

LEST WE FORGET—

Now is the time to plant out fruit trees, grapes and berries. Also don't forget to manure and plow the wife's garden. The women armed with pressure cookers plan to beat the men folks with their cotton crop this season if they can get the garden plowed in time. Give 'em a chance.

Copy Of New Tax Law For Which Governor Sterling Is Given Much Credit For Relieving Situation

Claims Are Being Made That Rural Schools Are Hardest Hit In Extending Time of Tax Payments to October. Rural Teachers Are Also Affected

The new tax law passed as an emergency measure will afford untold relief to thousands of Texans though it will no doubt work a hardship on rural schools and rural teachers.

The law is here given in full: BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. The time of payment of all state, county, special school, school district, road districts, levee improvement district, and irrigation district taxes, and any other defined taxing subdivisions of the county other than incorporated cities and towns, levied and assessed for the year 1930, other than poll taxes, is hereby extended until October 15, 1931. The Tax Collector or shall prepare and make his annual settlement, at the time and in the manner now required by law, but no delinquent notices shall be issued and no costs accrue until after said date.

Provided further, this act shall not apply to any independent school district, or any water improvement district, which now is or may hereafter be by law authorized to collect its taxes either in semi-annual or quarterly installments.

Provided that any person may at any time before the taxes become delinquent under this act, pay one-half of all taxes affected by this act due by him on all his property in any one county and one-half of the interest accrued thereon at date of payment, and upon said payment the Tax Collector to whom said payment is properly made shall issue to said taxpayer such temporary receipt as the Comptroller of Public Accounts may approve, and thereafter no further interest and no penalty shall for any reason accrue upon said taxes paid.

And the Tax Collector receiving such payment shall report and account for said taxes as he would under full tax payment.

Provided further, it shall be the duty of the Comptroller of Public

Accounts to prescribe such forms for receipts and reports as he may deem necessary.

Section 2. No action shall be taken by any officer whose duty is to enforce the collection of said taxes mentioned in Section 1 hereof, until after October 15, 1931.

Section 3. The penalty of ten per cent now provided by law for the non-payment of taxes prior to February 1, of the succeeding year for which said taxes were levied and assessed shall not apply to any taxes mentioned in Section 1 hereof, but said taxes, if not paid before February 1, 1931, as now provided by law, shall bear interest from February 1, 1931, until paid, at the rate of ten per cent per annum.

Section 4. Beginning October 16, 1931, all taxes levied and assessed for the year 1930, other than poll taxes, remaining unpaid on said date shall become delinquent, and thereafter the amount then due shall bear and be subject to a five per cent penalty and costs, interest and other charges now provided by general law for February 1st of each year and each act or duty now required of any officer by law shall then be performed by such officer eight and one-half months after the date now required by such law.

Section 5. All laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith shall be subject to the terms of this act and be controlled hereby.

Section 6. On account of the scarcity of money and the impoverished condition of many portions of our state, and the great hardships that will be imposed upon the people of Texas, if compelled to pay their taxes at the time limited by law, creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity that the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days be suspended, and the same is hereby suspended, and that this act take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval by the Governor and it is so enacted.

Lelia Lake School Meets State Requirements

Since the visit of H. O. Smith, representing the State Department of Education, several changes have been made in the class room work of the Lelia school to meet the requirements. The school now has eleven units of affiliation and expect to acquire three more before the beginning of the 1931-32 term.

In reporting back to the school authorities, the inspector based his special commendations on the fact that the school had installed sanitary toilets, and the fact that some sixty books had been donated to the library. Also that single shades wastebaskets and single desks had been provided. Science supplies and modern gas and water connections came in for a large share of consideration.

In closing, the Inspector paid his compliments to Messrs. W. V. Thomason and Dave Waldron superintendent and principal, for the courtesies extended him. These facts are all being mentioned here that it may be of special help to other schools in their efforts to build a better foundation.

Thieves Steal Chickens From Widow Wednesday Night

Mrs. E. R. Reeves of Jericho suffered the loss of twenty-four finely bred Buff Orpington and Rhode Island Red hens and a good rooster Wednesday night when a thief broke into her henhouse.

She asks that produce men keep on the lookout for the stolen chickens. Mrs. Reeves is a widow, worthy in every sense of the word and no better mother lives in Donley county or in the state either as for that matter. Just why a low down sneak would steal from an inoffensive widow will remain a mystery.

County Agent Has Full Program During Month of February

Terracing Work And Garden Instructions Is Mapped Out in Detail

County Agent T. R. Brown announces dates for continuation of terracing work and instructions on the home garden taking up much of the remainder of the month.

Gardening programs will include how, what and when to plant for a home garden. Instructions on how to combat insect pests will also be given at each of the places designated below. Each meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m.

- Ashtola—Feb. 4th
Chamberlain—Feb. 5th
Naylor—Feb. 10th
Giles—Feb. 11th
Martin—Feb. 12th
Hedley—Feb. 13th
Jericho—Feb. 19th
Whitefish—Feb. 20th

Miss Martha Buttrill, C. H. D. agent of Donley county, will appear on each of the garden programs on the dates mentioned here. She will suggest the varieties best suited for canning and other purposes and otherwise help the housewife with her garden problems.

Terracing demonstrations will be given at the places named below and on the dates specified. Those who want to learn how to terrace, are requested to be present at the nearest place to them. Remember the date.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Stark and Mr. Pulliam Hammer of Memphis, Tennessee returned to their home by auto Friday after a visit of several days with their brother, Mr. M. Stark and other relatives in this section.

Memphis Rotarian Speaks To Local Club Friday's Luncheon

D. L. C. Kinard Brings Breezy Message Making Practical Applications Possible

A full attendance was noted at the Rotary luncheon Friday noon at the Clarendon Hotel and at the sound of the bell, Rotarians D. R. Davis, R. E. Drennon, Jack Jones and R. S. Cope sang "Rotary, My Rotary" enlivening the gathering for one of the best talks soon to follow that it has been the privilege of the Club members to hear.

Mr. Kinard, banker for more than twenty years in Memphis and engaged in several other ventures of a profitable nature, chose "Thrift" as his subject. The subject was defined and in his explanation the speaker noted the fact that "thrift" did not apply to money matters as a whole, but rather entered into life in general.

"It is a crime to fail to teach children to save while they voluntarily learn to spend," the speaker said, and followed that expression with illustrations showing that criminals were made out of boys who were not taught to earn their way through life.

The speaker then followed his subject through the business world showing that thrift would establish credit thus tiding the man of character through years of depression.

"Ninety percent of our domestic troubles are traceable to financial difficulties," the speaker said. He then illustrated the need of practicing thrift in the home as a means of making for happier homes and a more healthful environment.

He then showed how habits of thrift made friends worth while, purchased opportunities for an education, brought comforts of life within the scope of those who deserved them most, etc.

The speaker was rewarded with a big laugh when said that "Memphis has had no depression, but business has gotten monotonous." His talk was well received and pronounced most helpful by a large number who thanked him in person following adjournment.

Other visitors from Memphis were Rotarians E. T. Miller and W. R. Cabaness, each of whom expressed a pleasure at meeting with the local Club almost weekly.

Local visitors were Geo. H. McCleskey, M. M. Noble, Kelly Chamberlain and Odos Caraway each of whom expressed their pleasure at being present, and Mr. Caraway made mention of the fact that his visit had cleared up matters of association that had been a mystery and a curiosity to him for some time.

Adjournment was had by singing America.

Miss Lucille Allen, who has been visiting in Dallas, returned home Saturday.

John Clemmons Suffers Fire Loss Thursday Night

Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed the feed, harness and some of the farming tools belonging to John Clemmons residing on the Odos Caraway farm north of the river about ten o'clock Thursday night.

The loss amounts to about seven hundred and fifty dollars with no insurance.

That Flower Exchange

Some time ago the Leader announced free advertising to those who had flowers or shrubbery to exchange. This is limited to those who live within a radius of 50 miles of Clarendon and you need not be a subscriber to take advantage of the offer.

Merely bring or send a list of what you want in exchange for what you have. Don't expect some thing for nothing.

The management of the Leader will not be responsible for dissatisfaction that may rise from the exchange. You are to be the sole judge in every sense. Get your name and address to us just as soon as possible as the season for flower work is near at hand.

J. W. L. Schull Passed Away Thursday Night

Death resulted within a short time after Mr. Schull was stricken with a heart attack Thursday night. Though apparently in normal health during the day, he is said to have aroused members of his family by peculiar noises as if struggling for breath and was unable to speak, death resulting soon afterwards.

Mr. Schull came to Donley county more than twelve years ago engaging in farming. He was also an active member of the Methodist church and enjoyed the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends who regret his passing. His age at the time of death was 63 years.

Besides Mrs. Schull, he leaves two sons, Lester aged 29 and Paul aged 24 of this city, and a sister, Mrs. A. L. Tune of Waxahachie.

Services were conducted at the family home Friday afternoon and the body conveyed to Waxahachie where it was laid to rest in the family burial plot.

Miss Ruby Hahn spent the week with her aunt, Mrs. Bert Ayers.

Rundell Music Store Will Have Complete Line

The Rundell music store owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lon Rundell and formerly operated at Pampa, is now located in the Latson building in that portion formerly occupied by the barber shop.

In addition to a complete line of pianos, a stock of radios and sheet music will be kept on hand.

They will operate a beauty parlor in the balcony of the building occupied by them, this department being in charge of a competent artist well trained in her line of work.

Canning Records Of Past Season Show Excellent Results

Wide Range Foods Saved For Winter Use by Means of The Pressure Cooker

After residing in Donley county for more than twenty years, the experience from year to year has taught many of Donley county's housewives many things and among those to profit most from that experience is Mrs. Bob Adamson of Hedley.

Besides being the mother of three children and keeping house for them and their father, she finds time to follow home demonstration club suggestions specializing more particularly on canning.

During the past season she brought the pressure cooker into play and followed the season canning choice products from early spring until late fall. Following the vegetable and fruit season, she canned roast beef and steak, chili and tomatoes.

Her vegetable list includes tomatoes, pumpkin, turnip and mustard greens, sweet potatoes, several varieties of peas and beans, etc. Ninety-eight quarts of soup were canned. The soup contains thirteen varieties of vegetables such as sweet pepper, potatoes, peas, carrot, celery, etc.

Peaches were given the preference as a canning fruit though many other fruits enter into the list. In making preserves, the peeling were saved and from these an excellent grade of jelly was made. The jelly list includes plum, peach, apple. Tomatoes of two varieties were preserved.

Aside from the meats, six hundred and eight quarts of other products were saved for future use, the total food products amounting to a grand total of 808 quarts. Mrs. Adamson is but one of several ladies in her section of the county to take advantage of the newer methods of storing up foods for future use, and each succeeding year finds more becoming interested in the all-important subject.

She has been a member of the C. H. D. club during the past four years and finds time to take an active interest in other community affairs for the betterment of her neighbors.

Good Showing Is Made On Remodeling Ball Park Grounds

Old Plank Fence Torn Down And Ground Is Being Put On Level by Machines

Some twenty-eight men out of employment were used in alternate forces over the week in tearing down the plank fence around the ball park. The city tractor was used to level down the hill on the south side, this work to continue until the park is brought to meet with the approval of those directing the work.

The crew was laid off Saturday pending the receipt of building material, but work was resumed again Monday morning.

G. L. Boykin suggests the purchase of a woven wire fence of a proper height as being cheaper than the plank fence. His idea is to place some barb wire above the fence and use iron posts of a permanent nature.

It is possible that Chinese elm could be planted on the outside of the fence and vines made to trail over the fencing which would add beauty to the landscape whereas the plank fence is an eye sore. Mr. Boykin also calls attention to the fact that no other town maintains a high board fence at this time around public ball parks.

The matter is under consideration and it may be possible that this movement to provide employment for needy men may result in one of the greatest accomplishments in beautifying the city in many years.

Civic Clubs to Honor Coming of Dr. Barker the 20th

The various civic clubs of the town have arranged to attend a mass luncheon in the basement of the Christian church at the noon hour of the 20th paying tribute to Dr. Charles E. Barker who will speak in Clarendon on that date.

It is said that Dr. Barker makes no attempt at oratory, but is wonderfully interesting putting punch behind his words of wisdom driving home truths that hold his audience.

The entire expense is being borne by individuals and there will be no admittance charge to the lectures. The general public is invited to attend these lectures.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bourland of Quail visited here Sunday in the Dave Johnson home, parents of Mrs. Bourland.

Poll Tax Payments Fall Short County's Voting Strength

Estimated That 70 Percent of Taxes Were Paid And School Money Short

Donley county citizens were evidently not concerned about any proposed constitutional amendments of bonds or otherwise with a county poll tax payment of only 1.39, little more than half of the voting strength as compared to the votes cast in the last election.

In Clarendon 199 city polls were paid and about 70 percent of the tax money paid, according to Miss Mae Shaver Monday.

Hedley paid 62 percent of her school tax and Clarendon did about as well according to Mr. Mosley, tax collector.

State poll taxes for Clarendon amounted to 327 for City Hall voting box and 374 for the Courthouse. Hedley paid 205 polls and Lelia 163. Ashtola 61; Rowe 30; Martin 37; Goldston 35; Skillet 33; Jericho 42; McKnight 33; Naylor 14; Katkins 10; Smith 14; White Fish 20; Giles 18.

A total of 1398 auto license tags were purchased and 167 filled the requirements for trucks.

Tax Collector Mosley states that there was a noticeable falling off of tax payments after news was received that the time limit had been extended to October.

Air Cadets Here Form Organization for Aviation Building

Members To Practice Building Planes That Fly; Movement Sponsored by Easterwood

Organized to stimulate interest in aviation, the American Air Cadets soon will have a Clarendon chapter composed of boys ranging in age from 8 to 20 years, it was announced Monday by Maynard Jacobson of Dallas a national organizer.

The following firms and individuals will compose an advisory committee for the Clarendon chapter: Greene Dry Goods Company, J. C. Estlack, Clyde J. Douglas, Chas. B. Trent and R. E. Drennon.

When the local organization is completed, the members will learn how to construct aircraft that will remain in the air from 5 to 15 minutes.

The organization is being sponsored by Col. Wm. E. Easterwood of Dallas who sponsored the Paris-New York and New York to Dallas flight last year for which he paid $25,000. The American Air Cadets is a national organization and is not organized for profit.

The principal tools required are knife, razor blade, saw, brace and bit, and sandpaper. When the models are completed, a contest is held to determine the champion builder.

Mr. Maynard was in town Monday and addressed the pupils of the Junior High school on "The Future of Aviation" in the afternoon, his remarks meeting with a unanimous response from the future "explorers of the air."

Local Milling Man Hobbles Out on Crutches

A. W. Simpson, owner of the Simpson mill and feed store near the Parsons produce house, is again able to be out though making his way by slow degrees on crutches.

He received serious injuries to his feet some weeks ago when placing a shaft hanger to a ceiling, the ladder slipping and pinning his heels in such a manner that the bones of both feet were broken and the bone of his right foot pushed up under the ankle.

He is unable to bear much weight on the right foot and expects no permanent relief until the bone is placed back into position by a surgeon. This is his second fall, he having fallen 55 feet from a pecan tree in Oklahoma some years ago at which time his hip was broken and otherwise injured.

Several Additions Result From Library Book Drive Friday

Library Patrons Enthusiastic And Many New Members Are Being Added as Result

Never before since the beginning of the library movement in Clarendon has so much genuine interest been manifested as now according to Mrs. C. A. Burton, librarian.

The book drive of Friday exceeded expectations, eighty-four excellent additions being made during the day. The acquisition of this large number of new books was the occasion of a larger crowd of readers visiting the Club Room Saturday in their eagerness to make use of the new books.

One hundred and thirty-three books were taken out Saturday alone. Many more were taken out during the week. Many of these are going to the rural district since the rental is free and the membership per family costs but a dollar for the year.

The library is open from 4 to 5 on Tuesday and Thursday of each week, and from 2 to 5 on Saturday afternoon of each week. The cost of membership is one dollar per family for the entire year.

Books may be borrowed for a period of two weeks. The book limit is four to the family at any time. Exchanges may be made at any time during the two weeks at the hours as stated above.

Reduced Prices At Picture Show Begins Wednesday Night

Reduction All Round; Penny Prices Is Novelty Feature Introduced

Kiddies and many of their elders will rejoice to learn that the picture show prices are being introduced beginning with Wednesday night of this week.

While there will be a general reduction of prices, the penny feature on Wednesday and Thursday night of each week will be an extra attraction. With the purchase of one ticket, the second ticket may be had for one penny.

All one will have to do is find a partner, buy the two tickets and split the pot, as the boys term it. Look at the Pastime advertisement in this issue for exact prices, single and in lots of two.

Manager H. Maltby says he is making prices in keeping with the times and that he is doing everything possible to enable his steady customers to see all the shows despite anything that may happen. The pictures will be up to the standard, the price of admittance is the only change, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Cox and daughters of Panhandle visited the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Baker Sunday.

McLean Farmer Dies Friday at Wichita Falls

J. W. Wallace, prominent farmer of near McLean died at Wichita Friday after being ill three days from pneumonia. He was visiting relatives in Jack county and was taken to the Wichita hospital when his condition became serious.

Lion Members Are Entertained By Magic Works of Local Man

Pastor First Christian Church Presents Many Features That Surprise

Laying "his cards upon the table" Tuesday night at the Lions luncheon Rev. W. E. Ferrel, pastor of the First Christian church led the onlookers through a maze of mysteries making of Lions Boykin and Rathjen the but of his jokes.

R. S. Cope spoke from a visitor's standpoint and asked the loan of a number of members to further enliven his club, and the request was granted and permanent loan made according to statements of members who entered into the joke.

Frank Houston, district manager of the West Texas Utilities interests was a guest at this meeting and complimented the Club upon being thoroughly alive.

Lion Braswell reported on the McLean meeting and Lion Chase reported on the matter of furnishing magazines to rural schools. Lion Boykin reported on the progress of the work at the ball park as a part of the efforts of the Good Fellows to furnish employment to those in need and stated that the plan was working most satisfactorily up to the present.

Lion Watson reported that the committee had taken Mr. Houdashell to the eye specialist at Amarillo and that he had been told that another operation would restore the sight to the unfortunate man. This is a part of the charity program being carried on by the Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Martin of Amarillo visited over the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Clappitt and son Roy.

Side Swipers.

A man in east Texas was arrested recently when he was caught on the highway driving a truck loaded with piling 55 feet long.

Family Squabbles.

The Oklahoma man who asks for a divorce on the grounds that his wife kicked, slapped him and caved in a rib with her heel probably never heard of the impeachment method in his state. Why not have her removed from her official position?

Dummy Deputies.

So far as we can learn, the sheriff of this county has not armed any cowboys under the guise of deputies. Some sheriffs have a few pets who are privileged to wear concealed weapons by appointing them deputies though they never function as such, which is all wrong.

LIVE AT HOME PLANS.

The information that we have gathered from world statistics and contacts stress the live-at-home plan. No one is in a position to say what our crops produced for sale will bring, but we do know what a saving may be effected by storing away foods by canning and other processes.

Income Tax Again.

The idea of removing the tax from property in this state and making income tax the source of revenue, has met with the hearty approval of the big majority of Texans.

In other words, the present system penalizes the development of land property, whereas the income tax idea places the burden upon those who are most able to pay.

Billboard Law.

New Jersey's new billboard law went into effect January 1st imposing a tax of three cents per square foot. Sixty-three billboard advertising firms have quit business.

Citizens of Texas interested in protecting scenery from desecration by obnoxious billboard signs, should take courage and see that our Legislature enacts a law protecting our scenery, and autoists on our highways where the view is obstructed and often causing wrecks.

AUTHORITY.

Anytime a man is in doubt about the wisdom of buying life insurance, he should ask some fellow's widow—she can tell him all about it.

If her husband did not carry insurance, she is likely working under a boss, steering a sewing machine or frailing suds.

If he did carry plenty of life insurance, the chances are that she is rearing her children independent of want, or if married, she had an opportunity to select a man worth while.

STERLING WINS.

Among the first recommendations to be made to the law making bodies of Texas by Governor Sterling was the semi-yearly tax payment.

The Governor evidently has a bunch of level-headed co-workers in that the law has been passed pretty much as was suggested by the Governor. This one stroke of statesmanship means more to the people of Texas than all of the four years during which Moody was tolerated.

Indian Culture.

proud to call friend. She has lived on the highway, run her filling station and small grocery and befriended many people of many different kinds under many different circumstances. Then for a low down whelp to steal from a woman of this type—well some folks say there is no hell, and if we haven't, we sure need one.

Hungry Niggers.

Well, well. They rounded up a pair of hungry niggers that happened to be sent from Illinois to Washington as a congressman and wife and asked them to eat with them at Washington this week. Several whites refused to go in to the deal, most of them being respectable southern men.

Trying to make white folks out of niggers makes trouble any time and the self-respecting darkies of the South would refuse to eat with a white man much less a bunch of so-called white men and their wives. This episode took place in Washington when the President lunched a number of Congressmen. Being short on Republican material, DePriest just had to be invited to sit at the Republican table.

Dakota Lynches Man.

During the week, a mob at Schafter, North Dakota broke into the jail, took Charles Bannon, a youth of 22 out and lynched him. He had admitted to the slaying of the parents and four children on a nearby farm it is said.

Our exchange papers in that section had much to condemn in the mobbing of a black at Sherman, Texas not many months ago, and now have to answer for a similar crime on a white man in their own state.

Lynching is a result of treachery upon the part of juries, lawyers and courts. The trial of this demon was to have begun next day and the incensed citizenry would not risk a trial at the hands of their own neighbors.

Apologies.

Italy feined an insult because Gen. Butler characterized Mussolini as a "hit and run driver" and demanded apologies of this nation, which was promptly made.

Apologies cost less than a deduction of a war debt which would have appeased their wrath much more readily.

Italian nationals have cost this government millions of dollars in our effort to hold them in check when they trample our laws and customs under foot. Instead of apologizing to a "wop", this government should have rounded up all Italians not citizens of this country and who have been convicted of a felony, and sent them home. The same rule would apply to other nations with equally beneficial results.

Bowed in Shame.

Reports have it that a secret organization similar to the old fraternal lodges has taken root in Hollywood and is thriving. The pledge or obligation reads: "I pledge my honor to conduct my affairs in a way never to reflect discredit on my family, my immediate associates or on the industry of which I am a part; I pledge my honor to conduct myself so I shall never set a poor example of behavior to children and young people."

Well, well. That's a mighty good thing for any one. If they can tote fair with the youngsters, the old folks can take care of themselves very readily. The next question is, just what will they consider a reflection?

Would marrying on trial or a bet be a reflection? Would swapping wives or hobbies be a reflection? Would changing mates every time the moon changed be a reflection?

Would a host of stepfathers or stepmothers upon a helpless bunch of innocent children be a reflection. Again we inquire—just what is a Hollywood reflection anyhow?

Red Cross Funds.

It is reported that the management of the American Red Cross objects to the government making contributions to any relief fund under the management of the Red Cross.

This may be an infringement upon the rights of the Red Cross in causing the public to become reluctant about contributing, but the helpless victims in need care little about the source of the funds. Their principal concern lies in getting help and getting it right now.

These destitute people perhaps can recall when this government spent millions in China, Belgium, the Near East and various other places and probably think it is about time for "charity to begin at home."

The American people paid this money into the treasury. The American people in many states need help. It is but returning to the needy that which has been paid in by them and their neighbors.

Senators Caraway and Robison of Arkansas are not a bit backward about telling their colleagues that this money will be accepted in their state and gladly received. The Red Cross has made few mistakes, but this is one and a monumental one.

How Times Do Change.

Twenty-five years ago beer was five cents a stein or mug with a free lunch thrown in. Eggs sold at three dozen for a quarter and milk for three cents a quart. The butcher gave you liver for the cats and treated the kids to bologna. The hired girl was satisfied with $2 a week and did the washing. Women did not bob their hair, go sockless, powder or paint or play bridge for money. Peas were not 'lifted' and operations were practically unknown.

The men wore California breeches, boots and whiskers, chewed tobacco or smoked a "roll-your-own" cigarette, spat on the sidewalk and never grumbled about a job or went on a strike.

The youngsters had some work to do and went to bed the same day they got up, walked several miles to school, wore flannels and used nothing but hog lard on their hair. Auto accidents were unknown and the kids naturally grew up and lived to a ripe old age.

But today it's different. People ride in autos and airplanes and complain about the slow methods of travel. They seldom go to bed the same day they get up, play poker and bridge, shoot craps, drink bootleg, wear silk step-ins and step-outs, women smoke and 'cuss' to a great extent while the men cry hard times, beat their debts and cuss the government.

This is an age of radios, profiteers, high-jackers, home brew and prohibition, and we think we are having a great time—and we are.

Meaty Minds.

Lubbock is to stage a Ham, Bacon and Meat show March 27-28 in order to further the production of these articles on the farms of that county. Such an exhibition may be a 'show' in Lubbock county but it would come under the head of a 'museum' in most any other section these days.

Tax Payment Bill.

Strange as it appears, officialdom was the only objection to the passage of the deferred tax payment bill. Lobbyist of the tax collector's association are said to have busied themselves at Austin in an effort to defeat the relief measure because it would make more work in the offices of the tax collectors. Since the Legislature is in a mood to disregard the wishes of officialdom, now would be a good time to provide for a partial payment of taxes. We have become accustomed to installment paying, why not include tax payments as well?

New Mexico may be a backward state in many respects, but she has been collecting taxes semiyearly for many years to the entire satisfaction of her citizens, and even her official tax collectors.

Colorful.

The only woman in the Georgia Legislature has proposed a tax on red neckties. Lady, it's the money and not the flaming adornment that attracts the 'other woman', if that's what you are striking at.

Farm Relief.

The farmer who was relieved of about everything he had in 1930 under the government farm relief plan, can now get back on the job and do something for himself.

We are pleased to announce that Antonio Yellini, the opera star, who last month met with a serious automobile accident was able, last night, to appear in three pieces.

Teacher (seeking to point out the wickedness of stealing)—"Now if I were to put my hand in someone's pocket and take out the money in it, what would I be?" Tommy—"Please, Miss, you'd be his wife."

DID YOU EVER TRY—

Adding an apple to vegetable soup, to improve the flavor?
Using half a cut potato as a spreader in greasing a griddle?
Peanut butter mixed with corn syrup for a simple sandwich filling?
Or shredded coconut and vanilla mixed with peanut butter and rolled into balls to make "candy marbles"?
Adding 1-2 cup "red hots" or cinnamon drop candies and one cup white cran syrup to water in baking apples.
A little ammonia in the water in which you plan to wash greasy dishes?
Serving canned grapefruit with fried fish?
A laxative made of dates, bran and honey?
Then do try them!

After the wreck on the logging railroad the superintendent asked the badly injured negro fireman, "Are you married?" He replied sadly, "No sah, Boss, dis is the worstest fix ah was ever in."

Willie—"Did Edison make the first talking machine, Pa?" Pa—"No, honey, God made the first one, but Edison made the first one that could be shut off."

"Hello, Brown, why you've shaved off your beard and moustache—I really wouldn't have recognized you if it hadn't been for my umbrella."

Money You Save

Some men with large earnings have nothing; others with small earnings have much. The one still believes in the "Sure Thing;" the other knows the wisdom of saving regularly a part of his earnings each month. There is but one sure, safe road to financial progress and peace of mind and that is—
Save regularly a part of what you earn and invest it safely where it will grow.

ASHTOLA SCHOOL NEWS

On Tuesday night, a number of the students from Ashtola sojourned to Hedley for some basketball games. Each of the three teams that played was defeated by the Hedley teams. The Ashtola girls were unable to cope with the flashy work done by the Hedley forward, Margaret Swinburn. The Junior and Senior boys were defeated also. The games were all fairly interesting and it is to be hoped that Ashtola may again have the opportunity of playing Hedley.

Wednesday afternoon Goldston came to Ashtola for a double-header. In these games, Ashtola girls were victorious by 21-10. The boys was a hard fought and rather rough game, with Goldston taking the lead of 21-9. The Juniors played only about ten minutes and were in the lead when the game had to be discontinued because of darkness. The games were enjoyed by the spectators. Come back again Goldston.

THE HOODOOED COON
Following the decision of the Activity Club, the cast of the musical comedy, The Hoodooed Coon presented their play at Lelia Lake on Friday night. This was the second appearance of the cast in this production. The audience seemed appreciative, and Ashtola wishes to thank Lelia for their reception.

"BEING FRIENDS"
(By E. Virginia Wilson)
There's many things we value
As this world we journey through
But of things I treasure most,
One is being friends, with you.
For when my heart is heavy,
And I am tired and blue,
There's nothing makes it lighter
Than a cheery word from you.
And when the day is dark
And lowering the clouds the while,
Hang black and heavy o'er my path
There's nothing like your smile.
So when we get to heaven—
If wishes there come true,
I think I'll ask for nothing more
Than be a friend, and live next door,
To God—and you!

"FIT FOR A KING"

King Alfonso of Spain, on his recent visit to London, dined in Cavendish Square on a dish he eats there annually, "Salad of the Gardens of Spain." This dish thought quite fit for a king, was composed of "cold sliced chicken reposing on lemon-yellow hearts of lettuce, criss-crossed with ribbons of pimiento, topped with a mold of fruit salad—sliced oranges, green Malaga grapes, strips of pineapple—all chilled and jellied in fruit juices Mm—would you mind lunching with the King?"

Judge W. Z. Hoggard, for many years a resident of Hedley, died recently at McAllen, Texas.

Arrowhead In Skeleton Found At Mobeetie

Mobeetie, Texas, Feb. 2.—Two skeletons—believed those of early pioneers who fell victims of Indian raids—lay buried more than half a century on the banks of Graham creek, three miles south of Mobeetie, before being unearthed recently by pipeline workers.

Imbedded between two vertebrae of one of the skeletons was an arrowhead, red in color, perfectly shaped and about three inches long. Another arrowhead, of white stone and about an inch long was found in one of the ribs.

It was more than 55 years ago when the last Indian raid on record was made in this section.

The first skeleton measured about five feet and six inches in height. The jaws were narrow and the head was smaller than that of the average man. Age of the victim of the arrowhead was estimated at 40 years.

While the skeleton uncovered by the pipeline workers was being unearthed, under the direction of Jack A. Mead, of Miami, the second was found near the same spot. Many bones were shattered during the excavation, and the teeth dropped out of the skulls. But enough of the remains were preserved to provide study for archeologists.

A COUNTY WIDE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

The Leader makes a direct appeal to each member of the family. Only recently was "Kiddie Stories" added for the little folks.

Its features are timely; it gives prominence to every worth while object or undertaking in the county without partiality.

Farm news, town news, news that is of particular interest to women. In fact the man or woman who really does something is the one to get most attention in the column of the Leader.

We make no effort to "bally-hoo" the so-called big boys unless they accomplish something worth while. "A common paper for common people" has been our slogan from the beginning.

Merchants find in the Leader an excellent medium through which to reach the prospective purchaser because each member of the family is interested in reading the paper. In fact our readers have made the paper what it is today.

FARM POULTRY

SCRATCH LITTER OFTEN MENACE

May Become Damp and Filthy in Poultry House.

More harm than good sometimes results from the scratching litter. It may become damp and filthy and thus be a menace to the health of the flock, or moldy and dusty straw may be used with the result that serious loss of birds follows.

Scratching litter can be used to great advantage and most poultry keepers resort to its use during the winter months. The purpose of litter in the poultry house is three-fold:

1. Enables feeding of grain so as to induce the birds to keep active during the day.
2. Acts as an absorbent and keeps floor clean.
3. Makes the birds more comfortable.

While these purposes are usually accomplished, at the same time the litter often becomes an unsuspected source of trouble.

Poultry keepers can well afford to exercise much discretion as to the quality of straw to be used for scratching litter. Only bright, clean straw, free from dust and mold, should be used as chickens are unable to stand excessive dust and but little mold since it is so irritating to the air passages. It is difficult to realize how delicate and complicated is the respiratory system of a fowl. As one author puts it, the "chicken breathes pretty much all over its body." Besides having bronchial tubes and lungs, it also has nine air sacs located in various parts of the body which form a part of the respiratory system.

Pullets Laying Eggs Need Best of Care

Hens need a balanced ration if they are to return a profit for feed and care. In the natural laying season—April, May and June—the hens balance their own rations by eating green feed, gravel, lime, seeds and grains and insects, and by drinking water in abundance. It is to be found. In winter, when the hens are kept in a building, these things must be supplied if eggs are to be produced.

In summer hens exercise almost constantly. In order to provide exercise in winter, cover the floor with straw and then scatter the feed in this litter. Have plenty of lime, oyster or clam shells, gravel and charcoal in separate hoppers. Provide the protein (insects) by feeding tankage, meat scraps or milk.

Give green feed in the form of cabbage, alfalfa or sprouted oats. Mangels make an excellent succulent feed, but do not take the place of leaf or green feed.

A warm mash, fed about noon during November and December, stimulates egg production. This may be continued throughout the winter with good results.

Too Early Laying Not a Desirable Quality

The birds that start to lay early are usually, other things being equal, the best birds in the flock. However, early laying at the expense of the body growth and development is not wanted. The early matched pullets, some of them, will be starting to lay now, but they must not be forced. If these pullets come into lay normally and are well developed, they may be permitted to lay as they will. If, on the other hand, they come into lay before having physically developed as they should, an effort should be made to hold them back somewhat until they have developed further.

Need More Protein

When hens are not laying, there are a few questions to ask relative to the flock. First, are they properly housed? Second, are the pullets matured and up to standard weight? Third, are parasites, either external or internal, handicapping the flock? If these three questions can be answered satisfactorily and still the birds are not laying in a suitable manner, then it is likely that the trouble lies in the ration. Well-grown birds require a ration containing more protein.

Extremely Thin Shells Show Lack of Material

When egg shells are extremely thin, either there is not sufficient material given the birds so that they can make normal shells, or the birds themselves are not able to make the proper use of the material that is given them. The addition of cod liver oil to the ration will help the birds to make better use of the materials that have been furnished or a mineral mixture may supply the necessary elements the birds need. If birds could get out in the direct rays of the sunshine regularly, the health-giving properties would enable them to make more efficient use of the feeds and supplements that are given them. The practice of keeping layers confined in winter prevents this. That's why white substitutes are used in some of the windows, as these substitutes allow the healthful sun's rays to pass through. When cod liver oil is used, it is added at the rate of 2 pounds to 100 pounds of the mash fed, or about 1 1/2 pints to 100 pounds of mash.

SARDIS, the capital of the Lydian Empire, was one of the great cities of the old world; it was noted for its commercial prosperity. Wool-dyeing was invented there, and its manufactures of rugs and carpets were as noted in their day as persian and morocco carpets are in modern times. The gold-laden sands of the river Pactolus which flowed through the city, and the deposits of the metal called electrum, together with the minting of gold and silver coin, which was there first carried out, added to the fame and wealth of the city in which Croesus richest of kings ruled and which Solon wisest of men visited.

The natural situation of Sardis on a high rocky bluff overlooking the plain of Hermus gave it the reputation of being impregnable, but it had been captured many times. In the sixth century B. C. the army of Croesus suffered defeat beyond the Halys at the hands of Cyrus, and though the victorious army appeared before the walls of Sardis before a new army could be collected, neither Croesus nor the people believed that they were in danger. While the city slept securely, the army of Cyrus scaled the rock-face by some crag, or ledge which had been overlooked by the defenders, and Croesus awoke to find his capital in the hands of the Persians. Cyrus had come upon the city "like a thief in the night." The Church is never in a more perilous state than when she has overwhelming self-confidence and static thoughtless security. Sardis was captured again, by Antiochus, and at the time of this letter to the Church the city was sinking in importance. It had lost its manufactures and commercial position, being surpassed by Ephesus and Smyrna on the seacoast, and became a city of failure; a city whose history blazoned forth the uncertainty of human fortunes, the weakness of human strength, a name synonymous with pretensions unjustified, promises unfulfilled, appearance without reality, and confidence that heralded ruin.

The social history of Sardis finds a reflection in the history of the Church, so the writer points to the condition of one by the language of the other. "I know thy works, that thou hast a name to live but thou art dead." Living on ones reputation is a poor business. It is sad to see the merchant starving on the relics of his former fortune; to see the failing orator reproducing stale scraps of rhetoric which one time commanded applause; sad to listen to an old vocalist whose fame survives his voice; and saddest of all are those professors of religion who acquire no fresh strength and treasure, who live on pious pretenses and worn-out inhibitions. The Christian must live upon his rich and supporting experience of God as revealed to his mind and heart. When the heart is vibrant with the presence of God the life will be articulate with "works fulfilled" in the Christian program of service. In practical religion, we cannot know anything which we cannot experience, and we cannot experience Christianity without doing the things which Christianity proposes for the world. Christianity is a world enterprise for salvaging humanity, and a person without a world experience and a world vision and devotion cannot know its fulness.

A FARM WOMAN'S DESIRE

The ideals set forth in American Farming by Mrs. Bessie T. Rieter are good for all farm women and women in towns and cities or any place where homes are made.

"For the first time in my life I am writing down what I, as a farm woman want most. Sure, I would like to have an electric washing machine, enameled bathroom and an electric grill, but what I want most is to develop this farm home that our children, no matter where they may go, will have beautiful memories and lasting strength of character because of having been in it when young. I want them to be good and fine, to succeed in it, and I want to so live for and with them that they will say, "My mother was an inspiration to me."

"I want to be free from debt clean and orderly, I feel the need of mingling in church and community affairs for the common good of all. I want most each year to learn to plant and cultivate vegetables and flowers and to genuinely appreciate rural life. I want to love both star and cloud.

"I want to remain calm in the tumult cheerful in in trial and leave a home lovely enough that someone else will want to live in it; a work of enough importance that another will be willing to carry it on. I desire to store my mind with good literature, music, pictures and friendships, so that when old, I will never be discontented or unpleasant."

BEAUTY AN ART

MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

NEW YORK.—Women of the future may find a painter's palette, with a handy hole for the thumb, better suited to their purpose than the makeup-box now in vogue. For they are even now learning to work subtle shadings into their faces much as the artist puts paint on canvas, according to Mme. Helena Rubinstein, internationally known beauty authority of London, Paris, and New York.

Rules of the new makeup technique are exacting as those which guide the portrait painter. Mme. Rubinstein disclosed at a beauty convention here "And why not? Building the living, glowing beauty of a woman is just as inspiring as working on canvas or cold marble.

The first rule of the new technique has to do with color. Cosmetic shades either perfectly blend or cleverly contrast with the natural coloring of the skin or costume. The second rule concerns contour. By strategic application of rouge any face is made to simulate the perfect oval."

Solution of Sylvia's Problem

By CHARLES SLOAN REID

SYLVIA HORNE dragged her feet slowly along the mountainside trail. In her hand she carried three elementary text books. She was just from school. Although eighteen, Sylvia had had little opportunity to learn more than the rudiments of the three R's. In the little log schoolhouse at Bald Gap she had learned most of the little she knew about books. About eighteen months covered the entire period of her school days up to this time. The year before her teacher had been an old man who was himself incapacitated beyond the ordinary fourth-grade work. This year Sylvia was thinking about the new teacher, which was the occasion of her lagging footsteps. There was a big problem in her mind. Carlton Alexander was a young man; and he had excited every fiber of romance in Sylvia's little body. And the teacher had shown in a hundred ways that he was especially interested in Sylvia.

Out of this situation had grown the problem which now confronted the girl. She had been kept in after school on this afternoon, presumably as a measure of punishment for bad lessons. The worst of the penalty had been a declaration of love from the teacher. Sylvia immediately had fled from his presence. She was frightened. There were some things in her memory that aroused caution. She was afraid that she might yield to the fascination of a joyous moment and follow the impulse of her heart. So, she had "unway, to think, in the deep woods, where everything was quiet. It was almost sunset.

Sylvia dragged her way along. Presently she stopped at the top of a boulder overlooking a rushing mountain stream. Immediately below her was a shelf of rock extending out over the swirling waters. She scrambled down to this rocky ledge and dropped to a sitting posture on her feet which she had drawn up beneath her. There was wild music in the rush of the waters, which she almost could reach with her hand.

"Lord, I wonder what I am going to do about it?" she said to herself, but aloud, in a tone that rose slightly above that of the waters: "I'm a lovin' that man—they ain't no use to deny it. But how do I know—how do I know? I never saw him before last fall."

The girl was silent a moment. Then, "I ain't forgot Marth Sanders on the singin' teacher. Lord, I shore don't want to get into nothin' like that. I ain't educated like he is. I don't reckon he can mean it, straight an' honest, what he says about lovin' me."

A face had appeared over the edge of the rock above; and Carlton Alexander's eyes were projecting toward the huddled heap of a girl below, the most powerful gleam of love that a man might feel. But how should he make Sylvia understand that he really loved her for herself alone, and that he was not an adventurer who meant to prey upon her affections, then desert her?

"Ef I was only educated," moaned Sylvia. Tears filled her eyes. "I wonder if I am good lookin' as he says? Ef I am, and I was educated, I reckon he could love shore 'nough. But how could I ever talk like he does? Lord, the thoughts of my ignorance weighs me down!"

Sylvia opened one of the books she carried. It was a third-grade word book. She began spelling over the words aloud; some of them were difficult.

"My, how easy he uses 'em," she sighed. After a moment, "No; I shorely don't reckon he can mean it, what he said. I jest don't see how he could."

Sylvia wiped the tears from her eyes and fresh ones came. She bowed her head upon her folded arms. Above her, Carlton Alexander felt a great lump rising in his throat, and his own eyes became filled over from an upwelling moisture.

"And I could die for her any moment!" he cried under his breath.

He arose slowly from where he had thrown himself, face downward, upon the rocks. It required a few steps for him to reach the rock below by a sort of trail around one side of the boulder. Sylvia's sobbing and the swirling around of waters prevented her hearing the footsteps of Alexander. He stood beside her a moment, looking away down the stream toward a cloud of spray which rose from shortly water beyond. Then he sank to the rock and his arms went around the girl in her huddled position. A startled little scream escaped her lips, but the teacher's arms held tightly, and presently Sylvia was looking up into his eyes. Slowly she became relaxed in the embrace that held her. Her hand started upward, and presently his fingers wiped two tears from Carlton's cheeks.

"If you will be mine," he murmured, "I swear that you shall be educated as well as I am, so that you need not suffer embarrassment in my company."

"I know yuh love me, Carlton," she declared.

Her arms went about his neck in the ecstasy of sudden joy.

Kiddies' Evening Story

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Naughty Bill

The goat behaved better than any pony could have behaved. He was patient and would take the children for long rides, and when their friends came to see them, he would take their friends for long rides, too.

But one day his master left tobacco for his pipe on the back porch of his house.

"Ah," said Bill, "there is something for me! I would like to try that stuff!"

He thought of it as stuff, because he didn't quite know whether it was something to eat, drink or smoke.

He really didn't care much what he ate. In fact he would eat anything that was given to him, and a great deal that was not.

He went up to the porch and sniffed at the tobacco. It seemed to him that he knew what it was, and yet he wasn't quite sure.

Well, he would try it! He emptied the tin of tobacco, and ate it all up. Just as he was swallowing the last piece his master came along.

The goat gave a low sound as if to say: "Good morning, Master. Fine day."

Now, hanging from the goat's goatee, or beard was a piece of the tobacco.

So his master knew what had been happening.

"Oh, naughty Bill," he said. "Bill, or Billy Goat, put his head to one side, and then to the other as though to say: 'Whatever do you mean by that?'"

"Well," said his master. "You're a good old goat, and even if you did eat up the tobacco for my pipe, I think you're pretty nice to the children."

And he patted the goat before he walked away.

"There," said the goat to himself, "of course I am nice. He didn't mind my eating what was in that tin. He was probably glad to get rid of it."

"I am very good about eating up what some people won't touch!"

The goat started to go off, but he saw inside the door a pole with paper flowers.

"How good that would taste," thought Billy. "Those flowers look delicious."

The door was slightly open and he shoved it further open and went inside.

The master's little girl was going to have a party and she had arranged a tiny pole with flowers made of paper drooping from it.

In each flower was a little present for every child who was coming to the party.

There were a lot of flowers around the floor—all made of paper.

The goat started to eat the flowers when he noticed a delicious smell.

"Fresh cake gingerbread and cookies!" he said to himself.

He started to have a fine meal when the little girl saw him.

"Oh, naughty Bill, you can't have the party food," she said.

The goat turned his head and looked at her. But she looked so nice and friendly that she gave him a few samples of her party food and then led him out into the yard where he would be out of mischief.

Chevrolet Adds New Convertible Model Cabriolet To Line

Addition of a new Convertible Cabriolet to the 1931 line of Chevrolet sixes was announced here today by W. S. Knudson, president and general manager.

The new body type lists at $615 f.o.b. Flint, Mich., and brings the number of passenger models in the Chevrolet line to ten, providing an unusually wide range of models in a low priced car.

The Convertible Cabriolet is a deluxe type car, with sport accessories as standard equipment. Finish is in new Duco combination of English gray, with the upper panel in Daphnis green, and trim stripe and wheels in cream.

The new model offers a smart combination of style and utility. With the top raised it becomes a comfortable enclosed coupe. With the top lowered, it is a racy open roadster. The folding top is of fabric, with chrome plated landaun irons in the rear and a rumble seat enlarged to carry two passengers comfortably.

Both the front seat and the rumble seat are upholstered in leather, a small leather ridge running down the center of the drivers seat, which is adjustable, to separate the passengers. Instrument panel is of special sport design, an ash tray and pocket are in the right front door and a small package compartment is located back of the front seat.

Included as standard equipment are a cowl ventilator, cowl lights, chromium frame on windshield and windows, which lower flush with the door sills, five wire wheels, forward-folding windshield three chromium plated assist handles to afford easy access to the rumble seat, and radiator grille.

The new type was first shown at the National Automobile show at New York, and dealers throughout the country are being stocked with models for immediate delivery.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH TEXAS?

Nothing's wrong with Texas, except entirely too many of us get up in the morning at the alarm of a Connecticut clock, button a pair of Ohio suspenders to a pair of Chicago pants, put on a pair of Massachusetts shoes, wash in a Pittsburg tin basin, using Cincinnati soap, and a cotton towel made in New Hampshire, sit down to a Grand Rapids table, eat pancakes made from Minneapolis flour spread with Vermont maple syrup, and Kansas bacon fried on a St. Louis stove.

Put on a hat made in Philadelphia, hitch a Detroit mule fed on Oklahoma gasoline to a Ohio plow and work all day on a Texas farm covered with a New England mortgage, send our money to Ohio for tires, wondering why Texas taxes are $2.75 per acre while Ohio farmers pay $1.00 tax and drive on paved roads, and at night crawl under a New Jersey blanket to be kept awake by a bull dog, the only home product on the place, wondering all the time, where in the hell all the money went in this wonderful State of ours.

A SURE WAY TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

We are a firm believer that the best way for the government to relieve the present unemployment situation is to build roads. We think this is a better plan than building federal buildings. In the construction of roads, unskilled labor can be more largely used than in the construction of federal buildings. It will take several months to get a building program under way, but a road construction program can be launched in a few days as the organization and machinery necessary to build roads already exists in every state. We believe the unemployment situation is serious enough to warrant several cross country highways being declared a part of the national defense program and constructed out of federal funds. If such a program was set in motion, for every thousand men put to work on roads several thousand would be employed in other industries supplying food and clothing and road materials. The depression is largely psychological and all it needs is some impetus such as the road building program to get things in motion again. Business has lost its momentum and unless something happens to restore it, recovery is going to be slow and very gradual. A good system of roads would prepare the country for the period of prosperity that everyone hopes is some where ahead.

NUFAIR POLICY

A business man remarked a few days ago that he had spent $50.00 for advertising that month which was not included in his news paper advertising. Further conversation revealed the fact not one cent of the sum was spent for legitimate advertising, it was for contributions to various public enterprises.

THE INEVITABLE DISHES

(A Cook's Complaint.)
There is one task in this world I can't perform with calm, A job which gives me aches and pains
For which there is no balm.
And that one task is—dishes!
(You never do get through, You get one batch all neatly washed—There's another batch to do.)
Our joys are all too fleeting, Even sorrows fly.
But always we have with us— Dishes to wash and dry.
It's sure as death and taxes (A fact you can't ignore)
That tho' you cleanse each single dish
You're bound to soil some more.
When, as, and if, the Fairy comes With those three splendid wishes, All three of mine will be to get Out of doing dishes!
—The Kitchen Gossip.

A NEW KIND OF JAM

Apple Jam is a new one on a great many cooks; if it is novel to you, here's a recipe to help you get acquainted.
Apple Jam
4 lbs. apples, 2 lbs. white corn syrup, 2 lbs. sugar, Rind and juice of 2 lemons, 3-4 oz. ground ginger 6 cloves.
Peel, core and cut apples into slices. Place in a preserving kettle with sugar and syrup, rind and juice of the lemons, ginger and cloves. Boil from 1 1-2 hours to 2 hours. Put in a stone jar and cover tightly.

THEY EAT TO CURE THEIR ASTHMA

Glucose in lemonade was administered three times daily between meals, and sugar given at meal times, to four asthma-afflicted children, patients in Guy's Hospital in London. The children improved in health and finally completely overcame their afflictions, as a result of this simple treatment. Unfortunately, adults do not respond to the treatment.

 Temple of Truth ***
By the Apostle

Migosh! Ten years of prohibition 10 years of woman's suffrage and 10 years of Republican prosperity and I ask where are we? Oh, where are we?

Some Smart Alec wants to know if a fish and a half lays an egg and a half, how many yards of red flannel will be required to make a fishworm a night gown?

Well here's two things we want to know: If an Esquimaux sitting on the Arctic circle with a north wind blowing through his whiskers at the rate of 75 miles an hour and an Arizona billygoat is kicking sandbars out of his tail at the rate of a peck a minute, what did Herbert Hoover use to measure the Wickersham report?

Also—if a grasshopper was fitted up with wooden legs, how long would it take him to kick the seeds out of a dill pickle a mile away?

And now comes the announcement that evening slippers are being made out of the skins of gold fish. It has been a mystery to the Apostle for some time just what value a gold fish had and this news is most welcome. After having fallen into both tanks in our front yard during the dark hours, as a peaceful citizen, both tanks are being offered as a free gift to any gold fish slipper manufacturer that comes along.

A Kentucky man has been arrested on a charge of bootlegging with a baby buggy. He piled the goods in the buggy wedging the bottles around his infant and got by with it for six years by having a new kid on the job each season.

That just goes to show how dumb some people are. The Apostle wheeled a buggy of this kind for several years and never had sense enough to become a retailer. He merely performed the functions of a "ball and chain" as it were.

Old Mother Hubbard, went to the cupboard,
To get her poor husband a drink.

When she got there, the blame thing was bare,
The dry squad had poured it all in the sink.

What a difference a little punctuation will make. Here it is: Woman, without her man, is a savage. Woman! Without her, man is a savage.

The difference between a girl chewing gum and a cow chewing a cud is that the cow appears to do some thinking.

Just think of it! Flour of the best grade is selling here at $1.25 a sack.

The College Hill widow says that money grows on trees since it comes from a sap.

It begins to look like the Double-Barrelled - Nigger - Shooter Time Clock-Attachment Corporation will not get its building up until late fall—if ever. The president of the concern knows about as much about the habits of a city efficiency expert as Dan Moody does west Texas.

The entire crew had been filling their cars with gas and oil out of the company tanks and the President caught 'em red-handed and bowed right up. The efficiency expert told Jim that city employees frequently used the gas and oil belonging to the city and had never found any objection. As an upshot of the whole thing, the crew quit the job until Jim agreed to furnish them gas, oil, water, lights, rent, etc. to which they had been accustomed while working on straight city jobs.

President Jim Heckman says that a city or town may be able to stand for such graft, but a corporation will not stand for such foolishness when there is a dozen men to every job.

Some fool hung a "wet paint" sign on the back of a crying girl at the picture show Saturday night.

Well, it's about time to start the garden stuff and also start the fuss with the neighbor about chickens running at large. We have a chicken law but she won't function.

A Sunday school teacher asked this class recently, "Do you retire a loan?" A cute girl on the front row yelled, "Naw I sleep with my maw!" There's trouble ahead for the old Apostle. The wife got her first batch of chicks from the local hatchery a month ahead of my garden and you never can reason with a woman. Her $5 chickens and my two-bit garden never have mixed with any great success. The more I think about it the more—oh well, Gene, pull the switch. The old man's head is gettin' too hot.

OUR WEEKLY CHURCH CHAT

"Weather and Religion"

There is a strange connection between the weather and religion. It hardly ever is "just right" to go to church! When the weather is warm all the week we go back to our work, but it suddenly becomes unendurable on Sunday. When the cold weather comes, we go right ahead with our daily work, but are attacked with a sudden fear that we will freeze to death or run a frightful risk, if we venture out on Sunday, that is to attend church services. And we do more strenuous things in the hot weather on Sundays than going to church. We visit, eat big dinners, drive many miles in the heat—but are afraid to venture out in the heat to church. So in cold weather we expose ourselves in all sorts of ways, to do all sorts of things, but shy at the risk of trying to get to church.

How often does the pastor meet some of his folks on Monday morning, who were absent from services on Sunday, and have them begin to tell him blandly that the heat or the cold kept them away, when it is either hotter or colder on Monday than it was on Sunday! People seem to think preachers are the most glib of men! If some psychologist would make a study of the weather and religion, he might be able to explain the strange freaks that seem to get into people's mind about it. We have heard of folks who stayed away from church on Sunday because it was so terribly hot, and who spent most of the day in things that would test the endurance of an Eskimo in the polar regions! And still the preacher is expected to believe that people just 'can't' get to church when the weather is at either extreme!

Well you may think the preacher is "easy", but they do not always betray by their looks what they really think. So hereafter, try to think of some other explanation when your pastor meets you on Monday and you try to enlighten him about the unbearable conditions that made it utterly impossible for you to be at the services the day before. Most of the time you fool no one but your self. Remember that God knows the real reason and that you will have to answer to Him for your own actions.

Our Sunday subjects should be of interest to you, they are: "Why We Go to Church" and "Signs of Discipleship." We invite you to come worship with us.

W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Tex.

ONE LESS DISH TO WASH

In making those delicious ice-box cookies and cakes, use a one-pound butter carton, one of those waxed-cardboard boxes for the moulding. It serves the purpose admirably, and there will be one less dish to need the dish cloth's attention.

Incidentally, one of the most popular ice box desserts is composed of the round chocolate wafers that are packed in round tins, combined with whipped cream and shredded cocoanut.

SOOTHING THE SYRUP

If the syrup insists upon dripping from the lip of the pitcher or container, a tiny smear of butter placed at the pitcher's mouth will prevent it from doing so.

In measuring syrup into your cakes, cookies and the like, dip the cup in cornstarch and pour it out again, leaving a thin film inside. Then measure the syrup and you will find it runs out of the cup very readily.

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bayrum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Barbo will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Las Paratas held their regular meeting Monday afternoon, and several business matters were tended to.

This has been mid-term exam week for Brice school. The students and teachers have been very busy all week. In fact, they have been so busy that they did not play any games of basketball.

The Pirates met Tuesday night and took in three new members, namely: Harty Todd, Barry and J. C. Patton. The club is still carrying on nice work, and we are glad to see them take in these new members.

Mrs. D. T. Smallwood called in the home of Mrs. Milton of Bethel Saturday afternoon.

R. V. Hatley of Goldston who is attending school here spent the week end in Goldston with his father and mother.

Mr. Jim Estes and son, J. B. captured a diamond rattle snake last Friday while in the brakes cutting a load of wood. They brought the snake home with them and gave it to Mr. Thomas and his Biology class. They then put it in a tub of water and weighed it down with rocks. After the snake was drowned the Biology class cut it open and observed the different organs of its body which proved very interesting to the Biology class. After all observations were made they mounted it. After it was mounted it measured a little better than five feet long and eight inches around it. The snake had twelve rattlers. About a month ago, Mr. Thomas and his Biology class mounted an armadilla which was brought to them from East Texas by Mr. Mode Hatley.

NAYLOR

Mrs. M. F. Barton and sons of Clarendon were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pickering.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor of Memphis spent Thursday night with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Tidrow.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Naylor and children of Clarendon were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Naylor Sunday.

Mrs. W. D. Van Eaton and Mrs. Alton Jeffries of Clarendon visited with Mrs. Fanny Naylor and daughters Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich Bowlin visited their daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Burch at Hedley Sunday.

Spring weather has put Naylor gardeners to work.

Mrs. Eanes and son Edwin have returned from Brownwood. Her two nephews returned with her for a visit.

Judge J. J. Alexander has had some terracing done on his farm and several others are planning on the same thing.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Bowlin spent Sunday with friends at Hedley.

We are watching for the groundhog to know how to buy coal.

Tommie Clayton, Esker Trostle and Homer Estlack went to Silverton Friday and were accompanied home by Miss Bessie Lee Clayton who visited homefolks over the week end.

Magician With a National Reputation to Come

R. E. (Bob) CLARK

Sponsored by the Fellowship club of the Presbyterian church, R. E. (Bob) Clark will appear at the College Auditorium Thursday night at 7:30.

His program will feature a number of escapes as well as exhibitions of sleight of hand and other tricks. He claims to have a pigeon trick that is a world beater.

Those who can be present at this show are assured a full evening's entertainment. The prices and other information are to be found in an advertisement in this issue.

Mr. T. J. Spier and family.

HOT TOMALE RECIPE

Grind the meat and to two lbs. of meat add 1 medium onion ground, 2 table spoons chili powder, 2 table spoons ground cominos seed, salt to taste and mix well.

In another vessel place two cups corn meal, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 quart water (where meat is cooked) and stir in meal as in making mush. Spread on oil paper or shuck, fold and turn ends under and put in jars and process at 20 pounds for 45 minutes. This should make 3 dozen tomasles.

(Note—This recipe was sent in by Mrs. Bob Adamson of Hedley and has been requested by a number of ladies.—Editor.)

Local Bankers Attend Drouth Relief Meet at Memphis

A meeting of the drouth loan committees was held at Memphis Wednesday, Hall county having been included in the area designated to be extended government loans.

The meeting was presided over by E. W. Thomas, county agent. Applications for loans must be made through local banks where they will be forwarded to the county committee for approval.

The meeting was attended by representatives from the Donley County State bank and the Farmers State bank of Clarendon, each of the banks having customers in Hall county, many of whom reside in the Brice section, it is said.

West Texas Red Cross Units Lead in Drouth Relief

Announcement made from headquarters of the national officers of the Red Cross at Washington state that twenty-eight chapters, most of them in West Texas, are numbered among the 356 chapters of the United States that reached or exceeded their quotas.

Donley county is included in the list of 28 West Texas chapters, her quota having been wired in by treasurer J. D. Swift upon receipt of notice from headquarters some time ago.

It is also noted that Marfa's quota was promptly made up and sent in though that town is designated as being in the drouth area along with Ft. Stockton which also filled her quota promptly.

J. L. Smith of Naylor Has Only Long Staple

Among the best farmers of the county is numbered J. L. Smith and his son of the Naylor community. These men plant nothing but long staple cotton varieties and say it pays.

The dry weather cut production the past year, but even at that the long staple won out. The varieties planted in 1930 were Acala and Russell's Big Boll.

"Our sweet potatoes beat the other crops this year" said Mr. Smith Saturday who found a ready market for the potatoes at $1.50 per bushel. The crop this season will be greatly diversified since he claims that he could buy cotton now cheaper than he can raise it. He has been farming in Donley since 1911.

T. Jones Receives Assyrian Seeds For Trial

Not that he expects to grow Assyrians, but T. Jones received seeds of five kinds of cucumber, watermelon variety, egg plant and tomato from Mrs. N. Abraham of Canadian this week.

He expects to give a part of them a trial since they are big recommended. He also gave Clyde Hudson some seeds for a try, and also kindly remembered the Leader editor who will also test the seed for quality and production.

While You Are Waiting

Yes sir, while you are waiting or watching for the other fellow to offer to buy or sell something, he no doubt is just as eager to find you.

Why not insert a want ad of your own in the Classified Column and reach your prospect in a hurry. The cost will be less than a half dollar, the average being about thirty cents.

Hensons Moving to Speed Farm Near Silverton

The G. G. Henson family on the McCarran ranch south of Ashtola will move this week to the Ed Speed farm south of Silverton.

An auction sale will be held at their present location Thursday, beginning at 10:30 a. m. for the purpose of disposing of their stock and implements before moving.

D. W. Clampitt is Improving From Serious Injury

Friends of Mr. Clampitt will be pleased to learn that he is improving much more rapidly at this time than at any time since his accident some weeks ago.

It will be recalled that he fell from a scaffold while working on the Hahn home near Ashtola receiving a broken hip and an injury to his head which has kept him in bed since that time, and a part of which time he was forced to spend at the hospital.

Miss Anna Eita Goerner and brother Bill of Dallas are visiting Miss Madge Davis.

FLOUR EVERLITE

A Charming Hostess

You'd never think she had cooked that delightful meal, would you? She looks so fresh and dainty, so untired and gay—and she said she's been at a matinee all afternoon!

The seeming mystery is so easily explained.—She's a modern Home-Manager, profiting by the use of Electric Cookery. She prepares the meals at any convenient time, entrusting the actual cooking to the dependable and automatic Electric Range.

Why don't you experience the delights of this modern method of cookery? It's so inexpensive, so convenient, and the results are so unusually good, you'll wonder how you managed when kitchen responsibilities tied you to the old-fashioned cook stove.

A Trained Representative is waiting to explain and demonstrate the modern Electrical Cook. He will also show you how the Convenient Budget Plan and the new Home Comfort Rate make Electric Cookery doubly economical.
