EDITORIAL OPINION ON CRIME ISSUE.

The exploiting of criminals by prominent business men is about the most serious menace to law and order. Yet in most communities are such men ready to go bail for any felon who can return favors. More attention should be given to these professional bondsmen.

—Quanah Tribune-Chief

The question has been asked just how long it takes a pardoned criminal to get back into the penitentiary. Not all pardons are unjust, but too many of them are. The "crime rate" in America is appalling; 12,000 murders, 100,000 assaults, 50,000 robberies; 40,000 homes burglarized—all in the period of 365 days. Is it any wonder that President Roosevelt is taking a firm hand against this thing which costs the government more than all other agencies combined? Yet a lot of sentimentalists weep about the treatment of the criminal.

—Canyon News

Next to the cost of the National Government itself is the crime industry, which, according to Senator Copeland, of New York, costs the country's citizens $12,000,000,000 annually in money and a human life every forty five minutes. The Crime Conference was called by the Attorney General and attended by five hundred law enforcing officials, one of whom was U. S. Marshal, John Ponder, of Texas. The purpose was to inform and arouse the public. The following charge as a deterrent to crime were recommended: sweeping changes in criminal laws; swift penalties; majority juries for conviction; stop easy paroles; laws without loops, and coddling criminals.

—Claude News

A permanent national institute of criminology, such as was suggested by the attorney general's recent conference on crime, ought to be an excellent means of helping the cause of law enforcement throughout the country.

Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general, pointed out that the criminal is helped greatly by the fact that each city and each state is independent in its law enforcement activities. Some method of co-ordinating their work must be found.

A national body which could tie federal, state, and local crime-prevention and detection agencies together would make the task of cracking down on the crook a great deal easier.

With such a body in active existence, it would not be necessary for federal agents to chase a Dillinger for transporting a stolen auto, when he was actually wanted for murders and bank robberies.

—Amarillo News

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal division of investigation, in an interview published in last week's Saturday Evening Post, described vividly the Government's methods of fighting crime. Laws passed by the last Congress removed so many obstacles in the way of efficient warfare that truly remarkable things have been accomplished.

In the language of the underworld, Federal agents have turned on the "G heat" so intensely that one bandit after another has come to the end of the trail, and there is a new fear of the long arm of Federal law.

Nearly all of the 528 special agents of the Government are trained in law and court procedure, which accounts in large part for the remarkable statement of Mr. Hoover that 93.81 per cent of the Federal cases tried resulted in convictions. "We do not go after a person without cause," said he. Legal training insures sufficient evidence to convict.

Most of the Federal agents are college-trained men. They are under constant additional instruction in all phases of their work, including the use of all kinds of fire-arms. They have access to the finest crime laboratory in the world, says Mr. Hoover. And he challenges any comparison with England's famed Scotland Yard, which is no more than a municipal police system, numbering only greater London, 700 square miles with only 8 million population.

Federal agents cover 3,000,000 square miles with 126,000,000 population and, thanks to the new laws, can now disregard states lines. Hoover does not favor a national police system, declaring that there will always be ample work for local officers and that Federal agents should enter a case only when circumstances warrant.

—Childress County News

The American people face the alternative of arousing a militant anti-crime spirit or the possible establishment of "some other form of government," Scott M. Loftin, president of the American Bar Association, warned in an address before the Oklahoma Bar Association Friday night.

"Not only must there be stricter enforcement of the law," he said, "but more respect for law must be instilled into the hearts and minds of our people.

"Otherwise, some other form of government, more efficient in the administration of criminal law, but less conducive to the development of the institutions of freedom, may be established.

"Rules and procedural technicalities, originally created for some desirable purpose, have been perverted and turned to the unfortunate practice of enabling offenders to delay and escape justice.

"Our courts are awakening already to the fact that their unused powers for the regulation of procedure and practice in the court must be extended and exercised.

"Confidence of the public in the efficiency of the courts and even in the integrity of our profession, insofar as it relates to the enforcement of the criminal law, has been shaken.

"To protect our good name, to preserve our reputation and our influence, we must exert every effort toward the improvement of our criminal procedure and enforcement of the law for the prevention of crime."

—Star-Telegram

NEWS OF THE ADULT SCHOOLS

Approximately 200 people are now enrolled in the adult classes of Donley County. The following is a line-up of teachers, subjects taught, and places classes are held:

Earle Jones—economics, government, reading, history, and typing; classes at Giles, Clarendon and Ashtola. Clarendon classes at courthouse.

Leone Merritt—homemaking; Windy Valley, and Clarendon at Latson building.

Mrs. M. Lackey—public speaking, dramatics; Clarendon at the Latson building.

Mrs. M. Millsap—spelling, Spanish, dramatics; Windy Valley, Clarendon at the courthouse.

Lucy Garrison—interior decoration; Clarendon, Latson building.

Mrs. Cleo Hall—English; Clarendon, Latson building.

Maude Crawford—homemaking, arithmetic, dramatics, Spanish; Giles, Ashtola, and Clarendon. Clarendon classes at courthouse.

Juanita Sargent—teacher of the colored adult classes. Classes are held nightly in Clarendon at colored school.

Every Monday night at Giles nearly the whole community turns out in masse and attends school again. These pupils' ages range from 17 to 67, but they all have one thing in common—enthusiasm. During the last class meeting the oldest member of the class turned down everyone but two in a spelling match.

The Homemaking teachers are lucky. Their students make social meetings out of the classes, with refreshments and everything. But they make the teachers pay for it all by drawing off all sorts of fancy embroidery patterns.

There are few classes where the teacher doesn't find somebody who knows more about her subject than she does. For instance, attending the Spanish classes at the courthouse is a Mexican boy who speaks no English. While the class struggles with odd-sounding Spanish words, he struggles with their English equivalents.

What causes the hole in spaghetti? Earle Jones' reading class will soon find out, for Earle has found a man who has worked in a macaroni factory who has consented to enlighten said reading class next meeting.

The public speaking classes are reading poetry and apparently enjoying it. Proving that kids do grow up. They are also starting work on a play.

Grammar students are learning about subjects and predicates and why they should always agree in number, etc. One of the older pupils expressed his surprise that he had been making sentences all his life and didn't even know they contained subjects and predicates.

Judging from the results of one meeting of the Interior Decorating class, quite a few homes will soon be decorated with bright paper chrysanthemums.

The Courthouse dramatics class has a 3 act play well under way. "Bertie's Cave Woman" is the name and it ought to go over in a big way. They plan to present it in different communities of Donley County within the next two or three weeks.

The teachers and students of the dramatics class were given free passes to the show Friday night by Mr. Mulkey.

If you happen around before the courthouse classes start on night, you will hear the musically talented practicing on guitars, harmonicas and fiddles; all of it generously interspersed with crooning and yodelling. Maude Crawford.

WEAK AND SKINNY MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.

Pounds of firm healthy flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady, quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientists' latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil.

McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called! "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 3, seriously sick, got well and gained 10 1/2 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 3 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.

You simply must try McCoys' at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 3 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoys'—the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

—approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes. Insist on the original McCoys'—there are none better.

Ancient Routes of Travel Will be Marked

Austin, Texas, Dec. 27.—The four historic trails of Texas—the Old San Antonio Road, the Old Spanish Trail, the Butterfield Trail and the Chisholm Trail—will be integrated and uniformly marked for the benefit of tourists in the State for the Texas Centennial celebrations of 1936, according to plans of the State Highway Department and the State Parks Board.

The Old San Antonio Road, (or Camino Real), extending from Eagle Pass to Pendleton's Ferry on the Sabine River will be unified and marked first and a score of State tourist parks will be built along its route.

The Butterfield Trail coming out of northeast Texas is said to have crossed Clay county, Shackelford and on to California via El Paso. It was a stage line as well as a trail for the deluded '49ers.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. (Bill) Nelson of Amarillo visited a short time with friends here Monday on their return from Newlin.

Mrs. John McCracken and children Lelia, Naomi, eZil and Joby of Clayton, New Mexico who have been visiting relatives at Hudgins and Clarendon left for their home Monday.

AS YOU WERE

A gent alcoholically oversubscribed, wandered into a movie. During the intermission, while the audience was being bored with announcements of future films, the drunk got to his feet and called out:

"Is there a doctor in the house?"

There was. A man down in the third row stood up, saying, "I'm a doctor."

The drunk smiled amiably. "Hello, doctor," he said, and sat down.

Harry Knight of West Virginia is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bianton.

E. E. Finkles, prominent Amarillo jeweler, and Mrs. Finkles stopped here overnight Monday in the home of her brother, G. E. Norwood, and family, on their way home from Dallas.

A woman arriving in this country after a short visit to the continent was asked the usual question by the custom official at the landing port:

"Anything to declare, madam?" "No," she replied, sweetly, "nothing."

"Then, madam," said the official, "am I to take it that the fur tail I see hanging down under your coat is your own?"—Tit Bits.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

Poly Ticks is said to make strange bed fellows. Shame on you Poly!

There are very few rich people any more. I've just learned that a very dignified financial family of 1929 are now residing in Dallas taking in borders—good old home cooking. Their son who was a Beau Brummel in the Panhandle is now a CC camper and earning what he gets. Strange as it may seem, they do not mind it at all. They find consolation in the fact that we are all in the same boat. Better still, they have come to the conclusion that all labor is dignified. Sons and daughters who have grown up during the depression never knew what it was to "cut capers," and seem to be getting along "oke doke," if you know what that means.

Being more or less of a timid nature, J. N. (Nels) Riley is just now beginning to tell us something about what he saw and did down in Louisiana last summer. Among other things he tells of fishing with a bunch of natives. Looking at the natives was equal to a circus, but the fishing was still better. After fishing for some time, and when about ready to go home he tells of a "huge" tug at his line. In fact it was terrific, as he describes it. Within two seconds the reptile had walloped the water until it looked like croquet wickets in his back yard back here in un-reputable old Donley. He says he never before saw so many loops belonging to one fish sticking out of the water at one time in his life. Yanking it to shore with the help of some fifteen of the natives, they rubbed sand on their hands and proceeded to land the biggest eel ever seen in old Calshieu Parish. But luck was against them. On the last heave they pulled the skin right off the eel letting it escape back into the slough. "We sure hated to lose him," Mr. Riley said, "but my brother-in-law got about 50 feet of skin that made a dandy garden hose. The morning we left he was using it to water his tomatoes."

Cleo Wood is said to have announced that a white mule never has the bots. He says the bot flies won't light where they can be seen, hence skip the white hair. Anybody else know anything about a white mule and bots?

Reports from the Jack end of Briscoe county indicates the people had a rip-roaring good time Christmas. Christmas trees were on display in Gum Lick, Hollobore, Hash Knife, Dry Ridge, Scuddy, Blue Mouse Hollow, Hog Jaw, Bean Blossom and Pick Handle Flat communities.

Doors are disgusting things. Disgusting when asked to close it from the "outside." Otherwise, doors are interesting. Some are open and some are closed. They may open either on the right or left side, and some are closed on both sides as in the case of a bank.

Doors naturally excite curiosity. As soon as we see a door, and some times before, we begin to wonder what is on the other side. It is for that reason that glass panels were put in so many of them. Glass saves wear and tear on the hinges. But strange as it may seem, the doors we want to see through most have frosted glass, which is probably why we want to see through them.

Then there are double doors like twins. Some of this type are latticed and swing out, and have a space beneath them. This space is for the use of youngsters to poke their heads under and yell, "has any one seen my papa?"

Doors used to be used to close a hole in the wall, but they are used for most anything now except neckties. Open a door and out falls an ironing board or an indoor bed. Open another door and the breakfast nook falls right in your face. A modern apartment is as full of doors as an alley cat is leas. Then there is the "great out of doors," but that will have to be discussed later.

The management of the Leader acknowledges with grateful thanks an expression of appreciation from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church because of our having cooperated with them the past year.

A similar expression comes from Rev. W. E. Ferrell, pastor of the First Christian Church.

To know that our efforts are appreciated is another evidence that we have not wholly failed in our ideals. And especially in the estimation of these public spirited citizens who give unselfishly of their time and means in the best interests of humanity.

Louisiana evidently believes that the quickest way to get rid of Long is to let him keep on spending until he gets Short.

A man over in Arkansas is suing his wife for divorce. He claims she "killed his boss." He had them hitched to the same plow and she did not keep up her end of the doubletrees.

Since Pennsylvania went democratic, (the first time in 44 years) it is said republican sparrows are hanging themselves with horse hair.

The stingiest man in Clarendon studied out a cute plan to keep from buying his kids any presents. After dark Christmas night, he went out and fired a gun and came in and told his kids that old Santa could not get there because he had committed suicide.

Questions suggested for the adult night classes that cannot be successfully handled by the high school:

- 1 What is B. O. and what happened to the gal who had it?
- 2 Can you tell a strung bean from an unstrung one? How?
- 3 What is a cowboy crooner, and where should they be?
- 4 What kind of soap should a girl use to marry the boss?
- 5 When mother and dad get the jitters and refuse to let you go to the picture show, what kind of cigarettes should they smoke?
- 6 How many chilli joints did General Johnson bust up under the code?
- 7 Why is a pink tooth brush pink, and how long will one last a family of six?

Class is dismissed. If you got two right, you are entitled to a degree—a degree of satisfaction. If you missed them all, then it's the asylum for deflated domes for you.

A lot of people aim to tell the truth, but they're darned poor shots.

Joke: Time to laugh. This is the crazy kristal program. Are you loosening?

Through the New Year—here's luck to the wet, dry or misty. A wet is one who drinks it—a dry is one who can't—those who vote dry and act wet are misty.

Bachelor Bill says the difference betwixt the old-fashioned girl and the new-fangled kind is: The former blushed when she was ashamed, and the latter is ashamed if she blushes.

Sheeza Fizzle is all scared up lest all of Niagara cave off before she gets there via of the honey-moon route.

Old whiskers is enjoying some of that good sausage (without sage and cased) manufactured by Hermesmeier Bros. Friend Bill brought it in Saturday. If you like a spiced sausage without sage, you can't beat this kind. Yeh—they have a phone and sell lots of it here. Thanks a lot Bill!

In facing the New Year, may we all have the pep that it takes to put us over. May we have more ups than downs and get rich—or sompin'. "Hats off to the past—Coats off to the future—Pants off to the cleaner."

LIZZIE AND THE CLERGY

A good minister recently purchased a second-hand flivver which was not so good. For a week he drove it about by himself, and time and time again it would stop without the slightest warning. After a hard week the good minister appeared in church. The organ was playing lustily, when suddenly it stopped. In the embarrassed silence that followed, the congregation was much astonished to hear the minister exclaim.

"Now, what the hell's the matter, now!"—Bell Telephone News.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris of Levelland visited here recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris. Leonard is another old Clarendon boy making good, he having taken up the insurance line some months ago, and but recently was transferred from Lubbock to Levelland where he has more responsibility and consequently more opportunity for development of his talents.

LOYALTY Begets LOYALTY

We consider it one of the elementary principles of good banking to be loyal to those individuals and concerns who entrust their money to us.

This loyalty expresses itself particularly in the matter of making loans. We have never seen the time when we were not ready and willing to make loans in proper amounts to our customers deserving of credit. By "deserving of credit" we mean those customers who can show a justifiable use for the money, satisfactory proof of ability to repay within a reasonable time, and that regular curtailments of the debt will take place during that time.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

NOW ON DISPLAY

A New Ford V-8 That Brings New Beauty, New Safety, and a New Kind of Riding Comfort Within Reach of Millions of People

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.
2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.
3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal.

A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour. All Ford V-8 cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 for 1935 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it—to drive it yourself. You will find it a new experience in motoring.

CARD OF THANKS

How difficult for us at this time to properly express to each of you for that wonderful christian spirit so aptly expressed, our grateful thanks. Engulfed by the sudden tragedy of the loss of our dear one, our grief seemed unbearable. There comes a time when we are brought to realize our utterly helpless condition. We thank God that there also comes a time when the fellowship of that christian spirit can be most abundantly realized. In coming to our assistance in this hour of distress, each of you helped so much in performing acts of kindness, and with comforting words that carried volumes. You did all that human love could ask. We fervently pray that you may be spared the grief that has come to us.

Monday gave us the last sandstorm for 1934. Enjoyed it being the last.

Here's to you for a happy 1935!

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Strawn and family visited a daughter at Happy, Texas over the Christmas Holidays.

Ralph Kerbow, C. W. Taylor, Barcus Antrobus and Jim Headrick attended the funeral of E. P. Moorman at Childress Wednesday. Mr. Moorman, hardware salesman making this territory for several years, died at Memphis Tuesday.

Noted Watering Surrenders To March of Time

Among early stockmen in this section, no watering place had a wider reputation for dependability through the driest years than Deep Lake, located southeast of Brice.

The lake is said to have been fed by springs from the bottom in addition to receiving the benefits of a large watershed. Old timers say that the lake easily covered more than a section of land. Others tell of the time when cowboys measured the depths with three lariats tied together. This depth gave the lake its name of Deep Lake.

Just a few years ago a Memphis man was drowned there. Several days were required in locating his body.

Today school children romp and play on dry land in what was formerly the deepest portion of the lake. The transformation is said to be due to soil being washed into the depression, the pastures being plowed up surrounding the lake for many miles over the watershed. Since the unfailling water available during the driest years in the past, this theory is believed correct.

Once a favorite fishing ground, now a favorite playground. The change within less than five years seems uncanny.

 Pantomime—Away in the Manger—Lavonia Swinney, Frances Drake, and Nona Riffle Song—"Santa Claus is Coming" to town—Robbie Lee Russel, Lola Marie Ayres, Cleta Riffle, Mary Ruth Walker, and Louise Skinner.
 After the program old Santa Claus came to see us. He brought many nice gifts. The teachers and several of the pupils helped old Santa with the gifts. We were very soon, but he had to—Com-yn-Si sorry that Santa had to leave us so soon, but he had many other Christmas trees to attend. He left in such a hurry that he broke out a glass in one of our new doors.

We hope he was as good to every one as he was to us.
 We have started back to school after the exciting Christmas holidays that has just passed. We hope that every one enjoyed them.
 A new pupil has started to school today, there will be a few more to start in a short time.
 The men have finished work on the inside of the building. It sure does look nice, they are working on the outside now. After school is dismissed in the summer they will plant flowers on the south side of the school building, grass all around the fountains, and every green tree will be set out around the building. We will be glad when they get it fixed.
 The people that are working at the school house have covered the basketball court with iclay. They will wet and pack it so the court will be smooth.
 We have the trees trimmed so they will come out pretty and green next spring.
 Last Friday afternoon a week ago December 21, the Windy Valley basket ball boys played the Hudgins boys. The scores were fourteen to fifteen, in favor of Hudgins. We hope to have the pleasure of playing them again.

 Captain Alan Innes-Taylor in charge of the Byrd Expedition shown aboard ship with two of his favorite huskies.

Dogs Again Prove Vital Factor in Polar Venture
Stamina of Byrd's Huskies Is Valuable Lesson to Dog Owners

"Go ahead, Little America, take it away! Let's hear those huskies howl!"
 Up from the bottom of the world comes the answering voice of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition to the opening accompaniment of lusty canine throats. And millions of ears are tuned to radio instruments as another Polar broadcast gets under way.
 The sound of those dogs is a vivid reminder of the vital part such animals play on so momentous an undertaking as this two year venture upon the frozen wastes around the earth's southern axis. Men's lives depend upon the huskies as they work under terrific strain hauling the heavy sledges loaded with food and other supplies for the exploring parties that blaze new trails into that unknown blizzard swept country with its devastating low temperatures and challenging topography.
 Fully aware of the importance of the dogs, Admiral Byrd took 150 of these huskies with his Expedition. His voice is often heard in the broadcasts praising the stamina and fighting heart of the dog teams. Directly in charge of the animals is Captain Innes-Taylor who also reports regularly on their fine condition. The dogs are holding up well, he says, showing plenty of staying power. New litters of puppies are being born and raised most successfully in that rigorous climate.
 The food those dogs eat has been a most influential factor in keeping them strong and vigorous under such extreme circumstances. For, as every dog owner knows, feeding is the key to success in guarding the health and well being of man's most faithful companion. No matter how few or how many dogs a person owns, full satisfaction in taking care of the animal is possible only with proper and intelligent feeding.

 "It was this fact which guided the Byrd Expedition in their selection of a feed to take along for the huskies," says A. H. Leonard, well known authority on the care and feeding of dogs. "A complete all-in-one feed was finally chosen which was known by experiment and feeding tests through many canine generations to contain everything a dog needs for satisfying all requirements for healthy growth, dependable reproduction and fully sustained body weight and condition in the mature animal. This food, developed by a prominent dog food concern, was known to have been successfully fed as an exclusive ration over a period of years to many breeds of dogs, with a minimum of care and maximum of safety. Its keeping qualities, which require no artificial storage conditions, and the convenience with which it pours right from the bag without waste were two other features that made this ration the choice of the Byrd Expedition," Leonard says. "Obviously a food which could stand up so well and keep dogs fit and fine in the rigors of the Antarctic region should be more than sufficient for any dog in the average American home or kennel. It's fortunate that the official Byrd Expedition dog food is available to all dog owners."
 "More interesting information about the Byrd Expedition and the care of the dog can be obtained without obligation," says Leonard, "by writing to Purina Mills, Educational Division, St. Louis, Mo., and asking for the latest folder of news and views of the Byrd Expedition."

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

W. E. FERRELL
Minister First Christian Church

"The Christian as a Sojourner."

"Pass the time of our sojourning here in fear." I. Pet. 1:17.

As we enter into the New Year with its new duties and responsibilities, we should pause for a while and consider ourselves as pilgrims or sojourners. A sojourner is one who dwells in a strange country, and has no possessions in it of his own. "Abraham went down to Egypt to sojourn there." He felt himself a stranger and a pilgrim, and by his unsettled state, he was kept in mind of the city which has foundations—that is permanent and stable, whose builder and maker is the Living God. (See Heb. 11:6-16.) So a Christian is absent from his native country. He is born from above. His home is Heaven. The body is but the house of the soul's pilgrimage, in which it is confined during its exile from home.

I. A sojourner is at a distance from his relatives. Some of these may be with him, but how many have departed to the land of the blest. The sojourner presses on and upward with the hopes of a happy reunion some-day.

II. A sojourner is sometimes exposed to rough treatment from the natives. His principles, pursuits, exertions and hopes are often hated. Yet he must so live to please the heavenly Father who waits in the eternal city.

III. A sojourner is but little known. His friendship, his companionship is not courted. He has pleasures and bright anticipations of future bliss, to which sinners are strangers.

IV. A sojourner has no inheritance in the country through which he travels. He seeks a "better country" that is a heavenly one. Why should he fix his affections on earthly things which are transient and unsatisfying.

V. His pilgrimage here is but short and fleeting. He is in this world for a certain season, and for some certain end; he has his work to do, and his measure of suffering to endure. Christ has called him to work in His vineyard and he will soon call him to his rewards.

VI. The Christian must pass the time of his sojourning here in fear. Not a slavish fear, for there is no necessity for that. (Rom.

8:15.) But in reverential fear—fear of sin—in fear of offending God—in fear of temptation. The Christian sojourner, must please God rather than man.

VII. The Christian sojourner must not turn back to the things of the world. The eternal prize is set before him and he must keep on going until the end. The story of the heroes of faith as told in the eleventh chapter of Hebrews, tells us that "they died in the faith." The command comes to us, "Be thou faithful until death."

As we begin this new year, let us take a stronger grip on the precious promises of Almighty God and resolve that we will strive to study His Word to learn more about His will, that we might make sure of the eternal Home.

Clyde W. Bridges of Hedley was here on business Tuesday.

A. N. Wood, the insurance man, transacted business in Hedley, Monday.

EGG PRICES UP; BETTER FEEDING NOW PROFITABLE

It appears most certain now that the full egg basket will be worth real money this winter, according to the most authoritative sources in the poultry field. One of the best indications of this favorable expectation is the better situation on egg prices this year as compared to 1933. Starting with September, the month when the price of eggs begins its annual climb toward the winter peak, the market averaged nearly 5c per dozen higher than September a year ago. And this margin was maintained through October, the figures show.

This improvement should convince egg producers who want lots of profitable eggs this year that they can now afford to do more than feed their birds just to keep them alive, as many have been doing through the days of lower egg prices. What is required today is a feeding method that will not only keep up the flock but will also shell out the eggs so that poultrymen can make some real money while egg prices are at their best, is the way poultry authorities size up the situation.

"The present advance in egg prices," declares C. S. Johnson, manager of the poultry department of Purina Mills, "is enough to pay for all of the egg making feed that a hen eats. Under the circumstances a grain feeder, for example, just cannot afford not to feed a laying mash to balance with the grain and greatly increase the production of his flock at a time when there's real money to be made in so doing."

Grain Not Sufficient

"Everyone who feeds chickens," this authority says, "must realize from oft-proven experience that he can't expect much in the way of egg production with grain alone. It just hasn't the egg making material to do the job by itself. It needs the help of a balancing ration made from a tested formula that provides egg producing ingredients which will quickly and economically change hens from just average egg yield to real money making results."

"Naturally this must be more than ordinary mash feed. It should be a ration whose effectiveness in making hens lay and pay has been definitely established over a period of years both by research and feeding experiment and by the results obtained by flock owners. Hens just have to lay more eggs when their grain is balanced out with mash. So the present condition resolves itself to this: A person has to feed the hens grain anyway—then why not get more eggs in return? A lot more eggs result than can be produced with grain alone!"

Ashtola B. Y. P. U. to Set New Record During New Year

Sunday evening Dec. 30, the B. Y. P. U. at Ashtola closed the year with a very fitting program. We look back over the year and see many fine accomplishments to be proud of, but for the new year we are preparing a program of service far superior to anything yet accomplished.

The active membership, at the present time is approximately 35, but visitors each Sunday run that total far above that number. Besides, from excellent programs each Sunday night, we are proud of our records for social service and missions.

The two outstanding social functions were a big banquet served to about 85 persons on Thanks giving together with a varied program. On Christmas Eve the members of the B. Y. P. U. rendered a Christmas program very fitting to the occasion.

New officers for the coming year were elected Sunday night. They are as follows: President, Lu McCellan Jr.; Vice President, Ema Sue Graham; Sec.-Treas. Geneva Collier; Song leader, Slick Gregg; two group captains, H. W. Lovell and Marvian Baker. Mr. Robt. Dillard was again elected to act in the position of counselor and advisor.

We are especially proud of the loyalty of some of our members who come a great distance and are with us every Sunday night.

We have several members from Martin and Goodnight and they are always welcome in Ashtola along with any others who desire to come.

The coming year finds us with many plans for service and very enthusiastic over the prospects. Many of our programs are going to be dramatized and there will be many special numbers to aid us in placing before the people the objects of our many lessons and programs.

The coming year will not be without the necessary wholesome enjoyment that makes for a complete life, for several social functions together with a trip to the
