OUR SURPLUS MANPOWER IS NOT YET COMPLETE

There are things we come back to, every time we read stories concerning the search the government is making for manpower.

First those on critical jobs are not working long enough hours and second that many favored spots are being kept immune from search.

We have never believed that in war, an American that worked a short week could cope with an enemy that worked slave labor around the clock.

We believe that the tremendous cost of our construction program on the present wage scale and cost plus basis, is one of the most sure causes of inflation which everyone professes to dread and the most dangerous factor of weakness in our long range ability to carry on the war effort.

We believe that the man on a defense job, could work 48 to 54 hours with overtime at the regular rate of pay now in effect on such jobs and make far less contribution to his country's defense, far less sacrifice financially, than his brother in uniform.

Our costs are far outstripping those of both our enemies and allies. Our tax program mounts up and up and our national debt soars with it.

Hence, in a long struggle, the thing is going to be a factor in civilian morale and economic strength, which we must have to carry on the war.

Secondly we will sympathize more with the woes of the Manpower Commission, when they make available for war work the manpower now tied up, in government agencies.

In every town of any size in America, you can find farm agencies, housing agencies, rent control agencies and every conceivable breeder of soft jobs, with huge coffee and coca cola drinking, time killing staffs, idling away as though Uncle Sam and God owed them a living and they were merely accepting their just dues.

There is no use talking. We cannot afford this bunch of parasites any longer and they should be placed on a job where they can do some good. They are using money, time and manpower, needed elsewhere and if they are allowed to keep riding Uncle Sam's coattails at a time when we need all the help we can get, then we have not yet realized the meaning and size of our task.—Bill Rutherford, Editor Moore County News.

Health Dept. Offers Hints On Safety

Some timely advice to vacationists and picnickers was released from the State Health Department today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

It was pointed out that, in view of wartime restrictions, vacation pleasures are apt to be limited to excursions and picnics at nearby lakes, rivers, and ponds of unfamiliar depths and currents, and without the usual lifeguard supervision associated with bathing beaches and commercial swimming pools.

"Swimming and water sports are beneficial to good health provided one's physical condition justifies this type of exercise," Dr. Cox asserted, "nevertheless, they possess dangerous possibilities if the rules of safety are disregarded."

The following simple rules for bathing and swimming in safety were suggested: at least one hour should elapse after a meal before entering the water; never dive into unfamiliar waters; upon the first indication of fatigue, come ashore and don't re-enter the water; leave the water immediately, if chilled; do not enter the water when overheated; learn to float; never attempt to rock a boat in a spirit of fun; never swim in water that may be polluted.

"Excursions, picnics, and swimming parties contribute much to a healthy, happy, normal life, which is especially desirable at this particular time when the whole nation is under the strain of war," Dr. Cox said. "It is by no means advisable to eliminate these excursions from our summer program, but it is important that they prove beneficial and not disastrous."

One slice of bread molds, one carrot shrivels—multiply that by the Nation's 34 million homes. Fight food waste on the home front.

Keep bread and cake in ventilated containers, scalded, sunned, and aired once a week.

THE LEGISLATIVE GRAPEVINE

By Grady Haslewood

After considerable debate, many jibes at the Liquor Control Board, and a few amendments, the rewrite of the liquor laws of Texas by Senator George Moffett was passed through the Senate by the almost unanimous vote of 23 to 1. Heretofore either minors or aliens could procure liquor licenses. Also, the Liquor Board could close a bar or honky tonk and a new license in another name could be procured immediately, with the result that operation of such places continue without interruption. This was corrected so that hereafter when any such place is closed it will remain closed regardless of ownership for a period of six months, thus incurring considerable financial loss to the owner of the property. Election machinery was revised in some minor respects but the one year period between elections remains the law. There had been some division among prohibition forces in this regard. The bill as passed carried the official endorsement of the Texas United Dry Group.

Passed by a very decisive vote last week was another rather rigid control act commonly referred to in newspapers as the "Curfew Law". The votes in the Senate and the House on these two bills bears out the earlier prediction made in this column that the dry forces would have their way at this session.

This week the Senate refused to concur in House amendments to the "Fire Murchison" bill by the writer and asked for a free conference committee. The House amended the bill taking the appointing power away from the Board of Public Welfare and placed it with the Governor. It was rumored that the Governor would have none of this, and newspapers quoted Lieutenant Governor John Lee Smith, aspirant to the governor's office at some future date, as also being opposed to it. The old age assistance problem is much discussed but no one wants anything to do with it. Executive Director Murchison is Texas' largest single spender, having $42,000,000.00 per year which he expends for old age assistance and administrative purposes. Everyone remembers that it was he who raised his salary $1,000.00 per year and the salaries of his department $80,000.00 per year. Incidentally, the old age assistance division occupies the most elaborate and most expensive air conditioned offices in Austin. The grapevine is that the Board of Public Welfare is not going to give the Senate a chance to fire Murchison by refusing to confirm him, but will name another man for the place before the free conference committee can act. Runior has it that three men have already been solicited for the position and all three have refused it, all of which further indicates how wary everyone seems to be about this department.

SAFE CANNING METHODS

The steam pressure canner is the only method recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for preserving certain types of vegetables. Such vegetables as beans, peas, corn, spinach, and asparagus, as well as meats, should be cooked in a steam pressure canner to kill organisms which cause food to spoil. Fruits and tomatoes, rhubarb, and pickled beets may be safely canned by the boiling water-bath method. To be safe, these products should be boiled for at least ten minutes before they are eaten or tasted, even though there is no sign of spoilage when the jar is opened.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Come on, Let's WIN this war!

IF we should lose the war, life would not be worth living.
"But we won't lose it," you may say.
Listen, brother—in this world nothing's sure, unless you make it so.
This month it's up to us here at home to do our part, and then some, to make Victory surer—and quicker! To do it, we've got to lend Uncle Sam 13 billion extra dollars.
It isn't easy—but war isn't easy and Victory isn't cheap. It takes money—and more money—to buy planes, ships, tanks, guns and a million other things our boys must have to deliver that final, paralyzing knock-out punch.
And it's a whale of a lot easier for us at home to lend our money than for our boys to fight through the hardships and dangers of deserts, swamps, jungles, ice-fields and sub-infested seas!

Just think! Every extra bond you buy will help provide the weapons to save the lives of many American boys! Isn't that alone worth every effort, every economy you can make? You bet it is!

There are 7 types of U. S. Government securities to meet the needs of every purse. They offer the finest investment in the world—liberal interest, plus securities guaranteed by Uncle Sam himself.

A volunteer worker for the 2nd War Loan Drive may visit you soon. Welcome this unselfish patriot—and buy all the bonds you can. But don't wait for that call. Go—today—to your bank, investment dealer, broker, post office or bond booth and invest to your uttermost limit. Even if it hurts, it's nothing compared to the agonizing impact of a bayonet thrust, a flesh-tearing torpedo fragment or a bone-crushing bullet.
So dig deep, brother, and do it NOW!

There are 7 different types of U. S. Government securities—choose the ones best suited for you!

THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle
OUR FATHERS.
Fathers whose sons are on foreign soil in the battle area don't say a great deal about it. They know it would do no good. But it those same fathers, and especially those whose sons have died on the field of honor, could only pour their hate through the hot barrels of smoking guns, and write the records of their grief with bayonet steel, there would be worlds of satisfaction in the act.

RIGHTS.
The right to live in a free country. The right to worship as I please. The right to think and vote as I think best. The right to be industrious and honest. The right to hope and pray for an early victory and unconditional surrender of the enemy. Lastly, the right to buy war bonds and stamps. These are but a few of the rights I enjoy every day. It's great to be an American in the home land. Let's not forget our Americans "over there" who do not have all these rights in the battle area that we enjoy here at home. Buy bonds so the boys can bomb 'em.

DON'T CROW.
A neighbor says to me, he says, "don't crow too soon over your Victory Garden. Your neighbor's rooster may do that!"
PROPHECY.
Recently, so the story goes, a

German general was asked when the war would end. The goose stepped around a bit and replied that "the war will end when we have the English eating rats, and we are already eating them."
SMART GUY.
"I want a shave," said the disgruntled old coddler as he climbed into the barber's chair. "No haircut, no shampoo, bay rum, witch hazel, hair tonic, hot towels or face massage. I don't want the manicurist holding my hand, or the bootblack monkeying with my feet. I don't want to be brushed off, and I'll put my coat on myself. I just want a plain shave. Now do you understand that?" The barber never batted an eye, but he asked, "any lather, sir?"

While the Cross of Roman origin was a means of shame to the one nailed there, but it has become a reason of joy from a christian view point. The Resurrection of Jesus made it a source

To Hold School In Mexico

AUSTIN—Part of the University of Texas faculty and student body will trek to Mexico this summer for a special six-weeks cooperative extension field school, to be conducted by the Texans at the National University of Mexico. The project will be financed by a $10,000 grant from the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs.

Ten University of Texas staff members will make up the faculty of the field school together with ten faculty men from the Mexican University. Courses will be offered for both undergraduates and graduates from Texas and Mexico. Credit for work done will be granted by both schools.

The grant from the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs will also be used to finance a two-day conference on Latin-American culture, to be held at the University of Texas sometime in June.

WOOLEN FABRIC PRODUCTION

Production of woolen and worsted woven fabrics in 1942 reached a new all-time high of 525,000,000 linear yards. This is almost 50 percent greater than in 1939. WPA has doubled wool quotas for essential civilian fabrics which is expected to make an additional 75,000,000 pounds of wool available for civilian needs. This is further assurance that there will be adequate supplies of clothing for civilians during the fall and winter of this year.

Mrs. Pete Long joined her husband at Dallas and they returned to their home at Long Beach, Calif. after a visit here with her aunt, Mrs. W. H. Patrick and other relatives.

Texas University Buys War Bonds

AUSTIN, April 20—The second War Loan drive got off to a good start here with the investment by the University of Texas of $1,828,000 in United States 2½% Treasury bonds.

This subscription for the University's Permanent or Endowment fund brought to $6,181,300, the amount of U. S. Treasury bonds bought by the University of Texas since Pearl Harbor. In addition, $679,478 has been invested in War Savings Bonds.

"The University is sending out thousands of its students to fight for a cause we hold dear, and we want our financial resources to help them," President Homer P. Ratney commented. "We are confident that other Texas groups and individuals will more than raise Texas' quota of $850,000,000. We can make it one billion dollars of Fighting Funds from Fighting Texans by the time of our statewide Texas Fights Rally here Saturday, May 1st."

June Melton returned to Amarillo Tuesday after a few days visit with her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Adams.

J. R. Calhoun of San Antonio is in Clarendon on business matters. He was accompanied by Mr. Gilmore.

Farmers Must Do Double Feeding Job Now

Not only must they supply food for the United Nations' fighting machine, but they must also supply food in the form of scrap for weapons of war.

In the first six months of 1943, 3,000,000 tons of scrap metals are being sought from American farmers by the Salvage Division, WPB, at the request of Chairman Donald M. Nelson. This means that every farm in the United States must collect and turn in an average of 1,000 pounds before July first.

Chairman Nelson has thus announced to the nation's farmers that there is still a critical need for an adequate backlog of scrap piles in communities throughout the country despite any rumors to the contrary.

Reports from many of the nation's steel producing centers indicate that many mill inventories are dropping rapidly. Another crucial scrap shortage is expected despite the improvement in the over-all situation during the latter part of 1942. 1942 campaigns skimmed the cream of the farm and home scrap crop, but the farmers of the nation must dig much deeper in 1943 to assure capacity steel mill operation.

The American farmer, second only to industry as a source of heavy scrap, is being counted on for a large portion of this year's scrap supplies. Every ton of farm scrap is needed in order to enable the war production program to meet the President's demand for more arms and equipment for the United Nations' war machine.

The task of collecting scrap is far from finished. Until our fighting forces are victorious it will be necessary to continue to support them with mountains of scrap.

Seabees Average Higher Pay

Although official figures can't be revealed, for obvious reasons, the actual number of men enlisted in the United States Navy's construction battalions - popularly known as the "Seabees" - now practically triples the figure of the whole peacetime Navy.

A short time ago, 160,000 "Seabees" had been enlisted, and hundreds of men with construction experience have volunteered their services since then.

The Dallas Navy recruiting district has enlisted thousands of men for this popular branch of the service since Pearl Harbor, and every day brings in new volunteers for the construction regiments. According to Lieut.-Commander L. H. Ridout, Jr., officer in charge of the Dallas district, the back-log of Seabees is just about exhausted, and men who enlist now are being sent to training stations as fast as they are signed up and given ratings.

It has been pointed out that the phenomenal growth of the Seabees may be partly attributed to the fact that the proportion of rated men in this branch of the service - with correspondingly higher pay - far exceeds that of any branch of the Navy.

As an average, 60 per cent of a battalion's strength is made up of rated men, and 10 per cent of these are of chief petty officer grade. Age limits were placed between 17 and 50, to assure this unusual classification of personnel. The Seabees are truly a specialist outfit, and past engineering and construction experience of its personnel makes this so. The army engineering corps also offers opportunities.

Interviewing officer for the Navy's civil engineering corps in this district is Lieut. C. B. Parrett, who is stationed in Dallas during the first three days of each week. During the last three days, Lieut. Parrett visits the various Navy recruiting stations in the Dallas district to interview applicants and give information concerning ratings.

Grain Sorghums Recommended For West Texas

"Plainsmen, Martin and Caprock grain sorghums are recommended as satisfactory West Texas varieties for combined use," says Professor Frank R. Phillips, head of the Agricultural Department at West Texas State College.

Experiments carried out by D. L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment Station, over a number of years indicate that these varieties meet West Texas demands, and it is suggested that for best results they be planted the last of May or the first of June, because July plantings have not proved satisfactory at the Lubbock station in the past. Although it is possible for them to mature in casual years when planted in July, such plantings are not considered safe.

Both Plainsmen and Caprock are selections from a cross - a double dwarf kaffir and dwarf yellow milo made at the Lubbock station. Wheatland, which in turn was a cross between kaffir and milo made at the Woodward Experiment Station and distributed in 1931.

Martin has fewer leaves and a more slender stalk and is said by some to be resistant to lodging. The height of the plants are about the same - a little less than three feet. Martin matures in 103 to 107 days; Plainsmen takes 108 to 120 days, and Caprock matures in 124 to 151 days. The 1940 and 1941 yields at the Lubbock Station were Martin 33 to 38; Plainsmen 38 to 43, and Caprock 30 to 42.

Burlington Offers 25,000 Acres For Use As Victory Gardens

Free use of an estimated 25,000 acres of arable land for the cultivation of Victory gardens was offered today to garden clubs, individuals and railroad employees by the Burlington Lines.

The lands are located along the Burlington rights of way in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, Colorado, Minnesota, Wyoming, Montana, South Dakota, New Mexico and Texas, and are available without cost for the cultivation of food and certain other crops that will not interfere with railroad operations and safety.

President Ralph Budd of the Burlington Lines, who is a Trustee of the National Victory Garden Institute, said the development of "Burlington Victory Garden Clubs" at various points along the railroad will be encouraged, especially at division points and other locations where considerable numbers of Burlington employees are located.

All that is necessary to secure a right of way plot is to obtain an application blank from the nearest Burlington agent. The Victory gardener may select his own plot and, provided it does not interfere with railroad operations and has not been allocated to someone else earlier, a permit will be issued promptly. The only restriction on plantings is that the crops must not constitute a fire or safety hazard and must not obstruct drainages.

Garden permits for the cultivation of food crops on the Burlington rights of way have been granted for many years, Mr. Budd said. During World War I the public was permitted to plant gardens on suitable land along the right of way, and since that time many employees have continued to use railroad lands for gardening. In addition, the Burlington for the last 30 years has permitted farmers to raise alfalfa on the right of way, whenever practicable, and probably has 3,000 or more acres of right of way planted in alfalfa at the present time.

State Historical Ass'n To Meet April 22-24

AUSTIN, April 20—The men and women who have done more to collect and preserve both fact and legend about Texas and Texans than any other single group in the state—the members of the Texas State Historical Association and the Texas Folk-Lore Society—will meet at the University of Texas in their first joint convention, April 22-24th.

This will mark the forty-seventh year that the historians have come together, while it will be the twenty-ninth annual meeting for the folklorists.

Fact and fiction will be intermingled at the three-day session, as tales of oil field romancers and frontier cowhands are interspersed with reports on research into the history of the Mier Expedition and the early days of railroading in Texas.

The two organizations will hold individual sessions with the exception of a dinner meeting Friday night, April 23. Speakers at that time will be Dr. Mody Boatright, University of Texas professor of English and president of the folklorists, and Gibb Gilchrist, dean of engineering at Texas A&M and representatives of the historians.

A smaller crowd than usual is expected for the meeting because of transportation restrictions, Dr. Bailey Carroll, acting director of Texas history research at the University, has explained, but representatives from all sections of the state have signified their intention of coming. The customary meeting of Junior Historians—high school members of the Historical Association—has been cancelled to reduce travel.

GARDEN GLANCES

"America beautiful lies in the hands of the gardeners."

Spring is again here in all its beauty and glamour. Many spring blossoms adorn the landscape. Spirea (bride wreath) is the outstanding of all the flowers that grace the yards of the city. Some of the ones to be of particular interest are the grounds of Kelly Chamberlain, Rev. G. T. Palmer, and the Misses Harned.

A very attractive display of tulips of many colors is presented in the garden of J. L. McMurry. Mrs. Mollie E. Gray's tulip garden is one of the prettiest spots in the city. Many people stop and marvel at this spot of beauty.

Have you noticed the corner in the yard of Sam Dyer? If you have not you are missing a treat. A small border plant of a bright rich pink forms an edge to add to the arrangement of vari-colored tulips.

Since victory gardens are a "must" this year, I think it proper to mention several that have a nice beginning in their vegetable plot. Included in this group are the gardens of Patching's, Humphrey's, Weidman's, and Allensworth's.

To keep berries, cherries, and grapes tiptop, store in a shallow tray in a cold place. Wash just before using.

West Texas District Falls Behind In Current WAAC Recruiting

The West Texas District has fallen deplorably behind, and at present is in danger of trailing all the rest of the state in the enrollment of WAACs, it was declared this week by Lieut. Col. Marvin B. Durette, commanding West Texas Recruiting and Induction District, Lubbock.

"We cannot allow this blot on our record," the Colonel said. "It is unreasonable to think that the women of West Texas are of a less patriotic character than the women of north, south and east Texas. We have a quota of 726 WAACs to meet by June 30th. Donley county's quota is 5. It is a fair quota, based on your urban population. We appeal to you to meet it, to double it if possible."

The War Department is unable to meet current requests of camps and posts for WAAC units due to failure to meet recruiting quotas assigned for the first quarter of the year, he pointed out. "The WAAC is included in the overall strength of the army now, and it is absolutely necessary that its expansion keep pace with the overall training program." "We have it straight from Lieut. General Brehon Somervell that women can do many non-combatant jobs just as well as, and some better than, many men who are urgently needed and eminently qualified for combat duty. Every eligible woman who is not otherwise engaged in work that is essential to winning the war belongs in the women's army. We are counting on Donley county to do its part."

To be eligible for the WAAC, a woman must be between the ages of 21 and 44, have at least two years of high school education, and be able to pass the mental and physical examinations. Women interested in joining the WAAC are invited to call or write the recruiting station in Pampa, or to write direct to the West Texas Recruiting and Induction Headquarters in Lubbock.

"COME AND GET IT!"

The "come and get it" call never comes too early for hungry soldiers at the end of a day's march. It's a welcome call for pipeliners, too, as they wind up their day's work of patrolling gas transmission lines.

Important as a means of cutting down on transportation, these maintenance crews usually make two-week journeys—pitch camp to eat, and sleep where the day's work leaves them.

By keeping thousands of miles of high-pressure gas lines throughout the Gulf South in tip-top shape, these crews are performing a vital war-time service. For on the efficiency of these huge steel arteries greatly depends the output of war materiel. And nothing must interfere with the production of ships, guns, tanks, and planes that means success or failure to our heroic defenders of freedom.

Letter Describes Peaceful Native Village Before Bombers Came

EDITORS NOTE—The following letter was sent in by C. E. Griggs of Dumas, former citizen of Clarendon, giving a vivid description of a peaceful native village, before and during an air raid, as two service men saw it. The location of the village is not given.

way out back and down under, (South Sea Islands I think). They gave us the description of the place where they are located, and I will pass it on to you as best I can.

Dumas, Texas
April 9, 1943
Donley County Leader,
Clarendon, Texas.
Had another letter a few days ago from the boys, Joe Young and Clifford Gallaway, some where

This place is located on the banks of a river with clear water, and on wash days the native women gather to do their laundry on the rocks as the water flows past. In place of a Maytag washer, they use a rock and the old type bat-tling stick.

The clear face of the moon lay scattered on the water, but its light was far away—swift summer rain clouds were on the horizon visible only when sheets of lightning exploded soundlessly behind them. Such a night to be remembered by ya!! Wild flowers grew in profusion to the water's edge.

Just below the village and to the right, stood a coconut grove planted in straight rows; behind this the jungle came close, while in the tree tops, lives wild monkeys, parrots, and all other kinds of birds that live in the tropics.

Beyond this, same animals range, while back in the mountains one can find the larger animals.

From over the wind swept mountains the parting of the golden sun cast a burned colored hue over the beautiful valley. All this made an everlasting impression on our minds as we stood there by the crumbling walls of the century old church.

Lazy smoke poured out of the adobe ovens. It was supper time.

There was no need to hurry as this meal was no different than others for centuries back. Out at the edge of the jungle, groups of native children were gathering sticks of dry wood from among the green bushes.

The stately old mission overlooked the narrow streets and crude houses—the homes of the devout. The ancient dim lighted church was host at sunset of individual Indians (or natives) coming in for a moment of prayer. We lingered by this old mission, for ages it seemed to me, for we were trying to picture it centuries ago, trying to get the old walls to tell us something of its dying past.

Children and dogs played at our feet. The thought of it all brought tears to our eyes. This was no dream, for we were standing amidst real people whose customs had not changed for centuries.

Standing by the old wall of this mission at sunset, seeing the sky with gorgeous colors change from hue to hue, then to twilight blue, is one way to absorb the beauties of nature and the fascination of the ancient ways of life.

This was before the war came, but now all has changed.

And then the air raid sounded. The streets are very narrow, on either side the houses were honeycombed in the sunlight. Church after church was blasted into a heap of crumbling ruin.

As the people had gathered in one church, and Mass was in progress, then came one of the worst raids. Neither the priest nor the worshippers faltered in their devotion, although the blast of bursting bombs swayed them where they knelt.

Many have lost all they possessed. Families who have men folk have gone to the army. We were taken vertically downward by narrow circular steps for 60 ft. into the pitch darkness in one of these caves.

It was a lull between raids, and most of the occupants had snatched this opportunity to collect their ration of bread. With our guide we groped our way toward a glimmer of light where a girl stood in the door way. By the glow of a little lamp made out of a pepper tin with a cotton wick she showed us her home and its equipment, one chair, an alcove in the rock for cooking stove, a box with some utensils. Eight people lived in this room, and contained all they possessed. A small girl in her teens offered to lend us her lamp to explore the tunnel. Smiling bravely, she said she was used to sitting in the dark and did not mind it. The tunnel, one of scores was about one half mile long.

Out side drying clothes flapped in the wind, and canaries sing in cages against the rocks.

We asked one woman what she did all day when she was not cooking or washing. "Me," she said, "I sing all day." During the raids the people pray, not for themselves, but for the men at the guns, the pilots of the spitfires, the crew of the convoys battling to reach them.

The blast of the bombs sweeps through the shelter. Women lay wet handkerchiefs over their babies faces so they may breathe. Between raids children play in the streets, they play at, or near the shelters, in the doorways of the homes that remain, and among the ruins of them that do not.

The unofficial signal stations are manned by little boys. When the red flag goes up, every body except the little boys take to shelter. They stay by their posts. Finding two crouching beside their mast during a raid, we urged them to take shelter, but they refused, scornfully.

"It is for the community we stay here", explained the smaller of the two.

That night we went down a steep stairway between ruined houses to visit a shelter. The shelter was a tunnel that descended to unknown depth. Tiers of bunks ranged along the walls. Forty or fifty children lay around the altar on the bare steps. A girl of about 12 appeared out of the shadow and facing the altar began to sing. The motionless adults sat listening. The child prayed on, her jet black eyes was the only part of her that moved. Two girls unrolled a blanket beside us and lay down to sleep. A tiny girl of about three suddenly set off alone up a high ladder to the third tier of bunks, reached it unaided, and curled up like a tired kitten to sleep. The children's voices stopped. There was a shuffling of little bodies on the hard cold stone and the clearing of throats. Then out side in the moonlight, as they finished, the all-clear sounded.

These two boys say, "Such is life near the front lines."
Yours truly,
C. E. Griggs

A father is fighting...
So his boy may tinker with Electricity

Over 160 of our men (and one woman) are in the U. S. armed forces. Last week one of these men, a good electrician who had been with the company for many years and who is a veteran of World War I, came home on leave. (He's a volunteer in the Navy.)

With him when he dropped around to say "hello" and talk shop with the fellows was his 13-year-old son... wearing his Boy Scout uniform.

All the guys were darn glad to see him and know he has a swell Navy rating as an electrical technician. Naturally they asked a lot of questions and learned that Uncle Sam's Navy thinks mighty high of its men who come from America's electrical companies where they got their training and experience. They learned, too, that electric power is behind most of the Navy's great punch...

building ships, guns, bombs, torpedoes and the like with which to win the victory.

Finally someone asked: "Well, Don, have you decided—just what are YOU fighting for?" He answered right off, pointing to his son.

"Me—I'm fighting for this kid. He's a Boy Scout, see, and it teaches 'em to be independent and self-reliant. Well, dictators and bureaucrats don't like that—they want regimentation. So I'm fighting so he—and millions like him—will be free.

"Too, the kid's kinda like me. He has a knack for tinkering with electricity... likes it, see! Well, the kid may not be another Edison. But I want him to have the same opportunities that Edison had—and a lot of other guys who helped make this country great.

"I want him to be free to tinker all he likes. And if anything comes of it, if his tinkering creates something useful to the world, like Edison's tinkering, I want him to share in the profits."

Out of this freedom of individual opportunity grew America's great industries that today are pouring out the weapons of war... as in peacetime they pour out the comforts and conveniences of everyday home life to give us the highest of all standards of living.

This freedom is worth fighting for. Free men and women, working out their own destinies with their own hands and minds... building, inventing, improving... taking the risks and enjoying the rewards. And bettering the world as they better themselves!

OPA Meeting to be Held at Pampa May 13th

Donley County War Price and Rationing Board today announced that on Thursday, May 13, representatives of the Dallas Regional and Lubbock District Offices of the Office of Price Administration will be in Pampa to conduct meetings with the Price Panels and Price Clerks of the War Price and Rationing Boards of Roberts, Gray, Wheeler, and Donley Counties and with representatives of the wholesale and retail grocery trade in these counties.

The meeting with Price Panels and Price Clerks will be held at 2:00 p. m. in Pampa. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the members of the various boards with the new functions of Price Panels and with the new simplified Price Regulations.

In the past, merchants throughout the country have had to contact the nearest branch of the Office of Price Administration in order to secure copies of regulations and to have these regulations explained. In line with the new policy of delegating certain functions to Price Panels throughout the country, the members of the Price Panels will be handed certain regulations as a start toward the completion of the general plan. These regulations will be explained and discussed in detail, so that in the future the Price Panels will be in a position to assist the merchants to a better understanding of the regulations, thus eliminating the necessity of contacting the nearest branch of the OPA on every problem which might arise. As the Price Panels become familiar with their new duties they will be handed additional regulations with the end in view that they will eventually be in a position to solve most of the problems locally, thus eliminating to a great extent the delay and sometimes confusion resulting from the necessity of contacting the nearest OPA office.

The meeting with representatives of the wholesale and retail food trade will be held at 8:30 p. m. in Pampa. The importance of this meeting cannot be too greatly stressed. New simplified food regulations will be gone into in detail and everyone engaged in the wholesale and retail food business is urged to attend and to bring their individual problems to the attention of those conducting the meeting. This meeting is not intended as a general meeting where the regulations are merely explained, but is intended also to bring out the various problems with which the merchants are confronted and to solve them.

It is understood that Mr. Howard R. Ghoslon, District Director of the Lubbock District Office, will be there, with Mr. Clarence W. Nichols, Regional Price Executive of the Dallas Regional Office, Mr. J. B. Mooney, District Price Officer, and Mr. H. T. Gehring and Mr. W. A. Robertson, District Price Specialists.

This meeting in Pampa is one of a series aimed at contacting all the War Price and Rationing Boards throughout the Lubbock District of the OPA, as well as representatives of the wholesale and retail food trade in the whole area.

CERTIFICATES OF WAR NECESSITY NOT TRANSFERABLE

Certificates of War Necessity and "T" ration gasoline coupons are not to be transferred along with titles to trucks, the Texas USDA War Board has been advised by ODT.

ODT pointed out that violation of this regulation may result in suspension or revocation of Certificates.

When transfers are completed, the new operators should file applications for Certificates of War Necessity. Failure to file the application also may result in suspension of Certificates, the ODT said.

DR. JENKINS WRITES APPRECIATION

Especially those since the passing of the loved one who has been so dear and meant so much to me for more than fifty years.

Your Friend,

Army Engineer Corps Opened To Volunteers

The Corps of Engineers Specialists Recruitment Program, announced by Col. R. R. Neyland, Southwestern Division Engineer, provides for qualified civilians between the ages of 18 and 38, and therefore subject to induction through Selective Service, to volunteer in advance of their induction orders for the Corps of Engineers. Provision is also made for civilians in the age bracket between 38 and 50, inclusive, who are not subject to the draft at this time, to voluntarily enlist for the Corps of Engineers.

Construction men, electricians, enginemen, utility repairmen, tractor and truck drivers, welders, machine operators, radio operators and repairmen, mechanics, powdermen, riggers, shipping clerks, railroad men, and a host of other skills are required.

Under this plan trained civilian operators prior to their induction by the Selective Service Board may volunteer. The nearest Area Engineer, Engineers stationed at various projects, and District Engineers at Tulsa, Okla., Denison, Texas, and Little Rock, Ark., will take the application, pass on their qualifications, and if acceptable, will provide the volunteer with a letter which he will submit to his local Selective Service Board.

This letter will earmark him for the Engineers with the Army Air Forces, Army Ground Forces, or Army Service Forces.

CEILING PRICE ON CORN RAISED

A ceiling price on corn five cents per bushel higher than present maximums, established April 14, will be effective until September 30, 1943. According to OPA, which acted upon instructions from Stabilization Director Byrnes and Food Administrator Davis, there will be no further increases in corn prices during the 1943 market season. The price raise is designed to relieve the present acute market shortage of corn for livestock feeding and industrial processing.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Heatherly of Hobbs, N. M. visited the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Heatherly.

New Price Support Program Announced

Producers of vital war crops in Texas will receive higher price supports under this year's Food for Freedom program, according to the State USDA War Board.

For dry edible beans, the support price ranges from $6.50 per hundred pounds to $7.50 per hundred pounds, depending on the class and variety.

To encourage harvesting of an increased quantity of blackeye peas, the Department will purchase peas at a level of $5.75 per hundred pounds of cleaned and bagged U. S.
