Fire Prevention Week Will Be Observed

Action Is Started To Reduce Present Utility Rates Here

CITY JOINS IN FIRE PREVENTION

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED BY CLARENDON FOLK

Sunday inaugurates Fire Prevention Week which will be observed in hundreds of cities throughout the Nation. For a number of years this week has been set aside for consideration of America's tremendous fire waste by Presidential proclamation. President Hoover's Proclamation reads in part as follows: "It has become customary for the President of the United States to request an annual observance of Fire Prevention Week throughout the nation to stimulate the interest and cooperation of officials, organizations, and citizens in diminishing the losses of life and property from fire."

"Last year fires in the United States caused a direct property loss estimated at nearly $500,000,000, an increase of $40,000,000 over 1929. These direct losses affected home owners, farmers, business men, and workmen. There were many more millions of indirect losses in rentals, broken contracts, unemployment, and interruption to business. "Deaths and injuries to men, women and children exceeded 35,000 in 1930. The majority of the losses of life and property were the results of carelessness and lack of preventive measures."

The proclamation further states that the assistance of each citizen is required to help lessen the loss, the suffering and the needless waste caused by fires. Mayor W. P. Cagle has promised full cooperation in the fight against this waste and suffering. The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce has planned an extensive program for the week designated to arouse all citizens to the need of greater care and effort in the prevention of fires. The local program will dovetail with the national fire prevention campaign conducted by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States through its Insurance Department and with the aid of the National Fire Waste Council.

The Fire Department, which is under Chief James Trent, has given us such commendable protection, will assist in every way possible. It is felt that Fire Prevention Week will be observed more effectively this year than ever before. Elaborate plans have been made and the city is indebted to those responsible as fire is undoubtedly a source of unnecessary waste and suffering which can be prevented.

DONLEY EXHIBIT ATTRACTS ENVY OF OTHER EXHIBITORS

The agricultural exhibit prepared by County Agent T. R. Brown and G. L. Boykin which represented Donley county at the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, was one of the outstanding exhibits of the entire exposition. Not especially from the high score of the showings, but more from the unique display used by the managers of the exhibit in placing the products for show.

Instead of the conventional grain background which has been used so far back as is possible to remember the local showmen pulled away and originated a new background idea which aroused the envy of all the exhibitors and drew a flood of compliments and crowds throughout the entire duration of the fair. The new idea was the placing of a few of Donley's giant watermelons across the back of the exhibit in place of the time worn grain shocks. Not only did the melons create attention by their huge size and tempting appearance, but also from their splendid quality. More persons were attracted to the Donley exhibit than any showing in the entire building.

Not only were the melons so outstanding in appearance, but equally so were the canteloupes, which attracted the attention and appetite of Congressman Marvin Jones. This popular public servant became so interested that he argued Agent Braun out of one of the fine specimens in the exhibit. So keen a judge of the quality of the Donley product was the Congressman that two days later his second visit was made to the local exhibit where another

FOOTBALL PRICES ARE REDUCED FOR GAMES

Starting with the game here Friday afternoon between the Clarendon High School Bronchos and the Quitaque High School Panthers, both strong contenders for divisional honors, the admission prices will be reduced to 25 cents for children and 35 cents for adults. The athletic council of the local school has decided to make this reduction in the price of admission to all the games here in view of the fact that conditions are such that many of the fans would be prohibited from witnessing the contests should the old prices prevail this season. Take advantage of the new popular prices and see one of the best teams in the history of the Maroon and White wade through their opponents.

BAND TO PRESENT CON- CERT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Gus B. Stephenson, director, has announced that on this coming Sunday afternoon beginning at 3:30 o'clock the Clarendon High School Band will be presented in an open air concert at the band stand at the south end of Kearney street. The program will consist chiefly of the numbers making up the radio offering of the organization at Amarillo on last Thursday afternoon. Several other special offerings and novelty numbers will be featured also at this time. This program Sunday will probably be the last of the summer concerts by the band, and everyone should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear the local band close the summer season in a blaze of colorful music.

CRUCIAL GAME FACES BRONCS

UNDEFEATED QUITAQUE PANTHERS WILL WIN OR LOSE TITLE TOMORROW

The rampaging Panthers from Quitaque High School will continue their stealthy march towards their first championship here tomorrow afternoon when drop down from their home in the hills to invade the corral of the Clarendon Bronchos in an endeavor to strip the hide from the rodeo horses. Should the Panthers be successful in their attempt to annihilate the championship aspirations of the Maroon and White team the Quitaque gridiron representatives will be assured of nothing less than a tie for first place honors in this division, provided the Wellington Skyrocks win from both Clarendon and McLean.

LIONS IN THIRD PERFECT MEETING

The Clarendon Lions Club have set up to make a record in attendance for the next few weeks, or so it seems by the record of the past three weeks. Three weeks of attendance with every member in his place or at some Lions meeting in some other town. The attendance committee and their automobile race have struck a snag, for both sides are even and it seems that none of them are able to gain an advantage over the other, his same committee is also at a loss to see where the Children's challenge has gone as the Clarendon club has heard nothing since formally accepting the challenge.

Roll call found the members telling of their favorite football team, with a great variance of opinion being expressed. Lion T. R. Brown reported on the success of the Donley County exhibit at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo and stated that the seven watermelons shown against the back panel attracted more attention than any other single display at the Fair. He also stated that Donley County could soon make a great showing against Parker County for their famous watermelons and would probably do that within the next few years. He stated that this was the best cash crop for the farmer in this section and was much better for the reason that

NEW PUPILS COMING IN SAYS DEAN CLARK

Dean W. A. Clark of the Junior College says there has been new pupils enrolled every week since the present term opened, and in the past week five new ones came in. Three of these are from the county and one from outside.

"If one intends to go to school this term at all" said Dean Clark "they should enroll at once, else they will find it hard to catch step with the classes, and would probably be handicapped in their work all year." Mr. Clark pointed out that many young people not having found suitable jobs were now preparing themselves for better positions and salaries by going to school while conditions were not so favorable.

BARGAIN PRICES GET CROWDS AT PASTIME

After witnessing the biggest attendance Wednesday night at the Pastime Theatre seen there in months, Manager Mulkey is well pleased with his venture on his bargain day bill for Wednesday and Thursday of each week at ten and fifteen cents admission.

According to Mr. Mulkey the offer will hold good as long as the people show their appreciation by good attendance, and the quality of the pictures will not be lowered.

Mrs. Durwood Skelton was operated on last Sunday for appendicitis in the Adair Hospital. At last report she was doing very nicely and was expected to be able to return to her home in a short time.

CITY MAY PASS RATE ORDINANCE

LOWER TELEPHONE, GAS AND ELECTRIC RATES MAY BE RESULT OF ACTION

If the Clarendon City Commission follows the plan mapped out by the Texas League of Municipalities, and passes the model public utility rate ordinance, citizens of Clarendon may enjoy a lower rate on telephones, gas and electric current for the coming Fall and Winter, according to Mayor W. P. Cagle, who says that no action has been promulgated as yet, although the matter may come up for consideration at the next regular meeting of the commission.

The utility division of the railroad commission is now making a survey of all utility properties wherein it will be an easy matter to establish the proper rate for service after the customary ten percent profit is made on the investment, but the result of the survey will not be known in sufficient time to aid the pocket-book in the present Fall and Winter, therefore Clarendon is placed in the position of hundreds of other Texas towns and cities who must take drastic action in order to get relief this season.

Under the League's recommendations city authorities are advised to set what would seem a fair rate, which would hold until the survey is completed, or through inflation the utility concerns could get the lower rate set aside, if they decided to adopt that course.

It was suggested to Mayor Cagle that the city might also allow greater gallonage for the minimum charged city water users, in meeting the financial situation, but he refused to comment, saying that it was a matter for the commission on which he would not care to enter his personal views at this time.

W. H. PATRICK, SPEAKER ON RESERVE BANK PROGRAM

At a banquet held at the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas last Saturday evening honoring the retiring governor, Lynn P. Talley, who goes to Los Angeles, Cal., W. H. Patrick of Clarendon was the first speaker.

RURAL TRUSTEES MUST SIGN SOON FOR STATE AID

The News has been requested by County Superintendent, Mrs. Nora McMurry, to announce that all rural school trustees must sign applications for state aid in her office in the Court House at Clarendon not later than Monday, October 5th. This action is imperative if the rural schools are to receive their portion of the state aid due them. Please let all trustees heed this announcement and act accordingly.

4-H Pantry Demon- stration Is Complete

All the club women of Donley county are cordially invited to visit the News office at their earliest convenience and inspect the splendid 4-H Pantry exhibit on display there. It is doubtful if there ever was a more varied and better prepared list of contents ranging from canned wheat to beautifully canned tomatoes which make up the shelves of the pantry.

Also there are those second, third and fourth prize winner's products from the Amarillo Tri-State Fair. The first prize exhibits are not shown due to the fact that they were kept and taken to Dallas where they will be shown in the Panhandle exhibit at Texas State Fair this month.

Donley Ginnings Are Lower This Season

The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of the Census, announces in the News that the preliminary report on cotton ginnings prior to September 16 in Donley county has dropped several bales under that number ginned for the corresponding period in 1930. Last season up to this time there had been ginned in the county 292 bales of cotton, and that total has been reduced to 265 bales this year, 87 bales less than one year ago.

Hall county shows even a greater decrease in the ginning records with just slightly more than half of last year's total having been ginned to date. Last season 1,220 bales were run against this year's 664 ginnings.

Collingsworth county reports 927 bales ginned this year against 1,048 for last season.

Childress county however comes to the front after their short crop last season with 1,097 bales this year against last year's total of 959.

The total ginnings for the entire state is less than that of 1930, the total running 1,088,619 bales for 1931 against 1,843,532 in 1930.

Mrs. Horace Westmorland and children of Amarillo spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Connally.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clark spent the week end at White Deer visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Brazill.

CHARITIES HEARD BY ROTARY CLUB

POPULAR TOPICS MAKE UP TALKS BY ROTARIANS ESTACK AND JENKINS

Rotarian C. C. Powell addressed the Clarendon Rotary Club at their regular meeting last Friday noon on the outlined plans of the United Charities organization to care for the unfortunate residents of the city and community throughout the winter. Rotarian Powell is a member of the board in the new organization and represents the local civic club.

The club voted to donate $5.00 to the MacDowell Club for the purchase of several new song books needed in this year's activities of the musical organization.

The remainder of the hour was taken up with splendid extemporaneous talks on various popular topics of interest to the membership of the club by Rotarian President J. C. Estlack and Dr. B. L. and Dr. O. L. Jenkins.

Mrs. H. C. Manning of Harrisburg, Pa., and Mr. Harry Manning of Philadelphia, Pa., cousins of T. E. Trostle of this city, have been in the Trostle home. While here they visited Carlsbad Cavern and the Amarillo Tri-State Fair. These people were highly impressed with Clarendon and other parts of West Texas.

Messdames A. A. Maves, J. T. Patman, L. Bagby, H. B. Kerbow were shopping in Amarillo Monday.

A PROCLAMATION

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Whereas the Governor of Texas has set aside the week beginning October 4th as Fire Prevention Week, and has called upon the people of all sections of the country to unite in combating the "Red Menace"

Fire Losses in Clarendon in 1928 amounted to $14,940.34
Fire Losses in Clarendon in 1929 amounted to 6,698.90
Fire Losses in Clarendon in 1930 amounted to 6,072.02

And for the coming year we would be glad to have no losses whatever. And if, the citizens of Clarendon are willing to cooperate with us, we will be able to accomplish that purpose

I, therefore take this method of calling to our people's attention that the week of October fourth to October tenth should be devoted to a measure to efforts toward reducing the fire hazards in our city, and that our schools and college should cooperate to the extent of having fire prevention lessons, demonstrations and lectures during the week and that those who are informed on fire prevention methods offer their services to the end that our people may be further educated on this subject.

If we try sincerely in this effort, we will not only save property and life but will reduce our local fire rate.

Attest: Mae Shaver, Secretary.

W. P. CAGLE, Mayor.

THE STATE FAIR—TEXAS' SHOW WINDOW

That show window space is the most valuable space in any retail business is conceded by competent authorities, therefore it is no exaggeration to say that the most valuable space in Texas is the acreage devoted to the annual presentation of the State Fair of Texas, for as an institution it is the real and only competent show window for the Lone Star State and its five millions of inhabitants.

Since 1886 the State Fair has grown steadily and in spite of the handicaps with exact ratio to the indomitable spirit of progress and achievement of those representative Texans who have directed its policies as a board of directors of this mighty corporation of five million stockholders—policies, by the way, that have always been just and fair to all sections of Texas and paternal in fostering every form of agriculture and industry within its borders.

Development and progress in Texas is no mystery to those who have observed the annual drawing of a million attendants from every part of the globe through the turnstiles of the Fair, for through those narrow entrances has come and is coming new capital and new ideas which are making Texas what she is today. The Chinese have a proverb that a "picture is worth a thousand words," and every year the living picture of Texas on parade at the State Fair has proven the proverb thrice true as it has attracted new citizens, new capital from the outside as it has inspired and impelled the constructive forces of Texas to greater efforts for a state balanced in profitable farm production, competitive industry, gainful capital, practical education and citizenship led by highest culture and ideals.

All this without the benefit of city, county, or state subsidies from taxation, gives the State Fair of Texas added lustre and prestige, as the greatest state Fair in the world and the second largest annual exposition in the world.

This mighty show window of Texas has spent lavishly of its profits that new and added displays of Texas products can be brought strikingly and colorfully to the attention of the attentive million visitors each year, until today it is almost impossible to name a single farm or garden product, or any item of Texas manufactured goods however new or however small that is not to be found within the 168 acres which goes to make up the area of this greatest show window of the greatest State in the Union.

So, even in these times of economic stress, the 1931 curtain will be lifted on Oct. 10th, the lights will blaze, and another million in quest of the truth about Texas will pass before Texas' Show window, the State Fair, a greater fair and a greater show window, because that is the Texas way—no year without progress.

Forward in spite of difficulties—that is the spirit of the State Fair, because that is the spirit of Texas—of her five million loyal sons and daughters.

THOSE RUMORS AGAIN

It is an odd thing that in almost every Texas governor's first term rumors go around that he will resign, that he will not be a candidate for a second term, that his strong friends and supporters have deserted him, and so on.

Governor Sterling, who inherited a declining economic situation and who has done a remarkable job of his office in the face of such monumental difficulties, has been the victim of such rumors for the past several months, and would-be candidates for his job are showing up in the usual number.

The News does not believe that Mr. Sterling has any idea of stepping out of office at the end of his first term as governor, nor that he has lost friends in any noticeable measure. Barring death or incapacitating illness, Ross Sterling will be a candidate in 1932 and will win over the field by an overwhelming majority.

Peter Molyneux in his "The Texas Weekly," sometimes a critic of Mr. Sterling, takes the same view in a recent issue of that periodical and closes a convincing article "So far as such things can be foreseen it can be said with confidence that Governor Sterling will be a candidate again next Summer and that he will be reelected."

GREATEST TRI-STATE FAIR IN HISTORY

Amarillo's Tri-State Fair closed its free gates Saturday night at midnight with a most surprising and gratifying record in a year as lean as 1931.

In spite of the record of successful Fairs in fatter years the 1931 Fair was by far the best in the history of the institution in point of attendance, exhibits and profits, and presents a new side-light on the undaunted spirit of the people of the Panhandle section.

Fair officials, Amarillo and the Panhandle generally are to be congratulated on the record just hung up, which goes to prove what The News has often said—the Tri State Fair was born the largest Fair in the world, and will become in a few years one of the really great Fairs of the Nation.

NEED FOR A NEW TAX SYSTEM IN TEXAS

The average Texas citizen will be somewhat confused over the state tax board setting the tax rate at seventy-four cents, and then the legislature passing a measure placing the rate at sixty-nine cents. The rate having been set by the tax board for the year it will likely remain so, but the action of the legislature will bring about much caustic argument and will certainly force taxation as a leading issue in the next political campaign and in the next legislature.

Nearly everybody can point out inequalities in the Texas system of taxation and it is high time that there be revisions and adjustments under the new economic situation in this country.

Really the higher rate of seventy-four cents is not an intolerable burden, as pointed out by Peter Molyneux of The Texas Weekly who figures the five cent increase amounting to only seven percent of the total state tax bill.

Industrial Possibilities of Texas

BY COL. WM. E. TALBOT

(Editor's Note:—Following is the first of a series of articles by Col. W. E. Talbot, agency manager for the Southland Life Insurance Company and the prime mover in the campaign for Texas Industries, in which he discusses the possibilities of Texas from an industrial standpoint, answering the question: "What manufacturers does Texas have and what can we profitably manufacture?" Other articles will follow.)

In August, 1930, it was apparent to all thinking people that Texas had an economic problem to solve that would require the energy and ability of every single citizen.

Four of her major industries, agriculture, railroads, oil, and manufactures were "taking it on the chin"—which meant a tremendous loss of buying power, formerly available in this state.

We were in the position of the negro bride who had been handed a wash-board and a looking-glass as presents from her husband with the instructions that she could either take the wash-board and go to work, or the looking-glass and sit down and watch herself starve to death.

Here was Texas, first in cotton, hides, wool, mohair, oil, and gas; high in production of coal, lignite, fruits, citrus, and vegetables; and yet 29th among all the states in per capita wealth. It was apparent to any thinking person that what we needed was an industrial structure to parallel our agricultural structure, allowing one to consume from the other.

In other words, it was apparent that we would have to cease furnishing the raw material for other states so they could make the larger profit by producing the finished product. We were feeding the cow that was milking somewhere else, and the immediate job was to bring the tail-end of that cow down where we could not only feed the cow, but milk it, and get some of the cream. This was the job that confronted Texans in August, 1930.

LELIA LAKE MAN HURT IN GIN MISHAP THERE

Serious injuries were sustained by Mr. Del Lasson while attending to his duties at the Smith Gin at Lelia Lake last Thursday afternoon. The accident happened when Mr. Lasson attempted to replace a belt on a wheel from which it has slipped. He was caught in the belting and hurled to the cement floor with violent force breaking an arm, nose, and his jaw in two places. He was rushed to the County Hospital here where he was treated. He lay in a critical condition for he is improving and seems to be several days, but at last reports on the road to recovery.

CRISP COOL MORNINGS RE-MIND CITIZENS OF FALL

The fact that fall is just around the corner, is evidenced these days by the crisp cool mornings which greet the folks as they begin their day's activities. For the past ten days the mornings have been cool with just the slightest tinge of the chill fall mornings which will greet this section in the near future. Seldom has the season advanced this far without more determined attacks from the cold winds from the plains, however the invigorating samples of the past week reminds us that the chilly days are not far off.

IN SOCIETY

Watters-Lafon

News was received here the first of the week of the marriage of Miss Bernice LaFon to Granson Watters.

The wedding took place at Las Vegas, N. M., Friday evening of last week.

The young couple is well known in Clarendon each having lived here the past several years.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. LaFon. She attended school here, graduated with the class of 1926. Attended College making piano her specialty and has for the past two years been in the service of State Telephone Company.

Granson, the eldest son of J. H. Watters of this city, attended school here taking an active part in athletics and social activities of the school, and in recent months has been working for Thompson Hotels over the Panhandle.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Watters are making their home in Phoenix, Arizona.

Buckner-Blackwell

Simplicity marked the nuptial ceremony at which Miss Meta Blackwell and John Brady Buckner exchanged their marriage vows Sunday afternoon, Sept. 20, at 1 o'clock at the First Christian church. The Rev. John T. Strivers, pastor of the church, of which the bride is a member, read the single ring service before a small company, which included only the bride's immediate family and a few of the couple's close friends. There were no attendants.

The bride wore a frock of white chiffon, floor-length, with three tiny ruffles at the hip line on each side. The basque was tight-fitting and had tiny puffed sleeves. For the "something blue" there was a sash of crushed satin, caught at the right side in front with a cluster of French flowers. Blue slippers and a corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley completed the ensemble.

A handkerchief of Mexican lace, belonging to her mother and carried by the bride at both high school and college graduation exercises, was the "something old and borrowed."

Mrs. Buckner is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cuba Blackwell of 170 Eleventh street. She lived in San Bernardino for eight years and is assistant city editor of The Evening Telegram. She is a native of Texas and received her elementary and high school education in the state, completing her education at East Central State Teachers' College at Ada, Okla., from which she graduated with the class of 1923.—From San Bernardino Evening Telegram issue of Sept. 21.

Young Folks Enjoy Ranch Party

Leaving here Saturday evening rather late a group of young folks motored to the Morris Ranch where they enjoyed a delightful ranch party, returning to the city Sunday evening. After arriving at the ranch exploring parties were organized and a stamped up and down the canyons followed. Huge bonfires were built and added much to the delight of the young folks. After several hours of this sport in the great outdoors the party returned to the house where a few hours of peace and quiet followed. Sunday the party, after a huge breakfast, mounted the horses and proceeded to further explore the canyons in quest of the rattlesnakes. One was found to the surprise of those present who immediately retreated to a safe distance from the reptile. After a full day in which Johnnie went fishing every few minutes, the party clambered aboard their truck and sped homeward wishing for more such good times, but paying dearly for their horsemanship experiences.

Those attending the party were Misses Lois Wallace, Mary Naylor, Marjorie White, Jo Ella Stewart, Vera Noland, Nova Cook, Elgin Patrick, and Eleanor Morris. Messrs Dick Nichols, Bill Wood, Lloyd Benson, Lee McKinney, Snooks Andis, Lesmon Wallace, Pete Morris, Mike Stricklin and Hollis Leathers.

Pathfinder Club Opens Year's Work

The chief event of the month has been the re-opening of clubs of the town and county. Friday afternoon, with Mrs. B. G. Smith and Mrs. J. R. Porter as hostesses, the Pathfinder Club held the first meeting of the new club year.

Mrs. A. T. Cole, as retiring president, gave a resume of the past years work, conducted the old business, and gave place to the president elect, Mrs. O. T. Smith.

An interesting program on Texas Poets was given by Mrs. L. N. Cox and Mrs. H. T. Burton.

Mrs. W. B. Sims Honored by Class

Mrs. W. B. Sims was very pleasantly surprised when the members of the T. E. L. Sunday School Class gathered at her home Wednesday noon with dishes loaded with deliciously prepared food. The occasion of the enjoyable event was in celebration of two important steps in the life of the honoree, her birthday and wedding anniversaries. The spirit of the surprise and the wonderful time enjoyed by those present made the sixteenth year old girl again.

Sixteen attending this happy party were:

Mrs. B. N. Shepherd, Mrs. W. A. Morris, Mrs. Curtis E. Thompson, Mrs. M. C. Reed, Mrs. T. J. Mann, Mrs. W. A. Land, Mrs. M. W. Moseley, Mrs. A. W. Simpson, Mrs. Genoah Doshier, Mrs. Mollie E. Gray, Mrs. Joe S. Fowler, Mrs. Cap Lane, Mrs. F. M. Barton, Mrs. Edd Barnes, Mrs. Karl Adams, Mrs. J. B. Turnbow, Mrs. Eva Draffen.

Sunday School Party

The members of the fifteen and sixteen year Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church were honored with a "Tacky Party" given by Miss Ruth Thompson at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thompson.

Various games were played and then the judging of the "Tackiest" person took place. First was given to Lola Barnes and second to Onnie Oakley. Everyone reported as having a nice time. Refreshments were served to the following: Thelma Reid, Lola Barnes, Agnes Oakley, Annie Oakley, Dovie Wood, Melvina Salmon, Gladys Salmon, Virginia Seavally, Gladys Campbell, Mrs. J. H. Ticer, Paralee Ticer, Mrs. L. L. Cornelius, and the hostess, Miss Ruth Thompson.

AMERICAN WOMAN "SMART" BECAUSE SHE IS WISE

"Why is the American woman the best dressed woman in the world?" an European visitor of masculine gender asked us the other day. The poor man had attempted, out of an abundance of misinformation on the subject of clothes and beauty, to solve this seeming riddle.

It was clearly in his mind that the women of his own country were beautiful—but, he admitted, they didn't wear their clothes half so well as the typical American woman.

Into the discussion broke one of this country's leading dress-makers, and, by chance, an important textile manufacturer. They both insisted that the matter under discussion was no riddle at all. Said the dress designer:

"American women make sane intelligent mothers, capable women-of-careers, great sports-women. They have learned the chief lesson of fashion—dressing appropriately. That's what makes them smart."

Said the textile manufacturer: "You can depend upon it that American women have learned the lesson of values. It takes intelligence to be a good mother, a smart business woman, and a distinguished sportswoman, and in the matter of selecting clothes the American woman likewise applies intelligence. If she buys silk, she asks for a pure dye which is not going to rot. If she buys cotton, she demands these days durable cotton with its flattering luster, great durability, and beautiful colors. If she buys wool she selects either pure wool or a mixture made with added strength and beauty rather than lessened quality at stake. In these days the American woman achieves quality in her clothes which is after all the basic essence of chic. Bedraggled smartness is worse than coarse wit. The American woman is 'smart' because she is wise."

THAT SOFTENING INFLUENCE

To the truly feminine woman no news could be better than that describing the return of lace to an important place in fashions. Lace is perhaps one of the most ancient "softening influences. Even our most severe actresses used to use a bit about the neck of their dresses to "soften the face."

The history of lace making is one worthy a long article all by itself. Here we will have time to do little more than give brief thanks that Dame Fashion has seen fit to do a lot about lovely lace this year. The important point is that while you absolutely do not have to wear lace—or any other special materials—you can, and the most beautiful dresses have lace about them.

Sometimes, practically a whole dress is lace—soft luster; not shiny. A magnificent wedding gown we've just viewed illustrated this it is one-hundred percent American, too, and designed by Herritt of Jay Thorpe with the typical American woman in mind. The lace was modern 1931 lace made of durable cotton, which curiously, has been discovered to be the only perfect substitute for priceless heirloom lace. The little cap and lace are adorable; and the bride carried a little prayer book instead of a bouquet, giving us an opportunity to see the lovely lace bodice to perfection.

Venise lace is especially beautiful and it's rather a joy to know that we can have quantities of it now made of good American durable cotton at prices that won't drain our purse, and with quality which confuses experts in determining it's not a treasure used by our great-great-grandmother.

Dean W. A. Clark, Jr. Advertises City In Fine Address Over Radio Station

At the request of The Clarendon News, Dean W. A. Clark, Jr., of the Junior College has prepared his radio address which was delivered over WDAG in Amarillo last Thursday evening for publication. The address:

Friends, I bring you most cordial greetings from Clarendon, one of the best towns in the entire Texas Panhandle. It is a town of churches, schools, progressive business establishments and beautiful homes. Its many trees lend a pleasing and restful atmosphere to its advantageous setting just below the cap rock. It is a town that is large enough to be without small town disadvantages and at the same time afford the opportunity for friendliness and neighborly contact. It is large enough to adequately serve its trade territory. Its utility rates are as low as those of many towns several times the population of Clarendon. It has a very low fire insurance rate. Due to the high efficiency of the fire department the maximum credit on the key rate has been allowed. The taxes are as low as is consistent with good government and adequate support of its institutions. I do not believe that any other town the size of Clarendon has the clean and wholesome recreation and amusement facilities that it has. It has two city parks, one of the snappiest golf-courses, to be found in the entire state, a very modern country club with a lake surpassed by none in the Panhandle, a Rifle club which is affiliated with the National Association of America and an up-to-the-minute theatre.

Clarendon has long been noted for its good schools. One of Amarillo's well known educational institutions, St. Mary's Academy had its beginning there having moved to Amarillo from that location about 20 years ago. For almost thirty years the Methodist Episcopal Church South owned and maintained a college at our town but this institution has been merged with McMurry College at Abilene. The Board of Trustees of the Clarendon Independent School District bought a part of the buildings and equipment of the Old Methodist college and opened a municipal junior college in the fall of 1927. Out of this beginning has grown the Clarendon Junior College District which is composed of the Clarendon Independent School District and eight other districts which have attached themselves to this District for junior college purposes. This District was the first in Texas to vote, levy and collect a tax for the maintenance of a Junior College. We do not contend that the Clarendon Junior College is the best junior college in the state but we do think it is THE EQUAL OF ANY OF THEM. No Junior College in the State has a higher rating with

THE NEWS' BOOK REVIEW CORNER

THE WHISTLERS' ROOM
By Paul Awerdes
Translated from the German by Basil Creighton.
Covici-Fredie New York.

A very pathetic and stirring story of four wounded casualties of the war. Three German soldiers and an English prisoner. It is a story that is brim full of courage and loving kindness, a short tale as simple as the sound of the churchbell borne on the wind at sundown.

By the solidarity born of a common affliction, they achieved the miracle that comes out of suffering—friendship. This idyl of the World War is not shaken by the explosion of grenades. The horrors of advancing into machine gun fire and hand-to-hand bayonet combat are nowhere described. Yet all the emotional nuances of war and all its pride and terror and pity are portrayed with terrific impact.

First published in January, 1930, this little book has slowly made its own way until now a constantly increasing demand has necessitated a new edition.

Both the Pulitzer Prize winners of the last two years—Margaret Ayers Barnes and Oliver La Farge—will have their second novels published this Fall. La Farge calls his new novel

"Sparks Fly Upward," and lays his scene in a republic somewhere in Central America during the years 1840-50. Set against a background of revolution, the story has more movement and dramatic surprises than "Laughing Boy" and gives the author another brilliant opportunity to portray the Indian life, character and customs which he has studied both as scientist and novelist. Mrs. Barnes offering is "Westward Passage."

Louis Untermeyer has edited a companion volume to his MODERN POETRY (which has now sold over 271,000). It is AMERICAN POETRY FROM THE BEGINNING TO WHITMAN, published by Harcourt, Brace & Co. It contains, as does the previous book, biographical, bibliographical, and critical notes plus a richly detailed preface.

BERT MAYFIELD HAS FINE BUNCH OF SUNDAY HOGS

One of the strangest things heard about for the past several weeks concerns the bunch of hogs owned by Bert Mayfield of this city. Mr. Mayfield has gone quite extensively into the hog raising business and has a large number of brood sows. At the present time he has twenty-three sows with litters of pigs, all save three having been farrowed on Sunday. He added that all of them did not arrive on the same Sunday. All of these hogs are thoroughbreds and would be well worth seeing if one is interested in a contented group of pigs.

HOGS MAKE QUICK GAINS ON HEGARI

Gonzales—Feeding green Hegari with the head on, supplemented with equal parts of cotton seed meal and tankage, E. Wendt of the Dyer community in Gonzales county is getting gains of two hogs he is preparing for market. Mr. Wendt plans later to head and thresh the hegari, according to the report of county farm agent J. M. Saunders. The hogs are being weighed regularly and a close check kept on the cost of the pork which is being produced.

SUDAN GRASS AGAIN PROVES ITS VALUE

Dangerfield—Sudan pasture increased milk production two gallons per day per cow for the five cows owned by R. R. Taylor of Dangerfield, in three days after he turned them into the pasture. As reported by the Morris county farm agent it took the sale of only one and a half days increased production to pay for the cost of the pasture.

CARE OF FRUIT TREES PAYS IN QUALITY AND CASH

Angleton—Selling all the peaches he produced at $3 per bushel was proof enough to Judge J. S. Spoles of the Edmons community in Brazoria county, that the care of the trees paid well for the labor expended. Judge Spoles followed the Extension Service spraying calendar furnished him by county farm agent J. H. Sandlin and pruned his trees regularly to give them a good open head allowing the sun to ripen the fruit uniformly. In addition to this, to insure first quality fruit he pruned off some of the fruit on the branches that were too heavily loaded and all the ill-shaped fruit as soon as it was formed. From his 200 peach and plum trees he sold all the fruit that he could spare from home use, for prices above the average market price because of its quality.

PRODUCTION GREATER ON TERRACED LAND

Crowell—Rain falls on the terraced and the unterraced field as it does on the just and unjust alike, but the terraced field preserves the moisture and that increases the production, is the testimony of Earl Logan, a Ford county farmer, who was asked if it did not rain more on his side of the fence than it did across the way. Terracing was the secret according to Ford county farm agent Fred Reynolds, and now Mr. Logan is planning to contour all his rows as the best way to hold the rainfall.

Little Edward Irvin arrived Saturday to make his home with Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Galloway.

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

Will the Administration become more concerned about price levels now that wages are doing a chute-the-chute? Government officials have talked endlessly about preserving the American standard of wages (1923 model). To this end they have striven to keep industries in line by threats and appeals to patriotism not to lower wages. Simultaneously, they have trembled at any fall in commodity values and have even tried to peg the prices of some raw materials, such as wheat and cotton.

Apparently, the Administration's insistence upon an unchanged wage level does not take into account the continued high cost of production. It doesn't reckon on the psychological effect of business instability and uncertainty. If the standard of living must be preserved, why not do it by making food and clothes more accessible. A chicken in every pot is possible in a nation of deflated incomes only if the price of the chicken is likewise deflated.

The truth is, official Washington has refused to admit until recently that there has been a widespread reduction of wages. That Hoover's November 1928 injunction to industrialists to "hold everything" hasn't been obeyed, is too bitter a truth to acknowledge. The descending prices couldn't be denied, so they have loomed larger than the sliding salaries, though price decreases are not nearly proportionate to wage reductions. The standard of living hasn't quite vanished. It's just lopsided.

Trent Again Leads Local Shooters Sunday

Scoring a 48 and a 49 out of a possible 50 points, Chas. Trent carried off the honors last Sunday afternoon in the second shoot held at the Rifle Range south of town. A high wind hindered the sport making standing shooting and sitting positions very uncertain. Dean W. A. Clark and C. W. Bennett, Jr., shot into second position with 43 points to their credit while Kerbow, Price and Weidman each turned in fine 42's for their afternoon's best. On the whole the shooters turned in much better scores than on Sunday week ago at their first trials.

Scores for the day included Henry 40-40, Stricklin 32-29, Bennett 38-43, Trent 34-48-49, Weidman 40-42, Phillips 27-34, Price 34-37-42, Clark 40-42.

In the rapid fire competition Trent carried off honors in competition with Clark by a score of 39 to 29.

Texas Longhorn Title Chances Fade Due To Hard Schedule

S. M. U. PONIES FAVORED TO COP

MUSTANGS FACE HARD SCHEDULE, BUT MORE MODERATE THAN TEXAS

The University of Texas Longhorns, Southwest Conference defending champions, will find their path to the conference throne, for the second consecutive year, beset with more than their share of forked-tongued, fire blowing monsters and other hindrances capable of blinding the State institution's best laid title plans. The terrible monsters referred to are really on the grizzly front football eleven, but what football teams—Missouri, Oklahoma, Harvard, and Centenary College, while the other hindrances are none other than the Steer's own playmates, namely Kice's pet ponies, S. M. U.'s flying Mustangs, Baylor's playful Bears, Texas Christian's poison Frogs and the hard working Farmers from the domain of College Station. Quite full play periods are promised the livestock of Coach Clyde Littlefield's Memorial Stadium stock farm on no less than nine Saturday afternoons this fall. With all this taken into consideration we feel that just too much has been contracted for by the defending champs to make them a serious contender for the title role this season. Therefore the role of favorite for the 1931 race falls on the Red and the Blue leather snatchers of Ownby Stadium, the home of Ray Morrison's Southern Methodist Mustangs.

The Longhorns possess the potential strength of titlists again this fall, but the campaign on the successive weekends is a killing assignment, while the Ponies have practically the same team which flashed so brilliantly and fizzled intermittently throughout the season past. The difference in the choice of the two elevens stand in the change of play to be used this season at the Dallas Institution. The Morrisonmen, instead of pointing to an early big intersectional contest in which they shoot the works, will be content to point only to each conference foe. The Pony stars will be spared from such attacks as the team has been subjected to in the past few years in Notre Dame, Army, Nebraska and other major elevens of the nation. Then, too, that one man line, Marion (Scrapiron) Hammons is back to take his place in the forward wall of the Red and Blue attack.

A shade more moderate schedule faces the Mustangs with a few games which should give the Ponies slight breathing spells. Another advantage which points to the success of the S. M. U. entry is the fact that last year's eleven was considered a disappointment around the circuit. The horses learned their lesson last year and will be better fitted to guard against the effects of too much publicity. The stumbling block in the Dallas eleven's schedule, if any, will probably be on November 28, when they battle the Frogs in Fort Worth just one week after their invasion of the Navy's stronghold at Annapolis. The bright spot of the season is on October 31, when the Mustangs are enemy, the Texas Longhorns, come to Dallas for that important conference contest one week after the battle at Cambridge with the Harvard lads. With such ball toters as Mason, Travis, Gilbert, Sprague, Oliver, Jordan and Walker behind the already proven veteran forward wall Coach Morson will have the boys to carry out both his aerial and land attack orders.

T. C. U. promises to be the giant killer of the circuit this year with a splendid eleven, but just a trifle too inexperienced for serious consideration for the title. Schmidt will have a wonderful line, but the untried positions there and in the backfield will suffer under conference fire, however the Purple and the White should come in no lower than third in the final standing. Rice Institute, for years the conference doormat, will complete their about face, started last year and should finish fourth. Coach Meager has a bountiful supply of first class material, but they are just not yet ripe for a powerful title winning campaign. Texas A. & M. looks to be the dark horse of the conference with a strong list of sophomores slated to bear the brunt of Matty Bell's attack. They will do better than the past year's eleven which lost every conference contest, and should finish up no lower than fifth place standing. The Baylor Bears and the Arkansas Razorbacks should battle it out for cellar position with the out-of-stater's being given the edge because they have a pretty fair starting line-up, but very little reserve strength. The Bears enter this year's race with a new team for all but one or two positions. It will be a job to fill the shoes of dynamic Jake Wilson & Co.

It seems that our friend Olin Hinkle has taken offense to what appeared in SPORT SLANTS following the Broncho-Harvester game relative to the strength of this year's Harvester eleven. Pardon us for a few inches while we take that space up in rebuttal with the "Pampa" column, named by Editor Hinkle. He says:

"The Pampan finds it necessary to differ with young Sam Bradwell Jr., of the Clarendon NEWS. Sam, in the heat of enthusiasm over the recent game in which the Harvester defeated Clarendon broke out with this in his column, 'Sports Slants':

"Sports Slants can't see just where Pampa is going to get the team to beat Amarillo, Lubbock, and perhaps Slaton. They are missing the services of Lard more every day. The line is a powerful unit, but there will be other lines in the conference—it looks like Amarillo or Lubbock this year."

The above sounds mighty like the talk which went about last year—before the Lubbock game. The Pampan dislikes to under-rate Clarendon by assuming that the Harvester are a lot weaker than last year. He much prefers to think they are potentially as strong, and to believe that Clarendon has a crack outfit for Class B.

The Pampan also must remind young Sam that a lot of things can happen between now and October 17. The Harvester must work out backfield problems before they can reach maximum efficiency. The reserves may not be as good as last year, and we know it will be hard to replace Lard and Saulsbury, but we submit the names of Kahl and Bost and ask that you watch them. No game with Amarillo, moreover, is ever won until the final gun.

Of course, Olin, it is most natural for you to differ with what we said, but SPORT SLANTS continues to believe just that even after the wild spree against Memphis last Saturday in which the Harvester ran up 73 points. Many thanks for your assumption that Clarendon has a crack class outfit, however that hardly needs to be brought out for the scores show that so far Clarendon has been the hardest opponents of the Harvester to date, especially in view of the fact that two of the touchdowns were of the give-away variety.

We don't blame the Pampan for thinking of the Harvester as a strong club as last year's truly great eleven—that's a fine spirit, but we hardly believe it justified. Yes Olin, lots of things can happen between now and October 17th, but we would like to predict to you that nothing will happen between now and the 17th which can compare or prevent that which will occur on the afternoon of that mentioned date out at Harvester Park, at which time the title aspirations of the Oil City will be blasted for all practical purposes.

Now Mr. Pampan let us, if we may be so bold, give you our reason why your Harvester will not win the conference title. The reason as we see it is not in the material or spirit of the players. The Harvester have a wonderful lot of material on a par with the rest of the district and their spirit and willingness to work is of the best. Now that leaves the catch in the coaching department. Frankly, we doubt that Odus Mitchell is capable of successfully directing an eleven through a season of first class competition against the other members of this district without the services of such super-stars as Lard and Saulsbury, the boys that turned the trick last season. Last year's game in Amarillo proved our theory when the wind to the Harvester's backs two successive quarters, he chose to run his team with the ball two or three times, losing sometimes as much as twenty yards, instead of directing his players to punt on the first or second down and play for the breaks as did the Amarillo Sandies.

We just had to laugh at the almost tragic appeal to the press from Coach (?) S. D. Burton against the injustice done his pet Buffaloes by the Tech Matadors last Friday night at Lubbock.

The press dispatch from Canyon reads: "When questioned about the game Coach Burton said, 'I never like to say anything about a game that we have lost, but I was surprised at the unnecessary roughness that prevailed. I do not believe that such games as this one will do anything for the good name of football.'"

Well, my gosh Agnes, now ain't that just too bad—the West Texas opponents must be more careful with the little fellows from Canyon, and not stick fingers in their eyes because, practically every Buffalo that got in the Tech game came out with either one or two eyes black, or with his eyes hurt in such a way that it will be several days before they will be able to see clearly."

That's a laugh when one stops to recollect the type of football coached by the complaining man when he used to coach the Buffaloes when the Bulldogs were licking him every time they met. But it's always different when you are on the receiving end, eh, S. D. ?

We got a big kick last Sunday when we read of our cousin, Jimmy Phillips of Ranger winning the Wichita Falls invitation golf tourney. The biggest kick came from the fact that Jimmy easily downed the golfer which took the measure of our mutual friend and sportsman (?) from Quanah, namely L. S. (City) Walker. Jimmy is 17 years old and has been runner up in almost every big major tourney in central Texas this year, losing to Gus Moreland in the finals of three tournaments.

It would be a great Broncho even this year if all the players would put into their play the spirit of McLean's dynamic little safety, Christian, who never gave up and always was bringing the Maroon ball toters down with his terrific tackles. This youngster was always in the ball game with all he had, no matter who the Broncho backs got through this game little safety always left his feet and the progress of the Maroon shired carrier was brought to a sudden termination.

The Quitaque Panthers will be the guests of the Bronchos on tomorrow afternoon in what will be the most important conference battle of the year. The Panthers by virtue of their one sided win over Memphis and McLean and their tie with Wellington are coming to Clarendon with a powerful club. It is reputed that this fellow Graham will put Capt. Raymond Nichols in the shade—we will have to be shown first, but at any rate let's all be on our feet for the battle at the College Park beginning at 3:30.

We'll take the Philadelphia Athletics against the Cards again this year.

On Oct. 24th It'll Be Woods vs Elkins

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—In the North they boast of the crimson-jerseyed Barry Wood, Harvard's great all-round athlete and scholar, Phi Beta Kappa, student president, and so on. The Longhorns of Texas call and raise five: their hole card is Bull Elkins. They meet on the football field at Cambridge, October 24.

Back in 1908 they named him Wilson Homer Elkins. Only a few favored friends are wise to this fact in this year of 1931, but Bull himself admits it and much authoritative evidence has been collected in proof. Somebody in high school plastered "Posey" upon the innocent Wilson Homer; what unscrupulous individual was responsible the records do not show. It was not until college days that this injustice was corrected and Wilson Homer "Posey" Elkins became Bull Elkins, the best-round athlete at the University of Texas.

Three-letterman, basketball captain, honor student, student president—(Pardon us if we stop; we've other work to do). Quarterback on the Southwest Conference champion eleven of '30; high scorer of the '31 basketball team. Over 23 feet in the broad jump; a member of the Longhorn 440-yard football relay team which set a new record at Drake last spring. Five letters already won, and hot on the trail of three more. One hundred sixty-five pounds by five feet seven; black hair, blue eyes, and the best proportioned body you ever laid your blinkers on.

In Brackenridge High, San Antonio, Bull was a fair athlete but no world-wide beater; he collected two "B's" in football and three each in baseball and track, captaining the thinly clad his senior year. In the fall of '26 he entered Schreiner, a military academy at Kerrville, and in one of the first scrimmages of the season he received a broken leg.

No more football for Bull that year, of course, but he came back to earn letters in basketball, track, and baseball. In the fall of '27 he enrolled in the University of Texas and drew equipment as a freshman grid candidate. Scrimmage time came around; Bull was inserted in the line-up, and broke his leg again.

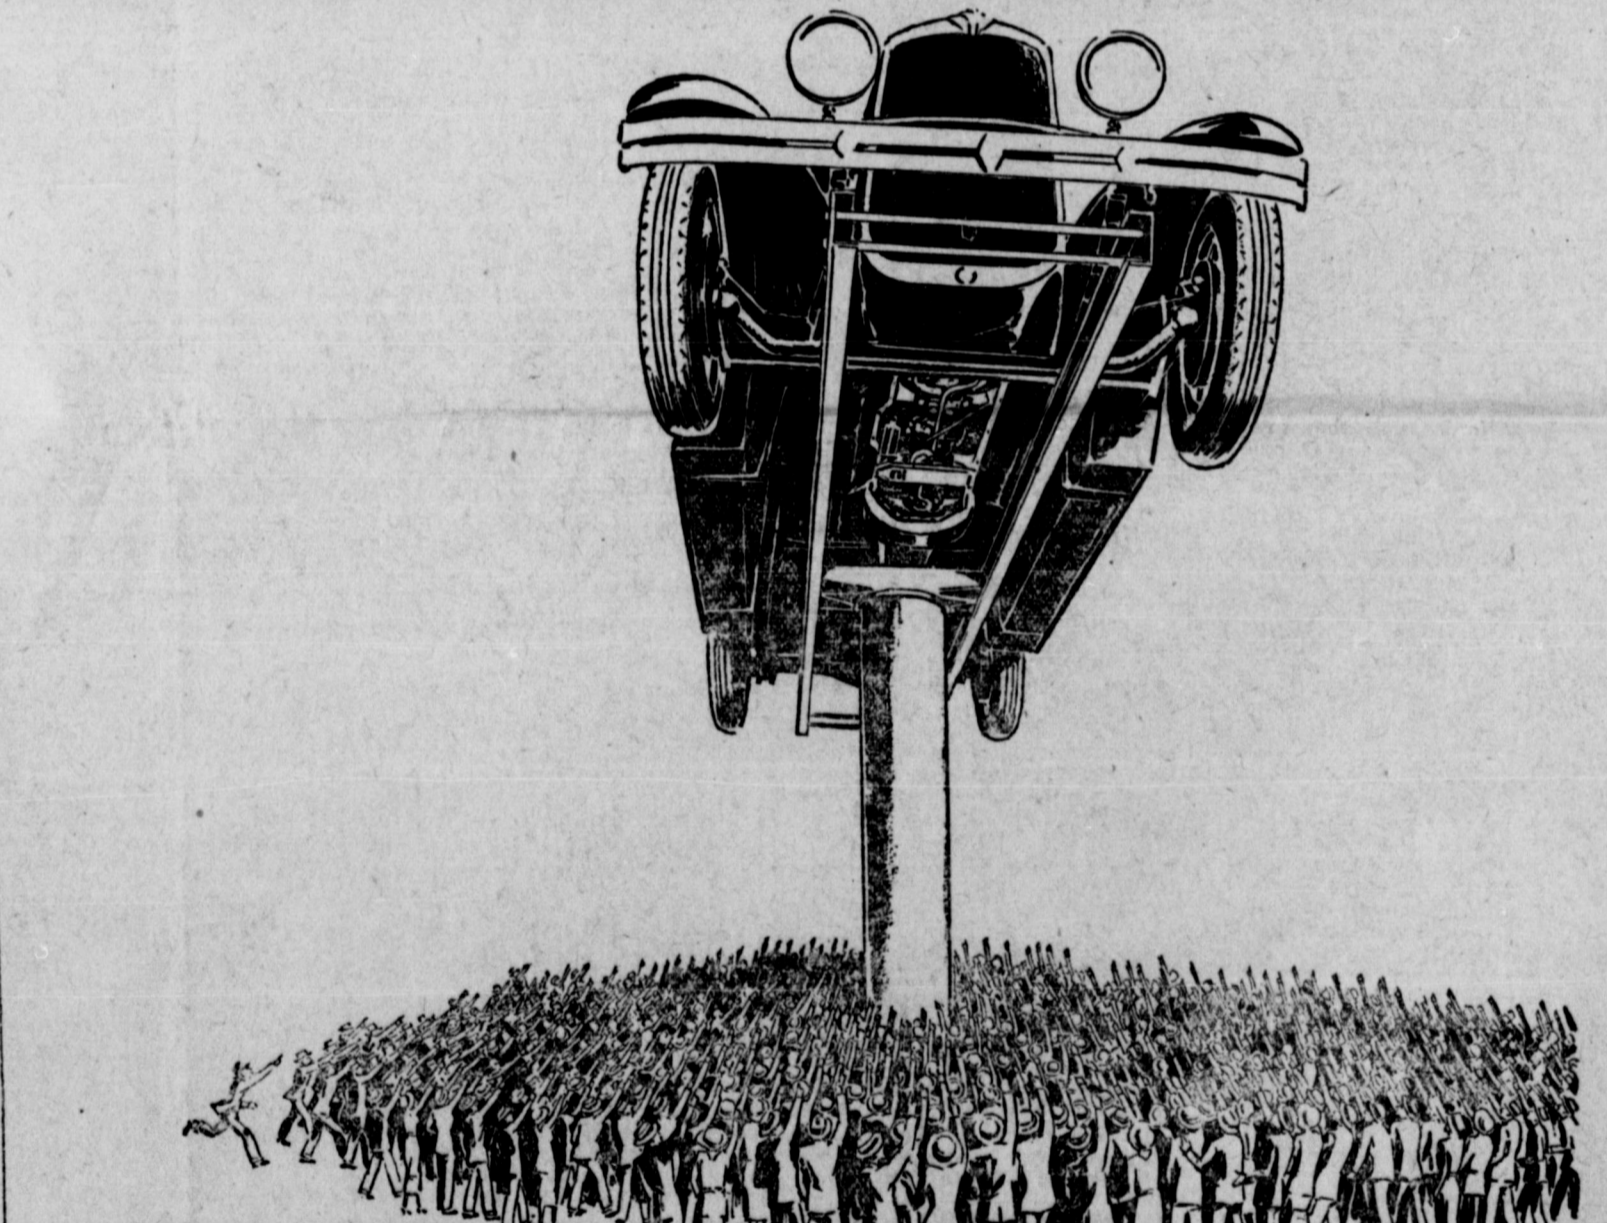

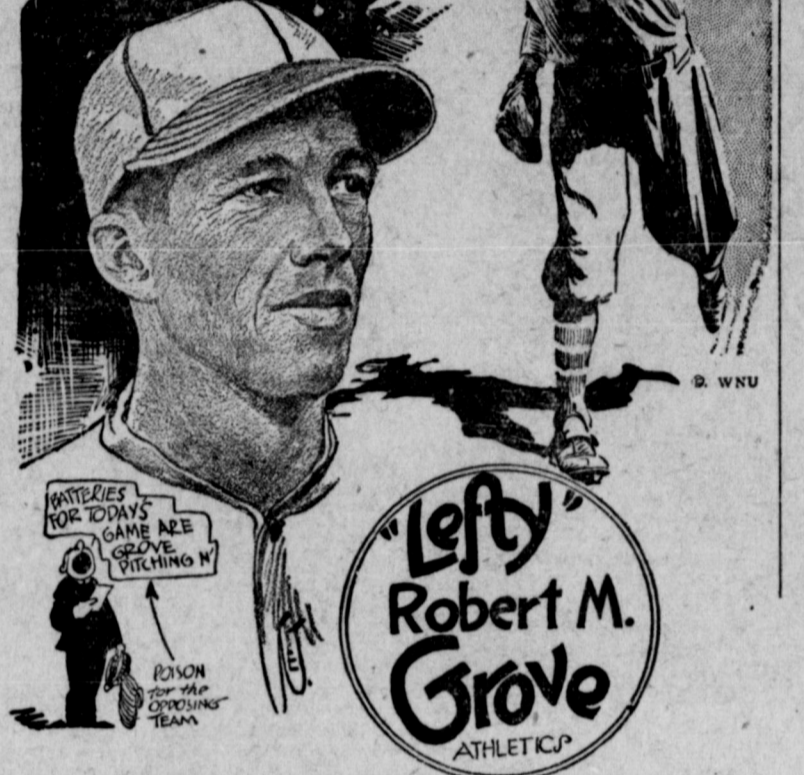

The rest is modern history at the University of Texas. Bull started slow, making only two letters, football and basketball, in '29-'30. He forgot what the M. D.'s had said about brittle bones and his performance as reserve halfback and forward was highly satisfactory. Then in '30-'31 he launched out in earnest and went through a brilliant season, during which he collected three letters and much honor. First-string quarterback; star forward and captain-elect in basketball; capable trackster,—ask anybody at the University about Bull Elkins.

AN APPRECIATION

Mr. Harley True Burton, who has been for many years a member of the faculty of Clarendon Public Schools, has just begun on what he asserts to be the "best year yet" for the Clarendon Public Schools, due to the economic condition now existing in the world, the students seem to feel more than ever the need of a better education and thus have settled down to work, more readily than ever before.

Mr. Burton holds a degree from the University of Texas. He first came to Clarendon as Athletic Coach for Clarendon College and due to his ability in this line worked out some wonderful teams whose reputation as clean and forceful players reflected much credit on the institution.

When Clarendon College closed its doors as a denominational school and opened as a state school the following year, we find Mr. Burton again a member of the faculty, for the patrons as well as the school board had found him a man of outstanding ability as a leader, as well as a teacher with ideas true and wholesome. He is true to any worthwhile agreement because he is a man one would be proud to point to as an example for his son to follow.

It affords me the greatest pleasure to express my appreciation of the high value of Mr. Burton's work and that of the teachers who compose his faculty.

AN APPRECIATION

Mr. G. L. Boykin, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has been a resident in the city of Clarendon for the last seven years. He has recently accepted the position as Vocational Agriculture teacher. Mr. Boykin received his Bachelor of Science Degree from A. & M. College. He took a great interest in student activities, he was a member of the football team, and he sang in the Glee Club while a student in College.

The first three years that Mr. Boykin was a resident of this city he taught in the public schools. It has been said that he built up one of the best football teams the town has ever had.

Mr. Boykin takes an active part in the spiritual development in the youth of the town. He teaches a class of boys in Sunday School, attends church regularly, sings in the Choir, is a Steward in the Methodist church.

The value of Mr. Boykin as a citizen of the town is emphasized by the fact that he is a great lover of sports, having won domino championship of this district more than once, also takes a great interest in golf and other modern sports.

During the World War Mr. Boykin served his country and is at present an active member of the American Legion. He is an officer of the Aubyn E. Clark Post.

Not many citizens of Clarendon can fulfill two positions at one time. Mr. Boykin is not only teacher of Vocational Agriculture but is the efficient Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. He sponsors the good-will trips out of the county as well as in the county. He represents our city at conventions in and out of the State. He is called upon to help advertise the city at Fairs. SOCIETY ENJOYS MOONLIGHT PICNIC

PALO DURO LITERARY SOCIETY MEMBERS ENJOY GUNBOAT OUTING

Last week the halls were quite popular with Palo Duro Literary Society students for instead of the program posted in the bulletin board was an announcement of a picnic. Plans were well printed; and on the evening of September 23, some twenty-three awaited the truck with an unbounded supply of sandwiches, cookies, apples, bananas, and potato chips.

As a rule time is set for the truck to leave half an hour sooner than anyone expects it, but on that picnic everyone sat on the truck and waited on time instead of students. At last the start was made and before long the top of Gun Boat Mountain came into view.

When the truck stopped there was a mad scramble to see who could reach the top of the plateau first. No record was made of the winner, but it was noted that the sponsor was breathing as hard as the rest when the top was reached.

After such an exhilarating climb and a short examination of the so-called Indian graves, someone mentioned the fact that he was experiencing pangs not unlike those of hunger. It was no use after that to even try to explore, so all descended again to the truck where the sandwiches and fruit were spread on the truck bed. All lined up to await their turns and the potato chips began to disappear. Pickles, cookies, apples, bananas, cheese sandwiches, meat sandwiches. Whist! and they were gone.

An abundance of food, a good supply of sand and bananas, and a moon did anything but induce the picnickers to fun and frolic.

After a few vain attempts to get up a game or so, even the "ring around the rosie" enthusiasts let their energy die a natural death. Finally, however, everyone sufficiently aroused to climb on the truck and hold on, and the group returned to town.

After riding for some time, life again stirred in the hearts of the students, and by the time the lights of town were in sight everyone was prepared to play. Roberta LaFon's home proved the chosen ground and bridge and dancing enlivened the evening.

Those present at the festivities were: Wilma Hukel, Nola Gordon, Eunice Johnson, Roberta LaFon, Ruth Donnell, Joyce Link, Virginia Wisdom, Pauline Latson, Dorothy Jo Taylor, Josephine Murphy, Jean Bourland, Lucille Andis, Winford Gattis, Bill Wood, Fred Bourland, Clyde Slavin, Bill Wood, Mike Strickland, Silas Franklin, Lee McKinney, Sterling Burris, Sam Cauthen, Carroll Hudson, the sponsor, Miss Headrick, Mr. and Mrs. Paxson and Helen Jean.

Alpha Delta Psi's Elect New Officers

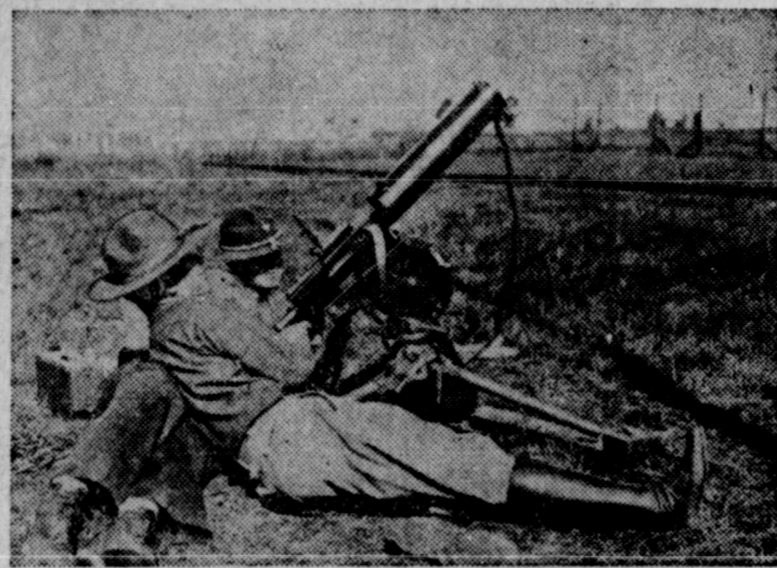

The Alpha Delta Psi Society met Tuesday evening, Sept., 22nd at 8 p. m. The entertainment for the evening was a short program which consisted of: A song by the group, Reading by Lorel Hamm, Piano Solo by Gertrude Shepherd.

Immediately after the program business was brought before the society by the president, Ance Barton. The officers were elected for the year. President, Barbara Smith; Vice President, Ance Barton; Secretary, Lorel Hamm; Treasurer, Novie Cook; Sergeant-at-Arms, James Smith; Prosecuting Attorney; Phifer Estlack; Critic, Faye Brown; Reporter, Adaline Smith.

exhibits and he gives valuable information to local citizens as well as to passers-by.

Besides the above mentioned things Mr. Boykin has time to devote to his family. He is a "pal" to his two boys and sets a good example for them.

Entire Senior Class Make Passing Grades

Who said this was the smallest Senior class in years? It might be true but let me tell you something we have the best record in this vicinity—What? Why? Because all Seniors are making, perhaps not all A's but passing grades. It is certainly great to see the football boys run out on the field unafraid to meet their coaches face to face and happy in the knowledge that they are passing all grades.

THIRD YEAR SPANISH CLUB WORKING HARD

The third year Spanish class, with Miss Weideman at its head, is progressing rapidly. There are only seven members, four juniors and three seniors. But, this makes things easier for all because each has a ready chance to express his point of view. Every one intends to correspond with one or more persons in foreign countries. Louise Smith had the good fortune to acquire a correspondent last year, and she has continued "Seneca Conversation" and commit through the summer.

The students of this interesting and beneficial work, Wanda Mayfield, Louise Smith, Robert Green, Alex Cooke, Jack Hays, Charles Walker, and J. R. Cox, promise to be heard from again through the medium of our school publication, "Along The Broncho Range."

Maroon Peppers Perform At McLean Fri.

We are going to have a good Pep Squad in spite of everything. We certainly did yell Friday and really made as much noise as the McLean Peppers, who greatly outnumbered us. Towards the last of the game we got very excited as students are likely to do when they are winning, and yelled more than ever. McLean treated us royally and all of us enjoyed the trip. One of the McLean girls gave a party to which the Bronchos and Pep Squad were invited. Unfortunately none of us were prepared to stay. After the game we went down town and counted the score. We will always be grateful to Mr. Montgomery, owner of the Montgomery Dry Goods Co., of McLean, for he was a lifesaver. When we were hot and tired, he invited us to come and have a drink and oh, how good those drinks tasted. For the next game we hope to have a stunt ready. We will also have our uniforms if the material gets here in time.

PRESS CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE

PURPOSE OF CLUB TO BE FOR BETTER SCHOOL PUBLICATION

Last Monday, Sept., 28, Miss Headrick, the sponsor of our School News paper, called a meeting of the staff. She gave us a very interesting and beneficial talk on the school news paper. She discussed the kinds of topics that we should use along with the way we should write them, all of which will be of great help to the Staff and the paper.

We decided at this meeting to organize a press club in which we can learn to write different kinds of articles for the paper, such as feature stories. We have not, however, organized yet. We will meet again next Monday afternoon at three twenty o'clock for the purpose of organizing.

GOVERNMENT MAKES SECOND LOCAL CALL

The total yearly income of all the people in this country is estimated at four billion dollars. During the first year of the war we must find eighteen and one half million dollars, or about forty-seven dollars for every hundred dollars that we earn. These figures are astounding, but we can "get by" and if you will read on you will see how we are going to do it. There are two ways in which the government will raise this money, by taxation and by borrowing money from you. The more the government will allow you to loan to it the less it will have to tax you right now. Therefore, ease your taxation by buying a LIBERATION BOND. Arguments about facts which have been mentioned are useless. We are in the war, we MUST win, and to do it the money MUST be found.

CITY MAKES BIG HIT DURING FAIR

CLARENDON BAND DECLARED
BEST TO ATTEND FAIR
DURING ENTIRE EVENT

Last Thursday was Clarendon and Donley County Day at the Amarillo 1st-State Exposition and the citizens of the other county metropolis and those from all over the exposition territory who were in Amarillo needed no appraisal of the fact that Donley county was present shortly after 10 o'clock that morning. Nearly two hundred local citizens made the trip overland and assembled at the corner of 10th and Polk streets where a parade was started with the Clarendon Band in their nifty Purple and White uniforms heading the delegation, and finished only after the main downtown thoroughfares had been visited by the Clarendonites. Following the victorious march through the city the band members were treated to a feed and then the delegation turned their attention to the Exposition grounds of the Tri-State Fair.

The triumphal march down Polk street was turned into an overwhelming riot of congratulations and compliments whenever the Clarendon band made a stop for one of their many concerts throughout the day. The crack Clarendon band made stops at each of the exhibit buildings and then entered the grandstand where they entertained the packed stands before the rodeo activities got under way. Following the rodeo performance the musicians then marched to the Merchants Building where the radio program over station WDAG was presented. So popular did the band's presentation over the radio prove that at the end of the allotted broadcasting time, Mason King, Trade Extension Manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, asked Stephen Stephenson to continue with his band through another fifteen minute period, thus giving the band 35 minutes to advertise the city and county. From every source and at every appearance of the organization came the same admission that the Clarendon High School Band was the outstanding musical organization to appear at the Fair. The next most popular band was the Shamrock organization under the direction of Bob Sandusky in which five of the Clarendon musicians performed.

Another feature of the Clarendon day was the Junior College broadcast that evening at 8:30 o'clock. The speech delivered by Dean W. A. Clark, Jr., is found elsewhere in this issue of The News.

The entire delegation remained over for the evening's grandstand performance returning to the city shortly before and after midnight.

BRONCHOS BEAT
McLEAN TIGERS

MAROON ELEVEN TURNS IN RAGGED GAME TO WIN
FIRST CONFERENCE GO

Playing a ragged and uninspiring brand of football, with only brief flashes of the potential power embodying this year's Broncho eleven, the Clarendon High School football team opened the 1931 conference race with a 13 to 0 victory over the scrappy McLean High Tigers. Never at any time during the game did the Bronchos have the edge on the losers in the "fight" department. The grit and determination of the lighter Tigers were a constant source of embarrassment to the sluggish Maroon and White team. Time after time the aggressive play of the McLean line outfloughed the locals to stop any promising threat launched by the Bronchos. The main element in the failure of the Broncho attack to gain its looked for momentum was the individualism which marked the play of the eleven players. Only on rare occasions did the Bronchos work as a unit, it was on these rare occasions that the Bronchos did get going and each time resulted in the two touchdowns.

However, notwithstanding the sluggish play of the locals, the game was possessed of more than the usual number of thrills. It was these thrills that added the spice to an otherwise uninteresting "just another football game." The several hundred fans, lining each side of the sloping red clay gridiron, were pulled to their feet a number of times by the spectacular play of each team. The first and greatest thrill came after ten minutes of play when Andis standing on the 50 yard line dropped back and flipped a short pass to Nichols who made a beautiful catch in the midst of several yellow-jerseyed players. Shaking loose the star fullback cautiously weaved his way through a number of would-be tacklers, spinning and sidestepping from the arms of the defensive backs into an open field. Apparently overanxious, with a touchdown already within his grasp Nichols stumbled, struck the ball with his knee and away shot the oval unclaimed to the 15 yard line. Greene, rookie tackle, was following the play close behind and picked the ball up on the dead run and safely conducted the Bronchos first score against conference competition, in fact the initial score against any opposition this year. The Clarendon fans were temporarily vexed when the headlines blew his whistle and started to bring the ball back to its original position. However the rule infraction was against a McLean player and the score stood when Capt. Nichols elected to keep the gain instead of the penalty of five yards. Reid added the extra point with a perfect placement between the uprights.

In the second quarter the Tigers completely outplayed the District favorites and was all the locals could do to keep their goal line untouched. The third quarter saw a slight improvement in the play of the Bronchos after the half talk by the coaches in which a few errors were pointed out. No sustained drive was possible however against the determined stand of the Gray county boys. In the final quarter the Bronchos showed better form than at any time when their offense finally got started through the tiring Tigers. Starting on the fifty yard line a neat forward pass to Martin and lateral to Andis was good for 22 yards as Snooks independently snaked his way through in one of the most beautiful runs of the afternoon. The same play around Behrens end added 8 more and two plays later Behrens on an end around skirted right end and scored standing after shaking several Tigers claws. Goal was missed as the ball headed into the mass.

Uncle Al's
Weekly Letter

Dear Editor:

Recent rumor says that the per-capita wealth of the United States is $3000. Could I be excused if I ask who has my three thousand? I could use it mightily myself right now if the party now using it could spare it a little while.

The "compression" is wearing a lot of us down to where it begins to look like dark coffee for the coming winter.

Thin seated pants and last year's old blue shirt are not going to shed cold wind very well—especially when draped around the flabby form of an empty stomach.

A lot of us "per-capitas," whose three thousand dollars is being used by somebody else, don't exactly know what we are going to do unless one of these extra session legislatures passes a law to prolong summer.

Yours,

it did not keep the children from school as the melons were too heavy for the children to load. Lion Mulkey extended his thanks for the assistance given in feeding the band. The showing made by the band was more than paid for by the splendid music made at all times and on all occasions.

The program committee for the day took charge with Lion Murrell acting as chairman. He first propounded a series of questions on the workings of the Lions International and found that several of the Lions knew a little of what was being done and how it was done.

Lion Chase then took a few moments and spoke on the assigned subject of "Why I Wanted an Education?" He stated that it was for the purpose of learning more of machinery, particularly that connected with the electrical end of the business. One recent development would do away with transmission lines and make it possible for the power and lights to be received through a tube similar to the detector used on radio sets.

Lion Porter as the remaining member of the committee, demonstrated his subject, "What I Did with My Education" by calling

COTTON CONTROL
LAW IS ENACTED
BY LEGISLATURE

OTHER STATES ARE ASKED TO JOIN TEXAS IN CUTTING ACRES

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 30.—A new law, written for the farmers of Texas at their request, was on Texas statutes today, restricting the acreage of cotton for the next two years to 30 percent of cultivated land and thereby bringing about an estimated 50 percent cut in total cotton acreage.

The law was passed by the Texas legislature and signed by Governor Sterling as answer to a request from more than 60,000 Texans, most of them farmers, who made their wishes known to Governor Sterling in mass meetings, petitions and individual communications. It was a compromise between various measures offered at the special session called expressly to enact farm legislation.

Enactment of the bill culminated five years of effort by J. E. McDonald to put such legislation on the statute books. McDonald sponsored such a bill before the 41st legislature; ran for commissioner of agriculture on a platform advocating acreage control; and sponsored bills before the regular and first special sessions of the 42nd legislature. Commenting upon the final step in enactment—signature by the governor—McDonald expressed confidence that courts would uphold the legislature, and that it would prove a great forward step for Texas agriculture.

"For too many years," he said "we southern farmers have been heedless of the law of supply and demand. That heedlessness was due in part to circumstances we could not control, because agriculture, being decentralized, had not learned to act in unity and curtail production to conform with demand."

"Now the government offers itself as a medium through which we may cooperate, to the benefit of all. This is the farmer's law. They wanted it, and they will respect it. It should go far toward restoring the morale of the southern cotton farmer."

"Members of the legislature and Governor Sterling are due a vote of thanks for the legislation for the farmers of Texas." Meanwhile telegrams have been dispatched to governors of other southern states advising them of the action of the Texas legislature and urging similar action in all cotton states. The telegram was signed by Governor Sterling and all members of the free conference committee which wrote the bill in its final form.

Particularly active in this respect were Representatives J. J. Olson of Yoakum and Lawrence Westbrook of Waco; and Senators Oliver Woodward of Coleman, leaders of the fight in their respective houses. Representative Olson and Senator Cunningham have sponsored control measures in previous sessions.

The bill restricts 1932 to 30 percent of total cultivated land in 1931, and 1933 acreage to 30 percent of total 1932 acreage. After 1933, cotton may not follow cotton. The restriction is on the basis of each farm as a unit.

Reliable statistical evidence indicates this restriction will bring about a reduction of 50 percent in total cotton acreage. It was understood that other states following the lead of Texas would enact measures having a similar effect, rather than putting into effect a 30 per cent restriction. In other words, a state planting less of its total cultivated lands to cotton would need a restriction greater than 30 per cent to bring about a 50 percent cut in total cotton acreage.

The acreage to be devoted to cotton will be determined on the basis of the farm census enumeration to be taken by county assessors the coming spring, this census being authorized by a law passed by the regular session.

Penalties for violation of the act would be a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, the fine to be paid into the road and bridge fund of the county in which the violation occurred. Injunction proceedings would be brought to enforce the law.

out five Lions who gave two recent developments in their respective lines of business. Lions Mulkey, Rathjen, Sam Braswell, Jr., Kerbow and Watson were the Lions chosen.

Lion Burton announced the football game for Friday and urged a full attendance. Boss Lion Boykin suggested to Lion Porter that they bury their A. & M. Texas hatchets and go root for the Bronchos. The suggestion was evidently accepted for the Lions all agreed this was the proper thing to do.

Lion Patrick offered an item that was of interest. He told of a transaction involving the sale of two and one-half millions of dollars in United States Bonds through the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas by a bank in New York City. The entire work was concluded in seven minutes from the time it was started, with the money being deposited in the bank at Dallas and the bonds delivered in New York. The bonds were in New York at the time.
