Government Employs Small Army At Work Now To Save Donley County Soil

The opening gun in the war that our Government is waging against the forces of nature which are rapidly denuding our farmlands of their fertile top-soil, has been fired in Donley county, according to a statement of George E. Hull, project superintendent of the soil conservation camp at Memphis, who was a visitor to Clarendon a few days ago.

Already, the result of the work, which consist of the erection of cattle tanks, check dams and pasture terracing, are apparent to the cooperation on whose land the work is being done, it was said. Mr. Hull stated that G. W. Sexauer, the owner of the farm has already placed a valuation of a thousand dollars each on the dams and that he firmly believes the total value of the work to his property will run to a much higher figure.

The experts of the soil conservation service are in charge of the work which is being done by the veterans of the CCC camp located east of Memphis. More than 200 men are now enrolled in the camp and the work is progressing more rapidly than it was first thought possible, it was said.

All that it is necessary for a landowner or farmer to do to secure the cooperation of the department, is to agree to furnish certain implements and teams which the project planned for his land calls for. The department of agriculture furnishes the technical advice and supervision and the United States Army supplies the men through their CCC camps, it was pointed out.

The workers are transported daily from their camp to the project by trucks and are fed their noon meal in the field from an army truck sent from the main camp. The men engaged in the work in this area are all war veterans, most of them with families who derive the benefit from the money allowed them and which is sent directly to their dependents. From all reports, these men are a carefully selected group of veterans whose eligibility for the work has been demonstrated and who are using this means of employment as an avenue toward their social and economic rehabilitation.

They are the same men who fought another war for us. They are living much the same kind of a regimented existence, their barracks life and messing facilities being the same; but now they are fighting a peace time battle to save the country for future generations. Instead of instruments of destruction, they are now employing tools of construction, and from all accounts are giving equally as good an account of themselves as they did in that other and less worthy cause.

Hedley Druggist is Rogers Memorial Booster

Wishing to see that his section shared in the honors coming to those aiding in the Will Rogers Memorial, Zeb Mitchell, prominent druggist and old-time resident of Hedley placed a "humidor" on his show case and announced his determination.

Tuesday that humidor exhibited a number of greenbacks and a nice stack of silver coins contributed by patriotic admirers of Rogers. Mr. Mitchell will have charge of the Memorial drive in his town, according to J. C. Estlack, who has been appointed county chairman by state chairman Amon G. Carter of Ft. Worth.

Red Cross Drive To Secure Members

The annual Red Cross Roll Call began here Armistice day under the direction of roll call chairman A. H. Baker. The drive will continue until Thanksgiving Day.

During this time, an active drive is to be made to secure the county's quota of members in the organization.

Citizens are being asked to take time to consider the many worth while enterprises supported by the Red Cross. No where when distress comes is more efficient help rendered than by the Red Cross. In the past history of the organization, the Red Cross is first to come to the rescue with all necessary supplies that are needed. Non-sectarian in its nature, ever ready to help regardless of race, color or creed.

Griggs Has Large Number Family Keepsakes

Among the numerous old family heirlooms and keepsakes in the possession of C. E. Griggs of this city, one is dated Dec. 12, 1877. This is an official paper written on an old style letterhead of the law firm of Marcum & Barnes wherein one A. J. Bassham grants John Griggs power of attorney to collect on a horse a debt of $109. John Griggs was the father of C. E. Griggs.

A letter from a politician of the House of Representatives to Mrs. Patty Griggs, mother of C. E. Griggs, is dated March 2, 1882. In that day, even before women were allowed to vote, politicians used lady constituents to advantage.

Hedley Informer Observes Silver Anniversary

Much credit is due Mrs. E. C. Boliver and her son Edward Boliver, owner and publisher respectively of the Informer for the excellent edition of that publication last week.

The special issue of twenty-two pages was by way of celebrating the 25th year of the service rendered the Hedley community.

Interesting bits of history of the town and individuals made the issue most interesting. Business men showed a proper appreciation by a liberal amount of advertising patronage.

All those who in any way aided in the publication are due a great deal of credit because the publication reflected the progressive spirit of the county's second town in size.

Public Grabs Up Shipment Large Jap Persimmons

A bushel basket of those fine luscious Japanese persimmons grown by the Fitzgerald Nursery at Stephenville, Texas was received this week by the Farmers Exchange grocery.

Some were as large as the largest oranges, all of them being in the big class. They did not last until they got started to going when eager buyers snapped them up. Many of the buyers had never before seen a tame persimmon, and very few had seen them so large.

Mr. Fitzgerald has an advertisement in this issue of the Leader. The editor has a bushel of them tucked away for Christmas as they keep indefinitely.

CERTIFICATES MAY BE POOLED

Tax Free Tags That Are Over Production This Year Are Poolable

Cotton producers of Donley county who have tax exemption certificates under the Bankhead Cotton Act, may pool their certificates now, county agent H. M. Breedlove said.

Producers should know definitely that they will have surplus certificates after all their crop is gathered before pooling certificates.

All tax-free tags over this year's cotton production, and those left over of last year's special government pool, may be re-pooled. In the latter case pooling of the certificates is to be done after the government checks are received. This will be about Thanksgiving or the first of December, Mr. Breedlove stated.

A large number of Donley county producers, and especially those residing on the east side of the county, will have surplus tags after the crop is harvested.

Patman Brothers Attend Big Family Reunion

Returning home the first of the week, Messrs. J. T. and Bill Patman were enthusiastic about family reunions where food is plentiful and good will permeates the social fabric.

They had been to a gathering of relatives at Forest Academy, seven miles from Sulphur Springs. The oldest individual present was an uncle, T. W. Beville, aged 84. Sunday was the big day, over a hundred relatives being present.

Their sisters, Mrs. G. T. Adams of Amarillo and Mrs. J. A. Thomas of McLean were also present.

The family of Hon. Harwood Beville from Dallas, and Miss D'Laurel Beville of San Antonio made up the list with whom our readers are acquainted.

Latson Buys Building Used As Wilder Hospital

The old Wilder hospital building to the rear of the Rathjen building has been purchased by O. W. Latson, local contractor. It is his intention to remodel the building into modern apartments.

It was through the instrumentality of Mr. Latson that the Postoffice block was built up, he having built and sold a number of the buildings.

Johnny Johnson of the Johnson blacksmith and machine shop has purchased the residence across the street east of Judge Cole's residence.

The sales were made by Jack Killough who states that he has a number of bargains offering profitable investments at this time.

McLEAN TIGERS BE HERE FRIDAY

The Clarendon Bronchos will tangle with the undefeated McLean Tigers at the College park tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock in another conference tilt. The Bronchos will enter this game as the underdogs with the odds even greater than last Friday night.

The Tigers are rated along with Shamrock and are still in the race for District championship honors. The Tigers defeated the Bronchos by a large score last year and the Bronchos will be out fighting hard to avenge that defeat.

There are football upsets each week, who knows but what this might be one of them. Come out and give the Bronchos the backing that they deserve.

Cotton Production Falls To Show Overplus

The census bureau reported ginings of this year's crop to November 1st totalled 7,746,635 bales compared with 7,917,671 for the same period last year and 10,355,031 for 1933.

Cotton exports for October 1935 were 711,000 bales as compared with 592,000 in October 1934.

HICK JOHNSON DIES AT PAMPA SUNDAY NIGHT

Former Clarendon Business Man Had Resided Some Years At Borger

While returning from a business trip to the south plains country, L. H. "Hick" Johnson was taken ill on the return trip. His condition became acute when Panhandle was reached, and he was rushed to a Pampa hospital instead of being taken to his home at Borger.

He passed away early Sunday night. His body was brought to Clarendon Tuesday and services were conducted at the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Landreth, who was assisted by Rev. L. A. Reavis and Rev. J. Perry King.

The pallbearers were members of the Odd Fellow lodge, and he was buried in the Odd Fellow cemetery, the members of the Order taking charge at the cemetery. Those attending the casket were old time friends and were Pat Longan, Slayton Mahaffey, Fred Russell, Eugene H. Noland, Ed Wheeler and Glenn Williams.

Besides his widow he is survived by three children. They are Mason aged 15, Fisher aged 13 and Raymond 12. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, reside in Clarendon. The deceased was formerly engaged in the grocery business in Clarendon, and later became engaged in selling autos. He moved to Borger some years ago and is said to have been quite successful in selling autos in that section.

The services here were attended by several friends and relatives from out of town, and by a large number of local people who had known him through the years as an upright citizen of the aggressive type, and one who will be sadly missed.

Farmers Attend Plainview Gathering Wednesday

A number of Donley county farmers went to Plainview Wednesday to hear C. A. Cobb, official of the national crop program lecture. Cobb will make only two talks in Texas before returning to Washington, one of which is at Plainview.

County agent Breedlove headed the delegation to learn more of the crop program for the coming year.

START WILL ROGERS MEMORIAL FUND DRIVE IN RURAL SCHOOLS OF COUNTY

Five Cents Per Student Is Goal For Program

Five cents per student is the goal set by the county committee for students in Donley county for the Will Rogers Memorial Fund.

The county campaign centers around the schools, and it is believed that by securing a five-cent contribution from each student in the county, that a large portion of the citizens will be represented.

Although there has been no decision as to what form the memorial will take in the absence of exact knowledge of the amount of money that will be contributed, it has been definitely determined that it will not be spent for a monument of any kind. The wishes of Will Rogers as expressed by his life's habits of helping the needy, will be respected.

Every cent that is collected for the Memorial, will be sent to the national committee, which is headed

Oakley Becomes Owner Gulf Station on Kearney

Arthur Oakley has purchased the interests of Earl Ellis in the Gulf service station next to the Bain Cafe. He will operate it as an individual hereafter, employing such help as is necessary.

He stocks a full line of Gulf products in addition to washing and greasing and other auto service that might be had at a first-class station.

Memphis Cyclones Create Stampede

Playing in foggy, misty weather last Friday night, the Clarendon Bronchos went down to a 19-0 defeat handed them by the strong Memphis Cyclones. The Cyclones had the Bronchos outclassed in every department of the game, with the exception of punting. Cornell and Powell kept the Bronchos out of danger several times with long, well placed punts.

Memphis opened their scoring attack late in the first quarter. Powers crossed the goal line in the first and second quarters for the first two touchdowns. Adcock plunged over in the fourth for the last quarter of the game.

The Cyclones displayed the best blocking witnessed on the local gridiron this year. Their defensive playing stopped the hard charging Broncho backs for no gain.

Clarendon made 2 first downs and gained 52 yards from scrimmage while Memphis made 18 first downs and 352 yards from scrimmage.

Tree Planting on County Highways to Begin

George E. Hull, superintendent of the soil conservation service of the C. C. Camp at Memphis appeared before the county commissioners here Tuesday and obtained permission to plant trees on the county highways in the east portion of the county within the radius of the Camp.

The planting will be done without expense to the county. Men of the C C Camp will do the work this winter. Low places affording moisture during the drier portions of the summer are to be selected, Mr. Hull stated.

Dr. Jenkins Reappointed County Health Officer

The job or position of being a county health officer in a county of this size is 'wished' off on some physician of that good-natured type who will assume a responsibility not catered to by that profession.

Dr. O. L. Jenkins has served the county as health officer for some six years. Tuesday he was appointed all over again to a term to expire March 1, 1937. He was notified of his appointment after it was made without previous consultation.

ed by Vice President John N. Garner. Contributors have been assured that no deductions will be made from the fund for any expense other than for the actual Memorial.

The form of the Memorial will depend upon the number of friends who contribute. The number of contributors will of itself be a memorial to Will Rogers, and will be of as much importance as the amount contributed.

Either of the three banks in Clarendon, or the Security State Bank of Hedley or the Donley County Leader of Clarendon will accept contributions to the fund. The funds so collected will be forwarded to the national chairman without any deductions for services rendered.

A coupon appears on the front page of this issue of the Leader which may be used to identify the donor. Make all checks payable to either of the above named banks.

Hedley Gets New Justice Of The Peace

Meet his honor, Judge Penn C. Johnson. The county commissioners Tuesday appointed Mr. Johnson to fill the unexpired term of Judge L. A. Stroud who died recently.

Mr. Johnson was in that section before the woods burned. In fact he has his doubts about there ever being any woods at all. He saw Hedley begin and has been right along with the building ever since.

METHODISTS BEGIN THEIR 26TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE AT PLAINVIEW WEDNESDAY

Burglary Suspect Claims Some Record

Judge W. A. Davis set the bond of E. M. McCain, aged 20, at $2,000 Monday when he was held on a charge of having burglarized the Tom & Earl Cafe allegedly between 3 and 4 o'clock that morning.

The accused is said to have gone to the depot shortly after the time of the burglary, which was committed during the only hour the cafe is closed. Sheriff Pierce and Deputy Quisenberry appeared at the depot but caught only a glimpse of the accused as he sped away on foot. He outdistanced shots fired to stop him, and caught a truck to Claude where he was arrested.

He is said to have had in his possession about the same amount of money missed from the cafe, and some 'phony' jewelry and a few small diamonds. He first gave the name of Eagan Smith when he signed a confession for county attorney R. Y. King.

Tuesday the accused man informed Sheriff Pierce that he had done time in reformatories at Pauls Valley, Oklahoma and at Gatesville, as well as at Huntsville. He also told the Sheriff that he was wanted at Paris, Texas on a jewelry burglary. Finger prints are being checked by I. B. Pierce, who has charge of the local branch of the state identification bureau.

SOIL EROSION—FARMER'S WORST ENEMY.

"Seventy five percent of the farm land of the nation is in need of scientific treatment to curb soil erosion," is the damning indictment of the agricultural industry made by the experts who have been making an intensive study of this growing farm menace.

Some thirty five million acres of land formerly cultivated have been ruined by uncontrolled erosion, land which, if it had been saved, would be worth nearly two billion dollars! One hundred and twenty-five million additional acres have been denuded of their more productive top-soil, and as a result have depreciated in value to the extent of three billion dollars!

Such is the penalty paid by agriculture for the misuse of land, yet the destructive, wasteful process goes on.

Isn't it strange, that while we have spent vast sums of money for fertilizing the soil and for research and experiment in making it more productive, we have done little, until now, to save the soil itself?

But at last this all-important work has begun in earnest—and effectively. The projects under way in this area, with headquarters at Memphis, means a new day of security and prosperity for the entire section. Farmers who hasten to avail themselves of the services of the Soil Conservation Service officers here to help them, will be honored by their progeny for having built for future generations.

KEEPING SOIL VALUES AT HOME.

If the drought last year, and the subsequent dust storms, have succeeded in waking up the farmers of this area to the danger of soil erosion and the necessity of locking the barn door before all the horses are gone, it may eventually prove a blessing in disguise, despite the appalling losses suffered at the time.

While erosion prevention is by no means a local problem, it being said that the great Boulder Dam reservoir itself may not last twenty years if erosion on the Navajo Indian reservation cannot be checked, it is perhaps the greatest menace which now threatens the farmers of this section. Precise measurements have shown that from forty to sixty tons of fertile top soil per acre is now being lost each year on some farms right here. This constitutes a definite declaration of war between man and the forces of nature.

The methods of attack being used in this war are many and varied. In places grazing will have to be stopped and the land permitted to regain a covering of grass, clover, trees or shrubbery. Cultivation of steep slopes must be abandoned and trees planted. Contour plowing and terracing is being introduced—this means furrows around a hill instead of up and down, so that water will sink into the ground instead of washing it away. In gullies, check dams are being built to stop the washing.

Authorities declare that an average of 25 percent of the present cultivated areas will have to be abandoned at once. On many large areas, where the sub-soil has all washed away, it will take hundreds of years for nature to restore its fertility.

The experts declare that sub-soil farmers can never make a living regardless of whether prices are up or down. The problem is one which must be faced and solved.

The alternative is a continent that will resemble the Sahara Desert and a population writhing in the throes of famine more ghastly than those now known in the hinterlands of China.

not try and maybe some sorts you can be pretty sure about; but by trying, you can be really sure provided you do your part and here again your Extension Specialist can help you. Maybe you can grow grapes or berries or Keifer pears or jujubes. Jujubes and Keifer pears grow most anywhere and they are better than no fruit at all. If you are going to try peaches, and you may as well try for you have a chance to succeed in growing a few, you should use the Honey peach or some of the Honey strains for the warm winter belt of the Gulf coast and southern parts of the state. You can further your success by planting your orchard on broad high level terraces that do not let the water escape and yet keep the trees from suffering with "wet feet". I have noticed that most of the peach orchards in Parker county are set on big level terraces and they are very dependable bearers. I saw an orchard in that area where the tree rows ran up and down hill. It had no fruit to speak of, while orchards on either side with trees on the terraces were loaded with choice fruit. This is undoubtedly due to the moisture caught behind the terraces having been sufficient to keep the trees growing in the previous fall until frost drove them into dormancy. A peach tree cannot be expected to remain dormant for a month or so in the fall due to drought and for three months in the winter due to cold. The cold cannot be controlled but the moisture supply can be provided which will go far to assure a crop.

Get your county agent or vocational teacher to show you how to prune your trees and how to inter-plant and fertilize to advantage. Peaches grow on wood produced the previous season, so be sure to prune enough to stimulate growth for next season's crop. This is not true of plums. Plum trees are pruned only to keep the tree in the desired form. Grapes bear on wood produced in the spring from wood which grew in the preceding season. Learn to prune your grapes so as to have the proper amount of bearing branches. Pecans bear on the tips of the branches and pruning only decreases the amount of bearing wood. A good pruner provides branches at proper places to shade the trunk and scaffold branches and at the same time admit air and sunlight in proper degree. If fruit sets too heavily, you can thin it and increase the size of the fruits that remain.

Very good control of insect pests and diseases of fruit trees have been worked out and systems of spraying and other treatments can be learned from your county agent or A & M College bulletins.

Some Fruit on Every Farm

Everyone of the 500,000 farms in Texas ought to grow some fruit. There must undoubtedly be some sort of fruit than can grow on your farm or ranch. You may not be able to produce fruit at a profit on a commercial scale, but somewhere on your place at least a few fruit trees can find moisture enough or dry footing enough to grow and produce fruit for family use. All too many Texas farm people do not know the taste of cultivated fruits. If you are looking for a favorable place to grow fruit successfully, you will be told to find some nice sandy soils, well drained both as to water and as to air drainage, where the rainfall is adequate and regular; where the subsoil is permeable to roots; where nitrogenous fertilizers can be used successfully; and where cold weather is sufficient so that peach trees may have at least 800 hours below 45 degrees, so normal development and setting of fruit may follow at the proper season. Of course if you want to grow citrus fruits, you will look to southern Texas. If you want to grow apples you will look to north and northwest Texas. For figs you have to stay where the winters are not too severe, and so on down the line. But the conditions on your own land are the ones you must deal with for the home orchard or garden. If you are in the dryer sections, perhaps you can arrange to concentrate the runoff from each rainfall onto a plot large enough for your orchard and garden or you may be able to irrigate outright. If you are in the heavy rainfall belt, you can always find a plot that rains very well. So there is no excuse for your being without fruits wherever you are. If root rot destroys your trees, try again on a spot where the disease has not yet got a start. The worst infested soils have some spots yet free from the trouble. If you are in doubt as to sorts of fruit trees to try, ask the Extension Specialist. He will tell you the sorts you need

TEMPLE OF TRUTH By the Apostle

Speaking of weather forecasts, how about that long-handled underwear that Bill Greene advertised at bargain prices in our last issue?

We often wonder where the idea came from that men are led into temptation. Most of the men I ever knew who got in bad by following temptation, were not led into it. They deliberately hunted it up. And if they didn't know where to find it, they asked some one who did.

Just as a kind of vocal dessert, the Legislature proposes an investigation of J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture. He has been looked over, looked through and passed on more than once. Some times it looks like a racket to give political pets jobs as clerks, stenographers or umpires.

Dallas fears a diphtheria epidemic because five have died from that disease within three months. During the same time, 23 have been killed by autos making 108 since January 1st. But they don't seem to fear an auto epidemic.

The one irrefutable evidence of old age comes when one can find more acquaintances in a cemetery than he can meet on the street.

Charley Duval of Oxford, Nebraska is a wheel chair merchant. He buys and sells old coins since he is not able to do anything else. See his advertisement in the classified column. He may be able to help you make some easy money.

About the time when we think we "have the world by the tail and a down-hill pull," we are ready for a crude awakening. Here is an item in the Groom News that is hard to match:

"Last week while hauling a truck load of cattle Geo. Boomer happened to have an unusual accident. One cow happened to get down and cross wise in the truck. Geo. reached his hand through the slats and caught the cow by the tail. He braced himself and with all his might and main gave a hard pull. The cow's tail gave way and George got a fall which resulted in him breaking three ribs."

The old saying that there "is good in all things" is hard to see in some instances. For instance, bald heads. Now the "G" men tell us that it is much easier to catch a man who has hair on his head.

Old timers in the southwest spoke of their best friend as a "comphatery." When he saw his comphatery weller 'round the corner, it meant nothing more than he saw his friend coming around the corner of a pasture, perhaps.

Uncle Sam is now buying lip-stick and paint for the folks who are to put on shows in the rural sections this winter. This sounds like a joke, but it is really a fact.

Fashion Note: Adapting another of the Indian's war paint ideas, women in the east are wearing miniature plumes as artificial eyebrows, we learn from a leading fashion sheet. Artificial eyebrows are now manufactured in all color and shades, we read in this enlightening journal. They consist of real hair, in some instances, mounted on invisible tape and come in pairs with a vial of glue to fasten them on. Hot dog! The article closes by spilling the information that "penciling, shaving and plucking these forehead decorations is out of date for the stylishly dressed woman." This may be where the family cat will get a break, if possessed of deep coloring.

While rained in at Amarillo in June of 1902, we had cowpuncher camp headquarters near a lake formed by the Rock Island dump about where the 6th Street underpass is now. A widow with a flock of youngsters was camped near there and our cook had donated food several times since they had been deserted by the head of the family—yes back in 1902. I walked down town and who should I meet but Rev. Sebe Thomas, an evangelist who was conducting a Baptist revival there. I told Sebe about the family and he got his members on the job and they had plenty of food down there in less than an hour. There never was a better man than Sebe Thomas, a better preacher, or one who could get things done so quickly. And Amarillo folks took care of the unfortunate then as they do now. As I recall it, Ray Wheatly was one of the leading business men on the charity committees at that time.

ASHTOLA SCHOOL NEWS

One more year and we were lucky, having had to close school for only three weeks. At this writing practically every one is back in school and all settled down to hard work. At this early date we are looking forward to the Texas Centennial and the county school fair.

Ashtola is proud to report that its teachers are members of the Texas State Teachers Association 100%, with one membership in the National Education Association.

At this writing Mr. and Mrs. Dillard and probably one or two more teachers of the Ashtola School will go to the Texas State Teachers Association that meets at San Antonio the last of this month. "The Night Owl" a three act mystery play and a very popular and successful play has been chosen as the senior play.

Miss Inetha Collier, H. W. Lovell and Willard Cook have been selected as representatives to the Religious Conference at West Texas State Teachers Conference, December 12th. They will be accompanied to this conference by Mr. Dillard, and will stay for all the meetings.

We are more than glad to report the enrollment of Miss Juanita Beavers formerly of Amarillo who is a student in the eighth grade. Prospects are also looking up in the probable enrollment of some five or six additional students.

We are planning to have a community gathering the day that Mr. Wilson comes to grade our school. We expect to have a program and dinner served in the basement, and we more than urge that every mother and father be present and bring a visitor or friend.

Halloween Night Ashtola High School presented a three act play entitled "The Boss of the Powderhorn." The play was well attended and the characters acted their parts well. The play netted $22.85.

Ashtola moved a little closer to a perfect score card, in their efforts to become a standardized school; by the purchase of some nine beautiful pictures. The pictures were beautifully framed, part of them being in colors. The list of pictures contained the following titles: "Distinguished Member of a Humane Society" by Landseer, "Feeding the Birds" by Millet, "The Gleaners" by Millet, "Return to the Farm" by Triyon, "Stratford on Avon", "Dance of the Nymphs", by Corot, "The Lake", by Corot, and "Evening," by Dupre. These pictures were supplemented by several pictures of famous Americans.

The Negro Minstrel which is to be presented at Ashtola about Nov. 29th is well under way. Mr. Dillard reports that the characters are well suited to their parts and the voices are well above the average. It is his desire that this program be the finest thing ever presented in Ashtola, and in an attempt to bring this about he has secured permission to use parts of the famous Sunshine Minstrel by the payment of a small Royalty. The show will be made up along the latest lines and will afford some three hours of the most hilarious entertainment that it has ever been your good fortune to witness. The proceeds of this show will be used to help pay for the hot lunch equipment that is being bought for the school.

We want to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Merrell for the generous donation of her time, in which she secured advertisements from Ashtola and Clarendon merchants, which enables us to have at this time 100 new song books. Not only do we thank her but we wish to thank those that were so kind to advertise.

The following books, magazines and newspapers make their appearance in our library each day, and from the looks of these periodicals they are thoroughly enjoyed. The Amarillo Daily News, The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Readers Digest, American Magazine, The Instructor, Child Life, Hygeia and National Geographic. These subscriptions have been paid for out of program that we have put on with the exception of three which are subscribed for by the teachers.

 Why we exist as a separate body.

Article I.
 "Thus saith the Lord, Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls." Jer. 6:16."

The fact that a house of worship is erected for the permanent location therein of the congregation, for whose purposes and uses it has been erected very naturally suggests an inquiry into the aims and the purposes of that body of people. No doubt, to the mind of many, the presence of several church buildings in our own city, suggests that a divided state of affairs exists among those who by every reason should be together in one, harmonious unit. The questions quite naturally arise—"Why are we divided?" "What caused the division?" These questions demand attention, and should be supported with an answer by all professed bodies of Christendom. The Church of Christ exists separate and apart from all other religious bodies, therefore it is pertinent to demand of us what right do we have for having come into existence, and what right do we have now to be maintaining that existence. I think that I can safely affirm that no religious body has a right to exist whose aims and methods have not the approval of God, and that no company of persons have a right to organize themselves into separate religious body, what ever their aims may be, who can successfully prosecute those aims within the bosom of a church already existing. What then, is our aim as a people known as the Church of Christ? What necessity is laid upon us to prosecute this aim? and why, in the prosecution of it, do we maintain a separate existence as a church? To answer these questions is the task, if it be indeed a task, which I have assigned to myself on behalf of the Church which I represent in Clarendon, Texas. Comments or criticisms will be appreciated from any source and in any manner during the time in which these articles are being published. Things said herein, and allusions made of others, are not to evoke any unpleasantities, but on the contrary are to focus our attention on the lamentable situation of division, which to remedy is my chief desire.

ing the first five months transportation in Donley County, will be in the mail soon. The Supreme Court—Our National Umpire

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
 Sentinels of the Republic

Picture a sand-lot baseball diamond on the outskirts of any American town. . . .

The home team is at bat—and going strong! An exciting play occurs. In an effort to stretch a three-bagger into a home run, a player runs wide of the line. "You're out," cries the umpire.

There is a moment of stunned silence. Then the home-team players break into loud recrimination. "Throw out the umpire," they shout.

But the spectators—a typical American crowd—boo the disgruntled players down. Out of the clamor arises a clear voice. "The umpire," it announces, "is here to see that the game is played according to the rules that have made it a success. If he didn't perform that duty, the game couldn't last. If he interpreted the rules to meet every player's whim, baseball would no longer be the orderly American game that we love. It would degenerate into a disorganized and un-American free-for-all. So let's keep the umpire and play the game according to the rules that have demonstrated their value and utility."

Broaden that picture a bit, and you get a rough analogy to something that's happening in the American political scene today. Certain lawmakers and their followers are annoyed because the Supreme Court has pointed out that some of their impractical measures violate the body of rules under which our government operates—the United States Constitution. They fear that still other measures will suffer the same fate. So they want to weaken the authority of the Court as our official interpreter of the rules.

They are shouting, "Throw out the umpire!" Will they succeed? That's up to the people. No change so drastic in effect could be consummated without the consent of the voters. Fortunately, a nation-wide reaction has shown the popular attitude.

The people are determined to retain a National Umpire who will hold lawmakers to the rules which made us a great, successful nation offering liberty and opportunity to all.

Give God a chance in your life by letting him develop the talents that you possess. It is a great sin not to be what you can and ought to be to the world. Only God can bring out the best there is in any life. No great christian was ever developed by absenting himself from the services of his church. Suppose we follow your course and let the church die; what organization will take its place? If you want your town to grow bigger, you must help it to grow better. No better way has been found to do that than being loyal to your church. The church is doing everything possible to make future citizens of the kind you admire. She also helps the young to acquire a moral background on which to build for future success. Are you helping your church? The church aids in the protection of your home and the moral tone of your community, and stabilizes the life of the state and nation. Are you helping your church in this worthy undertaking?

Regular services Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist Church. We will be delighted to have you attend.

DEMAND OF MOVIEGOERS BRINGS BACK NORMA SHEARER IN "SMILIN' THROUGH"

Letters From Public Have Persuaded Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Once More to Present Miss Shearer's Triumphant Film Classic in Which Star Shares Honors With Fredric March and Leslie Howard

A deluge of letters from the public has persuaded Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer once more to present Norma Shearer's immortal dramatic triumph, "Smilin' Through," hailed by critics and public alike as one of the greatest photoplays ever made. The return engagement of this film classic, which has such stellar personalities as Fredric March and Leslie Howard sharing honors with Miss Shearer, comes to the Pastime Theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 17-18th.

Star Plays Dual Role
It is in "Smilin' Through" that the striking Miss Shearer plays a dual role, a feat which duplicates that of Jane Cowl who starred in the original New York stage production. Miss Shearer portrays both the tragic Moonyeen in the hoop-skirted Victorian sequences and Kathleen Sheridan in the modern scenes around which the happier romance of the tale centers.

It is Miss Shearer's second venture into the unusual in drama. Her previous departure was in "Strange Interlude," in which she had the singular experience of both speaking and hearing her silent thoughts expressed audibly.

In the speaking screen version of "Smilin' Through," Miss Shearer has an advantage which Jane Cowl was not permitted in the stage production. First as the intended bride and then as the ward of Sir John Cartaret, the role which Leslie Howard plays, Miss Shearer is able to return in fantasy to the mind of her brooding lover—in which moments of reverie she appears twice in a single scene.

Thus, although the story covers a fifty years' elapse of time, during which Leslie Howard grows from youth to white-haired old age, Miss Shearer remains youthful throughout. It is, the star concedes, her severest dramatic test to date, not excepting her difficult role in "Strange Interlude."

Fredric March and Leslie Howard, as heads of her dramatic cast, also have unusual trials in characterization. March, like Miss Shearer, has two roles in the story. In the beginning he is Jeremy Wayne, rival of Leslie Howard for the hand of Moonyeen. Later he portrays the son of Jeremy Wayne, returning to England at the time the country is preparing to enter the World War.

Covers Three Ages
Of the three principals Leslie Howard alone retains a single identity. But his role is no less intricate, for it requires a transition covering three distinct ages.

The present cast is one of the finest to reach the screen. In addition to those mentioned above it includes O. P. Heggie, Ralph Forbes, Beryl Mercer, David Torrance, Margaret Seddon and Forrester Harvey.

Miss Ruth Hartzog visited in Shamrock over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thell Drennan of Vernon visited relatives at Ashtola over Sunday. Mrs. Drennan remained to visit with her mother, Mrs. M. S. Swinburne.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lamb and daughter Brownie of Hedley were accompanied to Amarillo Wednesday by Mrs. Ed Duncan.

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

"The Christian's Devotional Life."

"Grow in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." II Pet. 3:18.

A living thing ought to grow. A Christian is a living witness of Jesus Christ and should grow. No growth, no life is the rule. Growth in grace does not come suddenly; it is gradual. It is a progressive development. One of its foundations is knowledge. It is as we grow in the knowledge of Christ and in acquaintance with him that we grow in likeness to him. And it ought to be constant—this growth in grace. This will come only through attention to the means of grace, the private acts of devotion, the public worship in God's house, and through Christian activity. How are we to grow? How are we to make progress in the Christian life?

I. Aim to do something toward that end every day. The mistake we are liable to make is that of general resolutions toward good, without the carrying them out in any particular direction.

II. Remember that your dependence is on the Holy Spirit; therefore pray much. Make personal effort as if all depended upon you, at the same time pray as if all depended upon God.

III. Study the Bible. Take time to study. Take time to meditate upon it and its great truths. Sit at Jesus' feet and learn of Him. The Bible contains all the information that you need to show you the way to please God and to eternal life. The Bible only will make Christians only. We must learn to accept and obey its truths. We should spend more time reading and studying these truths than we do in reading and thinking on the works of men and what they have to say about the Bible. Take time out daily for Bible study.

IV. Practice self-denial every day. Be watchful against conformity to the world. Do not give up to appetites and passions. Be not self-centered and unteachable. Resolve to do more work, give more, and to love more. Desire the salvation of others and God's glory.

WALKING WITH CHILDREN

I like to walk with children, for there's wonder in their eyes. And every little incident is lovely with surprise. They're always finding beauty in some unexpected spot. And nothing seems to bore them as they go at double trot; But the grown-up men and women are so burdened down with care

They walk right by the splendours that are shining everywhere.

I like to go with twelve-year-olds and watch them race about.

And hear their shouts of gladness as they ferrit marvels out.

They seem to find excitement and enchantment all the way.

As if this big and busy world were fashioned just for play;

But the grown-up men and women know so much at which to scoff.

You'd think the shine of loveliness had all been grated off. I think there ought to be a law compelling every man.

To walk with children once a day, as often as he can.

'Twould do him good to see once more the countless charms they find;

'Twould rid of hate and prejudice his overburdened mind.

In spite of all the care he's known and wrongs he's had to bear,

The little folks would prove to him that joy is everywhere.

—Edgar A. Guest.

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING TEXAS HISTORY IN AN EARLY EXCITING EPOCH

Letters of Andrew Nelson Erskine to his wife, written from along the road and from the battlefields of the South as he fought in the Fourth Texas Regiment in the War for Southern Independence, are filled with a deep and abiding love for his family—his wife and three little boys, his father, who died while he was at war, and his brother, Alexander (Zan), and his nephew, Erskine Miller. But his letters are not confined to the personal. They give a vivid and awesome picture of the trials of war: Long forced marches; slow movements along sluggish streams with Federal gun boats plying the current sickness; inadequate and expensive rations; death and mutilation. These letters are now deposited in the University of Texas Library, in the family archives collection.

Excerpts taken from these letters reveal the Civil War as Erskine saw it until the time of his death in the Battle of Sharpsburg, September 17, 1862, a battle which ended a valient military career.

From a Mr. Cottingham's on the Quachita River, 120 miles below Monroe, La., on May 23, 1862, he wrote:

"On Tuesday morning we bout skiffs and started down the Ouachita ten of us in number. We saw at Monroe several soldiers, who had just returned by way of Vicksburg, who reported that route almost impracticable, in consequence of the railroad being over flowed, a great part of the way, and our having to go in skiffs across the country about 60 or 70 miles. From all the information we could get, we concluded to try this route, and embarked in our skiffs Tuesday morning, expecting to get to the mouth of the river 200 miles by water, in two or three days. We have been out now three days, and it will take us two more days to get down. We stopped here last night and are detained now by rains, the first rain on us since we left Columbus, Texas. It has been very dry here for five or six weeks and the crops were wanting rain very much. It is now 10 o'clock and still raining and I am afraid we will have to stay here all day. We find skiff navigation neither the easiest or fastest mode of travel. We run a half hour each and make about 4 miles an hour. This is certainly the crookest river I ever saw, in one place we went around a bend 12 miles round and only 1 mile across. Another bend 20 miles around and only 6 miles across. We can beat the boat badly on foot. Yesterday, I walked 8 miles and waited at two houses some time for the boat. This river is very high and all over the low lands. Many of the farms are under water. Between where we are now and the Mississippi, a distance of near 50 miles, there is no dry lands. The Mississippi is higher than it has been for many years, and all the tributaries."

From camp near Richmond, about July 15, 1862, he wrote in part:

"The general health of the army is better now I think than it has been, but still our hospitals and sick camps are pretty full. Every body gave up poor John Young, and thought he was bound to die but strange to say he is now getting much better. His wound did seem to be a severe one, being in the calf of the leg; but it became very painful and swelled up dreadfully and turned perfectly black and every one that saw it, said it was mortified, and the only way his life could be saved was to cut off his leg. The flesh is now coming off of the leg and new flesh is growing on. It is the opinion of the physicians that he was shot with a poisoned ball. Sam Fennel is pretty bad off, but I think he will get well. Gordon, the two Greens, the two Dimmitts, and all the other boys that were wounded are doing well. None of the wounded of our Company except poor Riech died from their wounds. One young man that came on from Houston with me died in hospital the other day with fever. He was taken sick in a few days after he got to Richmond, both of the young Kings are sick at the hospital at Petersburg. All three of these young men had the measles in Texas, which left their systems in a condition to contract disease.

"I reckon you have plenty of vegetables and roasting ears and melons by this time. The corn here is not more than wait high, only a few early potatoes are to be had and a few tomatoes. You can buy in town some very small apples for a bit a piece. Sugar here is 80 cents per pound, bacon 65 cents, beef $4 per hundred pounds. Shoes are worth from $10 to $15 per pair, boots $30."

A few days later another letter read in part:

"There is in Richmond a charity hospital, kept by the sisters called 'St. Francis De Sale' which has been open to sick and wounded soldiers, and particularly to Texas soldiers. They have made a proposition to the officers of our Regiment, that they will fit up an old building at a cost of about $300 that we shall have the exclusive use of it, and that they will admit as many of our soldiers in the main building as they have room for, and they will attend to all of our sick and wounded. No soldier who has ever been fortunate enough to have been admitted in this hospital, but speaks in the highest terms of the kindness and untiring attention of these sisters, who are devoting their time and lives to alleviate the suffering of the poor soldiers, and when any of our Regiment get sick they ask at once to be sent to the 'St. Francis De Sale.' We are all delighted at the proposition, and hope our officers will not hesitate to accept the proposition and appropriate the amount of money required. Thank God I have been in good health for the last two weeks and hope that I will have no need of hospitals or doctors. The health of our Regiment is getting much better than it has been. The vegetable diet that the men live on here is conducive to their health. There is but little fruit in the market and that sells at tremendous prices, very small peaches $1 per dozen, other fruits as high. One reason I want to get away from Richmond; we are extorted upon so much and are made to pay, two or three times as much for vegetable and fruits, as we could get it for a short distance in the country."

On July 20, 1862, a portion of his letter again referred to the difficulties of obtaining good food stuffs:

"How much I miss the good food fee I use to get at home, and would cheerfully pay one dollar for so much like it as I could drink. We get no coffee now, except what we buy and we have to pay two dollars and a half a pound. I have done without most of the time. We got some ground coffee from the Yankees in the fight. Ed Duggan and myself bought 4 pounds of a coffee about a week ago which cost us $10. We paid 30 cents a quart for Irish potatoes, $1 a dozen for tomatoes, and $1 for a head of cabbage, 50 cents for a little blackberry pie, and everything in the eating and wearing line of the most outrageous prices I have heard of. We can't pay these prices long at $11 a month. I can't buy much myself, but I must have some coffee if my head hurts me often this way. I have $45 yet and will draw $45 or $50 tomorrow, for two months pay and commutation for 6 months clothing. I will be able to get along very well on my pay, if I don't get sick, and have to buy many things to eat at the prices we have to pay here."

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this—and see that you get what you want.

IMPROVEMENT ON 88 BEGINS SOON

Grade and drainage on Highway 88 south from Clarendon to Turkey looks to be a step nearer, with information from the office of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in Ft. Worth.

It is said that the project is now in that office after having been approved by the PWA officials.

The highway once under state supervision, was turned back to correct a legal technicality so that the federal bureau could prosecute the work under the PWA. Just when work is to begin, remains a question as to how much red tape must be waded through.

Little Miss Betty Rose Heironimus of McLean is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Odos Caraway.

Mrs. J. N. Eddins, who has been a house guest of Mrs. W. D. Van Eaton for a week, left for her home at San Antonio Wednesday. Will Martin of Amarillo visited them Tuesday.

TRANSIENT CAMP ASSUMED BY PWA

The transient camp at Clarendon as well as others over the nation, has been assumed by the Public Works Administration. Instead of a dollar a week, the same men will be paid twenty-one dollars a month it is stated.

The Works Progress Administration will assume the relief offices perhaps by the end of the month, it is learned on good authority. Direct relief for those unable to work, may be supplied out of the sale of the remaining state bonds of the seven and a half million dollar issue of some months ago, it is said.

At this time there are thirteen unemployed in the county who are unable to work, according to records of the local relief office. This number is now on direct relief. The case load November 1st was 109.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Stanley and son of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bell of Estelline and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Moreman of Hedley visited Mrs. Eula Cox Sunday.

Chevrolet Demand Shows Big Increase Last Month

Production of Chevrolet cars and trucks during October totalled 69,128 units, an increase of nearly 23 per cent over October, 1934, officials of the Chevrolet Motor Co. announced today. This figure is more than 9,000 units above the anticipated output for the month, and is the highest initial month's production of any new model in several years.

As a result of the quick start on its 1936 production, Chevrolet had some 60,000 cars in the hands of its dealers throughout the country when the new line was announced Nov. 2. This assured every dealer not only of cars for display purposes, but of additional units for immediate delivery.

The 25 Chevrolet manufacturing and assembly plants, strategically located in all parts of the United States, will be operating at capacity for weeks, and probably well into 1936, according to factory advisers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Naylor, Miss Jessie Cook and Miss Vada Waldron were week end visitors in Hereford.

Public Meeting City Council Next Monday Night

Next Monday evening at 7:30 the official family of the City of Clarendon will hold an open session to which are invited all tax-paying citizens who may want to offer suggestions or friendly criticism.

It is believed that frank discussions of the problems that confront the City at this time will be of lasting benefit to all parties concerned. At any rate, you have this opportunity to be heard, and those in authority assure you of a most respectful hearing. If you have a word of praise for those who have been managing your affairs, that too, will no doubt be doubly appreciated.

Soil Erosion Broadcast Saturday Morning

Farmers in this region interested in soil conservation methods, and results which may be accomplished by them, will have an opportunity to hear them explained Saturday morning at 6:30, by tuning in on station KGNC, Amarillo, according to an announcement just received.

F. O. Masten, prominent Collingsworth county farmer, in a thirty minute dialogue with John O. Stovall, county agent, will explain the methods he used in building up an unprofitable section in 12 years to a point where he is now getting a bale to the acre yield, the announcement stated.

George E. Hull, project superintendent of the soil conservation service says that the methods used by Mr. Masten are substantially the same as those advocated by his department, but that the Collingsworth county man has inaugurated some novel experiments which have proven successful.

Son of Widow is Missing From Near Hedley

It was last Wednesday that James Morrison, aged twelve, left the home of his widowed mother near Hedley and started to the whale show at Memphis over her protests.

He has not returned and the distracted mother can find no trace of him. Sheriff Pierce has had the description of the lad radioed over Station KGNC twice.

The lad weighs about 70, is a blond with a slim face and a nose out of shape from being broken. He was dressed in blue shirt and blue overalls when last seen. Any one knowing his whereabouts should notify Sheriff Pierce at Clarendon, and thus do the mother an everlasting favor.

Cotton Producers Receive Certificates

Approximately 3,000,000 cotton sales certificates have been distributed in Texas to Extension Service county agricultural agents' offices.

According to F. E. Lichte, assistant chairman of the State Allotment Board at College Station, the county agricultural agents are busy identifying these sales certificates with Bankhead allotments on the cotton crop of 1935.

Cotton adjustment payments are figured as the difference between the average price of the 10 spot markets on the date of sale and 12 cents. The check will be made to the producer who made the Bankhead application and he in turn will distribute tenant and cropper their share.

Lichte said that many producers were asking that, if they put their cotton in a 10 cent loan, would they get their cotton adjustment payment. He explained that producers would receive payments as claimed on cotton sold prior to July 31, 1936.

"If a producer doesn't clear his loan and it runs beyond July 31, 1936, he will receive payment on quotation of July 31, 1936, and will be paid the amount of claim less carrying charges," Lichte further explained.

After November 8, 1935, all sales certificates must be filed in the county agricultural agent's office within seven days from the date of sale.

As a note of interest, the Assistant Chairman of the State Allotment Board said that approximately 500,000 second rental cotton checks have been received in Texas.

J. H. Clark, who has been ill for some time, continues to show a marked improvement.

CURED OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS:

This is to certify that I took my little boy to Dr. H. H. Milling for infantile paralysis. The child was so limber that he could not hold his head up and his eyes crossed. It did not take Dr. Milling long before he had him walking and he also straightened his eyes. Dr. Milling cured my boy sound and well. At present it is impossible to tell there was ever anything wrong with the child. Would advise everyone to go to Dr. Milling and be cured.
