MERCHANTS MAKE MISTAKE

Many small town merchants are making a sad mistake in believing that they are going to save expenses by cutting down or cutting altogether their advertising...

TRINITY PROJECT GROWING

Those Dallas and Fort Worth people are showing they are thoroughly in earnest about getting the Trinity River improved for navigation from the gulf to the Panther City.

THE SMALL TOWN THRIVES

Early census reports as chronicled in the metropolitan press created the impression that the small town is slipping, that its population is on the decline.

A check of the census reports for 5003 towns having a population up to 5,000 shows a population gain for the group of 1,861,121—a 23 per cent gain over the population count of 1920.

This check of more than one-half of all the towns of this size is an accurate index to the population trend in small towns.

Of the 5003 towns checked, 3395 showed substantial gains, these gains offsetting the losses in towns that have a smaller population now than in 1920.

A very interesting fact brought out by this analysis is that 95 per cent of the towns that have a good weekly newspaper show appreciable increases in population.

Such decreases in population as have appeared occur largely in the smaller villages, which have lost residents to the more progressive communities that offer better church, banking and educational facilities.

Main Street, with its opportunities for neighborly contacts, will thrive and prosper in this machine and motorized era.—N. E. A.

ENDORSEMENTS

Two endorsements of the many for the university land amendment are quite important. One of these is sanctioned by members of the board of regents of the university of Texas, owning 2,000,320 acres in 17 Texas counties.

For the regents of a school, whose property is affected, to endorse the amendment bespeaks the fairness, justice and equity combined in the proposal. For the county judges to do the same thing makes more apparent the logic of the amendment.

COUNTY JUDGE FAVORS CHANGE

COUNTY JUDGE J. J. ALEXANDER, ENDORSES UNIVERSITY LAND TAX AMENDMENT

"University lands in Andrews County equal half of this county, and in fact cover 29 per cent of the parent county," declared County Judge J. J. Alexander today.

University lands in Andrews total 294,409 acres, or 460 square miles. The area of this county is 906 square miles. "We can best determine the situation in which 17 counties are by reason of having 2,000,320 acres of university lands by making the application here at home," declared Judge Alexander.

"I am thoroughly in accord with the spirit of justice, fairness and equality in the amendment. The regents of the university have said it was all right. Governor Dan Moody terms it just and fair, both the Democratic and Republican parties have an endorsing resolution in their platforms, and the Association of County Judges and Commissioners of which I am a member by reason of office, passed an endorsement unanimously at the recent meeting at Fort Worth."

"Fate of Those Who Reject the Gospel"
It is God's invariable rule of proceeding to deal with His creatures, in some measure, as they deal with Him. Hence we are told that with the upright, He will show Himself upright; with the merciful, He will show Himself merciful; and with the forward, He will show Himself forward. When, therefore, persons come to Him with a pretended desire to know their duty, but in reality, with a view to find some excuse or justification for their errors and sins, He will suffer for them, as a punishment for something which will harden them in their wickedness. Thus, He will suffer the obstinate believer in universal salvation, to deceive himself with delusive dreams, till he wakes in torments. He will suffer the proud, selfrighteous opposer of His Gospel, to trust in his moral duties, till it is too late to discover his mistake. He will suffer the hypocrite, who will suffer to please himself with false hopes of heaven, till he finds the door forever shut against him. All these persons did, in effect, wish to be deceived; they hated the light, shut their eyes, and would not come to it; they leaned to their understandings, instead of trusting the Lord; they never prayed for Him to keep them from self-deception and from false paths; they chose to believe Satan rather than God, and therefore are justly left to feel the effects of it. The Bible is God's inspired word. Without the Bible, the world's history is incomplete. Without it, nothing would be known of a Savior. It presents Him to us as our Savior, "the way the truth and the life." The Bible reveals God's will to mankind. It recognizes the right of human will, that power by which we can look into the face of God and say, "I will or I will not." God's plan of salvation has been revealed to us in the Bible and we can accept it or reject it. There is blood enough in the foundation opened for the unclean to save all the world, but there is not enough to save the unwilling.

LOUISIANA SHOWS HOW TO UTILIZE STATE RESOURCES

PLANS TO SPEND $100,000,000 ON RURAL PAVEMENTS AND OTHER NEEDS
By E. E. Duffy
What to do with a hundred million dollars is a problem that would puzzle the average individual, but the state of Louisiana, possessing a hundred million "spendable" dollars have volunteered an answer.
Disregarding the rumor that all is not well with business, Louisiana has laid plans to buy $100,000,000 worth of public improvements. Ordinarily it would not be expected that Louisiana, or any state of similar population and wealth, would blandly announce to the world, in time of alleged depression, a construction plan so broad. Louisiana, however, has clearly determined that the time to build is when costs are low, the values high and labor efficient.

Foremost among the projects confronting Louisiana is the building of no less than 3,000 miles of concrete rural pavements. According to the Louisiana plan, which recognizes that local roads can be sufficiently improved only after the busy main arteries are adequately surfaced, the pavement program will stimulate and make possible local road development.
Further, Louisiana plans to build a Public Belt Bridge at New Orleans to better cargo handling facilities—at a cost of $19,000,000.
The public markets in New Orleans are to be rehabilitated—at a cost of $1,000,000.
Another million is to be spent in the building of an airport along New Orleans' lake front.
A new State capitol, "to serve as a worthy symbol of Louisiana's pride in their state," is to cost $5,000,000.
Seven million dollars will be required in the refinancing of the Port of New Orleans and the Port of Lake Charles, and in building new schools.
A tick eradication program and the early completion of the In-showed complete reversal of form in checking strong St. Mary's eleven, 7 to 6.

Rocky Mountain—Colorado University held to scoreless tie by Utah Aggies in biggest surprise, leaving Utah, defending champion, Montana State and Colorado Aggies only teams unbeaten and untied within conference. Denver upset by Colorado Aggies, 15 to 7.—Star Telegram.

tracostal Canal are soon to be taken in hand.
These eight items represent investments that will increase Louisiana's earning power, the complete governmental program will stimulate private enterprise. Louisiana is assuring herself of activity during the next few years, the sort of activity that means well being. And as for the hundred millions that will be spent, most of it is going to labor that needs it for spending.
No Time to Sell Cotton Williams Says
In a recent statement to the farmers of Texas, Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board, says it is no time for farmers to sell cotton. Street prices will not bring enough money to pay the average farmer's obligations and he would much better deliver to the cooperatives, draw ninety percent of the value in the seasonal pool and still retain for himself some advantage of any future increase in the price of cotton.
That cooperative marketing farmers are appreciating this fact is indicated by the almost 100 per cent delivery to the seasonal pool. That non-member growers are appreciating this fact is indicated by the rapidly growing membership roll, and the immediate shipment of large quantities of "held cotton."

Acreage Reduction
Various plans are already being launched towards bringing about for next season, a substantial acreage reduction, both in Texas and the other cotton growing states of the Belt. Many have been offered. Others are in the making. Even acreage control by legislation is being presented. There is no question but that acreage next year must be reduced and reduced in an effective manner if growers can hope for a better price for their commodity. Upon this fact it appears that all are agreed. Undoubtedly the Federal Farm Board, through the American Cotton Cooperative Association and the State associations will after study and analysis, develop what to their mind is the best plan and method to bring this acreage reduction program into actuality. Nothing has been announced as yet, but when announced this should be the plan upon which all should unite.
