Clarendon Schools Start On Great Year

NEW ENROLLMENT RECORD SET HERE

ALL BRANCHES OF SYSTEM
GETS UNDER WAY MON-DAY IN GREAT OPENING

That more and more people are realizing, either due to the depression, the advantages of educational attainments is testified to by the increased enrollment, both in the Clarendon Municipal Junior College and the Clarendon Public Schools.

Showing a marked increase in enrollment, the schools of Clarendon officially opened Monday morning, September 5th at 10:00 o'clock with the following program:

- Song, "America"—Student Body and visitors.
- Invocation—Rev. Robert S. McKee.
- Brief Address—Rev. E. B. Bowen.
- Piano Solo—Mrs. Powell.
- Brief Address—O. C. Watson.
- Song, "America the Beautiful"—Student Body and Visitors.
- Benediction—Rev. B. N. Shepherd.

The enrollment in the college is the largest in the history of the Clarendon Municipal Junior College, with a number of out of town and out of state students attending. Several former students of the Clarendon School have resumed their studies here, both in the high school and in the college.

61 High School Seniors registered Monday morning compared with last year's class of 26 along with 76 Sophomores and 60 Juniors.

Coaches Hutton and Stocking resumed athletic activities Monday afternoon when 52 candidates for gridiron fame reported for football practice.

A number of improvements have been made in the equipment of the laboratories and class rooms. A great deal of credit should be given the School Board for the efforts and work that they have extended in order that the schools may be operated this year.

Both Faculty and students are looking forward to an unusually successful school year.

A great increase was noted in the High School when 189 students enrolled this year as against last year's total at this same period of 162. Losses were shown in both the Junior High and South Ward, but were sure to be taken up before the end of the week.

PAT LONGAN PRODUCES GIANT SIZED APPLES

Last week The News carried a story of an overgrown tomato produced in Donley County and this week comes the story of a giant apple grown in Pat Longan's splendid orchard. Tuesday afternoon Snooks Andis brought the writer two samples of the marvelous fruit produced in this county by Mr. Longan. The apples weighed over two pounds with the largest being slightly over 14 inches in circumference and weighed 11-5 pounds. This is the largest apple ever grown in the county to our knowledge and one of the largest we have ever seen. Reports state the trees loaded with apples weighing better than a half pound.

The fruit was delicious and as fine eating as one could wish. Thanks, Snooks and Mr. Longan.

SCHOOL PAPER WILL BEGIN THIRD YEAR NEXT WEEK

Readers of The News will be pleased to know that beginning next week the school page devoted to the students of Clarendon High School, Clarendon Junior College and the ward schools will again be published each week in The Clarendon News. Two years ago the local school authorities and students accepted the offer to conduct a page in The News and this year marks the volume three of the school page. Bill Word will again have charge of the editing the page with Miss Ineva Headrick and the English department as sponsors. The students staff will write all articles as in the past and the experience gained in previous years will no doubt be reflected in this year's journalistic endeavors.

CHRISTIAN REVIVAL BROUGHT TO CLOSE

THIRTY-NINE ADDITIONS RECEIVED IN BRILLIANT VAWTER PARTY REVIVAL

The Vawter Evangelistic Party brought to a close, last Sunday night, one of the greatest revivals ever conducted in this city. In a few short weeks the team won the hearts of the church people of the city, with their matchless music, singing and gospel preaching. Aside from the numerical strength gained by the members of the First Christian Church, there was a awakening to a new sense of duty as co-workers in soul winning and the joy that comes to those who do personal work.

There were thirty-nine men, women and children to come forward and line up with the church and its program during the campaign, and many more are planning on stepping out for the Church in the near future. The main gospel as presented by Dr. Vawter has caused the people to do some deep thinking and studying. The "Holy Scripture" was his text book during the meeting and his loving appeal for the people to turn to this great Book will have a wonderful effect upon every one, who heard him.

The program put on in the Pastime Theatre was one of the best ever held in Donley County, and every one enjoyed the travelog and concert. Every member of the party was an artist, and the songs, pictures, and music rendered by them will be long remembered. Arrangements are being made already to secure the same team for a six weeks campaign next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam M. Braswell returned Wednesday evening from Hillsboro where he has been attending a meeting of Group 15 of the Lions Clubs in District X. This was held jointly with the annual fall picnic of the Hillsboro Lions Club, and was attended by over a hundred of the clubs of the group. Mr. and Mrs. Braswell also visited relatives in Fort Worth.

Sunny View to Hold Pie Supper Friday

A benefit Pie Supper will be staged at the Sunny View School House Friday evening, September 9th, about 7:30 o'clock for the benefit of the Playground equipment fund of that community. Special music for the occasion has been secured and every one who attends is assured a most pleasing evening.

A contest will provide a portion of the entertainment when the most beautiful girl will be awarded a lovely cake and the most handsome young man will be presented with a prize. A general good time is guaranteed everybody as well as plenty to eat and the entire public is cordially invited to attend.

LIONS HEAR OF SCHOOL OPENING

EX-BOSS LION BOYKIN PRESENTED WITH PAST PRESIDENT'S BUTTON

Members of the Clarendon Lions Club who arrived late to the regular Tuesday luncheon this week furnished the entertainment for the day when they were called upon to give an account of their tardiness. The embarrassment was such as to call off the procedure before its completion.

Lion O. C. Watson, chairman of the program committee for the past week, called upon Lion H. T. Burton, superintendent of the local schools for a report on the school opening in Clarendon. Lion Burton stated that he had seldom seen as many new pupils as were enrolling in the high school and junior college as well this year and indications pointed to one of the best school terms ever enjoyed by the Clarendon institutions. The teachers are co-operating with the same degree of nicety as in the past and assisting in every way towards making the public school system one of the states outstanding units in West Texas.

FORMER CLARENDON MERCHANT DIES AT HOME IN AMARILLO SUNDAY

Clarendon and Donley County was shocked Sunday evening when news reached the city that Daniel Perry Ross, 76, retired pioneer merchant of this city, died early that afternoon at his home in Amarillo following a lingering illness of several months.

Mr. Ross, a resident of Amarillo for the past two years, came to the Panhandle in 1902 and established a dry goods store in Clarendon which he maintained for 16 years. He had been in the dry goods business for 40 years. He was a native of Grayson County. In 1890, Mr. Ross and three brothers founded the town of Rosston, in Cook County where he lived until he moved to this city.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the Dr. Ira F. Key, pastor of the Amarillo Polk Street Methodist Church, and the Rev. E. B. Bowen of this city in charge of the last rites. Interment was made in the Citizens Cemetery.

Surviving are the widow and two daughters, Mrs. Birdie Willis and Mrs. Lelia Beville, both of Amarillo.

Pallbearers were Lee Holland, Fred Chamberlain, W. H. Patrick, W. M. Patman, Walter Clifford, and Jack Killough.

Honorary pallbearers include Paul Shelton, G. C. Davis, E. D. Britain, E. F. Bryan, E. H. Willis, Bill Ray, Joe Holland, Sr., J. A. Reavis, W. B. Sims, C. J. Teel, Bennett Kerbow, J. H. Hurn, W. P. Cagle, W. W. Taylor, C. H. Wisdom, Jerome Stocking, Tom Goldston, D. O. Stallings, and J. R. LaFon.

the students and the school even though their checks have been few and their money scarce.

Lion Homer Mulkey presented Lion G. L. Boykin, retiring president, with the customary beautiful diamond studded past president's lapel button. Lion Boykin thanked the club and assured them of his appreciation for the support accorded him while at the helm of the organization.

Visitors for the day were J. Roy Wells of Abilene who thanked the club for the wedding gift sent them and J. A. Boykin of Fort Worth, father of Lion G. L. Boykin.

Mrs. Lewis Southall returned home Wednesday to Altus, Okla. after visiting her mother, brothers and sisters and help welcome Mrs. Addie Wilson home as it had been six years since she has been home.

51 ANSWER INITIAL GRID CALL

BRONCHOS SCAMPER THRU FIRST WORKOUTS OF SEASON WITH VIGOR

Over fifty-one aspiring candidates for the 1932 Broncho team reported to High School coaches Frank Stocking and John Hutton Monday afternoon and scampered through a series of fundamental setting-up exercises after being drilled by the mentors on the eligibility rules which will govern them throughout the season. This year's squad is the largest in the history of the school and is made up of eight lettermen from last season's championship eleven, a score of last year's reserves, a large group of rookies and a number of wonderful prospects from rural schools.

All the candidates entered into the spirit of the season and very little other than hard work was displayed by the would-be Bronchos. This season finds the Bronchos in a different position than in former years in that competition will be extremely keen, where in years past the squad was so small competition was almost lacking.

This year finds the defending champions boasting a heavy, powerful line with a comparatively light backfield. However, there is a possibility that one of the big linemen may be shifted to the backfield in an effort to supply the needed punch for a perfectly balanced eleven.

New men reporting this season from rural schools are Johnson and Hughes from Chamberlain, Clemons and Boles from Goldston and Turnbow from Martin. All seem to be valuable finds and considerable time will be spent in developing these lads in the arts of their respective positions.

Uniforms have been issued but will not be donned for another week as warm weather continues and only conditioning exercises and the basic fundamentals of the game will be dished to the players for several days. This method of procedure is being followed this year in view of the ruling that no games of any kind are allowed to be played prior to September 30th. Plenty of time is being taken to get the lads in good condition before turning them loose on the real work of perfecting plays and in working to a perfect degree of co-ordination.

A late addition to the squad which raises further the stock of the local team is "Heavy" Whitlock, heady and competent quarterback of 1930. He returns this year to the Broncho line-up with considerably more weight and finishes out a score of first rate back field men.

Complete Returns Give 3,870 Votes Lead to Ferguson Over Sterling

Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson's majority over Gov. Ross S. Sterling is 3,870, according to complete official returns from all 254 counties reported to the Texas Election Bureau by its correspondents. The totals are: Ferguson 477,844; Sterling 473,974. Total vote 951,818.

Of the last thirteen counties to report official returns, only San Patricio reported substantial changes from unofficial returns.

Mrs. Ferguson gained six in Loving, one in Hutchinson, 154 in San Patricio and one in Stone-wall, lost two in Blanco and fifteen in Comanche, making a net addition of 145 to her total.

Sterling gained twenty-four in Comanche and ten in San Patricio, and lost one in Dallam, making a net addition of thirty-three to his total. As a result of the changes in the seven counties, Mrs. Ferguson's lead was increased 112. Official figures from Kendall, Sutton, Brazoria, Karnes, Kerr and Lipscomb tallied with the unofficial.

Mrs. Florence Reber of Kansas City, Mo., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Kelly Chamberlain.

Miss Dorothy White, who has been on her annual vacation to California, returned Sunday after a delightful trip. While there she attended the Xth Olympiad opening.

MUSIC-LECTURE ON ROTARY PROGRAM

VAWTER PARTY PRESENTS ENJOYABLE PROGRAM TO ROTARY CLUB FRIDAY

In the absence of the president, vice-president J. W. Evans presided over the regular meeting of the Clarendon Rotary Club last Friday noon. Guests for the day were Rev. W. E. Ferrell, Howard House, Billy Reaves, Dr. C. R. L. Vawter, Mrs. C. R. L. Vawter and Rotarian F. A. Zimpfer of Amarillo.

The Club Service Committee with Rotarian C. C. Powell chairman was in charge of the program and presented the Vawter Party in a varied musical offering featuring the Notre Dame Chimes. Following the musical presentations Dr. Vawter interested the members in a splendid lecture on the conditions of other countries as compared to the depression in the United States. All the other nations to which Dr. Vawter and his party visited are in very much worse shape than in this country.

Few Changes Result In Official Canvass of Votes Here Saturday

The official count of the Donley County Democratic Primary election last Saturday by the County Executive Committee turned in an increase over the unofficial count for Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson of eight votes and decreased Governor Sterling's total nine votes, thus giving Texas' only woman governor a better standing in the county by seven-votes.

No change was registered in the Railroad Commissioners Race between Satterwhite and Terrell as Satterwhite held his one vote majority over the veteran Wise County official.

Both Thompson and Hatcher gained some votes with the Amarillo man gaining fifteen more votes majority. The new total is Thompson 1584 and Hatcher 567. Pink Parrish gained and Geo.

Terrell lost in Place One for Congress with the new totals being 1619 and 391 respectively. In Place Two Cyclone Davis and Joe Bailey, Jr., each picked up four votes to hold their same standing.

Both County Judge candidates lost in the official count. S. W. Lowe having dropped to 1403 from 1407 while J. C. Estlack's total of 851 votes were diminished to 846.

Ira Merchant made a business trip to Pampa Wednesday.

Nadine Haille, Lois Alexander, Elgin Patrick and Betty Walker spent Sunday in Amarillo.

Harold Bugbee and J. Evetts Haley are making a tour of the older towns in the Panhandle, where they will collect data concerning pioneers of this section.

LOYALTY THAT COUNTS

Few institutions in national life in America has been the recipient of such general and uniform loyalty as the public schools of this country.

Seems to us that this is one of the bright spots of the past two years of financial distress, that while every other line of human endeavor has been subjected to the severest reverses, as people almost lost hope, the schools have held in almost every community in the nation the intelligent and earnest support of the masses, with the result that they have carried on in a wonderful way and much above the average level of other businesses.

True, there have been sacrifices on the part of teachers who usually have complained little at reductions in salaries and delay in payment. There have been sacrifices on the part of earnest men who are serving as trustees without salary, and there have been sacrifices on the part of taxpayers who have suffered privations and inconveniences that they might pay all or a part of their school taxes. But the general co-operation has been marvelous.

With loyalty such as this in an enterprise that has so much to do with the future safety and progress of the human race, we have much to be thankful for and a glorious future to live for.

It is a loyalty that counts in an imperishable manner.

IS DONLEY TO BE ON THE NEW HIGHWAY?

Many citizens, many more than ever before, are seriously asking the question if Donley County is really to be served by Highway 5, when it is paved. They are asking if we are to have the benefit of the generally servicable route as originally proposed by the department, or are we to see the gap between Hall and Potter closed through the canyon route, which would be of little value to Donley.

Some attempt to assert that the proposed route through the canyon is merely a bluff to bring about action, but they have no confidence in their assertion, and with the present political situation in Texas, there is a growing fear that such a proposal is one bluff Donley cannot afford to call by her usual indifferent manner.

Nobody can blame Hall County for urging the new route—it means money to them and better protection to their trade territory—something Memphis leaders have always been rightly interested in.

Can Donley afford to remain passive and indifferent? Is Donley to be served by Highway 5?

JUST IN TIME

Just about the time that it seems every community is split into two political factions with no hope of any friendly relations until Gabriel blows his tin horn, along comes the opening of school and with it the thud of the pigskin which prefaces another football season.

Warring factions in the community just can't help rallying to the support of the home team, and before frost appears each side will begin to believe that the other has some bully, local home-town fans in it.

Then by Thanksgiving the whole community is standing shoulder to shoulder behind the home-town football warriors, and there is no possibility of any schism driving a wedge in the community—until next election year.

Football has arrived just in time, and here in Clarendon the fans of all political shades are beginning to get a line on that fine squad of fifty would-be Bronchos who will carry the Red and White of C. H. S. to another championship.

Yes, just in time.

POLITICAL POT IS BOILING

If the political pot in Texas was ever boiling it is at the present time.

There is talk of rebellion on all sides and from both sides if either of the candidates for governor is declared the nominee of the Democratic party, and when the state convention at Lubbock next week writes its verdict, things are going to pop wide open, and the liveliest weeks Texas ever saw are apt to intervene between now and the November elections.

Few are hardy enough to predict just what the outcome of the situation will be, but many are saying that Texas will elect a Republican governor this Fall, while she is giving the Democratic ticket her usual electoral votes in the national election.

From the standpoint of the thrill-seeker the Lubbock convention will be well worth attending, and for that reason many prominent accredited delegates are already finding reasons why they can't be present.

-Masonic Notes of Interest-

ENGLISH MASONIC CHARITY

English Freemasonry has, during 1932, voluntarily subscribed to the three Royal Masonic Institutions the gigantic sum of £280,798, which is just about sufficient to carry on the current work of these institutions. This sum was collected by 12,270 Stewards operating in over 46 Provinces. The City of London contributed over £65 per lodge to the funds, or a total of more than £73,624.

Considering the fact that Great Britain has severely suffered from the economic depression, the amount raised for English Masonic charity is surprisingly high and means that no doubt a great deal of personal sacrifice was made on the part of the English Brethren, in the name of humanity.

LAND HELD FOR 900 YEARS, OFFERED FOR SALE

It is estimated that the World War was the cause of more than one-fourth of the real property of Great Britain changing hands. Most of the transfers have taken place since 1920, due to the heavy taxes assessed on the great landed proprietors.

Recently there was offered for sale a plot of church land the title to which had not changed in 900 years; not since Edward the Confessor gave it to the rector of Welwyn, in Hertfordshire.

This glebe, or church land, has been leased to private users for many years and its upkeep has become greater than the parish can bear. Tradition, supported by very good evidence, shows that this section of Hertfordshire was occupied by the Romans, with St. Albans' as a center of operations.

RIDICULOUS CLAIM MADE BY PAPAL ORGAN

Washington, D. C.—An Associated Press dispatch from the Vatican City and dated August 16, states that the Osservatore Romano, known as the official organ of the Vatican, editorially alleges that "Masonry never would have succeeded in subjecting and oppressing so ferociously the Church and the Mexican people if it had not found a powerful ally, first in socialism, then in Communism. . . ." To any student of Masonry this charge is ridiculous. Regular Masonry has nothing in common with socialism or communism. It never joins forces, for that matter with any "ism" but stands supreme and alone.

It will be remembered that several years ago a constitutional provision was put into effect by the Mexican Government. This provision or regulation declared, among other things, that every religious denomination in the Republic should be duly registered with the civil authorities. It is alleged that the Protestant sects immediately obeyed the law, while the Roman clerics, upon command of their bishops, refused to obey and, in an effort to register their disapproval, the clergy walked out of their churches and refused to conduct services. Some of the more wealthy edifices containing as they did quantities of gold and silver in altar vessels, etc., were locked up by the government as a precaution against theft. This was purposely misinterpreted by some Catholic spokesmen as signifying that the government had, by armed force, refused to permit the laity to enter their churches and pray, thereby depriving them of spiritual benefits. Following this boycott against the government was declared and, not only that, revolution broke out and deeds of violence against the civil government were enacted.

The government adopted firm measures, expelled a number of the clergy who had been accused of fomenting rebellion and brought a sharp end to the disorders. Finding that its revolutionary and boycotting tactics were in vain, the Roman Church capitulated, very unwillingly, and a rapprochement ensued—at least for the time being. However, the dispatch quoted above clearly indicates that the Church has not forgotten and no doubt will continue, by circulating these false statements, to undermine the confidence of the people, especially the Catholic element throughout the world, in the Government of Mexico.

Roumania is the tenth foreign nation to signify their participation in the Century of Progress World's Fair at Chicago, opening June 1, 1933. China has selected a one-acre site on the lake front and will proceed with their building at once. The Texas world's Fair Commission, appointed by the Governor, has selected their space and is now attempting to raise sufficient funds with which to assemble and maintain a suitable Texas exhibit during the five months the fair will be open.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Turner and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Donner of Los Angeles, California, were in the city Wednesday. They have been visiting relatives in Greenville, Texas, and points in Oklahoma, and were on the return trip. Mr. Turner formerly lived in the city and is now employed by the Los Angeles Railway Company.

NOT MUCH CHANGE

Each generation of men from time immemorial has produced its pessimists and cynics, who have viewed with alarm the deplorable tendencies of their contemporaries.

According to these gloomy individuals the downward trend of human morals has always been in evidence, with the skids to perdition well greased.

As a matter of fact, there has been little change in human nature since the dawn of civilization. At any time in the world's history there has been ample grounds for pessimism on the part of those who prefer to look upon the dark side. A writer in the Boston Chronicle in the year 1800 pictured conditions closely resembling those of the present day, from the viewpoint of the alarmist. In an article entitled "Prices Current," he wrote:

"Morals—Falling rapidly. "Modesty (female)—Quite out of fashion. "National Honor—None on the market. "Public Taxes—In great abundance. "Religion—No price offered. "Public Virtue—A contraband article; if discovered would ruin its possessor."

But there was nothing original in the lugubrious reflections of this writer of 182 years ago. The same things in substance, were said centuries before, are being said today and will probably be said for centuries to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Allen of Dallas visited Mr. and Mrs. Dick Allen over the week end.

MRS. FANNY C. NAYLOR

This consecrated woman was born September 13th, 1855 at Fannington, Davie County, North Carolina, as Miss Fanny C. Ferebee. On Feb. 8th, 1877 she became the wife of Thomas Nelson Naylor who died in April, 1925. To this union eight children were born, four sons and four daughters, all of which survive her.

As a citizen and neighbor Mrs. Naylor stood for the highest standards of moral and civil righteousness. All good causes found her a loyal friend and champion; all phases of wrong uncompromising, for her ideals were high and noble and she trod the path of duty as her God enabled her to see it.

But it was in her home where her virtues shown with greatest luster. Here she reigned supreme in the confidence and affection of her family. Her children can always say, "She built a happy earthly home for her loved ones and by her life set an example which if followed will make sure our heavenly home."

Three things stand out prominently in estimating the character of this noble woman, her native ability, her high integrity, her whole-hearted devotions which were four fold, her country, her family, her neighbors, and her God. When the end came with her she had no preparation to make, it had been made and she had nothing to do but fall asleep and awake in His Glory.

Her life of more than three score and ten, was filled to the brim with strenuous endeavor, a victorious faith, and a gentleness of love that won all hearts.

To us who had loved her, to loved ones, to her friends, to us all, words fail to tell of the rare mind and beautiful spirit of the chosen instrument of God's grace. She just slipped away in the summer time finding a land still fairer beyond the tide. We know where to find her and may it be our purpose so to live, that we shall see her again.

A Friend.

ONLY ONE TIME TO BE EDUCATED

It is perhaps wise for any individual today to postpone any activity that can be put off, and by the same token it is perhaps a part of wisdom for communities to postpone for awhile all enterprises that can be left to the future. As an individual householder, I can very easily delay building an addition to my home, getting out shrubbery, or using any new furniture; for next year the addition can be built to the same part of the house that I might have in mind now, or the shrubbery planted on the very same spot of ground that I now contemplate beautifying, or the new pieces of furniture. Likewise a community can one year from today, or even ten years from today, put down a piece of pavement on identically the same ground that needs it now, or erect a building on the same site that is now in mind. But as a householder, I cannot put off feeding my children; for if I do not feed them this year, next year they will not be here to be fed. Nor can the community neglect today to educate its children; for if the present day child is not educated today while he is a child, he will have passed on from childhood into the responsibilities of mature life without adequate education.

FIGHT TO BE MADE IN COURT

DALLAS, Sept. 6.—The Dallas News says supporters of Gov. R. S. Sterling plan a court contest of the August 27 Democratic primary. Unofficial returns indicate that Mrs. Miram A. Ferguson defeated the governor by 3,870 votes for the nomination.

The News says the Sterling faction probably will not present evidence which it claims indicates fraud before the state executive committee meeting at Lubbock Monday to canvass the vote nor on the floor of the state convention convening Tuesday. Instead, the governor's supporters plan to go direct to the courts demanding a recount of the vote in every county in which they claim there was fraud.

Sterling headquarters here announced today that District Attorney Sam McCorkle of Mexia had the names and addresses of more than 500 negroes who, he claimed, voted at the second primary in three counties.

McCorkle further asserted that he had evidence indicating that at one voting box in an East Texas county 200 absentee ballots were received and counted from one small town in another county. He said two men went to that town to solicit absentee ballots.

Sterling headquarters said much other evidence was being collected.

MEAT FOR HEALTH FEATURED AT FAIR

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 7.—The Texas Breeder-Feeder Association, sponsors of the annual feeder show and auction sale at the State Fair of Texas, whose three year campaign to feed Texas livestock, in Texas on Texas Feeds has resulted in 600,000 head of sheep and cattle being on feed in this state, will wage a campaign during Beef Cattle Week at the fair of "Meat for Health", it has been announced here by Frank P. Holland, Jr., president of the Breeder-Feeder body, and State Fair director.

Packers, jobbers, retail meat dealers, and independent provisioners have been enlisted in the campaign and will carry the message to the people in an effort to educate them to eat more and better meats, that the consumption of meat in Texas might be increased thereby creating a better market for the finished livestock which have been fed on Texas Feeds.

The campaign will be waged in the schools, among housewives, to the business men and women through luncheon clubs, among restaurateurs, hotel chefs, and to practically all consumers of meats. Many public demonstrations of butchering which will educate the people as to meat and meat cuts will be held.

The "Meat for Health" week will culminate at the annual banquet tendered the Feeder-Breeder Association by the State Fair of Texas each year, and which will be held this year at the Adolphus Hotel. Reports on the campaign will be made, and talks by several nationally known speakers will be made on the subject.

Massed band concerts in which all bands competing in the statewide band contest to be held at the 1932 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23, will be heard, will be held each evening during the exposition. The massed band concerts will be directed by Karl L. King, and at least 200 musicians are expected to participate in each one. At least 100 bands are expected to try for the $1,000 cash prize offered the winning band.

A report from the local freight agent indicates that business has already begun to climb as one local merchant received during the past week 38 cases of shoes, the largest shipment in two years.

MANY SPECIAL TRAINS

Many special trains will be run to the 1932 State Fair of Texas, from points in Texas, it has been announced here by various railroads. In 1929 a total of 21 special trains were run to the State Exposition on special days, and it is expected that with the unusually low rates being offered on all roads this year that this number will be exceeded. Trains are being planned from Gainesville, Brownwood, Tyler, Palestine, Longview, Marshall, Mt. Pleasant and other Texas cities.

THE SIX-HOUR DAY

The struggle of industrial toilers for a shorter work-day and better working conditions is a long story that would fill many volumes. But it has been on the whole a successful struggle in most civilized countries, and while the methods employed to secure victory have been at times open to question, there is no doubt that both employer and employee are better off today because of it.

To illustrate what has been gained, we need only to reflect upon the fact that the first hour legislation on record was passed by the British parliament in 1802 and limited the labor of children working in factories to twelve hours a day!

America secured wide adoption of the ten-hour day in 1835, while the eight-hour day made little headway until about 1886, and is yet by no means fully in effect in the United States, although it prevails in trades that are effectively organized, as well as in others embracing about one-half of the wage-earners of the country, excepting farm hands and domestics.

Recently, and especially since we have been experiencing an unprecedented blight caused by unemployment, the Six-hour day has been strongly urged as a means of relief for the workers displaced by machines. Not only the six-hour day, but also the five-day week. In fact such a schedule has been adopted already in some industrial plants.

Under present conditions it seems that the shorter work day and work week offers the only practical solution to the unemployment problem. Whether this idea will make headway and eventually lead to a permanent policy remains to be seen, but the trend seems to be in the direction of less hours of labor, especially for those who toil with their hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Lasiter and son, Lonnie, from Brownfield, Texas, came over to visit his sister, Mrs. Couch and help welcome Mrs. Wilson home from Los Angeles.

HUDGINS

There was seventy-one present at Sunday School Sunday. There was no preaching Sunday evening as Rev. Liles failed to come.

Most all of the Hudgins Sunday School attended the Vawter meeting at Clarendon Saturday night and received a picture for having the largest delegation, there being seventy-three present.

There was a good crowd present at Singing Sunday night. We would be glad to see more come and help us as we are learning our new songs.

YOUTH AND AGE

In a recent issue of The Orphan's Friend and Masonic Journal, published by the Grand Lodge of North Carolina at the Masonic Home in Oxford, appears an interesting editorial dealing with a subject that is in this day arousing a great deal of comment and speculation. We are quoting the last few paragraphs: "The world needs the old man and it needs the young man. The old man must readjust himself with progressive regularity if he expects to meet the requirements. No matter what the wrench to his feelings may be, he will have to give up what has outlived its usefulness. "The world needs the young man, but the young man will have to work with the older man and get something from his experience. "There is a place in the great scheme of things for every willing and intelligent worker, no matter what may be the age. No generation has the right to read out the product of any other generation. "Youth and age are a great team when they pull together intelligently. The failure of either would be a calamity."

DECORATE FAIR BUILDINGS

Four of the State Fair Buildings will be refinished with white stucco for the coming exposition, Oct. 8 to 23. The administration building at the main entrance gates, the Art Building, the Main Exhibit Building, and the Poultry Building are being given the coating of white stucco. It has been announced here by Otto Herold, president of the state exposition.

Miss Irma Lewis left this morning for Mesclero, New Mexico, where she will be employed in the faculty of the United States Government Indian School.

Mother of 7—Still Young

THE woman who gives her organs the right stimulant need not worry about growing old. Her system doesn't stagnate; her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels. When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement. The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a big bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need to be stimulated. Give it to children instead of strong laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

... taking a Dose of Our Own Medicine ...

Costs us money to be occupying this space. But we believe in "practicing what we preach." And that is—IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!

Here's the point, Mr. Tradesman. Thousands of Donley County folks watch these columns for news. And what you have to sell . . . what savings you have to offer . . . IT'S NEWS to them. IN SOCIETY

Alderson—Christal

Before an altar of cut flowers and ferns, Miss Margarette Christal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Christal of Lelia Lake and Mr. Earl Alderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvn Alderson of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. B. N. Shepherd in the home of the bride's parents, at eight o'clock Thursday morning. Only the immediate relatives were present.

The couple entered together to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Mrs. Billie Christal. During the ceremony Mrs. Christal softly played "To A Wild Rose" by MacDowell. The bride was attired in a becoming suit of midnight blue with accessories to match. Her corsage was pink rosebuds and sweetpeas.

Mrs. Alderson is the attractive and accomplished daughter of one of Lelia Lake and Donley County's most prominent families. She is a graduate of Lelia Lake High School and attended St. Louis Normal. For the past year she has been teaching music in Lelia Lake.

The groom is a prominent young business man of this city being the owner of Alderson's Studio and Gift Shop.

Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple left for Colorado on a honeymoon. On their return they will be at home to their many friends in Clarendon.

Mary Travis Dyer and Peggy Taylor are Hostesses.

An affair which added much to the week's social activities, particularly for the younger crowd was the dance given by Misses Mary Travis Dyer and Peggy Taylor on Thursday evening at the Episcopal Parish House.

Victrola music inspired the happy group in their merry making until a late hour.

Enjoying this hospitality were: Misses Elizabeth Kemp, Dorothy Jo Ryan, Berkeley Ryan, Evelyn Murphy, Jo Ella Stewart, Marjorie White, Pauline Shelton, Claudia Atteberry of Pampa, Pauline Sanford, Jean Bourland, Mary Frances Powell, Dorothy Powell, Wyima Dee Smith, Josephine Browder of Fort Worth, Sarah Virginia McGowen, Mary Frances Caraway, Betty and Ann Lewis of Dallas.

Messes T. J. J. Smith, Price Whitlock, Artis Patman, Archie Waters, and Steve Greene.

Mrs. James Trent Hostess

A delightful affair of the week was the meeting of the 1922 Bridge Club at the hospitable home of Mrs. James Trent on Tuesday afternoon.

The spacious entertaining suite had been arranged with roses, purple asters, snapdragons, zinnias, butterfly bush, and other garden flowers in welcome to the guests, which added much to the delightfulness of the afternoon.

In the games of Auction Bridge Mrs. J. B. McClelland played high and Mrs. Sella Gentry low. Each received a lovely gift. At the close of the games a delectable salad and ice course was served to the following:

Mesdames W. H. Martin, L. S. Barbv, W. H. Cooke, J. B. McClelland, Charles Bugbee, Sella Gentry, T. H. Ellis, J. T. Sims, Sr., A. R. Letts, and R. A. Chamberlain, club members.

Mesdames George Ryan and W. H. Patrick, guests.

P. T. A. To Sell Cereals Saturday

Members of the Parent Teachers Association of the city of Clarendon clubs are working a novel sales plan Saturday with the Kellogg company through which they will realize a sum of money to aid in carrying out their community service program, it has been announced this week.

The P. T. A., through Mrs. U. J. Boston and Mrs. J. L.

McMurtry is urging housewives of Clarendon to wait until Saturday to buy cereals at which time the Federation will have charge of a special sale of cereals in Clarendon stores.

Workers in the P. T. A. will compete in the sale of as many cereals as possible to earn special bonuses, a certain sum being guaranteed to the organization.

The Association women have an ambitious community service program which will be handicapped unless funds can be provided, and the women are passing up no opportunity to obtain the funds.

The following groceries are cooperating with the P. T. A.: Clifford & Ray, Lowe's Grocery, Shelton & Sanford, Jitney-Jungle, Piggly Wiggly, and M System.

1912 Needle Club

Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain was a delightful hostess Thursday afternoon at her home to the 1912 Needle Club.

The afternoon was spent working on different kinds of fancy work and in interesting conversation. A dainty salad course was served to the following club members: Mrs. L. S. Bagby, Mrs. W. H. Martin, Mrs. Sella Gentry, Mrs. A. L. Chase, Mrs. B. L. Jenkins, Sr., Mrs. A. R. Letts, Mrs. Homer Glascoe, Mrs. Minnie Dyer, Mrs. A. A. Mayes, Mrs. Anna Hall, and Mrs. J. B. Baird.

The guest list included: Mrs. D. H. Ellis, Mrs. W. J. Lewis of Dallas, Mrs. McCame, Mrs. John Sims, Sr., Mrs. Florence Reber of Kansas City, Miss Mary Howren, Mrs. J. D. Stocking, Mrs. W. J. Atteberry of Amarillo, Mrs. Kelly Chamberlain and Miss Mary Jo Chamberlain.

D'Laurel Beville Complimented

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Patman entertained in their lovely home with a Mexican dinner, honoring Miss D'Laurel Beville, who left Friday morning for San Antonio where she will teach the coming year.

An artistic bouquet of Dahlias made the centerpiece of the attractive dinner table. To add to the gayety and color of the delicious dinner were brightly colored clay pigs and miniature Mexican sombreros, which were favors at each place. The remainder of the evening was spent playing Pa-ke-no, a new game which proved quite popular.

Guests for this delightful occasion were Miss D'Laurel Beville, the honoree, Miss Norma Rhodes, Miss Opal Pyle, Miss Winnie Weatherly, and Miss Mantie Graves.

LOCAL TEACHERS ACCEPT SCATTERED FACULTY JOBS

THE TEMPLE BUILT BY GOD, THE HOUSE IN WHICH I LIVE

IX—The Power House of the Body, The Heart.

Text. Prov. 4:23

If you go into a factory you will hear the rumble and noise of machinery. There is scarcely any noise with the machinery of the body, and what little noise there is, is with the heart, and you seldom hear it. If you put your fingers in your ears, you will hear a slight rumble. That is your heart at work.

Your heart is small, made largely of muscle, it is about the size of your closed fist, and in a full grown person it weighs about one pound. All the blood in the body passes through the heart because this muscle acts as a pump. When your heart goes wrong you will become sick, when the heart stops pumping or beating you die. The heart is the very center of your life.

When the Bible speaks of the heart, morally, it means more than this little throbbing muscle, located in the left bosom, which beats away the seconds of time. The Bible speaks of something that is as important to the spiritual being as the heart of flesh is to the physical body.

First of all the heart, morally and religiously speaking, means the "affections of the mind." Jesus brings this point out clearly in Matthew 6:20, 21. Solomon also gives a great lesson along this line in Eccl. 7:4. In Second Samuel, the fifteenth chapter and sixth verse we read: "Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel."

The word "heart" in the Scriptures is also used in a more comprehensive sense than simply the affections. It is used in the broad sense to mean, "the mind, the understanding, the whole inner man." "Why do though arise in your hearts" Luke 24:38. "With the heart man believeth unto righteousness" Rom. 10:10.

With these simple definitions in mind we can now appreciate the meaning of the text found in Proverbs 4:23. We are to keep our hearts, that is our affections, our mind, our understanding, pure and clean by obedience to God and His word. If we let things of the world take first place in our hearts, sin enters in and produces spiritual death. Keep thy heart with all diligence.—W. E. Ferrell, Minister First Christian Church, Clarendon, Texas.

Miss Claire Marie Braswell, who is technician at the Jefferson Davis Hospital in Houston, arrived Wednesday for a week's visit with her family.

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely appreciative and grateful to our friends for all the thoughtful kindness, and to each of those who helped in any way, during the illness and death of our husband and father. We will always love you and Clarendon.

Mrs. D. P. Ross, Mrs. Birdie Willis, Mrs. Lelia Beville, and families.

Dr. C. G. Stricklin returned Thursday from a two months vacation in Colorado, and reported the fishing as excellent. Mrs. Stricklin and Beverly Gray will be home in about ten days. While gone the Stricklins spent part of the time in Yellowstone Park.

EPISCOPAL AUXILIARY BEGINS YEAR'S WORK

Members of the Episcopal Auxiliary held their first meeting this Fall at the home of Mrs. W. H. Patrick, Wednesday afternoon.

A short business session was held and many interesting plans made. At the conclusion of the meeting a delicious salad course was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield Carhart of Greenville, Texas were in Clarendon Sunday visiting Mrs. Carhart's mother, Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain.

1926 Book Club Luncheon

The 1926 Book Club began its years work Tuesday afternoon, at the Club rooms, with a delightful luncheon. Clever green and gold booklets served as place cards, and on the inside of each was the menu and a list of the incoming officers for this year.

The club colors of green and gold were again carried out in the bouquets of yellow snapdragons on each of the eight tables. The official hostesses for this delicious two-course luncheon were Lotta Bourland, Mae Nell Teer and Alta Lewis Lane, Director important "stunt" program followed the luncheon, which everyone thoroughly enjoyed.

The officers of the 1926 Book Club for the coming year are: Luma Noble Smith, President; Rita Foster Stocking, Vice-President; Mary Geyer Thornberry, Recording Secretary; Lotta Bourland, Corresponding Secretary; Zell Mann Tomb, Treasurer; Polly Enochs Smith, Parliamentarian; Joyce Holland Clark, Federation Councilman; and Mae Nell Elliott Teer and Alta Lewis Lane, Directors to Little Theatre.

At their next meeting on September 20, the club is to study Edna Ferber's novel, "American Beauty."

Mrs. James D. Browder and family of Ft. Worth returned home Sunday after a visit with her mother, Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain.

PROMPT DELIVERY

Up to the College Park Monday afternoon to get the first inkling of what football fans would have to look forward to in the way of gridiron stars for this year. Well, sir, this year's Maroon and White club will boast one of the most powerful forward walls in the history of Class B football in the Panhandle, a fast and capable backfield and a corps of first class reserves. This new model of the District and Bi-District champions will not, however, boast of individual stars which have in former years been more of a drawback to the welfare of the team than an asset. The Bronchos of 1932 appear to be the most balanced squad turned out by the local school since the great Broncho elevens of 1924 and 1926.

And are those lads who are expecting to carry the Maroon and White through to another title looking great? Looks like they are really interested in getting themselves into shape for the coming campaign, something other teams of recent years have failed to do in the proper manner. Last year at Wichita Falls several of the players learned the difference of really being in shape and training on cigarettes—and a lot of difference there was too. Many of this year's candidates have trained out-of-doors throughout the summer and their dark tanned bodies indicate the splendid condition they are in at the start of the training session.

A number of the railbirds were also on hand and received the first glimpse of the 1932 local entry in the gridiron marathon. The newcomers to the squad this year who will bring gladness to the hearts of the fans this year and who were present for the initial workout were Boles and Clemons of Goldston, Johnson and Hughes of Chamberlain and of Martin. These boys are all valuable additions to anybody's football team and will give the opponents plenty to worry over by the time the season starts. This big fellow Hughes is a natural athlete and the way in which he went after those first exercises Monday indicates he is going to be satisfied with nothing less than a place on the first string. Clemons and Boles, Goldston's contribution to the success of the Bronchos, also are being counted upon heavily to come through handsomely and make things miserable for those hoping to halt another Maroon and White drive for the flag. And this Linders boy—there's the lad, ladies and gentlemen, who with a little determination is going to make things plenty tough for the lettermen who hope to keep their job intact this season.

All-in-all folks, it just looks like it's going to be a big year for the Clarendon High School Bronchos.

Well, well, well and well—right on the front page of The Memphis Democrat, that worthy oracle which originates in the confines and boundaries of the land of terrifying and swirling whirlwinds—we read the following words of wisdom inspired from the pen of that no less a personage than William R. Clark, columnist, editor and latest competitor to Henry W. Longfellow in the poetry game:

"Word has filtered through from Clarendon that the Bronchos will be outfitted from head to foot in new suits. Well, all I can say is Clarendon needs the suits and it is not suits that win football games. Notre Dame's backfield men wear silk pants and some of the other 'big time' football teams wear similar costumes, but even these big shots lose occasionally."

Well, as we remember it, one team to the east of Clarendon didn't burn up the sport pages of the papers with their torrid gridiron achievements last season. Thanks a lot though, William Russell, for associating our pet Bronchos with other teams of like ability—even though they do lose on rare occasions. It's fine to know other writers notice such ability.

Too bad Memphis won't be able to outfit their high winds in new uniforms this season—at least they would be good looking.

However, let's not lead ourselves to believe the Memphis Cyclones won't be represented by a pretty fair ball team. Here's what "On the Level" writes regarding the 1932 prospects:

"Charles Planery who will captain this year's squad is expected to turn in his very best season. He has the confidence of his team-mates. They believe in him and he believes in them. The team is going to 'click,' and when a team 'clicks,' that is the same thing as winning football games."

"There is no over-confidence in the Cyclone camp. The boys know they have a stiff schedule ahead of them. They know it is going to take work and more work if they go far, but every boy coming out for football this season is dead set on two things: first to do his individual best all the time; and second, to beat Clarendon."

"Clarendon stopped Memphis last season, but they didn't have a 'walkover' and they had better look to their laurels this year. Coach Walker is going to point to the game with Clarendon which will be played in Memphis on Armistice Day, November 11. It will be a sad day for the Donley County lads when they invade the Memphis stronghold."

And thanks again for tipping us off on what the Cyclones have set their minds to accomplish. Since the Bronchos won't have a chance on next Armistice Day, perhaps there won't be any one from Donley County attend but we are a bit inclined to take a chance if for no other reason than to see just how much better the Cyclones are than our own horses. Have one of your press seats dusted off, please, Russell, for my plans are already made to be a guest of the Democrat at the game.

But let's not commit the error Memphis is openly boasting she is practicing this season. We must remember there are other games on this season's schedule besides the Memphis encounter, and some of which promise to afford greater competition than the Memphis Cyclones. There are Wellington and Shamrock who must be met and defeated before the Memphis conflict. Wellington has been pointing to this season with a great deal of enthusiasm for more than a year and the Sky-rockets are bound to emerge from their indifferent slump of the past season or two with capable fighting machine on a par with their splendid elevens of 1925, '26 and '27. Shamrock, too, will have a team fully capable of affording their opposition a full hour of gridiron entertainment. Ten lettermen return to the Irish to afford the backbone of this year's Green and White entry.

Memphis must and will be beaten, but it's too early to begin pointing to this game—take them as they come and play every game like you were playing Memphis.

FAIR FOOTBALL GAMES

A total of 13 football games have been scheduled for the 1932 State Fair of Texas, which include 4 major college games and 9 high school football games. One college game—S. M. U. and Centenary College of Shreveport, will meet at night, Saturday, Oct. 22, the first time either school has played under lights. S. M. U. will also meet Rice Institute of Houston during the fair, and the other big game will be on the second Saturday between Texas University and Oklahoma University.

ADVERTISING DID IT

Here is what happened to fifty typical business men in the retail trade.

Because "times were dull" twenty-five of these business men cut out their newspaper advertising, and like the ostrich that buried its head in the sand they stood still.

The other twenty-five kept up their advertising, and increased their usual business "gait." Their sales stepped up from 20 to 38 per cent. Printers ink kept the "red ink" off their books.

The classical character described as a "chief among ye takin' notes" investigated the up-and-downs of the business men, and discovered that the twenty-five who advertised had concluded that inasmuch as the National Government was backing the whole Nation with its billions of dollars in resources that it was up to them to back their own communities and its institutions. So, they kept on going, as usual. It was Wordsworth who reminded us that the man of "cheerful yesterdays" always has his "confident to-morrows."

BUSINESS MAY VARY, BUT SERVICE, — NEVER

For a number of years this institution has adhered strictly to the policy that business trends and requirements might vary but that service to its customers and depositors should be maintained at a uniformly high standard. This includes: Properly trained and skilled personnel; fair and impartial treatment administered to all clients; to render unexcelled service—always; and to keep faith with customers, community and the banking profession.

"The Headlines screamed 'SHANGHAI' but the real war is HERE"

Floyd Gibbons

HELLO EVERYBODY: I'm just back from China. Plenty war there. Messed around with it for four months, from Manchurian madness to Shanghai slaughter.

They killed six thousand over there. That's the best estimate I can give. They wounded twenty thousand more. Men, Women and children. Mowed them down. Frightful.

But wait. What did I find out when I got back? Eight thousand had been killed. A quarter of a million injured. Right here in America. During the months I was gone. In automobile accidents!

This happened to my own kind. Men, women and children. No screaming headlines. No war correspondents. Just death. Maiming. Suffering.

Just too common to be news. This burned me up. Seeing women and children killed in China made me realize the awfulness of it here.

I stopped in Akron. There I found a tire manufacturer doing something about it. Goodrich. Goodrich was crusading for safety. Goodrich was developing more safety in tires.

You know, your tires are a sort of endless belt between your car and the road.

They carry the weight. They transmit the power. They do the braking. They do the steering.

No matter what kind of motor—brakes—steering gear you've got, it's up to the tires!

You send a car weighing maybe 2 tons along at 50 miles an hour, and a few square inches of rubber are your sole connection with the world—and safety. That's worth thinking about.

I certainly thought about it, when they showed me what they'd done at Goodrich. They've got a new tire. They worked three years to develop it. They call it the SAFETY Silvertown. They say it's the safest tire ever built. They convinced me.

I can't go into the details of their marvelous test machines—their manufacturing processes—their Silver Fleet that has covered 50 million miles testing tires. But I'll give you the climax.

I saw them drive a car on Safety Silvertowns around a sharp, wedge-shaped corner. The pavement was asphalt, and wet. The car went around that corner at 42 miles an hour.

It leared so, I thought it was going over. I saw puffs of steam come out from under those Safety Silvertowns as they clutched that wet, glassy pavement.

YET THEY DIDN'T SKID AN INCH!

I SAW THEM MOWED DOWN at Shanghai. Plenty bad, that stuff. War at its worst. But the greatest shock came when I got back. Found how many had been killed here. In peaceful America!

That car held its path like it was tied to it—running on rails. That's SAFETY! With thousands injured in skidding accidents every year, I want to say that Goodrich has done something BIG—SENSATIONAL.

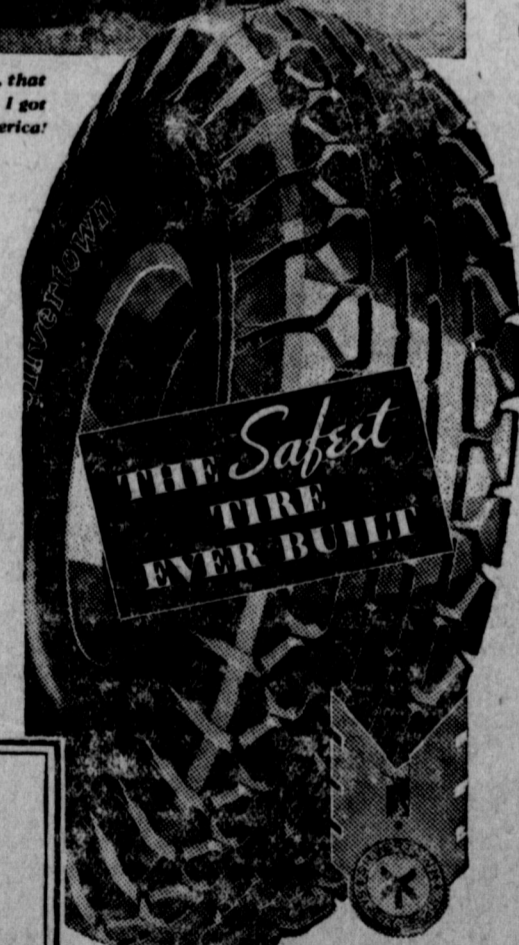

They told me out there in Akron that 57% of the cars now on the road have at least one tire that invites disaster.

Yet their new Safety Silvertown can be bought for a price that astonished me. It doesn't cost one cent more than any standard tire.

Peace negotiations stopped the killing in Shanghai. Goodrich engineers have at last put something into a tire that will reduce the highway slaughter.

It's the price of safety on the road. I'm for stopping the HIGHWAY SLAUGHTER. I'm for Safety Silvertowns—the tires which have scooted the scare out of the skid!

FINAL EVENT TO BRING POLITICAL GAME TO END

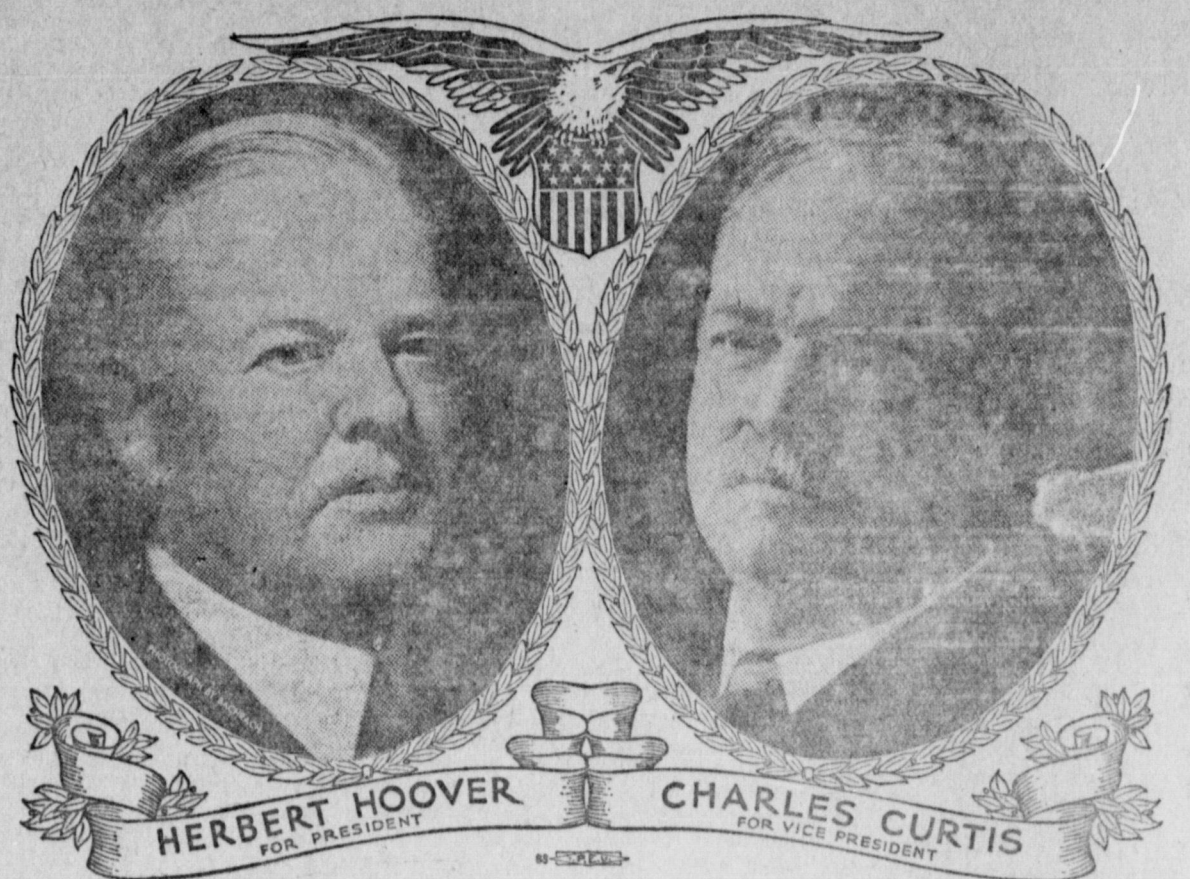

DEMOCRATS WILL MAKE MIGHTY EFFORT TO LIFT CROWN FROM DEFENDING CHAMPS

Ladies and Gentlemen! The main and final event on this year's political elimination schedule is about to take place. On the left we introduce the challenger, "Knock-Out" Roosevelt, chief hope of the Democratic Party, and his second, "Happy Jack" Garner.

(Applause from the bleary eyed and politically tired audience amid shouts of "Hooray for this" "Hooray for that!" Hooray for everything.)

The introduction continues, "And on the right, ladies and gents, we find none other than the defending champion, that darkest of all G. O. P. dark horses, "Kid" Herbert Hoover, pride of the Republican ring, and his veteran second from Kansas, Charlie Curtis."

REPUBLICAN STANDARD BEARERS

Bits Of WASHINGTON'S Current Comment

Special to The Clarendon News

During a presidential campaign, Washington is about as lively politically as a last year's bird's nest. Since no votes are to be gleaned in the District, both parties let the capital strictly alone, and its residents have to scan the outland papers for guidance in forming their political opinions. At the present moment, Washingtonians are in a quandary. It appears from the public print, that Mr. Roosevelt's first address made a mockery out of Mr. Hoover's pretensions, and also that Mr. Roosevelt's suggestions are abhorrent to all sensible persons; that worse could be said of Mr. Hoover, and that Mr. Roosevelt has never done anything himself; that the speech is the work of a poorly informed phrase maker, and that it is likewise a vigorous criticism of a decadent rite. Indeed, until both parties cut loose, Washington did not know either candidate had fallen so low. It seems that nothing can be done save to toss a coin, and abide by the result of the throw.

Although it is unbecoming to speak of one's own abilities, perhaps the District of Columbia is better fitted than any other territory in the land to pass with even-handed justice upon the merits of the prominent. Through its streets the great men come and go, busy in the conscientious discharge of their duties. When examined in the light of first-hand scrutiny, they appear to have neither halo nor horns. The writer recalls a deceased candidate for the presidential nomination, not of his own party, as a pleasant neighbor, incapable of perpetrating upon the country at large, through ignorance, prejudice or malice, a wrong which he would scorn to do. It is too bad that each voter cannot peer in a similar way, right into the life of every man who solicits his ballot. As a substitute for such an advantage, let it be recalled that the poet said that there are tongues in trees, sermons in stones, books in the running brooks, and good in everything.

Lady Agnew, of Oxford, England, advertises in a New York paper that she has a house to rent in her home town at $17.50 per week. Anyone who thinks that the English are not up and doing, has another guess coming. Moreover, if American newspapers can be relied upon by foreigners to consummate a long-range small-scale transaction, they should be used more extensively as advertising media by people living nearer the press room.

It is said that good citizens should have an interest in politics. If this means that the public is going to be let in on the split, the offer is generous and novel.

Over in Italy, Prof. Pickard has risen in a balloon to a height of about fifty-five thousand feet, thereby breaking a world's record. The mere figures are impressive, but may be made more forcible by illustration and example. The tip of Mt. McKinley in Alaska is the highest point within the territory of the United States. If it were possible to set one Mt. McKinley on top of another, Prof. Pickard would have cleared the towering mass by a distance greater than the height of Pike's Peak.

Trans-Atlantic fliers seem to be under the displeasure of the "god of bounds" referred to by Mr. Emerson, the deity who tells men how far they can go in their endeavors. Once was enough for Col. Lindbergh, and Mr. Mollison, who has crossed recently from east to west, admits that the passage was "very difficult indeed". The god of bounds is likely to retain forever a portion of his power. No one can play the fiddle at sight, and not everyone can be a sculptor; yet Science has trimmed the prerogatives of other idols, and so far as trans-Atlantic flying is concerned, boundaries which none can pass today with certain safety, may sometime become as harmless as Mason and Dixon's line.

A food specialist states that growing offspring should have a mid-afternoon repast. A doctor and a mid-afternoon repast is not exactly the picture that rises before the eye of a middle aged parent. The figure that he sees, with a tinge of regret that the past cannot be recalled, is the figure of a vanished child, calling: "Ma, kin I have some grub?"

As an average, income tax

(Amid the uproarious applause of a couple of pairs of hand claps and six or seven flocks of black, blase a weary nation slumps into its comfortable seat of depression while the bell rings and sends each party candidate at each others throat proving the other one's the biggest liar and is the only cause of the depression and the Chicago Fire and hollering, "I'm goin' to win, don't listen to 'im, he's a crook.")

All this ladies and gentlemen, is the opening of the ferocious battle between those two noble all-American organizations of the political realm which stage every four years the most thrilling receipts this year were 43 per cent below those of 1930. Alaska with a drop of about 8 per cent made the best showing. Colorado was hit hardest, reporting a falling off of 66 per cent. The District of Columbia, supposed to be beyond the reach of money troubles, was close to the average, the tax gleanings there being 41 per cent short. India, New York, Rhode Island, West Virginia and Wisconsin reflect the general state of reduced incomes, those states returning the average mark of 43 per cent.

ring battles anywhere in the world. Each of the contestants have been primed for whatever attack and counter attack the opposition may throw their way. The board of strategy of both parties are ready and each candidate has called off the vacation bug and are running here to explain charges made by the other and snatching a clean shirt and handkerchief as they pass home to run there to launch counter charges against the integrity of the Republican and Democratic good names, if such there be.

Which brings us down to the records of the two brainy and brawny party chieftans. Mr. Roosevelt, the dashing challenger, holds a brilliant decision a short time ago in Chicago over the old veteran Alfred E. Smith— which means something in the neighborhood of exactly nothing as the champion Hoover also credited with a knock-out over the Tammany Hall fighter, in the championship event in 1923, thus giving Mr. Smith the title of the worlds most consistent runner-up since the days of the late W. J. Bryan. Of course Roosevelt is the winner in the controversy against Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York, but on the other hand Hoover holds a close decision over the bonus marchers and is about to be declared winner over the tough old boy, affectionately known in local circles as the depression.

All-in-all folks it looks like a great time until the bell rings in November bringing to a climax the series of worthy preliminary events put on in July and August by the Democratic side shows Inc., featuring the precinct, county, district and state scuffles. "Hooray for this! Hooray for that! Hooray for everything!"

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hudgins of Amarillo spent the latter part of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Blanks.

ices in the Oliver Eble Building, Amarillo. "For five years I was a sales manager for auto supplies and came to know people from Boise City, Okla., to Seagraves, from Clayton to Carlsbad, N. M., but with the volume of business this company is doing I am meeting more people than ever," Kenniston said. "This is the most interesting work of my career," he added. "The All-American Life Insurance Company has stockholders all over this section of the country and its business expansion is a marvel to me." Kenniston explained the company, which underwrites old line legal reserve insurance, furnished a campaign for new business, August 15— five days after he was appointed. "The company set a quota of $150,000 in 30 days, but in half that time it was doubled," he said. "The campaign, named in honor of Mrs. W. T. Coble, general manager and supervisor, is producing results typical of the company's business, which began in May of 1931 with only $209,139 insurance in force and now is rapidly nearing the $3,000,000 mark." The All-American Life Insurance Company secured approval of a 15 per cent capitalization increase and is expanding by the proverbial leaps and bounds, Kenniston said.

What The Railroads Have Meant to the Texas Panhandle

Railroads' Colonization and Advertising Efforts Largely Responsible for the Remarkable Development of This Rich and Fertile Country.

By W. C. MAXWELL
Superintendent of Schools, Hedley Texas

The early history of the towns of the Texas Panhandle, in the eighties and nineties, might be written in the terms of railroads. The industrial and agricultural development of the Plains was dependent upon transportation, of which, during the early development of this region, the major part was furnished by the common carriers. Water transportation in the Panhandle of Texas was only an illusion, and the day of the motor vehicle had not arrived, so it was the iron horse that promoted the settlement of unoccupied regions of northwest Texas.

The influence of the railroads on Amarillo, the capital city of the Plains, has been incomparably great, not merely in the rise of one city, but in a large sense in the development of the entire Panhandle. The commercial forces which they generated have aided in building up the wealth of the Panhandle.

To the railroads more than to any other force the little villages of the Plains of Texas owe their growth and importance. During the early history of these little hamlets the building of railroads was foremost in the minds of the people. They took it seriously. Frequently mass meetings were held to which delegates would sometimes travel hundreds of miles. At church on Sundays, at office and at the court house the cattle round-ups, at the post all important discussion was railroads.

The people had reason for taking the matter seriously. The land owner could fore-see the possibility of his land increasing in value many fold with the advent of a railroad, and to towns the securing of steel rails, or the failure thereof, often was a matter of life or death.

When the Fort Worth and Denver missed Tascosa a mile or more the town died completely. Previously it had a splendid prospect of being the capital city of the Panhandle. If the citizens of that section wanted to see an "electric light, or talk over a telephone" they were forced to go to Tascosa because at that time no other Panhandle town had them. Mobettie, which had been a lively trading point from the days of the buffalo hunters, met the same calamity.

So it is easy to see why the settlers of the Panhandle became railroad minded. In fact, the coming of the railroad constituted a west Texas movement within itself.

Santa Fe Railway of the Panhandle

The Fort Worth and Denver was the first railroad to run through Potter County, thereby furnishing transportation for the little hamlet of Amarillo and keeping the thriving little village in touch with the outside world. Still it was the Santa Fe Railway that sealed the question of Amarillo's supremacy as the commercial center of the Panhandle of Texas.

The Santa Fe line in the Panhandle of Texas, as we know it today, was first chartered to run from Ft. Worth to the west line of Parmer County. On Nov.

2, 1886, it was chartered as the Southern Kansas Railway Company of Texas, and in 1887 was built from the Oklahoma line near Higgins to Panhandle, one hundred fifteen miles. Soon the Ft. Worth and Denver interest built the Panhandle Railway, fourteen miles, from Washburn to connect with the Southern Kansas at Panhandle City. Trains used the Denver track from Washburn to Amarillo until 1908, when a cut-off was built from Panhandle to Amarillo to connect with the Pecos Valley System, which was completed, soon after, extending three hundred and seventy miles beyond Amarillo to Pecos, via the Pecos Valley.

In 1914 the title Southern Kansas Railway Company of Texas was changed to Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway Company. For convenience in operation the Panhandle and Santa Fe leased the auxiliary lines, operating them as one road as follows: North Texas and Santa Fe from Shuttuck, Okla.; The Clinton Oklahoma and Western to Pampa; the Skellytown and Borger branches; which included the main line from the Pecos and Northern Texas, Amarillo to Texico, the line from Canyon to Lubbock, Floydada Branch; and the line to Coleman, Tex. The headquarters of the Panhandle and Santa Fe are at Amarillo.

When oil developed in the Panhandle the Santa Fe promptly built seventy-three miles of track between Canyon and Pampa. This was a second track and enabled the road to move any amount of traffic promptly, thus rushing the oil development in the Panhandle oil fields.

Colonization Work of the Railroads

The story of the colonization of the Panhandle is not altogether the story of fearless men pushing at random into an uncharted country, or of bands of settlers traveling in covered-wagon trains, desperately withstanding one dire calamity after another. It is also the story of settlers from older states, moving in comfortable trains, undisturbed by spectacular adventure into the plains, as some of the land which they penetrated already was surveyed and partially settled. This group of settlers sought new homes where the railroad led them.

The Santa Fe, Rock Island, and Fort Worth and Denver railroads encouraged and directed definite colonization programs in order to make their existence on a profitable basis.

The stream of population that flowed into the Panhandle in the eighties and nineties was partly due to the natural consequence of the mere fact of the construction of the railroads, but it was more largely the result of the strenuous efforts put forth by the railroads themselves.

Advertising was used, and agencies were organized to aid immigrants to reach their destination. Numerous pamphlets were issued by the colonization agencies of the roads to remove the idea from the minds of the people that the Panhandle region was a desert. The following is paragraph from a pamphlet, "The Texas Panhandle," issued under auspices of the Santa Fe, Rock Island, and Fort Worth and Denver colonization agencies:

"None of the Panhandle is a desert, any more than is central or Western Kansas or Nebraska. It is a region that is described by the old frontiersman's term 'High Plains.' It is sprinkled all over now with towns and settlements of white men. There are four lines of railroads traversing the country in all directions. The Indian and buffalo are things of the past and the cowboy has departed. . . ."

In regard to the water supply, the following paragraph is interesting:

"The cattlemen of the early times looked carefully to the natural water supply, necessarily given by streams, ponds or 'tanks'. There are now raised in this country thousands of cattle who have never seen a creek. This is due to a discovery of a water sheet, and it means that there is an inexhaustible supply of pure water underlying all the Panhandle."

A magazine published by the Santa Fe System, The Earth, advertised the Panhandle not only as a cattle country but as an ideal country for settlers. In October, 1905, the following is to be found in the publication:

"Property rights are highly respected in the Panhandle, and the citizens are law-abiding. No man can steal and live in the Panhandle. It is unpopular to go on the bond of a thief, especially a horse or cattle thief. They never think of locking their doors."

At the dawn of the twentieth century "dry farming" was actively advocated and agitated throughout the Plains region. A series of about ten years or more of more than average rainfall attracted much attention to the agricultural possibilities of the Panhandle Plains country. Home-seekers flocked into the territory and large tracts of pasture lands were placed on the market. Grain sorghums were introduced and proved better adapted than corn.

In 1910 the Santa Fe placed a representative in the field with the title of agricultural demonstrator who studied "dry farming" in New Mexico. In 1910 an agricultural agent of the Santa Fe was stationed in Amarillo. In 1913 five men were working out of Amarillo in agricultural demonstration work. Tests and experiments were carried on, and one of the outstanding results of these tests was the introduction of the "Santa Fe" Dwarf Blackhull Kafir.

The Railroads' Contribution
The coming of the railroads, their advertising and colonization had a profound influence upon the population of the counties of the Panhandle through which they built. Potter County, which had only 288 inhabitants in 1880, had a population of 12,424 in 1910, and by 1925 the number had increased to 32,000. Randall County, with only three inhabitants according to the U. S. census of 1880, had a total of 3,312 by 1910. Childress County, with only twenty-five inhabitants according to census reports of 1880, could boast of a citizenship totaling 1,175 by 1890.

From 1880 to 1890 eighty counties out of 154 in west Texas had railroads built across them. No county at the end of the decade was more than a hundred miles from a railroad; however, it often was further to a trading point. Within twenty years after the first railroad entered west Texas, approximately 3,300 miles of road had been built, the population had increased from 301,795 to 718,638, and land values had increased fourfold.

Beyond a doubt the railroads have played the leading role in the development of the Panhandle. However, many citizens have partially forgot what they have done for the settler and how materially they have contributed toward the development of the country.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS LONGHORNS HAVE POWER

Austin, Sept. 7.—Twenty-two lettermen, 14 of them seniors, will be among the 70-odd University of Texas gridgers who will report to Coach Clyde Littlefield at the opening of the Southwest Conference training season Sept. 10. One center, six guards, five tackles, four ends, and six back comprise the battery of returning veterans.

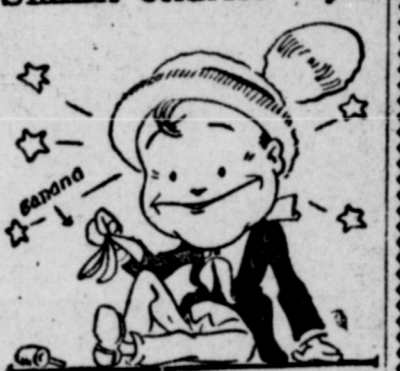

Because of the demand for space for county exhibits at the 1932 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23, arrangements have been made in the agricultural building to care for thirty additional counties wishing to show. The entire farm show will be held this year on the first floor of the Agriculture Building, and the balcony will be given over to the Texas Museum of Natural History, which organization is planning a huge exhibit for the 46th Annual State Fair of Texas.

Miss Elizabeth McMinn, Miss Louise McMinn, and Jim Williams of Ft. Worth were the week end visitors of Miss Mary Travis Dyer.

Mail was transported by a rocket for the first time recently when a shell containing 300 letters was shot from the top of the Hoch-Trotsch mountain to Semriach, Austria, a distance of a mile and a quarter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kutch of Wellington are visiting in the home of his father, S. B. Kutch of this city.

"S' easy enough' be courageous n' bear lots o' pain- if's th' other feller that's got it --"

THE RACE BEGINS

President Hoover has been officially informed that he was nominated by the Republicans. Governor Roosevelt flew out to Chicago and lost no time in finding out from the Democratic National convention about his own nomination. For several weeks the National committees have been setting up their machinery, and soon the air will be filled with political information to inform the voters how they should vote.

It is expected that President Hoover and Governor Roosevelt will make speeches in different parts of the country during the campaign. Likely the President will not go West, but Governor Roosevelt may get beyond the Mississippi.

ROUGH RIDER MYTH

Probably 99 persons out of 100 who have read or heard of the famous Roosevelt Rough Riders of the Spanish-American War believe that those ambitious troopers charged up San Juan Hill on horseback, booted and spurred, sabers waving in the air.

A writer in a recent magazine graphically portrayed their exploit as that of "500 men on horseback standing in their stirrups and galloping along, shouting to one another like polo players."

The truth is that the Rough Riders marched and fought on foot in Cuba, as did other Cavalry regiments, their horses having been left behind when they sailed from the United States.

Due to Roosevelt's vivid personality and the large amount of publicity given newspaper men, the Rough Riders received the lion's share of credit for the victory at Santiago, a share far greater than was their just due.

That they were brave men and good fighters, none will deny, but they were in that respect no different from other troopers, some of whom received scant attention in the dispatches. The Rough Riders did no riding, rough or otherwise, in Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hallmark and young daughter, Nancy, visited relatives in Clarendon Sunday.
