

THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle
GREAT IDEA!
You don't want your son or brother to be left out of the collection of photos that will appear in the Memory Book soon to be issued from your Donley County Leader office. Of course you don't. And you will see that all of the girls in the service from this county get their pictures in that book, too. Sure you will. Just been looking over that fine collection most every day. A large bunch of photos are being sent out almost daily to the company making the cuts from which the pictures will be printed. Remember, this costs you nothing. But if you fail to get the picture of that relative in the collection, you will be haunted the remainder of your life. Let's give all the service folks a square deal. If you know of some one who is likely to be overlooked, or who does not have relatives to see after getting the picture to the Leader, kindly do that yourself. The other party would do that much for you any old time.

This book that may be had for the measly little sum of only one dollar a copy, will be selling for from five to twenty-five dollars a copy five years from now. But there can't be any reprints. The pictures will be scattered over several counties in Texas, and likely several states within five years. The deadline is getting near. The task is great to assemble and get this job over. Act now.

Get that picture to the Leader office. If you want one or a dozen books, place your order right now. Many individuals are buying several of the books.

AMENTS HAVE GARDEN PARTY

The Missionary Society of the First Christian Church met at the parsonage on Wednesday, August Fourth, with Rev. and Mrs. L. Guy Ament as host and hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Jacobus. The meeting was held at five o'clock in the afternoon in the outdoor living room on the lawn.

The theme for the missionary worship for August was "Unity of Action in Christ—the spirit of brotherhood." The lesson was conducted under the capable leadership of Mrs. F. A. White.

The following members were present: Mrs. J. R. Tucker, Mrs. G. A. Anderson, Mrs. O. D. Leisburg, Mrs. Roy Clappitt, Mrs. C. T. McClenney, Mrs. Guy Shelley, Mrs. W. T. Hayter, Miss Gladys Wright, Mrs. F. A. White, the host and the hostess.

Immediately after the business meeting and the program, Mrs. Shelley asked Rev. and Mrs. Ament to be seated at the speaker's table. A large surprise package was presented to the couple by Mrs. McClenney. The Aments were to celebrate their forty-ninth wedding anniversary the following Friday, and the Society took that opportunity to present them with an anniversary gift.

The package was beautifully wrapped in white tissue and tied with white and lavender metallic ribbon, and contained a large crystal bowl with design and border applied in twenty-two karat gold. Mrs. Ament in her gracious manner, presided at the punch bowl. Cake and cookies were served to the guests by Miss Gladys Wright.

The meeting was concluded after the group had made a tour of the grounds that included the flowers, newly planted shrubs, Victory Garden and a very nice flock of white Leghorn chickens. The Aments are to be commended on the enormous amount of varied physical improvements that have been added during the few months they have occupied the parsonage.

that cost the life of her Flying Tiger husband, Auxiliary Virginia Brook of 1643 Melvina Avenue, Chicago, will strive to do her part by recruiting more Waacs to send enlisted men from desk jobs to the front. ## THE SHANGRI-LA

The United States Navy, instigated and abetted by that lover of naval lore, Franklin D. Roosevelt, is about to break a tradition. There are fairly strict rules for labeling ships of war: a battleship is called after a State, a heavy cruiser rates a big city, a light cruiser a small city, a destroyer honors some naval hero or some distinguished friend of the Navy, and a submarine takes the name of a fish or some animal that is at home in the water. Aircraft carriers enjoy more freedom, for they can be named after early fighting ships of our Navy or after battles. Thus the Saratoga, the Bonhomme Richard, the Kearsarge. But until now no ship has been named after an imaginary place, the creation of a story-teller's dream.

One is going to be so entitled. It is, of course, the Shangri-La. In a moment of inspiration President Roosevelt told the reporters that the planes which bombed Tokyo took off from this never-never land of James Hilton's invention. Actually their starting point was the rolling deck of the Hornet, later lost in the Midway fight. So the new aircraft carrier, for which we are all being asked to buy an extra dollar's worth of war savings stamps this month, will bestow a triple honor: on Mr. Hilton's bold imagination, on the lost Hornet and on the men who carried out what was probably the most spectacular air raid of history.

Subscriptions for the Shangri-La are now well past the half-way mark. We are promised that her planes will take part in another attack on Tokyo—exact date withheld for reasons of security. Those who haven't contributed their dollars should do so at once. We don't wish to keep the Japanese waiting.—The New York Times.

Home Repairs to $200 Made Without Permit

If your home needs repairs, you can make them without authorization, under WPB's Construction Conservation Order L-41, provided they are necessary and do not change the structural design of the property. The work must not exceed $200 or involve the purchase of critical materials.

Pointing out that wartime restrictions on building new houses permits new construction only for war workers in certain areas, Federal Housing Commissioner Abner H. Ferguson recently said: "In view of these necessary restrictions, it is all the more imperative that the present supply of homes be kept in adequate repair, conforming to decent standards of health and sanitation. For the great majority of American families," Mr. Ferguson said, "these properties represent the only supply of housing that will be available for the duration of the war."

Must Conserve Materials

Because critical materials must be conserved for direct war production purposes, new home building is restricted to war industry areas, and there only in such numbers as is absolutely necessary to meet the housing needs of essential workers.

Loans to maintain present home properties in sound condition will be insured by the Federal Housing Administration under Title I. These repairs must be necessary for sanitation or health, or for preventing decay and deterioration. Luxury repairs or improvements that are designed merely to beautify or enlarge a home without providing additional living units are not approved.

FHA Loans Finance Repairs

Loans to finance essential repairs under FHA's Title I program are available in amounts up to $2,500 for approved private lending institutions. These loans are

THE Canadian-built and Canadian-guarded outpost at Goose Bay, Labrador, is one of the world's largest and most important air bases. From this vital field, the Royal Canadian Air Force, with the cooperation of the United Nations Air Forces, deliver the necessary ships to embattled Britain. While these "Flying Forts" are being serviced, as shown above, previous to their take-off, Canadian soldiers carefully stand guard by them. Cotton Organizations To Launch Program to Relieve Cotton Shortage

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 10—Presidents of state, regional and national cotton organizations will come to Memphis on August 16, to launch an intensive program to relieve critical shortages in the supply of high grade cotton for war purposes. Officials representing all six branches of the industry in fifteen states have been called in by Oscar Johnston, president of the National Cotton Council, in response to an appeal by War Food Administrator Marvin Jones for cooperation in obtaining a greater percentage of high grade cotton from the 1943 crop. "The decline in grade is startling," said Mr. Jones in a letter received by Mr. Johnston this morning. "The average grade of the last two cotton crops was the lowest on record. Use of lower grades in many cases would not only reduce production but affect the quality of vital war goods. We should do all we can to prevent that. Staple length and variety are important factors in the general problem of quality, but nothing can be done about these factors this season. It is possible, however, to do something about improving the grade of this year's crop." Mr. Jones pointed out that the supply of strict middling and better grades amounted to 37.7 per cent of the total crop for the five years preceding 1932. In the next five years it was 26.7 per cent, and by 1939 had dropped to 17.7. During the 1940-41 season it went to 13.8 per cent, the next year to 11.6, and last year to an all-time low of 8.5 per cent. "It is going to take superhuman effort to reverse such a trend during a year when labor is short, both in the field and at the gin," said Mr. Johnston, "but we are going to make just that sort of effort. The Army depends upon the cotton crop for more than eleven thousand different products of lint alone, not including the chemical products of linters, the food products of cottonseed oil, and the tremendous amounts of livestock feed derived from meal and hulls. The entire industry will respond immediately and wholeheartedly to Mr. Jones' request. Already our preparations for active cooperation are under way."

The Army's radio photo service, which made it possible for the public to see newspaper pictures of the assault on Sicily on the same day that the invasion was launched, will be augmented in the immediate future by the same type of transmission from the South Pacific theater, the War Department has announced. Personnel of the U. S. Army Signal Corps, with their equipment, are now in Australia, finishing preparations for the new service.

Old-Age Insurance Benefits Explained

In answer to numerous inquiries from young war workers who have entered covered employment during the last two years, Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Board field office, cited the following benefits which are payable under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance programs in a statement to this newspaper:
1. Primary benefits—Payable to workers upon retirement at age 65 and based upon average monthly wage.
2. Wife's benefits—Payable to a wife over age 65 of a retired worker and equal to one-half his benefit.
3. Child's benefit—Payable to children under 18, or 16 if not in school, of a retired worker or of a deceased worker and amounts to one-half of his benefit.
4. Widow's benefits—Payable to widow over age 65 of a deceased worker and amount to three-fourths of his benefits.
5. Widow's current benefits—Payable to widow of any age of deceased wage earner with child under 18 in her care and amounts to three-fourths of his benefits.
6. Parent's benefits—Payable to parent who was wholly dependent upon deceased worker if no widow survives, or if no child who would be eligible upon filing for benefit survives; payment equal to one-half of the wage earner's benefits. Lump-sum payments are paid to a widow, child, or parent of a deceased wage earner where no monthly benefits are payable. The single lump-sum payment amounts to six times the monthly benefit. Where no such relative survives, payments to reimburse funeral expenses in an amount not to exceed the total payment may be made to the individual who paid the costs of burial. The total monthly benefits that may be paid on one worker's account may not be less than $10 a month nor more than twice the primary benefit, or 80 percent of the worker's average wage, or $85, whichever is the least.

Before leaving for Hollywood and a probable movie career, pretty Elsie Roberts, National Bond Queen and University of Houston coed, did her part for the Texas Deposit Bottle Round-Up. Dressed in typical Texas costume, Elsie loaded into a basket all the milk, carbonated beverage and beer bottles in her home, mounted the beautiful Palomino horse, on which she is pictured, and rode to her beverage dealer. "Keeping deposit bottles working is not only a patriotic duty," Miss Roberts said, "but I'll get my deposits back which can be invested in War Stamps."

Red Cross Feeds Many Livestock Flood Refugees

All hands "Turned to", during the recent floods which devastated millions of acres of farm lands in the midwestern states, and thousands of valuable livestock were saved. The U. S. Coast Guard rescued many animals in barges towed by U. S. Army amphibian jeeps. The Coast Guard provided

FILIPINO FIGHTING SPIRIT, immortalized on Bataan, now sails the seven seas. These photos, released by the U. S. Navy, show the officers and men of a Philippine merchant ship which, since Pearl Harbor, has carried war materials for the United Nations through 160,000 miles of sub-infested waters in the Atlantic and Pacific. Above, the flag of the Philippine Commonwealth flies beside the Stars and Stripes, symbolizing the cooperation between the two nations and the fighting spirit of the Filipino people, 20,000 of whom fought and fell on Bataan and other Philippine battlefields. In the best United Nations tradition, Filipino officers and men share their Australian mascot (upper left) with a U. S. Navy gun crew, who sail with the ship. Filipino gunners take their turn (lower left) during the weary 24-hour vigils when Axis submarines are on the prowl for the ship and its precious war cargo. Although only three ships remain of the Philippine merchant fleet, motto of the 44 officers and men of this one is—SEE YOU IN MANILA.

many boats for use of the American Red Cross to feed livestock marooned on high places in the flood areas. The American Red Cross not only fed animals, but provided food for families which had been evacuated, and whose feed stores were destroyed. The same agency also provided many "shots" of serum for animals, which held disease among the livestock to a minimum, with no epidemic even threatened. Feeding corrals throughout the midwest were obtained for emergency feeding of rescued animals, and grazing lands of the U. S. Forestry Service, opened up thousands of acres of forestry reserve as grazing lands for animal refugees.

Feed For Thousands
Among reports coming into National Headquarters of the American Red Cross are such as those received from Arkansas; 850 families were given feed orders for 5,000 head of livestock and 30,000 poultry; from Oklahoma came the report that feed orders were given to 540 families for 2,500 head of livestock and much poultry; Illinois and Missouri areas reported 15,072 head of hogs, 3,484 head of livestock, 1200 head of work animals, and thousands of poultry were fed on emergency rations. Reports from other sections came in saying that an unstated number of livestock and many head of poultry had been given emergency rations. In many instances, the owners or herdsmen remained with their livestock which had been marooned on high places. In these cases the Red Cross fed both the tenders and the livestock.

Minimizing Livestock
In Arkansas, Dr. Joseph S. Campbell, State Veterinarian, requested the Red Cross to help in a program of immunizing livestock, by providing the necessary vaccine and serum, against blackleg and cholera. The Red Cross supplies 130,000 cc of cholera serum, 11,020 cc of cholera virus, and 35,000 doses of blackleg bacterin. Veterinarians loaned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture did the work.

In sending thanks to the Red Cross for its work among the livestock, Dr. Campbell said "I consider this one of the most worthwhile jobs in the livestock field ever done in this state."

48,000 Families Flooded
More than 48,000 families were affected by the floods which flowed rampant in six states—Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas. More than 3,000,000 acres in 188 counties were inundated, and 16,840 homes were seriously damaged or destroyed. Of the flood areas, 1,737,000 acres were in crop lands, while the remainder was grazing or wood lands given over to livestock production. In the Arkansas-Oklahoma area, the flood was a "double-header", when the second flood appeared before the first one had disappeared. Most of the livestock relief was done among small farmers who had sufficient feed and food to see them and their livestock through, but were unable to either feed themselves or their cattle following destruction of their stores.

I write letters in the nearly-dark

THIS is part of an actual letter from a soldier overseas:

"It's not the big things that you miss out here. It's the little things. Like street noises. Or an electric lamp. Where we are there ain't no such. Since I'm on duty all day, I write letters in the nearly-dark. Funny, how you can miss a common, ordinary light bulb."

Here in West Texas, folks take electric service for granted. We take for granted that, when our fingers flip the switch, the lights will blaze—instantly!

The fact that we do take electricity for granted is a tribute to the men and women who supply it.

They've made it dependable—and they've made it cheap.

Today the average West Texas family gets twice or three times as much electricity for its money as just fifteen years ago.

We're sorry, soldier, we can't do much about sending you electricity over there. But our power is helping train more men... helping build the weapons of war with which you will win the victory.

This we are doing the American way... under business management and free enterprise. We're in the war, as you are, fighting to dispel the darkness of state slavery—the Nazified system of centralized bureaucratic socialism that threatens all free people.

DON'T WASTE ELECTRICITY JUST BECAUSE IT'S CHEAP—and isn't rationed! Don't waste anything. Get brifly again! Insist that the money you pay in taxes not be wasted on unnecessary bureaucratic agencies.

Check Fields For Leaf Worms

County agent H. M. Breedlove stated this morning that the time would soon arrive when the farmers in the county should start looking for leaf worms in their cotton. He is asking that farmers check their fields and report to him the first sign of leaf worms.

"Calcium arsenate will be hard to get this year and we must have time to order the poison for farmers," Breedlove said, "so be sure to let the county agent's office know when the first signs appear and if you want poison we will try to help you get it. We have several companies located where we might get the poison if it can not be bought from your local dealers."

Cull Hens Now Breedlove Says

You can cull approximately 20% of your hens now says County Agent, H. M. Breedlove, if they have not already been culled. A reduction of 20% of culls from the flock would mean a great saving in feed and the laying mash would be going to the producing hens. There is just about an average of 20% of the hens in flocks that are not producers and should be culled.

In culling the hens take out the hens that have shriveled combs, yellow legs and beaks, molters, weak and emaciated, grey eyes, saggy abdomen, coarse and masculine heads and be sure to cull the roosters. These are a few points that will help each individual farmer to cull his hens. In culling the hens it means saving of feed, meat for the table, saves ration points, canned chicken for the year round use and some cash for the non-producers.

County USDA War Boards Get New Job

Texas' 254 county USDA war boards this week were handed the job of distributing 59,000 pounds of wire for farmstead wiring.

Allotted for agricultural purposes during the three months that began July 1, the wire will be distributed to farmers through county USDA war boards. The new distribution system is in line with WPB plans governing distribution of critical materials, of which copper is one.

Explaining operation of the program on a county basis, B. F. Vance, chairman, Texas USDA War Board, said that approval for farmstead wiring will be given only for essential needs which will add to the Food for Freedom program, or save labor on the farm.

If the proposed use meets the standards for essential permitted uses, county war boards will issue copper wire allotment certificates which are to be presented to local suppliers.

He added that while allotments of wire will be released for essential food production and labor saving purposes, copper wire cannot be made available for farm dwellings. New users of electricity must be able to qualify for power line extensions before they will be eligible for copper wire under the new distribution program. To qualify for a power line extension, a farm is required to have a specified number of animal units and be within a reasonable distance from a power line.

Old users of electricity who wish to extend electrical service on their farms are required to meet the same standards as new users, Vance said.

Mrs. Clyde Bridges turned in the following made by the ladies from Hedley—28 pillow covers, 2 hot water bottle covers and two quilts. They made 49 Soldier Kits, which include 48 Housewives and 48 soap containers and 40 books and magazines which go into the Soldier Kits. Mrs. Bridges also turned in $15.00 which were donations for the filling of the Soldier Kits.

HOME SERVICE

Mrs. C. A. Burton

Allowances and allotments to families of servicemen continue to present problems which demand investigation and often individual attention. So great is the number that we need not be surprised that often there are mistakes and complications. But no country in the world is making as great an effort to care for the families of its servicemen as our country is doing. We must need to remember that the office work is being done by inexperienced workers—because experienced ones are not available under present conditions. But mistakes are rectified as rapidly as possible.

Delays in receiving checks by families have often been found to be because the serviceman has failed to make the application or has not made it properly—and there has not been a sufficient understanding between the man and his family about it.

Perhaps no question looms so seriously to both servicemen and families as the question of emergency furloughs. Permission for a furlough may be granted only by the man's commanding officer. With the increase in the number of armed forces, the movement of troops and the exigencies of the war, military and naval authorities are placing more restrictions on the granting of furloughs. Home Service workers are glad to verify conditions in the effort to help, but it is impossible to tell whether a furlough will be granted or not. Gradually more information has been demanded, fuller and more precise details asked as to the necessity for the furlough. The same is true in regard to the extension of furloughs. But in all cases the serviceman himself must ask for the furlough or the extension and the Red Cross can only verify conditions.
