Finances Of County In Sound Condition

City Taxes Voluntarily Reduced More Than $5,000.00

BANKS SHOWING TREND OF TIMES

POSITIONS CONTINUE STRONG DESPITE CONTINUED DE- PRESSION

Despite the fact that conditions have never been worse than they are at present time and despite the fact that the outlook seems rather gloomy, the financial institutions of Donley County are standing up well under the buffeting and their statements issued as at the close of business on June 30th will compare rather favorably with other statements issued on the same date of call in other years.

A spirit of conservatism has found its way into the offices of all institutions with the result that the Loans and discounts have fallen rather by the way. In Clarendon alone, the three banks show a total of $750,867.14 in this item, when they showed a sum of $769,204.94 at the call of March 30th. To the first mentioned sum will be added $133,936.55 in the Hedley bank to bring the total for the county to $884,803.69.

In the cash columns the same effect may be seen. The three local banks show that they are holding a total of $257,534.08 in this space, with $13,966.00 in the bank at Hedley to bring the grand total here to $271,500.08. In March of this year this figure had dropped to $150,209.10 for the three Clarendon banks. In 1930, the figures showed to a considerably better degree with $422,299.70 set aside in the columns given for this working of the bank's accounts.

One of the strangest findings shown in the statement issued at this time is the fact that deposits have shown a gain rather than a loss as might have been expected. At the March call this figure stood at $778,900.72 for the Clarendon banks, while the same figures for the June statement will show an amount of $843,148.93. To the latter named figure is added a sum of $79,716.99 to be added as coming from the Hedley bank to bring the grand total to $922,865.92 for the county. This is quite naturally some loss from the statement of June 30, but not so great as might have been expected at first thought. The statements at the call of June 30, 1930 showed the county to have a total of $1,278,232.85 in the deposits side of the ledger.

FREAK EGGS BROUGHT INTO NEWS OFFICE

Two eggs that might be termed "Freaks" were brought into the News office this morning by Mrs. Inez McGlamery. Both were secured on the same day this week and both are products of city life by the hens who produced them. One was a clearly defined "C" on the end and the other has an equally clearly defined "S". Not content with the mere production of the hen fruit, these hens have evidently absorbed some of the literary culture found in Clarendon and have shown their advancement by placing these letters on their product. One of them had evidently proceeded further in her studies than the other as may be seen by the position of the letters of the alphabet on the eggs. The hens are on the home place of Mrs. H. D. Hott of this city, where Mrs. McGlamery makes her home.

LIONS HOST TO GROUP MEETING

FOUR CLUBS REPRESENTED ASIDE FROM LOCAL ORGANIZATION

With one of the peppiest sessions of the Lions from this group yet recorded, the election of officers for the group for the coming twelve months was attended Tuesday of this week by representatives of five Lions Clubs in the territory adjacent to Clarendon. At the same meeting Amavillo was chosen as the meeting place for the next meeting, the date being set as October 20th, Tuesday.

Immediately preceding the business session, the routine matters pertaining to the work of the Clarendon Lions was attended, before the meeting was turned to Lion W. A. Warner of Claude.

Mrs. G. L. Boykin and Miss Delphia Bones furnished the music at the beginning of the meal and later gave one selection much to the pleasure of the lions. They also played for the stunts, "Going to Jerusalem," which was used to stir the membership and get them into a frame of mind calculated to make them settle their meals and enjoy the business session that followed.

Presentation of the Past President's lapel button was made to Past President Fred W. Rathjen by Lion J. R. Porter, who complimented the Lion on the record set by the club in the year just past. Many things were done to lend prestige to the monetary end of the club's activities. Lion Rathjen received the gift in his usual pleasing manner.

A letter from Drs. Streit and Killough of Amarillo was read, extending their thanks for a recent letter and expressing their willingness to be of service should the need again arise. A telegram was also read from Lion Braswell in Toronto, announcing their safe arrival and telling that many visitors were at the convention.

CHENAUT STORE IS PUR- CHASED BY LITTLE FRIDAY

T. M. Little bid in the stock of merchandise and the fixtures of the Chenault store of this city last Friday when this place of business was sold at auction. Competition was quite keen in the bidding as there were several who wished the place of business. It is understood that the price brought was some more than expected although it brought a little more than fifty cents on the dollar as was invoiced. The store is to be opened in the near future and it is possible that Milus Little will be brought here to operate the new place of business. Definite plans have not been announced for the operation of the business.

Business Men To Meet Tuesday Eve.

The regular monthly meeting of the Retail Merchant's Credit Association is to be held next Tuesday evening in the Anstro Hotel. The usual charge of fifty cents per plate will be made and the meeting will be opened at 7:15 instead of at 6:30 as has been the case before this time.

A special program is being arranged and some interesting discussions will be had on the subjects that are of great interest to all the membership. A committee has been named to visit the members and all others interested in this association and every effort will be made to hold a large attendance.

KICUWA TROOP ON AIR SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Kicuwa Troop of the local Camp Fire organization will have a half-hour program over the air on Saturday evening of this week. Station KGRS of Amarillo has allowed these young ladies their privilege and has granted them the half-hour beginning at 4:00 p. m. Radio fans will derive much pleasure from this program and are invited to listen for it at the hour mentioned. At the late hour the notice was received, no program had been arranged so this part could not be given its due share of publicity.

RIFLE CLUB IS FORMED IN CITY

AFFILIATION MADE WITH NATIONAL ASSOCIATION. RANGE TO BE CHOSEN

With the advent of the late shipment of rifles consigned to the American Legion Post of this city, interest has so risen in the sport of rifle shooting that a local group of men have formed themselves into the Clarendon Rifle Club and have completed affiliation with the National Rifle Association.

The first meeting of the local club was held Saturday evening and a full corps of officers was selected. Clyde Price was named President; Clinton Henry was chosen for Vice President; Chas. B. Trent will act in the capacity of Executive Officer; G. L. Boykin will serve as Publicity officer; Dr. O. L. Jenkins will fill the office of Treasurer and W. A. Clark, Jr., is to be the secretary for the newly formed organization.

A very small portion of local sportsmen were seen before the organization was completed and the membership continues to be open to all of those who are interested in the sport of rifle shooting. One type of arm will be used for the present, with capable instructors in charge of the teaching. A range is to be secured that is applicable to rifles and small arms, so that all branches of fire may be enjoyed at the discretion of the membership.

The initial charge for membership is small, and entitles the member to all privileges of the organization. Others who are interested may enlist themselves in the organization by seeing any of the above named officials or any of the membership of the club.

The charter membership of the club is as follows: C. J. Douglas, Meade Halle, P. B. Gentry, J. R. Porter, Dr. C. G. Stricklin, Rolle Brumley, Ernest Hunt, Joe Goldston, C. E. Batten, Guy Pierce, Cloe Emerson, Barends Antrobus, Sam Dyer, Joe Ritter, Walter Wilson, Clarence Miller, Ernest Pope, and Walter Clifford.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mears and family left the latter part of last week for Lubbock for a visit in the home of Mr. Mears' parents.

John C. Knorpp of Long Beach, California, arrived in Clarendon the first of last week to spend the summer with his father, Mr. Wesley Knorpp. Walter B. Knorpp of the same city arrived some two weeks previously and will also spend the summer here with his father.

WOMAN'S CLUB IN- STALLS OFFICIALS

BUSY MEETING SPENT IN REGULAR MEETING TUES- DAY OF THIS WEEK

Officers for the Business and Professional Women's Club were put in their places Tuesday evening of this week to serve for the coming year. Mrs. B. G. Smith presided for the installation, later giving up her chair to the incoming President, Miss Norma Rhode, while she made her final address as official leader of the organization. Appreciation for the assistance rendered during the past year was given and hope for a continuation was expressed.

Discussion of the year book for the coming year was had during the business session, along with a presentation of the Camp Fire Girls dining hall project which received the support of the club and also a contribution of $10.00 for the work in hand.

Officials installed Tuesday of this week will include: Miss Norma Rhode, President; Miss Norma Graves, First Vice President; Miss Rhoda Wiedman, Second Vice President; Mrs. Mae Shaver, Corresponding Secretary; Miss Eva Lee Morrison, Treasurer; Miss Gwendolyn Couch, Recording Secretary; Miss Rhoda Wiedman, Pianist; Mrs. B. G. Smith, Historian and Miss Lotie E. Lane, Parliamentarian.

EXTRA-EXTRA GIRL'S MESS HALL INSURED THIS WEEK

STRUCTURE TO BE STARTED IMMEDIATELY. FUNDS IN HAND

Plans started last week for the work toward erecting a permanent mess hall for the Camp Fire Girls of this city have come to the stage where they are assured of the building in the very near future. All the service clubs of the city have thrown their efforts toward the erection of the building, each of them showing that they were glad to have an opportunity to help in a worthy cause of this sort.

As planned, the building is to be twelve by thirty feet, built of stone to a waistcoat height and finished with lumber from that point the remainder of the distance. Plenty of windows are to be provided for ventilation and the entire South side is to be provided with shutters to allow them to be raised and thus provide additional shade.

Work is to be started in the immediate future, with a great lot of the work having been promised. Some additional help is to be needed in this line and those wishing to help are asked to notify Miss Lorena Steagall when they wish to work and how long they will work on the house. John Bass and Andis Brothers have promised to do the hauling and John Bass, R. L. Steagall, Raeburn Steagall, H. Gorman, S. B. Arnold, and P. O. Wood have promised to work on the building.

John Bass has promised windows, a door and part of the rafters. Merchant Gordon and Bain have promised the lumber for the sheathing and the window frames. Watson and Antrobus are furnishing the nails and other hardware needed in the construction of the building. A. L. Chase will give the girls a barrel fitted with grate for use as an incinerator and has also given them a barrel in which to place their discarded cans after they have been emptied.

PANHANDLE BAPTIST WORKERS' CONFERENCE

The Panhandle Baptist Workers' Conference met with the First Baptist Church of Memphis, Tuesday, in a very spiritual meeting with the program on the subject "Prayer."

After several splendid talks on prayer, the address of the morning was brought by Dr. J. J. Kellam, field representative of Buckner Orphans Home, presenting the work and needs of the Home. An offering was taken to help in the stressful conditions they are facing.

Clarendon was represented by Dr. Kellam, Rev. B. N. Shepherd, Mr. O. C. Watson, Mesdames Wm. Gray, T. M. Couch, A. W. Simpson, L. L. Cornelius, Leona Richardson, Edith Vinson, Misses Thelma Reid, Lola Barnes, Sara Thompson, Ruth Thompson.

New Bridge Ok'd By Commissioners Court

The traveling public between Hedley and McLean will soon have a bridge over which they may cross the Salt Fork of the Red River. This comes from an announcement released by the Donley County commissioner's court which met Monday of this week in regular session. Minutes of the session read: "Motion by G. W. Beck and seconded by S. E. Harris that Donley County proceed to advertise for bids to build a bridge of wood piling across Salt Fork of Red River on road from Hedley to McLean at or near where said road now crosses said river. Same to be paid for by time warrants to be issued by the county serially from one to twenty years. (5 per cent interest payable annually as it occurs.)"

The structure will cost somewhere in the vicinity of $20,000 it is believed, and will increase the ease in which the travel between these points are made.

The hospital lease contract was brought up for discussion and was approved with amendments on motion of Roy Beverly. The motion carried with only one dissenting vote—that by Commissioner Les Hawkins of Hedley. The purchase of oil burners for the court house was also discussed by the commissioners. Final action was deferred until a later meeting of the court.

Next meeting of the group will be this Friday, July 17.

ROTARIANS ENTER- TAIN PHYSICIANS

ROTARY CLUB DONATES $10. TO CAMP FIRE GIRLS' MESS HALL

The presence of a number of visiting physicians tended to enliven the program of the Clarendon Rotary Club last Friday at their regular luncheon period. The visiting doctors were Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Killough of Amarillo, Drs. Hyder, Hennen, Odom, Ballew and Stubblefield of Memphis, Dr. Jeter of Childress and Drs. T. H. Ellis and M. L. Stricklin of Clarendon. Mrs. Ruth Teat, manager of the Adair hospital here also was in attendance. The above doctors were in the city attending the sessions of the Five County Medical Association.

Interesting speeches were made by Drs. Jeter, Ballew and Killough, and were well received by the members present.

Rotarian Robert S. Cope and Rotary Ann Rhoda Wiedman were in charge of the musical program for the luncheon period and conducted their part to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Plans of the proposed mess hall at the Camp Fire Girls new camp site was presented before the club and a donation of $10.00 was voted the project by those present.

WELFARE HOME VISITORS IN CLARENDON SATURDAY

Miss Blanche Welch, representative of the Volunteers of America was in the city last Saturday, making her annual trip here for the purpose of soliciting funds for the home this organization is operating in Fort Worth. Miss Welch works with the office of the Business Men's Association and as such is one of the only workers who makes this city. While in the city Miss Welch stated that the home was finding it very difficult to get over this year although they had succeeded thus far in the year. Fifteen babies are in the home at the present time, all of them seeking a home for themselves.

ITINERARY FOR TOUR BEGINNING ON MONDAY

Miss Martha Buttrill has further announced the route to be taken in the County Home Demonstration Club's tour to the various homes as announced in the last issue of the News. The tour will start from Ashola at 8:30 Monday morning. The first home to be visited is that of Mrs. J. D. Moss. From this place the party will make a trip to the home of Mrs. J. A. Pool in the Martin community. The Clarendon Club will serve lunch at the home of Mrs. Katie Meaders, winner of the Class M Living Room Contest at noon. In the afternoon the trippers will visit Mrs. C. E. Lindsey at Clarendon; Mrs. C. Knox at Lelia Lake and Mrs. Ross Adamson at Hedley. While the party is in Ashola, before starting on the trip of the day, a side trip is planned to the poultry yard of Mrs. Pit Holley.

Bob Boston, who was operated on last Friday evening for an attack of appendicitis, is resting nicely in the County hospital and is rapidly recovering from the operation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wallace and daughter, Miss Lois, spent Monday in Happy attending to business matters.

All the work in mind for this year.

The interest of the girls in selling tickets was increased by offering a prize of expenses for the summer camp. This prize was won by Miss Mary Travis Dyer, who sold tickets in the sum of $22.80. Miss Willie Maude Pratt was runner-up with a sale of $11.60. La Verne McMurtry sold $7.90; Vivian Taylor sold $7.90; Berkely Ryan sold $6.50; Helen Louise Greene sold $5.20 and Rosalyn Bass sold $5.00. All the members of the various groups worked hard and faithfully, those listed above being the members who sold more than $5.00 in tickets.

CITY'S TAXES REDUCED HERE

CITY POLL TAX TEMPORARILY DISCONTINUED—EF- FECTIVE THIS FEBRUARY

The total of the city's taxes will be deficient to the amount of approximately $5,000 this fall due to the decision made by the city commission in a meeting last Wednesday. The shortage will be found to be largely responsible to the discontinuance of the city poll tax which has been paid in former years. This move was taken by the city in an effort to ease the tax payers of the city over this year's condition without too much of an inconvenience.

This reduction will be supplemented by the 10 per cent decrease in property valuation made by the City Equalization Board a short time past. The city tax rate of $1.26 still remains in tact through the next year however. Most of the property in the city was benefitted by the Board's reduction.

LOCAL GOLFERS WHIP AMARILLO

HILLCROFT PLAYERS NOSE OUT VISITORS SUNDAY

The Clarendon golfers evened up the series with the Amarillo players on the local course Sunday when they nosed the Hill Crest members out by a lone match to take the lead with 17 matches won against 15 lost. Thirty-four matches were played during the afternoon with one being tied at the end of the eighteen.

The day's festivities started off in grand style with the Amarillo visitors and their ladies as guests of the local club at a big chicken dinner served at the Clarendon Hotel.

Never has there been so many visitors invade Clarendon for a match, and the unprecedented number all but whipped the local shooters. Calls were made for every golfer or ex-golfer in the county to fill out the matches with the Amarillo crew. Even though they lost the visitors had the distinction of knocking down the best score for the afternoon's play when Elliott Hatch, Amarillo city Champ, finished up with a nifty 68, four under par. In shooting this he dusted off Merchant, local champ by a score of 6 and 3. Al Cooke played wonderful golf to post a 69 for his efforts, he beat George Westbrook 8 and 7.

Other matches and their outcome were:

FAITH

Don't become too excited or troubled over the apparent chaotic condition as evidenced by our friends—the American people. We recall for the moment, President Lincoln's reply to some gentlemen from the West, who called on him in protest of some shortsightedness of the government. Mr. Lincoln heard them patiently and then replied, "Gentlemen, suppose all the property you were worth was in gold, and you have put it in the hands of Blondin to carry across Niagara River on a rope; would you shake the cable, or keep shouting to him—'Blondin, stand up a little straighter; go a little faster; lean a little more to the north; turn a little more to the south' No, you will hold your breath as well as your tongue and keep your hands off until he was safely over."

The people of our wealthy country are now carrying an immense weight. They are all doing the very best they can. Let's you and I, too, take a part and help relieve this oppressive load. Have faith—keep silent—and we'll all get across safely.—Angles of Business, Chicago.

HEALING DIVERSIONS

From every corner of the nation comes reports of sand-lot baseball, golf play, swimming, archery, polo, etc., in a greater abundance this summer than in many years. The people of the nation are devising their own diversions at home and entering heartily into them.

For many years it seemed that sand-lot baseball to amateur play was almost a thing of the past, but this year the boys have been turning to the diamond with renewed interest. And something may be said for the urge among the people to provide their community recreation at little or no expense.

This is one of the sure signs of returning normalcy in the country, and if our people will work as they play, it won't be long until everything will be rosy in business circles of America.

Now, if in addition to their play, the American people will begin to sing—if the masses will also turn to prayer, happiness will encircle the nation and all will be well with the world.

JUST TAKING CHANCES

He was a little man, feeble with age, halt with disease. Four miles away from the nearest postoffice he resided, and his means of transportation were limited. In fact, he had none, save when he picked up a ride with some passerby.

The weather was getting warm. The Rural Letter Carrier stopped at his mail box, deposited a letter and went his way.

Down to the box trudged the little man and there he found a very official looking letter with a very high sounding name printed in the corner of the envelope. He trudged back to the house. Opening the letter he found a six page missive, the like of which has never yet filled the pages of the most fascinating literature.

It told of millions to be made from just a pittance of an investment. Oil had been struck on the adjoining holdings. A gusher had come in there and was at that very moment roaring in flames as millions of dollars in oil and gas were being consumed. Then the exciting fight to cap the burning torch, and what was taking place on the land adjoining!

Machinery was being rushed in. Drills were hammering away, and in a day or two another big well would be added to the list of money makers to those who took advantage of this opportunity to invest at only $5 a share.

The party to whom the letter was addressed was one of only a few who had been selected to reap the rich harvest. He could get in on the ground floor. The time limit for selling stock had been set at midnight only a few days from the date of the letter. If he wanted to be rich, opportunity was knocking at his door.

Here was his opportunity to rest easy in the declining years of his life. The time was short. He could not risk the mails. He must take advantage of this chance now. He made his way after reaching town to the telegraph office. There he hastily wrote a message to the oil company.

He handed the operator a bill and in a few minutes the oil well promoter sitting in a fine office got a message with a check for cash. He smiled as he listed another victim, and the little old man trudged back home with dreams of a neat bank account soon, and the satisfaction that he too, shortly, would be listed with the countryside's well-to-do.

Maby he will, but the odds are a long way against him, and there will be others who will do just as he did, and then possibly after a time, they will get a notice that the well project failed and the money is all gone.—Star, Elkton, Maryland.

CITIZENSHIP THOUGHTS FOR THE DAY

Honest men are those who pay debts which the law cannot collect.

The citizen who expects to die like a beast will live like one.

Falsehoods are sometimes fleet, but never sure-footed.

Worry kills more people than wars.

The world does not return upon its path, nor reproduces its past.

A vocation lost is a prelude to a fall.

It takes more courage to endure than to act.

True patriotism makes those who have been vicious strive to continually control themselves.

Without competition we would be clinging to the clumsy and antiquated processes of farming and manufacture and the methods of business of long ago. But though commercial competitors we are commercial enemies we must not be.

The licentious press is a source of evil.

To be free is to live under a government by law.

This nation must not repose in fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing. A system that provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly essential to healthful growth.

Labor troubles are often caused by leaders who are trying to live without work.

The man who is satisfied with himself is a failure to be pitied.

The playfulness of our people sometimes result in them being unjustly accused in handling serious and sacred subjects; but humor is a safer sign of strong convictions and perfect sanity than is guarded solemnity.

The man who makes a business of drinking will soon drink for business.

The American people have been educated rapidly; and the man who says that he has learned nothing, that he stands now where he did six years ago, is like an old man who has been on the side of a deserted highway.

SWEETER POSTAGE STAMPS

The United States Government spends several million dollars a year in buying a low grade of starch obtained from the cassava plant grown in Java and Cuba. It is the same plant that yields tapioca and other foods. This starch is used to make the "licking" for postage stamps and envelopes. Experiments are being conducted on behalf of the Government in an effort to make use of sweet potatoes as a source from which to obtain a tasteless dextrin to take the place of the starch heretofore used on stamps.

George Parker, President of the Parker Pen Company, says:

That people nowadays have got away to an extent from the old-fashioned idea that you must give a dollar's worth of work for a dollar's worth of pay.

In my judgement there are too many people wasting too much time thinking they can find a short-cut to wealth that somebody else has overlooked.

It is also my judgment that real material success in this world comes from a well thought out program, hard work, willingness to take punishment, quick recovery from defeat, and profiting by such defeat so that an error of the same kind will not be made the second time.

In the city in which I live and in the business of which I am the head, frequently the remark is made, "How does it come that you made a success of your business while others who tried to imitate your success have failed by the roadside?" One reason is because I have been in business for more than thirty-five years.

I did not expect to cash in on big dividends or get rich in a year, or two years or even ten years. It was a case of constantly keeping at it, taking a lot of pleasure and enjoyment out of my work, and in the early days of my business vacation was not in my vocabulary. Each day brought something new and it was a perpetual pleasure.

Naturally, under these circumstances, my business has grown until it has become one of the largest of its kind in the world. The formula to bring this about, however, there has been no magic, but plenty of luck. The luck, however, consists in hard work and fairly well directed efforts.

Any young man with average intelligence and plenty of "stick-to-itiveness" can do likewise.

C. M. Bartlett, managing Editor of the Miami (Oklahoma) News-Record, says:

"Did you ever stop to think of the relationship of the newspaper to government?"

"The average American newspaper yields more influence among a greater number of people than any other agency. The newspapers of America sway more influence than any other business or profession—a bulwark of the citizenry. The little realized by the average citizen. The news and advertising columns of the newspaper are subconsciously influencing almost every individual or public act. It is the thing that the eyes portray that the mind absorbs either consciously or subconsciously.

"The press of America is generally free and unhampered and to a greater extent than generally realized by the reading public. A combined effort on the part of the American press could defeat or pass any governmental measure through an aroused public opinion. It is not the function of the American press to control affairs of government, but to report fairly and accurately happenings of state and government in that the public may be reliably informed at all times. The reading public rarely analyzes the source of information on which is based individual judgment of world, nation, state, city and community affairs.

"Without the function of the newspaper there could not exist a stable government—for the people and by the people—an enlightened age, an enlightened nation, enlightened people, what makes this true in fact is the newspaper. No governmental agency, no business or profession has the power for good or evil as that controlled by the press of America. The radio? Yes, the radio has become a recognized institution in American life, but the radio is in a sense a vague and impersonal something—a thing outside—but the newspaper is personal in the home with a contact that nothing will ever replace.

EDSON WAITE
Shawnee, Okla.

H. E. Rasmussen, Editor of The Austin (Minn.) Herald, says: "That too much has been said in behalf of advertising as such that many seem to be little opportunity to say any more for the power and effectiveness of advertising in itself. As an economic force, its place in the business world have become well established, and while we call this force advertising, a rose by any other name would smell just as sweetly."

There are business men and firms that believe in newspaper advertising, others that believe in doing their publicity work through the magazines and bill boards, and still others who declare they are "non-advertisers." It is always amusing to discuss advertising with a non-advertiser, for there are none such. The non-advertiser is usually known for his lack of aggressiveness and the incompleteness of his stock. The man or firm which is not disposed to tell the world about the wares they handle must in a sense, feel that they cannot stand behind them for some unknown reason.

The best test of quality and reliability of any product is the fact that a firm is willing to make claims about it out in the open, before the public. If he is a reliable business man he cannot go back on those claims and there is a great satisfaction in having the assurance that a product thus advertised and sold can be relied upon to "deliver the goods."

Naturally a newspaper man would advocate the use of newspaper space. Quite aside from any selfish interest which men engaged in the newspaper profession might have in their own medium, it must be accepted and acknowledged that the force of the printed word circulated to thousands of homes in a community is bound to prove effective if the merchandise or service behind that printed word is of the quality and kind advertised and the sales organization handling the product is alert and aggressive to seize opportunities as they present themselves through customers brought into the store or office in response to the advertising. It is at this point that much advertising fails. It is useless to create interest unless those who sell create sales.

Colonel W. E. Easterwood of Dallas, Texas, says: "This week I read an article in one of our leading daily papers which stated that the editor of the Daily Commercial of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, would bar all news items of a depressing nature. Think what a change would come over this country if every newspaper in the United States would do this."

"To read the average newspaper you would think they actually are trying to prolong the depressed spirit of the public by the many items of depression that ordinarily would never get into print and, other than possibly of local concern, mean absolutely nothing as a news item."

"Why not feature the fact that 42 million are employed, 123 million are daily consuming food—wearing out clothing, and the shelves of the nation, both in the homes and merchants' shelves, are becoming bare. Not a single one of these millions would hesitate to go right ahead now if they were not over-cautious, caused by the newspaper articles."

"When the buying power is released the factories will not be able to fill their orders, and in the meantime there will be those of foresight and common sense who will get ready for the inevitable upturn and who will carve business history for themselves and associates by getting their shelves in order, or steaming up, ready to go, to furnish the millions the greater conveniences and comforts of life, because the American people have never been, and never will be content to continue the present state of unnecessary and uncalled for fear and over-caution."

"If you are so pessimistic as not to agree with these statements, please file this where you can read it again one year from this date."

G. M. Green, Editor of the Ashland (Ore.) Tidings, says: "That trade-at-home campaigns are usually limited to dealers in dry-goods, groceries, clothing and similar lines whereas they should touch every line of business, for, if a person goes to a neighboring town to buy an automobile, he will buy other things as well."

The building trades and other firms interested in merchandise that goes into the home are too often neglected or their importance minimized in trade-at-home campaigns.

The Daily Tidings has recently started a campaign for better and more building. While we do not mention the term trade-at-home, the whole idea of the campaign basically is to develop a deeper interest in trading at home when construction work is being done.

The firms interested in the building trades are as much to blame for the buying of building material from outside firms as the purchasers are in many cases, as many such firms never advertise at all.

The Daily Tidings also recognizes that wherever a newspaper develops a thorough circulation coverage in any community, the trading out-of-town decreases in proportion. And—equally productive is a circulation coverage in swinging a trade territory into your local stores.

We have recently met this obligation by developing an afternoon paper delivery system in several nearby rural communities, much of the trade from these communities going to nearby cities. We hope after a period of delivery service to these communities to bring their trade into our local stores.

James E. Stiles, Publisher of the Rockville Center (N. Y.) Nassau Daily Review, says: "That it is not surprising some men are not more successful in business. The failures of some business men or groups of men in one line of business, size up the situation, make the most out of it by attacking the problem from an appropriate angle reveals conclusively why they are always crying 'hard times.'"

During a recent period of inactivity in the real estate field, for instance, our attention was called to the fact that the real estate brokers were consistently trying to fool the public about the condition of the market.

Instead of capitalizing on the inactivity to impress the public with the unusual bargains that existed because of a temporary diversion of funds to other types of investment and speculation, they continued to try to create the impression of a boom.

In the end they only fooled themselves and regularly sold property at extraordinarily favorable prices without admitting it.

If they had been frank with themselves and with the public, and attacked the situation in the only obvious way to meet it, they might have built a speculative market out of the depression without selling a single piece of property any cheaper than they actually did, while they might have increased the volume of their sales tremendously.

The lack of foresight and imagination found in business men of long experience, some of whom have been signally successful, should be very encouraging to young men by the mere realization that they will not have to compete against any mental giants in order to make their way in the world.

I have had many surprises in my wanderings around the world, but I had my greatest surprise while spending a couple of days recently in Oklahoma City. While I was there they had an election, and a different kind of an election than I ever heard of. The Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company had asked for a twenty-five year extension of their franchise to sell electric power. A city election was held. The papers reported that a larger vote was cast than at any special election ever held in that city and the franchise was granted the power company by the people by the surprising average of eleven to one.

Here in Oklahoma we have a slogan, "Let the people rule." In this case there is no question as to what the people think about the service given by the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company. When we were shut down, the wells in the Oklahoma City field could produce enough oil to meet the requirements of America.

Physically, Oklahoma City is the civic achievement supreme. This is the development of a surpassing lovely city. As I rode for miles along beautiful avenues and saw the beautiful homes, the farther I rode the more I wondered, for there seems to be no end to these splendid avenues. But I thought it could not be otherwise with such civic leaders as E. K. Gaylord, publisher and Walter Harrison, managing editor of the Oklahomaian and Times, and Carl Magee, editor of the News.

Oklahoma City presents an opportunity to the Manufacturers which merits most careful consideration. Its transportation facilities are good.

Oklahoma City is inviting and attractive. It has a constant appeal to citizens and strangers alike. It is a city of smiling people. It is smiling on its way along the road of progress.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upsets—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

National Rules Committee Favors Local Man After Reviewing Disputed Golf Match

U. S. GOLF ASSOCIATION RULES ON DISPUTED CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH

Surprising to the Hillcroft golf members Sunday was the letter forwarded to the local club from a neighboring member of the Green Belt Golf Association from the United States Golf Association rules committee. The letter was received Saturday from John G. Jackson, chairman of the Rules of Golf Committee of the Association, and carried a ruling on the recent disputed championship match of the 1931 Green Belt Golf Association between L. S. "City" Walker of Quannah and Ira Merchant of Clarendon.

The out-of-town club which received the ruling from the national committee sent in the facts of the case without the local club members knowing of the move. However the club sending in the facts did not make the case one of protest, but only were not satisfied with the decision of the committee to decide the matter that their convictions might be sustained or erased.

Local members are jubilant over the decision from the "supreme court" of the golf world, but state that the matter has been dropped as far as they are concerned and Walker will retain the cup without further question. For the benefit of those who might have been interested in the unprejudiced facts of the case we reprint the letters from the chairman of the committee and that from the rules committee.

The first letter was received by the neighboring club a few days ago and will explain itself as will the letter which follows.

June 26, 1931

Dear Sir:

This is just a line to explain to you the delay of forwarding a ruling on the question submitted by you to the United States Golf Association under date of May 25th. There is a considerable difference of opinion among the members of the Rules of Golf Committee as to whether or not Rule 12 of the Rules of Golf applies and I am not yet able to give you a formal ruling in this connection. I do not mind saying informally that I do not believe that Rule 12 does apply and I think that the player "A" is entitled to move the carton from the line of play as he did. I think also that inasmuch as no protest was made to "A" before leaving the green of the 18th hole, which was the last hole of the match, that the ruling after not in a position under Rule 36 to claim the hole. This, you will understand, is entirely informal and a formal ruling will follow later.

Very truly yours,
John G. Jackson,
Chairman.

July 9, 1931

QUESTION: (1)
A's ball was some thirty yds. off sand green, there was paper plates, paper napkins, an empty cigarette carton, and other objects blowing down the fairway, from a concession tent at one side. A walked up and looked over the green, on his way back to play his shot he tossed the empty carton, which was some fifteen feet in front of his ball, into the air. B claimed the hole; the Pro ruled against him; they played the hole and halved, A being one up and this the final hole B shook hands and conceded the match; some few minutes later the Pro changed his ruling and gave the hole to B. Which was correct?

QUESTION (2)
Another ruling please: When a man has paid a cash entry fee, where play is according to U. S. G. A. is he, or is he not entitled to a correct ruling on any rule made by the U. S. G. A. from the U. S. G. A. themselves?

QUESTION (3)
If a ball is in the rough, are you permitted to play one or more practice strokes, tho more than a club's length from your ball, in order to test out weeds, rocks or turf?

ANSWER (1)
The decision of the Rules of Golf Committee, approved by the Executive Committee, is that A had a right to remove the carton from the line of play; that the carton is not a loose impediment of the character contemplated by Rule 12 but more in the nature of an obstruction, which under Rule 11 may be removed whether or not within a club's length of the ball.

Your second reason for awarding the match to A is correct. Rule 36 provides that "if a dispute arise on any point, a claim must be made before the players strike off from the next teeing ground, or in the case of the last hole of the round before they leave the putting green."

ANSWER (2)
If the players have agreed to an umpire or referee they must abide by his decision whether it be right or wrong. If no umpire or referee has been appointed the players have the right of determining to whom the disputed point shall be referred, but should they not agree upon such a person, either side may have it referred officially through the Secretary of the club to the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association, whose decision is final. (See Rule 36).

ANSWER (3)
A practice swing or swings may be taken at any place on the course more than a club's length from the ball without incurring the penalty of Rule 15, provided the player does not violate Rules 10, 21 (1) and 25. Rules of Golf Committee.
By John G. Jackson,
Chairman.

BRICE IS DEFEATED IN LAST INNING BALLY THERE

The Brice baseball team lost a hard fought baseball contest last Saturday afternoon to the fast undefeated Lakeview club by a score of 7 to 6. For eight innings it looked like the Brice team was going to succeed in handing the visitors their first reverse of the season, but just as the hope was being realized something happened and bang, bang, bang, four runs came across the plate in the ninth inning, erasing a 6 to 3 lead and adding another contest to the long string of Lakeview victories.

Isham pitched a beautiful game for the losers until the ninth when he was nicked for three hits which was aided by an error or two by his infield. Up to this time the hard hitters of the Lakeview team just couldn't do anything with the fast slants of Isham. Windgrove hurled a steady game for the Lakeview club although hit rather hard for the first few innings.

Sensing defeat the Lakeview hitters came in for their final trips to the plate, and instead of their usual stop-offs at first base began hitting for more distant parts of the field coupled with a miscue now and then produced the needed four runs to win the contest, their closest of the season. The defeat was the first for the Brice team in their last five games.

GERMANY HEARD SCHEMLING RITAIN WORLD'S CHAMP.

"Exceptionally strong signals of excellent modulation" were received in Germany from W2XAF, Schenectady, during the short-wave broadcast of the Schmelting-Stribling title fight, according to radiograms received by NBC.

The report which was given in German from the ringside in Cleveland, was relayed to all stations of the Reiches Rundfunk Gesellschaft, which cooperated with NBC in the trans-Atlantic program. Innumerable fans in the Fatherland were rewarded for an all-night vigil by hearing at dawn that Max had established himself as a great champion.

These descriptions in Spanish and German were conveyed by loud wires from the Cleveland Municipal Stadium to Schenectady. Beam antennae were used in the short-wave broadcasts.

SPORTS SLANTS

By Sam Braswell, Jr.

Sunday's papers carried stories from Austin concerning the expulsion of Fred Walker from the coaching staff of the University of Texas. That by the Board of Regents was a wise and popular move, for the basketball mentor in question was surely not the type of man suitable to direct the play of American manhood. The University of Texas athletic council recommended the dismissal of the unpopular cage mentor several weeks ago, and final action was withheld until the meeting of the Regents, because of the widespread controversy over the employment of Walker. The entire case was reviewed by this column a number of issues back and the writer is especially satisfied with the action of the board.

It is gratifying to see a man of Walker's type taken down a point or two after bulldozing the whole athletic department and basketball players for such a long time.

It is not because of the poor season the University cage team experienced last winter that the change was needed. Walker knows basket ball as well as any in the coaching game, but his driving methods of coaching and his unmerciful and ungentlemanly talk to his athletes were grounds enough for his disposal. His type doesn't match with that of Ditch, Littlefield, Alderson and others at the state institution.

Rumor has it that Marty Karow, freshman coach and assistant varsity mentor will take over the reins vacated by Walker. We doubt if a better or more competent coach could be found than the former star of Ohio State. Marty was an all round athlete at Ohio U and is a former all-American halfback. He can run a position where he can touch the ground with the palm of his hand at top speed.

Watch the Longhorns on the maple boards next winter.

A report of interest to former Texas U students and A. & M. students as well came to the attention of the writer from on board the Texas Special, the deluxe special train bearing the Texas Lions to the convention at Toronto. It states that Coach G. L. Boykin has run into an old Aggie school mate, Johnny Garrity from Corsicana. The two ex-Aggies are hobnobbing together quite a lot our agent reports and both sing "The Eyes of Texas" like they liked it. Guess the "Aggie War Hymn" has been suppressed. Time does cover up a mans faults we're told.

Speaking of fast ones here's one we heard the other day.

Hank DeBerry, new Dallas catcher, tells the best story he ever heard. It seems in one of the Brooklyn games a rookie pitcher was hurling to DeBerry and he got in a jam in the ninth when he loaded the bases with two out, his team three runs ahead, and a home-run hitter at bat. Hank signalled for a low curve, but got no response. Two more signals brought the same result, so he went out to the pitcher's mound for a conference. The rookie confessed he was afraid to throw anything over for fear the player would hit a homer and win the game.

"We'll fool him," Hank told him. "It is getting dark, so take your wind-up and just pretend you throw the ball. I'll throw my fist into the mit for a perfect third strike."

The pitcher went through the motion and the ump's threw up his hand for a third strike. Then the catch came. "Say that ball was a foot outside," growled the home-run hitter as he slammed his bat against the plate.

Well, well, well, we feel a little inclined to be chesny this week following the flattering remarks our friend Ross Harwood Beville of Amarillo made about "Sport Slants." That's the first compliments we've had thrown our way since the start of the column, so why not feel pretty good about it. Ross says that it's good stuff and is the first thing he reads when he gets The News. Now aint that nice. Now if Ross ever needs a favor all he has to do is say so. Anyway we appreciate that from a friend and are always glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Beville and their cute daughter back in Clarendon. Come oftener Ross.

There is some little talk making the rounds of the younger men of the city concerning the construction of one or more hand ball courts. Wish something like that would be started. For those not familiar with the game we'll say that it is the fastest game played, and the greatest conditioning exercise known. Not only is the game fast, but is a game which will make the participants think quicker and act with more speed than any game we have ever seen. It is the most popular game of all at the University of Texas. About those interested in what above is done about the thing.

Just from wondering certain golfers think ruling the National Rules of Golf on the late controversity that arose in the recent tournament here of the Green Belt Golf Ass'n.

Last Saturday one of the neighboring golf clubs received a letter from the National Rules Committee and brought the ruling on to Clarendon Sunday. The committee reviewed the Walker-Merchant match, unbeknown to the Clarendon club members, in all its details and found that Merchant and not Walker was the real winner of the tourney. They contended that the cigarette carton was not an obstacle and for that reason could not have been the cause of a protest. They also stated that because Walker picked up Merchant's ball on the 36th green and conceded the hole and match, the play could not be continued even though a protest was made.

Nothing will be done about the outcome of the tournament, and the ruling of the U. S. G. A. was not sought as a means of protest. Members of a nearby club who were interested in the match outlined the facts most carefully, from an unbiased standpoint.

The committee further states that the referee was entirely in the wrong and interpreted the wrong rule. Anyway the thing is settled—"City" Walker has the cup and a limited number of admirers, while Merchant enjoys the respect and admiration of the entire golf citizenship of the country and is known as the real 1931 Green Belt champion, with his claims backed by the U. S. G. A.

Congratulations Ira.

MANY FACTORS CAUSE VARIATIONS IN TESTS OF MILK AND CREAM

AUSIN, Texas, July 9.—Don't be too hasty in condemning your cream station if milk or cream tastes vary from day to day or from week to week.

Since the weights and measures division has been assigned the duty of checking tests on cream at stations, over the state scores of dairymen have indicated in letters to the division that they are unable to understand why their tests do not run uniform.

Some of the more common causes of variations are: length of time between milkings, inherent ability of some cows to produce higher test milk, reaction to weather conditions, physical condition, and age of the cows.

"Tests have established," Frazee said, "that cows of the same breed may vary in their inherent ability to produce milk of higher butterfat content. Moreover, the breeds vary. The Jersey produces the highest per cent of butterfat, with the Guernsey, Brown Swiss, Shorthorn, Ayrshire, and Holstein following in that order."

The greater the interval between milkings, the lower the test will be, and the shorter the interval, the higher the test. There is a tendency for the morning's milk to test higher, and if the interval between milkings is 10 to 14 hours, a variation of from 0.5 to 1 per cent may be expected.

Needless to say, if the cow is not stripped well the test will be low, since the last part of the milk is especially rich. There is also a tendency for cows to give richer milk in cold weather; but the test will be lower if they are exposed to severe weather.

The higher test in winter holds true regardless of the time the cow freshens, and a drop in tests must be expected in spring. That season, incidentally, is the season when the milk plant operators get the most complaints on his testing. Cows that freshen in the fall will produce more milk, as well as more butterfat, than those which freshen in summer.

"Physical condition of cows at calving is an important factor. A cow in good physical condition at that time may produce milk of 1 to 2 more butterfat content. Feed is also a factor, but more variable inasmuch as a cow, when it is off feed may produce milk of either high or low butterfat content. All experiments, moreover, indicate no positive evidence of any continued direct effect of a feed in stimulating either milk production or increasing the amount of fat. The first month after lactation, milk is richer

DEPRESSION BENEFITS

Depression periods at least tend to make us more wise in the disbursement of our money; more sanely cautious; more intelligently economical.

So widespread has now become the interest in quality as opposed to doubtful bargains that whole industries are waging campaigns to help the consumer in identifying between poor, good and excellent examples of basic American products.

Of course, no such work is on foot for imported merchandise. This gives food for thought on the possible future realization of international trade associations carrying a step further the now practically indispensable work of our national trade groups.

In scanning the American market, it comes to light that in the vast textile industries only one group—the American mercerizers—are making definite effort to stabilize and identify quality. They are doing so under an industry-wide agreement to maintain a single standard for fiber selection and yarn processing in all yarns to be called by the general quality identifying name of duren cotton.

Much good would accrue to the public were other textile groups to set up such fundamental standards and means for quality identification by untechnical consumers. The trade association can scarcely hope to do a greater single service than to stabilize its market, raise and maintain quality.

Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce of the United States, recently said in a statement to the trade press: "The development of the American trade association movement has been and will continue to be a very significant influence in the direction of greater business stability."

William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said: "I am a firm believer in our trade associations. They are indispensable."

Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago and former first president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said: "The trade association as an indispensable unit for American business, has an enormously important part to play in the re-adjustments, that are just ahead, and deserve the normal financial support of each unit of business that could come under its jurisdiction."

A promise to buy every child in town an ice cream cone failed to elect Mrs. Julia Kolze, president of the village Schiller Park, Ill.

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes the acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water neutralizes instantly many times that much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

DOING THINGS IN A BIG WAY FOR MOTORISTS

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CONSTRUCTION OF NOTABLE MOTORING FACILITIES.

(By E. E. Duffy)

Catching up with the automobile is the sincere endeavor of a growing number of local communities, cities and states. Although automobile registrations are halted at present around 26,000,000 vehicles, and the construction of highway facilities must go on at a fast pace for motor usage and motor accidents are increasing.

Just doing the last week announcement was made of progress and of the early construction of a number of impressive highway structures which indicate better days for the motorist.

Twenty-two railroad crossings will be eliminated in Elizabeth, N. J., at an estimate cost of $10,000,000. The Erie Railroad has already started demolition of buildings to make way for the mile-long concrete viaduct which will eliminate 18 of the crossings.

The city of Port Arthur, Texas has awarded the contract for the construction of a sea wall boulevard forty feet wide along the Gulf coast. The new concrete boulevard will be nearly two miles long and will carry an extremely heavy flow of traffic. The Seawall Boulevard will parallel the new concrete sea wall.

Wisconsin the possibility of motor cars making contact with railroad trains is being made impossible at 22 crossings. Contracts for six more overhead crossings will be let soon, and by the end of the year Wisconsin will have built or placed under contract eighty such structures.

Minnesota has been busy building pavements; during May and June 150 miles of concrete were laid. Minnesota opened July with about one-third of her year's progress completed.

The Hoosier state has her eyes on another cross state road—Road No. 6 which was recently designated as a Federal Highway. The latter part of July contracts will be let for the concrete paving of a 24-mile section of this road 24 feet wide. When the two remaining gaps totaling 50 miles are paved Indiana will have another through entranceway to the Chicago area.

Rural communities also are here and there meeting the motor problem. For instance, Montgomery county, Maryland, plans to build a road, following the example of her sister county, Iroquois county, Ill., which already has 120 miles of single lane concrete, will soon start work on an additional 11 miles.

NEWS ITEMS OF 1776

Items from old newspapers are of interest to many, and so we have found a few taken from a copy of The Massachusetts Sun, published in Worcester on July 17, 1776, the front page of which was devoted to the Declaration of Independence, then less than two weeks old. A news letter from New York said:

"On Wednesday last the Declaration of Independence was read at the head of each brigade of the Continental Army at or near New York, and everywhere with loud huzzas and utmost demonstrations of joy. The same evening the equestrian statue of George III was by the sons of Freedom laid prostrate in the dirt. The lead wherewith this monument was made is to be run into bullets, to assimilate with the brains of our infatuated adversaries, who, to gain a pepper-corn, have lost an Empire."

A resolution by the House of Representatives at Watertown requested that people of the colony donate their laden window weights for the making of bullets.

Among other notices was one stating that there were "a considerable number of prisoners in the town, who are willing to go out to service if proper persons should appear to hire them."

Delinquent subscribers were a problem in those early days, as they have been ever since, it appears from a card from the publisher who had paid up, adding: "He begs that such as have not paid him would be so considerate as to think of the great disadvantage it must be to him to have so many small sums in different hands, there fore would now request that they would pay their respective balances, which will greatly oblige their humble servant, Isaiah Thomas."

After 155 years a good many publishers may still find Mr. Thomas's courteous suggestion quite applicable to present conditions.

HOT DOGS VS. COLLEGE

George J. Deck of Buffalo was poor but ambitious when at the age of 18 he determined to have a college education. But hot dogs blocked his way.

Casting about for some means of earning his way through college, Deck tried running a hot dog stand and met success. Business was so good that he could not take time to go to school. Soon he opened additional stands, all of which prospered.

Recently he bought out six competitors and now has what virtually amounts to a "hot dog trust" in his home city, with a warehouse, a bakery, a butcher shop, a fleet of 12 trucks and 16 hot dog stands. His annual turnover is more than $500,000 and he draws from his business a salary equal to that of the President of the United States—$75,000 a year.

But it looks as if he will have to worry along without a college degree. Still he holds a very desirable, if not dignified, title. He is known as "the hot dog king."

BASEBALL IN JAPAN

An interesting account of the enthusiasm for baseball which now exists in Japan is told by Harry Kingman, who has served as coach for Oriental teams.

Since its introduction into the Flowery Kingdom about 40 years ago, by some Japanese engineers who had learned the game while studying in the United States, baseball has gained great popularity not only in the cities, but in the villages as well.

Keio University was among the first schools to take up the sport, after a group of students had translated a Spalding rule-book into Japanese. The games greatest impetus resulted from the enthusiasm of Professor Isa Abe of Waseda University, who is called "the father of Japanese baseball." Under his leadership, teams from the university have made several tours of the United States.

Even the Christian missionaries in Japan cross bats with monks of the Buddhist monasteries. In one such game, it is told that in the last half of the ninth inning, with the score 1 to 1, "His Holiness, the Abbot of the monastery, playing shortstop, booted a hot grounder and allowed the winning run of the missionaries to trickle across the plate."

BROAD-GAUGE CHARITY

In the will of the late Aaron Naumber of New York large sums were left to a wide range of charitable and educational institutions reflecting the board sympathies of this son of Jewish rabbi, who had amassed great wealth.

Jewish charities were naturally remembered liberally in Mr. Naumber's last testament, but Protestant and Catholic charitable institutions also came in for a generous share. Besides, he gave a substantial sum to the Tuskegee Institute for negroes, to Harvard University, to the American Museum of Natural History, to the Philharmonic Society, and other worthy enterprises.

More and more are great captains of industry and business setting the habit of leaving portions of their wealth to be used for the public welfare. Their bequests to educational, religious, scientific and charitable institutions have been vast beyond computation, either in terms of dollars or in their value in the betterment of social conditions.

HOW ONE MAN LOST 22 POUNDS

Mr. Herman Runkin of Detroit, writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—My first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all of the aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now feel like a new man."

To lose fat safely and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—Get it at Douglas Goldston Drug Co. or any drug store in America. I'm not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

For Summer Feasts

EAT is hard to digest in summer, but lots of people like to eat it, nevertheless. So dieticians have been casting around for ways in which to make meat more easily digestible by combining it with other foods. Meat combines well in taste with many foods, but very few of them help very much in the digestion of it.

There is one food, however, which helps people to digest heavy proteins wherever they appear. That is pineapple. It was almost accidental—just because everyone knows that it is good for one to eat a lot of fruit in summer—that this delicious combination of pineapple with meats was discovered.

Now scientists have gone further and not only confirmed the deliciousness of the combination but given it the credit of being dietetically correct. Pineapple, they say, contains an enzyme called bromelin which acts powerfully on proteins and helps people to take care of heavy protein foods.

If you like meat you will be interested in the following recipes which tell how to combine this tropical fruit with it in the very best ways.

Luscious Lamb
Roast Lamb with Pineapple Bread Sauce: Dust a leg of lamb with salt, pepper and flour, place in roasting pan, slice a small clove of garlic over it, and roast as usual, basting occasionally. About fifteen minutes before done, lay the slices from a No. 2 1/2 can of Hawaiian pineapple around the meat and let brown. Meanwhile, make a sauce by melting one tablespoon butter, adding one tablespoon flour, and then slowly adding the pineapple syrup from the can (about one cup). Add a few grains of salt, two teaspoons horseradish and two tablespoons fine sifted dry crumbs, heat and serve with the roast which is served with a ring of the pineapple slices around it. If desired, a big, puffy, hot steamed prune may be placed in each pineapple hole.

Armenian Lamb Shortcake: Slice four slices (half of a No. 2 1/2 can) of Hawaiian pineapple into thin pieces, and add with one tablespoon chutney, or other chopped sweet pickle, two cups diced cooked lamb and one-half cup whole ripe olives to three cups rich white sauce.

Serve between hot, split, buttered baking powder biscuits. Serves eight.

Pork Tenderloin with Pineapple: Cut a pork tenderloin in pieces about one and a half inches thick, and flatten out with a broad-bladed knife. Wrap a piece of bacon around each, and fasten with a tooth-pick. Brown both sides in a little fat, reduce heat, dust with salt and pepper, and cook until tender. Remove and brown the slices from a can of Hawaiian pineapple in the same pan. Lay the pineapple on hot platter, and place a bacon-wrapped piece of tenderloin on each slice. Make gravy by slightly thickening the drippings in pan and adding a little water.

Juicy Pork
Pineapple Pork Chops: Empty the contents of a No. 2 can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple into a large flat buttered casserole (or into individual ones). Peel three large sweet potatoes and slice over the top. Sprinkle with one-half cup brown sugar. Salt six thick loin pork chops and lay on top. Cover and bake in a hot, 400 degree, oven until tender. This will take from one hour to one hour and a quarter. Uncover for the last fifteen minutes to brown chops. Serves six.
