COUNTY FAT STOCK SHOW HERE SAT.

Nobility of the Whitefaces From Which Baby Beef is Made

Three 4-H club calves and their owners, who expect to place high in the second annual Donley County Fat Stock Show here Saturday, are shown above. On the left is Jack Lewis of Lelia Lake. Center is Don Harlan, who owned the grand champion in last year's show. Right is Leland Lewis and his calf. Business firms in Clarendon have subscribed over $160 in premiums for the show and winners will be sent to the Amarillo Fat Stock Show. The exhibit is to be sponsored yearly in the interest of 4-H and F.F.A. Club boys. The exhibit will be held at the Harry Blair Mule barn Saturday, March 6th.

4-H And F.F.A. Club Boys Will Match Skill In Contest For Approximately $160

The Donley County Annual Fat Stock Show Said To Be One Of Largest In Southwest. Visitors From At Least Three States Are Expected To Look Over Exhibit Saturday

Donley County 4-H and F.F.A. Club boys will exhibit excellent pure bred Herefords and blooded pigs Saturday for a premium list of approximately $160, when the second annual fat stock show, the largest of its kind in the Panhandle, gets underway.

The show will start about 9 o'clock in the morning at the Harry Blair Mule Barn and will culminate with a street parade at 1:30 in the afternoon. Immediately afterwards, the calves will be shipped to Amarillo for exhibition in the Amarillo Fat Stock Show, which opens next week.

Over 25 calves will be judged and the winner of both the junior and senior divisions will compete for the grand champion honors and an extra prize of a $17.50 pair of hand made boots donated by the Land Shoe Shop.

County Agent H. M. Breedlove is the sponsor of the 4-H Club and J. M. Hill, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce is director of the F.F.A. Club.

Clarendon business firms subscribed liberally to the premium list with the Chamber of Commerce donating $35.

STOCK INDUSTRY IS GIVEN SOLID SUPPORT

(An Editorial)

When you look over the "nobility" of the Hereford and Hog family here Saturday, please remember that they are but choice samples of what Donley county produces.

The 4-H Club boys and the members of the Future Farmers of America have been royally supported by business men and individuals of Clarendon. Every encouragement has been given because of the great merit of the cause.

These young men and boys are "trail blazers" for others of their age in proving the possibilities of stock-farming. We have the climate, soil and water. To this is being added intelligence, the only other factor necessary to success under normal conditions.

Donley county has been a stock producing section for forty years. As methods are improved, more feeders profit from the industry. Several choice herds are being fed at this time, and are every winter. That is why the youth of the county is being backed to the limit—it's a safe bet.

SIMS ANNOUNCES FOR RE-ELECTION

Mayorality Election Date Is April Sixth

Mayor John T. Sims throws his hat into the ring for re-election this week in making official announcement of his candidacy. This is Mayor Sims first term as mayor of Clarendon. His administration is said to have met with popular approval by all classes.

He was pressed into service by popular choice for a mayor. He began serving the public as a member of the school board here about 1890, and has served in varying capacities in public office without pay for so long the old-timers can't recall the date of beginning.

The election will be held at the City Hall Tuesday, April 6th. A. H. Baker will be judge of the election, and J. A. Warren and J. T. Patman will clerk the ballots.

Local Youth Hurt In Car Accident

Oscar Butler Received A Slight Brain Concussion In Collision Saturday

Oscar Butler, local youth, received a slight brain concussion and Billie Cooke, high school athlete, was uninjured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a parked car one mile north of Clarendon on Highway 88 about 10:30 Saturday night.

Cooke, who was driving, said he was rounding a curve and was unable to see the other automobile which he said was in the middle of the road. Cooke's car was badly damaged.

Butler was brought to Clarendon where he received medical attention for a deep cut over the right eye. He was unconscious and added for several hours after the accident, it was said.

Witnesses stated that Mrs. Charlie Risley was returning home in her car when it stalled.

Two Charged Here With Chicken Theft

Hedley Pair Arranged And Bonds Set To Await Action Of Grand Jury

Juneus Rowe and Cleon Allee of Hedley were arranged in justice court here this week on charges of chicken theft. Both Rowe and Allee waived examining trials and were bound over to the grand jury. Their bonds were set at $1,000 and $750 respectively.

The pair were arrested in Borger Sunday night and brought to Clarendon, according to deputy sheriff Guy Wright, who said they admitted the theft, to officers, while enroute to Clarendon.

Wright said Rowe and Allee were charged with taking 38 chickens at the Jap Shaw place in Hedley February 25. The chickens were sold to a Memphis produce company, Wright said.

Allee posted bond Tuesday afternoon.

Clarendon Man Is Held Up Monday

Robbed Of Over $60 By Stickups At His Home

B. W. McWhorter reported to officers this week that he was held up by two unknown men at his home west of Clarendon Monday night and robbed of over $60 in cash.

McWhorter told sheriff Pierce that he had gone to drain his car about 9 o'clock that night when one of the men put a gun to his back and demanded his money.

Quoting McWhorter, Pierce said the victim had been to Amarillo and returned home about 8 o'clock. He ate supper and went to drain the car. The men approached from behind and after taking his purse ran across the railroad tracks.

Besides the money the purse contained papers.

Only a meager description was given officers.

Lelia Lake Manual Training Class To Exhibit At Show

Will Display Furniture At The Clarendon Hatchery Complimentary Picture

An added attraction at the Clarendon Hatchery complimentary picture show tomorrow night at the Lelia Lake School Auditorium will be an exhibit by the Manual Training Class of the Lelia Lake High School.

The class, under the direction of Frank McInnis, has just completed intricate patterns in wood. Mr. McInnis said yesterday that the magazine stands, smoking stands, library tables and an office desk, had been made in the past two weeks.

The Clarendon Hatchery show, "Indian Harvest" is an educational and entertaining picture for the farmers. One whole section is devoted to presenting thoroughly tested and proven programs for feeding and handling cows, hogs and poultry. Another section takes you to the world's largest experimental farm where thousands of animals and poultry are kept on continuous feeding tests.

The picture is a first-run feature, according to Frank White Jr. manager of the Hatchery. "Too, there's a heart touching romance and thrilling adventure woven into the plot," White added.

City School Census Starts Here Monday

All Children Between Ages Of 6 and 17 to be Listed; Cooperation Asked

Enumerators began listing Clarendon school children between the ages of 6 and 17 here this week. The census is scheduled to be completed before April 1 and state apportionment of $19 per capita is based upon the figures.

Enumerators here are H. T. Burton, R. E. Drennan, McHenry Lane, Glen Allison and Lotta H. Brittain (colored).

All children who are or will be six years old before September 6, 1937 or who will not be 17 before that time should be listed, Mr. Burton said. He pointed out that yearly money is lost for city school because of families moving into town without the school authorities' knowledge. Anyone knowing of this condition should get in touch with the enumerators, Burton stated.

Married persons who are not out of the age limit should be listed also, he said.

The enumerators will call at the majority of homes here next Sat.

HEDLEY MUSIC CLUB TO HAVE AMATEUR CONTEST FRIDAY

Admission Free And No Fee Charged For Entering; Over $50 For Prizes

The Music Club of the Hedley High School will sponsor an Amateur Night at the High School Auditorium Friday night, March 5 at 7:30. It was announced by Mrs. E. R. Hooker, vice president, this week.

There will be no entrant fees, Mrs. Hooker said, and no admission charges. Over $50 has been divided for winners of places.

The contest consists of music, tap dancing and speaking. A "Major Boze" will be master of ceremonies, it was announced.

"The program will be a community affair," Mrs. Hooker said. "Neighboring schools have been invited." Groups are expected from Windy Valley, Lelia Lake, Naylor, Bray, McKnight and Giles.

The entry list is limited to 25 numbers with time allotments of three minutes.

Judges will be selected from out of town.

Services For Moss Child Here Tuesday

Died At The Home Of His Parents Monday Night

J. D. Moss, 5-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie D. Moss of this city, died from throat infection at the home of his parents Monday night.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. E. D. Landreth officiated. Interment was in the Goodnight cemetery.

Palbearers were R. I. McGowan, Dick Thomlinson, Van Knox and Austin Rhodes.

Besides his parents the child is survived by two sisters, Edith and Betty Jo.

Mr. Moss is connected with the McGowan Barber shop in Clarendon.

Club Quilt Exhibited At Thompson Hardware

The secretary of the Clarendon Home Demonstration Club directs attention to the "Improved Nine Patch" pattern quilt made by the Club and now on exhibit at the Thompson Bros. hardware store.

The quilt is to be given away March 27th. "We would like for the ladies to see the quilt made by our Club," the secretary stated Wednesday.

President Speaks March 9th

Following his usual custom, the President will make a "family" talk to the people of the States the evening of March 9th, which is next Tuesday.

Just what he will say in this radio address is not known since no announcement has been made. If he follows his regular custom, he will talk about everything in connection with his official duties.

Dorothy Nell Baker Is Miss Clarendon

Elise Norwood Selected Queen Of Junior Group

Miss Dorothy Nell Baker was selected Miss Clarendon at the spring style show held at the College Auditorium Thursday night, February 25, sponsored by the sophomore class of the junior college.

Elise Norwood was crowned queen of the junior division.

Chosen to attend Miss Clarendon were Dorothy Jo Ryan, Mildred Barker, Jane Kerbow and Helen Risley.

Isadore Mellinger was master of ceremonies and R. E. Drennan presented the awards to the winners.

Spring styles were modeled for Mellinger and Rosenwasser, Greene Dry Goods Company, The Ladies Shop, Bryan Clothing Company. Hair styles were shown for Irene's Beauty Parlor and Nadine's Beauty Shop.

Approximately 50 girls represented business firms in the contest.

A program was given by the Public School music class, Miss Kitty Ruth Bailey, recent winner of an amateur contest, Vera and Eugenia Noland, Geraldine Clayton, Avis Lee McElvany, and Maxine Ellis.

The March meeting of the Donley County Singing Convention will be held next Sunday at the West Baptist church in Hedley. This announcement is made by O. H. Tinsley.

The meeting hour is set at 1:30 p. m. March 7th.

Singers gather from over the county at these meetings. Many of them come from other counties and Oklahoma. Those who enjoy good singing are given a cordial invitation to be present.

DONLEY COUNTY MUSEUM CONTINUES TO EXPAND IN COLLECTION OF RELICS

Mementos of Civil War Period Bring Out Varied Assortment Of Valuable Articles. Specimens Include Wide Variety Dating From Prehistoric to Late Panhandle Pioneer Settlement Era

One of the latest acquisitions of the Donley County Museum is that of a mastodon's tooth, the article being sent from London, England by Miss Royce, for many years private secretary to Mrs. Adair.

The large tooth was given Miss Royce in 1904 by a Mr. Brown, who at that time was making a fossil collection on the JA ranch for the American Museum of Natural History of New York City.

Another gift from Miss Royce is a large photo of Mrs. Adair, former owner of the JA ranch. The photo is similar to the one that used to hang in the Adair hospital. It now hangs in the Donley County Museum.

Saddles, purses, books and other equipment of the Civil War period are much in evidence as well as clothing worn at that period.

While prehistoric specimens may be seen, the major portion of the specimens on exhibit date from 1750 to about 1900, and include practically everything that was used 'indoors and out' by the pioneers of the many states. Many objects recall early settlement of the Panhandle.

Within a short time, the Museum collection will be moved to much larger quarters in the new school building being remodeled from the old college dormitory.

The Museum is open from 2 to 5 each Monday afternoon. The public is cordially invited to visit the exhibits. No admission is charged, and never has been.

MEMBER OF PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

PLANTING BY THE MOON.

Under the above heading, and with a Philadelphia date line, an Associated Press news item appeared in the newspapers wherein this was approved by Dean Charles H. Lowell of Philadelphia.

The old farmer, whose library consisted of a Bible, blue back spelling book, LeGear's horse doctor book, and Ladies' Birthday Almanac, containing the "Caldean and zodiac signs," was the practice, but so-called scientists, for many years, have made sport of this method of observing the phase of the moon in planting, and laying the foundation of a fence, a house, or covering it. These so-called scientists usually intend to end all argument by "I plant in the ground, not in the moon," but it will be observed they plant in the "weather," and the weather has phases growing out of the phase of the moon. For instance, if a storm occurs on the new moon, it will be severer than on the full moon. The Galveston flood, and every great flood, occurred on the new moon and not one the full moon. Frost in the spring seldom ever kills a crop on a full moon, but usually does on the dark of the moon. You may cut fence posts or timber at one phase of the moon, and worms will eat through the wood, and will not at another phase of the moon. Just why, no one knows, but there are many things we cannot know by reason. We do know, however, that the tides ebb and flow by the moon.

If you go to Panama, you would read daily in the papers there just the height of the tide and the fall of the tide every week in advance, which is determined by the phase of the moon; but if anybody has ever reasoned it out, I have never read it. It is a fact, nevertheless.

The Indian Knows

However, it is characteristic of any people who become "bookish" that they become theoretical, because they lose the faculty of observation, whereas, the most accurate information may be found by observation, by observing nature, for all plant life and all natures have the "key" which will unlock their secrets, if observed closely enough. The Seminole Indians in Florida know six months in advance when the tropical storms will occur, and the learned scientific department of the government of the United States cannot tell this. The Indians know by observations of the plants and sundry keys which nature gives. Indeed, there is an interlocked relation between everything, in the water, on earth, and in the sky, easily discernible by the man of close observation, just as thoroughly as certain conditions of the body will determine the ailment of the body, like a flat fingernail indicates a strong lung, and a round, pink fingernail indicates a weak lung. Nature always discloses its own key. The reasons therefor, I do not know, nor have I seen anybody who did, but observation will give us the lesson.

WITH OUR EXCHANGES

Lord Help Grandpappy!

THIS OLD AGE is getting to be a problem. In the good old days they say that age was just a natural act of nature. But now it has gotten to be a problem. There's the Old Age Townsend plan, Old Age Security, Old Age this and Old Age that, and now the Nine Old Men are in Dutch. One of these days someone is going to have a bright idea and it'll be a crime and death sentence to arrive at the senile age of fifty.—Briscoe County News.

Suggests Practical Ideas.

We read with some degree of weariness a few days back an enthusiastic and long article eulogizing the universities and other higher institutions of learning, and urging, if not demanding that more and more money be spent to enlarge their capacities that they may be able to educate more of the young people of the nation. The article was well written and in general, the idea was not a bad one, but the writer seemed to have left out, or overlooked, or laid off, before his task was completed. He never gave the matter of finding a job for these young people any notice whatever. Of course, having a job is no guarantee of happiness, or contentment, but neither does the mere possession of an education provide any thrills of well-being and contentment unless accompanied by a full stomach and proper raiment and means of natural amusement and entertainment. In fact, the uneducated mind nourished by a full stomach is more conducive to happiness and contentment than is the trained mind seeking nurture from an empty stomach. Education and the job are equally important for the young people who have the courage, the strength of character and the will power to make the sacrifices necessary to obtain a higher education. We are evidently, from the grade-school age up, putting too much cash and energy into the task of educating our young people, and too little of it in planning ways and means of providing them with jobs when they step out of college to take their places in the everyday affairs of life.—Farwell Tribune.

You Said It, Jeane!

Make a girl think she is beautiful and the ring is on her finger. Make a man feel he is brilliant and the noose is on his neck.—Jeane Suits in Lockney Beacon.

Need Crop Home Owners.

Of utmost importance to every community in this section, and to the entire Southwest as well, is the farm tenancy problem. Daily and weekly newspapers the nation over are urging legislators to do something to reverse the present trend toward increasing farm tenancy and decreasing home ownership.—Memphis Democrat.

Condron Calls Supreme Court Last Autocratic Department of American Govt.

Persons opposing President Roosevelt's proposed Supreme Court changes apparently think the people as a whole are too dumb to govern, and thus are attempting to preserve the one remaining "autocratic" department of American government, Dr. S. H. Condron of Canyon, said in a discussion of the judiciary controversy before the American Business Club luncheon in Amarillo Friday.

"We now have direct election of senators and almost direct election of President, but the people still have nothing to say about the Supreme Court," the West Texas State College government professor said.

Four Alternatives

He outlined four means by which the present governmental "crisis" can be met. One of these is by giving the President power to put additional judges on the Supreme Court. As other means, he suggested giving Congress wider powers over agriculture, child labor, minimum wage law, and other matters of current concern; giving Congress power to override a Supreme Court "veto" as it can a Presidential veto; and by requiring a Supreme Court majority of three-fourths to pass on constitutionality of laws.

In his talk before the civic club members, Dr. Condron reviewed briefly the history of the court and cited its five previous changes

OLD AGE PENSION LIBERALIZERS WIN SIGNAL VICTORIES

HOUSE ADOPTS RESOLUTION TO ASK ASSISTANCE OF COUNTY OFFICIALS

AUSTIN, March 3.—Old age pension liberalization advocates scored two victories in the House of Representatives last week.

By a vote of 80 to 39, the House adopted a resolution requesting pension officials to seek assistance of county commissioners in putting eligible persons on the rolls.

Some weeks ago the House approved a similar resolution, but speakers said old age assistance administrators had done nothing about it. County commissioners were asked to set aside three days weekly to consider pension applications.

The liberalizers blocked an attempt to send back to committee a pension liberalization measure, already once re-committed, so that a tax provision in the caption, which would permit addition of revenue amendments, could be eliminated.

Retention of the provision was sustained, 76 to 50. The state affairs committee recently eliminated tax provisions from the body of the bill, under instructions of the House which were estimated to raise $15,000,000 additional revenue.

An effort to set for special consideration Friday a bill proposing to increase the production tax on oil from 2 3-4 to 10 cents a barrel failed, 63 to 65, a two-thirds majority being necessary for approval.

The Senate unanimously passed a bill already approved in the House appropriating $125,000 for construction of a power plant at the state penitentiary in Huntsville and also adopted a House measure to appropriate $38,352 for a study of Rio Grande water distribution.

A resolution submitting a constitutional amendment which would free from double liability stockholders in state banks and which the author, Frank Rawlings, of Fort Worth, said would remove discrimination against such institutions likewise was passed.

Senator Gordon Burns of Huntsville indicated he would seek today to send a bill setting up the board of pardons and paroles under a constitutional amendment adopted last summer to a conference committee to adjust differences between the Houses.

Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul urged prompt action, pointing out the state was without clemency machinery. Gov. James V. Allred also had asked final passage at the earliest date.

Claude Moore spent Saturday night and Sunday in Amarillo visiting his sister, Mrs. G. P. Risley.

Miss Marguerite Heiner of Borger and Jim Nelson of Pampa spent the week end in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tyree.

Governor Ed Rivers of Georgia, a soil erosion enthusiast, favors damming all the rivers of his state except the chief executive.

An article in a leading magazine tells how a surgeon back east is beating the newspapers at the advertising game. He 'blocks' the nerves leaving the patient conscious and able to watch the procedure of the operation. Not only that, the lady subjects are provided with a telephone by which she may call her friends and keep up an interesting conversation detailing the progress of the operation. That's what one would call "the latest news."

County agent H. M. Breedlove, aside from a multitude of duties in each of which he is making good, directs the 4-H club boys. The calves and hogs to be exhibited here this Saturday speaks volumes for the energy of the county agent and the intelligence and enthusiasm of the boys under his guidance.

J. M. Hill is another young man 'going places' with practical instruction. He is director of the agricultural extension work in the local school. Aside from regular class work, J. M. takes his boys out on terracing jobs teaching them every step in the process of soil erosion prevention in the most practical manner. Then again, his FFA boys will have farm animals on exhibit here Saturday. Look 'em over folks.

Women can frame up the daddiest ideas. All during the present cold spell, GW has been nursing a sick chicken in a box in the bathroom. Probably she got the idea on the ranch years ago when she wrapped tiny calves in tow sacks and thawed them out in the oven of the cook stove. Those were great days! For what?

Cecil Beach has moved to 713 Beech street, Plainview Well, there is a double name for a seashore 700 miles from water.

Eight flood dams were constructed on the watershed near our town by WPA labor armed with shovels and wheelbarrows. Quite a feat, you'll say. But when one fellow claimed to have carried enough dirt in the cuffs of his pants to build one of the large dams, we'll just have to admit that old Donley leads in everything—even to liars.

There is being made a lot of racket about "raising money" down in the state legislature. We don't need any more taxes. We need most of all to stop the waste and use wisely what we are now getting. There has been enough money spent uselessly in the Old Age Assistance department to pay a third more than has been paid pensions. Why not stop that waste of a third of the money that belongs to the old folks? Money has been wasted like water in the Highway Department. Why not stop it and cut down taxes? In other words, if the graft and waste in Texas could be stopped, taxes could be reduced. It is not what we spend for necessities that makes for high taxes, it is the amount wasted.

Life stripped to the pink, you have your choice of pity and contempt if you fail, or envy and jealousy if you succeed.

Another Joe Miller joke that Bobby Burns will likely pull on the folks pretty soon has to do with a negro woman. The judge had listened to the evidence against the negro boy who happened to be the son of a negro woman, well thought of by the white folks. Finally the judge turned to the dejected mother and told her that if she had done her duty, her boy would not have been in trouble, arrested and brought before him for sentence. The old negro mammy looked the old judge squarely in the face with all the earnestness of her being and said:

"Jedge, has you eber been de daddy of a bad nigger boy? Effen you has, you know how bad dey is, an' Ah ain't to blame."

Ingratitude
We can be thankful to a friend for a few acres, or a little money; and yet for the freedom and command of the whole earth, and for the great benefits of our being, our life, health, and reason, we look upon ourselves as under no obligation.—Seneca.

Difficulty
What is difficulty? Only a word indicating the degree of strength requisite for accomplishing particular objects; a mere notice of the necessity for exertion; a bugbear to children and fools; only a stimulus to men.—Samuel Warran.

It would take more than nineteen hundred years to spend one billion dollars at the rate of one dollar a minute.

The word "cleave" has directly opposite meanings. It means to adhere closely, and also means to cut apart.

The word "news" originates from the letters that stand for the four directions of the compass, North, East, West, and South.

Chevrolet Factories Again Join Industrious Hum

DETROIT, Mich.—Chevrolet is making rapid strides toward resumption of the capacity operations interrupted by the recent strike, it was announced this week at the company's offices here. All the manufacturing plants are again running, as are ten of the eleven assembly plants throughout the country, the other being scheduled for reopening within the next few days.

Those most recently returned to the active list were Baltimore, which resumed operations Feb. 19, Buffalo and Kansas City, which opened the day previous, and Tarrytown, N. Y., and Atlanta, Ga., both of which resumed on February 22. Oakland, Calif., will reopen on Feb. 25.

Production in all plants, it was stated, will be accelerated as fast as possible, with 6,000 units a day as the goal. This is the rate at which the company was producing cars and trucks during the two record-breaking sales months of November and December, immediately following the introduction of its 1937 line.

Orders on hand in Chevrolet's dealers' establishments today, company officials said, exceed 100,000. With production gaining momentum daily, however, Chevrolet expects to be in a position to make quick deliveries in the near future.

Erosion Damage May Be Assessed Against Land In Carson County

PANHANDLE, March 4—On receipt of a written protest by anyone suffering from wind erosion damage due to negligence on other land, the Commissioners Court here will notify both the tenant and land owner that unless steps are taken to correct the wind hazard the court will hire work done with the cost charged against the land as a lien.

The procedure was adopted by the county following the set-up granted under the passage of House Bill No. 978. The law provides that the court shall be the governing body and as such they are empowered to take steps to control wind erosion in the county.

Forbearance
It is a noble and great thing to cover the blemishes, and to excuse the failings of a friend; to draw a curtain before his stains; and to display his perfections; to bury his weaknesses from the house-top.—Smith.

MIDWAY SCHOOL NEWS

March appeared on the scene like a lamb, and we all wish for her exit to be the same.

The Midway school board had a business meeting Monday night. Mr. Kavanaugh the Supt. was present and Mr. P. L. Arnold resigned as trustee. Mr. A. A. Pierce was elected president and John Naylor secretary.

Our school pupils seem to think that 11 more weeks of school sounds as if it is about out, however, it will be here before we realize it is time.

The boys and girls basketball teams played at Lelia Lake last Wednesday night. The boys won from Martin boys 9 to 3, and the girls lost to Lelia Senior girls 56 to 18.

We plan to start our playground ball this week and want to match some games with other schools.

Several of our girls are wearing new wash dresses, even Miss Harlan included so "spring" must be almost here.

Cotton Seed Injury To Cattle Is Myth

STILLWATER, Okla., Feb. 27.—There is no such thing as "cottonseed meal injury to dairy cattle," A. H. Kuhlman, dairy specialist at Oklahoma A&M College, said Tuesday. Nine-year tests at the college have proved that meal can be fed without fear of health injury, provided proper mineral and vitamin supplies are included in the ration. The meal is deficient in Vitamin A and D; this is the cause for the injury belief. Prairie hay should be given the cattle along with the meal to supply the vitamins, Mr. Kuhlman said.

Watch for the play "Goin' Modern".

Did you forget Texas birthday? We didn't. So many of us forget about our own state. We should be proud of our great state and the history through which our state passed. Let us not forget those men and women who made it possible for our free public schools. May God bless our people for another year. We are proud of being Texans.

PREHISTORICS OF DISTANT AGE BEING COLLECTED IN WEST TEXAS FOR MUSEUM

Misfortune which directed the hooves of tiny giant-headed horses into the treacherous quicksands of the Texas Panhandle more than a million years ago is now being hailed by Dr. C. Stuart Johnston, West Texas State Teachers College paleontologist, as good fortune for science.

Supervising a small band of WPA workmen, Dr. Johnston is discovering that the long-dried quicksand beds have preserved skeletal remains of the extinct horses in almost perfect condition. The prehistoric animal is described by Dr. Johnston as being slightly smaller than the modern pony but with a head as large as that of the average draft horse.

The WPA workers are excavating and helping to reconstruct a veritable menagerie of strange and extinct animals which once roamed the western plains of Texas. For several decades the rich fossil beds of West Texas have been combed for scientifically significant deposits by representatives of out-of-state museums and scientific institutions, Dr. Johnston said. With the provision of federal funds it has been possible to employ workers and researchers to excavate Texas fossils for Texas institutions. Reconstructed skeletons of prehistoric animals are being placed in the Panhandle Plains Museum on the WTSTC campus at Canyon.

In one 3,700-pound block now on exhibit at the museum are the bones of rhinos, camels, saber-tooth tigers, prehistoric dogs and horses, all figures in the million-year-old drama of the Texas Panhandle which is being unfolded by the small band of researchers. One of the rarest specimens uncovered by the workmen is a complete skeleton of the giant ground sloth, unearthed in Briscoe County.

Untrained workers rapidly become proficient in the unusual tasks involved in this project, Dr. Johnston reports, and several of the WPA workmen have been qualified as skilled workers in excavation and preservation of fossilized deposits.

Chides Carpenter for Remarks.

Editor Star-Telegram: Orville S. Carpenter says that we old age pensioners should be disfranchised. Possibly that is true, but why not disfranchise all those who voted for this measure as they are guilty in helping pass the measure, for we know those entitled to pensions, or seeking them were not numerous enough to have carried the measure at the polls. If Carpenter thinks the old men should be disfranchised for receiving aid from the Government then why not carry the matter further and disfranchise the framer, the cattleman, and all who have been receiving aid from the Government? Would not that be fair so that discrimination would not be directed at the older ones alone? Are we not all citizens of this country, and entitled to the same consideration?

Carpenter like a good many others is very solicitous as to the State's financial well being as long as it does not affect his slice if pie carved from the one baked by the State for distribution to the aged. The matter of administering the pension affairs could be materially lessened in cost were some people to whom an $800 a year salary would be excessive (ability considered) not given $8,000 a year. It seems that the list of pensioners is about selected, and amounts allowed them fixed, and the money is to be paid into the Treasury at Austin and disbursed from there. Then, why keep this high priced army of clerks and heavier timber, like Carpenter on the payrolls? Do away with something like $100,000 expenses a month and give it to the old and needy. What few applications that may come in from time to time may very readily be handled by our county commissioners at very little expense. I am aware this would cramp of our worthy politicians in that it would remove some of the pie from the basket, and their henchmen might go hungry.

What is a sad and tragic occurrence for the Nation is that when Roosevelt had out his drag net fishing for the brains of the country to help him run the Government that there should have been a tiny hole in one corner of the net and a "Carpenter" near this little hole, slid through and was lost. There could have been practically 200,000 on the pension rolls at slightly more cost than at present. Ten dollars per month from the State, matched by the National Government would give to each pensioner $20 per month on which he can exist—thereby having an equal amount for all and eliminating the howling that one is getting more than another. If Carpenter and others who so fear to what extent that wants and demands of the aged might be carried would look around them and see what is trying to be done by our bureaucratic and dictatorial leaders in national affairs to one of our oldest institutions of government—the Supreme Court of the United States, the only balance of power and safeguard between the people and our lawmaking body, which today seems bent on putting all of the power in one man's hands, and thereby shifting the responsibility placed on them by their constituency who placed them on office, they would have a much more serious matter over which to worry their brains. This is a matter which threatens the liberties of the whole people.

Personally, I am 76 years old, have not a dollar, and no way of making one, and I am not talking for myself, for I have been declared ineligible for help. If the old people who are receiving help are entitled to it by a majority of a vote of the whole people, then give it to them, and stop howling about it. If they are not entitled to it, then cut them off. And when the old have arrived at an age when they can no longer get anything to do to make a living, herd them into a room, turn on the gas and so end the matter.

Why bother the Governor about office, since they are both tarred with the same brush, which has been very evident since the Governor so radically changed his views on the pension question after the people had voted for him.

S. O. BREWER.

Definitely "On the Avenue" for IRVING BERLIN'S Twentieth Century-Fox musical of that title are ALICE FAYE (left), DICK POWELL and MADELEINE CARROLL.

Wednesday & Thursday—March 10-11th. at The Pastime.

A frown demands a greater expenditure of energy than a smile, fifty muscles being brought into action when frowning, while only thirteen are required for a smile.

If all the land in the United States were to be equally divided, there would be between sixteen and seventeen acres for each inhabitant.

It has been estimated that in a day the average farmer walks twenty-six miles, a letter carrier twenty-two, policeman fourteen, boys fifteen, girls eleven and a half and housewives eight.

NEW PATTERNS CREATED FOR FILM MUSICAL

Zanuck Calls Intimate Revue A 'Frontstage' Production

One way of getting something different in the way of musical screen fare is the procedure Twentieth Century-Fox adopted on its new Irving Berlin musical, "On the Avenue," starring Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll, which opens Wednesday at the Pastime Theatre.

By reversing age-worn dogmas of musical production, Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production, Associate Producer Gene Markey, Songwriter Irving Berlin, Director Roy Del Ruth and Dance Director Seymour Felix arrived at an entirely new type of screen entertainment.

Deciding against the too-familiar backstage musical, they appropriately dubbed "On the Avenue" a "frontstage" musical, inasmuch as a good deal of the action emanates from the audience of this show-within-a-show.

For further contrast, "On the Avenue" has no bevy of 150 girls doing mass routines on 15 acres of stage. Instead, 24 hand-picked girls are used on a stage that confines itself within a 50-foot proscenium, substituting for lavish display the true intimacy of the musical revue. Because of this the girls had to pass rigid photographic tests.

Each of the six songs written by Irving Berlin for the picture is an "idea" number. That is, they are not just love songs which a boy would sing to a girl, or vice versa, but have definite ideas in them which are carried out in the production.

In addition to Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll, the stars, "On the Avenue" features Alice Faye, The Ritz Brothers and George Barbier. Roy Del Ruth directed the screen play by Gene Markey and William Conselman, with Markey also acting as associate producer on the film.

The ordinary pins, so commonly used today, were once so expensive that only the wealthy people could afford them. The term "pin money" dates from that time, referring to the allowance a husband gave his wife to purchase pins.

THERE'S TEXAS GAS IN AUTO TIRES! THAT'S WHAT MAKES 'EM WEAR WELL!

Borger, Tex. (Special)—America's millions of automobiles roll on tires filled with just plain air—but there are billions of cubic feet of Texas natural gas in those tires, too.

Preposterous? Not at all. Of course, you don't put it in with a hose. But it's built into the tires in the form of carbon black, a little known but vital industrial commodity made almost exclusively from natural gas—and more than 81 per cent of the United States output is accounted for by Texas plants, says a report of the All-South Development Council.

Carbon black, the only article "manufactured" from natural gas as a raw material—unless one considers gas heat and light as manufactured articles, was Texas fourth ranking natural resource in value in 1936, its $11,000,000 valuation topped only by oil, natural gas-natural gasoline, and sulphur. And 87 per cent of United States consumption goes into automobile tires.

Produced by "purposely imperfect" combustion of gas, manufacture of carbon black uses nearly 250 billion cubic feet a year—almost as much as the nation's total household consumption of natural gas, which is spread over 35 states. Vigorous conservation efforts in the past few years have resulted in greatly curtailing gas wastage in the several processes for recovering this paradoxically precious "soot", and state university chemists are working on further refinements, the Council's report said.

Expansion of the carbon black industry in the Lone Star State, aided by technical improvements in packing and handling, and making of specialized types of black for specific uses, is expected to continue augmenting the state's growing industrial payroll. Popular recognition that such expansion and improvements depend largely on an aggressively friendly state attitude toward industries is becoming widely manifest, the report said.

Although in a sense carbon black is "just soot," chemical science has been unable to produce anything that will do the job it does in a number of industrial operations, most importantly that of rubber compounding. To a large extent the discovery, after the World War, of its unique qualities in making rubber hard and wear-resistant, has been responsible for the phenomenally greater mileage modern auto tires yield compared to those of 20 years ago.

Inks and paints, stove and shoe polishes, phonograph records, insulators, buttons, mortars, crayons and plastics use virtually all the carbon black not taken by the rubber industry. It is believed its cheap availability will induce development of many of these industries in Texas.

Texas has risen rapidly to its dominance in carbon black manufacture, since the Lone Star State did not figure at all in production of this commodity until 1923. The Panhandle district—Carson, Gray, Hutchinson and Wheeler counties—produces 95 per cent of the state's annual total of 275 million pounds, the rest being made in the Breckenridge district—Eastland and Breckenridge counties. Louisiana accounts for nearly all the rest of United States production, Oklahoma and Wyoming having a negligible share.

Most of the world's requirements of this "intentional soot"—which now can be had in tiny pellets that won't even soil one's hands—are supplied by the United States, with exports running around 37 per cent of the national production total. The Galveston port clears 50 per cent of these exports, New Orleans about 31 per cent. England, France, Germany, Canada and Australia are the leading foreign customers.

Indianapolis is the largest city in the world not located on navigable water.

Mr. and Mrs. Matheson of White Deer, Miss Frances Chote of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Burson and Millard Chote of Leveland visited the week end with their mother, Mrs. Hays Robins.

SIDELIGHTS

By Marvin Jones

On March 4, various states throughout the nation are holding Democratic victory dinners to celebrate the continuation of the present Administration. In Washington the guests of honor are President Roosevelt and Vice-President Garner.

The Democratic National Committee has asked me to address the Delaware victory dinner at Wilmington, the state capital.

March 4 is the day on which the president and vice-president were inaugurated for many years until the Lame Duck Amendment changed the date to January 20. It was on March 4, 1933, that the present Administration took office.

It was a day of solemnity and of hope—solemnity because of the discouragement that had gone before; hope because of the new road that suddenly opened ahead.

That date is a landmark in the life of every citizen in the land.

We have all been witnesses of the improvements that have taken place in the past four years. We have seen a program take shape for agriculture. We have seen thousands of homes, in the city and on the farm, saved from foreclosure. We have seen the development of programs of emergency relief and of public works and of housing.

And on last November, the nation expressed its desire to continue this work.

One of the numerous indications of the general upward trend is the recent announcement of the Treasury Department that not a single bank failure was recorded during the past year. This establishes a 55-year record.

It is a startling contrast to that short time ago we all remember well, when conditions grew steadily worse until a banking holiday was necessary.

Four years ago there was banking chaos. Today the Treasury describes conditions as "very satisfactory."

Last month a national conference of farmers and representatives of farm organizations met in Washington to formulate suggestions concerning a long-range program for agriculture. The House Agriculture Committee also recently held a consultation with farm leaders to hear their views.

Proposals made at these meetings included the suggestion that the time for state administration of the soil conservation program be extended two years; further provision for marketing agreements and orders; and consideration of a storage and ware-housing program which would insure against a shortage during drought years as well as providing for better marketing conditions generally. It was also felt in these meetings that the drive should be toward securing a fairer share of the national income for the farmers and ranchmen of America.

We are all interested in the various activities. Some are working in literary fields while others are spending their time preparing themselves for the track events. We are hoping that we will do as well in the contests as we did last year.

It seems that the community play, the cast of which includes our illustrious principal and one eminent pupil, is quite popular. It was presented last week end at Ash-tola and was received with great applause. The last presentation of this play, "Aunt Jerushy on the Warpath," will be Friday evening at Martin schoolhouse, March 5. Those who have seen it say it is a very funny play. Try not to miss it at Martin. A very small admission will be charged.

We will tell you more about the game we played with Midway, Tuesday, March 2, next week. These games are usually great fun. We regret to see so many absences here of late on the account of sickness. We hope that no epidemics get started this year to break up our chances in the League Meet. Hark! Music comes to our ears from the primary room. We shall soon be hearing from our Rythm Band.

Two Billion --- DOLLARS

American Farmers

A better place for this two billion dollars is in the farmer's pocket-book. Following a farm-tested sanitation program will put it there.

Two billion dollars wasted every year! That's the annual toll taken in the United States by worms, germs and parasites—more than is spent for automobiles. Unfortunate as it is the feeding of worms and parasites is fast becoming one of the nation's major industries.

"We've got to start cleaning up," says Grafton Lothrop, head of the Sanitation Department of Purina Mills. "A great part of the two billion dollar loss could be prevented if farmers would only perform the most basic sanitative precautions. A big percentage of the money that goes to bugs might just as well find its way into the farmer's pocket-book. Following a farm-tested program of sanitation brings more profits. Animals and fowls naturally do better in clean surroundings.

Sanitation is Insurance
"Start with good stock. Provide good surroundings. Feed well. And keep everything sanitary. Those are the four legs of profitable livestock and poultry production," the Purina sanitation expert points out. "The fourth leg is the farmer's insurance on his investment. A man can't get insurance after his house is burned. Neither can sanitation be effective after chicks and livestock are dead. That's why a sanitation program must be started early—before there is a chance to lose. Truly that old adage: 'an ounce of precaution is worth a pound of cure,' never came nearer hitting the mark than it does when referring to sanitation.

"Every poultryman knows how delicate baby chicks are. It doesn't take many germs to destroy their little bodies. Many baby chick losses can be directly traced to disease and parasite. An ounce of prevention would have saved them. Every time a chick dies the owner loses. He loses not only the immediate value of the chick, and the feed that has gone into it, but also the potential value of the bird as a future money maker.

Scrub All Equipment
"Before chicks arrive, the brooder house and all equipment should be thoroughly scrubbed and cleaned,"

Lothrop advises. "To disinfect the walls, floors and ceilings, a solution of one-fourth pint of cre-so-fec to every gallon of scrub water is an effective germ and parasite killer. Disease germs spread rapidly through drinking fountains and troughs. Colds, bronchitis and brooder pneumonia pass quickly from chick to chick so that every precaution must be taken to keep fountains and hoppers clean. Chloroxa (one tablespoonful to every three gallons of water) makes a germ-killing solution for disinfecting feed and drinking troughs. As a further precaution one-half tablespoonful of chloroxa should be added to every five gallons of drinking water. That's an accurate strength solution that can always be depended upon to do the job. Too strong a solution will cut down the chicks' consumption of water and slow up growth. If the solution's too weak, it doesn't kill germs.

Profits From Cleanliness
"Health and condition are important factors in the production of profitable pork, beef, milk, and wool. Animals producing these products need protection against the spread of disease and parasites. Half-way measures simply won't do the job. It's a matter of 'clean up and disinfect,'" Lothrop says. "For general disinfecting to keep down germs, spray with a medium strength solution of cre-so-fec and water. If disease is present, the strength of the solution should be increased and a more thorough cleansing job done.

"In raising livestock and poultry, you are dealing with life—and life at its best is uncertain," Lothrop emphasizes. "The health of animals and fowls must be protected if profitable production is expected. Cre-so-fec is five times as strong as carbolic acid, and has the added advantage of being soapy, so that it does a better job of cutting through the dirt. Cre-so-fec mixes readily with hot or cold water, stays mixed, and retains its strength. It is one of the government approved disinfectants for use in stockyards, livestock cars and trucks for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, hog cholera and other diseases."

James Eli Cannon and Miss Lee Ola Peabody were united in marriage at midnight Saturday at the home of the pastor, Rev. J. Perry King, who officiated. They were accompanied by Miss Leona Peabody, twin sister of the bride.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peabody, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cannon.

The newly-weds will make their home in Denver where Mr. Cannon has been employed for several months. The Leader joins with the many friends of the young couple in wishing them every happiness.

BRIDE IS COMPLIMENTED WITH SHOWER

Honoring Mrs. Glenn Riley, who, before her recent marriage was Miss Ruth Rhodes, a shower was given Friday afternoon, Feb. 26th, by Mrs. Jack Perkins.

The shower was introduced when little Miss Betty Jo Smallwood and Betty Jo Rhodes entered with a wagon laden with gifts.

Dainty refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Bruce Riley, J. N. Riley, Glen Rieger, Floyd Parker, Clyde Butler, Starr Johnson, C. J. Holland, Ray Finchum, J. A. Black, Life Smallwood, Everett Stevenson, Roy Stewart, Carl Tyree, Mattie Lewis, Ben Hill, John Rhodes, Clyde Hudson, Howard Stewart, and Misses Mayme and Frankye Smallwood, Mona Churchman, Irene and Ailene Rhodes, Juanelle Stevenson and Gilbert Stewart, Mrs. Glenn Riley the honoree, and Mrs. Jack Perkins, the hostess.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were: Mesdames Doss Palmer, Elmer Palmer, S. D. Churchman, Neely Hudson, H. M. Stewart, Dick Eichelberger, Jim Johnson, Arnold Baten, D. T. Smallwood, Bill Todd, L. L. Johnson, Dennis Smith, H. S. Mahaffey, and Misses Orene and Tommie Riley, Eloise Hill, Laura Black, Mattie Rhodes, Bertie and Uva Stewart and Johnnie Stewart.

PATHFINDER CLUB

The Pathfinder Club resumed its Travel, Historical program, Feb. 26th, with New Orleans the subject under the capable leadership of Mrs. R. E. Drennan.

Miss Temple Harris gave a brief historical sketch of the city (the Metropolis of the South) from its beginning, Feb. 1718 with 100 huts, one store and 200 inhabitants, to the present time when it has about 500,000 population.

Mrs. Sella Gentry's description of "Scenes of Interest in and near New Orleans" was appreciated all the more as it was personal observations from a recent visit there.

The leader, Mrs. Drennan presented a fine paper on "The Evangeline Country", the Home of the "Cajuns."

The Negro spiritual "Deep River" was beautifully rendered by Mesdames J. H. Howze, Frank Heath and W. G. Word with Mrs. Allen Bryan at the piano.

Twenty-eight members and guests, Mrs. W. G. Word, Mrs. Geo. McCluskey, Mrs. Clarence Whitlock, and Mrs. Knox Dunlap of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas were served delicious refreshments by the hostesses, Mrs. W. C. Stewart, Mrs. C. G. Stricklin.

WIN ONE S. S. CLASS

Mrs. J. R. Porter entertained the Win One S. S. Class of the Methodist Church at her home Monday afternoon. Mrs. E. D. Landreth led the devotional.

The class has pieced and quilted a quilt for their little orphan at the Waco home and also planned and discussed her spring clothes. Also local relief work was discussed. Mrs. Porter served an ice course refreshment to 15 members.

Bank At Mobeetie Is The Oldest In The Panhandle

Cashier Says It Started In '80s When Customers Left Cash At Store

Panhandle, March 3.—The First State bank of Mobeetie is just about the oldest financial institution in the Panhandle, says H. L. Flanagan, cashier.

Although it was not incorporated until 1906, it had its beginning a way back in the 1880's Flanagan said, when ranchmen began to leave their money with John Long for safekeeping.

Long, who still is the bank's president, came with the first soldiers who moved in to establish Fort Elliott, being then an army teamster.

He accepted a discharge from the service and went into business for himself, first operating a saloon and later changing to the mercantile business.

Long must have pleased customers who entrusted their cash to his safekeeping, for that department of his business grew and he decided to open a bank. He did business as private bank until 1906, when the First State was incorporated.

Home Bakery Prepares For Eighth Birthday Party Next Month

Huffman's Home Bakery will celebrate their eighth anniversary next month with a big birthday party if present plans work out, Coley Huffman owner, said yesterday.

Huffman is now completely remodeling and rearranging his entire bakery and a large new oven has been ordered to accommodate the growth in business, he stated. "If the oven arrives in time we are going to have open house," he said, "I want everyone to see the improvements and witness the sanitary baking of the wholesome 'Honeynut' bread."

This week, remodeling began. Walls and woodwork have been repainted and varnished. A new linoleum has been laid and work started on a balcony office and store room.

Martin School Girls Earn Volley Ball Monday

In need of a volley ball, the girls of the Martin school hit upon the plan of candy sales Monday as a means of securing funds. They did a good job of it here in Clarendon.

Misses Emma Davis, Cora Lee Jordan, Willie Nell Shannon, Christine Pittman, Oleta Marshall, Melba Christie and Doris Bailey were the winsome candy salesladies to get the job done. No better committee could have been selected, thinks a number of candy purchasers here.

Last Week For Net Practice Before Elimination Begins

Clarendon High School tennis stars are leveling down to hard work this week as parings for elimination rounds will get underway Monday.

Coach Glen Allison is expecting hard won matches and those who emerge to carry the high school banner into the county meet will have tough battles.

Places will be ceded and brackets completed by time for the first bouts Monday afternoon, Allison said.

Clarendon Expected To Be Strong In Jr. Softball

Woodrow Hazelwood, director of the softball division of the county league, said yesterday that Clarendon forces in the junior department will be hard to down when they clash for honors soon.

Dates for the tourney have not been announced yet but diamonds are being groomed to accommodate many teams at once.

Lelia Athletes Turn To Track Field And Tennis

With basketball tucked away for the year, Lelia Lake High School athletes are turning toward track, field and tennis, coach Frank McInnis said yesterday.

Led by the twinkling toes of H. R. King who traveled to the state finals in the class B division last year, ten boys began limbering up this week to try their skill in class A company.

Both boys and girls, candidates for net honors, are putting in spare time on the courts, and Lelia is expected to be a strong contender at the county meet this month.

GILES NEWS

SCHOOL and COMMUNITY

Margrete Perkins, Editor —REPORTERS— Paul Bailey Irene Proffitt D. T. McCann

In spite of the bad weather the Giles community was well entertained with a party in the school auditorium, Friday night. Many enjoyed successful forty-two games, while others were entertained with other games. Several enjoyed lots of good candy and music.

We had a good attendance out of the community and several out of county visitors.

We would have expected to see more out if the weather had been more suitable.

Mrs. J. P. Stogner of Lubbock died Saturday evening about five p. m. and was buried at Clarendon Sunday evening at four p. m. She has lived at Hedley for about a year. She has many friends of this community.

The home of Mrs. J. D. McCants and daughters was destroyed by fire here lately. Gas fumes from a light, ignited by the kerosene heater was the probable cause of the flames. Due to the fact that there was no one near to help Mrs. McCants and the wind was extremely high, nothing at all was saved from the house.

R. O. Proffitt and family moved from Giles. They will make their home near McKnight for the next year.

Hub Lemons of this community has returned from work in Fort Worth to spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lemons.

Hub Foster of this community has returned from Sunray to spend the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartzog spent the week end in Amarillo visiting their grandmother, who is a patient in St. Anthony's Hospital. Her condition is rapidly improving.

Announcement has been made by Mr. Hartzog that rural basketball for Donley County will meet Friday and Saturday of the third week in March (March 19 and 20)

Notice to this effect has been filed with the County Superintendent for publication and should appear elsewhere in this paper. This date has been chosen to avoid conflict with other meetings during March.

Location for the event has not yet been established, but will be announced next week.

ALDRIDGE—BLAND Miss Ruby Dell Aldridge of Hedley and Travis Bland were united in marriage on Saturday, February 27th.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. J. W. Aldridge and is a graduate of Hedley High School. She has many friends there.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bland of this community.

BRIANS—MANN Miss Irene Brians of Childress County and Gordon Mann of Hedley were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, February 28th.

The bride completed the tenth grade at Giles where she lived several years before moving to Childress.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hedley High School.

We have lived in this country too long to hope for any more than we already have, so we simply say, "Thanks for good weather already received."

Future of Dairy Herd Depends on How Calves Are Handled

"The future of any milking herd often depends on how calves are handled," says W. R. Arends, dairy authority of the Purina Mills. "This puts a definite responsibility on the shoulders of the man who cares for the calves from the time they are dropped until they become part of the milking herd. It is not only cheaper to raise heifer calves than to buy cows, but by raising one's own helpers a herd can be built just about the way a dairyman wants it."

Feed Highly Important

"The importance of feed for the calf cannot be over-emphasized," Arends says. "Feed must provide the things from which bones, sinews, muscles, and blood are made. A well-developed frame, and depth in the middle are determined by what the calf gets to eat. First food for the calf should be the mother's colostrum milk. This milk is laxative and performs the job of setting the digestive system in motion. If it is necessary to take the calf from the cow, the calf may be fed from a pail. But nature has taught the calf to look up for its milk so it should be made to stretch its neck out to drink from a pail. As in nursing, the neck should be outstretched so that the opening into the rumen or first stomach is naturally closed, preventing milk from entering. The first stomach in a small calf is dormant. Whenever milk enters, it lies there and ferments. This causes scours."

Need More Than Skim Milk

"Milk alone will not provide all the things calves need for profitable growth," Arends points out. "Milk is about 87 percent water, which means that a gallon of milk is really about seven pounds water and one pound solids. As the calf grows and develops its requirements for solid matter increase beyond what milk alone can supply for maximum growth. In a properly balanced dry feed calves are supplied with the nutrients they need."

"After years of research work the Purina Research Staff has discovered how to fill calf's needs through a complete feed, known as calf startena."

By feeding a little milk at the start, then feeding calf startena with hay, the calf gets exactly what it needs.

Begin Feeding Fourth Day

"The new calf feed is given baby calves when four days old. It's kept before them at all times, but it is never advisable to place in the troughs more than a day's feed at a time, subjecting it to possibilities of becoming damp."

"The feeding schedule for calves worked out by Purina scientists calls for mother's milk the first three days, after which start with two quarts of milk per day working up to four quarts daily at beginning of second week. At end of second week, the calf should be getting five quarts daily, which should be continued through the third week. At beginning of fourth week, cut milk back to three quarts a day, at end of fourth week, cut out milk entirely. Along with this limited milk feeding program, keep calf startena, hay, and water before the calf. These directions are for Holstein and Ayrshire calves. For Guernsey and Jersey calves, the amount of milk is slightly reduced."

"By the end of the fourth week, the calf is used to dry feed so is weaned. No more milk is needed because the calf's complete needs are taken care of in calf startena, hay, and water. With this kind of feeding it isn't long before the calf is well on its way to becoming a profitable money-making first-calf heifer."

SOIL WASTE IS NOW GREATEST PROBLEM

President of Texas A&M Outlines Conservation Policies

COLLEGE STATION, March 3.—President T. O. Walton of Texas A&M College, back from recent conferences in Washington at which representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture outlined policies of the government's new soil conservation program, said the federal department's spokesmen indicated they would cooperate in any sound soil conservation legislation, in harmony with the National Act, the various states might enact. The department's representatives further indicated, he said, that they did not seek arbitrarily to influence soil conservation legislation in the various states.

In view of impending legislative action in Texas and this matter, President Walton, speaking as the head of an institution which, through its Agricultural Experiment Station and Agricultural Extension Service, has for years carried on an active soil and water conservation program said:

"In establishing soil conservation policies by legislation, it is recommended to the farmers primarily and others interested that careful consideration be given to maximum use of the present national, state and county agencies and local governmental units rather than to the creation of new governmental units or agencies. And whatever program is adopted should be one so shaped as to apply to the farm land and to farm accomplishments the very largest percentage possible of funds made available from national, state and local sources. This means, in other words, that the program should be one of minimum administrative cost so that the actual benefit to the land will be the maximum possible from funds made available. These ends can be best accomplished if a maximum of state and local control is maintained."

"A soil wastage prevention program is after all a program that by its very nature and cost will require an extended period of time. It cannot be done in a day. Its ultimate success will depend in large part upon the attitude of the farmer himself and the cooperation he receives from agencies to which he may most naturally look for help. The program thus involves not only an educational feature but a close contact with familiar and sympathetic cooperating agencies. State and local agencies with which the farmer has already worked and in cooperation with which he has already made progress are naturally in a more favored position to carry on the work than would be a new and, at least for the time being, an unfamiliar set-up."

Texas A&M College, President Walton went on to say, is not primarily interested in any specific legislation in this field except wherein it may effect a sound state soil conservation program. In amplification, he added, the college is interested in soil conservation on every farm for the sake of improved agriculture and its benefits to the individual farmer. He also pointed out that when soil erosion is prevented, a major contribution is made to the solution of the flood control problem.

ternational interests are scheduled. Frank L. McNeny, director general of the exposition announced today. Some of the unusual events on the exposition's program are the Pan American Olympics to be directed by George P. Marshall, nationally famous Washington sportsman and international automobile- and air plane racer. Mr. McNeny said that dates for the school contest winners' visits to the world's fair at Dallas will be announced as soon as the program is completed.

The contest is divided into 24 supervisory districts of the State Department of Education. In this way, the contestants will compete by districts and the individual pupil will have greater opportunity to win one of the 384 valuable prizes. The contest is open to sixth and seventh grade pupils of the white public schools who may compete in the elementary division; and to the high school pupils of the white public schools who will enter the high school division.

First prize in each of those two divisions in each of the 24 districts of the state will be an expense-paid trip to the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition. Second prize in each district will be $10 cash, and six $2 cash prizes will be given also.

Pupils may enter the contest by asking their school principals to write to the Greater Texas Committee, 1101 Commerce St., Dallas, Texas, for copies of the contest book "The Tale of A City and Two Expositions". These books will be sent without cost to every school principal in the quantity he requisitions.

$200 RARE BOOK OF BLUE LAWS 1650 ANNOUNCES DEATH FOR WITCHES AND STRICT CODES FOR DAILY BEHAVIOR

A book of rare value was recently discovered in a second-hand book store in New York City. The book, one of three volumes known to be in print, is valued at more than $200, though it was sold for 25 cents last week. It has to do with early "Blue Laws" of Connecticut and "Witchcraft" of the early colonists.

The Puritans depended heavily on the Bible for their authority in establishing the blue laws. Many of the articles end with references to specific sections of the scriptures.

Death for Witches.

Here is an example: "If any man or woman bee a Witch, that is, hath or consulteth with a familiar spirritt, they shall bee put to death. Exodus 22, 18. Levit. 20, 27. Deut. 18, 10, 11."

The book contains the Code of 1650, a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the General Court of Connecticut, and extracts from the laws and judicial proceedings of New Haven Colony, commonly called the Blue Laws.

There are many laws concerning relations with Indians.

Occasionally the Puritans showed leniency, as indicated by this sentence in the proceedings of a General Court Feb. 5, 1639:

"John Fenner, accused of being drunke with strong waters, was acquitted, it appearing to be an infirmity, and occasioned by the extremity of the cold."

In Stocks for Stealing.

However: "William Bromfield, Mr. Malbon's man was sett in the stocks for prophaning the Lord's Day and stealing wine from his master, which he drunk and gave to others.

"David Anderson was whipped for being drunke."

William Harding, who apparently was a bad character brought trouble to others, according to this paragraph:

"Goodman Hunt and his Wife,

Autos Killed 1,885 Texans During 1936

The Department of Public Safety released Friday statistics showing that 1,885 persons were killed in Texas in automobile accidents during 1936, of which 194, or 9.5 per cent, were school children. Computed on the basis of population, 31.4 persons were killed for each 100,000 in 1935 and 29.2 in 1936.

Of the total killed 48 per cent were passengers, 30 per cent drivers and 22 per cent were pedestrians. Forty-six per cent of the accidents occurred in cities and towns and 54 per cent in rural areas. Thirty-nine per cent of the accidents occurred in daylight and 61 per cent at night hours.

Causes of accidents were: 26 per cent, speeding; 21 per cent, pedestrians hit; 12 per cent, carelessness; 9 per cent, failure to heed signals; 6 per cent, weather; 4 per cent, mechanical failure; 3 per cent, drunken driving; 2 per cent, road conditions; 17 per cent undetermined.

Causes of children's deaths were 46 per cent, killed as pedestrians; 17 per cent, motor vehicle crashes; 14 per cent, on scooters or bicycles; 10 per cent, noncollision accidents; 4 per cent, grade crashes; 2 per cent, killed as motor vehicle struck horse; 6.5 per cent, cause unreported.

MANY TESTS USED FOR DETERMINING QUALITY OF EGGS

Things to Look for When Breaking Out Eggs.

Most people decide whether an egg is good or bad by its odor. Some discriminate further between eggs on the way they "break out." The grocer nakes his decision on egg quality by what he sees when he holds them against a light. He distinguishes between fresh eggs and old ones by the size of the air space in the blunt end. The larger the air cell the older the egg. The grocer also throws out eggs that show meat spots or internal discolorations.

But the hotel chef uses all these tests, and others. He usually serves eggs in pairs. To make an attractive plate of ham and eggs to sell at 50 cents to $1.25, the two yolks must be nearly the same color. He knows that the attractiveness of food is one of the best ways of bringing business to his establishment.

Eggs Should Look Alike

When the waiter sings out "Two up, with their eyes open," the chef wants to be able to send out two eggs as nearly alike as possible. He doesn't want eggs with deep yellow or reddish yellow yolks, for besides being unattractive in appearance he knows they are likely to have a strong flavor. Eggs with whitish yolks are just as displeasing. What the chef really hopes for when he cracks the egg is one with light lemon-yellow yolk, plenty of thick white, and a slightly tart taste. Premiums are paid for such eggs because they can be served to the most discriminating patrons with the expectation of "repeat" orders.

As alike as this when the shell is on.

Perhaps the most exacting test of an egg is its appearance after poaching. An egg should stand up well, and should hold together. Because the white of a high quality egg is thicker and stands up higher on the yolk there is very little white lost in the water. Every chef or cook knows this. They know also there will be no big pieces of white floating around when a quality egg is poached. With an ordinary egg, as much as 25 percent of the white may be lost in the cooking.

Other Quality Tests Made

In the Research Laboratories of the Purina Mills several additional tests have been devised for checking egg quality. Breakage strength of the shell is tested with a specially constructed apparatus. The white is drawn from the egg by means of a small glass pipette and both the thick and thin white measured in a graduated cylinder.

As unlike as this when cooked.

Yolks are measured for both height and diameter. The yolk of a good egg is firm and stands up well. Stale eggs or eggs of poor quality contain yolks that flatten out, break easily, and are not firm. Quality egg yolks have a wholesome, slightly acid or tart flavor. A stale egg has a flat taste.

'Control Feeding' Recommended

But a more important problem from the poultryman's and consumer's point of view is how to produce eggs that measure up to these tests—how to build eggs that look good, stand up well when cooked, have a tart, delicious taste, and contain more food value than ordinary eggs.

Feeding for "controlled interiors" is the answer both science and practical poultry raisers give. Through a control plan of feeding, hens can be made to produce exactly the kind of eggs the housewife wants.

In the Purina Research Laboratories an all-in-one laying mash that gives "controlled interiors" has been developed. Hens fed on this complete feed produce uniformly high-quality eggs, each with an invariable vitamin and food value content. Uniformity of yolk color, thick whites, and correct taste are all features of eggs produced on this control feeding program. More about this plan of producing "controlled interiors" of eggs can be learned at any store selling checker-board feeds.

Townsend Found Guilty of Contempt

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Dr. F. E. Townsend heard a federal jury declare last week that he was guilty of contempt of the House of Representatives.

The verdict laid the old age pension man open to a possible jail sentence for his sensational walk-out last May on a House committee investigating the Townsend movement. The maximum penalty is $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

"The verdict was not unexpected," Townsend said. "We have some reason to expect such a verdict here, but expect to win eventually. In any case, my work will go on. This will make no difference."

Justice Peyton Lordon allowed the 70-year-old doctor three days in which to file a motion for a new trial and delayed passing sentence until after action on the motion.

Elisha Hanson, Townsend counsel, said that if the motion were overruled the case would be appealed on the grounds Justice Gordon erred in excluding evidence on the "justification" for Dr. Townsend's walkout.

Townsend, in leaving the committee room, had called the questioning "unfair."

It took the jury only 50 minutes to reach a verdict. The jurors heard only two defense witnesses, Townsend himself, and Rep. Tolan, Democrat, California, a Townsendite and member of the investigating committee.

"ALL'S NOT GOLD"

The venerable gold piano at the White House which came to live there in the Administration of Theodore Roosevelt is soon to retire to the National Museum. For thirty years it has served in a musical capacity and as a "sight" for sight-seers. Now it can be told, however, that it was not wholly a success in either respect. Talented musicians invited to play at the Executive Mansion have been known to hint that there were other pianos they would as willingly play. Its rococo magnificence escaped neither notice nor comment. And thereby hangs a tale:

Once upon a time an attractive young school teacher from Massachusetts shepherded a group of students to Washington to see the capital at vacation time. Of course, the East Room and the gold piano were among the sights. The young teacher stepped up to the piano and put her hand on it.

"Please do not touch the furniture," admonished a guard, tapping her on the shoulder.

This teacher told the story years later.

"The piano was so ugly I felt like kicking it," she said.

That teacher was Grace Goodhue. She became Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and found the piano still there when she became mistress of the White House. Evidently, she never changed her opinion about it, for she is said to have confessed that she did give it a couple of kicks when she could do so with no one to say her nay.

SOMEBODY HAD TO INVENT A SAFER TIRE

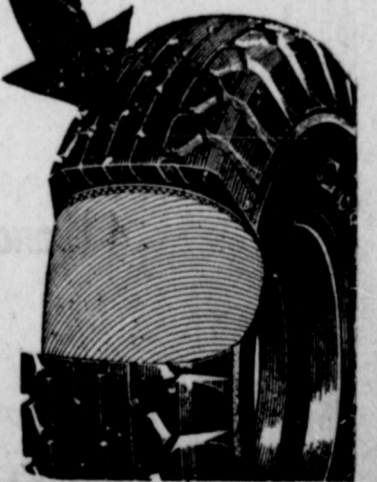

GOODRICH DID IT—AND WE HAVE IT

CARS have been made safer; highways improved—still thousands are killed or injured every year in blow-out accidents! Realizing that the terrific heat generated inside all tires at high speeds was the great unseen cause of blow-outs, Goodrich engineers set to work to develop a safer tire—a tire that would give real blow-out protection.

Their answer was the Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Golden Ply. The Golden

Ply is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist this terrific blowout-causing heat. And think of it! The Goodrich Safety Silvertown is the only tire in the world with this Life-Saver Golden Ply. Play safe. Come in and let one of our experts show you how this amazing device protects you against dangerous high-speed blow-outs. And remember, Silvertowns cost even less than other super-quality tires.

These business men congratulate the youth of Donley county in their noble efforts to achieve higher standards in producing better grades of Herefords and Hogs.

Our young men are steadily setting new standards worthy of emulation by their elders. They are blazing new trails in pioneering in new methods that determine the success of beef and pork production in the Panhandle.

We welcome you 4-H Club and F.F.A. boys to our city. May you gather new ideas and greater inspiration to continue your efforts until that time comes when you produce National Champions.

With your intelligent efforts; a fine grade of stock coupled with a climate that is found most satisfactory in meat production of finest grades, there is every encouragement to strive for greater honors.

New York World's Fair Site From 9,000 Feet Up

NEW YORK, (Special).—Photography and ingenuity combine to show about how the New York Fair will appear in 1939 to visitors arriving from the west in planes flying at an altitude of one and three-quarters miles. Cameraman made this "shot" from a plane over the New Jersey meadows. Shown in the foreground is the shipping along the Hudson—Manhattan with its towers grouped about the Empire State building (center) which houses present headquarters of the Fair—and in the middle distance the 1,216½ acre site of the 1939 international exposition. To the right lies Brooklyn and, beyond, the hinterland of Long Island. At the extreme left, spanning the East river, is the new Triborough bridge over which many of the 50,000,000 visitors expected at the Fair will motor to the convenient parking lots. A photograph of the table model of the Fair has been superimposed on the negative of the air view to show the grid of the central exhibit zone, the boat basin being constructed on Flushing Bay and the lagoons that will feature the exposition's amusement zone.

Fingerprinting Urged As Aid To Liquor Clean-up

Compulsory finger-printing of all persons engaged in the sale of alcoholic beverages "as a means of cleaning up the liquor trade," is urged by Miss Ethel Hubler of Los Angeles, member of the National Temperance Council, in a communication which is today on the desk of every state liquor control board in the United States for consideration.

"More than 1200 men and women with criminal records have recently sought liquor licenses in Southern California," declared Miss Hubler in her letter to liquor control bodies. "These startling figures have just come to light, following the enforcement of compulsory finger-printing of all liquor license applicants in the Southern California area. Included on the list were the following: murder, 11; burglary, 47; counterfeiting, 9; arson, 12; drunken driving, 69; and many other criminal offenders.

"A number of 'wanted criminals' were apprehended and many persons with long police records, including several murderers, were prevented from selling liquor as a direct result of the fingerprinting experiment," Miss Hubler declared.

It is urged that similar regulations be put into effect immediately in every state where alcoholic beverages are sold "as a means of eliminating a large part of the criminal element now in the ranks of the liquor trade."

"Such a regulation would, to some extent, assure the drinker who is prone to get 'chummy' with the man across the bar that he is not fraternizing with an ex-bank bandit, a counterfeiter, or a burglar," Miss Hubler said. "It would seem to me that retailers and wholesalers of beer, wines, and liquors, who wish to put their business on a more respectable basis would, themselves, initiate a campaign for compulsory finger-printing, in order to rid the trade of undesirables."

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carter of Lubbock were visiting in Clarendon the week end.

AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

J. Perry King, Pastor

There is Always Worship Fellowship :: Service

February is gone and March is here. How time does fly! Life is full of endings, but every ending is a new beginning. We can start a better chapter in our church life next Sunday, by attending all of

he. services. We have intended for a long time to break with indifference and serve the Lord more devotedly. Let us start the first Sunday in March. One of the most useless things on earth is a good intention that has never been made to get up and hustle for a living.

The spirit of indifference cannot produce a spiritual harvest. Religious apathy will not create a hunger for God. Living ones faith is the best method of defending it. God provides food for every little bird, but he does not throw it in the nest. Even in the dictionary the word success comes after the word hustle

Oranges can be produced without a tree just as easily as great churches without workers. Would you have hope rise above doubt, faith put down scepticism, joy drive out sorrow, optimism conquer pessimism? Then be faithful to the relationships of life as related to the will of God. Church going will help greatly in rightly relating yourself to the realities of time and eternity. Try it next Lord's Day.

A Negro Male Quartett from Houston, Texas, will sing at 7:45, the evening preaching hour at the Baptist Church. If you enjoy the great old Southern negro spirituals you will enjoy this service. Training Service at 6:45.

MY PRAYER

So oft I gaze on my little boys,
 When they have discarded all their toys,
 And are sweetly sleeping in their bed—
 Wonder where in life they will be led.

All my hopes for pleasure are with them,
 All aim for the future is for them,
 But how it shall turn out is hidden,
 I want to know but 'tis forbidden.

Could I but know they would make wise men,
 How peaceful I could be until then,
 But the future is a blank slate,
 I must be content with my hopes great.

But somehow, Father God, may this be,
 That they shall be true to You and me.

—Maloy Byrns.

Mr. and Mrs. Regan Bryan of Turkey spent Sunday with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Land.

ORCHESTRAS OF ANCIENT EGYPT IMITATED VARIED SOUNDS NATURE

The first Egyptian temple was built at Sais sixteen thousand years ago. The age is well authenticated as it was built by Thoth at the commencement of Egyptian history. This is confirmed by a tablet dug up by Schliemann. The discovery of this tablet was not reported at the time except to his grandson, Dr. Paul Schliemann, who subsequently undertook the unearthing of the Sais temple. The following is his report on what he found:

"We have been excavating the ruins of the ancient temple at Sais, in Egypt, for five months. Among many other interesting archaeological discoveries we have found a burial chamber of the musical celebrities of that era. Here in one of the catacombs, supposed to be from the time of the 3rd Dynasty, we found a huge casket of stone and with it a most unusual collection of musical instruments. It contained also a papyrus that has not been deciphered yet but I am of the opinion that it is a peculiar kind of Egyptian musical writing unknown to us. The hieroglyphic inscription on the Sarcophagus says that the musical instruments belonged to the orchestra of the Temple of Sais, and were used for the crowning celebration of Pharaoh Amen-emhet I. Among the instruments that we discovered, there were some that produced such sounds as, for instance, the roar of the wind, the waves, and songs of certain birds, and various mysterious voices of nature.

"Our music at least has not reached that degree of development. It is only the celebrated Finn—Jean Sibelius—who has made slight attempts at making his latest compositions imitate the voices of nature. But for the Egyptian composers this was a vital issue of their work. There was a huge wood trumpet among the discovered instruments of Sais which produced the weird sound of an angry roaring lion; on the other hand their flute has produced the sweetest sounds I have ever listened to. It has an enchanting timbre, and thrills the listener with magic rapture, even if one plays but a single tone on it. I can imagine how that instrument would make an audience wild with enthusiasm if it were played by a virtuoso.

"Most of the instruments of an old Egyptian orchestra were of wood and porcelain. There is only one horn of brass-like metal. The strings of their harps proved to be made of a fiber absolutely unknown to-day. It is exceedingly thin and strong and has almost the appearance of silver wire. But then again there are strings which our chemical experts declare to have been spun from human hair. Thus the strings of the highest notes of an Egyptian violin are made of exceedingly long hair taken from the head of some beauty of that age. An orchestra of sixty-five instruments and a chorus of eighty singers were required to perform the majestic anthem of the Sun.

"My discovery is first in archaeological records that gives such striking information of the music of the most remote periods. It will throw a new light on the ancient art, and serve as the most powerful impetus to all composers, musicians, and singers of this age by suggesting a new style and form of musical expression.

"The Egyptians carried the culture of Atlantis to their colony on the shores of the Nile. I have found in my various excavations that the older Egypt was, the more it was cultured."—From "The Children of Mu," by James Churchward.

Methodist To Have Pre-Easter Revival

The First Methodist Church, through the pastor, Rev. E. D. Landreth, announces pre-Easter Revival services to begin March 14, and run two weeks, closing on Easter Sunday morning. The Annual Easter Contata will be given Easter Sunday night under the direction of Mr. Sam M. Braswell. Doctor T. S. Barcus, Presiding Elder, has accepted an invitation to preach in the revival services. Doctor Barcus has had wide experience in evangelism and preaches the kind of Gospel that is calculated to bring deeper consecration to the Church and a definite challenge to the unchurched people to follow Christ. A great deal of interest is being manifested already in the services that are to be, and the pastor and congregation expect a successful meeting. All of the people of the community, regardless of church affiliation, are invited to attend the services and have a part in this effort for the good of all.

E. D. Landreth, pastor.

Goodrich Selects Leader On Big Tire Schedule

With this issue the Goodrich tire company begins a lengthy advertising schedule for the Palmer Motor Company of Clarendon. The schedule is to run several months in placing before the public the claims of the product about which you hear so much through newspapers and over the radio.

The Palmer motor company has been furthering the sales of this well known auto product for several years with an ever increasing patronage of satisfied customers.

That the Donley County Leader should be selected to aid in the sales of Goodrich products, is but another recognition of the superior merits of the Leader as an advertising medium covering all of the Clarendon trade territory.

Mrs. Cecil K. Killough has been confined to her bed through illness for the past several days.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dingle on Sunday, February 28, a girl, Glenna Ruth.

HERE AND THERE

By Dick Cooke

HERE—Federal farm payments to Donley County farmers reached here this week when $35,158.36 was received at the county agent's office. The vouchers were in three shipments; 113 amounting to $15,155.72 last Thursday, 3 totaling $133.38 Friday and Saturday 133 reaching $19,869.26.

THERE—With 90,256 persons on the rolls in January, Texas ranked only second to Ohio, the leading state, in old age pension payments. Statistics showed Ohio with 98,504 and an average payment of $24.48. Texas average payments are $15.48.

HERE—During the first four days the school cafeteria was open, 248 children consumed 18 two-pound boxes of crackers and approximately $11 worth of milk, according to Odos Caraway, who said that on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the numbers fed were 38, 55, 65 and 90 respectively.

THERE—The El Oro Mines near Hillsboro, N. M. were sold this week at $775 after a loss of almost $1,000,000 by investors. The property, consisting of three patented and eight unpatented claims, a mill site and a number of frame adobe buildings was responsible for 11 officials being fined or imprisoned.

HERE—Whiskey bottles were scattered over a city lawn here Friday night when an automobile overturned on a downtown street. The car, rumored from Memphis, turned turtle about two blocks from Kearney Street on east Highway 5.

THERE—Mr. and Mrs. James Masse of Goderich, Ont. announced the birth of their 21st child, a girl, recently. Mrs. Masse is 43 and her husband 46 and the arrival scarcely caused a ripple in the well-ordered farm house.

HERE—Clarendon independent school officials said this week that even with tax collections above the corresponding period of a year ago, financial conditions are distressing. "We will be forced to file suits for collections within the next week or two" they said.

THERE—An 18-month old child was recently fingerprinted by San Antonio police. Many parents are having their children fingerprinted, according to San Antonio officials. The method is invaluable in efforts of identification.

HERE—Old Betsy was retired without pension here this week after 13 years of faithful service in which not a day of sick leave marred her perfect record. Deemed too aged to carry on her duties unerringly she was discarded, without benefit of a newspaper poll, to make room for comparative youth. What the future holds in store for Betsy can only be hazarded. Not eligible for any form of government relief she must cast her lot in the limbo of forgotten things and dream of bygone days when she proudly paraded busy thoroughfares in bright paint and haughty attire. Betsy is the 13 year old truck of George Green, American Railway Express agent here. She was brought to Clarendon December 6, 1923 and has served her master well until last week. A newer model, with regulation equipment, now has assumed her duties. Solicited opinions differ as to whether Betsy's usefulness, like the supreme court members, multiples or deteriorates with age. Should she be kept on the payroll and the new truck added or should she be discarded without pomp or balloting.

THERE—Halle Selassie's son-in-law and last of the Ethiopian chieftans to dispute Italian occupation was captured and executed last week. He was killed soon after an Italian scouting party seized him in nearby mountain regions.

HERE—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Webster, Friday night, a boy, named Robert Marion.

HERE—Renovation of the Adair Hospital was completed this week, according to Odos Caraway, member of the county board. Caraway said almost the entire interior of the hospital was remodeled. Built and endowed for $30,000 about 1911, by the late Mrs. Mary Adair, the hospital was partially taken over by the county recently. Charity patients are cared for at county expense.

THERE—Four million dollars worth of land—a strip 100 feet wide in downtown Oklahoma City—was awarded to homesteading '89ers and their heirs by the Oklahoma Supreme court recently. The decision, climaxing nearly eight years of litigation, was based on a reversion clause in the deed of the old Choctaw company, providing for return of the land to owners should the tract cease to be used for a railroad. The Choctaw acquired the land for a right-of-way not long after the "run" and later turned it over to the Rock Island R. R.

HERE—Approximately $2.55 per capita, or a total of about $6,846 has been received for rural school aid, county superintendent George W. Kavanaugh said this morning. This amount will be applied on delinquent salaries and general maintenance, he said.

THERE—Its still open season on newspaper photographers. Those so desiring may bang them around without suffering greatly at the hands of the law, as a result of the action of the house criminal jurisprudence committee which killed a bill introduced by Representative Frank E. Mann of Houston. Mann's bill was to make the offense of attacking a newspaper photographer aggravated instead of simple assault.

HERE—A typographical error in this column last week caused an item to read that H. T. Warner was terracing land for $3 an hour. This should have read $3.50 an hour.

THERE—Several persons in Vienna received theatre tickets by mail with accompanying notes: "With compliments of a good friend. Recipients returning learned more about the friends when they found their homes had been burglarized."

Christian Church To Have Supper And Negro Minstrel

The Christian Church will entertain with a covered dish supper and Negro Minstrel about 7 o'clock Friday evening, it was announced Tuesday.

R. E. Austin, minister, Roy Clampitt, chairman of the board, Frank White Jr., Sunday School superintendent, and Homer Mulkey, assistant, will give pep talks before the minstrel which is under the direction of Mrs. Frank White Jr.

Minstrel songs include "Old Black Joe," "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," "Standing in Need of Prayer," "Oh Susanna," and "I Got Shoes."

Cast in the role of middleman is Ernest Eudy (Mr. Van Swazzer). End men are Paul Lannon as Luther Crawford, Kenneth Lyle as

Motor Company Gets First New Cars Friday

Seriously affected by the recent auto strike, the production of Chevrolet cars came to a halt. The Clarendon motor company received its first shipment of cars Friday, made since the strike ended.

The shipment included both cars and trucks in variety. Other shipments are to follow, it is said, since the factory has resumed normal operations.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCleskey, Mrs. W. C. Stewart and Mrs. Clarence Whitlock were Amarillo visitors Monday.

Sambo, Lee Shelley as Rastus, J. A. Howard, as snowflake; Chester Tatey as Lightning, Harry Kerbow as the Kingfish and Billy Jack Shelby as Melessee, and Bettye Bailey as a southern belle.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. PRIESTLY TUESDAY

Sister of T. M. Pyle Died At Hedley Monday Following A Long Illness

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Ruth Priestly, sister of T. M. Pyle of Clarendon, were held at the First Baptist Church in Hedley Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in a Memphis cemetery.

Mrs. Priestly died at her home in Hedley Monday following a long illness. She was born in Newlin, Texas in 1896, at the time of her death was 41 years old.

Besides Mr. Pyle she is survived by another brother, Theodore Pyle of Van Horn; two sisters, Mrs. Berth Ewin of Memphis and Mrs. McDougle of Hedley and three children, Julia Ruth, Berta Lou and Paul all of Hedley.

Attending the funeral from away were Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Pyle and Claude Pyle of Clarendon, Theodore Pyle, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Pyle of Logan, N. M.; Mrs. Ewin of Memphis, and many friends from Memphis.

Martin Will Have Local Talent Play

Backwoods Comedy Will Be Presented by Caste From Goldston

In presenting 'Aunt Jerushy on the Warpath' in their own neighborhood, the Goldston home talent play met with big favor. Last week the rip-roaring comedy was presented to a full house at Ashtola.

The play will be presented at Martin Friday night of this week by urgent request of a large number who have not seen the play.

This is said to be one of the very best plays yet presented by a rural school cast in the county, or any other school as for that matter. Those who have seen the play pronounce it as being one of high-class comedy graphically depicting hill-billy life "back in the hills". Many have seen the play twice.

A small sum will be charged to

Thomas Installs Improved Feed Grinder

Increasing the grinding capacity of his plant to 2 to 3 tons per hour by installing an improved grinder, is the announcement of F. B. Thomas, owner of the Thomas feed store here.

The W-W mill was the first hammermill out, he says, and this is the latest improved mill manufactured to grind anything in the feed line, doing a better job and far more rapidly.

Experience is said to have taught stock feeders that grinding adds much to the feed value since the animals will 'eat it clean' and digest the rough feed more thoroughly, avoiding wastage.

W. W. Noblit had business in Pampa and Lefors Monday.

see the play. The money will be used for the purchase of school equipment. Those sponsoring the coming of the play to Martin, urgently request your presence.
