis, grip, or during local infections such as carbuncles and abscesses.

Another diabetic danger is gangrene which most commonly attacks the feet and often begins with injuries to the toes which became sore, because they were cut or bruised particularly when they were not clean. Diabetes is becoming more frequent because it is a disease chiefly of middle life and old age and today people are refusing to die young and so are living to die old. If one does not die of tuberculosis or diphtheria, it leaves more to die of diabetes and cancer, and hence the mortality from these diseases is rising. It is not contagious, it can be controlled by diet and insulin along with common sense and exercise, and if you have it you know you are in good company because so many famous people have had it too. But if you don't want it, you stand a good chance of escaping it if in middle life you keep your weight at what the insurance companies with their weight tables and life tables have shown to be the best for longevity, namely a few pounds below the standard weight for age and height—in other words above forty years of age be thin rather than fat.

Look for Better Flavor With Electric Cooking

You wouldn't believe that Electric Cooking could make so much difference in flavor! Meats and vegetables cook in their own juices—with the addition of practically no water. And in the electric oven the heat rapidly sears, roasts, and prevents excessive shrinkage. Baked foods are deliciously and uniformly browned. Grilled steak has the flavor of charcoal broiling!

Electric Cooking retains so much more of the nourishing elements of the food that you can actually buy less meat or vegetables and still have just as much to put upon the table!

Electric ranges cook food with a speed and economy which compare favorably with any other kind of fuel! Let us demonstrate our new ranges. Of course, there is no obligation—and attractive terms can be arranged.

This is the "Electrical Age." A Hotpoint range will be another step to your All-Electric Kitchen.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

The Allred family history in this issue is a true account of the younger life of Jimmy Allred, this of my own personal knowledge while a resident of Bowie and a neighbor of the Allred delegation. All those boys were scrappers for their rights. They sold papers, bottles and pretty much what any other poor town kid would do to get spending money—and something to wear. Jimmy sold the Grit, Chicago Blade and Ledger and perhaps others when I first knew him. He was not a lazy kid and has improved with age. His bit of life history in this issue of the Leader should be an inspiration to every boy in Donley county. Read it in this issue.

It is surprising how many 'stormy' stories are told about the wild and woolly towns of the west, and especially a half century afterwards. Take Tascosa for instance, one would think that they had no semblance of law and order there at all after reading the sandstone slab stories printed in the dailies Saturday. It is true that the law was enforced as laws then existed in the west. An uncle, Frank Miller by name, was an officer and he added one more to Boot Hill when he killed a horse thief who showed fight with a sixshooter. Jim East was city marshal there in 1883 and was a good man though he once was a member of the famous "Billy the Kid" gang. He chose to quit while the quitting was good and became one of the most famous peace officers of the old west. Some time we old Panhandlers will get out a history in self defense against the defamations of character that are now being played up. The toughest thing about Tascosa in the old days was getting supplies from Dodge City, Kansas by freight wagon in the winter time. Mrs. McCormick, better known as "Frenzy" was there and still is, but the colored stories are not likely being told by her so much as by a 'good' story to the papers.

An old timer says the modern petting party reminds him of rock salt placed out for the cattle to lick and slobber over. Well, that's that.

A lady says that if butter is spread on furniture scratches and left on over night, the scratch will have disappeared when the butter is wiped off next day. That's something, and it costs mighty little to try. Use cow butter that you have made at home, otherwise you may get wood lice and maggots started to eating on the furniture.

After the small sand and dust storm measuring 900 by 1500 miles was wafted over the central states from the Dakotas and Nebraska east to the Atlantic ocean, the folks up that way have gotten into a heated discussion about the difference between "weather and climate." Down here we boost the climate. We can't say so much for the weather because it is made up largely of sandstorms, a sample of which we sent east just to show the damyankees (beg pardon) what we had to contend with all the time we were expected to keep sweet.

The government laboratorician at Ft. Sill asked the colonel in charge of the CCC camp in Palo Duro to send him a mosquito for examination to find out what kind of diseases he was likely to spread. After a search of three weeks, the chambers of commerce of Canyon and Amarillo are proud to report that the colonel and his army of boys have been unable to find one single mosquito. Give the high winds credit for one good deed.

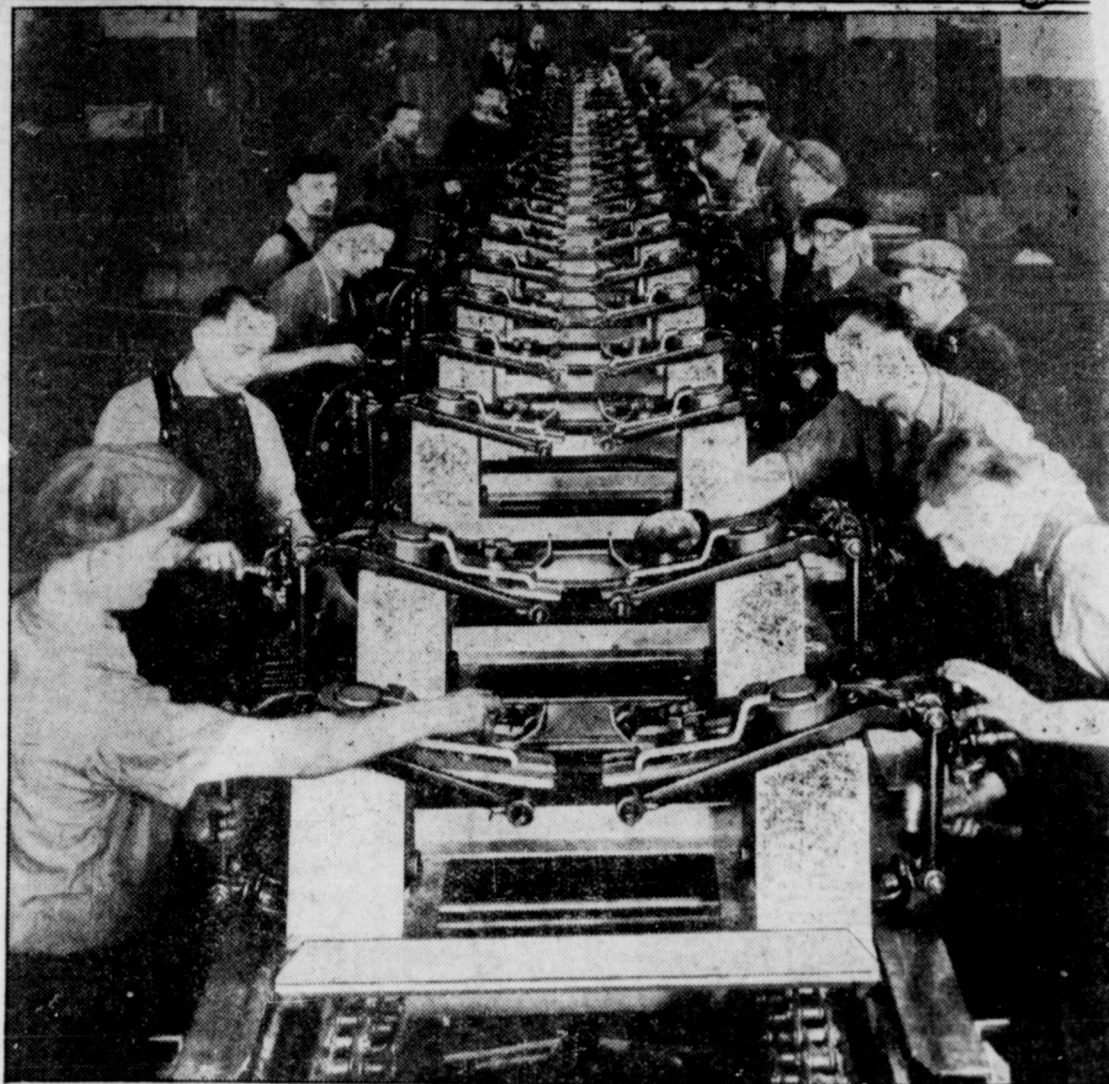

A report comes from Dallas that surgeons are healing broken bones (human) by using sterilized maggots. They probably got the idea from the old time westerns who never died but finally dried up and blew away. He is said to have lived to that ripe old age because he was often compelled to drink water from a mud hole in which an over ripe sheep or cow brute had been lying for several weeks. Ask any old cowpuncher.

Now they are arresting sleeping CWA workers for impersonating policemen.

Working for practically nothing never cuts much figure if the surroundings are pleasant.

Bachelor Bill's telling the folks over again his prohibition stand continues to be that "them as wants it gits it, and them as don't can let it alone." The law cuts little figure either way, and that despite the fact that Henry Ford said that "if prohibition is ever repealed, I'll close my plants."

HERE THEY COME—AND PLENTY OF THEM!

The picture reproduced above affords a striking illustration of the changes which the introduction of independent springing has brought about in automobile assembly methods. The long-drawn alley of busy men and moving machinery shows one of the places in the plants of Dodge Brothers Corporation where "floating-cushion" wheel units are paired, adjusted and fitted with brake shoes, spiral springs and other compone. At the far end of the line the completed assemblies are met by the Dodge chassis to which they are fitted with the aid of ingenious precision fixtures. Adjustments for caster and camber are made on other gauge-equipped fixtures before the front ends reach the endless chain propelling the parts toward their destination.

The man who has few enemies, has few real friends.

In some places where they have been having covered dish dinners, they now ask some to bring mixers and cracked ice.

After telling what kind to gather, how to cook them, a government bulletin spoils a good dish of greens by suggesting the addition of white sauce. What's the matter with butter, bacon strips and a dash of vinegar. White sauce—phooie!

WITH OUR EXCHANGES

Dalhart Texan—John L. McCarty, editor and general manager of the Dalhart daily Texan has again achieved national recognition for having produced the second most outstanding daily of a circulation above 3,500. This is the decision of the judges of the National Editorial Association in session at Columbia, Missouri recently. The award was based on "Community Service."

The same judges awarded Albert H. Law, member of the Texan staff, second place for having written the copy for the Rock Island special edition. The same article was awarded a silver loving cup by the state newspaper association for being the most outstanding edition issued by any Texas paper during 1932. Law also received special recognition at the Panhandle Press meet at Amarillo on his article on the Guymon drouth relief appearing in the Texan.

Muleshoe Journal—In addition to getting out a snappy weekly, Jess Mitchell also has plenty of talent to write snappy editorials which are boxed in borders giving that much despised page of the average weekly a sprightly appearance in his Journal. When one reads the Journal, he does not have to guess at the business lines represented in Muleshoe, or whether they have any at all for they advertise in the Journal. The front page gets away from the ancient idea that heads should balance the page, a custom religiously adhered to by too many of us.

Claude News—Coin Harvey or Henry George neither one had anything on Thos. T. Waggoner if we may judge from his monetary editorials in the News. He is one of the very few men to operate a paper within Amarillo's trade territory and get any business out of the firms of the metropolises with whom his neighbors spend their money.

Moore County News—This paper is published by R. W. Miller at Dumas which is located for the present and has been for some three years in one of the worst drouth belts of the nation. Going to his place of business Mr. Miller is often greeted with a dust covering his machinery and plant which requires about as much time in resurfacing from the dust as it does to get out one of the best weeklies of the Panhandle. Most any other man would give up in disgust, but not so with Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Miller who continue to carry on helping their community with every ounce of loyalty at their command. You don't find that principle in any trade or profession every day by any means. The tide will turn most any day, and when the plains smile again may these soldiers of fortune of the Fourth Estate get amply repaid.

Terry County Herald—Looking over the Herald this week we note that Col. Jack Stricklin also ran amuck with his Ford mats just as several others did. Any agency that has so little regard for their client as to send out 'bum' mats, should not get any business and likely won't after this schedule. In looking over the Herald one notes that Brownfield has two banks, grocery stores that are proud to publish prices and other lines of business advertised that go to the making of a good town. Col Stricklin gets out an editorial column worth anyone's time to read, and that with prof's.

Canyon News—Clyde Warwick has a habit of speaking right out through the columns of his publication. In fact when he makes up his mind that a matter needs attention, he attends to it and then lets nature take its course. He is against gambling and drinking and is supporting Clint Small for governor.

Ochiltree County Herald—Except for the absence of editorials, the Herald is one of the best all-round weeklies of the state. Van W. Stewart is publisher but refuses to be an editor, or as much of an editor as to voice his personal opinion. Indications are that his section is coming back because his paper is again growing to its normal size of what it was before the combined drouth and depression struck Perryton.

Castro County News—Speaking of editorials, W. W. Holcomb writes the kind that takes off the bark and scratches the cambium. His patrons read them and are said to believe them. Holcomb, better known as the "Hick", specializes in lambasting corporations calling attention to the rapid approach of a day of reckoning. Dimmitt is a live town and the merchants have given past that ancient idea of "take it or leave it," preferring rather to invite the public to spend money with them for honest goods at a fair price.

NOTICE—DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS

Comptroller of Public Accounts State of Texas Austin

To The Tax Collector: You will recall that from time to time since 1930, the Legislature has been suspending interest and penalties on Delinquent Taxes. Last May, the last measure of this kind was enacted, which provided a 2% penalty on all ad valorem taxes delinquent on February 1, 1933, (later they included the split tax payments which became delinquent on July 1, 1933), if paid by December 30, 1933, and 4% penalty, if paid by March 31, 1934; and 6%, if paid by June 30, 1934. After this June 30, 1934, expiration date, the old law prescribing 10% penalties and 6% interest per year, will again be in force.

This means that on and after July 1, 1934, this year, the penalty and interest you will be required to charge will not be 6%, but will include 6% interest per annum from the date it was first delinquent, plus 10% penalty. For example: 30% will be added to 1930 Delinquent Taxes.

24% will be added to 1931 Delinquent Taxes.

18% will be added to 1932 Delinquent Taxes.

(A delinquent cost will also accrue in addition to the above)

Yours very truly, Geo. H. Sheppard Comptroller of Public Accounts. (3-13-c)

LAS PIRATAS

Alas! Our school days are over this year at Old Ashtola. This is our last year to be with some of our brother Pirates. But nevertheless, we intend to meet together again some day.

The Piratas had their last meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas today and we elected new officers for the following year. They are as follows:

Grand Captain—Dola Faye Gregg.
Captain—Ruth Warrick.
Secretary—Mildred James.
Guard—Alma Gregg.
Assistant Guard—Willia Poovey.
As we go through life we'll always remember and think of the dear teachers at old Ashtola school whom we think cannot be beat.

They have caused this old school to win high honors. And do you not think, dear friends, we could have done this if it had not been for the interest of our honorable teachers, no indeed, we could not have.

We would never have had our Pirate and Pirata organization if it had not been for Mr. Sid B.

Thomas, the man who started this. They tried to hire him at other schools, but we wanted him on our lists.

Therefore as we look back over the many years we have attended school and then far into the future, never can we dream of anyone who could take the place of our High School teachers this year.

But no matter how the clouds may gather, there is always the sunlight behind them. Remember that, and we will carry on with our work, for we know they'll expect it of us.

But again to Mr. Thomas, our Sponsor and teacher.

We the Piratas of 1934, wish to express our sincere appreciation to our sponsor, Mr. Thomas. Although we cannot express in words nor all we feel should be given him, we take this opportunity to express in a small measure our appreciation and gratitude toward him. We wish to thank him for the guidance he has given us these two years, and for his help on many other things. We are certain there is no other person could have done better. His ability as an instructor and teacher has gained love and approval from all who have come in contact with him.

He never hesitates, but is more than willing to help in whatever comes up.

We regret that we shall not enjoy his companionship and guidance another year. This will be the saddest part of our departing school year, to say farewell to our teacher and friend. We will always remember him as a true friend and teacher, and his efforts have not been spent in vain.

And we say: Farewell to our wonderful teacher of Ashtola High School.

—Mildred James
of Ashtola High School.

The following account of the marriage of Miss Pope was given in the Memphis Daily Democrat, she being a sister of Ernest and D. P. Pope of this city:

Quiet and simplicity marked the wedding of Miss Lucile Pope to Kennon Hillyer yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock, which was solemnized at the First Christian church in a beautiful ring ceremony. Dr. John Angus Mac-Millan of the First Presbyterian church officiated in the presence of a few intimate friends of the bride and groom.

Woman Claims First Honors For Tenant Record

Man never started many things until he found out a woman had beaten his record. For some weeks the Leader has carried stories of the tenant records of some of our good citizens that ran around 14 years. This week a lady comes forward to claim that record.

Mrs. Lena Dilli has lived on the same place 26 years. This farm is located northeast of Goldston and is owned by J. Q. Miller of La Grange, Illinois. Considering the taxes and dry weather in Illinois at this time, it is likely that the Donley county farm owned by Mr. Miller is really worth more per acre right now than his high-priced Illinois holdings.

Mrs. W. T. Hayter and Miss Martha Bell Logan attended the marriage announcement party of her sister, Miss Logan at Amarillo Saturday.

Mrs. Bess Rolf and son Jack returned home Tuesday from a few days visit with Mrs. S. R. Tomlinson at Lelia Lake and Mrs. Mary Chunn at Hedley.

INDIANS VISIT JA RANCH OVER THE WEEK END

Wealthy Osages May Make Purchase of Vast Ranch Acreage Near Here

With the arrival of a small bunch of Osage Indians Saturday night, interest became rife as to their contemplated plans. It was announced that the visit at this time was one of inspection solely, and that if prospects suited, a larger bunch would come in the near future to negotiate for the purchase of the ranch properties.

The Indians were accompanied by Col. E. Walters, J. A. Sweatt and C. C. Shallow and were shown over the ranch by Karl Adams at the request of T. D. Hobart. Mr. Hobart came down and was here when the party took their departure Tuesday.

The Indians in the party were R. Maker, James Maker, Pentleton Strikeax, James Strikeax, Louis Riddle and two squaws. The party made the Antro Hotel their headquarters while in the city.

Termites do Great Damage To Residences Here

While little is being said about the matter, it is a fact that carpenters are doing an extensive repair following the acts of the small white ant. Many do not know the serious damage being done their homes.

It appears that the ants pass up nothing since they ruined a rug on the floor of the Dr. C. G. Stricklin oak flooring. Mrs. Gray's home home as readily as they did the also suffered from the ravages of the pests. The Carroll home is badly damaged as well as the Wiley Morris home.

One lady states that she swept up nearly a gallon of wings with a vacuum sweeper in her home. The pests shed their wings soon after hatching, or before they begin to eat up houses by beginning at the bottom of the plank, eating the inside only.

C. R. Skinner states that the ants ate up his cellar door and chewed the bark off an ash tree where he had piled pear leaves around it for mulching. Frame work on his brick tank tower was ruined even though painted. He found the plank had been eaten hollow without any outward appearance of injury since the ants begin at the ground.

ROAD TESTS WEAR OUT BRAKES, BUT NOT NEW TIRES

Severe Test Strains Prove Newly Designed Product Meets Driving Needs

Road tests so severe that brakes on the automobiles used were worn out every 72 hours were conducted to prove the new G-3 tire, latest development of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., according to Mr. Joe Holland, local Goodyear dealer.

"In order to put the severest possible strains and abuses on the new tires," says Mr. Holland, "they were driven at 60 miles an hour and brought to an abrupt stop every five miles. "This punishing test wore out brake linings so rapidly that the brakes had to be adjusted every eight hours and linings replaced every three days. But the tests proved that the new G-3 was adapted to use on the modern, high speed, high powered automobile. "Cars had been improving rapidly and tread wear became more of a problem. The road tests all proved conclusively, however, that tire mileage had been stepped up and non-skid tread wear increased on an average of 43 per cent. "The improvements of the G-3 were accomplished by widening and flattening the tread surface in contact with the road, widening the riding ribs and narrowing the grooves between the non-skid blocks and increasing the number of non-skid blocks in the tire's circumference.

"In my opinion the G-3 tire is the most important contribution of the tire manufacturer to motoring since the introduction of the balloon tire," Mr. Holland said.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of strong laxatives may do more harm than good.

Harsh laxatives often drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys. Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go! Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. All druggists, ready for use, in big bottles. Member N. R. A.

"God's Right Hand."

Text: "The right hand of my righteousness: Isa. 41:10.

In the old country the word "handless" is a term of reproach. It signifies, not physical deformity, but incompetency of one kind or another. A bungling mechanic, a careless cook, a foolish diplomat, all alike are "handless" when they make a mess of the business entrusted to them. The text before us implies the opposite. God's right hand never fails.

The Secret of God's Power. There is evidence of His might everywhere, as the Hebrew writers were well aware. They did not have our telescopes, but they could see with the far vision of faith. No modern astronomer is more impressed with the overwhelming vastness of the universe than was the Psalmist when he considered the heavens. By God's word the universe was created and the world kept in their place. He is all powerful, always right and always rules with love. We have incontrovertible reasons why His will should be done on earth as it is in heaven.

God's Right Hand is the Symbol of Authority. It was this hand that fashioned the flying spheres, or, in other words, the order and beauty of the universe are the products of His righteous will. No wonder the stars sang for joy at creation's dawn, glad to obey such a Lord. Man, too, was placed amid such ordered relations but his condition has fallen short of the ideal. Nevertheless the right hand of God through all the ages has brought to naught the corrupt ambitions of mortals and has built again and again a new spiritual kingdom for their activities. God and righteousness are synonymous. Righteousness and happiness are inseparable.

Here is the Strength of God's Promises. "Fear not: be not dismayed." Why? God's right hand has not lost its power. "I will strengthen thee." This is inward and spiritual preparation for the struggle of life. "I will help thee" means that God is with us in the struggle, so that all things work together for our good. "I will uphold thee." After the struggle is the most dangerous time. Despair or vanity may be the inevitable reaction, but God can make us wise. He will uphold us and prepare us for another day. What a wonderful right hand God has!

Governor In The Making—Allred Family History Where Early Foundation Was Laid

It is a story about five boys—that happened to one of them. It starts with the five boys, hearts galloping against their belonging to a picket fence and a wagon yard home which was down "Smoky Row." With admiration, they watched their friend and neighbor, the City Marshal, trudge slowly through the dust of the country road and cross the railroad tracks. "Smoky Row," which might have been in any pioneer Texas village, the street of saloons in the border town of Bowie, outpost where railroads met, known as the "Smoky Row." The boys were Oran, Ben, Raymond, James and Renne Allred.

A bad hombre was back in town. The terror of "Smoky Row" was back to "get" the Marshal, and the Marshal had gone to meet him more than half way.

This town menace was a dangerous fool when he'd had a few drinks. On his pistol were several significant notches. One was a half-notch. It represented the Marshal, seriously wounded in a previous encounter.

North Carolina and settled in Grayson County, near what is now the little town of Bells, then a wilderness as was most Texas in 1837. The first court in that section was held in the Allred log cabin. Jimmie's youngest son, William David Allred, born November 27th, 1933, was named for that first pioneer number of the Allred family.

Jimmie Allred's grandfathers carried long rifles for the Confederacy. His father, Renne Allred, was born in Grayson County and "came up" to young manhood there. He married Mary Henson, whose mother was a Burleson. The young couple, seeking new frontier and a home of their own, made their way in a prairie schooner to what is now Childress County when that section was being homesteaded.

On the prairies of middle Texas, Renne and Mary Henson Allred dug themselves a home—logs for cabins were scarce in those rolling, wind-swept plains and only the "rich" could afford a home above ground. Ill fortune struck at this dugout. "The Drought got 'em"—found Renne Allred critically ill tion for rural mail carrier, which job paid $50 a month. A small truck farm was developed. Allred, Sr., branched out and traded for a wagon yard in Bowie, which the two oldest boys operated.

Bowie then was a real "hell roarin'" town. It was a junction for railroads; a truck garden center; and the stomping ground for cowboys and "he" men. The Allred wagon yard lay at the foot of "Smoky Row," which gained its name from the black powder of blazing forty-fives.

It was in this atmosphere that Mary Henson Allred tackled the job of rearing five lively boys. Quite a job?

"It was all of that," Jimmie Allred now recalls. "Mama made this rule: when one of us got into mischief, she whipped all of us. I remember once when I was six, Renne and I were full of the talk we heard around the wagon yard, where the horse traders gathered. So we got us a stick horse apiece, and did a little trading on our own."

"How'll ya trade that - - - plug of yours for this old son-of-a-gun?" Renne said. I answered in the horse traders' jargon. Unfortunately, we happened to be standing near the kitchen window and mama heard us! She literally 'wore' us out!

"The wagon yard was a sort of clearing house for all the boys in the neighborhood, and corn-cob fighting was our favorite sport. Mama decided she'd have to do something to keep us out of mischief, so as fast as we were old enough she got us jobs. The two oldest boys were put to work washing dishes in a restaurant. My first job was a bottle washer in a soda pop bottling works at 50 cents a day. In addition to getting let out of that job, I have a scar to remind me of it, caused by an exploding bottle." The scar is deep and red, on his right forearm. Jimmie also was a shoeshiner in a barber shop, and after school hours, a star salesman for the old Chicago Ledger and Saturday Blade.

In school he wrestled with arithmetic and revelled in history. That was before the days of "public speaking" classes, but Jimmie took lessons in "elocution." He read orations and was on the "Friday Afternoon Debating Team" but was not particularly distinguished, being much more interested in trying to cut his time in the hundred yard dash from 11 seconds to 10 seconds in order to play backfield, rather than center, on the high school football team.

"Now that was a team! We whipped everything in that part of the country. I was fairly fast, but by gosh, I couldn't make the backfield against four 10-second men, and never did get into the backfield."

Allred, Sr., wanted all his boys to become lawyers—and they did. "I've worked with my hands all my life, and I want you to work with your heads," he told them. It was a veritable passion with him. After 12 years as a rural mail carrier he was making less than $100 a month. He wanted better things for his sons. Dream came true—all prosecuting attorneys.

While Jimmie was in high school, one of the bright spots was the visit to Bowie of William Jennings Bryan, with his famed oration, "The Prince of Peace." Bryan immediately won the heart and imagination of young Allred and the next high school debate was on the subject of preparedness for war, with Allred taking the side Bryan would have sponsored. On the other side, urging "preparedness," was a lad named Jesse Donham. Both Donham and Young Allred were volunteers in the war, not so long after this debate; and Donham was killed in action.

Jimmie graduated from high school at the age of 18, soon after America entered the war. The elder Allred boys already were in uniform. The parents wanted Jimmie to stay at home. He had a job at El Paso in the government's border immigration service where, of course, he could have been "exempt." But he decided to volunteer. Since, however, he didn't want to go against his parents' wishes, he wrote them a long letter, saying that unless he heard from them to the contrary by a certain time he would join the navy. The answer was a telegram, carefully written. County the words in it:

"Think it over well you are young four years service." To San Francisco went young Allred, with a group of neophyte gobs. (Young Franklin Delano Roosevelt was then assistant secretary of the navy). It was, curiously enough, in the Navy that the first "Allred for Governor" club was formed, on a cold December night in a tent on Goat Island, where four Montague County boys, who, by strange coincidence, had been thrown together after enlisting at separate oints in the United States, had gathered to tell each other how homesick they were. The talk turned to what they would do after the war.

Lovie Mitchell was going to get a farm in Southern Oklahoma. He did. Clyde Hill, now of Memphis, Texas, lanned to go into the cotton business. He did. Earl Teague, now of Lubbock County, was going back to marry a home town girl and farm. He did. "I'm going back and run for Governor of Texas," Jimmie Allred said! He's running!

When Allred made his formal announcement last December at Del Rio one of the telegrams he received was from Clyde Hill, back in Memphis, Texas, in the cotton business.

Out of the Navy, Allred went to Wichita Falls and got a job in a law office as a stenographer, reading law in his spare time. He saved enough money to go to Lebanon, Tenn., to Cumberland University where many a Texas lawyer, including such distinguished jurists as Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., and former Attorney General Ben Looney received their law training. He was graduated in 1921, came back to Wichita Falls, and entered the law office of Martin and Oneal, at $50 a month. It was that same year that the future Mrs. Allred, Joe Betsy Miller, moved with her family to Wichita Falls from Oklahoma City.

Allred first saw Joe Betsy Miller at a piano recital—which he attended with another girl. A native of Oklahoma, Mrs. Allred has an unusual talent for music developed since she was seven years old.

She has studied under such famous pianists as Arthur Friedheim of New York; Glenn Dillard Gunn of Chicago and Paul Von Katwijk of Dallas, one of the pioneers in bringing the symphony orchestra to Texas. Friedheim at first refused to take her as a pupil—she was 14 then. "I never take 'child prodigies,'" he said. But after an audition he changed his mind.

Mr. Miller was a dry goods merchant at Oklahoma City. There was, Joe Betsy Allred suspects, something prophetic about her early home—a farm near Altus, Oklahoma. "Dad named it Red Farm. We had red hobs, cattle, chickens. Then I married an Allred—and am trying to rear two little Allreds!"

But when Allred first saw her, he knew nothing of her except that she was a remarkably pretty little girl at a big piano.

At the age of 24, Allred was named by Governor Pat Neff as district attorney of the Wichita Falls district, comprising four counties. (A decade later, Allred appointed Pat Neff, Jr., as an Assistant Attorney General). In 1924, he was elected to the office he had held by appointment, and in 1926 he resigned to run for Attorney General.

His reputation as a "fast horse" in a political race—attested years later by Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt whom Allred defeated and succeeded and who is now actively supporting Allred's gubernatorial ambitions—was made in that year. Claude Pollard, of Houston, defeated Allred by only 4,000 votes out of more than 700,000 cast.

Disappointed but not disheartened, Allred went to Dallas where one of his most ardent supporters, Joe Betsy Miller, was being graduated from Southern Methodist University. She still thought he was a winner, and so they were married. He's been winning ever since.

While Allred now lays the foundation for a summer's intensive campaign, Mrs. Allred is far too busy to take more than passive interest in politics; she has two other "Allred matters" on her hands.

One is Jimmie, Jr., four; the other is David, three months.

When you remember that she was wearing her dark hair in a coronet braid long before a fashion editor said that it was "smart" to wrap a plait around the head, you have conjured up a fair picture of Mrs. Allred.

The Allred family is at home (the word is used advisedly) in a modest six-roomed house in an Austin neighborhood noted more for its dogs and children and tricycles on the sidewalks than for its "fashionable" air. Shrubbery and flowers make the house attractive outside, color and harmony within, and a grand piano dominates the living room.

Just as Mrs. Allred has had to omit all club work, save an honorary membership in a music organization and her work in a circle of the Central Christian Church in Austin, so has she had to push music into the background recently. Now most of her songs are lullabies to three-months-old David.

First it was young Jimmie's and now it is David's presence that interferes mostly with any part she might play in politics. If David behaves himself, however, she has tentative plans to accompany her husband on a few of his trips this summer and enjoy the infrequent event of hearing some of his speeches.

James, Jr., or "Jim Boy," as he is called to distinguish him from his dad, was born in Wichita Falls, but all of his "remembering" years have been spent in Austin under the capitol dome's large shadow, and it is small wonder that he has picked up some of the political patter. For example, his grandmother, Mrs. Claude Miller of Wichita Falls, watched with some interest as the four-year old carefully tackled an old campaign placard of his father's up on the back porch.

"Now be careful and don't take it down," he solemnly warned his amazed grandmother. "I want that where the ladies can see it."

If he (and David, too, for that matter) has the campaign fever in his blood, he had best get it out of his system. For Mrs. Allred believes that one campaigner in the family is enough.

The sunny six-room Allred home which she keeps in contrast with the big rambling governor's mansion which may be the Allred home next year. Mrs. Allred, however, is not much worried about any housekeeping difficulties the contrast may present. Since she inherits from her mother a gift for needlework, she already has 30 quilts, 27 by her mother's hand and three by her own, and those are a start for any kind of house.

"But I'll start thinking about that after July," she says with a smile.

"If the Allreds, as their friends are confident, do move in next January, for the first time in four years the dignified Texas "white house" with its high-ceilinged drawing rooms and winding staircase will be gay with the laughter of young Texans—Big Jimmie, Mrs. Jimmie, 'Jim Boy' and David."

Mrs. Geo. E. Ragland and sons are visiting relatives in Wichita Falls. Mr. Ragland is manager of the Shamburger interests here.

Attorney General James V. Allred and his son, Jimmie, Jr., aged 4, they posed for their picture for the first time together during a recent visit to Dallas.

To the waiting boys, the few passing minutes seemed weeks. Then came the bark of a pistol. A man staggered from the sidewalk, went weaving across the street. Another followed, guns blazing. In the middle of "Smoky Row," the men met and fought. The five lads saw one of the men sag into the dust and lay very still. The other turned, haltingly, and started back toward the Allred Wagon Yard which faced the street.

Excited men who burst from behind swinging doors caught the wavering figure of the desperado as he fell. They carried him inside a building and the five tense boys saw walking away, not the Marshal, but another neighbor who had shot it out with the bad man.

Beginning then the citizens' of Bowie cleaned up "Smoky Row."

That Attorney General James V. Allred recalls the incident so vividly testifies to the impression it made on the young mind of Jimmie Allred, second youngest of the five sons of Renne Allred, rural mail carrier and wagon yard operator. And Mary Henson Allred, who wanted her sons to be peaceful, law-abiding citizens, didn't let Jimmie or his brothers forget it. The graphic drama which climaxed in the dusty roadway was a powerful sermon. It explains, perhaps, why, as a public prosecutor, Allred fought for the most severe penalties against lawbreakers; why, as a candidate for Governor, he considers a centralized and strengthened state police force so important; why he advocates every possible means to stamp out crime in Texas.

Jimmie Allred's background is that of thousands of other young Texans in their early thirties—a pioneering family which fought the hardships of the early nineties—a family which fought the hardships of the early days; the familiar yet ever glamorous "ups and downs" of pioneer life, with the "downs" considerably outweighing the "ups."

The Attorney General's great-grandfather came to Texas from with pneumonia, his young wife awaiting their first child. (Gathered "buffalo chips" for fuel?)

The nearest town was Kirkland. Allred's fever grew, he became delirious. The frantic young wife feared to venture away from their dugout into the whining, sand-laden gale, but she knew her husband must have medical care or die. She did what any wife would do—walked the long miles to Kirkland, to bring a doctor back to the dugout.

It was not long thereafter until the first Allred baby was born, a girl.

Weakened by his siege of sickness, unable to develop his claim, Renne Allred knew he must get back to a town and find work else his little family would literally starve. The same covered wagon and team of Spanish mules which brought them to Kirkland now turned back east. In Vernon they stopped, and there the baby girl died. For a time Allred worked in a second-hand furniture store until it closed its doors. Again the mules were hitched to the spring wagon and the Allreds, working back toward Grayson County, got as far as Bowie.

When they reached Bowie, their worldly possessions consisted of the wagon, the mules, their clothes and a few pots and pans, and $3 in cash. Contractor Bill Shields, who now lives in Fort Worth, had a job in Bowie, and he needed one man and a team to haul rocks. There were two applicants for the place, and Renne Allred was the second in line.

"Are you married?" Shields asked the first man. "No."

"How about you?" he addressed Allred. "Yes." Allred got the job—75 cents a day for himself and team.

With this start, the family got along—and grew larger. Five lusty boys came to the little farm-house at the town limits of Bowie. Oran was first, then Ben, Raymond, James V., and Renne, Jr. Meanwhile Renne, Sr., had successfully passed the civil service examina-

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes, your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. Get at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

PAMPA TO STAGE PRE-CENTENNIAL SHOW TWO DAYS

Pioneer Celebration Will Eclipse All Previous Panhandle Efforts

Pampa, May 24. — Pampans, busier than at any time during the last three years on account of renewed oil activity, took time off this week to put the finishing touches on their Pre-Centennial Celebration and Pioneers Roundup which they will stage May 31 and June 1.

A huge stack of letters was proof of the Pre-Centennial committees that the first celebration in Texas of the events preceding San Jacinto has been taken well by citizens all over the Panhandle. Because these letters indicate a large crowd of visitors will be here for the celebration, careful plans have been made for their entertainment.

The Pre-Centennial celebration will get under way at 11 o'clock on the morning of May 31 when James V. Allred, attorney general of Texas, will open the patriotic fete in city auditorium. That afternoon at 2 o'clock will be held the Pre-Centennial parade. This will include the following floats: three missions, the Alamo, San Jose, San Francisco de La Espada; Mission San Francisco de los Tejas, the first church in Texas; Coronado's dream of the Gran Quivira, a golden city of Cibola; Coronado's "dream come true"; the Mother of Texas, Mrs. James Long; Texas under six flags; LaFitte on Galveston Island; origin of the name "Texas"; the first marriage in Texas; surrender of Santa Anna at San Jacinto; burial of La Salle in East Texas; the fate of Nolan's men, and Stephen F. Austin in his

Mexico city dungeon.

Three Pioneers Roundup programs will be held. One after the parade, one the next morning and one the next afternoon. An old fiddlers contest and square dance will be held for old timers the first night.

One of the speakers who will address old timers on the second day is Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and pioneer XIT ranch attorney. W. H. Patrick of Clarendon has been invited to preside at the Roundup programs. Local committee chairmen are as follows: Mrs. Claude Ledrick, rooms; Mrs. De Lea Vicars, registration; Mrs. W. R. Ewing, hostesses; Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, information. A separate building will be available for old timers.

Athletic features of the celebration will comprise a baseball game between the Pampa Roadrunners and the House of David, May 31; a championship prize fight between Ralph Chong of Houston and Duke Trammel of Dallas; a donkey baseball game on the second afternoon.

The Pre-Centennial pageant, depicting 14 important moments in Texas history, will be presented in the natural theatre in Central park on the second evening. A cast of 150 persons clad in historically correct costumes will also march in the parade.

Chamberlain Primary Pupils Celebrate With Picnic

A report of a very nice time is handed in by James Earl Hott who was one of a party of forty odd primary pupils of Mrs. Maude Mosley's room to celebrate with a picnic in the Hott pasture Friday.

The youngsters had plenty of eats, played games and best of all had a natural swimming pool that was well patronized, according to our informant.

Clyde Barrow And Gun-Woman Partner Killed by Officers

Killers Die With Mouths Shut As Car Speeds Into Ambush Laid by Texas Ranger

Clyde Barrow, notorious outlaw of the Southwest, and his gun-woman partner, Bonnie Parker, sped unknowingly into a well laid trap near the little town of Arcadia, La., Wednesday morning and were killed by a posse led by an old-time Texas ranger, Frank Hamer.

Acting on an underworld tip, the officers laid their trap for Barrow and his blonde companion in the woods of a graveled-by-road south of Arcadia. As the small sedan driven by Barrow came speeding into the ambush at a terrific pace of 85 miles per hour, six officers pumped 167 bullets into the car, fifty of which struck the car before it came to rest against an embankment.

Both of the law-mocking desperadoes died with their mouths shut and without firing a shot. Bonnie was slumped in her seat with a machine gun in her lap, while Clyde clasped a revolver in one hand, riddled to-pieces behind the steering wheel.

In the wrecked bandit car officers found three army rifles, two sawed-off shotguns, a machine gun, a dozen pistols and a large amount of ammunition.

New Era-Ford 7-Passenger Sedan And Limousine Introduced

Automobile dealers and the public generally are demonstrating wide and growing interest in two large new Ford models recently put on display throughout the country — particularly in New York, Chicago and other large metropolitan centers.

The new models comprise a 7-passenger Sedan and a Limousine, both having bodies by LeBaron, the celebrated custom body craftsmen, mounted on standard Ford V-8, 112" wheelbase chassis. The cars are produced by the New Era Motors Corporation of New York City and sold exclusively by Ford dealers the country over.

The Sedan body is of all steel construction upholstered in finest Bedford cord and woolen fabric broadcloth. Rear cushions are of the extra comfortable, bolster type. DeLuxe fittings give a luxurious finish to the interior. The two auxiliary seats in the rear are wide and of the Pullman type. Both face downward, folding conveniently out of the way when not in use.

Those who require a Limousine body have in the Ford V-8 Limousine an unusually roomy and handsomely appointed coach, with a specially designed three piece safety-glass partition separating the driver's seat from the passenger compartment. As in the case of the Sedan, all windows are of safety glass, with the latest type clear vision window ventilation both front and rear. This type ventilation is standard on all Ford DeLuxe cars. Only one control is necessary to operate any single window. Instead of turning out, and thus effecting the streamline of the car, this new system has the windows slide back, forming a slot through which air is drawn out of the car.

The only change in the Ford chassis assembly is a reinforcement in the rear section of the frame and special springs front and rear to accommodate the extra-sized and heavier LeBaron custom body. Power is supplied by the regular Ford V-type 8-cylinder engine of 80 horsepower. This plant assures the same smooth and economical performance for the new models as proved to hundreds of thousands by other Ford V-8 cars.

Both the 7-passenger Sedan and the Limousine come fully equipped with five Martin Air Wheels and low pressure tires, twin deluxe horns, trunk carrier, and special chromium bumpers front and rear. Choice of colors include black, dark blue and dark green, all harmoniously striped.

McDonald Will Meet Pampa Voters May 21st

The Leader has been requested to announce that Hon. C. C. McDonald, candidate for the office of governor of Texas, will speak at Pampa at 8 p. m. on May 21st.

Delegations from here and surrounding towns are planning to attend. It is said that the speaker will be unable to speak in Clarendon until late in the campaign.

POPPIES TO BLOOM—

A penny apiece is paid for each poppy made. A veteran, if he is not too badly disabled, can easily turn out 300 of the flowers in a short working day. This is unusually the maximum number the disabled men are permitted to make in a day to prevent them from overtaxing their strength, and means earnings of $3 a day.

For men who have lain in hospitals for months feeling that they were useless incumbrances on the earth, three one-dollar bills actually earned are worth a fortune. For the families of these men—the poppy makers are all men who receive little or no government compensation—the money earned often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter. For the men without families the poppy earnings provided a "stake" for the day when they must go out and attempt to re-establish themselves in life against the handicap of their disabilities.

Veterans too badly disabled to make complete flowers sometimes form what they call "poppy corporations." Several of them work together on the same flower, each performing the operation which he can do and passing the flower on to the others to be completed. Even blinded veterans can take part in the work under this arrangement.

The funds derived from the poppies are used by the auxiliary and the American Legion in giving aid to disabled veterans, their families and families of the dead for whom no other aid is available.

The wearing of the poppy draws its wide appeal from its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living. Every red flower on the lapel on "Poppy Day" means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies in France, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men, women and children who are still fighting the long battle against physical and financial handicaps resulting from war service.

S. A. Fierce and daughters, Mrs. Zevilla Lynn and Mrs. Pauline Lamb returned from Richardson Saturday where they spent several days visiting his mother and sisters.

Crockett Taylor is said to have the best strawberry patch in the county this year. He modestly admits that Mrs. Taylor is due quite a bit of credit for the success.

5 Six-Footers... and not a cramp in a Carload!

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

FORD V8

"THE CAR WITHOUT A PRICE CLASS"

See how much less space is occupied by the V-8 engine as compared with the ordinary "six" or "eight." Less space for the engine means more space for the passengers.

The Ford V-8 front seat is adjustable. It quickly and easily adapts itself to a six-foot-two husband or a five-foot-two wife. It ends forever that source of strife.

Before you buy any car at any price, drive the Ford V-8.
