

HAIL AND WIND DESTROYS WIDE CROP AREA LATE MONDAY

CROP LOSSES COVER THOUSANDS OF ACRES BEST PART OF COTTON BELT

Only Slight Human Injuries Reported. Heavy Chicken And Turkey Loss. Two Hail Streaks Pass Over Donley County Late Monday Afternoon. Rainfall Four Inches In Some Sections

One of the most disastrous hail losses in many years occurred in two separate sections of Donley county about 6:30 Monday afternoon wiping out the best prospects since 1930.

While the wind reached high velocity, no twister was noted. It came in puffs destroying seventeen windmills within a radius of ten miles of Clarendon, seven within two miles of the courthouse.

Crop damage was heavy south and west of the Goldston store according to reports from there. Among those to suffer a total crop loss were Horace Parker, J. A. Stewart, "Skinny" Peggram, Floyd Holcomb, Sid Harris and Nealey Hudson, the latter being the only one to carry hail insurance, it is said. Partial crop losses were those of J. R. and Sam Dale, Bill Rowe on Weston farm, the Speir farm, M. M. Noble, M. Brock.

Coming on south, the crops of W. O. Butler, Forest Sawyer, Zoro Hudson were lost. W. B. Holtzclaw escaped with a part of his crop. R. O. Thomas was a heavy loser, and the canteloupe crop of J. R. Bulls was washed into the highway after being beaten from the vines. His crop is practically a total loss.

Another cloud at the same time came across the Naylor community headed south and southwest. The rain was heavy east of town but the hail fell only in the southeast edge of town where the Greenhouse suffered a heavy hail loss to glass. The wash house was overturned. F. L. Barton's crop was beaten down to a total loss and those to the west. The Wright place was in the path of the hail.

Mrs. W. H. Corbin's loss was heavy. Not only was her crop destroyed, but a large poultry loss fell to her lot. Her windmill wheel was ruined by being 'wadded' up like a folded umbrella. The wheel from the cemetery windmill was blown off near this place.

Loss to the south continued with Park Chamberlain and others in the hail path.

From Lelia to Lakeview. The hail streak accompanied by rainfall amounting to as much as seven inches in places, reached from southwest of Lelia to Lakeview. All crops in this path were practically a total loss.

Reports on crops from this section include those of A. O. Hott, H. M. Reid, C. R. Skinner, R. W. Moore on both places, D. W. Hinkle, T. C. Isham, Neal Bogard, O. L. Jacobs, all said to be almost a total loss in each instance.

Blew Down Garages. At the Hawley Harrison farm hail ruined the crop. Wind blew the top off his garage and his car was badly damaged by hail, it is said.

Man Injured, Dog Killed. In an attempt to escape the storm, R. M. Webb and his two sons of the Chamberlain commu-ity sought shelter in their garage. With them went the family dog. The garage was demolished by high wind. Mr. Webb suffered painful injuries and the dog was killed outright.

Laid in Ice Water. Taking a bath in a regular affair with Commissioner Garland G. Reeves every Saturday night, he said, but lying in ice water is a new wrinkle. Reeves was in his field on his tractor when the cloud overtook him. He attempted to drive to his house but the hail was beating bumps on his head too fast to count. His next best bet was to lie down under the tractor. Soon the water came up around his body until he almost froze, forcing him to take to the open again. In town Tuesday, he exhibited a full crop of knots over his head.

Pat Morris lost his crop on the R. W. Moore east farm. The garage roof was blown off and scattered. No spots were skipped and farms in between those mentioned also suffered the same loss.

Clarendon Escapes Worst. Hail damage in town occurred only in the southeast portion. Shingles were split and roofs made (See CROP LOSSES, Page 8)

Has Any One Seen Lost Hat?

When the dust storm blew up ahead of the hail cloud Monday evening, expressman G. L. Green was near the depot. His white John B. left his head at a 90-mile gait and headed east. Inquiries as far east as Childress availed him nothing. "There is a lot of sentiment as well as value attached to that old bonnet," he said Wednesday, "and the funder will do me a great favor by putting me next to its whereabouts."

Quail And Doves Are Said To Be Increasing Here

Bob whites and doves are increasing in this territory, according to Austin O'Neal, state game warden of this district.

"There are more young quail now than at any time during my administration," he said on a visit this week. "Deferred grazing has afforded cover protection from the natural enemies and increased food supply. Weeds and new grass with brush and briar have proven a benefit by attracting birds into those sections formerly denuded by overgrazing. Range tanks have led to a wider distribution of birds."

It was with a buoyant spirit of confidence that Joan Marie, aged 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Herron of Salt Lake City, Utah began her trip to Texas. When little ladies want to see their grandparents, facing a trip of hundreds of miles without friends or relatives accompanying them, is no barrier.

Fred Tindol is in a Hugo, Oklahoma morgue and Pete Traxler, his companion in the Texas prison break, tossed restlessly on a Hugo hospital cot, dangerously wounded by two farmer hostages who turned the desperado's own guns on them Wednesday morning.

While 1,000 possemen searched the southern Oklahoma hills the cool farmers seized the pistols of the pair when they dozed on a lonely country road killing Tindol instantly and wounding Traxler who begged them not to shoot again.

Frank Trimmer, 50, and J. E. Denton, 44, were the farmers. Denton said he shot Traxler and Trimmer killed Tindol.

Trimmer had been forced to drive his own automobile since the bandits broke into his home this morning and made him accompany them.

When the pair stopped the car Tindol and Traxler dozed, their guns in their lap. Trimmer said he looked at Denton and the two simultaneously seized the pistols.

The convicts had subsisted mainly on whiskey and narcotics in nearly two weeks of desperate hide-and-seek with officers.

A physician reported Traxler would live.

In 1910 he became a Methodist minister since which time he has filled pastorates in West Texas and New Mexico. At present, he is pastor of the church at Baird.

DONLEY COUNTY MAN WITH AMERICAN DIVISION IN SPANISH LOYALIST ARMY

Some three years ago Robert Reed left the Naylor community with the determination to secure a college education. He sought a school where he could work his way through. That school was Commonwealth College near Mena, Arkansas.

Completing the course there, the spirit of adventure overtook the young man when he hied to France bound for the Spanish misadventure where American grit and judgment was in demand.

A letter received recently by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Reed, discloses that he is "somewhere in Spain," two months after leaving the United States.

Press dispatches disclose the fact that an entire division in the Loyalist army is made up of Americans equipped with American guns, planes and other necessary equipment. It is further stated that the enemy always feels the effects of combat when they meet this American army of scrappers.

Odos Caraway Suffers From Both Hail Streaks

The one man to get caught in the damage by both hail storms Monday is Odos Caraway. He is said to have suffered the biggest loss because of three farms being involved in the holocaust.

His farm in the Goldston community was hailed out. At about the same time, two more farms in the Chamberlain section were denuded. Buildings on each of the farms were badly damaged, and crops are said to be a total loss.

Lumber Yards Do Flourishing Business Tuesday

Shingle sales topped the list in the mad rush to get roofs back on their homes in the hail belt. Window glass was much in demand. Fencing material came in for a share of attention.

Carpenters and handy men were rushing roofing jobs in both hail belts Tuesday and Wednesday. Not a roof is said to have escaped damage, many of them being beaten into holes. Outbuildings in many places were destroyed by the wind, while others were unroofed.

Whitlocks Make East Texas Tour of Relatives

Returning here Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitlock ended their annual tour of East Texas visiting relatives. They were accompanied by Mrs. Whitlock's father, C. A. Bryan.

They spent some time at Tenaha, Center and Mansfield, Louisiana where Mr. Whitlock's mother resides.

The first machine duster for cotton flea hoppers in the Panhandle of Texas began operation near Hedley this week after a group of Hedley farmers augmented following a survey report by R. R. Reppert, state entomologist and County Agent H. M. Breedlove, said there was heavy infestation in the Hedley area.

The machine began running Tuesday and is estimated to cover from 75 to 100 acres of cotton daily.

Heeding the warning of Reppert who said the flea hopper should be exterminated, even though in places damage was not yet apparent, to insure crops in the future, Clyde Bridges, J. B. Masterson, J. W. Noel, Roy Jewell, J. G. McDougal, purchased the machine last Friday.

H. M. Breedlove, Masterson and McDougal bought the equipment in Dallas Friday.

The flea hopper lays its eggs under the skin of the cotton, Breedlove said, and the nymph stings the squares causing it to fall off. Sulphur fumes, caused by hot sun shine kills the pests, he said.

The machine covers six rows at a time with the sulphur blown on the cotton with air. About 12 pounds, per acre, varying with size of cotton, is required.

Dusting has been completed on the Jewell and Masterson farms, and others will be started immediately.

UNUSUAL COURAGE.

Political courage is a thing so rare that the action of Governor Allred and Comptroller Sheppard has left us glassy-eyed with admiration.

Their pluck will save the taxpayers $3,500,000.

They stepped right in before the schools—the most feared and most powerful political group in Texas—and announced that, as majority members of the state automatic tax board, they would not levy a $3,500,000 property tax to pay the biggest increase in school aid levied since 1920.

If they stick to their guns, the state ad valorem tax will be reduced 12 cents on the $100, a decrease from 20 to 8 cents. The 8 cents must be levied to pay for state text books.

Everybody is in sympathy with the cause of education, but when you consider that the taxpayers have:

Given the public school fund so much income that this year they paid the highest school aid in history and still had $3,000,000 cash left over.

Pledged the record-breaking amount of $5,500,000 a year for the next two years for rural aid.

Made the biggest appropriations in history for higher education.

And been called upon to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars for teachers' retirement benefits.

All in face of the fact that the general fund is $10,000,000 in the red, the Confederate pension fund almost $5,000,000 behind and present revenues insufficient to pay old age pensions - - - it seems inconsiderate of the schools to call on the taxpayers for an increase of $4,680,000.

The schools have pressed for more and more revenue for years, and once they gain it they hold it with the grip of the dead.

State school executives were amazed when the governor and Mr. Sheppard announced their decision to stick to the law which says they shall levy a tax sufficient to produce $17.50 per capita, and refuse to levy a tax sufficient to pay $22.

To remind these officials of the political power of the schools, Ghent Sanderford, head of the State Education Board, in a newspaper release thundered:

"The Board did fix the per capita at $22, and that is where it is going to stay—to the satisfaction of 48,000 school teachers, 30,000 trustees, 900,000 parents, and 1,560,000 school children."

Somehow we believe Allred and Sheppard are not going to be bluffed. They will stick by their decision saving the taxpayers $3,500,000.

We know the schools can use the money, but they could have obtained a record-breaking per capita of $20 and still have given the taxpayers the benefit of the saving that Allred and Sheppard now will have to fight to obtain.

Even with the school tax at 8 cents, the schools still will have enough revenue to pay $20 per capita.

If the Legislature levies additional taxes this Fall to try to get some less fortunate departments of the state on their feet, the schools with their 25-per-cent-of-almost-all-taxes may gain enough to be able to pay their $22 in cash.

So if you have any sympathy to spare, give it to Allred and Sheppard.

Chances are they will catch it good and plenty from the school body for daring to think of giving the taxpayers a break.—Fort Worth Press.

Good Gosh!

Those who have followed The News during the court reform battle are fully aware that we have stood for court reform, not only in the supreme court of the United States, but clear down the line. We are not sore at the lawyers as a class, but most certainly the laws of this nation should be revised so that unscrupulous lawyers should not be allowed to rob the people behind a cloak of security in the law. We just passed through settling a small estate in court where in the members of the family were each due $225.91. But when the lawyers got through, the individual members received $25.91, while the lawyers took the $200 due to each. Highjacking is a respectable job compared with the fees that some lawyers charge when they find their clients at their mercy.—Clyde Warwick in Canyon News.

The Trinity Canal.

The Trinity project means that the big wholesale houses of Texas will be compelled to find locations near a waterway—not for the sake of shipping their goods, but to get the benefit of water rates. The Trinity river can never be made navigable save during a flood, and to build levees on the banks of that crooked river will cost a great deal more than it can ever be worth.—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

Not Representative of West Texas.

We cannot believe that the endorsement of the Trinity river canalization scheme by West Texas executive and traffic committees at Fort Worth, Tuesday, represents the views of organizations making up the West Texas body. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was organized to promote the commercial interests of West Texas. That is the justification for its existence.

The preferential freight rates which the Trinity river canal would give competing concerns in Dallas and Fort Worth would make it impossible for the wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns in cities like Wichita Falls, Abilene, Vernon, Breckenridge, San Angelo, Childress, Amarillo, Lubbock, Sweetwater, Big Spring and other centers to exist. They would either have to go out of business or move down to the canal.

Take the wholesale and manufacturing concerns out of any of these cities and there would be left a scanty retail trade to a depleted population. The whole populations of these centers would be affected, the professional man along with the merchant and property owner.

These cities would become filling stations for the trucks that would carry the commerce of Dallas and Fort Worth.

We cannot blame these two cities for wanting the great advantages the canal rates would give them over the inland centers of West Texas. We do blame an organization that is supposed to represent West Texas which asks its progressive and growing centers to commit hari kari.—Wichita Record.

Fatal Cow Pasture Gossip.

A seventeen-year-old Louisiana girl promises to tell a jury of how the women of two families in the same community settled their feud on the field of honor with her former school girl chum shot thru the heart. The feud had its origin in gossip and settled with gunfire in a lonely cow pasture. It was just such gossip that folks in small communities too often indulge in.—Butler (Ga.) Herald.

EVERY year blow-out accidents kill or injure thousands. A blow-out gives no warning. It strikes when you least expect it—throwing your car out of control.

But there's no reason why you should take this risk. Goodrich engineers have invented an amazing new safety device, the Life-Saver Golden Ply to give you real blow-out protection. This Golden Ply is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blow-out-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. Hot Weather Joke.
 Getting a circular letter from a distant town offering to sell cemetery plots cheap is about the best joke of the season. Such a cheerful message during this hot weather. That recalls the old darky song:

"De graveyard am a mean old place; dey puts yo' on yo' back and throws clods in yo' face."

Russia or Texas?

The last legislature passed a law designed to prevent dentists quoting prices in their advertisements. In fact the dentist allegedly violating the law is not to be tried by a court of law, but by a dental board instead which has the power to cancel his license to practice if they wish. If this law is constitutional, newspapers can be told what they "can" print. We already had an "honest advertising law and a libel law." Maybe Texas has gone Russian!

Sold Down the Creek.

A lot of West Texas folks are up in arms because the Board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce down at Ft. Worth endorsed the Trinity canal project in cooperation with Ft. Worth and Dallas. They claim that West Texas will be taxed to build the canal. In the first place, isn't there room for a West Texas Chamber of Commerce headquarters in West Texas? Did Ft. Worth or Dallas ever do anything for West Texas except pull off a "duck dinner" in which West Texas always furnished the duck?

Money—God of the Ages.

Despite all the wars, murders and falling out of friends occasioned by money, most every one if not all of us continue to chase the almighty dollar, paper or coin. The shape or size makes little difference. It has been said that the heaviest burdens are time and money. Most of us are burdened with time rather than money. The rest of us have used up our time in going nowhere, and fooled away our money without anything to show for it.

Most of our present money is in currency form. Experts looking for counterfeit can detect bogus ills more quickly. They judge it by the odor, most of it smelling like tobacco, perfume and old human all mixed up. In Iceland where half the year is night, they use cod fish for money so they can smell the right change in the dark. The greed for gold brought Columbus to the Western Hemisphere, and Coronado to the Panhandle. The greed for money prompts most all that has ever been accomplished. Money knows nobody, has no ears and is void of conscience. After all is said and done, money will buy everything except real happiness.

The All Powerful!

When you read about Hatton Summers, he's chairman of the "all powerful House Judiciary Committee. Likewise Marvin Jones is chairman of the "powerful" House Agricultural Committee. Then there is Senator Borah, chairman of the "powerful" Foreign Relations Committee. Don't overlook the fact that the Apostle is chief ramrod of the "all powerful" Temple of Truth. This "powerful" stuff is a liquid, it runs and smears.

Getting Called Down.

A woman telling the cockeyed world that she had a "model" husband, was suddenly taken down several notches when she was asked to read the definition to the word "model" in a dictionary. It simply defined a "model" as an imitation of the real thing. When GW got to prating about the word "housewife" Sunday she got let down about the same way when she read the dictionary. "Housewife: a woman in humble employment."

Humanity's Laments.

A woman worries over the size of her hips, but man is more concerned about his head when the hair begins to slip.

Penalties of Custom.

A prominent physician here says that the custom of sending children out in the cold with bare legs results in rheumatism later in life. Last winter when the thermometer stood around zero, small girls raced along the sidewalks on their way to school, legs bare and frozen blue.

While chiggers are killing Albert Cooper's grasshoppers as they come to Salt Fork, the Mormon crickets are taking Mr. Grasshopper to a dead standstill in the northwest. The cricket operates on a hop-skip-and-jump basis since he is wingless. His principal occupation is eating hoppers, and no time is wasted. His table etiquet is ferocious. One cricket in captivity has been known to eat five hoppers within two minutes and instantly look for more. Imported to Nebraska, the cricket turned down the blister beetles. He prefers something tender and less odiferous. One Mormon cricket alone netted his master over thirty dollars on one bet. Yes, they gamble with the blamed things.

Age and Athletics.

When a woman passes the half century mark, she generally gets the idea that the whole works is at a standstill unless she does the work of three. She often proceeds to overwork unless held in check through infirmities. It was so with GW when she had all the varieties of 'ritis' following plain old aggravated rheumatism. She was down taking the treatments at Milling's Sanatorium for three weeks. Well sir, when she came home she could see more things being neglected than anybody. Not only that, but she proceeded to remedy matters alone and single-handed just because she said she "felt better than she had for ten years." Digging in the garden is mere pastime. She knows not her strength or the extent of her will power. Telling her that she is old and ought to let-up calls for scathing denunciations. She's strong and also head-strong. Several other women plan to go down and get rid of their rheumatism just as soon as the weather cools a bit. Some may go before that time. The cost of treatments, room, board and all runs from $21 a week to around $25 a week. GW says that three weeks spent there was worth a thousand dollars to her in being able to be herself again.

Native Had "Brains."

A fellow from the Panhandle at Mineral Wells a short time ago made a tour of Palo Pinto county. Coming onto a native lying in the shade of a tree, the Panhandler asked: "Don't you natives ever have to work?" The hillbilly spat at a lizard, screwed his eyeball up at the Panhandler and said: "Not much on account of the sucker crop. You folks work like hell to get money to come down here, and we're already here."

And say, folks, don't fail to see and hear "Mountain Music" at the Pastime Thursday or Friday. If you want a cool place to laugh your sides sore, attend a matinee either day. This is the famous Bob Burns comic of the hill-billy type crammed full of the funniest incidents you have seen in a moving picture in a lifetime. Just thought you would appreciate a good comic that is worth many times the admission price. Regular prices. This notice is placed here as a special favor to those who read this column in the Clarendon trade territory.

Kwitacoo vs California.

Editor Clement McDonald lost a good bet last week in not parading a resource of his section. News item from the Quitaque Post: "Mrs. E. D. Barnes of Fortuna, California arrived in Quitaque last week and has rented an apartment at the Los Lingos Hotel and will spend two months."

The world is full of problems, There's much to cause distress; We all are bowed beneath the cares That daily 'round us press; There's only one solution, 'Tis simply stated thus: "A little less of you or me, A little more of us."

—Stanza from "Teamwork," by William T. Card.

ADVICE TO A BAD HEARTKEEPER

And if the thin-spun hopes of other years Are now but dust in closed rooms of the heart, Oh, let the bitter industry of tears, Wash down each web and burst the doors apart Till every sunny corner of the place Invites new dreams to blow with healing grace! —Lexie Dean Robertson, in Good Housekeeping for July. Expedition Unearths Bronze Figures Of Athletes Dating 5,000 Years Ago

Today's athletes are still enjoying sports that were popular 5,000 years ago, according to Dr. Ephraim A. Speiser, leader of a University Museum of the University of Pennsylvania expedition, which recently discovered Sumerian reliefs and bronze figurines showing wrestlers and boxers of that remote area.

The expedition spent one month at Khafaje, site of a Sumerian temple to the god of fertility, after devoting five months during the past season to continuing the excavation work at the mound of Tepe Gawra, 300 miles northwest of Khafaje in Mesopotamia.

With almost every spadeful of dirt removed from the Sumerian sites, Dr. Speiser declared on his return, these ancient people became more surprisingly "modern." The most interesting "finds" at Khafaje this season, he said, are a stone relief of two boxers and an exquisitely cast bronze figurine of wrestlers, both found in the temple.

"Both objects are unusually well preserved and were discovered in a pit near the alter of the temple, thus indicating that the twosports formed an authorized part of religious ceremonies of that period," Dr. Speiser explained.

"Except for the fact that one of the men is bearded, there is little to show that the work was executed 5000 years ago. Both fighters are standing on their toes, with arms outstretched.

"In the figurine of the wrestlers the two contestants wear only narrow girdles around their waists. Their feet are planted firmly on the ground and the arms of each man encircle his opponents waist as if an effort to force him out of position and bring him to the mat."

THE PEACE OF THE JUNGLE.
The widow of Martin Johnson, famous explorer and photographer of wild life, is "going home—to the little compound in East Africa which we built, my late husband and I, through the years." Mrs. Johnson says she is returning to "warmth, beauty, simplicity and abundant life while my friends, it seems to me, are remaining behind in a bleak and frightened world."
"On this trip to America," continued Mrs. Johnson, "I find myself surrounded by human beings who seem to be more dangerous than wild animals. They are capable of killing, not just to satisfy hunger, but to satisfy pride, appearances, ideas. I have encountered strikes, riots. I have heard frightful rumblings abroad. I have read of lynchings, of whippings, of secret societies bent on vengeance. I have learned that in one year 30,000 men and women, snapping under the strain of civilization, have taken their lives. And always before my eyes is the ever-mounting toll of the motor car. Even little children are the victims of haste and excitability."
Mrs. Johnson does not paint the picture in excessively lurid colors. Her indictment of our civilization has a sound basis. It is not difficult to make out an impressive case in favor of the jungle as a place of residence for those who seek the elusive objective of peace.—R. M. Sperry in Bridgeport Life.

Brewer Appointed District Utilities Manager
ABILENE, July 22.—Changes in personnel of the West Texas Utilities Company in District "J", with headquarters at Childress, will bring J. A. Brewer of Stamford to Childress as district manager. He will assume his new duties in Childress before August 1, replacing H. H. Monk who goes to Cisco as superintendent in District "B".
Mr. Brewer has a wide acquaintanceship in the Childress area, returning there as district manager after beginning employment with the company as local manager at Memphis in 1921. He first was promoted to a district managership in 1930 when he went to the Dalhart district from Memphis. He was transferred to Stamford in a similar capacity in 1935. Something of a hobby with him has been industrial electrification.
Mr. Monk had been district manager in Childress since 1934. He is one of the company's youngest district officials, both in age and years of service. He began work for the West Texas Utilities Company in 1926 as a clerk in the Abilene general offices. After service as travelling storekeeper, he was appointed chief clerk to the district manager in Childress in 1929 and later was moved to Quanah as chief clerk before becoming district manager at Childress upon the death of the late Frank Houston.

THEY DO READ THE ADS
When your merchant says, "Nobody reads the paper, so why advertise?" ask him:
1. Why publicity seekers and local organizations want space in the paper.
2. Why the politicians are so anxious for the paper's support.
3. Why does the delinquent subscriber squawk when his paper is dropped, and why do they all yell when they fail to get a weekly edition.
4. Why are residents so anxious to have their misdeeds kept out of the paper.—Wisconsin Press.

Invitations will be mailed Panhandle golfers this week end, to match shots on the local links August 15-16 in the Eighth annual Hillcroft Invitation tournament.

Despite the scheduled match between Green Belters and Wichita Falls, the local committee voted not to postpone the play after letters from surrounding clubs promising large attendance.

Plans are going forward for the fastest tourney in this section, and directors hope this year's meet will reach the peak of 1932 when the field was studded with brilliant stars from over the Panhandle Plains.

Golfers Will Play For Prizes Sunday if The Memphis Match Fails

If the hoped for match with Memphis doesn't develop Sunday, local golfers will vie in a flag tournament, it was announced by the committee this morning.

GOLFER WRITES OWN STORY AT TRI-STATE GOLF TOURNEY

AMARILLO, July 21.—Indicative of the fun spirit of the Tri-State Senior Golf Tournament is the following written by Bill Cooke, who although no boy, is several years the junior of the opponent he refers to.

By Bill Cooke
Bill Cooke, the old master, just beat hell out of old man Johnson of Borger who is 70 years old, 1-up on the 18th hole in the consolation of the second flight.

Cooke admits freely that the only thing he broke was a ball on his hip.

Donley Youths Are Taking College Work

Will Pay Their Way While Working On Practical Projects

Thirty-two youths of the Panhandle district left this week to attend the National Youth Administration Statwide College Training Project which will be in operation at four state agricultural colleges from July 15 to September 1. Twenty boys from NYA District 16 were enrolled at North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington, and twelve girls were assigned to John Tarleton Junior Agricultural College at Stephenville. Youths from other parts of the state will make up a total of 550 to attend these schools and also Texas A&M College at College Station and Prairie View College (colored) at Prairie View.

Panhandle youths were furnished transportation to the schools on a bus paid for by leading Amarillo business men, and were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Phil B. Wilson, NYA Representative.

Donley County Represented.

Four youths, three boys and one girl, from Donley county were assigned from this district. Herman R. Dodson of Clarendon, and Merl J. Chenault and John H. Wood, both of Lelia Lake, were enrolled at North Texas Agricultural College. Hazel A. Dodson of Clarendon was assigned to John Tarleton Junior College at Stephenville.

At the colleges, youths will pay their own way by working on a specially designed NYA project which will give them additional training in agriculture. Boys will be given classroom and laboratory work in animal husbandry, agricultural engineering, agronomy, dairy husbandry, horticulture, and poultry husbandry. Girls will study poultry raising, dairying, home gardening and fruit growing, rural home management, and health and hygiene.

"Although the youths will receive no college credit for the courses they complete while at the college, they will be taught by regular college instructors and will be given the same opportunities that a full time student would receive," explained Mr. Wilson upon departing with the youths for Arlington and Stephenville. "They will be housed in the dormitories and will be given every care for the six weeks period. The value of the project to the youths can not be measured, but this training will be of great value to them throughout the future."

Bugs And Worms Enjoying Crops In All Sections

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Department of Agriculture in an insect survey bulletin, said last week there was little, if any, decrease in bug and worm infestation.

There is a bug or a worm on almost everything that grows. Often there are both. Seed-corn maggots, wireworms and flea beetles sit side by side and chew tobacco from Connecticut to South Carolina. It never makes them sick.

Flea hoppers vie with leaf worms in Texas cotton fields. The Flea Hoppers have an advantage—they got a two-weeks start on the leaf worm. The flea hoppers slipped past the immigration authorities at the Mexican border.

Bugs are enjoying peas and beans in Mississippi and Alabama. Even the pale anemic western cut worms have developed such a prodigious appetite that they have devoured as high as 75 per cent of North Dakota seed crops.

Grasshoppers fill the air in the Great Plains and the Southwest, while moreman crickets cover the ground in sections of the Great Basin.

PENSION CHECK

Three thousand one hundred dollars for old age assistance was received here this month, according to W. G. Word, County Clerk. The payments went to one hundred and ninety eight persons.

HUNDREDS OF OTHERS LIKE THIS MAN CURED

This is to certify that I, Hugh Denby, of Kress, Texas, Route 1, came to Dr. H. H. Milling at the Milling Sanatorium for treatments for my knee and leg. My leg was drawn up to my body; my knee was stiff and swollen, and I could not sleep at night unless I was full of dope. I tried all kinds of things, and several doctors; all the time got worse. I heard of Dr. H. H. Milling at Mineral Wells, Texas, and decided to give him a trial. I stayed five weeks and am now a well man. Can walk and use my leg and knee as well as I ever could. If you want to get well, go see Dr. H. H. Milling at Mineral Wells, Texas.

Montgomery has abandoned his usual character of the playboy hero for this picture and appears as the criminal villain. He's a bell-boy with a way with women. His charm is literally fatal to two.

Rosalind Russell has the role of a girl who has despaired of romance until his personality awakens her emotionally. But she cannot trust him in spite of his attraction, for she grows more and more certain he is the man police are seeking.

There is tenderness as well as menace in their last scene before the police break in.

"That scene between Montgomery and Miss Russell is the most gripping I ever directed," said Director Richard Thorpe. "It's not very often I forget to say 'Cut' to stop the camera after the action has finished. I did when we filmed that."

MARCONI DIES

ROME ITALY, July 21.—Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, 63, famous inventor who at 21 discovered how to telegraph through space, died Tuesday of heart paralysis in his home in Rome.

MIDWAY

Mrs. John Goldston

An apology is here made to the Naylor Birthday Club for the mistake made in last weeks writeup of the club. The names of the honorees for the month of September should have been, Mrs. Richmond Bowlin of Hedley, Mrs. Durrell Hall, Mrs. Andis, Mrs. Pickering and Mrs. John Goldston, where the writeup only gave two. However it was an honest mistake.

Letters of thanks and appreciation were received this past week from Mrs. Marvin Salmon of Dimmitt to the ladies of Midway for the box of gifts, which she had received from the shower given her here.

The box of gifts were delivered to her through the kindness of Mr. H. C. Brumley who was going to Dimmitt on business.

Compliments to the Apostle on the "Temple of Truth." Like the lady of "The Beacon", we take our dessert first, and we certainly did get a hearty laugh from the witticism of "From Bess Barton," in the Temple of Truth column. The children would laugh everytime they thought of it for days. We also enjoyed the poem, and the one on "Fishing" in a past issue.

Relatives and neighbors were very much alarmed Wednesday night when Mr. J. A. Meaders had a very serious attack of the heart. He had worked all afternoon in the hot and felt badly when he came in, but went ahead and helped with the evening chores, and after retiring for the night, he decided he would get a drink of water fresh from the well. So he started out, as he reached the outer door his leg began to cramp then he fell. Help was called and he was carried in, and he remained unconscious for some time. The doctor was called, also his daughter, Mrs. Glenn Williams. He is able to be up now but still weak.

Swimming in the cool water of the lake fed by the springs on the Derrick place and eating ice cream seems to be being enjoyed by a host of Donley county people as well as the Midway people these hot days.

The Rayburn Smith and Webb families came out Friday evening and with the Derrick family as invited guests, enjoyed the swim, the cool evening breeze, for which that place is noted, and ice cream. Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Wood and the Derrick family all enjoyed an outing, with ice cream afterwards.

W. D. Higgins and his father Mr. Higgins spent part of past week visiting relatives at Hereford. Mr. Higgins is here from Tenn. for a vacation. He is up in the seventies and says this is the first time he was out of that state. He has been visiting some of our Texas oil towns, and other sights and scenic places and says he is enjoying it all.

Miss Annie Bourland, who owns a farm in Midway, is out today (Mon.) spraying a young orchard. The grasshoppers are just eating the little trees up. Mrs. O. L. Jenkins accompanied here.

Mr. Owen Seaton enjoyed a visit from his father and brother from Cole, Oklahoma the past week. They are also visiting the Austin Seaton family.

Mrs. Glenn Williams visited her daughter, Miss Virginia who is in school at Canyon Saturday.

Miss Beatrice Hardin spent the week end at home from school at Canyon.

Mrs. K. C. Reed took her daughter Eveline back to the hospital in Amarillo the past week. Little Miss Eveline is an infantile victim but has recovered to the extent that she walks with braces, but has to return to the hospital ever so often to have the legaments straightened. Eveline is a brave sweet little girl and we all love her and so hope she will entirely recover in the near future. Mrs. Reed will visit her again this week.

Mrs. Hugo Reimer went to Spearman Saturday after Mr. Reimer. The two children Irene and Hugo Jr. remained for a vacation with their grandmother Reimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eanes have purchased a new lovely Chevrolet coach.

War-Stricken Spain Locale Of New Drama At Pastime Theatre

Modern war-stricken Madrid is the locale for a new motion picture woven from the newspaper headlines. The film is "The Last Train From Madrid," a "Grand Hotel" type of story dealing with ten persons, all strangers, caught in the city during its heaviest bombardment, and how their lives and destinies were suddenly made one by a common peril. It opens today at the Pastime Theatre, and will be shown again tomorrow. (Friday)

The main theme is built around Dorothy Lamour, Gilbert Roland and Anthony Quinn. The latter, Miss Lamour's sweetheart, arranges for her to escape from the besieged city on the last train out. He also secures a pass for his friend, Roland, only to realize that the two are old sweethearts. Unable to leave the city himself, he permits the two to depart for Valencia, hoping that the girl will choose between himself and Roland later.

Aboard the same train is Karon Morley, an adventuress who loves Roland. Despite the peril that surrounds them all she continues to play her game of playing one man against another. Wound up in the plot are the destinies of Lew Ayres an American newspaperman, and Olympe Bradna, member of the famed Women's Battalion; Robert Comings, a deserter, and Helen Mack, a street wail; Lionel Atwill, commander of the city, and many others.

"The Last Train From Madrid" was written from actual events in Madrid under bombardment by Paul Hervey Fox and Elsie Fox. It was directed by James Hogan.

"TUGWELL TOWN"

It was a general assumption in the "Horse and Buggy" days that government in business meant waste and extravagance, higher costs and more burden for the taxpayers. The New Deal seems to have abolished this old belief along with a great many others. But an examination of some of the records would seem to indicate that it takes more than new statute or pronouncement by the Brain Trust to alter the natural laws of the universe. One may well take the example of the resettlement administration as an illustration.

One of its pet projects is located in Maryland between Washington, D. C. and Baltimore but closer to the Capital City. According to Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the senate reorganization committee, who has been studying the question of housing projects for some time, statesmen sojourning at the National Capital should visit this nearby project which has been called "Tugwell Town," and ought to stand as a monument to the molasses magnate.

The houses at "Tugwell Town" were erected with the idea that they are to be occupied by people who work in Washington but whose salaries are so modest they are unable to pay the high Washington rent. But Senator Byrd says that an examination of the construction figures show that the project comprises 880 units and that the cost per unit will be $16,182 and maybe more. In his statement about the resettlement project released the other day the Virginia statesman said:

"When the true facts are known of the sinful and absurd waste in the resettlement administration's homestead projects throughout the country, the condition existing will approach a national scandal." Speaking of what is popularly known as "Tugwell Town" the senator continued:

"This is not a farming project. It is for city workers, yet the government purchased 123.45 acres of land for $1,119,377.90—a cost of $90.72 per acre, an average of more than 14 acres per home. At Tugwelltown, $546,603.50 was spent for landscaping; $120,819.81 for surveys and $198,850.17 for land preparation. For administrative planning and deeds of conveyance nearly half a million dollars were spent, and for "management", $50,376.29; for land improvement and conservation, $9,332,748.86; for inspection, $34,917.22 and for home furnishings, $5,909.85."

Official figures for the Jersey homestead project at Highstown he said, disclose a cost of $20,163 per unit for each of 200 units, a total of more than $4,000,000 while—listen to this—the administrative or overhead cost of the project was about a million and a half dollars or forty per cent of the total expenditure.

One may wonder how the lower paid employes of the government at Washington, who cannot afford to pay apartment house rent, are going to get by in housing units costing something like $16,000. If the project were to pay expenses this would mean a rental of more than $100 per month. But it is not expected by the "reformers" of course that the project will pay expenses. They are merely experimenting with the government's money. The difference in what the tenants pay and what it costs to operate the project will come out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

JUST ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY

HILLBILLY FILM STARS BURNS, MARTHA RAYE

They'll be comin' 'round the mountain—the whole troop of 'em—Fud, Snazzy, Hod, Sqincey and all the rest of Bob Burns' famous relatives in "Mountain Music," a story of love, feuds, shotgun weddings, corn pone and pot likker which opens on Thursday and Friday at the Pastime Theatre.

It's Burns' first starring picture, together with Martha Raye with whom he has been teamed lately with astonishing success, and a whole crew of excellent character players have been assembled to play the roles of the down home folks Burns has made famous on the air, in his writings and in pictures.

Heading the list is George Hayes, former New York stage star who has been playing the famous "Windy" role in the "Hopalong Cassidy" Western stories. Then there's Rufe Davis, former Oklahoma cotton chopper who left the bolts when he discovered he could make more than five dollars a day with his "git-fiddle" and has been delighting vaudeville and night club audiences since; Fuzzy Knight Jan Duggan, Spencer Charters and a bunch of other long-bearded, squirrel-gun totin' mountain folk.

The love interest is maintained by John Howard and Terry Walker, the latter the famous "magazine cover girl" for whom Paramount Pictures conducted a search unique in film history. Paramount talent executives had seen Miss Walker's portrait on the cover of a national magazine and asked Norman Rockwell, noted illustrator who made the portrait but who lost track of her, who the model was. Barclay gave the film folk Miss Walker's name and then the search for her began. She was traced to Petersburg, Alaska, her native town, then to New York, Phoenix, Arizona, Syracuse, New York, and finally to Miami where she was discovered singing in a night club. She was tested for pictures and immediately given a contract. "Mountain Music" is her first motion picture.

Edwin Andrews of Vernon was up Sunday visiting with relatives. Mrs. Andrews had been here for a week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rowland.

Hog prices, with a smaller pig crop, will average higher than last year.

Poultry may decline but egg prices have begun a seasonal rise. The season's low point in butter has passed and cattle prices are expected to continue at higher levels than a year ago.

G-MEN SUCCEED IN DRIVE AGAINST WHITE SLAVERS

439 Convictions Are Obtained In Last Eleven Months By Agents

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The G-men offered proof that their drive against the white slave racket has produced results. The drive, begun a year ago when the federal bureau of investigation had reduced kidnaping to a minimum and attacked white slavery as the next worst evil, produced these results during the last eleven months: Four hundred and thirty-nine convictions. Collection of $123,704 in fines. Prison sentences aggregating 974 years, eight months and twenty-nine days. Effectiveness of the drive was demonstrated by the fact that fines for white slave convictions during the previous six years combined totaled only $121,675.

to leak. Numbers of window panes were either broken or blown out. Windmills were damaged in several instances and tree limbs scattered over the streets.

Little Property Damage.

A side room at the home occupied by Laman Garland was wrecked by the high wind that reached hurricane velocity. The porch roof at the Tom Crabtree home was broken loose, lifted and then smashed down to the floor. The garage at the Ralph Decker home was demolished.

Stanley Cardie and two other workmen weathered the storm in the cab of the City's pick-up near the Prachar place where they had been working on a water main. Mrs. F. A. Cooper, her daughter and little fellow went safely through the storm when their car drowned out near the home of Mrs. Toomb. They were making a hurried trip toward home when the new car stalled as torrents of rain, high wind and some hail pelted them.

Rain falling around 6:30 amounted to .63 according to official weather recorder Joe Goldston. Late Monday night more rain fell bringing the total to one and six tenths inches.

After a time in the army, he was given a death sentence for robbery and assault to kill, but the sentence was commuted; for murder at Breckenridge he was sentenced to life and for robbery in Albany, he drew a 20-year term.

He escaped in the Clyde Barrow prison break in 1934 and was captured in Amarillo after stealing a car in Vega. He was returned to Huntsville where he remained until June.

"The trip into Mexico started at the station in El Paso. The ride into Juarez was short and slow and we hardly realized we had crossed the Rio Grande. In the meantime they checked our baggage in the car, and at Juarez we left the train to have our trunks checked and our money changed, receiving 3.6 value on our dollar.

From El Paso to Zacatecas the trip was over dry hot dusty country of little vegetation. The train made several short stops at little villages, where the people live in cooperative houses. Children ran to the tracks begging "centavos" from the tourists. The natives wear shawls and full skirts; some are barefoot, and most of the women are carrying babies. At night we arrived at Aguas Calientes, a large town with a beautiful station. The crowd that awaited the train was most picturesque with its articles to sell - - straws, potteries, beautifully embroidered linens and aprons.

We arrived at Mexico at 1:30 p. m. of the following day after leaving El Paso. The train followed a river a hundred feet in depth, not a natural stream, but the huge overflow ditch dug out by the manual labor of the Indians and engineered by the Spaniards several hundreds of years ago when Mexico City, which is built on a lake was threatened with floods.

Mexico City is a unique town, quite different, cosmopolitan. On the same street with lovely old buildings and modern apartment houses, there are little "niches" where a woman is patting "masa" of corn, soon to be a tortilla, or a man carving furniture. The traffic is amazingly fast; street cars, buses, taxis and cars all are hurrying to make the crossing. Some of the Mexicans are dressed quite finely, as in New York, or Dallas. The average Mexican woman of the city wears American styles, usually in dark colors, especially the older women; their hose and shoes are less pretty than those of the Americans. On every street there are beggars, so many one does not know which to help.

The school, which dates from the one initiated in 1553, and reinaugurated in 1910, is composed of many buildings. The summer school is in an old structure, brown in color, with attractive Spanish floral reliefs on the walls. The professors are of renowned learning; among mine are Senor Julio Jimenez Rueda, the research writer and novelist, and Xavier Sorondo, the traveler and writer for the magazine "Revista." All the classes are in Spanish and most interesting, not to mention a little difficult.

Among the points of interest for all tourists are Cuernavaca, a picturesque town in the mountains; the drive is most beautiful from Mexico, where one sees the native shrubbery, palm trees, tall corn plants, and the "maguey," which gives a national drink of Mexico called "pulque," not very appealing to an American.

Xochomilco, with its canals of water, equal to Venice, I am sure, and its lovely bouquets of flowers, for the price of about twelve cents in our money, is a place no one can afford to miss. Last Sunday we drove over to Puebla, a city eighty miles from Mexico City, over the mountains where one can see Popocateptl and Itzicwathl, the twin mountains of Mexico. The secret convent, which contained fifty nuns and novices who were discovered in 1934, is most appealing to the curiosity of all tourists. Among its possessions are robes, statues, gold filled and plated adornments that are priceless and date from the 16th century. The cathedral, immense and beautiful, has a fortune in gold, marble and paintings.

One would not be able to tell the history and culture of Mexico in volumes of books. It is a country one should not miss visiting."

Week's Rainfall Brings Total For Year to Over 14 Inches

With 1.60 inches of rainfall this week, total precipitation for the year reached 14.48 inches. Only about 9 inches short of the average yearly moisture.

According to reports of weatherman Joe Goldston, the rainfall for the year is as follows: Jan., .41; Feb. 0; March, 1.00; April, 1.15; May, 6.88; June 3.45; July 1.60.

Truck Grower Loses Early Roasting Ear Crop

Peddling garden truck has been an annual affair with F. L. Barton who lives near the greenhouse. This past week he had a good run on roasting ears with plenty of other stuff coming right along.

When the storm struck about six o'clock Monday afternoon, hail beat the garden stuff out of sight. Ears of corn were pounded from the stalk. In town early Tuesday morning came Mr. Barton with the remnant of his corn crop. He sold it out easily though the shucks were beaten off the 'northeast' side of the cob, and some were minus grains as well.

"I seem to have hit a bad streak of luck," he said, "I'm lalled out now and only last Friday one of my best horses died." Mr. Barton is one man who "pays as he goes," and is said to have the best bank credit of any man in the county of his financial standing.
