BROWNWOOD, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1938

NUMBER 31

PIONEERS ELECT TO CHANGE MEETING DATES; NAME C. V. HARRIS AS PRESIDENT FOR YEAR

Old friends and memories were renewed Wednesday when more than 400 pioneers of the county met in annual convention in Memorial Hall and elected C. V. Harris, president; J. H. Miller, first vice president; J. M. Perry, second vice president; Rev. A. R. Watson, chaplain; James C. White, secretary and historian. All past officers were made ex-officio members of the executive committee.

Unanimously adopted was a resolution providing for the erection of a memorial marker at the site of the cabin built by the family of Welcome W. Chandler, who in 1856 built the first house in Brown county. The site is located about one-half mile from the bayou, fifty yards south of the Comanche highway. Miss Melissa Chandler, only surviving child of Welcome W. Chandler, is a member of the Pioneers Association and was present at the meeting. President Harris in the near future will appoint a committee to study ways and means of securing the marker.

Meeting Date Changed
A resolution also was adopted changing the annual meeting date from the first Wednesday in August to the second Wednesday in October. Directing the business meeting was George B. Savage, retiring president. Members of the resolutions committee are Brooke Smith, chairman; Joe Dabney, Neil Davis and W. R. Chambers.

Theme of the day's program was informal. The meeting was opened with a devotional period conducted by James C. White. Old-time singing was led by W. R. Chambers. Instrumental music was presented during the day by Sam W. Murray and his musicians. Only formal address of the morning was a tribute to the pioneers by Mrs. J. W. Trapp, herself a daughter of one of the county's first settlers.

Ice cream was served at the opening of the morning program as a compliment of the family of J. C. Weakley, a pioneer merchant whose death occurred a few years ago. In the afternoon a similar treat was given by W. P. Murphy and the Texas Power & Light Company.

A basket dinner was spread at the noon hour on tables provided by the Rotary club, which also served coffee.

Opening the afternoon session was a memorial address by Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne College and a pioneer in his own right. W. R. Chambers, recently nominated as legislative representative for this district, also delivered a short address. The day's meeting was interspersed with informal talks and reminiscences by the association's members.

A number of Brown county pioneers now living elsewhere were present at the meeting.

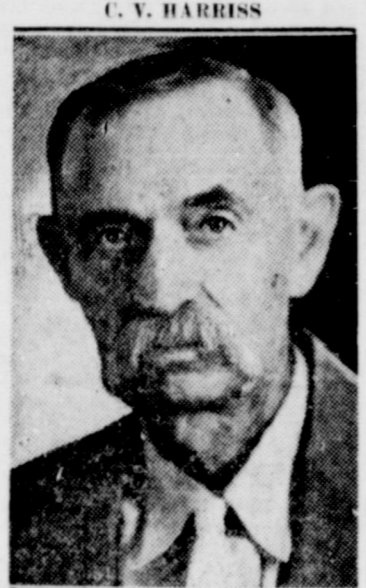

Two Teachers New to BHS Faculty Elected

Miss Mary Frances Matthews, Denton, and A. W. Warford, Gorman, were elected to the Brownwood High School faculty at a meeting of the board of trustees Monday night.

Miss Matthews will succeed J. Piner Powell in the commercial, and business administration courses. She taught at Justin during the past school year. Powell resigned his position recently following his nomination to the County Attorney's office here.

Body of Williams Is Recovered Saturday

A search of three days and nights was brought to an end at 11 o'clock Saturday morning with discovery of the body of Frank Williams, 32, who was drowned late Wednesday when he lost his footing while fishing a few feet above the concrete spillway at the lake.

The body was found Saturday morning floating about a mile below Lake Brownwood dam. Friday workers including members of the Lake Brownwood CCC camp, under the direction of Tom Kellum, dammed off a part of a 15-foot waterfall in an effort to locate the body. Monroe Stewart and Oral Evans discovered the body.

Williams was a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Williams, 201 Melwood. He was born at Mullin, but had lived in Brownwood 14 years.

Funeral services were held from Mitchell Funeral Chapel Sunday at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. J. M. Cooper, pastor of the Rebooth Baptist church. Pallbearers were J. C. Scoggins, Otis Matlock, Tom Wilson, Lewis Templin, M. L. Chandler and Monroe Stewart. Interment was in Greenleaf cemetery.

Survivors include his parents, his widow, three brothers, Ralph, Gerald and Herman Williams of Brownwood; and four sisters, Mrs. Duke Butler Jr., Mrs. Cecil Thompson and Mrs. Robert Herman, all of Brownwood; and Mrs. Hershell Yazell of San Antonio.

Trailer Stolen
A stock trailer was reported stolen from the Leach Brothers Manufacturing Co. property at 200 East Broadway Tuesday night. The trailer had been placed there by a user after the firm closed late Tuesday and was stolen during the night.

OIL WELL SHOWING IN FRY SAND NEAR BANGS; TWO NEW LIME TESTS

Two new Brown county lime tests were spudded and another which had been shut down several weeks resumed drilling this week. All three are within less than ten miles of Brownwood. Another feature of the week is the showing for an oil well in the Fry sand three miles northeast of Bangs.

W. W. Lininger of Denver, Colo., who recently made a contract with the city of Brownwood for the sale of gas from wells to be drilled near the city, has spudded in a Ranger lime test on the Dr. D. R. Scott tract, three miles northeast of Brownwood in the Sarah Ford survey. The contract is for 1,700 feet.

Lininger has about 800 acres of leases in this area, recently assembled by A. M. Stalcup of Brownwood. The block embraces tracts belonging to Mrs. Parker, Mark Linton, W. B. Miller, Funderburg, Joe Fortson, Warren Fortson, Pat Anderson, Dr. Scott, E. C. King and E. L. Stewart.

The new test is in the southwest corner of the Scott 86-acre tract.

Gilcrease Drilling
Drilling has begun on the Gilcrease Oil Company test on the S. Y. Newsom tract, in the Salt Creek area, for which rig was moved in several days ago. The location is a mile and a half west of the Gilcrease producing well on the J. H. Horton tract. Machine has been moved in for the Gilcrease No. 1 Harris & Pittman, 1,260 feet northeast of the Horton well, and drilling will begin at once.

The Brown-Tex Oil Company of Pecos has bought 40 acres of the I. C. Browder tract, five miles northwest of Brownwood, on which a lime test was begun by A. W. Watley and others several weeks ago. Pipe was hauled out to the well Tuesday and drilling is to be resumed at once.

The Watley well, to be listed hereafter as the Brown-Tex Oil Company No. 1 I. C. Browder, has been shut down three or four weeks at 1,040 feet, after finding the Fry sand dry. It is to be drilled to 2,500 feet, which should put it in the top of the Ellenberger. This will give a test of three times—the Caddo, Ranger and Ellenberger.

The 40 acres transferred to the Brown-Tex Company is out of the 206-acre Browder tract and is a part of a block of over 1,400 acres of leases obtained by Watley and associates last April. This acreage is in the ETRR and Flournoy Hunt surveys. Among the tracts included are the Boler, Browder, Culbertson, Ely, Ferguson, Gwathmey, Gilliam, Haynes, Hutcherson, Ray, Strange, Taylor and Tervoren.

The Brown-Tex Oil Company was organized at Pecos in June and the charter was filed for record in Brownwood this week. The incorporators are George Daniel, Nell Betty Anderson and Allen Mephram. The leases in the block of over 1,400 acres were obtained last spring by A. W. Watley, Betty Nell Anderson and Allen Mephram.

H. P. Evans et al No. 1 William Farms, three miles northeast of Bangs, which had been shut down several weeks, resumed drilling Wednesday morning at 968 and struck a good showing of oil and gas at 975. Drilling was shut down for production test to be made Wednesday evening or Thursday morning.

Hightower Job
Hightower Oil & Refining Company has completed a fishing job on its No. 1 W. H. Payne, in the Thrifty area, which delayed drilling for two weeks at 545 feet, and will resume drilling there at once. The test is three-quarters of a mile west of the Hightower production on the Ike Mullins tract.

Hightower No. 5 Mullins, after drilling the White sand deepened 60 feet to the Fry sand and failing to get production there are plugging back to shoot the well in the fifteen feet of White sand at 1,184-99 feet.

Gilcrease Oil Company No. 1 J. M. Perry, in the Thrifty area, ran 8-inch casing at 421 feet and was drilling Wednesday at 475 feet.

Ed Selvidge No. 1-B Perry is due for completion in the next two or three days.

The J. E. Whiteside No. 1 Newton, Thrifty, is drilling below 250 feet.

The Gilcrease Oil Company (W. D. Cunningham) No. 1 Horton, which is now exactly one month old, is reported still holding to its settled production of between 35 and 40 barrels daily.

BANGS ONE-VARIETY COTTON ASS'N WILL SPONSOR INSPECTION

Every cotton producer in Brown county is invited to attend a field inspection trip to be conducted at Bangs by the One Variety Association there Friday morning. All members of that association are especially urged to attend the inspection, and to bring an interested guest. County Agent C. W. Lehmburg has announced.

The purpose of the trip will be to check up on the progress of the 2500-acre experiment being carried on there this season with Roldo, Rowden and Quall varieties of cotton. In many respects this one-variety experiment is the most extensive and most significant cotton program ever attempted in Brown county, it is believed.

Both the above mentioned varieties have one-inch staple, are more storm-proof than more ordinary types of cotton produced in this territory, and are earlier in maturing. Should the Brownwood area prove well-adapted to the production of these superior grades of cotton, it would result in better production and greater commercial value.

Get Grading Service

The advice of Department of Agriculture cotton experts is being considered during the cultivation period, and the Federal Cotton Grading service will be used by the Bangs farmers when picking time comes. Lehmburg has said. Under his type of program it will be possible to judge accurately the advantages and disadvantages which may develop as the one-crop experiment goes along.

Arrangements will be made with Wallace Gin Co., of Bangs for separate handling of both lint and seed of the two experimental crops, to that comparison with more ordinary types of cotton can be made when the season gets started.

Approximately 100 farmers in the Bangs section are members of the One-Variety association and are participating in the program.

Firemen to Attend Semi-Annual Meet At Mason August 9

Official delegates from the Brownwood Volunteer Fire Department will be Seaborn Jones Jr. and Bill Snider. Several other members of the department are making plans to attend the event.

The Brownwood delegates will invite the group to Brownwood for the February Convention, according to Fire Chief Rance Pettitt.

COTTON CHECKS ARE DISTRIBUTED THIS WEEK TO FARMERS

Checks totaling $2,498 are being distributed to Brown county farmers who participated in the old Farm Bureau program operated from 1923 to 1932. The checks represent one-fourth of the reserve fund built in Brown county during the existence of the Bureau.

Of the 800 cotton producers in the county who were named on the list eligible to get the payments, about 200 were present in district courtroom Saturday morning to receive their checks. Growers who were not present Saturday will receive their checks thru the mail.

Individual payments range from a few cents to about $50 each. Byron Curb, Coleman, class for the West Texas Cotton Growers Association, and J. L. Wilkinson of Coleman, president of the board of directors, are directing the disbursements in Coleman, Brown and McCulloch counties. A total of $19,250 will be distributed to cotton farmers in those counties during the present one-quarter liquidation of the reserve funds of the Farm Bureau and Cotton Cooperative.

Approximately $400,000 will be distributed over the State under the system, conducting the distribution here Monday morning were Wilkinson, Curb, H. G. Lucas and County Agent C. W. Lehmburg.

COUNTY'S ALLOWABLE FOR OIL IN AUGUST IS 2,110 BARRELS

Daily oil allowable in Brown county for August has been set by the Railroad Commission at 2,110 barrels. The Brown county figure means, on the basis of present prices, that the value of oil produced in this county in August will be approximately $2,500 a day, or a little above that amount.

The total number of barrels produced in Brown county in the first half of 1938 was as follows: January, 49,635; February, 44,943; March, 52,542; April, 49,027; May, 49,291; June, 46,680; total, 292,097.

The total for July will be between 55,000 and 60,000 barrels bringing the aggregate of this county's production in 1938 to date to approximately 350,000 barrels. The Brown county daily allowable for August is a little over 500 barrels above the allowable for last January.

August daily allowables in nearby counties are: Coleman, 1,200; Eastland, 2,933; Callahan, 1,441.

The Railroad Commission has ordered a continuation of the Sunday shutdown in Texas, which has been in effect since January 15 and reduced the allowables of all fields, except East Texas, two per cent under the allowables as of record July 26.

NEW STYLE

- The gently rolling character of most Texas farm lands itself admirably to tractor farming, and the number of tractors on Texas farms and ranches is growing by leaps and bounds. The chug-chug of an internal combustion engine is the modern giddy-up on Texas farms.
- In keeping with its policy to provide Texans with the petroleum products they need, the Humble Company supplies motor fuels for every type of tractor. Most farmers, however, are buying their new tractors equipped with high compression motors; others are converting old-type tractors by installing high compression heads.
- For these tractors, the Humble Company recommends Humble Motor Fuel. It is economical to buy, economical to use. It delivers full performance in everyday hard use. Try it. Judge its merits on the job. We're confident that you'll agree with other users who say—second to none.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Meetings Held on Quality Cotton

More than 29 regional meetings have been held this season by ginners in the interests of more careful handling of cotton on the farm and at the gin, and 14 additional meetings are scheduled, according to F. E. Lichte, ginning specialist of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. The meetings have been attended by 2,809 ginners and other representatives of the industry.

"Texas has been making considerable headway in increased plantings of quality strains of cotton but this is a slow process," Lichte said. "Quality cotton is on the way back, but in the meantime we can improve the quality of our cotton tremendously by proper handling."

"Picking the cotton clean and dry is the responsibility of the grower. Most ginners, by the use of improved equipment and cleaning machinery, are doing a great deal to maintain quality."

"Sometimes it almost seems that each new advance in ginning equipment results in more careless handling of cotton on the farm."

Modern equipment will provide higher grade lint from damp or moderately trashy cotton, but no machinery has been developed that can dry wet cotton or glean roughly harvested cotton to give lint equal in quality to that ginned from dry, clean-picked cotton Lichte warned.

Already 550 of the 12,700 gins in the Cotton Belt are using the driers developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Of these, 273 are in use in Texas' 3,564 gins. The ordinary temperature of the drying air should not be over 160 degrees and even in the case of very wet cotton, air-temperature should not exceed 200 degrees. Excessive temperatures, Lichte pointed out, injure the cotton fiber.

Irrigation of Strawberries

Irrigation of strawberries will pay dividends, J. F. Roshorburgh horticulturist of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, believes. After the crop is harvested, it pays to irrigate in dry periods of the summer and fall. Roshorburgh said in quoting tests made in North Carolina by the state and the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Engineering and Plant Industry.

In the tests, the plots that received 8 irrigations totaling 12 inches of water during dry spells last summer and autumn returned $78 more profit per acre than nearby check plots. There was no irrigation before or during the harvest season this spring.

The tests here, out results of similar tests of the year before, when berries that received 4 inches of water in three irrigations in the summer and fall of 1936 produced 373 quarts of berries per acre over the yield of unirrigated plots.

usual practice is to let the vines die in the summer and to buy new plants in the winter or spring. A straw mulch, plus irrigation as needed, will enable the vines to go through the hot, dry weather in good shape.

This practice should result in stronger, healthier vines for transplanting, in addition to saving the expense of buying new plants, Roshorburgh pointed out.

Soil Eroded Silt Reservoir Problem

Water reservoirs filling with soil eroded silt are a problem for communities the country over. More than 1,500 reservoirs representing a total investment of at least $1,500,000,000 could conceivably be rendered useless by soil erosion, says H. H. Bennett, chief of the soil conservation service. Many of them are filling rapidly.

The Soil Conservation Service has completed detailed studies of erosional deposits in 55 representative reservoirs in 19 states. About 500 additional reservoirs have been inspected and measurements of deposits made in less complete detail. Five widely separated reservoirs, now filling with silt, at especially rapid rates show results of these studies:

A municipal reservoir built near Spartanburg, S. C. at a cost of $470,000, lost 17 per cent of its original storage capacity in 8 years. Another near Waco, Texas, costing $2,900,000 was 20 per cent filled with silt less than 6 years after the date of construction. Lake Olathe, at Olathe, Kansas, costing $42,000 was 10 per cent filled in 5 years. Elephant Butte Reservoir near Hot Springs, New Mexico, costing $5,000,000 lost 14 per cent of its capacity in 20 years; and Gibraltar Reservoir, at Santa Barbara, Calif., costing $800,000 was 39 per cent silt-filled after 15 years.

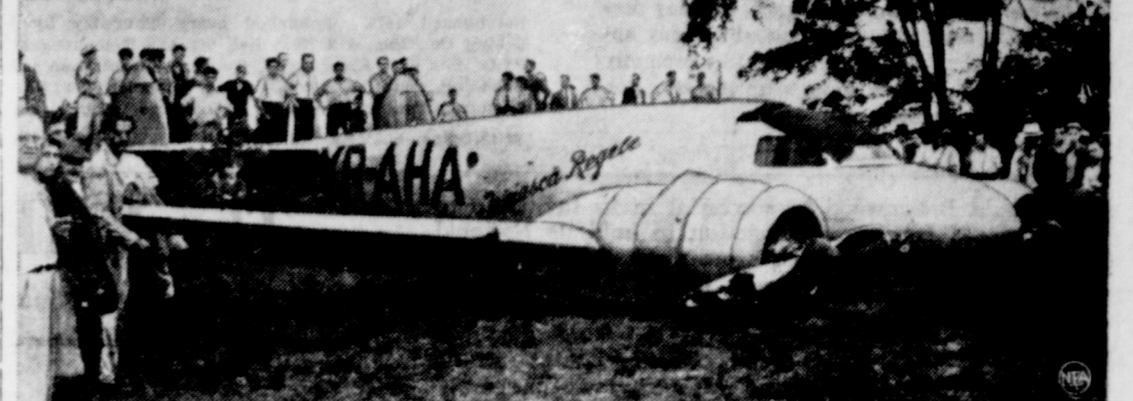

Farm and crop practices that accelerate erosion usually are found on the watersheds from which reservoirs fill, say the SCS engineers. Any practice that slows down the cutting effect of rushing water they point out, means that much soil on the watershed and that much less in the reservoir.

Golf Champ Claims Double Reward

Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., holds the $1,000 check which he won with the championship title of the Professional Golfers Association, at Shawnee-on- Delaware, Pa., while claiming a kiss from his wife, Joan, as an added reward for his skill. Despite the long drives of his opponent, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Runyan's 8 and 7 victory was the most decisive in his twenty-one year history of the competition. It was a repeat performance since he also won in 1937.

End of Hope for Bucharest Hop

The hope of Captain Alexander Papan, Rumanian air ace, to make a non-stop flight to Bucharest this week crashed when he ran it into a stone wall when making a forced landing at Norwalk, Conn. Pictured above is the wreck of his ship, which was bought with funds raised by popular subscription in Rumania. With landing speed too great for the short field, the plane hit the wall, shearing off the landing gear, and smashing both propellers and the twin engines.

Rosenberg's Men and Boys store, located at 212 Center Avenue, recently became the only store of its type between Fort Worth and San Angelo to be completely air conditioned with refrigerated air. The conditioning unit, a Fairbanks-Morse, was installed by Weakley-Watson-Miller Hardware Company and is located in the rear of the store. It is humidity controlled.

SCS VET FOUND ARMY OF OCCUPATIONS IN GERMANY INTERESTING

By Captain Morris U. Lively
SCS 3818-V

During the years since the guns of the Great War were silenced there have been many stories relative to the exploits of men who served on the front; but there has been a dearth of stories of those who stayed with the Army of Occupation.

Out at Company 3818-V is Jack Phillips. He stayed, Phillips volunteered for service with the Army of Occupation. His station was at Mayenz, Germany, a town about 30 kilometers from Coblenz. Phillips was stationed in Mayenz for eighteen months.

The Americans of the army of occupation were known to the German people as the "Amerikanisch Soldaten." Phillips states that "die soldaten" received every courtesy from the German people, in fact the German people made the soldiers feel at home. Many German homes were opened socially to the soldiers, and many of the soldiers married German girls.

Phillips says that the ex-German soldiers were even more courteous in their treatment of the Americans than were some of the civilian population. Usually the only ugliness the occupational army encountered was from the army officers of the German army.

In Mayenz, the American soldiers stayed in the old German barracks and some were billeted out in private homes. All ate in the common company mess.

Phillips believes that the soldiers of the occupational army had plenty to entertain them. "The Y. M. C. A. provided picture shows. We held boxing tournaments and other athletic events. The opportunities for travel were excellent. The German railroads gave American soldiers a rate of ten per cent of a one-way ticket," he said. He visited Metz, Coblenz and many other interesting places.

After talking to Jack Phillips one can easily see that he made the best of his stay in Germany to cultivate himself.

NYA Project at Inks Dam Means Largest Texas Fish Hatchery

An additional sponsor's contribution of $35,000 by the Federal Bureau of Fish Hatcheries has been made in carrying forward the construction of the largest fish hatchery in Texas at the Inks Dam under a National Youth Administration Resident Project. J. G. Keenan, State Youth Director, announced following an inspection tour of the project with G. C. Leach, Chief, Division of Fish Culture, Washington, and John Blaz, Superintendent, Bureau of Fish Hatcheries, Texas. Mr. Leach came to Texas at the invitation of Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson, who was instrumental in securing his cooperation in locating the hatchery at Inks Dam.

Mr. Leach stated after viewing the work already done on the construction of the ponds that he was well pleased with the progress made and that the hatchery was "an outstanding example of how the National Youth Administration can assist in conservation work."

One hundred fifty youths are now assigned to the NYA Resident Project sponsored by the Lower Colorado River Authority in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Fish Hatcheries. Fifty of these boys were recently assigned and 50 more will be added in the next 30 days. As a part of their work assignment the youths are employed under the supervision of the Federal Bureau of Fish Hatcheries building ponds for the hatchery on the east side of the river below Inks Dam, three miles downstream from Buchanan Dam. Youths are also assisting in building a granite Administration Building near Buchanan Dam and in rebuilding the quarters used by the construction crew at Inks Dam into permanent quarters for NYA resident groups.

The NYA boys, selected chiefly from families living in small towns and rural areas, work about half time and during the other half are engaged in a training program in subsistence farming methods and in farm shop work. A tract of arable land adjacent to the fish hatchery site is being cultivated by these boys as a part of the farm training.

The MARCH OF TIME

A BANNER Feature by the Editors of TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine

The National Races

Should Brownwood be successful in its invitation to the National Outboard Association to hold its National Championship races at Lake Brownwood, there will come to this section the most important major sporting event in the history of the State. The National Championships would mean much to Brownwood and this section of Texas.

The Brownwood Regatta Association's annual racing event already has been of great value to Brownwood, and will continue to contribute much so long as it attracts to this section important racers and large crowds. There is no indication that the event is weakening in either department. On the contrary, the number of racers and the number of spectators has increased satisfactorily each year.

It is for this reason that the local association has been encouraged to ask that the national outboard championships be held here. Already the Southern Divisional championships have been awarded to Brownwood, and in event the nationals are not held in these waters, a championship event will be held here, just the same.

The national event would bring to Brownwood the most important racers of the United States, in two days of motor boat racing that for speed, spectacular performance and thrills would be unequalled in the country this year.

The Regatta Association is a bit ambitious in asking for the meet, and it may not be awarded to the local group. But they should be encouraged in their efforts by such support as they might need from Brownwood business interests and racing enthusiasts.

The enthusiastic endorsement of the proposal to create a National Park in the Big Bend area of Texas given this week by W. Lee O'Daniel, democratic nominee for Governor of Texas, is the most important boost the park has received since the idea first grew in the minds of patriotic Texans.

W. Lee O'Daniel is very much in the public eye just now—more so than any Texan has been in many years. Any utterance of his carries more weight than that of any other Texan citizen, at this time when the weight of more than a half million votes backs up his statements. For that reason, his endorsement of any project is not given lightly; you can be assured that he isn't making any statements not backed by a sincere belief.

But Mr. O'Daniel is quick to see the value to Texas of the Big Bend National Park, both as a tourist attraction, as an ideal recreational area for Texans and visitors, and as an aid to his plan to industrialize the State. For the more people that come to Texas, the more will be attracted to the State as a place for investment and residence.

While the half million people who voted for W. Lee O'Daniel cannot be expected to rally to the National Park plan with their funds and their support as readily as they backed the candidate—a personality is more real than the most spectacular mountain range—the O'Daniel endorsement coming at this time practically assures the park for Texas. It may be some time before it is realized, but we will get it some of these days.

A news item tells of a Negro taxi driver who was unable to work for a time because of illness. He obtained $50 from a government relief agency to tide him over. Now he is back at work, and is trying to return the money. When it was pointed out to him that he was not legally obligated to do this he observed that "that was the way I was raised—and that's the way I'm raising my child."

A great many other Americans can learn a lesson from this Negro taxi driver. One of the most ominous portents on the horizon is the fact that thousands of people have apparently come to look on relief as a "profession." They plan to make it their "life work." Productive jobs in private industry hold no attraction for them, when they can take it easy at the taxpayers' expense. They figure someone owes them a living.

This isn't a criticism of those people who have turned to relief only as a last resort, and are eager to get off the rolls as soon as opportunity for a real job comes along. Nor is it a criticism of relief per se. The hungry must be fed, the homeless sheltered, the clothesless clothed. Honest beneficiaries of relief aggressively seek real employment. Professional "relief bums" are a new menace to democratic government.

The Negro's statement was news because his attitude was so unusual today. It should be printed on every relief check.

Better law enforcement, plus better driver education, plus better highways, constitute the key to automobile accident prevention, according to experts. And none of the three ingredients can be left out to get results. Better law enforcement does not mean tough policemen, and traffic judges who decree the maximum punishment on every possible occasion. It does mean modernized traffic codes, "fixless" tickets, a higher calibre of motor patrolmen in many instances, and judges and prosecutors who do their duty without fear or favor. It means a type of law enforcement whose principal purpose is not punishment, but accident prevention. Often, some sound advice will do more to curb a reckless or thoughtless driver, than a fine.

Better driver education requires the scientific approach. Drivers must be appealed to on every possible occasion, by the written and spoken word. Messages must be made simple, vivid and memorable. The great majority of drivers involved in accidents can be made into safe car operators. In the case of the small percentage which is congenitally reckless, revocation of licenses seems to be the only cure. Better highway construction is where the engineer comes in. When you build a road on which it is impossible to have a major accident, you've solved the traffic problem so far as that road is concerned. And modern planning makes it possible to come remarkably close to that ideal, through the use of under and over passes, traffic land separation, and approaches which do not permit cars traveling in opposite directions to meet. The highway of the future will not only be faster than that of today, but immeasurably safer. Accident prevention involves the long pull. It can't be achieved overnight. But properly directed and continuous campaigns, over a period of time, will turn the trick.

Spoiled Neighbor . . .

WASHINGTON—Although the U. S. has always reserved the sole right to spank its Latin-American neighbors, since 1933 it has spared the rod in the interests of President Roosevelt's "Good Neighbor" policy. Meanwhile, the Mexican Government has seized without compensation oil lands, mines, ranches and farms belonging to citizens of the U. S. and foreign countries.

After President Lazaro Cardenas seized great foreign oil properties this year, President Roosevelt explained for Mexico's benefit that the Good Neighbor policy "can never be merely unilateral. . . . It is bilateral and multilateral. . . . It is the fair dealing which it implies must be reciprocated." But still President Cardenas did nothing about paying for what he had grabbed.

Franklin Roosevelt had just finished fishing in Mexico's Pacific backyard last week when Secretary Hull sent Mexico a note about expropriation-without-compensation. Not once in 1,400 well-chosen words did he mention oil wells, gold mines or vast ranches, but he began with a juicy preamble about the sympathy of aims existing between President Cardenas' new deal for Mexico and President Roosevelt's New Deal for the U. S.:

"The issue is not whether Mexico should pursue social and economic policies designed to improve the standard of living of its people. The issue is whether, in pursuing them, the property of American nations may be taken by the Mexican Government without making prompt payment of just compensation to the owners in accordance with the universally recognized rules of law and equity."

From 1915 to 1927, declared Secretary Hull, Mexico seized 161 "moderate sized" properties of U. S. citizens. "Not a single claim has been adjusted and none has been paid." Since 1927 additional properties "chiefly farms of a moderate size" with a total claimed value of $16,132,288, have been taken by Mexico. "This figure does not include the large land grants frequently mentioned in the press." None of these seizures has yet been paid for. "Certainly on the basis of the record above stated, the United States Government cannot be accused of being unreasonable or impatient."

Declared Secretary Hull: "The taking of property without compensation is not expropriation. It is confiscation. It is no less confiscation because there may be an expressed intent to pay at some time in the future." Therefore Mr. Hull requested that Mexico arbitrate the question whether it has complied with international law. "It is the considered judgement, however, of the United States that the Government of Mexico has not complied," and the amounts and terms by which Mexico will make good. In short, for Washington no more "mano-ana."

"Why Not?" . . . WASHINGTON—Said WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins last week of his relief camps: "These fellows are not a lot of robots. They are 3,000,000 American citizens and they all have political views. And, incidentally, I think I know pretty much what their views are. At least 90% of them would vote for President Roosevelt if he were up for re-election—why not?"

Occupation Day . . . SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—Governor Blanton Winship of Puerto Rico went to Ponce last week with 300,000 visitors to help celebrate the 40th anniversary of the U. S. Occupation. With native officials, members of the Insular National Guard, officers from the U. S. S. "Enterprise" and a U. S. destroyer, he mounted a stand to review a gala parade.

Ponce is the place where 21 persons were killed, over 100 injured on Palm Sunday 1937, when the anti-U. S. Nationalists (a terrorist minority) started shooting at police who had forbidden a parade. Last week, crashing over the heads of paraders and onlookers, a burst of gunfire suddenly raked the reviewing stand, felled Puerto Rican Senator and 30 others, fatally wounded National Guard officer. The shooters were Nationalist agitators who had denounced the celebration as a "shameless disgrace" to Puerto Rico. Police restored order, killed one Nationalist, Unhurt, Governor Winship congratulated the excited crowd on "standing firm," called it "a most convincing proof that American institutions are understood here."

"Nation Comes First" . . . TRAVERSE CITY, Michigan—Aimed the Roosevelt third-term band wagon last week stepped Michigan's Governor Frank Murphy. Speaking at Traverse City, he said: "The nation comes first. . . . We may have to draft the President for four more years of leadership."

Death and Bolivar . . . BOGOTA, Colombia—Watching an air review opening Bogota's great new Campo de Marte military field last week, Colombia's President-Elect Eduardo Santos turned to War Minister Alberto Pumarejo and said: "I don't like the way our pilots are stunting over this crowd." Eying the visible perturbation of the Diplomatic Corps, their grandstand a few yards away, the War Minister nervously replied: "The pilots assured me they would avoid dangerous acrobatics."

Then acrobatic Flight Lieutenant Abadia, who once was suspended from the air service for "imprudent flying," decided to finish off with a super-spectacular dive ending in a "half roll" swoop between the two grandstands, barely far enough apart for his plane to pass between. One wingtip hit the Diplomatic Stand, the plane rebounded against the Presidential Stand, burst into flame and sprayed burning gasoline as its propeller slashed human flesh. The whole flaming mass crunched down upon spectators between the stands, slithered 65 feet.

Instantly killed were 34, including Lieutenant Abadia. Many of the 150 injured were taken to hospitals where eight later died. There were no serious injuries among diplomats or dignitaries, although a few had to snuff out drops of burning gasoline. A broken part which came hurtling off the plane bruised the wife of the Japanese Charge d'Affaires.

"It was verified that all pilots had received orders not to fly lower than 500 feet. South Americans especially regretted that the Colombian tragedy occurred on the 155th anniversary of the birth of their great hero and 'liberator,' Simon Bolivar." War Materials Supplied . . . Preacher Quoted As Authority for Fish Story of Ranchman Best fish story of the week: R. L. Mauldin, well known Pooled Hereford breeder and ranchman, was riding along the Winchell highway, about a mile and a half from the river last week, when he noticed a large fish in the ditch by the side of the road.

Mr. Mauldin, after a noble struggle, landed the fish with his hands. He immediately took it to Rev. J. A. McDowell, Winchell pastor, whom he quotes as authority for the truthfulness of the story. The fish was an 8-pound buffalo, and Mr. Mauldin reports that when it was killed and dressed, it was found that it had eaten about a pint of maize seed. Now whether the buffalo had been up from the river to graze in someone's maize patch—well, we leave the rest of the story for the preacher to tell.

Brownwood Applies For Transmitters For Patrol Cars

City of Brownwood has made application to the Federal Communications Commission for installation of two ultra high frequency transmitters for city police patrol cars. The transmitters would cost approximately $200 each. At the present, two city police cars and one sheriff's department car are equipped with receivers for the KNGW signal. Installation of the transmitters would provide for two-way conversation between the police station and the patrol cars. The present frequency of KNGW, police transmitter, is 2458 kilocycles and can be received by ordinary short-wave radio sets. The application asks for 30100 kilocycle transmitters, which frequency could not be heard over ordinary receivers.

Pitcairn Island . . .

NEW YORK—For 147 years after British mutineers colonized Pitcairn Island in 1790 the islanders had only occasional contact with the outside world through visiting boats. Last year the American Radio Relay League secured for this South Pacific speck a modern radio transmitter. One night last week Operator Andrew Young of Pitcairn Hall of Queens, L. I. told me that all ships were avoiding the island because of a false rumor of typhoid epidemic, that Pitcairn was in desperate need of medicines for inhabitants who were ill from other causes. Two nights later, plump, matronly Amateur Hall stayed up until 4 a. m. to tell Pitcairners that Manhattan's British Consulate had cabled the High Commissioner of Suva, Fiji, to help them. Samaritan Mrs. Hall has talked to Pitcairn every night since. Said she: "I have never been anywhere, but my voice has."

Woodul Opens Runoff Drive at Hillsboro

"Common sense calls for the selection of the most experienced and ablest lawyer available for attorney general, to represent the interests of 6,000,000 people against the best lawyers the corporations can hire."

So declared Walter Woodul, who led the first primary ticket for attorney general with more than 300,000 votes, in a speech at Hillsboro Thursday night, opening his runoff drive.

The towering lieutenant governor, lean and in high spirits, was presented by District Attorney Jerry Clarke, most active supporter of Speaker R. W. Calvert's first primary race for attorney general Clyde Tomblason, another leading Calvert aide, presided.

"In simple truth," said Woodul, "I am the only candidate in this race with real experience practicing law, with a record of legal accomplishments, attested by fellow lawyers and judges of the seven district courts of my home county measured by those vital qualifications, I am confident of victory." Many other Calvert workers shared his confidence and pledged him their support.

Woodul reviewed his early struggles to gain an education and a start in life. He told of his war service and civic and public efforts.

"I renew my pledge of full cooperation with our incoming governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, and my support of his program for old age assistance and industrial development," he said.

"I am heartily in accord with his aim of taking the government from the professional politicians and turning it back to the people. In that class are those who keep their feet in the public feed trough by seeking an appointment after another from elected officials, at full-time pay. Their fat salaries come from the taxpayers' pockets, but the political appointees are not subject to the people's approval at the ballot box.

Smith Will Aid Coke Stevenson in Runoff

Because Coke Stevenson has made a record of putting business in government and has been directly responsible for drastically reducing the state's expenses the people should give him a tremendous majority for lieutenant governor in the runoff primary on August 27, John Lee Smith, Throckmorton, declared in an address at Dallas Tuesday. Smith, a popular West Texas lawyer himself was a candidate for the office in the first primary and received about $9,000 votes. He led the field of five by a large margin in the eleven counties surrounding Throckmorton.

"The people have demonstrated clearly," Smith said "that they want more business and less politics in our state government. They see with clear eyes, however, and they know that with Coke Stevenson in the lieutenant governor's chair they will get the kind of support that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel will need in putting over his program."

"As late as the last regular session of the legislature Coke Stevenson led the fight to prevent wholesale increases in the salaries of high state officials. He was willing to increase the salaries of under paid workers but he struck out boldly against increasing the pay of those already receiving high salaries. Coke Stevenson also was the man who found a way to relieve counties of their huge bonded indebtedness at a time when the money lenders of the East sought to harness Texas with a $300,000,000 bond issue. Stevenson wrote a bill to retire county road bonds out of gasoline funds and already the tax payers have been saved upwards of $10,000,000.

ing popular majorities, and reelected in 1936 without opposition. The per diem I have received in those offices was less than I would have earned practicing law during the same periods of time. I sought the offices to render a public service and am proud of my achievements. My only aim and ambition in aspiring to the greater honor of attorney general is to render a greater public service."

First Casa Manana Performance of '38 Pronounced Success

Casa Manana, Fort Worth's glamorous production, got away to a flying start in the big open air theater Friday night, when, under a star spangled Texas sky, a large and highly enthusiastic attendance jammed the big amphitheater to the limits, witnessed the sparkling array of big time talent, presented by Music Corporation of America as the 1938 edition of this world famous attraction. Heading the initial program, which was declared more entertaining than any prior Casa Manana production, is Wayne King's orchestra, and Morton Downey, famed stage, screen and radio star, and both headline features made a decided hit with patrons. King's music, in particular catching the fancy of the crowd which included outstanding leaders in the State's social, civic and business circles, and Downey's pleasant manner plus his golden voice won instant acclaim.

Second only to the featured stars, and gaining even more spontaneous applause was the All Texas Beauty ensemble, presented in four spectacular dance routines, created especially for Casa Manana by Paul Oscar, and the work of these 52 gorgeous Texas girls from all points in the Lone Star State reflected much credit upon Oscar and his associate, Lauretta (Jefferie) Jefferson. The outstanding sequence, all of which revealed the girls in amazingly beautiful costumes, was a Tiller routine. Appearing with the dancing beauties as soloist was Edna Sedgewick famed dancing sprite from Hollywood, whose twinkling toes added much to the ultimate beauty of the whole presentation.

Travelers Coin Words

Travelers are responsible for two of the most carefree words in the English language. "Meander" comes from the name of a river in Asia Minor which follows a very winding, wandering course; while "saunter" comes from the medieval French word for pilgrim, which was a combination of "sainte" and "terre," or "holylander."

SHAGGIES

It's a nice, homey, old-fashioned art, this baking your own cookies. It's still being done, too, by all the best families who like to nibble on a nubbin of sweetness every now and then between meals. Shaggy little coconut cookies are just right for that sort of family. There's a neat mouthful in each, and not enough in the lot of them to cut in on dinner appetites. To start your Shaggies:

- Sift together—1 1/4 cupfuls sifted all-purpose flour 3/4 teaspoonful soda 1/2 teaspoonful baking powder.

Cream together—1/2 cupful butter or vegetable fat 1/2 cupful Peanut Butter, then add gradually 1 cupful brown sugar and cream thoroughly.

- Add—1/2 teaspoonful salt 1 egg 1 teaspoonful vanilla, then beat well.

Add sifted dry ingredients gradually to butter mixture and blend thoroughly. Chill until firm. Pinch off bits of dough and roll between palms of hands into small balls about the size of large marbles. Press down into dry shredded coconut, covering both sides. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheet near the top of a moderate oven (350° F.) about 12 minutes.

FISH CROQUETTES

Another good dish that you can count on for a family favorite is one of Fish Croquettes. They are quite a delicacy made from tender tuna fish flakes flavored with a suberb mushroom sauce. It's no task to make the sauce, either, for all you have to do is open a tin of the famous ready-to-serve Cream

- of Mushroom Soup and merge with the tuna fish this way: Blend well together—2 tablespoons butter, melted 5 tablespoons flour.

Cook until bubbling, then add—1 10-ounce can Cream of Mushroom Soup and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

- Add—1 cupful flaked tuna fish 1 cupful dry bread crumbs, then cool.

Form into croquettes, dip into slightly beaten egg, then roll in dry cracker crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until a golden brown in color. Serve with Mushroom Sauce (recipe below).

MUSHROOM SAUCE

- Melt—2 tablespoons butter, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well.

Cook until bubbling, then add—1 16-ounce can Cream of Mushroom Soup and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

- Add—1/2 teaspoonful Worcestershire Sauce. Serve over croquettes.

MORE UNIFORM SEASON AND SIMPLER RULES AWAITING HUNTERS

Texas hunters will face simpler rules and more nearly uniform seasons for their bird shooting this fall, the State Game Department announced recently.

A state season conforming to the federal season has been ordered on migratory water fowl so duck hunters can operate all over the state from November 15 to December 29. The same season will be open for geese, jacksnipe and coot.

Season for rails and gallinules (waterhens) other than coot is to be September 1 to November 30.

There will be two dove seasons. From September 1 to October 31, shooting doves will be lawful in Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Jack, Young, Wise, Denton, Collin and Hunt counties and all counties north of them, and also in Parker, Tarrant, Dallas, Rockwall, Kaufman, Johnson, Hopkins, Delta and Franklin counties. Elsewhere in the state the season will be September 15 to November 15.

Dove hunting will be allowed south of the Texas-Mexican railway, which runs between Corpus Christi and Laredo, only on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. The days of the week restriction will not apply in Webb or Zapata counties.

Daily bag limit for doves and white wings will be 15 aggregate and the possession limit also 15 aggregate.

The daily bag limits for ducks, except wood ducks, is 16 aggregate with a possession aggregate of 20. The hunter may have three canvassbacks, three redheads, three buffleheads or ruddy ducks in the daily bag, or an aggregate of three of these species. Possession limit is six of any one of these species and six in the aggregate.

Daily bag limit on geese and brant is five and possession limit is 19 aggregate.

Daily bag limit on rails and gallinules, except coot, is 15 aggregate and possession limit the same. Daily and possession bag limit on coot is 25. Rallying of coot for hunting is forbidden by federal regulation.

Doves may be shot in season between 7 a. m. and sunset. Waterfowl and coot may be hunted in season from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Eighteenth Year of Business in City Is Celebrated by Shaw

This week marks the eighteenth anniversary of business in Brownwood for Shaw's Laundry, 510 West Broadway, and in observance the firm is making special price offers to their customers through Saturday.

Established in 1920 by L. E. Shaw, owner and general manager, the first building was located at the same site of the present plant. The present building is of brick and concrete construction, with 15,000 square feet of floor space as compared with 4,000 feet of space in the original building. The firm expanded its equipment in 1927 to include dry cleaning service, and has carried out a program of consistent improvement and expansion since that time. Recently a new and enlarged conditioned-air fur storage vault has been added, as well as a dry cleaning solvent still which insures germ-free handling of all materials treated. New shirt presses which give smoother finish and contour mould have been recently installed. A graduate in dry-cleaning engineering of Ohio Mechanics Institute, Lyman Shaw, a son of the founder of the firm, has for the past two years been plant superintendent.

'Pacific House' at '39 Fair on S. F. Bay

Here is the colorful "Pacific House" to be erected at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay. History, culture and customs of the nations of the Pacific will be dramatized here. The building will rise on the edge of one of the picturesque lagoons on Treasure Island.

Fogee Injured

John Fogee of Newburg received painful injuries to three fingers on his left hand Tuesday afternoon when his hand was caught between a jack and the bumper of an automobile under which he was working. The fingers were badly crushed when the automobile slipped from the jack. He received treatment at Central Texas Hospital.

Wolf Valley

This section had only three and a half inches of rain during the flood week. It was badly needed, and will be sufficient for some weeks. The only damage done is to shocked feed and grain that hadn't been threshed. It is reported that Sol Bailey, who had a good crop of barley and had been unable to secure a threshing, had sustained some loss from sprouting in the shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Courtwright and Mrs. Grace Lyons have moved back to Brownwood where Cecil now has employment with a road building company. Mrs. Courtwright, who has been confined to her bed for the past two years, seems to be doing as well as usual. She will take new treatment while in Brownwood and we hope she will soon get well.

Miss Jo Mae Lester spent the past week with her grandfather, J. H. Harms of May, and attended the meeting at the Baptist church. Waymon Ray and his sister, Pearl, have returned from a visit to relatives near Carlsbad, Texas.

Bud Lancaster has employment with a construction company in Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ellinger and children of Brownwood spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chambers.

Horace and Willis Taylor are busy these days marketing a nice crop of tomatoes in Brownwood. Joy Littlefield, who with her mother and brother, Bill, of Imperial, Cal., has been visiting relatives and friends here for some time, spent Friday night and Saturday with Odessa Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sudderth and children spent last Sunday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hardy.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richardson have returned from a visit to relatives near Bangs. Ned Morris and family of Carbon visited R. H. Porter and family awhile Sunday afternoon en route home from a three-day Morris family reunion which began Friday at the Bob Morris farm four miles west of Sidney. Eighty persons were present and all had a fine time. They had some rain Friday and a heavy one Saturday.

Douglas and Ted Chambers went to Brownwood Thursday. W. R. (Bill) Wade, Sr. and Mrs. Griggs Chambers are expected to leave in a few days for a visit to the old home and relatives in Alabama, where the Chambers boys were born. It will be their first visit since leaving there nearly 25 years ago.

Glenn Harms and John Hardy recently returned from a visit to relatives at Dallas and in Grimes county. They reported good crops and a pleasant trip. Mr. and Mrs. Wes Strackbrien of Cross Plains visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bowden and Mrs. Cecil Courtwright Thursday.

John Hardy went to McCamey last week to see his doctor. His left arm, which was broken last November by a broken drive belt on a drilling machine near McCamey, has been in a solid cast for the past 10 weeks, and he hopes to be able to remove the cast soon.

Most of the folks around here are attending the Baptist meeting being conducted at Union Grove by Dee Stover. The meeting is expected to continue through Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hardy and their son, Dee Hardy, and wife of Colorado, and her sister, Miss Velma Waldrip of Rising Star, have returned from an eleven-day vacation trip through Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Sam, being interviewed by your correspondent, said he passed thru the Ozark region of Arkansas and did not like it. Said the tales about a man and a mule falling out of his barn and of propping pumpkins up to keep them from pulling off the vines could easily be true, as the little farms were mostly located on mountain tops and steep hillsides.

Saw lots of big Elberta peaches and watermelons and learned that most of the people make a living working in the timber. Walked out in a corn patch more than 12 feet high that had from two to three big ears to the stalk. Encountered the sales tax in all five states. Found all states loudly commending O'Daniel except one woman conducting a tourist camp in Texas. When they went to leave the next morning, she asked them if they were for O'Daniel for governor, and being assured that all five were enthusiastic supporters, she remarked, "Well, if I had known that I don't know whether or not I would have let you stay in my camp last night."

They found no gasoline tax in Missouri and the best grades sold for 11 cents per gallon. Across the line in Arkansas they found an eight-cent tax and paid 25 cents a gallon for gasoline. They found farming all along their route being conducted in a very primitive manner—a negro and a mule and double shovel.

From Memphis to Vicksburg they found large plantations growing cotton almost exclusively. Little corn and no hay crops. Saw 20 negroes plowing cotton waist high in one field. A mule, a negro, and a double shovel, Negro, ragged and barefooted, mule poor and scrawny. Straps of negro burs a fourth mile apart, all alike. Sam said Tennessee appeared to be the most prosperous state they visited.

Their most interesting visit was to the Battleground and Military Cemetery at Vicksburg. It had a special interest for Sam, as his father, the late "Uncle" Tom Hardy, fought there as a Confederate soldier and endured unpeakable privation and suffering during the months of desperate fighting while Vicksburg was surrounded and closely besieged by the Yankee forces under Grant. For weeks the Confederates lived on a diet of mule meat and corn.

Swinging a Pen Is Much Easier, Too

His defeat by Jim Braddock and annihilation by Joe Louis hasn't entirely dimmed the luster of Max Baer. Autograph hunters find him back in the woods at his training camp near Lake Tahoe, high in the Sierra Nevada mountains. The ex-champion quits swinging an ax to swing his signature. He says he's preparing to tackle Louis this fall.

Jerry Sadler Opens Runoff Campaign in Sweetwater Tuesday

To the cheers of thousands of Nolan county citizens, who gave him a clear majority in the first primary, Jerry Sadler, militant 30-year old candidate for Railroad Commissioner, opened his run-off campaign at Sweetwater Tuesday.
 Promising his audience that he would conserve the bountiful resources of Texas so that citizens of today might profit from them as well as future generations, the young Longview attorney was introduced by his cousin, Harley Sadler, who managed Jerry's West Texas campaign.

"The forces of greed and monopoly are attempting to destroy the honor and safety of your homes," Sadler warned his listeners. "The avarice and deceit of professional politicians have long held an iron grip on Texas and squeezed out hundreds of thousands of dollars for their own ill gain.

"The time has come when we must drive out this gang of moneychangers—drive them from beneath our Capitol's dome. We must pay the old age pensions, and we must halt shameful abuses which have been cast upon the good names of our pioneer mothers and fathers. We must also triumph over monsters of misery to save and preserve this noble land of ours and our honorable heritage for those children of coming generations.

Pippin Signifies Support of Harry Graves in Runoff

Judge Harry N. Graves, of the Court of Criminal Appeals, who led by a substantial vote in the first primary for the unexpired term on the court, has received the endorsement of his defeated opponent, Judge Charles A. Pippin of Dallas. Judge Pippin, who polled more than 200,000 votes in the first primary, announced he would not only support Judge Graves in the run-off but also actively work for him.

"Of course I do not presume to dictate to my friends how they shall vote," Judge Pippin said.
 "However, many of them have written me and asked me personally as to how I am going to vote.
 After careful consideration of the matter, in view of Judge Graves' unquestioned ability, his tireless energy and fine record of public service, I have decided that the best interests of Texas will be served by his election over his present opponent. I shall therefore vote and work for Judge Harry N. Graves of Williamson county for judge of the court of criminal appeals."

In addition to his public statement, Judge Pippin wrote Judge Graves personally as follows: "I want to congratulate you on your victory. I felt that you or I should be judge, and of course, I preferred the writer. You won fairly and I believe the people of Texas want you for that high and important place and I am going to give you my support.

"I would be very pleased if my friends in considering the matter would vote for you, and when called upon I am going to take the liberty of suggesting that I think you are the proper candidate in this run-off to be nominated."

Audience at Sulphur Springs Hears C. V.
 Terrell Last Week

C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, Friday pledged his support to Governor-Designate W.
 Lee O'Daniel's pension payment Springs before several thousand attending the Hopkins County Old Settlers' Reunion.
 "You have elected W. Lee O'Daniel to the governorship to 'pass the biscuits,'" Judge Terrell said.
 "That's fine. Reelect me and I'll bring the milk and honey to go with those biscuits."
 "I made speeches and voted for the $30 pension. I want to see it paid to every old person in the state. As your railroad commissioner, I can help pay it by keeping oil tax collections high. Thanks to the oil orders I have issued, oil tax collections this year are higher than they were expected to be—amount to about $13,000,000 for ten months through June. I call that bringing the 'milk and honey.'" Judge Terrell also told the interested crowd how he has brought $50,000,000 to the state school fund in oil money.
 "That sound like milk and honey to me too, and I think I deserve the support of every Texan interested in good schools for this state for having helped the schools in that amount," Judge Terrell said.
 He wound up his speech with a declaration that his orders have saved the Texas farmers and shippers millions of dollars by lowering freight rates. "Texas has the lowest freight rates per cargo mile of any state in the union," he said.
 "Right now the railroads are attacking our rate orders asking that we raise them up to the level of other states. I drove them down and still let the railroads have enough working margin to employ and expand.

"I'm proud that we have those rates lower than any other state.
 It has helped Texas develop. I'll keep them low, and that will be another way to provide that 'milk and honey' for Governor O'Dan-iel's biscuits."
 The Sulphur Springs speech was a preliminary appearance for Judge Terrell before he opens his second primary campaign Saturday. He plans just as active a vote-setting drive as in the first primary in which he travelled 8,000 miles, made 200-odd speeches, and led his field in the election by a wide margin.

Cooperation with Governor Pledge
 Of Gerald Mann

Pledging his fullest cooperation with the new governor of Texas Gerald C. Mann has called on the plain people of Texas to continue their fight for honesty and decency in government in the second primary. Mann is speaking to several thousand voters daily in his run-off campaign for attorney general.

"I am heartily and completely in accord with the policies of our new governor and his pledge for an honest, straight forward business administration," the candidate declared. "The attorney general is the legal advisor of the governor of Texas, and I pledge him my full cooperation."
 "It is deeply gratifying to see the many loyal friends of Ralph Yarborough, Bob Calvert and Lewis Goodrich joining our ranks to obtain for Texas an honest and harmonious government. Hundreds of them are daily aligning themselves with the nearly 300,000 common citizens whose votes put me in the run-off race, and I want to thank them for their support in this, my first candidacy for public office.

It's a Toss-Up—
 A Toast to Taste

A trick of the old-time bartender—tossing a drink from glass to glass—is being revived by modern maidens at summer drink fountains. This brings tree-ripened freshness to canned fruit juice, grapefruit growers in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas have found. The explanation:
Grapefruit juice, which is packed now in its full fresh taste, is put up in vacuum—all air removed. To serve, "put the air back." Fountains and restaurants featuring the drink this summer pour the grapefruit juice from cans into their motor-driven mixing machines to aerate it.

BIG MALL FOR NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK—Above is an artist's conception of the middle sector of the $60,000,000 mile-long Central Mall of the New York World's Fair 1939, showing a 2,000-foot tree-lined esplanade with five lagoons which will contain five waterfalls and literally hundreds of fountains. Four sculptured figures will symbolize the basic factors in American liberty: Freedom of Press, Religion, Speech and Assembly. The Mall will also contain the largest portrait statue of modern times—85 feet tall—portraying George Washington at his inauguration, a group of four sculptures representing the moods of love, despair, jubilation in the world, the Peris there, largest ball ever constructed by mankind and the Trylon, 50-story triangular shaft. About 55 of the most imposing exhibit buildings will face upon the Central Mall.

LifeGuard Tires Provide Greater Driving Safety

For many a local car owner, this year's vacation trip will be really care-free, in the opinion of D. C. Pratt, local dealer for the Good-year Tire & Rubber Co.
 "Reason that this summer's vacation trips will be care-free is that a lot of motorists have equipped their cars with Goodyear LifeGuard tires," Mr. Pratt explained. "As almost everyone knows by now the LifeGuard is a remarkable safety device that eliminates danger of accident following a blow-out at any speed, and it has already proved its worth in saving lives and property, if the letters that come into the Goodyear offices in Akron are any indication.
 "The LifeGuard is simple in operation—and it never fails to function when needed," he continued. "It consists of a conventional outer tube that fits the casing in the conventional way. Inside the tube, however, is a fabric reserve tire. The air chambers of the tube and the reserve tire are connected by a single tiny vent. When a tire fails, air escapes instantly from the outer tube but can escape from the inner reserve tire only through the single tiny vent, and the car drops down slightly to ride on the reserve tire."

REGGATA DIRECTORS INVITE NOA MEETING

Following a unanimous vote of the Brownwood Regatta Association's Board of directors at a called meeting Wednesday afternoon National Outboard Association officials were notified late Wednesday of Brownwood's bid to secure the national champions speedboat races to be held September 17 and 18.
 The local association was informed from the Chicago NOA offices that a meeting of the National Outboard racing committee will be held Saturday night in Boston where final award of the 1938 meet will be held.
 James W. Mulroy, executive vice president of the NOA, has indicated that the national organization is favorable to Brownwood as the site for the races, and has provided the local regatta men with complete details of expenses and arrangements which will be necessary if the events are staged here.

EAST TEXAS CARAVAN OF BOY SCOUTS WILL VISIT STATE PARK

Under a tentative schedule which will take 150 East Texas Boy Scouts on a 2,099 mile tour of Texas and parts of New Mexico, the City of Brownwood and the Comanche Trail Council, BSA, will be hosts to the caravan August 27 at Lake Brownwood State Park.
 The Scouts, en route back to Tyler, starting point of the trip, will spend a night and a day at the lake. Camping, fishing and boating privileges are being arranged for their visit. Plans for a sunrise breakfast and Sunday school service at the lake on August 28 also are being arranged.
 Travelling by bus, the group will leave Tyler August 15 and will go first to Austin, and from there to Uvalde, where they will be guests of Vice President Garner. Other West Texas points to be visited are Langtry, the Chisos Mountains, Fort Davis and McDonald Observatory. After a visit to the Carlsbad Cavern, the caravan will return to Texas, going to San Angelo and from there to Brownwood State Park.

To Wed in Reno

Reversing the usual procedure, Mrs. Katherine Mackay O'Brien, above, announced marriage—not divorce—plans in Reno and said she would wed Robert Zeimer Hawkins, young Reno lawyer. She is the daughter of Clarence Mackay, telegraph company magnate.

Smart set gossips say that Society's No. 1 Glamour Girl, lovely and wealthy Gloria Baker, and Henry J. (Bob) Topping, young tinsle heir, will soon trip to the altar. As evidence the rumor-mongers offer the facts that Topping was on the same boat in which Gloria took a world cruise, that they spent a lot of time in Honolulu together. Whether a wedding is in the offing or not, the photo above showing them at luncheon in a New York restaurant, reveals that they enjoy each other's company.

Riggs Sure Shot for Davis Cup Team

The splendid form of Bobby Riggs, 20-year-old tennis star from Chicago, in his victory over Elwood T. Steele in the singles tennis match at Seabright, N. J., assures young Riggs of a place on the Davis cup team. He was second ranking U. S. player before his victory at Seabright. He is shown here in his match with Steele making a hard shot for a far corner of the baseline.

When Luther Missed

On the wall of a room in the medieval Wartburg Castle, Germany, is a great ink stain which is said to have been made by Martin Luther when, working late one night, he thought he saw the devil coming to tempt him, hurled his ink pot at the Evil One, and—apparently—missed.

SMART TIPS ON FIRST FEEDING HABITS

For the first few months your baby's diet will consist chiefly of milk supplemented with orange juice or tomato juice and cod liver oil—a simple enough plan to follow even when the milk must be made up, according to a formula prescribed by your physician.
 Then along about the third or fourth month when your baby is many doctors recommend now that you begin serving the baby just a small portion of Strained Foods diluted with liquid. Up to this time, you see, the baby has had nothing but liquid foods, so the change to semi-solids and solids must come gradually. You will start with a teaspoonful of carrots, perhaps, combined with an equal amount of water or the baby's milk formula. It is well to feed this mixture with a spoon. After a day or so, double the amount of Strained Food, retaining the first proportion of water used. By the third or fourth day, you might try giving the baby straight vegetables without adding any liquid at all.
 If the baby seems to object to the texture of this solid food, go back to adding a small amount of liquid and decrease more slowly. From this time on, you will gradually be able to increase the amount of Strained Foods used at each feeding until the baby is taking a full 4 1/2-ounce tin by the time he is 10-12 months old.
 Since a baby's taste is not highly developed, there is no need to work a variety of Strained Foods into a day's serving. It will be quite enough if you feed the baby carrots for two days or so until the can is finished and then work into spinach or tomatoes or whatever other variety is next on the doctor's list. That way you will be able to include all the Strained Foods in the baby's meal plans over a period of two or more weeks, insuring your baby of a nutritionally sound diet.
 Of course, the variety of products and the quantities in which they are used will vary according to each infant and can best be determined only by the physician who has known your child from birth.

Strained Foods Are Easy and Pleasant to Serve to the Baby.
