EVERY WHEAT GROWER IN COUNTY IS URGED TO AID IN PROGRAM

An effort will be made to get every wheat grower in the county to cooperate in the wheat reduction program for 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939. Contract signing will start as soon as the new blanks are received. The new reduction will be only five percent as compared to a reduction of 15 percent for 1935, and the parity has been set at 33 cents, the difference between wheat prices at present and prices in 1914.

Agents and Committeemen for districts two and three met at Mineral Wells Tuesday to receive instructions on signing the new wheat contracts. County Agent C.
W. Lehman and Committeemen
G. W. McLean and Roy Chapman represented Brown county.

John R. Edmonds of College Station, assistant in wheat control in Texas, was the main speaker. O.
G. Tumlinson, district agent for district two, also explained the new contracts. T. B. Wood, agent for district three, spoke on the educational aspect of the contract signing.

The agents and committeemen were told to contact every farmer in the county in an effort to have 100 percent cooperation in the program of wheat reduction for the coming period. The same base period that was in use this year will be applied again, the years 1930, 1931 and 1932 being used. There is a special provision for farmers who grew wheat only one year during the base period.

The Moment Before Guns Roared, as Artist Visioned It

Here is the artist's conception of the terrifying scene as Senator Huey P. Long grappled with his assailant a moment before a bullet tore through Long's body, in the assassination in the first floor corridor of the Louisiana capitol at Baton Rouge. The assassin, Dr. Carl A. Weiss, is shown as he pulled the trigger of his German Luger pistol. Around the struggling pair are shown Long's bodyguard with a sub-machine gun and state policemen with automatics drawn. An instant later, Weiss fell, riddled with bullets, after he had fired a second shot which wounded Murphy Rhoden, the bodyguard, on the left thumb. The throng which had jammed the corridor a minute before fled in panic as guns roared to avenge the wounded senator.

LOW PER MAN ALLOTMENT TO TEXAS DRAWS PROTEST FROM LEADERS THROUGHOUT STATE

AROUSED by the wholesale rejection of WPA and PWA projects from Texas because of the difficulty of preparing projects that come within the provisions of the low per man allotment assigned this state, chamber of commerce, city and county officials throughout the state this week are making demands upon the President and Senators to increase this allotment. This word was sent the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce this week by D. A. Bandoen, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the movement to increase the allotment.

The low allotment per man per year of Texas ($600, as compared with $900 for Oklahoma and higher allotments for nearly all other states) first was called to the attention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce by Chester Harrison, secretary of the Brownwood organization, after he had studied the WPA regulations last July. On July 27 Mr. Harrison wrote Mr. Bandoen and solicited the aid of the West Texas organization in having the allotment for Texas increased.

At a district meeting in Brownwood August 13, Mr. Harrison again brought the low allotment to the attention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the district meeting adopted resolutions demanding that the allotment be increased. On the same day, the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas was in session in Dallas, and also adopted resolutions requesting a higher allotment.

E. A. Baugh, project engineer for the state WPA office in San Antonio, visited Washington in the interest of securing a higher per man allotment, but upon his return to the state, he announced that it was virtually impossible to secure a higher allotment than that fixed.

When WPA and PWA projects began arriving at Washington from this state, a large percentage of applications were turned down because the low allotment makes it difficult to draw up a satisfactory project, in that the allowance for material and supervision is held so low that most practical projects become impossible of completion on the $600 allotment.

This situation, Mr. Bandoen pointed out in a letter received Thursday by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, has caused leaders in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and other cities to file protests this week with the President and Senators.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce urges officials and business leaders to join them in the fight, so that Texas can secure its just portion of the President's work relief funds.

One of the most interesting sights of Poland is the government salt mines at Wieliczka, where miners have used their spare time to fashion out a city of salt. A thousand feet beneath the surface is a great church, its chapels, statuary, everything of salt, the whole sparkling like diamonds when it is illuminated.

LIONS CLUB'S STATE CONVENTION WILL BE HELD HERE IN JUNE

Plans for the state convention of Lions Club to be held here next June were discussed at a meeting of officers of the local organization Tuesday afternoon. C. P. Dodson, Deatur, District Lions Governor, met with the officials.

The convention will be held in the first part of June, the exact dates to be announced later, Mr. Dodson said. The convention proper will be for two days and about 200 delegates are expected to attend. In addition to the delegates there will be a number of visitors in attendance. Work on the program for the convention is to be started soon.

Will Talbot, member of the local club, has been named a member of the convention commission and will have charge of local arrangements.

MRS. TRAPP GRANTED LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM DANIEL BAKER

Mrs. J. W. Trapp, professor of education at Daniel Baker College, has been granted a one-year leave of absence from the college. She has not yet announced her plans for the coming year.

During Mrs. Trapp's absence Mrs. Virginia Taber Early will take over her classes.

Bullet Course

Course of the bullet from an assassin's pistol that ripped through the body of Senator Huey P. Long is shown in the picture of Senator Long, above, and the diagram below. The bullet entered the right side and, ranging downward, punctured the transverse colon in two places, passed through the small intestine, and emerged on the left side, causing great loss of blood.

The original injunction suit against Mathews was filed by T. P. & L. July 15 and was made returnable in October.

THIRTEEN DROPPED FROM PAYROLLS OF DISTRICT RELIEF

The administrative staffs of relief district 14-A have been reduced 20 percent in compliance with an order from the Texas Relief Commission reducing all staffs in the state. A total of 13 workers, three in the district headquarters office, three in the Brown county office, two in the Brady office, two in the Coleman office, two in the Ballinger office and one in the Concho office were dropped from the payroll this week.

Doyle T. Brooks, district administrator, announced that work relief projects in all five counties of the district had been held up by rain, but that work will be resumed soon if the weather permits. All indoor projects have been carried on as usual.

WORKMEN RUSHING TO COMPLETE PLANT FOR MATHEWS THIS WEEK

Work on construction of the Brownwood Public Service company's light plant is being rushed this week, and will be completed by Saturday, it was announced by Ralph Mathews. Holes for the poles of the new distributing system have been dug, and it is expected that all poles will be in place by Saturday. On Saturday, District Judge E. J. Miller will hand down a decision on the petition of Texas Power and Light Company for a temporary injunction to restrain Mathews and his company from construction of the plant and distributing system.

Hearing on the temporary injunction was held last Saturday, but the court postponed decision pending agreement of attorneys on a number of points. Construction was well under way when the hearing was held last week, and every effort is being made to complete the work this week.

Plaintiffs' petition attacks the franchise ordinance by which City Council granted Mathews a franchise to build and operate a light and power plant in Brownwood for its failure to comply with city charter provisions and state laws. It claims that operation under the franchise would be wrongful and unfair competition for the plaintiffs and that it is plaintiffs' belief that the defendant plans to serve only a limited downtown area.

Immediately prior to the granting of the franchise to Mathews in July a petition asking for a referendum on the franchise was filed with City Council by attorneys of T. P. & L. At the same time a counter petition containing names of citizens who wished their names removed from the first petition was filed by Mathews. Council denied the T.P.&L. petition on the ground that there was an insufficient number of signers remaining after Mathews' counter petition was considered.

At the hearing Saturday C. L. McCartney, one of the attorneys for Texas Power and Light, said he wanted a master of chancery appointed by the court to study the petitions submitted to City Council earlier in the year asking an election. Gib Callaway, attorney for Mathews, said he did not believe this necessary as action taken by the City Council in refusing the referendum on the franchise, sought by petitions filed with council by T.P.&L. was a judicial movement and was outside the jurisdiction of the court. His contention was that it was not necessary to consider the petition procedure at all, the Council's action being final.

E. P. Woodruff, T. P. & L. attorney, said at the hearing that plaintiff contends that there were enough names on the petition to require an election, as any person over 60 years of age, whether he has an exemption certificate or not, is a qualified voter and that plaintiff's petition contained such names that were not counted.

The original injunction suit against Mathews was filed by T. P. & L. July 15 and was made returnable in October.

LOCAL FORESTERS ARE SPONSORING PROGRAM

The Forester Team of the local camp of Modern Woodmen will sponsor an entertainment program to be held at Memorial Hall September 17. The program will include exhibition drills, musical numbers and dances given by pupils of Mrs. Lou L. Smith.

A large delegation from here is to be sent to the Three-State Encampment at Oklahoma City September 22-24 as a part of the local camp's campaign to bring the 1936 encampment to Brownwood.

Council Makes 5c Reduction In City Tax Rate

New Rate Will Be $1.75 Per $100; City Property Valuation Is $9,880,000.

A reduction of five cents in the city tax rate was effected by a tax ordinance passed by City Council this week. The rate was lowered from $1.80 to $1.75 per $100 valuation. The ordinance also provided that $40,000 of the earnings of the city water works be set aside to pay off outstanding water works bonds and $1,800 of sewer system earnings be reserved to pay off out-standing sewer bonds.

Total valuation of property in the city for taxation purposes was set at $9,880,000 by the equalization board in its report to the council. This represents an increase over 1934 when the total valuation for tax purposes was $9,771,516.

The $1.75 rate is divided as follows: 70 cents for general fund, 35 cents for special funds and 70 cents for schools.

The ordinance also provides for payment of taxes on the split-payment plan. The first half of taxes will be due on and from October 1, 1935, through January 31, 1936. The second half payment will be due on and after July 1, 1936, to July 31, 1936. A penalty of 10 percent and 6 percent interest will be charged on first half of taxes which are not paid by January 31, 1936. A similar penalty and interest charge will be placed on second half taxes not paid by July 31, 1936. A taxpayer also may pay all of his taxes in one payment between October 1, 1935, and January 31, 1936.

Council passed an order setting aside one cent of every 70 cents collected by the general fund for support of Greenleaf cemetery and a like amount for support of Carnegie Library. In the past one cent

THREE MORE SIGNS ARE TO BE ERECTED

Director of the Brownwood chamber of commerce at the weekly meeting Wednesday voted to erect three additional road signs, similar to the two recently erected on highways leading into Brownwood.

Two signs already have been erected by the organization, pointing the way to Brownwood, giving the distance and pointing out that Brownwood is the "Shopping Center for 200,000 people." The signs feature the word "Brownwood" in large white letters, on a blue background, with an accurate skyline silhouette at the bottom of the sign. They have attracted quite a bit of favorable comment.

The first sign was erected on highway 74-A, below Goldthwaite. The second was placed on the highway west of Coleman. The three new signs ordered will be placed on the highways leading to Brownwood from Cisco, Brady and Fort Worth.

BRADY ASKS AID IN IMPROVING LEVEES

As a measure of preventing recurrence of the flood, which menaced the business district of the city of Brady the past week officials made application to the WPA for funds to build 2,100 feet of wall and improve the present levee.

The projects, as approved by the district WPA office here, called for an expenditure of $23,333.37, the WPA to furnish $19,690.72 and city of Brady to furnish $3,644.55. A total of 194 men will be employed for four months on the project.

Brady engineers believe that the heightened levee in addition to a deepened channel, specified in the project, that the flood hazard will be removed.

MANY PUPILS ENROLL IN CCC ART CLASS

A class in art recently started at the CCC camp at Lake Brownwood is attracting a great deal of interest among the enrollees. According to reports from the class, there are more prospective artists than can be furnished with materials. There are also large enrollments in other classes at the camp.

Work is being pushed forward to completion of projects for this period. All but two of the rock cabins in the state park have been completed with waterlines laid for each. Ornamental lanterns are being built for the boat dock on the lake front. They are eighteen inches square and will provide adequate light for all water craft at night beside being an attractive addition to the dock.

A Message To You

Mr. Farmer and Mr. Ranchman:

It is about the time of year when you market your yearly commodities of cotton, corn, feed, wool and mohair. When you market your cotton, wool and mohair, are you going to sell your cotton and mohair to the buyer for a cent or cent and a half per pound less than the market on it just because the buyer is a personal friend of yours? Of course you are not.

Then when you buy your lumber why jeopardize your buying power and pay more by letting personal friendship intervene?

CHURCH TO RESUME BUILDING PROGRAM

Plans are being made by members of the Melwood Avenue Baptist church to resume work on the church building soon. Building plans were halted in the absence of the pastor last spring. The building is to be financed by bonds which are secured by a deed of trust.

The trustees for the bond holders are: Dan L. Garrett, Henry Wilson and Walter Leach. The bonds are being sold for $10 each and redeemed for $12.40, in installments of $3.55 due every six months. The total amount of the bonds is $2,000. The total period of time to redeem them is four years.

Approximately half the bonds have been sold. A sinking fund of $12 per week is set aside by the church to redeem the bonds. By the action of the church this fund is made a preferred item. It has been kept up without difficulty since the first bonds were sold.

The church is looking to its friends to buy the remainder of the bonds and anyone who is interested in such an investment may confer with the pastor, J. M. Cooper.

BROWN RE-ARRESTED AFTER JAIL BREAK

Dee Brown, who was arrested here this summer and held in Brown county jail for more than a month charged with theft of cattle, was re-captured Thursday after his escape from the San Saba county jail Wednesday night. Brown escaped by sawing through the bars of a jail window. His arrest took place on the highway between San Saba and Cherokee.

Brown is jointly charged with an alleged gang of cattle thieves for stealing cattle in Menard, Mason, Llano and San Saba counties. While in jail in Brownwood, Brown gave officers a signed confession, telling of the thefts and disposition of the stolen cattle.

Williford Moves To Fisk Ave. Location

Floyd Williford, local distributor for United States Tires, has moved from his old location to Fisk Avenue, next door to the Brownwood Hotel coffee shop. The move was made necessary, Mr. Williford stated, to take care of expanding business, and to make room for a number of new services being offered by the firm in the new location.

In addition to handling a complete line of United States tires and tubes, the company now will retail gasoline and oil, and do automobile washing and greasing.

The entire building has been remodeled to make it suitable for the new business and an entire new front has been installed, making it one of the most modern establishments of its kind in the city.

AID IS SOUGHT IN MOSQUITO CONTROL

Many breeding places of mosquitoes in the city are being treated with oil and chemicals as a part of the mosquito control work of the city sanitary department. Citizens have been requested to aid in the work by draining water from low places as soon as possible and by emptying water from containers about their houses.

John Gray is in charge of the work for the sanitary department.

Flood Does Slight Damage To Santa Fe

Heavy rains did but slight damage to Santa Fe property the last week although the company operates hundreds of miles of road in the flooded areas of the state in which ten inches of rain fell in a seven days period. Frank H. Christian of Temple who was in Brownwood Wednesday said that there were no washouts, no bridges were damaged and only slight damage was sustained on rights-of-way.

Business volume is steadily improving on his road, Mr. Christian stated, reflecting the generally better conditions prevailing over this territory.

Accompanying Mr. Christian to Brownwood for the day's visit were J. S. Purdy, division freight agent, and W. T. Durham, traveling freight agent, both of the Temple division headquarters.

WATER DISTRICT IN FAVORABLE POSITION FOR GOVERNMENT AID

Officials of Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1 announced this week that if an application to the WPA for construction of an irrigation distribution system for Lake Brownwood, now pending, is granted there is a strong probability that the district's application to the REC for funds to refinance present indebtedness will be granted. Herman Bettis, tax collector for the water district returned last week from Washington where he conferred with various boards and officials concerning the application.

Chas. Clark, member of the Texas State Board of Water Engineers and H. G. Lucas, of the water district, aided Mr. Bettis in work at the capital. Although no definite approval of either the WPA or the REC loan has been secured, prospects seem good for the granting of both.

Mr. Bettis was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Bettis, making the trip by automobile. Congressman C. L. South of Coleman came back from Washington with Mr. and Mrs. Bettis.

MAY

May high school opened Monday, September 9, with 30 boys enrolled for Vocational Agriculture. This is the fourth year for this subject to be offered and there has been an increase in the enrollment each year until the present number is about double that of the first year.

Three classes are being offered in Vocational Agriculture, Year I, year II and a special class in Farm Shop. There will be 24 boys taking agriculture for the first time.

These new students are now starting work on the requirements necessary to receive the Greenhand Degree in the Future Farmer Chapter. They are as follows: Be able to quote the Future Farmer Creed by memory, work out a satisfactory project program, work out a satisfactory supervised practice program for the year, pay local, state and national dues, and receive a majority vote at a regular meeting of the May chapter. After these requirements have been met they are then initiated with the regular ceremony. The first year the chapter was organized there were 25 members, next year 33 and last year 52 and we are hoping to have 60 this year.

During the next week or two the chapter will work out the year's program of work and try to make the chapter more famous each year. Last year the chapter won one state championship and they are hoping for more this year.

Two vexing problems will be before members of the Texas Legislature when it meets next week to pass enabling legislation putting into effect the constitutional amendments adopted by Texas voters last month. These two will be the enactment of old age pension legislation, and setting into motion the selling of hard liquors, under proper regulation, within the wet areas in the State.

Liquor Stores

It is assumed that the legislators will take the 4-to-1 vote in favor of old age pensions as a mandate from the people to set up the machinery at once for the payment of these pensions. Granted this action is taken, the difficult problem is to find the needed revenue. Whether we like the idea or not, we might as well admit that the necessary $25,000,000 needed annually to pay such a pension as suggested, will force the State, sooner or later, to assess some form of sales tax. Other sources of taxation either are dried up or are taxed to the unincreasable maximum. Passage of the pension legislation almost forces the State to give serious consideration to the sales tax, whether this form of taxation is agreed upon at this, or some future session of the Legislature.

Then comes the vexing problem of what to do with liquor. Evidently we are to have hard liquor with us for many years to come, and it behooves the Legislature to do what is expected of them by dry and wet forces alike: set up the best possible regulation around the sale of liquors in the wet counties and protect the dry counties.

Two methods are proposed: the licensing of dealers, and the state monopoly system. Either is fraught with difficulties and dangers, well known to members of the Legislature. The one places liquor in a position difficult of successful regulation; the other gives encouragement to the establishment of a strong political machine.

In view of the fact that Texas will vote in about fourteen months—at the next general election—on whether or not the state monopoly system be established, it appears to us that the most satisfactory method of handling the liquor situation at the present time would be through the licensing of dealers. At least, this will give the people of the State an opportunity to observe this method in active practice, and see whether or not it is satisfactory. If it does prove the best method, there will be time enough next fall for the voters to turn thumbs down on this system and set up the state in the liquor distribution system.

Personally we do not look with favor upon the idea of the state entering the business of selling liquor. It might be a good idea, and no doubt it would bring more revenue to the state, but prohibitionists might as well realize that it will trench liquor into our system of government to such an extent that it will be almost impossible to ever outlaw it again.

The most satisfactory system probably would be the establishment of a low license fee, with a high tax; in that way allowing the largest possible number of dealers and the highest revenue to the State. This would not necessarily make liquor more available for purchase, for licenses can be granted only in wet counties, and no matter what the license fees, there will be plenty of sellers in these counties. On the other hand, it would reduce the tendency of building up a strong organization of liquor distributors, through making them smaller and less powerful.

No, we are not in favor of a state monopoly at this time. Maybe later if the license system does not work out, but not now.

Brooke Ramey has a story about a prospector who settled a claim in New Mexico, and as soon as he had established title, roamed the earth in search of precious metals to be found beneath the ground.

Hidden Wealth

After a lifetime of wandering in far away places, he received word that oil had been discovered on his homestead in New Mexico. He had overlooked fabulous wealth at home to search for it in foreign fields.

Maybe a similar story could be told of Brown County residents; a fact that is brought to mind by the glowing report of possibilities of the quarrying of limestone for building purposes in commercial quantities in this county. The report, made by the department of economic geology of the University of Texas to the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce last week is one of the most interesting that has come to our notice in some time.

While Texas builders—even Brownwood builders—were sending to other states for building stone, there were many untapped strata of the very best possible limestone to be found near the surface within a few minutes drive from Brownwood in almost any direction.

To avoid the possibility of appearing too optimistic about the commercial value of building stone in this county, we quote from the preliminary report of these unbiased experts, who could have no possible ulterior motive in seeing the stone in this county developed. Read their own words:

"The strength of the stone is practically unlimited, as is likewise the life and durability of the material. There is virtually no comparison between the durability of our limestones as compared to sandstones.

"Of the five specimens collected, four show a most beautiful polish when finished, only one specimen failed to respond to the final finish. This glossy polish would make the stone desirable for any kind of finished work.

"The colors are available almost at will from a mottled gray through the near reds, walnuts, mahogany and deep brown to the near black.

"The uses to which the stones could be put are quite varied. The strength would make them suitable for exterior foundations and even walls. The high polish would make them suitable for any kind of interior finish and decorating effect."

The report goes on to say the stones, polished, are suitable for monumental work; that the quantity is practically unlimited, and that they could be quarried at a minimum cost.

In fact, the only feature missing is the capital to develop the stone.

A MODERN DUODECIMO OF HEALTH

Of every 100 persons that are now alive, 35 will die from preventable diseases before they reach sixty-five years of age. If you want to be one of the sixty-four who reach the age of sixty-five, follow these rules, part of which are Dr. Thomas D. Woods' creed of keeping fit: 1. Eat less, chew more. 2. Smoke less, breathe more. 3. Ride less, walk more. 4. Bundle less, bathe more. 5. Worry less, work more. 6. Hurry less, read more. 7. Idle less, play more. 8. Talk less, think more. 9. Go less, sleep more. 10. Waste less, give more. 11. Scold less, laugh more. 12. Preach less, practice more.

Scold less and laugh more, for there are far too few "morning faces" seen today in our thoroughfares. Instead there is a worried, tired look as though people had forgotten how to smile. The depression has taken much cheer out of the world. Stocks and bonds can go, but the radiance must not go from our every day living. Let us not forget the healthful exercise of laughter. Some one has said it takes fewer muscles to smile than frown. Childhood loves laughter and life. Children exercise. They are always moving and growing. They are happily busy and busily happy. This is why they live abundantly.

Health is the greatest asset of the human race. Daily are we beginning to wake up to the fact that physicians are for the purpose of keeping us well rather than getting us well. Not only is individual health kept constantly before the public mind with its health column in the newspapers, cautioning over-eaters, the radio answering diet questions, outdoor summer camps for younger children and health books and magazines, but community health is being brought to the laity also through cities' safe water and milk supply, cleanliness of streets and new methods of sewerage disposal.

Health at its best means resistance to disease, relaxation from mental tension, calm from anxiety, regularity at all times, recreative power through play, temperate living and thinking, spiritual enthusiasm for one's work. Health brings a radiance in our living and gives us and others life abundant.

MRS. HARDIN - PHILANTHROPIST

(Houston Post) Higher education under religious auspices lost one of its most loyal and most helpful friends when Mrs. Mary Hardin passed away at her home in Barkburnett. In the realm of philanthropy Texas has had few other citizens more generous than was Mrs. Hardin, and the bulk of her contributions were to Christian educational institutions. The denominational schools in Texas long have been handicapped by the fact that relatively few Texans of large wealth, inclined toward philanthropy, have shown an interest in Christian education. Mrs. Hardin, together with her husband, John Hardin, became conspicuous figures among Texas philanthropists who chose religious educational institutions as their beneficiaries.

Baylor university at Waco, Baylor College for Women at Belton, now known as Mary Hardin Baylor, in honor of Mrs. Hardin; Simmons university at Abilene, which recently became known as Hardin-Simmons university, received donations amounting to several million dollars from Mr. and Mrs. Hardin. Buckner's Orphans' home at Dallas also was a beneficiary of the Hardin philanthropy.

The gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Hardin to the three principal higher educational institutions of the Baptists of Texas were made at a time when those institutions were in serious financial crises. Their survival of the depression is due in no small measure to the appreciation of the value of Christian education by Mr. and Mrs. Hardin, and to their generosity.

Mrs. Hardin was a woman of culture and education, and was faithful to her religious beliefs. In her early life she was a school teacher and throughout her many years she maintained her interest in education. When oil, discovered on property belonging to her husband and herself, brought to the elderly couple great wealth, they devoted a no inconsiderable part of it to the promotion of the cause that throughout a long lifetime had been near to the heart of Mrs. Hardin.

Religious and educational progress in Texas have been greatly served by this former teacher and her devoted husband who, now past four score years of age, survives her.

Approximately 9,500 persons over 70 years old are on relief rolls in 63 Missouri counties.

Nobody's Business

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

The rage of battle to adopt a state monopoly system for the sale of hard liquor in Texas was thrown into the legislative arena this week on the eve of the opening of the special liquor control session of the 44th legislature.

Ex-Senator Tom Love of Dallas, spokesman for the bone dries, and veteran of innumerable prohibition campaigns, sent a letter to every member of the state legislature, urging state monopoly, and asserting that only in those nine states which have adopted the system has any substantial revenue accrued to the state.

Bitter, and probably successful resistance, will be encountered to his plan from distillers, liquor wholesalers and distributors, hotels, restaurants and all who hope to profit from the liquor traffic.

The state monopolists will have another try at it, if they fail in the special session, next year, when the people will vote on a constitutional amendment setting up state monopoly. Wet leaders here are gravely concerned over what will take place in the intervening year and a half. If regulation is too lax, if drunken drivers kill too many people, if public drinking by women in bars where women and young girls are bartenders is too widespread, they fear a strong reaction that will result in the voters adopting state monopoly next year.

Meanwhile, in the larger cities of Texas and in many small ones, those who profit from the sale of liquor, apparently are doing their utmost to confirm the fears of wet leaders. Throughout the state, liquor dealers have "jumped the gun," not even waiting until the state constitutional amendment is repealed by official canvass of the vote, but opening up saloons—specifically prohibited by the repeal amendment—where all varieties of hard liquor and mixed drinks are served. Local option laws are utterly disregarded. Breweries in Texas and out, manufactured and shipped 6 per cent beer into the state even before election day, releasing it in floods on election night. Every bottle or keg that is made or sold in the state constituted a separate violation of both state and federal laws still on the books. In Fort Worth a 15-year-old girl married in a saloon as a crowd of drinkers cheered, an ordained minister performing the ceremony before an altar of roses, erected on the bar.

The state prison board, meeting in Houston last Saturday, accepted the resignation of Lee Simmons, longtime superintendent and manager of the system, appointed his successor, Dave Nelson of Orange, chairman of the livestock sanitary commission, manager of the Stark farming interests, and world war veteran who won decorations for gallantry. Gordon Burns, Huntsville's senator, and many other members of both houses, protested, asked delay in acting on Simmons' resignation until the legislature could investigate.

The incident brought to a head a long-smouldering fight between Simmons and his friends and a majority of the prison board. Simmons' friends claim he has been handicapped by the board, while his enemies, headed by Sen. Tom Holbrook of Galveston, have criticized Simmons loudly. Both factions promise a legislative investigation, which likely will develop early in the special session.

The widespread interest of Texas in oil was again exemplified in the last prorator order of the railroad commission, which listed and fixed allowances for 174 separate fields. No section of the state seems to be without oil production or potential production. Sixty per cent of the state's counties produce oil. Newest among the areas where production limits are as yet undefined is the Rio-Grande valley section, where Union Sulphur Co. brought in a discovery well and quickly completed a second fine producer. Lorry Jacobs, general public relations director of Southland Life Insurance Co., passing through Austin after a visit to the field, reported oil excitement throughout the valley region. His company owns several hundred acres in the immediate vicinity of the Sulphur producers, which are under lease to the Sulphur developers, and promise to enrich Southland Life tremendously.

A battle royal between two of the faithful from Democratic ranks for appointment as judge of the federal court for the northern district of Texas is in prospect. T. W. (White) Davidson, once lieutenant governor, now a Dallas insurance executive, and J. Percival Rice, Dallas attorney, campaign manager last year for Senator Tom Connally, and assistant federal Centennial commissioner, are rival candidates. Davidson has been endorsed by Senator Morris Sheppard, Rice by Senator Connally. A deadlock may result, as endorsement of both senators likely will be required by any successful candidate. The appointment will probably be made in December, when Judge Weldon Meek reaches the age of retirement. The post pays $10,000 a year, and appointment is for life.

FARMERS SEE NEED OF AAA PROG

Even when the program of agricultural adjustment that has been tried are not approved, farmers are still agreed that things constructive is in order. "The Farm Review," issued by the Pennsylvania Farm Federation has an interesting editorial along that line, a part of which is quoted below.

"We don't like the principle of compulsory crop reduction, processing taxes, they hit industrial neighbors and cause so hard as often to swing back on us like a boomerang. But these policies are more or less pugnant to our inbred sense of freedom of choice and more in life. But so is a bankrupting class repugnant to our sense of justice and equity. And we never forget that we passed crossroads leading to bankruptcy just a little while ago when a tainous surplus of wheat, corn, and hogs, and practically everything the farmer raised to had forced prices down to a livable level! No, we are not getting that!

"Neither are we forgetting our friends in the industrial have always had 'crop reduction' of a different character—called protective tariff. And it is beyond the bounds of good argument to liken the processing tax to manufacturer's tariff. It is farmers' tariff—and the only difference in its working out is through the industrial import lifts the consumer pays in a higher level of prices for domestic goods, while in the farmer's case the consumer pays to the extent, which in turn makes off payments to the farmer.

"Even so anti-Administration commentator as Mark Sullivan, has insistently scored the tariff as a repugnant to the American spirit and as leading to a form society and government where America does not want and not permit to be imposed, declaring that: 'Though AAA as a measure must go, there remains the principle of it. The principle is that farmer shall have a price higher than he would get through operation of supply and demand. If that principle is accepted, other method than AAA can be found, a method free from the vices of AAA.'

"OLDEST CRUDES MAKE TOUGHEST MOTOR OILS" —SINCLAIR

Sinclair engineers have found that, by and large, the oldest crudes make the toughest motor oils. The crude oils used in making Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils are among the oldest ever discovered.

Each of these oils gives a lubricating film that will withstand a pressure of more than 3 tons per square inch. This toughness has been proved on special Film-Breaking Machines in Sinclair's East Chicago Testing Laboratories.

Look for the dinosaur on the Tamper-Proof cans in which Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils are sold.

Open Mediterranean Vital to Britain in War

A vital water route to control if the seemingly inevitable Italo-Ethiopian conflict involves other European powers in war will be the Mediterranean sea, stretching almost the entire length of northern Africa and southern Europe. An open Mediterranean route is essential to Great Britain to reach her vast possessions in Near East and Far East, with her stepping stones at Gibraltar, Malta, Cyprus, and Port Said, at the entrance to the Suez Canal. Italy's recent course indicates that Mussolini is ready to dispute Britain's reign in the great sea and developments that may arise can be clearly followed if readers will elp the above map.

Exports at Expense Of Farmers

"Any man who knows anything about cotton knows that we must take a long-time view of the cotton situation. We are not interested in temporary expedients. We want a policy definite and fixed and based upon equality with industry. Our program would be an empty mockery if the South were benefited for only a year, or so and then we found that we were without means to go on. Yet, the South could not long endure the effect of cotton crops which returned as little as they brought in 1931 and 1932. Nineteen hundred and thirty-one and 1932 are black years in the South's history, yet it is important to note that they were years of unusually heavy exports. We sent 9,193,000 bales abroad in 1931 and 8,895,000 bales in 1932. With few exceptions, supporting data show that the years of the largest cotton exports in the past have always meant fewer dollars to the men who actually grew the cotton. One exception was heavy exports during the world war. The other and most notable exception accompanied our heavy so-called loans abroad during part of the Hoover administration.

"It is time that Texas industry and Texas business realize where their real economic interest lies. A continuation of huge crops and huge exports will do no good unless the price to the farmer is sufficient to maintain his purchasing power. We must decide whether our duty lies in supporting the comparatively small number who are adversely affected by the program, or whether to support the millions who till the soil and upon whose prosperity rests the safety of all. Again the issue is clear cut and we must meet it. It cannot be dodged. I am convinced that the policy that is best for agriculture is the policy which is best for us all."—From address of C. A. Cobb, Director of Cotton Section, Division of Commodities, AAA.

HIGHER CREDIT FOR GOOD FIRE RECORD MAY BENEFIT CITY

Recent action of the State Board of Insurance Commissioners increasing maximum credits from 15 to 25 for good fire records and lengthening the period for computing fire records from three to five years has both advantages and disadvantages, according to Fire Chief Rance Pettitt.

The new order will give cities a chance to secure more credits which will mean a saving in insurance premiums, but at the same time by increasing the length of computation period gives a city two extra years in which it might make a bad fire record.

If Brownwood continues its low fire loss record of the last two or three years, the new order will be of advantage because the city would be in line for more than 15 per cent credit, Chief Pettitt said.

Details of Plan

The new longer period of computing fire records will go into effect March 1, 1937. Under the new schedule towns and cities with a loss ratio of 45 to 52 per cent would be entitled to 5 per cent credit; 35 to 45 per cent, 10 per cent credit; 25 to 35 per cent, 15 per cent credit; 24 to 31 per cent, 20 per cent credit; and less than 24 per cent, 25 per cent credit.

Previously credits were allowed in units of three per cent for every five per cent decrease under a 55 per cent loss ratio to a maximum of 15 per cent.

Penalties which formerly accrued in three per cent units for every five per cent increase in loss ratio over 65 per cent, would start at five per cent on loss ratio of 58 to 65 per cent, 10 per cent penalty would accrue for loss ratio of 65 to 75 per cent and 15 per cent over 75 per cent.

Fire records are limited to towns producing an average annual premium volume of $15,000 or more, and the extended credits of 20 to 25 per cent are limited to cities with an annual average premium volume of $20,000 or more. Brownwood's volume is around $100,000.

Good Record Necessary.

Whether Brownwood will benefit by the change depends on maintaining a good fire record this year and of course, from now on, Chief Pettitt continued.

Brownwood's insured fire loss in 1934 and $18,244.65, the lowest in seven years, and the city now has a 3 per cent credit on its fire insurance rate. Fire losses in the city since 1929 are listed by years as follows: 1929, $108,450.49; 1930,

Lumber Company Has Architectural Staff

The Wm. P. Carey Lumber company has inaugurated architectural service to assist applicants for FHA loans under titles 1 and 2. A complete staff is maintained to draw plans and specifications without cost. This work is essential to those making applications for loans.

The company is assisting in every way with the government in making loans in this territory. The following statement regarding the loans was issued this week by the company:

"The problems of building a home or remodeling the old one have been cast aside due to the possibilities that are being offered in the way of loans, for new construction and remodeling under titles number one and number two of the FHA.

"Under a recent set up of the Federal Housing Administration, it has been made possible under Title 2 of this act, to build you a new home, refinance and repair your old home or buy a home and pay for either of them like you are paying out rent. Thus loans are granted on long time terms, length of time running from one to twenty years and loans made for from two to twenty thousand dollars. Under title of the FHA plan it is possible to remodel or repair your home and pay the loan back in from one to five years. Loans on remodeling are handled on personal paper and no mortgage is required. All loans granted under the FHA are on a 5 per cent interest charge basis."

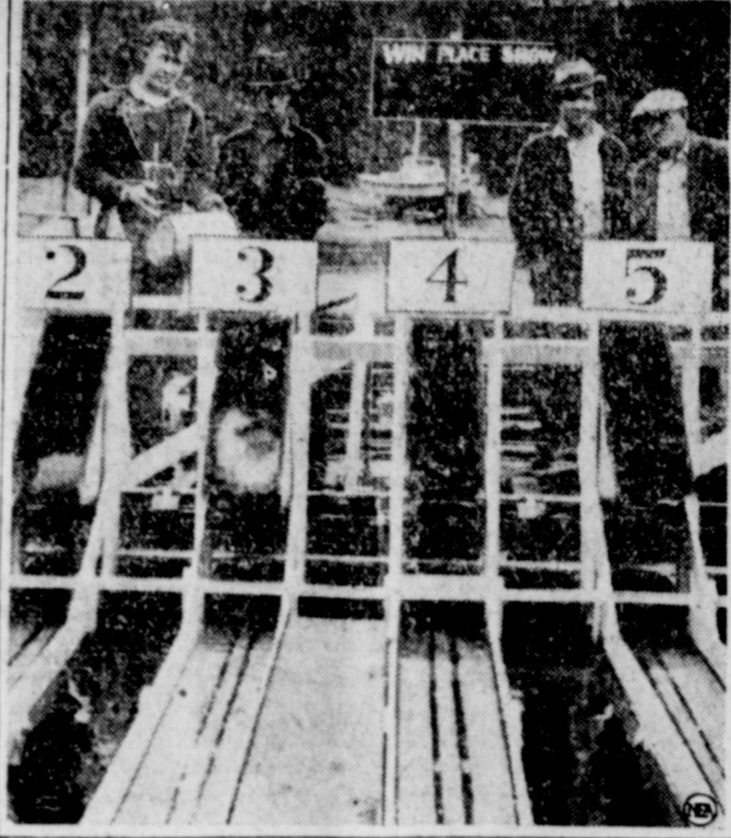

FHA OFFICIAL HERE

A. C. Kyle, field representative of the FHA from the district offices at Fort Worth, was in Brownwood this week working with Smith Bell, county FHA chairman, on several local FHA applications.

$157,931.20; 1931, $69,994.47; 1932, $90,830.41; 1933, $44,646.

If the present year's record thus far is maintained through the rest of the year, Brownwood should be entitled to a 15 per cent credit when rates are figured again next January, the Chief said.

These Races Always Fishy

Horses, dogs, turtles, and now fish go to the races. The new sport has made its appearance on several Oregon rivers. The fish are put in boxes, such as those shown above, and dumped into troughs when the starter turns a handle. They trip a device at the end of the course, which shows the order of finish. Win, place, and show bets are made.

Graves Are Damaged By Continued Rains

Heavy rains the past week have caused more than fifty graves at Greenleaf Cemetery to cave in, and S. H. Bass, manager of the cemetery, urges that lot owners should attend to the matter of repairs at once. City prison labor is available for much of the work, but it will be necessary for owners to assist in having the repairs made.

has been set aside for each of these from every dollar collected.

A change was made in the handling of health certificates for food handlers in the city following a protest from a committee from the Brown-Mills County Medical Society. The representatives of the society, Dr. H. L. Locker and Dr. D. R. Scott, charged that the present practice of having health certificates which had been previously signed by a local doctor signed again by the city health officer, was a "slap in the face" to the doctor who first signed the certificate.

Council voted to have an applicant in the future take his certificate and a duplicate to city hall for signature of City Secretary F. E. Scott, and for filing of the duplicate on the records of the city. The committee agreed to this action.

Council voted to build 25 feet of concrete sidewalk in the 200 block of West Baker street. Alderman T. H. Hart was named as a committee to inspect playground equipment at Coggin Park after a report was received that some of the equipment is unsafe to be used by children.

Welding

... the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

... and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco ...

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish.

When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.
